President Babcock of the school board responded, thanking the graduates for the very acceptable gift so gracefully bestowed. The gift was born in generous kindness and reflected credit on the hearts which prompted it and on the cultured face it represented. It was an eminently faithful portrait, and was fitted to hang beside those of Dr. Stillman and ex-president Kirkner, which already graced the walls of Assembly hall. It was particularly fitting that these three, who had done more than any others to develop and mould the Plainfield schools, should hang together as ornaments to the chief room. The portrait would be a reminder to all the graduates of her whose kindly, careful and thorough training worked a strong influence over their lives. Mr. Babcock hoped also that the portrait might be an incentive to sturdy effort and higher achievements. He added that Miss Bulkley had set in motion influences in moulding character that would work for generations to come.

When Mr. Murray unveiled the portrait, there was loud and continued applause. The audience testified their appreciation of all parts of the programme by vigorous hand-clapping, and many beautiful bouquets and floral baskets were bestowed on the graduates.

The musical selections interspersed were as follows:

Overture—"Jolly Students"..........Suppe
Selection—"Robin Hood"..........DeKoven
Waltz—"Sympathie"..........Bendix
Fantasie—Wang..........Morse
Southern Caprice..........Wilson
Melodie in F..........Rubenstein
High School Cadets..........Sousa

The orchestra was of 10 pieces, and very excellent. The Southern Caprice was particularly entertaining, and was encored.

THE GRADUATES DANCED.

After the graduating exercises, the customary reception was held, in the Franklin building. Light refreshments were served down stairs, and the assembly room was ablaze with light and gallantry and beauty. The orchestra struck up a promenade and drifted into a waltz. Dancing was begun, but principal Maxson and Mr. Finch stopped it. After the two were gone, the young people danced to their hearts' content.

Borough Real Estate Transfers.

The following changes in North Plainfield property are recorded:

Peter Voorhees and others to Augustus J. Winckler, $[illegible].

Lewis M. Codington to William Urquhart, $[illegible].

Mary E. Willis to Louis Vail, $[illegible].

Louis Vail to Mary E. Willis, $[illegible].

Sarah E. Winans and others to Clarence E. Bryan, $1.

Frances W. Bryan to Clarence E. Bryan, $[illegible].

Rachel Runyon to John McCue, $[illegible].

Annie M. Beam to Marcia S. Pond, $[illegible].

George A. Dinn, sheriff, to Isaac M. Stelle, $[illegible].

Isaac M. Stelle to William M. Stillman, $[illegible].

A BAKER'S DOZEN.

THIRTEEN GRADUATES FROM THE BOROUGH SCHOOL.

Another Highly Successful Commencement Under Principal Rose's Able Leadership.

Warren chapel Thursday was filled with those anxiously awaiting the turn of some particular name on the programme out of those who formed the graduating classes of the North Plainfield public-school. The graduates were thirteen in number, and were arranged on the left of the large platform in four rows. Their names were:

Laura L. Emmons,
Mertie Gaskill,
Martha A. Humble,
Sara S. Loizeaux,
Kate W. Overton,
Bertha E. Thorn,
Frank J. Blair,
Edward O. Clark,
Henry B. Drake,
George A. Horne,
Thomas MacDonald,
George B. Snedeker,
Dykman Winckler.

The younger classes of the school were ranged behind the graduates, and furnished the music for the exercises. The proceeding opened with a musical selection, "Hail Gladdening Light", which was given by the school in a pleasing manner.

Next came a recitation by Bertha Thorn, entitled "The Captain's Well", by Whittier. This was followed by a declamation, "Let in Light", well rendered by Frank J. Blair. Martha A. Humble recited George William Curtis's "Castle in Spain". A musical selection entitled "On the Blue Wave" followed. Then came one of the two essays of the evening. This was by Dykman Winckler, and was called "The Power of Fashion". It was well written, and delivered in a clear and pleasing manner. The essay attributed the power of fashion to the imitative instincts of the human race, and told how fashions in dress would be adopted no matter how absurd they were as long as they were sanctioned by the tailors' plates. He then went on and traced the influence of fashion in the ordinary habits of life, and proved by many examples how strong was the "Power of Fashion". This essay was followed by a recitation by Mertie Gaskill, called "Columbia's Emblem", and then by another entitled "Abe Yeaton's Son", by Henry B. Drake. More music by the school followed, then a recitation, "The Market Place", given by Laura M. Emmons, a declamation "Monuments of Peace", by Thomas MacDonald, and a recitation by Victor Hugo entitled "An Episode of the Commune", by Edward O. Clark.

A serenade was sung by the school, and was very well done. Geo. B. Snedeker declaimed "Men That Never Die", and Sara Loizeaux recited Bayard Taylor's immortal "Song of the Camp". The boys of the school then sang "The Song of the Tritons", by J. S. Molloy, and the second essay of the evening followed. This was by Kate Overton, and was called "The Babbling Stream". Miss Overton found a similarity in analogy between the combination of streams to form a river and the combination of individuals in a community. George A. Horne next gave a declamation on "Labor Strikes", which was followed by more music, and then Samuel St. John McCutchen, president of the borough board of education, made a characteristically good speech and presented the diplomas. He exhorted the class not to give up study because they were graduated, but to continue in one form or another through life, as there is no form of work which repays the individual as study; and then with words of affection and encouragement he presented the diplomas that represented "years of hard and honest work" to the expectant graduates.

The exercises closed with music, and then all crowded about the platform to shower congratulations on the happy class whose members it is to be hoped will "row, not drift", according to their motto.

DANCE IN THE CASINO.

Summer Night Festivities Gracefully Inaugurated.

Thursday night dances are to be made a feature by the Union County Country club. That given last night in the Casino was a most delightful one. Music and supper were furnished, and Mrs. J. Parker Mason and Mrs. William L. Saunders received in their own faultlessly charming way. Among the guests were: Misses Marion Dumont, Caroline Sewell, Jessamy Harte, Annie Corlies, Gertrude Waltz, Elizabeth Van Boskerck, Jean Erickson, Elizabeth Stewart, Yates, Finley, Ryle of Paterson, Bunge and Badly of Louisville, Ky., Stokes of New York, Wilder of Rochester, N. Y., Mrs. Clifton Wharton, Mrs. W. L. Saunders, Mr. and Mrs. J. Parker Mason, Mr. and Mrs. Alex. G. Fiske, Messrs. Frank Cokefair, Rowland Cox, Harry Lovell, Henry Lowe, Laurens Van Buren, Harry Borden, Percy Stewart, Lewis Timpson, Edward Van Buren, John Munn, Irving West, Sherwood West, Harry West, William Runyon, Chas. Fiske, Orville Waring, Clarence Murphy, George Van Boskerck, Roger Erickson, Julius Erickson, Frank Hyde, Alfred Sewell; Richard Colborn of New York.

TO BUILD AT ONCE.

Plans of the New Freight House Completed and Bids for the Work Already Received.

Just as soon as all the bids are received, work on the new freight house at Richmond street will be commenced. The plans provide for the most commodious and convenient building that can be imagined. It will be at least three times the size of the present house, and the yard and approaches for tracks will be of unlimited extent.

The office arrangements are also perfect. Superintendent Haynes will have a large apartment to himself and the clerks and book-keepers will have lots of room. All of the Richmond street front is devoted to these offices, and the plans show windows above the first floor that may mean other rooms.

Found by THE PRESS Alone.

A party who had borrowed Eugene M. Laing's trip ticket, the other day, thought to get it back to him the quicker by putting it under Mr. Laing's store door. The next morning, however, when the store was opened, the clerk didn't see the ticket and it was kicked or swept into the street.

Of course, no one concerned had any expectation of ever recovering it, but as there were nine dollars' worth of rides on it a cent-a-word advertisement was put in THE PRESS exclusively. The ticket was found and returned at once upon the advertisement being read in THE PRESS.

THESE FOUR WENT FISHING.

AND THE DEACONS AND DOCTORS HAD A LIVELY TIME.

The Dentist Showed Off How to Tie a Horse, and They Chased Miles Across Country Into the Jaws of an Angry Bulldog—The Only Thing They Didn't Catch Was a Pollywog.

Doctor of Medicine Carman, Doctor of Dentistry Thiers, Deacon of Laws Reed, and Deacon of the Church Compton, toiled not, neither did they spin a little bit at their usual vocations on Wednesday. They spun fishing reels, instead, at Bound Brook, and now are spinning yarns about what they caught. THE PRESS knows just what they got, and here is the total result: Five yards of eels, four feet eleven inches of catfish, a one-legged bullfrog, and three cubic inches of mud turtle. The Doctor of Dentistry also caught a horse; and therein lies a tale of absorbing interest.

The Deacon of the Church knows a thing or two about knots, square, round and criss-cross, but inventor of Stomatime declared that his massive brain had evolved a new method of tying a horse which knocked all old styles out of time, and he proceeded to put his latest invention to the test. Instead of using the halter, he left the collar and hames on the horse and hitched the trace to a tree and announced that now the horse could eat and amuse himself but couldn't get loose in a year. The party then took to the boats, but the horse got away while the deacon was playing the mud turtle on a five-pound rod, and when the party was ready to go home the prophylactic horse was advertising Onion Liniment to the farmers five miles or more away. The D. D. S. intrusted his share of the catch to his partners in trouble, and set out upon a quiet and entertaining walk after the horse. He hadn't gone far when he met a passer-by who told him where the animal was.

The doctor sent a message to his companions to "come along with the wagon until they met him with the horse". While he jauntily sauntered on to the farm-house where the animal was stalled. The deacons of law and church and doctor of medicine entered the shafts in turn and pulled and pushed, and sweltered and swore (legally, of course) as they trundled the heavy road-wagon up hill and down dale after the doctor and the horse. Finally, when the three were nearly exhausted, they passed by a farm-house, where, in the cooling shade of a big tree, they discovered the doctor of dentistry enjoying a fragrant cigar. The three were about to make a combined rush upon the tantalizer when an enormous bull-dog appeared upon the scene, whetting his teeth upon a bone just the size of a man's leg. A panic took possession of the triple-alliance, and the deacon of the church climbed into the wagon out of the wet so quickly that he forgot to pat the dog upon the head, although he swears (illegally) that he did pat him, just once. The party are going again with a minister as a balance wheel for the deacons.

MAYOR GILBERT AND CAPTAIN GRANT, SEE HERE!

Does Officer Saunders Permit the City Clerk's Employee, or Anyone Else, to Violate an Ordinance?

Policeman Saunders is accused of permitting repeated violations of the ordinance against bicycle riding at night without a light. Twice Friday night he was seen to stop lanternless riders on Watchung avenue in front of the Crescent rink building, and afterwards let them go. The cases were not reported by him this morning, and if he collected anything he did not turn it in to the city.

It is said that he let one of them go because he worked for the city clerk. The other had a little talk with Saunders, acted as if he was going to "tip" the officer, and then rode away. Saunders said something about "All right! Don't let it happen again".

Talent From This City Assisted.

The Plainfielders and everyone else who attended the ice-cream festival at Martinville, last evening, had a delightful time.

A large tent was erected on the lawn adjoining the Presbyterian chapel, which was tastefully decorated with choice flowers and Chinese lanterns. Refreshments were served by charming young ladies, and those in charge deserve great credit for the success of the affair. The committee was: Mrs. L. S. Martin, Mrs. John T. Mayer and Miss C. M. Bartle.

One feature was the contest for a patched quilt, from which $86 was realized. Miss Ida Wirz was awarded it, she having the largest number of votes.

An entertainment was afterwards held in the chapel, and the following well-known talent assisted: the Rev. George Bowers, Miss Mamie Bowers, Miss Mamie O'Conner and Master Eugene Bowers. Albright H. Neil and John H. Carney, of this city, took part and kept the audience in roars of laughter. The chapel was filled to its utmost capacity. The entertainment was the best ever held.

Pastor Goodrich's Wedding Told in His Own Style.

(Bound Brook Chronicle.)

At the close of the services in the Congregational church last Sunday morning Pastor Goodrich said that he wished to give those present a notice, somewhat personal in character and not altogether unembarrassing. It is an axiom that a man is but half a man until he is married and his deacons had kindly given him a leave of absence for a few days, to come home with his manhood rounded out, so to speak, and made whole and complete, by bringing with him his bride. He added that all he had to ask of the church was that Mrs. Goodrich be given the same kind and hearty welcome that he had met with on every hand, since he had been in Bound Brook.

The marriage took place very quietly in Brooklyn, on Monday, at the residence of the bride's sister, Mrs. Richard Knox. The bride was Miss Hattie Burnett. Rev. C. L. Goodrich, of Plainfield performed the ceremony. Rev. and Mrs. L. B. Goodrich have been spending this week at the Delaware Water Gap. They expect to return to-morrow to be the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Shaw, at Finderne, until Tuesday.

Country Club Tennis.

The entries for the invitation tournament at the Union County Country club this afternoon are as follows:

J. S. Anthony, Harry Lovell, H. West, H. Ridley, S. West, S. J. Wharton, Ed. Rider, Frank Hyde, Fred Waite, George Schoonmaker, F. K. Fisk, jr., August Huntington, Carl Huntington, Carl Waite, Ed. Patterson, Archie Cox, Wm. Abbott.

A large attendance is expected, and some exciting games will probably take place.

THE STROLLER'S NOTES.

ODD HAPPENINGS HERE AND THERE IN THE BOROUGH.

The Bauersachs Scarlet Tea—Mayor Saunders Abroad—Jerry Rowe Bad Off—The Cracker Barrel Club Going Fishing.

Where is the township committee at?

Warren Engine No. 1 is off duty for a few days.

Ex-borough clerk H. H. Brokaw is home for a few days.

Herman Dike, is building an addition to his store on Grove street.

Why doesn't some one start in and organize that new hose company?

Dave Drake, of Frogtown, opens clams with a razor. Patent applied for.

Warren Squiers is papering the parlors of Warren Engine company, No. 1.

Jeptha Wagoner is attempting to organize a fertilizing company hereabouts.

The graduates of the borough school are to-day enjoying themselves at Papiac.

Pleasure parties that spend the day in the mountains are quite numerous these times.

A clam-bake will be held on the mountain top alongside Johnston's Drive to-morrow.

Parties are looking about for a lot whereon to erect another church in the borough.

Jerry Rowe, the butcher, is confined to his home in Steiner place by sickness. He is bad off.

Jacob Gaub is janitor of the Gesang and Turn Verein Hall, and a right good one he is too.

Lew Smalley and Levi Bird are busy hauling poles for the different electric light companies.

The tennis court at Rockview Terrace, adjoining S. St. John McCutchen's residence, is scarcely ever idle.

Acting mayor and attorney Neal is being urged to hang his shingle out and commence practice here at once.

George Conover is again back in the borough. He lives in the house he formerly occupied on Jackson avenue.

A party of young people who frequent McLaughlin's Somerset street lawn tennis grounds will visit Papiac on Tuesday.

"Kinsey" Krewson, who lost a few of his fingers at the Pond Tool works a few weeks ago, is coming around all right.

Henry Reid, eldest son of the late and never-to-be-forgotten Kelley Reid, is a prosperous business man of Brooklyn, N. Y.

A letter received from mayor Saunders from London, reports him as having had a pleasant voyage and as enjoying the trip immensely.

A good roaring fire is kept up during damp days in the Cracker Barrel club rooms. Some of the members have the rheumatism.

The lock-up has been whitewashed and is now in first-class condition. Marshal Pangborn will be pleased to show you through the same.

Adam Fritz, Wm. J. Winges and W. H. Taylor, the two latter gentlemen from Dunellen, intend taking a trip to Buffalo the first of the week.

Another new street is soon to be opened. It will be through ex-sheriff Coddington's property on Somerset street. That is the old Hillman homestead.

Mrs. D. I. Smalley is successfully conducting the large butchering business carried on by her late husband corner of Somerset and Race streets.

Pete Seader has the contract to excavate about three hundred yards of earth from underneath White's dry goods store on West Front street, Plainfield.

Pedelfous's hotel in Washington Valley, back of Washington Rock, is a favorite resort for New York French families. Mr. Pedelfous is chef of the Brooklyn club.

A few of the Cracker Barrel club members have accepted Mr. Sovereign's invitation to visit Black River Falls. Some of them are stockholders in the Rockaway Valley railroad.

Fred. Hui and "Buck" VanName fished at the dam below Bound Brook a few days ago and caught several black bass. Mr. Hui also caught, but could not land, a striped bass that weighed about seven pounds. He had the bass on his line for over half an hour.

Mr. and Mrs. Fernandes, the happy young couple who occupy the ancient Sebring homestead at Sebring's mills, Greenbrook, are enjoying life and all its comforts and pleasures down there. With boats and good fishing and natural scenery they pass away these hot days and fanned by the breezes that waft over Watchung lake they truly enjoy life and all its pleasures.

The "scarlet tea", which is to be red-hot, with lemon and lime juice on the side, and given under the direction of letter carrier Jules W. A. Bauersachs on his barn roof on July 12, will be an occasion not to be missed by those who are so fortunate as to be invited. Already several persons are making arrangements to sleep in the barn the night previous so as to be on hand and not miss any of the good things that will then be on top. Mr. Brown will be master of ceremonies.

A senator and a member of the general assembly are to be elected in our county this fall. George Cramer, the present member, is entitled by usage to a renomination, and his nomination is already conceded by all the Democratic leaders. For senator to fill the office for three years, to succeed Hon. Wm. J. Keys, there will be a decidedly strong fight put up by the different factions. The names now most prominently mentioned as candidates for senator are Hon. Wm. J. Keys, ex-congressman Alvah A. Clark, judge John D. Bartine, and ex-speaker of the house of assembly Hon. James J. Bergen. Each and everyone has a strong following in the county and long before "fair time" you will hear the friends of the different candidates extolling their virtues and chances.

This is the time of the year for those who wish to take a trip through and become acquainted with North Plainfield township, and view its natural scenery. You may drive up through the valley and down through upper Scotch Plains by the paper-mill for miles and the teeming fields of grain and grass, interspersed with woodlands, and dotted here and there with farmers' residences, and large dairies of cattle grazing on the hill slopes, and the multitudes of song birds chatting their melodious notes, and many other attractions, to please the traveler; down by the old Green brook stream as far as Bound Brook, where our township runs, you will find some of the most pleasant places the eye wishes to rest on. Over eight miles in the stretch, and nearly four across, is our territory, and it embraces some of the best land out of doors.

The brooks are running low.

Oat straw will be very short this year.

Israel Stout, ex-street commissioner, is busy grading in the park.

A lame crow amuses passers by Voehl's bakery on Somerset street.

Henry Hess, the gardener, who has been dangerously ill, is on the mend.

Ex-councilman C. P. Sebring is drilling a well for Smalley Bros., at their quarry.

The Mobus boys, Frank and Augustus, have five teams continually at work hereabouts.

Borough doctors recommend a hammock for the baby, instead of a crib, during the heated term.

Joseph Gavett and family are now living in their cottage in the beautiful Washington Valley, near the Rock.

Our Masonic friend, Henry Woodland, lives in and owns one of the handsomest dwellings on Grandview avenue.

"Vic" is the name of a common Irish dog that has many friends on Somerset street. Everybody knows "Vic", but as he's no good, according to heraldry, no one owns him.

Noah Drake has written a letter from the Trenton asylum to a friend here, asking him to intercede in his behalf and have a certain person sent down in his place and let him come home.

Henry Thomas, late of Manning avenue, an aged and industrious colored citizen, is dead. He leaves a wife, son and daughter. The property at 80 Manning avenue where he died belonged to him.

John Gun and Aaron Reid, two sports from Pond View, which is on the mountain top overlooking Coddington's pond, talk of driving their old gray mare to the World's Fair. They will start the next rainy day.

Charley Vandervoort, "Den" Sutphin's brother-in-law, has a large patch of watermelons on his place, and Charley says when the melons begin to ripen he will stay in the field all night so the boys will not get them as they did his citrons last year.

There is a horse, just a common ordinary one, which is incessantly keeping the neighbors awake at night over in the Park by continually kicking against the side of the stable. In fact, this is all the kicking that is done over in that end of the borough.

The "kids" of the borough are now happy. Mrs. S. Hudson, a kind Christian lady who lives on Somerset street, has given them permission to swim in the pond on her farm, and now an army of unwashed boys can be seen wandering up that way before and after school hours.

THE STROLLER.

A Famous Artist Decorating Plainfield Houses.

The enterprising firm of Marsh, Ayers & Co., having long realized the fact that there was a field in Plainfield for a first-class and experienced decorator, have brought from New York under contract one of the leading men of that line, one who for years has been identified with such firms as F. Beck & Co., the Warren Fuller Co., the Potter & Stymus Co., and others, and has been on such work as the Plaza, Savoy and Imperial hotels, Navarro, VanCorleaf, Dakota apartments, and parts of the Vanderbilt, Colt, King and Goldsmith mansions, and many of the leading hotels and residences throughout the United States, Mexico and Canada. The magnificent work for which the above firms are so justly celebrated has not failed of introduction here, as evidenced by the parlor now being completed for F. H. Andrews, on Central avenue.

The room is in pure Louis XIV style, in semi-relief of Lincrusta, decorated in cream-white and gold, with just a touch of venetian pink to break the monotony, and is beautified in the richness and simplicity which characterizes all high art decorations.

Messrs. Marsh, Ayers & Co. will hereafter keep on hand or order direct from the importers the highest grades of fabrics in real silk, damask, satin veloure, crocatelle and Japanese leathers, now so generally used on the higher grades of work, and will make a specialty of selling and wall upholstery and decorations, also fresco solid relief effects and papering. The wealth, refinement and education of Plainfield will immediately support them in their new venture, and there will no longer be the necessity of going to New York to have high grade and artistic work done.

THE CLIMAX GUN CLUB.

An Enjoyable Shoot Despite the Hot Weather.

The initial shoot of the Climax Gun club, Wednesday, on their shooting grounds, South avenue, near Fanwood, was a grand success in point of numbers present and the good time experienced. This new organization now numbers over thirty good shooting members, and bids fair to become a powerful organization among the shooting fraternity. Yesterday fourteen members faced the traps, under handicap rules, to make their scores for the annual prizes to be given. While the scores were not as large or good as should be warranted according to the record of the contestants, yet they were fair. All expressed themselves highly pleased with the new handicap methods. Each member shot at twenty-five targets. Afterwards there were sweepstake matches at inanimate and live birds. A fine clam-bake was served on the grounds while the shooting was in progress.

It is Agreed to Come Out of the Fund.

At a recent special meeting of Winfield Scott Post, 73, G. A. R., a resolution was adopted authorizing the post to go to Newark in a body Wednesday evening to attend the reception to the army's commander-in-chief Weissert. The reception is to be held in Caledonian Park. Some of the members were adverse to taking money out of the reserve fund for paying car fare, while others favored it.

Must Keep Chickens at Home.

"It may be of interest"—remarks the Bound Brook Chronicle—"to people who keep chickens, and allow them to scratch in neighboring gardens, to learn that in Plainfield, on Tuesday, a jury awarded a plaintiff damages in the sum of five dollars for injury to his garden inflicted by the defendant's fowls. The costs of the trial, which the owner of the chickens will also have to pay, amount to about twenty-five dollars more."

Society as Found in New Brunswick.

(From The New Brunswick Home News.)

PERSONAL CHAT.

BRIEF NEWS NOTES ABOUT PEOPLE IN AND OUT OF SOCIETY.

James Richardson was found drunk and acting in a disorderly manner on Easton avenue last night. Officer Kuhn arrested him and recorder Harkins sent him to jail for four days.

The Constitutionalist.

W. L. FORCE, | A. L. FORCE

Editors and Proprietors.

TRUST IN DEMOCRACY.

Partisans who wantonly ignore facts and deal in vague assertions demonstrate to a certainty that their political capital is running low.

Some Republican editors, we say some, because others evince due respect for truthful statement, in their fervent hostility to the Administration now vested with national authority, hesitate not to ascribe present financial troubles to a popular want of confidence in the party of Democracy.

Which, properly expounded, means that the voters of this country who, through more than one recent general election verdict so emphatically endorsed the Democratic party and its measures of reform, have prematurely lost confidence in themselves.

Such absurdity is powerless of effect except to show how foolish professional politicians may become.

The generally acknowledged causes of existing financial and business difficulties cannot be misplaced or misjudged. They were nursed into life and activity by the unwise legislation of late years, and can only be removed by time and prudent statesmanship.

To accomplish that needed result, as early as practicable, is the purpose of President Cleveland. To reform accumulated evils is his honest endeavor.

Common sense dictates that the permanent cure of disease demands both time and efficient remedies.

The American people by a large majority honor open-faced truth and rigid integrity, consequently, they are in trusting accord with the Democratic party, the century-aged custodian of their dearest personal interests.

THE PEOPLE.

The growth and strength of a political organization depends upon its unflinching loyalty to principles and measures.

If political principles are in unison with equal rights, and proposed or enacted measures are practically operative for the general public good, and untainted with favoritism or selfish designs, the party fathering them will earn and receive popular support, no matter how cunningly devised may be the tactics of its opponents.

The history of the Democratic party fully authenticates that.

Deep-seated prejudice may hold individuals in bondage and partisan claptrap beguile the unthinking, but sober judgment will assert dominion and control the many.

The masses of the American people are honestly-intentioned. To enjoy the advantages of equitably framed and faithfully executed laws is their praiseworthy and should be their just reward.

To defend the rights and promote the welfare of the people, without calling in question class, creed or condition, is the behest of patriotism.

To deceive and defraud them is arrant criminality.

* * *

By command of the Sherman Silver Law, during the eleven months ending May 1, 1893, the Treasury Department purchased nearly fifty million dollars worth of silver bullion, stored it as dead weight in the vaults and paid out for it about forty-eight million dollars in gold. That certainly is a system of demoralizing finance, differing little in effect from the Farmer's Alliance project that the Government purchase wheat and issue therefor greenbacks redeemable in gold. If a commodity like silver bullion is to be bought with public money and stored away, why not wheat, corn, pig iron, lead, whiskey or cordage? From what source did the silver mines of Nevada and Colorado obtain the right of monopoly?

* * *

The Infanta Eulalia, collateral heir to the throne of Spain, and official representative of that Government to the Columbian Exposition, has embarked for her own country. She departs bearing with her the good wishes of the people of the United States, because, during her sojourn here, to a marked extent, she threw aside the pomp and etiquette of royalty and treated with becoming respect Democratic institutions and usages.

THE PRESIDENT HONORS PLAINFIELD

President Cleveland has honored Plainfield very highly by selecting as one of the Government's representatives abroad, a resident of this city. His appointment of J. A. Demarest as consul to Brockville, Ontario, is also gratifying as an acknowledgment of New Jersey's right to reward of the sort, and as an evidence of appreciation that THE PRESS has been constant and conscientious in its Democracy and steadfast in its support of the people's cause that won so grand a victory last fall.

The first information of the appointment that Mr. Demarest received, was its publication in the Evening News. It was, to a great extent, a surprise. The post is one much sought after, and there were many hundreds recommended for it from every State, but the appointment was claimed as belonging to New York and it seemed assured that she would get it again as during President Cleveland's former term. Consequently the honor to New Jersey is the greater as the appointment of Mr. Demarest evidences that it was a personal choice of the President's, and that precedent and the claims of another State, were set aside.

Plainfield Gives Light to the Wilderness.

Poles for electric lights have already been put up from Fanwood to Scotch Plains and the wires will be strung in a short time. The light will be furnished from a dynamo in Plainfield. The people in Fanwood and Scotch Plains will be greatly benefited by this improvement.

IS IT HIS CONSCIENCE?

THAT'S THE QUESTION INVOLVED IN PAOLI'S CASE.

The City Accuses Him of Using the Seventh-Day Law as a Subterfuge, and Says He Should Be Forced to Keep His Shop Closed Sundays.

The case of the city of Plainfield against Lorenzo Paoli, a North avenue fruit dealer, for alleged illegal Sunday selling, came up on Tuesday in the city court. Judge Coddington presided, Craig A. Marsh was counsel for the city, and Walter Hetfield represented the defendant. The trial, which was by jury, was opened at 10:30, and the charge was given to the jury at 1:30, most of the three hours being taken up by discussion between lawyers Hetfield and Marsh as to legal points and the admission of evidence. A large number of witnesses were brought before the court, but the evidence of many of them was of little use, and the trial dragged slowly on, the monotony being broken only by occasional heated argument between the lawyers and the frequent outbursts of indignation on the part of Paoli.

The city claimed that Paoli had closed his shop Saturdays only that he might open Sundays, as business is usually very brisk on that day, and counselor Marsh made a very stirring appeal to the morals of the twelve jurymen, telling them that it was a disgrace to Plainfield that such a subterfuge and evasion of the law should be allowed. Some effort was made on the part of the prosecution to prove that customers frequently got intoxicated in Paoli's shop on the cider that he sold there. The defence took the trouble to produce farmer Smalley who made the cider, but he said he was not responsible for its actions after it had left his hands. The defence proved conclusively that Paoli always closed his shop regularly Saturdays, and the final issue that was embodied in the charge was:

"Did Paoli honestly believe in keeping his Sabbath on Saturday and did he do it for motives of religion; or had he struck the happy plan of closing on Saturday merely that he might make more money on Sunday? The ordinance says that Sunday selling shall be illegal except to those who keep the Sabbath on Saturday as a matter of conscience, and even then it is illegal if the Sunday opening interferes with the religious observances of those sects who still cling to the old-fashioned Sunday keeping. The decision seemed to call for some careful consideration, not to say hair-splitting; and the decision of a jury that is by courtesy always supposed to be intelligent, needed thorough consideration on the part of the individual intelligences."

THE JURY:

B. T. Barnes,	A. V. Lunger,
J. B. Clarkson,	J. W. Davis,
B. R. Force,	Wm. A. Westphal,
C. M. Ulrich,	Sylvester Sharkey,
U. B. Crane,	Fred Walker,
John Ross,	Abraham Rockafellow.

The jury trying Lorenzo Paoli for alleged Sunday selling were discharged last Tuesday, failing to agree. 3 were for conviction, 9 for acquittal.

THEY'LL ALL BE SEASICK.

PLAINFIELD CAMERITES INDIFFERENT TO THEIR NECKS' SAFETY.

They're Going to Venture Over the Rock-a-Bye-Baby Railroad, in the Hope of Getting Views of the Jersey Farmer as He Really Is.

A meeting of the Plainfield Camera club took place Tuesday at the home of H. H. Coward, secretary of the club, to consider various questions before the club and settle the business affairs of the recent Music Hall entertainment. It had been requested that all outstanding tickets that had been given to members to dispose of should be brought in, and nearly all were returned. It was found that when the affairs of the exhibition were wound up it had been a financial success.

The plan that has been talked of for some time of making a trip to the Delaware Water Gap has been given up, and another has been substituted; namely, that of a trip on the Rock-a-bye-baby railroad from White House to Morristown, as the train may be induced to stop long enough for the members to take pictures by the roadside. F. R. Stevens was appointed to consult with the authorities of the road and report to the committee.

Messrs. J. H. Doane, Otto Arens, G. H. Babcock, H. H. Coward, F. R. Stevens and F. S. Smith, the committee to arrange for the next print exhibition, have issued a circular requesting members to do all in their power to make the collection of prints a success. The classes as stated in the circular are as follows: Landscapes, marines, figure study, including portraiture, architecture, interiors, hand camera work, farm life and animals, flash light work, transparencies and composition. It is hoped that the exhibition can be held in the new rooms of the club in the Babcock building.

ONE-THIRD MORE WANTED.

Mayor Gilbert's Appeal to the People Only Needs Now a Little Concerted Assistance to be Victorious.

Two-thirds of the assents needful to authorize the construction of a drainage system have been secured, largely through the circular sent out by mayor Gilbert. The people of Plainfield, it is plain, want sewers. But one-third more names are necessary. To get them, the services of about twenty prominent citizens are needed—citizens who hold the confidence of their neighbors, and who are patriotic enough to give two or three evenings to a neighborhood canvass.

It is demonstrated that such a canvass will readily procure the assent of almost every tax-payer. But it is unkind, to say the least, to put this work upon those who have given very considerable time to the subject in other directions, and who stand ready to do still more work when the tax-payers give the word. These men should be relieved of the work of procuring assents. Let there be an apportionment of the labor for the common good.

Drainage is offered us on the best possible terms and under the best of circumstances so far as supervision and financiering and general management are concerned. It is an opportunity that should be improved. To do so twenty good citizens should at once take up the canvass and carry it to quick completion.

Imitators and Impostors.

The unequalled success of ALLCOCK'S POROUS PLASTERS as an external remedy has induced unscrupulous parties to offer imitations, which they endeavor to sell on the reputation of ALLCOCK'S. It is an absurdity to speak of them in the same category as the genuine porous plaster. Their pretensions are unfounded, their vaunted merit unsupported by facts, their alleged superiority to or equality with ALLCOCK'S a false pretence.

The ablest medical practitioners and chemists and thousands of grateful patients unite in declaring ALLCOCK'S POROUS PLASTERS the best external remedy ever produced.

Beware of imitations, and do not be deceived by misrepresentation. Ask for ALLCOCK'S, and let no solicitation or explanation induce you to accept a substitute.

* * *

I have been troubled with chronic catarrh for years. [illegible] — E. H. Willard, [illegible]

MR. DUNN OF PLAINFIELD.

HERE'S A WEATHER PROPHET AS IS A PROPHET.

How a Tiny Pet Tree-Toad in a Front Street Household Foretells with Unfailing Accuracy the Approach of a Storm or the Advance of Fair Weather.

Mrs. George Lissignolo, of East Front street, has a wonderful curiosity in the form of a living barometer, the only one of its kind that exists in this city or State, so far as learned. This indicator of weather-changes is a diminutive tree-toad, whose apartment is so arranged that the slightest change in the density of the air is foretold by him with wonderful accuracy. The toad was caught at Fellville about a month ago, and Mrs. Lissignolo placed the little reptile in a large glass jar about two-thirds full of water. Standing at an angle in the jar is a small but perfectly formed ladder, and upon this the toad rests continually, never moving a muscle except when a change in the weather is to occur.

When the earth is dry and the skies are clear, the toad squats contentedly upon the top-most rung of the ladder. Just as soon as a storm approaches, and many hours before it can be seen or felt in New Jersey, the tree-toad begins to descend his ladder step by step. The nearer the storm comes, the lower the toad goes, until at the close approach of the stormy weather he sits half-submerged in water.

Thus far his predictions have been infallible, and more cannot be said of farmer Dunn of New York. It is for this reason that the little fellow has been christened "Mr. Dunn of Plainfield".

Sunday, it will be remembered, was beautifully bright and clear, both by day and when the moon arose in gorgeous display at night, but all day long Mr. Dunn persisted in submerging himself in the water with but the tip of his nose showing above the surface. He could not be tempted to climb out and enjoy the beautiful day. During Sunday night came the furious rainstorm that lasted Monday and yesterday. Mr. Dunn of Plainfield gave earlier notice of the storm than the boss of the Dunns in New York.

The board bill of the local Dunn is inexpensive, inasmuch as he eats nothing, apparently. He is given fresh water regularly and often, and obtains sustenance from that, just as a fish does. He refuses all offers of flies, bugs and leaves.

TO MAKE THE FOURTH MOST GLORIOUS.

HERE'S ONE SOCIETY WILL DO IT JUSTICE.

Park Club Members to Have a Big Show of Fireworks, and a Dance Following the Pyrotechnics—'Twill Be a Swell and Exclusive Gathering.

If Plainfield is dead to the world, in the matter of appropriate celebration of the Fourth, Netherwood and North Plainfield are not, for at Hotel Netherwood there will be a glorious hop, and at the Park club-house there will be a grand display of fireworks, followed by a dance that will set every affaire with joy. That the Park club event will be such as the day deserves, and such as will be emblazoned in history as a most notable and triumphant one, is assured by the personality of the entertainment committee, who are Messrs. B. A. Hegeman, jr., George C. Evans, George P. Dupee, George D. Hallock and Augustus VanDeventer.

And that the social success will be most charming, is certain, since the following are the patronesses:

Mrs. Sam'l Townsend,	Mrs. James T. Scott,
Mrs. Samuel St. J. McCutchen,	Mrs. Aug. VanDeventer
	Mrs. B. A. Hegeman, jr
Mrs. Morgan S. Taylor,	Mrs. Geo. D. Hallock,
Mrs. Geo. P. Dupee,	Mrs. Chas. A. Reed,
Mrs. Geo. C. Evans,	Mrs. Edward S. Hooley,
Mrs. Wm. L. Saunders,	Miss Ida Musgrave,
Mrs. Wm. J. Boone,	Mrs. Walter M. McGee,
Mrs. Henry A. McGee.

The affair will be a most cultured and fashionable one. Admission will be restricted to members and their families, and two invited guests for each member. Tickets will be issued solely by B. A. Hegeman, jr., chairman of the entertainment committee.

The Union County Country club also promises its members pyrotechnics the night of the Fourth.

The President's Personal Choice, the Townspeople's Delight.

[From The Newark Evening News.]

James Alfred Demarest, managing editor of the Plainfield Daily Press, yesterday received his official commission from President Cleveland appointing him Consul to Brockville, Ontario, Canada. Mr. Demarest is being overwhelmed with congratulations on his appointment to an office for which there were more than 600 applicants. The townspeople take it as a high compliment that one of Plainfield's citizens should thus be chosen. Mr. Demarest will remove to Brockville with his wife and son the latter part of July. He claims to have been the first to renominate President Cleveland for a second term, and is considered a personal favorite of the Chief Executive of the Nation.

In the Lowest Depths of Disgraceful Blunders.

The stupid and shameful heedlessness of the Courier daily grows worse and worse. It is not necessary to review here its long list of blunders of each issue; they are working the Courier's own destruction among its limited and shrinking circle of readers. Two especially glaring errors are just now a subject of ridicule of the demented sheet. In Monday's issue the idiotic statement was made that the Hillside Tennis club held a tournament and tea at the Country club grounds and house; and last night all sense of decency was outraged by the publication of a wedding notice under the big black heading DIED.

Elegant Gray and Blue Mixed Suits.

Among the surplus custom patterns that Watson & Co. are now cutting up are some very handsome gray and blue mixtures that are now in such great demand in the finest New York custom trade.

Watson & Co. overstocked themselves with these high-cost patterns, and are now finishing some of these suits daily, which go in with their other custom patterns at $15 a suit, is only half the order price, and as they are cut by their idle custom cutters, made by their finest tailors, and satin trimmed, no better suit can be made to order at any price. None of these elegant suits are shown in any of their Broad or Market street windows—as they sell as fast as finished.—Newark News.

PHILANTHROPY.

[Written for The Press.]

If I were but a millionaire,
I'd do no end of good;
I'd sport an independent air,
And have it understood,
That I were just the sort of stuff
You'd like to have around—
A very jewel in the rough—
And first I would astound
The city and the borough, too,
By one event, noble act,
That might seem more than could be true,
Although it were a fact;
I'd buy a can of paint, and haste—
A man around to brush
Those letter boxes that a taste
Would help so very much.

Z.

MORE KIND WORDS.

Even the German Editor is Not Surprised.

(Elizabeth Journal.)

Editor Demarest, of the Plainfield Press, has been appointed Consul to Brockville, Ontario. And thus has another able editor been recognized as essential to the successful administration of public affairs. In thus acknowledging the superiority of Union county editors over thousands of other valuable citizens in the United States—for there were thousands of applicants for the office—President Cleveland has but done justice to New Jersey in general, Union county in particular, and Editor Demarest in propia persona.

(Translation Der Somerset Bote.)

Editor J. A. Demarest of the Plainfield Press has been appointed Consul at Brockville, Ont., by President Cleveland. Although the honor was never sought for by Mr. Demarest, he undoubtedly will accept and capably fill the position. As the President could not have chosen a more able man, we cannot say that we are surprised.

(From The Summit Record.)

Every Democrat and a large number of Republicans in Union county will learn with mixed feelings of pleasure and regret of the appointment of James A. Demarest, of Plainfield, to the post of Consul to Brockville. Their pleasure will come from a knowledge of Mr. Demarest's real merit and solid worth, and from the wisdom shown by the President in recognizing the journalistic profession to which few of the honors of public service ever fall, and the regret that is felt, will be on account of the loss, for a time, of a man who has done much to make the Plainfield Press one of the best newspapers in central New Jersey.

(Elizabeth Herald.)

Your hand, Brother Demarest of the Plainfield Press. I congratulate you upon your appointment as consul at Brockville, Canada. You will, I am sure, dignify your office as you have dignified the editorial chair. In your departure from Plainfield the consular service gains an efficient member and the press of New Jersey loses a live and capable journalist.

(Elizabeth Journal.)

Editor J. A. Demarest of the Plainfield Daily Press is being congratulated on his appointment as consul at Brockville, Canada. It is a well deserved recognition of one who has been constant and conscientious in his support of Democracy and besides that it is an honor to the United States to be represented by one so capable and genial as friend Demarest. Brockville is the county seat of Leeds county in the Province of Ontario, and includes a portion of the Thousand Islands. It is a most delightful place for a weary scribe to recuperate.

And Such Cream!

One unlicensed ice-cream peddler hawked his goods about town, Sunday, and he had a good sale, too.

HILL'S

REMEMBER we guarantee a cure and invite the most careful investigation as to our responsibility and the merits of our Tablets.

READ OUR TESTIMONIALS

Double Chloride of Gold Tablets

Will completely destroy the desire for TOBACCO in from 3 to 5 days. Perfectly harmless; cause no sickness, and may be given in a cup of tea or coffee without the knowledge of the patient, who will voluntarily stop smoking or chewing in a few days.

DRUNKENNESS and MORPHINE HABIT can be cured at home, and without any effort on the part of the patient, by the use of our SPECIAL FORMULA GOLD CURE TABLETS.

During treatment patients are allowed the free use of Liquor or Morphine until such time as they shall voluntarily give them up.

We send particulars and pamphlet of testimonials free, and shall be glad to place sufferers from any of these habits in communication with persons who have been cured by the use of our TABLETS.

HILL'S TABLETS are for sale by all FIRST-CLASS druggists at $1.00 per package.

If your druggist does not keep them, enclose us $1.00 and we will send you, by return mail, a package of our Tablets.

Write your name and address plainly, and state whether Tablets are for Tobacco, Morphine or Liquor Habit.

DO NOT BE DECEIVED into purchasing any of the various nostrums that are being offered for sale. Ask for HILL'S TABLETS and take no other.

Manufactured only by

—THE—

OHIO CHEMICAL CO,

51, 53 & 55 Opera Block,

LIMA, OHIO.

PARTICULARS FREE.

TOBACCO HABIT EASILY CURED.

A FEW Testimonials from persons who have been cured by the use of Hill's Tablets.

THE OHIO CHEMICAL CO.: DEAR SIR:—I have been using your cure for tobacco habit, and found it would do what you claim for it. I used ten cents worth of the strongest chewing tobacco a day, and from one to five cigars; or I would smoke from ten to forty pipes of tobacco. Have chewed and smoked for twenty-five years, and two packages of your Tablets cured me so I have no desire for it. B. M. JAYLORD, Leslie, Mich.

DOBBS FERRY, N. Y. THE OHIO CHEMICAL CO.:—GENTLEMEN:—Some time ago I sent for $1.00 worth of your Tablets for Tobacco Habit. I received them all right and, although I was both a heavy smoker and chewer, they did the work in less than three days. I am cured. Truly yours, MATHEW JOHNSON, P. O. Box 45.

PITTSBURGH, PA. THE OHIO CHEMICAL CO.:—GENTLEMEN:—It gives me pleasure to speak a word of praise for your Tablets. My son was strongly addicted to the use of liquor, and through a friend, I was led to try your Tablets. He was a heavy and constant drinker, but after using your Tablets but three days he quit drinking, and will not touch liquor of any kind. I have waited four months before writing you, in order to know the cure was permanent. Yours truly, MRS. HELEN MORRISON.

CINCINNATI, OHIO. THE OHIO CHEMICAL CO:—GENTLEMEN:—Your Tablets have performed a miracle in my case. I have used morphine, hypodermically, for seven years, and have been cured by the use of two packages of your Tablets, and without any effort on my part. W. L. LOTEGAY.

Address all Orders to

RESPONSIBLE AGENTS WANTED

THE OHIO CHEMICAL CO.,

51, 53 and 55 Opera Block. LIMA, OHIO.

(In writing please mention this paper.)

PAPIAC.

(Boynton Beach,)

OPEN SATURDAY,

June 17.

6 15-tf-p c

PUBLIC SALE

—OF—

150 ACRES STANDING GRASS,

On the Blake place, situated near Stirling, Morris county, N. J.,

ON THURSDAY, JULY 6.

Sale will commence on the south end of the farm at one o'clock p. m.

Terms—3 months' credit with approved security.

C. B. MOFFETT.

E. C. Morris Safe Co

Incorporated. Capital $250,000.

Successors to E. C. Morris & Co.

64 Sudbury St., Boston, Mass.

FIRE AND BURGLAR-PROOF SAFES.

Bank Safes, Bank Vaults, Bank Vault Doors and Deposit Work of all kinds.

The Best Safe in the World. [illegible] in use

Always preserve their contents.

Champion Record in all the Great Fires.

One of the largest and best equipped factories in the country has just been erected near Boston, fitted with the latest and most improved tools, which render facilities for manufacturing the best work at the lowest prices, unequalled by any other concern in the country.

Our aim is to give the best construction and most improvements for the least amount of money. [illegible]

Near Academy street.

Mullins & Co.

218 and 220 Market Street,

NEWARK, N. J.

The Leading Furniture and Carpet House in the State.

OUR PRICES ARE THE LOWEST.

WHY?

We have no exorbitant rental expenses, for we own our buildings and everything in them. We buy in the best markets, get the largest discounts and are satisfied with reasonable profits.

Oak Chamber Suit $12.

Our assortment of Furniture, Carpets, Baby Carriages, Refrigerators, Cooking Stoves and almost everything for housekeeping are worth seeing, whether you purchase or not.

CARPETS.

Wilton, Axminster, Moquette, Velvet, Body and Tapestry Brussels and Ingrain Carpets, Linoleum, Oilcloth, Cocoa and China Matting, in latest designs and choicest colorings.

Miscellaneous.

Baby Carriages, Stoves, Ranges, Cooking Utensils, Window Shanes, Pictures, Clocks, Chenille and Lace Curtains at

The Best Terms of Any House in the State

BRANCH STORES | 78 to 84 Myrtle ave., Brooklyn, N. Y.
121 to 125 Newark ave., Jersey City.
213 Main st., Paterson, N. J.

3 30 3m

We Have Now In Stock

The largest and best assortment of

$12 BUSINESS SUITS

that we have ever manufactured. They are the latest styles of Plain and Fancy Cheviots, Cassimere Suitings, Black Thibets, etc., and the most of these styles have never been sold before for less than $15 per suit. Our

$12. BLUE SERGE SUITS

Are made from Indigo Blue Serges, color guaranteed and we recommend these as the most comfortable, serviceable and stylish suits for summer wear

Kilpatrick & Betts,

745 and 747 Broad Street,

Newark.

CANNON'S MARKET MULBERRY MECHANIC STS

NEWARK.

Cobbler-Seat Rockers

Quarter-Sawed Antique Oak.
Elegant Piano Polish.
Embossed Sole Leather Seat.
It will never wear out.
(SAME AS CUT.)

$4.90.

Would be Cheap at $8.00.

CARPETS!

Nowhere else can you be so well pleased both in assortment and price.

Matting • Special.

100 pieces Jointless Damask Matting

27½c. yard.

Regular 40c. per yard.

Plain Figures,
One Price,
Cash or Credit.

LARGEST HOUSE OUTFITTERS IN NEW JERSEY

AT BEDTIME
I TAKE A
PLEASANT
HERB
DRINK

THE NEXT MORNING I FEEL BRIGHT AND NEW AND MY COMPLEXION IS BETTER.

My doctor says it acts gently on the stomach, liver and kidneys, and is a pleasant laxative. This drink is made from herbs, and is prepared for use as easily as tea. It is called

LANE'S MEDICINE

All druggists sell it at 50c. and $1 a package. If you cannot get it, send your address for a free sample. Lane's Family Medicine moves the bowels each day. In order to be healthy this is necessary. Address, ORATOR F. WOODWARD, Le Roy, N. Y.

COOPER'S FLORAL DENTINE.

SO popular with the Ladies for rendering their teeth pearly white. With the directions for cleansing their teeth and perfuming the breath. It removes all traces of tobacco smoke. Is perfectly harmless and delicious to the taste. Sent by mail for 25c. At all dealers. Send 2c. stamp for sample to

F. COOPER & [illegible],
Chemists, Kingston, N. Y.

SHERIFF'S SALE—In Chancery of New Jersey. Between The Mutual Life Insurance Company of New York, complainant, and James B. Perine et. al., defendants. Fi. fa. for sale of mortgaged premises.

By virtue of the above stated writ of fieri facias to me directed, I shall expose for sale by public vendue at the court house, in the city of Elizabeth, N. J., on

WEDNESDAY THE 19th DAY OF JULY A. D., 1893,

at two o'clock in the afternoon of said day, all that certain lot, piece, or parcel of land, situate in the city of Plainfield, in the county of Union and State of New Jersey, described as follows:

Beginning at a point in the centre of LaGrand avenue, distant in an easterly direction from the easterly line of Peace street, if the same were produced across LaGrande avenue ninety-three feet and from thence running (1) north-westerly and about right angles to said LaGrande avenue one hundred and eighty feet to a corner; thence (2) northeasterly and parallel with LaGrande avenue fifty-six feet to a corner; thence (3) southeasterly and at right angles to LaGrand avenue one hundred and eighty feet to the centre line of LaGrande avenue; thence (4) southwesterly and along the centre line of said avenue fifty-six feet to the place of beginning.

W. H. HICKS, Sheriff.

FREDERICK G. BURNHAM, Sol'r

DL&C fees $7.20 6 8 5

MIDDLESEX COUNTY ORPHANS COURT.

On the application of Charlotte Park Administratrix of Marsellias M. Park, deceased, for sale of lands to pay debts. } Order to Show Cause.

Charlotte Park, administratrix of Marsellias M. Park, deceased, having exhibited to this Court under oath a just and true account of the personal estate and debts of the said deceased, whereby it appears that the personal estate of the said Marsellias M. Park is insufficient to pay his debts, and requested the aid of the Court in the premises. It is on this first day of May, A. D., 1893 ordered that all persons interested in the lands, tenements and real estate of said Marsellias M. Park, deceased, appear before the Court at the Court-house in New Brunswick, New Jersey, on the fifth day of July next, at half past ten o'clock a. m. to show cause why so much of the said lands, tenements and hereditaments and real estate of the said Marsellias M. Park, deceased, should not be sold as will be sufficient to pay his debts or the residue thereof as the case may require.

A true copy. By the court.

J. KEARNEY RICE, Present Judge,
MATHEW O'GORMAN, } Judges.
M. FREEMAN,

Leonard Furman, Surrogate. 5 11 6

SHERIFF'S SALE.—In Chancery of New Jersey.—Between the Trustees of the Episcopal Fund of the Diocese of Newark complainants and Francis X. Schoonmaker and Matilda M. Schoonmaker, defendants. Fi. fa. for sale of mortgaged premises.

By virtue of the above stated writ of fieri facias to me directed, I shall expose for sale by public vendue, at the Court House in the City of Elizabeth, N. J., on at 2 o'clock in the afternoon of said day, all that tract or parcel of land and premises hereinafter particularly described, situate, lying and being in the City of Plainfield, in the County of Union, and State of New Jersey.

WEDNESDAY, THE TWELFTH DAY OF JULY, A. D. 1893,

Beginning at the corner formed by the intersection of the easterly line of Carlton avenue with the northerly line of Putnam street; thence running northerly along the easterly line of Carlton avenue one hundred and seventy-five feet; thence easterly parallel with Putnam street one hundred and seventy-five feet to a stake and corner; thence southerly parallel with Carlton avenue, one hundred and seventy-five feet to the northerly line of Putnam street; thence westerly along the said northerly line of Putnam street one hundred and seventy-five feet to the point or place of beginning, together with the land in front of said premises to the center line of Putnam street and Carlton avenue to be used as public streets.

W. H. HICKS, Sheriff.

A. Q. KEASBEY & SONS, Sol'rs.

CH&C fees $7 30. 6 6 wo

THE PLAINFIELD

PACKING HOUSE

25 West Front Street,

Would respectfully inform its patrons that in addition to its usual stock of

Fresh, Salt and Smoked Goods,

It has added a full line of

Fresh Beef, Lamb,

Veal, Mutton & Poultry,

Which it is prepared to sell at

Reasonable Prices!

All goods delivered free of charge.

Telephone 141.

C. M. ULRICH.

Make No Mistake!

There is a COUNTERFEIT on No. 73, and purchasers are requested to notice my name in full before entering the store.

AMOS H. VANHORN.

LIMITED,

73 MARKET STREET,

To outdo all competitors, will make the following inducements to purchasers until further notice:

Carpets,

Good Tapestry Brussels Carpet per yard only 55 cents.
Extra super all-wool Ingrain Carpet per yard only 60 cents.

Parlor Suits,

Parlor Suits, mahogany finished frames, in plush covering, only

$32.50

Bedroom Suits,

Hall & Lyon's bedroom suits, in antique oak finish, 8 pieces, only

$17.50

N. B.—Notice the first name, AMOS and No. 73, before entering the store.

BOOK ACCOUNT OPENED IF DESIRED.

Telephone 580! Elevator to Every Floor!

Goods Delivered FREE OF CHARGE to All Parts of the State!

AMOS H. VAN HORN.

LIMITED.

My only place of Business is at

73 Market Street,

Near Plane St., Newark, N. J.

NO BRANCH STORES.

10-5-1y

TOWNSEND'S

Marble & Granite Works,

30 SOMERSET STREET,

PLAINFIELD, N. J.

If you have not engaged your work, I should be pleased to do it for you.

I buy only first-class Marble and Granite and do not sell unless at prices that will enable me to put up the work with credit to myself and justice to the parties purchasing.

I employ no agents and therefore am enabled to make a reduction in the price of my work to the customer, of the commission generally paid to agents.

I am under a very small expense in running my shop, myself and my son doing the larger portion of the work, and we personally attend to the setting of all work, and look upon business in this light, that Good Work and Good Material, at Fair Prices, is a standing advertisement for my business, which will tend to build up trade, and I feel safe to warrant that no dealer can sell you the same work and same stock any cheaper than I can.

Hoping to be favored with your patronage, I am yours respectfully,

J. E. TOWNSEND,

Manager. 8 11 tf

Branch Yard Westfield, N. J.

FURS

And all kinds of wearing apparel

STORED

And insured against all damage by fire or moth.

Repairing and re-dyeing of Furs should be done during the summer months.

GEO. C. TREADWELL CO.

SUCCESSORS TO

W. H. AND R. BURNETT,

17 Academy st., Newark. 5 11 4

Scientific American Agency for PATENTS
CAVEATS,
TRADE MARKS,
DESIGN PATENTS,
COPYRIGHTS, etc.

For information and free Handbook write to MUNN & CO., 361 BROADWAY, NEW YORK. Oldest bureau for securing patents in America. Every patent taken out by us is brought before the public by a notice given free of charge in the

Scientific American

Largest circulation of any scientific paper in the world. Splendidly illustrated. No intelligent man should be without it. Weekly, $3.00 a year; $1.50 six months. Address MUNN & CO., PUBLISHERS, 361 Broadway, New York City.

Dime Savings Institution

OF PLAINFIELD, N. J.

Is now receiving deposits payable on demand, with interest at the rate of three (3) per cent. per annum payable semi-annually.

JOHN W. MURRAY, President,
WILLIAM WHITE, Vice "
NATHAN HARPER, " "
ELIAS R. POPE, Treasurer.

NEWARK

BEE HIVE

Things Sold There That Make The Great Store it is.

THE "BEE HIVE"
NEWARK N.J
THE LARGEST DRY & FANCY
GOODS HOUSE IN THE STATE
L. S. PLAUT & CO
707 to 721 BROAD ST

CUT OUT AND SAVE FOR REFERENCE.

STOCK LIST No. 14.

MUSLIN WEAR

DEPARTMENT.

INFANTS' SECTION.

Baby Carriage Robes in lace, plush, silk, eider down, worsted and flannel.
Infants' Silk and Swiss Mull Caps.
Infants' Long and Short Slips.
Infants' Muslin and Flannel Shirts.
Infants' Dresses—6 mo. to 1 yr. sizes.
Children's Dresses—2 to 3 yr. sizes.
Infants' Robes in many styles.
Babies' Worsted Sacques.
Babies' Flannel Sacques—plain and st'p'd.
Babies' Wrappers in flannel and china silk.
Baby Shrouds.
Baby Baskets and Hampers—trimmed and plain.
Infants' Fancy Work Baskets.
Infants' Rubber Diapers and Bibs.
Infants' Bibs in silk and lace.
Infants' Veils, Shirts, Yokes and Bands.
Infants' Kid Shoes in all colors.
Infants' Worsted Booties, Mittens and Stockings.
Eiderdown and Cashmere Long Cloaks.
Birds'-Eye Linen.
IN THIS SECTION IS ALSO DISPLAYED A FINE LINE OF OLD LADIES' CAPS, NURSE & WAITRESS' CAPS.

NO BRANCH STORES.

L. S. PLAUT & CO.

707 to 721 BROAD ST.

Mail Orders Filled.

NOTICE. June 3, 1893.

Estate of Harriet E. Case, Deceased.

Pursuant to the order of George T. Parrot, Surrogate of the county of Union, this day made, on the application of the undersigned, administrator of said deceased, notice is hereby given to the creditors of said deceased to exhibit to the subscribers under oath or affirmation their claims and demands against the estate of said deceased within nine months from this date, or they will be forever barred from prosecuting or recovering the same against the subscriber. [illegible]

CITY DEPARTMENT.

OFFICIAL PAPER OF THE STATE, THE COUNTY AND THE CITY, AND HAS THE LARGEST CIRCULATION OF ANY PAPER PUBLISHED IN THE COUNTY OF UNION.

J. A. DEMAREST - - City Editor.

—Oh, paint the trolley cars!

—A picnic will be held at Eureka Grove, July 13, for the benefit of three poor boys.

—Samuel and Philip Baddin have been fitting up the "Woodbine Cottage", Scotch Plains.

—The Fanwood club-house is being extensively repaired, and a new club has been formed.

—John Wahl, of Scotch Plains, has about completed his 15,000 ton contract for crushed stone for the streets of Long Branch.

—W. R. Johnson, of East Front street, has gone to Long Branch to open a pool room. There are inquiries here for his exact address.

—The first of the season will be the excursion to Asbury Park and Long Branch, July 7, of the Crescent Avenue and Bethel chapel Sunday-schools. All who go will have a lovely time.

—Officer Day, of Scotch Plains, arrested William Adams, a day or two ago, charged with assault and battery on Edward Verity. Adams was taken before Judge Moore, and subsequently released.

—The annual excursion of the First M. E. church and Sunday-school will take place Tuesday, July 11. As usual, the Methodists will go to Asbury Park and Ocean Grove. For ten years this excursion has been a popular one with Plainfielders.

—Dr. William H. Murray has presented the following to the Free Public Library: Twelve volumes of the Medical Record, one volume of the Archives of Otology, two volumes of the Archives of Pediatrics, and one volume of the Medical Analyetic. These will be kept on file at the library, and will make a valuable addition to the medical department.

PERSONALIA.

Ernest L. Walz and family leave for Lake Minnewaska, July 8.

Orville Waring has been elected captain of the Holy Cross choir camp.

Miss Lilla Livzey, of Park avenue, is visiting relatives in Philadelphia.

Mr. and Mrs. W. Wallace Coriell are at 610 Somerfield avenue, Asbury Park.

Mrs. W. D. W. Miller and children, of LaGrande avenue, are at Asbury Park.

H. G. Runkle and family will spend the summer at Bluff Point, Lake Champlain.

David M. Stiger, of Mendham, is visiting Mrs. D. T. VanBuren, of Central avenue.

Mrs. William J. Roome and family go to the Adirondacks for the summer, July 6.

Miss Matylee Fehrmann, of First place, is visiting her aunt, Mrs. Charles Heath, of Orange.

Fredrick Andrews and family, of Central avenue, will spend the summer at Northfield, Mass.

Miss Fannie Stetson, formerly of First place, is visiting Mrs. Irving Brown, of Central avenue.

Charles F. Powlison, of Springfield, is paying a short visit to his parents on Grandview avenue.

Miss S. G. Dunn, of East Seventh street, is at Pine Bush, Orange county, N. Y., for the summer.

Miss Rosemary Baum, of Boston, has been the guest of her aunt, Mrs. J. A. Hubbard of Fifth street, West.

Mrs. M. E. Simons and Miss May Simons, of Albany, are visiting Herbert W. Stover, of East Ninth street.

Mr. and Mrs. S. L. Dollner, of Madison avenue and Ninth street, will spend the summer at Great Barrington.

Prof. and Mrs. George Collins, of Brooklyn, spent Sunday with Mrs. Collins's mother on West Fourth street.

On account of the illness of the Rev. Mr. Meroney, no services were held in the Scotch Plains Methodist church, Sunday.

The Rev. Dr. Parks, pastor of the Scotch Plains Baptist church, will soon occupy his new home, opposite the church.

Frank C. Froment and family, formerly of this city and always summer residents here, left this morning for a few weeks at Avon Inn.

Mr. and Mrs. William Drayton are spending a few days with their former rector, the Rev. Charles C. Tiffany, at Sharon, Conn.

Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Hinkson, of Somerset street, are expected home to-day from a short visit with Mrs. Hinkson's parents at Princeton.

Mr. and Mrs. S. P. Dunn and family, of East Seventh street, leave town this week to spend the summer in and about Newfoundland, Passaic county.

The engagement is announced of Miss Emma S. Miller, of East Ninth street, to Robert D. Kimball, of East Seventh street, formerly of Providence, R. I.

Miss Minnie French, daughter of L. M. French, of Craig place, is recovering from her illness through the skill of her attending physician Dr. D. C. Adams.

C. W. McCutchen and daughter, and David Lenox of the borough, have returned from Chicagua (after the duke de Veragua) very much enthused over the Fair.

The Misses Maud VanBoskerck, Elizabeth Stewart, Florence Huntington and Jessamy Harte, will shortly visit Mrs. Charles S. Munn, at her charming summer home, Cooperstown.

Mrs. Harry Edgar, who has been visiting her parents at Mount Pleasant, has returned to her home at Atlanta, Ga., after a few pleasant days spent with her friend and schoolchum Mrs. Siebrecht (nee Titsworth) of New Rochelle.

ROBERT GORTON'S GENIUS.

Not Only Can He Sing, But He Delights Housewives With His Inventions.

Although nearly everyone in Plainfield knows Robert Gorton as the singer, but few know that his inventive brain modeled the serviceable wire hooks used by housewives all over the land for hanging clothes and for various other purposes. The hooks are made from one piece of of stiff wire, and are strong, light and easily put up. They need no screws for fastening, because Mr. Gorton's ready brain recognized that women don't like to do carpentering, and to that end he turned one wire end into a screw, so that even a child can place the hooks in position for service.

The hooks were no sooner put on the market than their popularity became established, and now they are in universal use all over the country. Mr. Gorton is the inventor of several other serviceable novelties in wire. The Gem Novelty company of this city handles the manufactured articles. David E. Titsworth is president of this company, and Robert Gorton is secretary and treasurer. Mr. Gorton holds a responsible position with the Standard Oil company, in New York.

South Plainfield Has Them Now.

Judge Moore and constable Day, of Scotch Plains, have done good work for Fanwood township. They have driven the tramps from that neighborhood. The vagrants have gone to South Plainfield, [illegible]

PERSONALIA.

Miss Phebe Mills has returned from a visit to Boston.

George Watson's family have gone to the World's Fair.

Mr. and Mrs. H. O. Hance are home at 49 Grandview avenue.

Miss Phillips, of Brooklyn, is visiting Mrs. Phillips on Fourth street.

Miss Grace Irwin, of Putnam avenue, is visiting friends in Brooklyn.

Mr. Vanfline and family, of LaGrande avenue, went to Albany Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward D. McCarthy, of Park avenue, have gone to Europe.

R. J. Shaw now walks without a cane. His attack of sciatica is on the wane.

W. H. Smith and family, of Bay street, have gone to Allentown, Pa., on a visit.

J. W. Reinhart and family, of Netherwood, have gone to Manchester-by-the-sea.

The Grennells, of Netherwood, started Tuesday for Sunape Lake, New Hampshire.

Mrs. J. Allen, of East Front street, goes to White House Thursday to visit her cousin.

Joseph W. Gavett is a member of the United States grand jury just sworn in at Trenton.

Andrew McCardell, foreman in the foundry at Pond's, is out again after a siege of illness.

Work is rapidly progressing on Mr. Stanbery's new house on Park avenue, Scotch Plains.

Miss May Godwin, of New York, is the guest of the Misses Miller, at their home, Mercer avenue.

Miss Mabel Sunshine Willet, of Somerville, is visiting Miss Maggie M. Hurlburt, of North Plainfield.

Dr. Charles Layton, of Scotch Plains, was out on the street Monday after a serious attack of rheumatism.

Harry Jenkins, of East Sixth street, has gone to Bethlehem, Pa., to superintend the moving of a building.

The family of F. M. Derby go to Northport, L. I., Saturday, when Mr. Derby goes to Chicago on a business trip.

The Rev. Dr. A. H. Lewis preached to a large congregation in the Westfield Presbyterian church, Sunday morning.

The family of councilman J. H. Howell of North Plainfield, have gone to Bridgehampton, Long Island, for the summer.

Irving West, Orville G. Waring and Howard Huntington are visiting John P. Munn at his new cottage at Cooperstown.

The engagement is announced of Miss Elizabeth Hull, of Norwood avenue, to Vincent W. Baker, the East Front street dentist.

I. L. Miller, of Broadway, has rented his house and is contemplating a trip to the World's Fair. His family will accompany him.

Willard Case, a student at Peddie Institute, Hightstown, has a lucrative position for the summer months at the Thousand Islands.

The engagement of Miss Carrie Betts, of West Ninth street, and Charles Masters, brother of Charles King of Watchung avenue, is announced.

Architect Morse on a bicycle ran into John Thickstun's carriage, the other day, and was thrown down in the dirt. Neither he nor his wheel was injured.

The Spanish princess Eulalia dropped in at the studio of Davis & Sanford in New York, Friday morning, and had her picture taken by a Plainfielder, Charles H. Davis.

T. E. Hazell, of Westervelt avenue, choirmaster of Trinity church, and family, are about to leave town to spend two months among the summer delights of Connecticut and Maine.

John King, who has for 18 years been with the Prudential Insurance company, having been their pioneer in Plainfield, has been properly rewarded by having his pay increased and his labor reduced.

Richard J. Stout and family, of New York, will occupy the residence of councilman See and family, of Westervelt avenue, during the latter's sojourn at Asbury Park. Mr. Stout is an uncle of Mrs. See.

Miss Blanche Fellows, of Duer street, sang in the Madison Avenue Reformed church, N. Y., where the Rev. Dr. McChesney preaches, yesterday morning, in place of the regular soprano, Mrs. Clark.

Mrs. Jane Hargraves, mother of Mrs. W. W. Coriell of West Front street, died at Trenton on Tuesday. The funeral took place from the house, at 4 this afternoon, and relatives from here were present.

The Misses Underwood, Hyde, Taylor, Waring, Vail and Reinhart, and the Messrs. West, Lowe, Hyde, Huntington, Silvey, Murray, Erickson and Place, were among the guests at the Netherwood hop Saturday night.

Henry Hawkins of East Second street has returned from a two months' business trip to England and Germany, and in a few days will again take up his his residence in Plainfield with Mr. and Mrs. George L. VanEmburgh.

The wide circle of friends who have been alarmed and anxious at the serious illness of Mrs. Many of West Seventh street, will be pained to learn that her condition is most dangerous and that there is little hope for her recovery.

Mrs. Arthur Sharkey, who has suffered from an extensive cancerous growth involving the left eye and surrounding parts, and for which she underwent a severe surgical operation performed by Dr. Ard, has completely recovered.

Mr. Elderton, of the Courier staff, took the first degree Tuesday evening, in the new association recently formed by the letter carriers. It is conferred in the alley next to the post office. Those who have seen it worked, need no information.

Albert F. Venino wishes to state that the artists mentioned in his circular will positively appear here at his proposed concerts. On account of their numerous engagements they must be secured very early and it is therefore necessary that subscriptions should be sent in at once.

TRACY—LAMSON.

Howard Crosby Tracy, of this city, and Miss Minerva Bingham Lamson, of St. Paul, were married Saturday, June 24, in the Church of St. John the Evangelist, St. Paul. The Rev. Y. P. Morgan officiated. The bride is the daughter of Eastburn R. and Martha W. Lamson, and one of the Twin City's reigning belles.

FULTON—BANCROFT.

Miss Lizzie Bancroff was married Saturday night at her residence on Park avenue, Scotch Plains, to Louis Fulton of Dunellen. Many invitations had been sent out and a grand wedding resulted. Mr. and Mrs. Fulton will spend their honeymoon at the seashore, and on their return will take up their residence in North Plainfield.

THE GRINNELLS WILL NOT COME BACK.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard B. Grinnell left their charming home in Netherwood, on Tuesday for the mountains of New Hampshire, where they will spend the summer. Their many friends will be sorry to hear that Mr. and Mrs. Grinnell will not return to Netherwood in the fall. Mr. Grinnell has suffered from asthma terribly for the past year, and spent last winter in Mexico and California hoping to hasten his convalescence from his long illness of last fall. He returned this spring to Netherwood, much improved in health, but soon felt the effect of the climate, and his health suffered from the change. His physicians tell him that he cannot live in this part of the country, so after spending the summer in New Hampshire he will go to Colorado and probably settle in either Denver or Colorado [illegible]

KICKED BY A HORSE.

EX-POSTMASTER FORCE'S NARROW ESCAPE FROM VIOLENT DEATH.

While Pleasure Driving on South Avenue, He Was Badly Injured—An Arm Broken, and His Breast Bone Crushed by a Flying Hoof.

William L. Force, senior member of the firm of Force Bros., publishers and proprietors of THE PRESS and CONSTITUTIONALIST, ex-postmaster and fish and game warden, had a close call, Saturday afternoon, from a violent death.

He and a number of friends were driving along South avenue near the Scott Press works, with a livery horse.

Douglas Derby drove past, his horse going very fast. This startled the other horse, which jumped and got one of its feet caught over the whiffletree. Then it began to kick to free itself. Mr. Force sat on the front seat of the park phaeton, with the driver, and stooped over to jump out. Just then one of the flying hoofs struck him full in the breast. He fell heavily to the ground, and one of the wagon wheels fractured the right arm and wrenched the elbow out of joint, tearing the ligaments. Mr. Force was taken to Muhlenberg Hospital, and his injuries properly attended to. He manfully declined to have ether administered, and bore the excruciating pain without flinching. His breast bone is cracked, where the print of the hoof appears as a horseshoe bruise. His face is torn and cut on one side. He suffers much pain, and every breath he draws is like a knife, on account of the terrible bruises. He is being tenderly cared for at his apartments in the City Hotel. The horse that injured him had always been considered a good and reliable one, free from tricks, as are all the horses supplied by the stable where it was procured. Like any other horse, though, when caught in the shafts, it kicked to free itself, and damaged the front of the wagon considerably, besides inflicting the severe injury on Mr. Force.

WESTFIELD'S COSTLY ERRORS.

Had McLaughlin's Colts Been in Perfect Form, Plainfield Would Have Lost.

The game at the Crescent Oval Saturday afternoon was a more or less interesting struggle between old enemies. The attendance was large. Westfield's rocky fielding helped greatly in losing. The score:

PLAINFIELD CRESCENTS.

	AB	R	BH	SB	BB	SO	PO	A	E
Hofford, rf	5	0	1	0	0	1	0	0	0
Smith, ss	3	0	0	2	2	0	2	2	0
McIndoe, lf	5	0	0	0	1	0	1	0	0
Turner, cf	5	0	1	0	1	0	2	1	0
Heckman, 3b	5	1	3	1	1	0	1	0	0
Fritz, c	5	3	1	1	0	0	3	0	0
Keenan, 2b	4	4	2	1	0	0	3	3	1
Jones, 1b	4	1	1	0	0	0	15	0	1
Sneden, p	3	2	1	0	2	0	0	4	0
		11	10	5	8	1	27	10	2

WESTFIELD.

	AB	R	BH	SB	BB	SO	PO	A	E
Townley, cf	4	0	0	1	1	0	3	0	0
Howe, ss	4	0	0	1	0	0	0	2	2
Dowd, c	3	1	1	0	1	0	5	1	1
McLaughlin, lf	5	1	2	0	1	1	1	1	0
Towse, 1b	5	0	1	0	1	0	8	0	2
Francis, p	5	2	2	0	0	1	0	2	1
Roberts, 2b	3	2	1	0	0	0	2	1	0
Sanson, rf	4	0	1	0	0	0	3	0	1
Hibbard, 3b	4	1	2	0	2	0	2	1	2
		9	11	1	6	2	24	10	10

BY INNINGS.

Crescents	0	5	2	0	2	0	2	0	*	—11
Base hits	0	5	1	1	0	1	2	0
Westfield	0	0	2	0	0	2	0	1	2	—9
Base hits	0	0	5	0	0	2	0	2	2

Earned runs—Crescents, 3; Westfield, 4. Two-base hits—Jones, Francis. Sacrifice hits—McIndoe, Jones, McLaughlin, Sanson. Double play—Smith to Keenan, to Jones. First base on errors—Crescents, 5; Westfield, 1. On balls—Crescents, 4; Westfield, 4. Passed balls—Fritz, 1; Dowd, 1. Flies caught—By Crescents, 6; by Westfield, 16. Time of game—1:55. Umpire—Hudson.

PLAINFIELD WANTS ONE, TOO.

Ex-Councilman Seymour Smith's Garbage Crematory is Working to Perfection at Scranton.

Col. Ripple and Dr. Paine, of the Scranton Board of Health, inspected on Saturday afternoon the crematory erected in that city by ex-councilman Seymour Smith of Plainfield, and saw it consume about fifty barrels of garbage.

Nearly 3,500 barrels of garbage have been destroyed within the past two weeks and this has made about two wagon loads of ashes. The ashes when sifted may be sold as fertilizer, worth from $18 to $20 per ton.

The crematory has four single and one double cell. If sufficient garbage is furnished each day it will not be necessary to get coal to keep up the fires.

The crematory is so constructed that horses, dogs and other animals, night soil, decayed fruit and all kinds of garbage can be readily disposed of by the intense heat.

Col. Ripple and Dr. Paine were satisfied with the working of the crematory and when everything is in perfect order about the works and the system of collecting garbage is improved the sanitary condition of Scranton will be first-class.

That's just what Plainfield needs.

HOW'S THAT FOR HIGH!

Plainfield's Water Pressure Carries Five Big Hose Streams Over Spicer & Hubbard's Chimney.

Chief Doane sent forth a "still alarm", Saturday, and called out the fire department to make a test of the Water company's hydrant pressure. There was no notice given at the pumping works, and consequently the test was an unexpected one yet proved the pressure even beyond the requirements.

Among those present were mayor Gilbert and councilmen E. N. Erickson, Elias Bird and Frank E. Marsh, the committee on fire and buildings.

The Water company's contract is that there shall be sufficient pressure to throw five streams at the same time 80 feet high. Saturday, hose was attached to five hydrants in the vicinity of Spicer & Hubbard's mills at Madison avenue and Third street, and five streams lifted themselves into the air fully ten feet over the big chimney that is eighty feet high.

A Summer Series of Four Delightful Tours to the North Via the Pennsylvania Railroad.

July 11 and 25, August 8 and 22 are the dates selected for this series of personally-conducted tours to the North. Watkins Glen, Niagara Falls, Thousand Islands, Montreal, AuSable Chasm, Lakes Champlain and George, and Saratoga are among the many attractive places to be visited.

The rate of $90.00 applies from New York, Philadelphia, Baltimore, Washington, Harrisburg, and intermediate stations, and correspondingly low rates from other points. This rate includes every item of necessary expense during the entire time of fourteen days spent on the trip, and is remarkably low considering the large territory covered and the luxurious entertainment afforded at the different places.

For detailed information address George W. Boyd, assistant general passenger agent, Philadelphia, or apply to nearest passenger or ticket agent, Pennsylvania railroad company.

Going to Dig Out the Lake.

E. Hand of Scotch Plains has the contract for grading the streets and digging out the lake at [illegible]. Several [illegible]

ROYAL BAKING POWDER

Absolutely Pure

A cream of tartar baking powder. Highest of all in leavening strength.—Latest U. S. Government Food Report.

ROYAL BAKING POWDER CO., 106 Wall St., N. Y.

CAPT. HAND AMUCK.

THE GALLANT SOLDIER SPOILS A STAGE RIDE.

Young People Bound for the Netherwood Hop Sadly Shocked by His Behavior and Language—Frank Hyde Says Hand Struck Him—Suits for Damages Possible.

The party of young people bound for the Saturday night hop at Hotel Netherwood, chaperoned by Mrs. L. G. Timpson, were the victims of a grave annoyance.

They had hired a stage of Mr. Ryder of the popular Metropolitan stables on North avenue. His stage did not get back to Plainfield from another trip in time, and he hired Capt. Wm. Hand's.

When all were about ready to start, Capt. Hand appeared, climbed up and took the reins from the driver, and drove to his own yard. He nearly upset the stage, and the girls all screamed. They were horrified at his language, and disgusted with his conduct and condition. He made them get out and procure other vehicles. Afterwards he excused himself by saying the stage was overloaded, but Mr. Ryder says that was none of his business, as any damage would have been paid for.

Frank Hyde, one of the party, sat next to the driver, and says he as well as the driver was roughly mauled and struck by Hand. Mr. Hyde and the incensed parents of the girls threaten to make things hot for Hand in the courts.

CAPTAIN HAND'S SIDE OF THE CASE.

He Says the Netherwood Party Were Climbing on Top of His Stage.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE PRESS:—Evidently the person who wrote the article for your paper last evening, was not very well acquainted with captain Hand or he would not expect the people of Plainfield to believe all that he said about me.

The facts are that I let my stage to Mr. Ryder, and later when I saw it loaded with about twice as many people as it was intended to hold—with four men on the steps, two or more on top, with more climbing up and two more standing on the walk waiting for a seat—I went over and asked the ones on top to come down, saying that it was not strong enough to hold people on the top. When they paid no attention to me I spoke to the driver and told him that if he did not put them off I would take the stage home. When he said that I could not drive his horses, I got up and drove them. I always thought I had a pretty good reputation for driving and don't remember of ever having upset a stage with ladies in it. I did not hear any of the ladies in the stage scream; on the contrary I think they rather enjoyed the joke of seeing one man run away with about fifteen of their gallant young men, themselves included. I don't think the ladies were at all horrified or disgusted with my "conduct or condition". I wonder what he means by "condition". I was in my usual condition—that is, capable of taking care of myself.

WILLIAM HAND.

A Plainfield Baptist Graduate's Appreciation.

The Rev. J. Judson Pierson, of Woodbury, editor of the New Jersey Endeavorer, and brother of Mrs. Frank W. Bailey of 86 Duer street, says:

We rejoice that the Young People's League of the First Baptist church, Plainfield, has identified itself with the C. E. movement.

Miss Spangenberg, secretary of the Union County Union, writes: "On the evening of May 26, of the present year, the matter was again presented to the League for the purpose of taking active measures to form a Christian Endeavor Society. A resolution was offered to that effect; and the motion made to adopt it was carried by a unanimous vote.

"The League numbered 140 members, and the Endeavor Society promises to be one of the largest and finest in the county."

The editor was converted in this church. His first training was among its young people. He was licensed to preach and educated by this church for the ministry. Hence he rejoices that their consecrated workers have come to strengthen our movement and enjoy its privileges. Let others follow.

RENTAL COMMISSIONS.

A Rule Established for Plainfield Real Estate Agents.

Justice Nash decided on Tuesday that the $15 commission that had been paid J. T. Vail for renting a house on East Fifth street, was due E. G. Mulford as the latter had first shown the house to the tenant a month before. Mr. Vail thereupon returned the money to Mr. Demarest, the lessor, after deducting a small proportion of it for his work in drawing the lease, etc., and the commission will be paid over to Mr. Mulford.

Trying to Smash Records.

J. W. Hoobs and F. J. Butterworth, of the Atlanta wheelmen, of Newark, and J. Mears, of the Rutherwood Wheelmen, started from Newark at 5:45 Sunday morning for a hundred-mile run, expecting to make the distance in eight hours. They went by way of Rahway and New Brunswick to Princeton, stopping at the latter place 30 minutes for dinner, and returning by way of Somerville and Bound Brook. Mears was 30 minutes late at Somerville, but the other two reached Plainfield in time to give them about an hour to ride to Newark. The 30-minute stop was not included in the eight hours.

Cleveley and Hance, Noble Grands.

At a regular meeting of Plainfield lodge, 44, I. O. O. F., held Tuesday night, the following officers were elected for the ensuing term:

Noble Grand—E. H. Cleveley.
Vice Grand—S. H. Schlott.
Recording Secretary—Rudolph Kersting.
Permanent Secretary—E. H. Bird.
Treasurer—Thomas Young.

Queen City Lodge, 236, I. O. O. F., elected the following officers last night:

N. G.—H. O. Hance.
V. G.—Charles Degraw.
Secretary—L. R. Blackford.

Don't Like the Selection.

The Westfield Standard says: "J. A. Baker has been appointed postmaster of Scotch Plains, and received his commission one day last week. It is rumored about that N. Dunn, a Republican expostmaster, has been appointed as Mr. Baker's assistant, and much dissatisfaction is felt among the people."

[illegible]

SATURDAY'S TENNIS.

GOOD PLAYING AT THE COUNTRY CLUB COURTS.

So Many Entries that the Finals Are Postponed—A Charming Tea Heightened the Social Enjoyment.

Fine weather, a large crowd, and good playing, combined, made the invitation tournament at the Country club Saturday a decided success. Unfortunately, the small number of courts prevented the tournament from being finished in one afternoon, but the play was far enough advanced to reduce the number of possible winners to three.

Invitations were issued only to those who were known to play good games, so that the average play was higher than in the open tournament.

Play began shortly after 2, and the preliminary rounds showed some playing that was not equaled in the later matches.

Particularly close was the contest between Frank Hyde and Ed Ryder, Hyde winning after three closely contested sets.

The guests did not begin to arrive until late in the afternoon, but by 5:30 all the benches at the end of the courts were filled, and the piazzas and parlors of the club-house presented a gay scene.

Indoors, in the reception room, Mrs. H. G. Runkle, Mrs. Pliny Fisk, Mrs. Charles E. Brooks and Mrs. Charles J. Fisk received in their most graceful style.

Tea and cafe frappe were served in the club, and Mrs. Alexander G. Fisk, Miss Bushnell, Miss Gertrude Walz and Miss Elizabeth Stewart presided at the tables.

The tennis prize was a very pretty silver shaving mug and brush, and was placed on the table where the schedule was on view, so it could easily be seen from the courts to stimulate the players to their best efforts.

Play was continued until nearly 7. At the time the play ceased the semi-finals were nearly played through, Henry Ryder having defeated Harry West, and George Schoonmaker and Carl Walz having each won a set.

The play up to the semi-finals was as follows:

FIRST ROUND.

Harry Lovell beat J. S. Anthony by default.
Henry Ryder beat Sherwood West 6-2, 6-3.
Harry West beat Harding Wharton 6-2, 6-4.
Frank Hyde beat Ed Ryder 7-5, 5-6, 6-3.
George Schoonmaker beat Fred Walz by default.
Fred Fisk, jr., beat Aug. Huntington 3-6, 6-2, 6-3.
Carl Walz beat Ed. Patterson 6-1, 6-3.
W. Abbott beat Archie Cox 6-3, 6-4.

SECOND ROUND.

Henry Ryder beat Henry Lovell 6-1, 6-0.
Harry West beat Frank Hyde 6-2, 6-4.
George Schoonmaker beat F. K. Fisk, jr., 6-3, 6-2.
Carl Walz beat W. Abbott 6-4, 6-1.

It has not yet been decided when the remaining games will be played, but they will probably be decided two weeks from last Saturday, as that is the country club's tea day.

As may be seen from the play, the prize lies between Carl Walz, George Schoonmaker and Henry Ryder.

Among the guests of the afternoon were: Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Dumont, Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Lowe, Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Brooks, Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Stewart, Mr. and Mrs. H. G. Squires, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Depew, Mr. and Mrs. Irving Brown, Mr. and Mrs. L. G. Timpson, Mr. and Mrs. Clifton Wharton, Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Walz, Mrs. Hart, Mrs. Worthington, Mrs. Mason, Mrs. Bowen, Mrs. Fleming, Mrs. Reinhart.

The Misses Walz, Stewart, Bushnell, Dumont, VanBoskerck, Hyde, Vail, Waring Middleditch, Tracy, Ellis, Talmadge, Morgan, Whiton, Corlies, Hunter, Opdyke, Miller, Cook, Ryle of Paterson, Stokes and Stetson of New York, Berge and Bagby of Louisville, Ky., Wharton of Pittsburgh, Pa., Wilder of Rochester, N. Y.

The Messrs. West, Huntington, VanBoskerck, Wharton, Erickson, Walz, Lowe, Bushnell, Schoonmaker, Andrews, Hyde, Ryder, Emmons, Waring, Anthony and Farley.

THEY PLAYED GAMES AND ATE.

The Ladies' Nine Conducts Festivities for Y. M. C. A. Directors.

On invitation of J. W. Gavett, thirty-one of the committeemen of the Y. M. C. A. held their annual June meeting at his country home near Washington Rock, Saturday. This annual gathering is one of the most pleasant features of the association year, and it affords an opportunity for the newly appointed committeemen to become acquainted with one another. During the afternoon the party visited the rock, enjoying the view, which was especially fine on account of the clearness of the atmosphere. Much of the time was spent in various field games, which were much enjoyed.

A bountiful supper was prepared by the hostess, which was spread in the spacious barn. Mrs. Gavett was assisted in serving the supper by members of the Ladies' Nine.

Among those present were the following officers and directors: W. D. Murray, Nelson Runyon, Stephen Cahoone, G Q Packer, A. C. LaBoyteaux, T. E. Hazell, George R. Cornwall, R. H. Radford, A. B. Beers, E. L. Bonny, E. L. Walz, jr.

AN OLD ZEPHYR FIREMAN.

The Sister of This Boat Vanished in War Times.

The large freight steamer Franklin, commanded by Captain Eichman, which plied between Trenton and New York, by way of the Delaware and Raritan canal, was burned to the water's edge Saturday morning at 1:30, at her dock alongside the canal freight-house, which also was burned.

This and a sister boat were built and owned by a man named Shurts at the time of the Civil War. The sister to the Franklin was sent south to run blockades, and on her first trip disappeared. No one ever knew what became of either ship or crew.

The Franklin was in South Bound Brook, where there are no fire plugs, so nothing could be done to save her. She was loaded with freight, but nothing was gotten off but her bow flagstaff and pennant, which Frank Vreeland, (an old Zephyr hook and ladderman), and other members of Hose Co. No. 1, got off after a hot fight.

Ho for a New Resort!

A meeting of the Pond Beneficial association was held Saturday evening, when a committee of nine was appointed to arrange for an excursion to Rock Beach, Conn., the latter part of July. The committee consists of Richard Gonall, chairman; A. Wyckoff, secretary; R. York, treasurer; E. Skinner, Jas. Anderson, P. Neland, John James, Wm. Gallagher, Wm. Connell.

They're Frightening Horses Now.

The members of the Salvation Army paraded through East Front street Saturday evening, and frightened a team of horses standing tied in front of Totten's store. The bridles on both horses were broken, and a runaway was only averted by some men who were passing at the time.

Shipped the Kicking Horse.

Mr. Ryder, of the Metropolitan stables on North avenue, shipped to New York, Monday night, the horse that kicked expostmaster W. L. Force. Mr. Ryder will not have a kicking horse if he knows it.

They Won't Go Out After Dark.

Westfield has been without the electric lights the past week on account of the [illegible]

SIX DAYS OR SEVEN?

HERE'S A SABBATH SERMON FOR EVERYONE.

Pastor Schenck Shows the Duty of Conscience in the Matter of Patronizing the World's Fair.

The Rev. Cornelius Schenck, pastor of the Trinity Reformed church, delivered an able sermon to a large congregation, on the Sabbath question, Sunday. This was the result of the action of the Reformed Church Synod, which at the recent Ocean Grove session designated June 25 as a day for special prayers and preaching for the preservation of the Sabbath day.

Mr. Schenck's topic was "Six Days or Seven?" and his text:

Verily, my Sabbaths ye shall keep.—Exodus xxxi: 13.

The question of the hour is, shall this command of God be obeyed? It is not a theoretical question, but a practical one. Its decision is being rapidly forced upon us. It is the most momentous question of the hour. There are most vital issues involved in it: the security and welfare of society, the stability of our free institutions, the prosperity of our nation, the advancement and even existence of Christianity on this continent. The Sabbath underlies every other Christian and every civil institution. Destroy this foundation, and the whole fabric of peace, prosperity and virtue crumbles. The welfare of society depends upon morality, and morality rests upon religion, and religion consists in obeying God. "Fear God and keep His commandments, for this is the whole duty of man."

Obey God and keep His Sabbaths, because of the antiquity, authority and individuality of the Sabbath law. The Sabbath is not a modern institution. It is as old as Eden. It confronted Adam when he began his work. God put him into "the Garden of Eden to dress it and to keep it". Adam was not to work in his garden on the Sabbath. His employer would not permit it. Every child of Adam is born under the same law, liable to the same precept, subject to the same privilege. The Sabbath is the inalienable right of every person. It was made for man.

Obey God and keep His Sabbath because the sabbath is a physical, mental and religious necessity. Existence cannot be maintained without labor. The tax of labor, whether manual or intellectual, must be chiefly paid by the body. To repair the waste caused by labor, food and rest must be employed. Days as well as hours of rest are needed. In the weekly rest-day the want is met. One day in ten, as France once thought, is not sufficient. One day in seven is the right proportion and is necessary to the physical welfare of man.

The Sabbath is necessary to man's intellectual welfare. The mind grows by exercise. The Sabbath provides an opportunity for study and thought and furnishes the needful rest by a change of subject and scene. Gladstone in accounting for his vigor of mind and body recently said "I never do and never have done a stroke of work on Sunday". The Sabbath is a religious necessity. Man is a religious being. He has a sense of dependence upon and accountability to a Supreme Being. These wants cannot be met without the time and opportunity for religious instruction and worship which the weekly Sabbath affords. Voltaire well said "There is no hope of destroying the Christian religion as long as the Christian Sabbath is acknowledged and kept by men as a sacred day". He conceded that it was necessary to the maintenance of religion.

How shall this day be kept? The answer is: Remember the Sabbath day to keep it holy. Keep it a holy day and not a holiday. Keep the whole day and not the half day, holy. Avoid everything of a secularizing tendency. In referring to the action of the World's Fair directors in opening the gates on Sunday the pastor said the dishonest part enacted by the directors merited the unreserved condemnation of every Christian. As to whether Christians should abstain from visiting the Fair, that, the preacher said, must be left to the individual conscience to decide. Mr. Schenck said that the World's Fair was a private enterprise, and that the Government was blameless in the matter of Sunday opening. He held that at the end of the great show, when the directors applied to Uncle Sam to make up their shortage, all National aid should be refused.

BASE-BALL BABBLE.

It's a Mighty Strong Team That's Coming to Plainfield Saturday.

The strongest amateur team that ever left New York will be here Saturday, under the name of the New York Athletic club.

This club will give more attention to base-ball in the future, and next season will find the New York Athletic club represented in the Amateur League. A large sum of money has been appropriated to bear out the expenses of the trip about to be begun.

The club has chartered a private car to convey the team from place to place. The team will be under the supervision of catcher Kinsler, who will coach and train the team. The players will be put on regular training regimen, and will have to be satisfied with "club" diet until they leave Chicago for home two weeks later.

The nine that will represent the "wing-footed" on the trip include the following players: Bowers, Yale Law School, pitcher; Hotchkiss, first base; Strebeigh, second base; Murphy, Yale 'Varsity, short stop; Rustin, Yale 'Varsity (if his health improves), third base; Yates, left field; Deppler, center field; Fisher, right field; Burroughs, Bonner and Ford, extras. It can safely be said that Huyler Westervelt and "Doc" Currie, of the New Jersey A. C., will accompany the team. With the latter as star battery the team ought to be almost invincible.

The following appeared in last week's Sporting Life, which will be of interest: "Shortstop Bonner, of the Wilkesbarre team, looks like a rising player."

The Trenton club still continues in the field, and are playing a pretty good game, considering they are working lads and only play about two games per week. They have lost but two games this season, one at home against Tacony and one with Plainfield at Plainfield, a rather good record. They beat the strong Camden club at Cochran Park last week 17 to 8. The club plays here the afternoon of July Fourth.

Hen Roost Robbers at Scotch Plains.

The people of Scotch Plains are greatly troubled with chicken thieves of late. A few nights ago several hen roosts were visited and a number of chickens stolen.

Not Enough to Fill Them All.

The churches of Westfield are considering uniting their Sunday evening services during July and August.

Children Cry for Pitcher's Castoria.

When Baby was sick, we gave her Castoria.
When she was a Child, she cried for Castoria.
When she became Miss, she clung to Castoria.
When she had Children, she gave them Castoria.

FOUND DEAD BY HIS COUCH.

LEVI SUTTON PASSED GENTLY AWAY IN THE NIGHT.

He Was an Old Grand Army Man, and Had Been Good Health and Spirits When He Bade His Family Pleasant Dreams.

Levi Sutton, of North Front street and Westervelt avenue, went quietly to sleep on a lounge in one of the lower rooms of his house, Saturday night, and in the morning his family found his lifeless body on the floor beside the couch.

Mr. Sutton was in good spirits, and seemed in the best of health, when he said good-night. He had often slept on the lounge.

The deceased was 59 years of age. He was a faithful workman for Woolston & Buckle, and had a large family. Five sons survive: James A., Calvin, William, Bedford and Oathniel. He leaves a brother, Wm. Sutton, at Bound Brook, and two sisters: Mrs. T. B. Bullock, of Kensington avenue; Carrie Sutton, of Newark.

The county physician gives apoplexy as the cause of death. The family had been warned that Mr. Sutton was subject to the malady and that his end would be sudden. He had been unwell Thursday and Friday, but felt first rate Saturday.

Hatched After a Trip to Nebraska.

J. D. Brown, whose parents live in this city, took a setting of eggs from Manasquan to his home at Alliance, Neb., when he returned from a visit East some weeks ago. He was laughed at for his pains, as he had to carry the eggs so many days and nights before reaching any kind of a hen.

His mother told him to "Be sure and turn them over every day"; and from some way station every 24 hours, she received a postal stating: "I've just turned them over"!

But now Mr. Brown is doing the laughing and has sent on the news that the contents of seven of those eggs are strutting around his yard full of cackle and covered with feathers.

"Dear Sister,

"They charge you with being restless, irritable, excitable, and exacting.

"They don't know the horror that oppresses you.

"Every hour pains run rampant through your body. You suffer secretly as long as you can, then go all to pieces and 'don't care' what happens.

"The iron grip of female disease is upon you.

"Dear sister, Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has cured thousands like you.

"It has cured me, and I want to tell everybody.

"It kills the pain. No more backache, no more 'bearing-down,' no more restless days and sleepless nights. Oh! what a blessing! take it and be well! it's a sin to hesitate."—Mrs. P. A. Quiett, North Hamlin, N. J.

All druggists sell it. Address in confidence, LYDIA E. PINKHAM MED. CO., LYNN, MASS. Lydia E. Pinkham's Liver Pills, 25 cents.

An Open Letter From Clothing Builders to Clothing Buyers.

We make Clothing, you buy it. You buy Clothing ready made because it is cheaper.

There are different kinds of ready made. Have you ever investigated how different?

We show you the best that's made, the tailor made, the kind the tailor would make you to order.

In many instances you'll not be able to notice the difference in make between ours and theirs, but the difference in price will open your eyes.

The tailor's prices are about double ours and he furnishes you no better style, fit, finish, trim of fabric.

Why his big price?

He makes for the few; we for thousands. The wise and knowing are wearing OUR SUPERIOR CLOTHING and saving money.

See our grand line of SPRING SUITS between $10 and $20.

MC GREGOR & CO.,

850 and 852 Broad Street,

NEWARK, N. J.

A BOARD OF TRADE.

HERE'S THAT IT MAY BE OF USE TO PLAINFIELD!

Ex-Mayor Rockfellow and Judge John Ulrich at the Head, with Prominent Merchants Backing Them. Preliminary Organization Effected, and Future Prospects Discussed.

A meeting of about 50 prominent citizens was held Monday in the Crescent league parlors for the purpose of forming a Plainfield board of trade. Everyone present was enthusiastic, and hearty sentiments were expressed as to the future of such a board.

A preliminary organization was effected, with ex-mayor George W. Rockfellow as chairman, and Judge John Ulrich as secretary.

A motion was made and passed that the board should be incorporated. Accordingly a committee on constitution and by-laws was appointed, consisting of Judge Ulrich, J. F. MacDonald and F. W. Runyon. This committee will report at the next meeting. Another committee was appointed to act on permanent organization and the nomination of officers. The members of this committee are: T. F. French, J. H. Doane, J. F. Hubbard, T. S. Armstrong, and L. B. Woolston.

After the meeting, some time was spent in discussing the prospects of the board, informally, and many pleasant prognostications were made for the future. The next meeting will take place at the Crescent league parlors.

HYMENEAL.

MILLER—BIRD.

Lewis C. Miller, formerly a valued attache of THE PRESS, and now of the printing house of Styles & Cash, New York, joined the noble army of Benedicks Tuesday afternoon at 3:30. The beautiful young bride was Miss Florence V. Bird, and the ceremony took place at the home of her aunt, Mrs. A. L. Holloway, Union avenue, Brooklyn. The Rev. Wm. W. Gillies officiated. The bride wore a gown of white brillantine, trimmed with Bengaline silk and white lace, and looked as charming as the groom was gallant. From Brooklyn the happy young people went to Elizabeth, and this morning continued on to Asbury Park. After spending some days along the shore they will make Plainfield their home. Success to them!

BEST DEMAREST A BENEDICK.

THE PRESS joins with a host of friends in extending sincerest congratulations to Mr. and Mrs. Albert W. Demarest. The wedding, which took place Tuesday afternoon in accordance with the previous announcement in these columns, was a quiet home affair, being strictly private because of the recent death of the bride's aunt. The bride was Miss Luella Northup, an only child. The ceremony was at the bride's home, 177 North avenue. The Rev. J. W. Richardson officiated. At 4:01 the bride and groom, a most handsome couple, left for their wedding trip. In a few days they will return, and board with the groom's esteemed parents, Mr. and Mrs. P. M. Demarest, Craig place. An invitation reception will be given on their return.

President Thorne.

At the regular bi-monthly meeting of Local Union, No. 155, Carpenters' and Joiners' of America, the following officers were elected:

President—T. S. Thorne.
Vice-President—J. W. Dodge.
Financial Secretary—William H. Langer.
Recording Secretary—William Kissam.
Treasurer—L. R. Blackford.
Conductor—F. G. Weisch.
Warden—L. C. Sheppard.

Rotten Bridges in Somerset County.

Townley's bridge near Summit is down. A load of hay went through it a day or two ago. There are other bridges in the neighborhood which are unsafe, and the Somerset county freeholders should attend to the matter.

DROPPED DEAD AT THE WATER CASK.

GEORGE R. POUND STRICKEN WITH APOPLEXY.

He Was Among the Oldest and Best Beloved of Plainfield's Citizens, and a Landmark Among the Good Brethren of Hicksite Friends.

Silently, swiftly, gently and painlessly, the immortal spirit of that good old citizen, George Robinson Pound, was wafted away from its mortal clay, leaving his loved and loving ones sorrowing and forlorn.

The end of this upright and honored earthly career came yesterday morning. Friend Pound was walking about his yard at 305 East Third street. That was the last seen of him alive. A short time later, members of his household found his lifeless body leaning over the edge of a water cask. There was blood on his lip; and it is surmised that nosebleeding, to which he had been subject of late, had attacked him and he had bent over the cask to lave his nostrils with water. Apoplexy had seized him while in that position, and had stricken him dead in an instant. Probably the nosebleeding was itself a part of the apoplectic stroke. When the body was found, the head was submerged, but the result of medical investigation was the decision that he was dead before his head fell into the water.

Tender hands bore the silent clay to a reclining posture, and the form was prepared for its eternal rest.

The shock of the sudden transition of so tranquil and helpful a life was a sad and heavy blow to the bereaved ones, but while their lids were swollen with weeping they could look trustfully through the eyes of faith, past the portals of the Beyond, and find solace in the knowledge of his everlasting beatitude.

Even the morbid crowd who gathered about the front of the house at hearing the distressing news of the good man's sudden end, were grieved at heart, for the departed was respected and beloved throughout all the community. His entire life had been spent in and about Plainfield. Born in Piscataway, only 6 miles from the city, 76 years ago, he removed to Plainfield in 1836, and built the house which stood until torn down several months ago on the site of the new Y. M. C. A. building. He lived in that house till 15 or 20 years ago. Mr. Pound prospered in the meat business till 1865, and since was a hide and tallow merchant. His second wife survives him, and he leaves an only son, Robinson Pound, of East Second street.

The deceased was a pioneer among Plainfield's Friends, being a revered member of the Hicksite society.

At the Peace street meeting-house, Friday afternoon at 2:30, the last tribute of the living will be bestowed over the unresponsive clay of him who at daybreak rejoiced in the song of earth's awakening birds and who at noontide was serenely indifferent to the world's delights in the fuller and richer joys into which he had entered.

THEY LIVE HIGH WITH BLORE.

A Plainfield Prisoner Has the Gout in Union County's Jail, and All Say the New Warden's a Perfect Gentleman.

Warden Blore is accused of giving his charges in the county jail, too high living. Benjamin Perkins, sent from this city for cutting billiard tables and stealing pool balls, is laid up in his cell with the gout.

The prisoners interviewed by THE PRESS, are unanimous in the verdict that Mr. Blore is the "Finest Warden" they ever knew. Larry Wallace, the accused incendiary, says, "He's a perfect gentleman, and nobody can find fault with the way he treats 'em".

The "Regulars" from this city who used to keep out for weeks at a time, hurry back since Mr. Blore was appointed.

RIDING, WALKING, PLAYING, WORKING or in any occupation incidental to a woman's life, from childhood to motherhood, there is nothing so healthful, comfortable, graceful, and economical, as

FERRIS' GOOD SENSE CORSET WAISTS.

Worn by over a million Mothers, Misses, and Children. Buttons at front instead of clasps. Clamp Buckle at hip for hose supporters. Tape-fastened buttons—won't pull off. Cord-edge button holes—won't wear out. All sizes; all shapes. Full or slim bust; long or short waist. FOR SALE BY ALL LEADING RETAILERS. Send for illustrated circular to FERRIS BROS. Manufacturers and Patentees, 341 Broadway, New York.

Miss VANDEVENTER'S NEW STORE, 132 Central Ave.

CHILDREN'S OUTFITS MADE TO ORDER. | A FULL LINE OF GOOD SENSE WAISTS.

$35.00 TO CHICAGO AND RETURN,

Including Hotel accommodations for five days at

FRANK'S

REDUCED RATES

Railroad and Steamship Ticket Agency,

345 and 347 BROADWAY, Cor. Leonard St., N. Y.

Lowest Rates to all parts of the World. Tickets purchased and exchanged

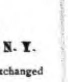
Sleeping Berths reserved. Baggage transferred.

MEMBER AMERICAN TICKET BROKERS' ASSOCIATION.

—ELY'S CREAM BALM—Cleanses the Nasal Passages, Allays Pain and Inflammation, Heals the Sores, Restores Taste and Smell, and Cures

CATARRH

Gives Relief at once for Cold in Head. Apply into the Nostrils.—It is Quickly Absorbed. 50c. Druggists or by mail. ELY BROS., 56 Warren St., N. Y.



"And the nights shall be filled with music,
And the cares that infest the day
Will fold up their tents like the Arabs,
And as silently steal away."

Longfellow knew the soothing power of music. Melody banishes care—smooths out the wrinkles on one's forehead—gives rest.

A piano in the house is better than medicine—helps more than a vacation.

A Gabler Piano

Doesn't cost any more than a summer trip. It lasts longer. Ten years hence and your piano is as good as new. A piano is furniture, it is entertainment, it is investment. We sell them for cash or easy payments. We also rent, but its better to buy.

S. D. LAUTER COMPANY

657 and 659 Broad Street, Newark, N. J.

AN OLD MAN'S LOVE.

THE TURTLE DOVE IS NEVER TIRED OF COOING.

Coy Maiden May Cannot Say Nay, With Gay November Wooing. Mt. Bethel Chimes Ring Joyous Rimes, the Bride Looks Like a Fairy, and Jaunty Dan Shows Every Man It's Ne'er Too Late to Marry.

The marriage of Daniel Cory, the most prominent public man in North Plainfield and Somerset county, to Miss Jeanette Bird, formerly of this city, took place Saturday of last week at the home of the bride near Mount Bethel. The Rev. Mr. Aster, pastor of the Coontown Congregational church, officiated.

The bride is a sister of Harvey Bird, of North Plainfield, and Mrs. James Farley is a sister. She is 30, while the groom is 84. He has been one of the foremost politicians of the State, a freeholder for a score of years, and one of the best-known and successful men in this vicinity. He is a large owner of real estate, one piece of which is the brick building on the south corner of Park avenue and Front street.

Daniel Cory Adams, M. D., of Grove street, is a grandson, Mrs. Charles Lee a granddaughter, and Miss Emma Cory and John Cory, of West Third street, are daughter and son, of the new groom.

WARREN CHURCH, PRESIDENT.

North Plainfield Graduates Have a Conversational Dance.

The Alumni of the North Plainfield public school gave a reception to this year's graduates in the school building last evening.

The first part of the evening was given up to business. At this time officers were elected for one year, as follows:

President—Warren D. Church.
Vice-president—Miss Loizeaux.
Secretary—C. F. Coither.
Treasurer—Paul Loizeaux.

Following this, addresses were made by Samuel McCutchen, president of the board of education, and principal C. E. Boss. A recitation by Miss Alice Needham, and a vocal solo by Robert Clark, concluded the programme.

A new feature was the introduction of conversation cards, which were distributed bearing different subjects on which each was allowed to converse two minutes.

Dancing was indulged in, and eventually brought to a close a most delightful evening.

THE MEAN AND THE MAGNANIMOUS.

Specimens of Two Kinds of Minds in the Newspaper Business.

[From The Plainfield Courier.]

James Alfred Demarest, of the Daily Press, was appointed yesterday by President Cleveland to be Consul at Brockville, Ontarior. It must be confessed that the news of his appointment was received by Plainfielders with too much satisfaction to be specially complimentary to Mr. Demarest.

[From The Bound Brook Chronicle.]

Canada is to be congratulated, especially that portion in the neighborhood of Brockville. President Cleveland yesterday appointed James A. Demarest, the brilliant editor of the Plainfield Daily Press, to be Consul of the United States at Brockville. Mr. Demarest will be missed from his editorial chair, but when he is succeeded, four years hence, by the appointee of President McKinley, or some other good Republican, he will come home with an added polish to his pen, ready to renew his work of writing poetical headlines and alleged libelous articles. Good luck to you, Brother Demarest!

Says the Crescents Are a Lot of Bums.

[Choice language from the Somerville Democrat.]

In a fit of frenzy one day last week the Plainfield Daily Press made an attack upon Billy Lee, about the only decent base ball player that ever played on the Crescent team. The Press said, "Billy Lee has sunk to the level of umpiring games for the West Ends." It is true that Mr. Lee has officiated at several games in Somerville, during the present season, and in each instance has done so in a fair and impartial manner, which we doubt could be said of any other man who ekes out a miserable existence in the windy city. Mr. Lee is a good citizen of Plainfield, and an attack like that made by "the only newspaper" in Plainfield that would stoop to such a thing is decidedly unfair. Perhaps it is a case of revenge because Billy Lee would not play third base for the Plainfield Amusement Company (limited) this year. Mr. Lee can tell why he would rather umpire in Somerville than play ball in Plainfield. It is because he receives the full price agreed upon each week.

The Crescents are now no more. At the public sale on Tuesday a few business men of the city bought all the club's fixtures and will occupy the rooms as a Board of Trade. The League members who have been quaking in their shoes ever since they subscribed money enough to keep the club together will now get them back. The Crescent League is a thing of the past. Lots of gas and lack of sand ruined the club. A man is writing a book which will shortly be sold on the news stands along the C. R. R. of N. J. It is entitled "Turned Out of House and Home; or the Ups and Downs of a Lot of Bum Sports."

Help Plainfield and Materially Benefit Yourself.

Ex-councilman Serrell says: "Portions of our city are sadly in want of sewers, and they must be provided or the health and reputation of the city will suffer. Many people in New York are hesitating about coming here until the sewerage question is settled. Send in your consents to the mayor.

"If you are in doubt confer with those that have given the subject full consideration. Opportunity for objection to the proposed plan has been given, and nothing better is known of or has been suggested. Now is the time to forward this matter by the hearty co-operation of property owners."

The Friends to Sell Out in Rahway.

A special monthly meeting of the Plainfield monthly meeting of friends will be held at Plainfield on Fifth day, Sixth month, 29th, at 5 p. m., for the purpose of hearing and approving of the report of the committee on the sale of the Rahway meeting house property, and to authorize the trustees to execute the necessary indenture, to be submitted at that time, and to approve the consummation of the attending settlement.

Harkinsville Mad Again.

(Somerville Democrat.)

Would n't it be nice if the West End amateur team should go to Plainfield and win the $75 offered by the Plainfield Amusement company, (limited), to any team who will beat their nine wooden-legged, spavined, wind-broken ball tossers. That would bring the people out in Plainfield. Nothing else will. Somerville is having larger crowds than Plainfield this year.

—House, lot and barn in the borough that is near Front street and rents for $17.50 per month for sale at $2,300. Good bargains for quick investors. D. J. Carney, North Plainfield, has them.

Comfort Bags for Sailor Jack.

The Christian Endeavor home missionary meeting in the interest of the sailor, held in the Park Avenue church Friday night, was a very enjoyable affair. The order of exercises was as follows:

Opening Hymn—Throw Out the Life Line.
Scripture Reading and Prayer by Rev. J. W. Richardson.
Quartette—Speed Away.
Introduction of Capt. Morrison by Pastor.
Solo—Jesus Saviour, Pilot Me.
Collection.
Closing Hymn—God Be With You Till We Meet Again.
Benediction—Pastor.

Although this was the first Plainfield Christian Endeavor society to meet in behalf of the sailor, the Park Avenue Baptist young people have reason to feel greatly encouraged with their experiment. Capt. Morrison loves the sailor, consequently it is not strange that his remarks concerning Jack, on both land and sea, were not only highly entertaining, but very instructive as well. The "Comfort Bags", made by the society, will be sent to the members of the Floating Christian Endeavor society—a society composed entirely of sailors.

The Escape of the Lanternless Riders Explained.

Officer Saunders called at the Press office last Saturday, in reference to the article which appeared in Thursday evening's issue, and which he considered placed him in rather an odious position before the public. He stated what seemed to be the facts in relation to the riders on Watchung avenue, Wednesday evening, and we unhesitatingly say that we believe that he would not have been justified in making any arrest. The Press intended to cast no aspersion upon him, and considers that officer Saunders is one of the reliable officers of the Plainfield police force.

Spilled Her Potatoes.

A man named Boylan, whose home is located in the vicinity of Mt. Pleasant, came to town on Saturday with a load of hay. He had delivered his hay, and was returning home. Just as he turned from Second street into Park avenue, he accidentally collided with a wagon belonging to Mrs. Brown. Her wagon was upset, distributing a box of potatoes along the road. She had the man arrested, and captain Grant and sergeant Kiely investigated the matter and came to the conclusion that there was no cause for action. The farmer was discharged.

PERSONALIA.

Chas. Potter, jr., and daughter, Miss Mabel, have gone to Chicago.

Mrs. C. W. McCollough, of Westervelt avenue, sailed for Europe to-day.

H. A. Beade, of Dunellen, has gone to visit his brother in Philadelphia.

Walter Swaim left town to-day to spend three weeks at Liberty, N. Y.

John Kane, of Dunellen, is spending two weeks with relatives in Pennsylvania.

E. C. Perkins and family, of Central avenue, have gone to Newport for the summer.

Charles Fernald, a graduate of the High School, '93, returned to his home at Port Richmond to-day.

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Jackson, of Crescent avenue, will spend the season at their cottage in the Thousand Islands.

The young daughter of John Ammon, of East Fourth street, who was so low with scarlet fever, is now convalescent.

Edgar Sheppard, formerly of The Press carrier service, will spend Sunday with his employer, M. C. E. Hungerford, at Wilkesbarre, Pa.

Jack Stevens, the East Second street horse shoer, will next week erect an attractive-looking porch in front of his residence at the corner of Watchung avenue.

Agnes Burgmiller, Jennie Burgmiller, Felix Lyat and Theresa Fuchs were graduated from the Berkley Heights public school, at the interesting Commencement exercises this week.

James L. Anthony of Putnam avenue is president, and major E. L. Burnett of Hillside avenue is treasurer, of a Cape Cod Ship Canal company just incorporated with unlimited capital.

Madame Isa Lezem, who has arranged the dances for St. Mary's school Commencement to be held in Music Hall next Thursday, was presented with a very handsome fan by her pupils in recognition of her work.

Lexington, Kentucky, is to be favored with a visit from the Rev. C. R. Barnes, who will deliver a series of lectures on Jewish worship, before the Chautauqua Assembly. He leaves Plainfield Monday and will be back by July 10.

Wm. Warner of this city has in his possession a handsome silver souvenir from Washington Lodge, No. 59, F. and A. M., of Philadelphia, Pa., issued by that organization in honor of its one-hundredth anniversary to-day. Mr. Warner prizes the medal more so because of the fact that history says that Washington himself affiliated with this lodge during his day.

—Many of the bicyclists in town make a trip to Feltville, occasionally, and take a dip in the fresh water stream there.

—The Plainfield Athletic club is arranging for a sparring exhibition and dance in their West Front street rooms, July 4.

—Ice is now being delivered to private families for 35 and 40 cents a hundred, and to saloons and butcher shops for 15 cents a hundred.

—A colored woman, while trying to ride a bicycle on Park avenue, near Fourth street, took a header and fell in the gutter. She was not much hurt.

—Policeman Lynch is looking around for a female called "Mary", who tried to slap a fellow in the face, and whose arrest was sought for the offence.

—The electric light just located at Somerset and Chatham streets, in the borough, is much appreciated by the residents in the neighborhood.

—The old bridge over the Passaic from Somerset to Morris county, is in a most dangerous condition—heavy teams not being allowed to drive over it.

—Letter carrier Bauersachs will give a "pink tea" to the other carriers on his spacious lawn, Manning avenue, July 12. Those who have been invited expect to have a good time.

—It has been reported around town that Messrs. MacDonald and Rice had offered $10,000 for the Gus Frase property at Peace and Second streets. The report, upon investigation, proves to be false.

—While one of the police went into a Plainfield hotel, the other day, by one door, Arthur Chambers, a colored waiter he was after, skipped out another and took a train out of town.

—The dog pounder is supposed to do his duty, and every day the dogs arrested should be taken to the pound. This morning a valuable hound dog of farmer Burnett was arrested, and the owner says the animal was released upon promise of a drink to the dog catcher.

—The summer extension privilege which proved so popular last year at the Free Public Library will be continued again this year. Those who are going away for the summer and wish to provide themselves with reading matter may find out more about this privilege at the library.

—Railroad employes think that the city council should grant Dr. Edward Rushmore permission to enclose his lumber yard with corrugated iron. The place has been on fire several times during the past few months, and on more than one occasion buckets of water have been taken from the railroad station to extinguish the incipient blazes.

MORE CLIFF DWELLERS.

Discovery of Another Ruined City in New Mexico.

It Shows That the Prehistoric Race That Lived There Was Civilized—Over Fifteen Thousand Rooms in the Face of the Cliff.

To the lover of archæology no field presents a finer prospect than this portion of northern New Mexico, writes a New York Advertiser correspondent from Abiquiu, N. M. It abounds in antiquities of every description pertaining to the prehistoric races of America. Its ruins and monuments are undoubtedly as ancient as the pyramids and somewhat analogous in many respects. Mr. A. P. F. Coope, the artist, and the writer have been in camp amid the ruins for the last two weeks, excavating and investigating generally.

We estimate that the city must have contained fully 80,000 inhabitants, as we have counted over 15,000 rooms in the face of the cliffs, where they are ten deep and ten feet square on an average. They extend around the face of a circular mountain for a distance of over five miles. The level mesa on top is full of the ruins of their old temples, pow-wow holes and dwellings. Estimating three persons to each room, and 15,000 rooms, we have 45,000, but the probabilities are that each room was the abode of at least five persons, and the buildings on top of the mesa may have contained fully as many more. It is safe and conservative to say that it was a city of at least 80,000 inhabitants.

That they had enemies there can be no question, as they selected a strong natural fortress for their city. Their enemies were undoubtedly savages, perhaps the Apache Indians, whose present reservation is on the hunting grounds of their forefathers, not more than fifty miles distant from this ruined city.

The cliff dwellers were doubtless a civilized people to a great extent, as their architecture, their pottery and other evidence here abundantly testify. It would seem that their enemies finally prevailed over them, destroying them and their city, as they have disappeared from the face of the earth.

The country is as wild as the interior of Africa. It is not an agricultural region, and how fully 80,000 people maintained life in such a place and under such conditions will forever be a puzzle to the most discerning archæologist. There is a large spring of delicious, cool water on the face of the cliff near the only entrance. This at least insured a permanent water supply against any prolonged siege of the enemy.

POW-WOW HOLES.

They buried their dead on the mesa in catacombs hollowed out for a distance along a main avenue of over two miles. The sight is, indeed, a ghastly, gruesome one, never to be forgotten. Grinning skulls and crumbling bones reflect back the light from torches. The sepulchers are hollowed out in the walls similar to the rooms in the face of the cliffs. It is a dry, soft conglomerate formation, the arches and walls of which are self-supporting, and never was there a more favorable place, nor could there be, for a repository of the dead than this.

We have already excavated to a considerable amount pottery in a good state of preservation; also copper ornaments and vessels. We have four Mexicans at work and will remain here a month yet in hopes of making further important discoveries.

The ruined city was discovered in January last by Mr. A. P. F. Coope, an Englishman, who has spent the last six years in this part of New Mexico hunting and fishing.

The ruins are so well preserved that they look as if they might not have been long abandoned; yet how many thousand years have rolled around since the city throbbed with life and action no one can even conjecture.

The country abounds in many other ruins of the prehistoric race of America. In Canyon Largo, about sixty miles from here in southern Colorado, there is quite a tier of cliff-dwelling villages in which much valuable pottery is said to have been found. But this was evidently the chief city and capital of the cliff dwellers, as the pow-wow holes and foundations of large public buildings and the plaza about them would indicate. This is indeed the Pompeii of America, and well worthy the attention of the scientific world generally.

A New Death Test.

Nervous mortals who imagine that they could stand dying all right enough were it not for the fear of being buried alive may be interested in a recent announcement made by a French scientist. He says that an unfailing test of death may be made by producing a blister on the hand or foot of the corpse, using a candle for that purpose. If the blister, upon being opened with a pin or other instrument, is found to contain fluid of any kind there is still life in the supposed corpse. On the other hand, should it contain steam only, rest assured that the vital spark has flown.

In Paint the best is the cheapest. Strictly Pure White Lead is best; properly applied it will not scale, chip, chalk, or rub off; it firmly adheres to the wood and forms a permanent base for repainting. Paints which peel or scale have to be removed by scraping or burning before satisfactory repainting can be done. When buying it is important to obtain properly made. Time has proven that white lead made by the "Old Dutch" process of slow corrosion possesses qualities that cannot be obtained by any other method of manufacture. This process consumes four to six months time, and produces the brands that have given White Lead its character as the standard paint.

Strictly Pure White Lead

"Atlantic" "Bradley" "Brooklyn" "Jewett" "Ulster"

are standard brands of strictly pure Lead made by the "Old Dutch" process. You get the best in buying them. You can produce any desired color by tinting these brands of white lead with National Lead Co.'s Pure White Lead Tinting Colors.

For sale by the most reliable dealers in Paints everywhere.

If you are going to paint, it will pay you to send to us for a book containing information that may save you many a dollar; it will only cost you a postal card to do so.

NATIONAL LEAD CO.,
1 Broadway, New York.

Dime Savings Institution
OF PLAINFIELD, N. J.

Is now receiving deposits payable on demand, with interest at the rate of three (3) per cent. per annum payable semi-annually.

John W. Murray, President.
William White, Vice "
Nathan Harper, " "
Elias R. Pope, Treasurer.

THE NEWEST DULCIMER.

A Simple Instrument Sweeter by Far Than the Jew's Harp.

Take a cigar box, and take the box to pieces and remove the nails, and then glue the box together again. If you do this you will get a better tone than if you left the box alone; but for a first attempt you can start at once on the box, as we have supposed you will do in our sketch.

For the last time, then, take a box and nail a row of black furniture tacks along its opposite edges. To these nails fix pieces of very thin brass wire.

Lay a ruler, square or round, as we have done, A B in our cut, and jam underneath the wires a series of blocks, stretching away from the ruler at such distances as to give a scale of notes when plucked with a quill or hammered with a cork at the end of a slip of whalebone.

Tune from your middle note up and down. On our box we have nine notes, but twelve can be managed easily, so that semitones can be provided; but all the same, it is as well to leave the semitones till you get practice, the "newest dulcimer" having a weakness for making its own semitones and, like its robuster namesake, its own overtones, too. However, no matter.

Try the instrument as we show. Tune up your nine strings. Set to work carefully and sharply, and do not hit too hard, and you will find that the music is really good. It is not the sort of music to be played in slow time, as the resonance is not enough to carry long notes, but for ordinary work-a-day popular airs it is quite as good as the jew's harp, and far better than the mouth organs with their dreadfully grating chords.—Golden Days.

THE NEWEST DULCIMER.

What Mr. Frog Had to Tell.

Frogs, as well as "humans," must occasionally have peculiar experiences. One would like to know exactly how they tell a story like the following, on going home to Mrs. Frog and the children! Charlotte M. Yonge says:

One day, as a snake was crossing our lawn, it was seen and pursued by some member of the family. It seemed to be rather portly and incapable of flight, and finally, in order to be free to move, it opened its jaws and emitted a frog, after which it wriggled rapidly away.

The frog lay pulled out at full length, a ghastly spectacle. A great deal of sympathy was expended over its inanimate form, and just as it was about to be removed from the spot, behold! it drew in first one leg and then the other, contracted itself into a respectable frog, and hopped off as if nothing had been amiss!

"My dear," it probably said to Mrs. Frog, on reaching the pond, "I shall never smile again. Such a remarkable experience as mine sobers one for life. I went out this morning comparatively young and cheerful; I return an older and a sadder frog!"

What She Said.

A little ejaculation may sometimes express as much annoyance as can be put into words. The following story is told of the wife of one of the best known of American poets: She was in her room when some people came to call. Her husband received the company, and after awhile said to his daughter, who was playing about the room:

"Go upstairs and tell your mamma that Mr. and Mrs. Blank have come to call."

The child went, and after awhile returned and began to play again.

"Did you tell your mamma Mr. and Mrs. Blank are here?" asked the father.

"Oh yes."

"And what did she say?"

The little girl looked up, and after a moment's hesitation exclaimed:

"She said, well, she said: 'Oh, dear!'"

A Dog That Hunts Eels.

In Norwich, Conn., is a dog that hunts eels. Last winter this dog, which is a red Irish setter, appeared before his master two or three times with eels in his mouth. The master feared that the eels had been stolen from some fisherman, and followed the dog to see how he got them. The animal led the way to the shore of a pond, nosed around in a mass of leaves at the edge, snapped at something and brought out an eel. His master poked about among the leaves, and with a pitchfork was able to throw upon the shore two hundred and twenty-eight eels that had gone into winter quarters among the leaves and dead water plants near the shore.

Chinese Gossip-Mongers.

In China there is a profession for women, strange because openly and handsomely remunerated in the current coin of the realm. It is carried on by elderly women who go from house to house of rich people announcing their coming by beating a drum and offering their services to amuse the lady of the house. The offer accepted they sit down and tell her the latest scandal and the newest stories and on dits, and are rewarded at the rate of half a crown an hour, besides a handsome present should some portion of their gossip have proven particularly acceptable.

Model Heating System.

Fortunate Boise City, in Idaho, has discovered that it has a natural heating supply right at its doors. Only a mile from the town are hot-water springs, and a six-inch pipe is to convey the water through the streets and into nearly every business block and residence in the place. The cost of heating with hot water, it is estimated, will be fifty per cent. less than coal, not to speak of the gain in cleanliness.

ARAB SWIMMERS.

Their Skill and Endurance Seem Almost Incredible.

The American boy who spends his summers by the sea, or within easy walking distance of a stream or lake, sometimes thinks himself an accomplished swimmer. In comparison with the boys who have twelve months of practice a year instead of three, such a boy is a very clumsy land-lubber indeed. A traveler recently returned from the east told a writer for the Chicago News something about Arab swimmers.

"When ships are lying at anchor off the coast," he said, "the natives swim about them for hours, with scarcely a moment's rest. You may hurl a coin with all your strength as far from the ship as possible, but an Arab is after it like a flash. Darting through the water like an arrow, he has the money before it has sunk many feet into the water. He invariably gets the money, never missing a single attempt.

"Often the swimmers clamber on board the boat, and endeavor to turn an honest penny by entertaining the passengers in one way or another. Some of their sleight-of-hand performances are exceeding clever. I remember one instance in particular in which an Arabian magician got the better of a young passenger. The Arab swam out to the ship and came aboard.

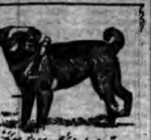
"While he was endeavoring to perform a few tricks for those on deck, the fresh young man had made himself very offensive by attempting to expose all the illusions and explain them to the audience.

"Finally the Arab asked some one to loan him an English sovereign for a few moments. The young man stepped nimbly forward and handed the magician the required gold piece. The Arab stretched out his left hand, and placed the coin in the middle of his upturned palm in plain view of the spectators. He slowly closed his hand without moving its position. In a second he opened it, and in place of the sovereign was a penny. The Englishman wanted to examine it. The Arab tossed it to him. While the young fellow was examining the penny the Arab made a dive for the side of the ship. There was a splash in the sea, and that was the last the young man [illegible]

NEW KIND OF DOG.

The Black Pug from China Will Soon Be Popular.

Ten or twelve years ago such an animal as a black pug-dog was unknown both in this country and in Europe, and even now it is very rare, not a single specimen having been exhibited at the last dog show in New York city. Black pugs were first introduced into



THE BLACK DOG.

England by the late Lady Brassey, and though she gave some of them away to friends, the country of their origin was kept secret by all who owned the dogs. It is pretty well established now that they come from China, and as they have been taken up by English dog-fanciers, and are being exhibited at English shows, they will doubtless soon become a "fad" with our own toy-dog lovers.—Harper's Young People.

Corrected His Mistake.

The late Justice Lamar was probably the most absent-minded man that ever occupied a prominent place in public life in this country. The Boston Herald tells this amusing story of his forgetfulness:

As long ago as the time when he was a senator, he got on a bob-tailed car in Washington, took a quarter from his pocket, and with thoughts intent on far-away things, dropped it into the box.

"Why, senator," exclaimed a fellow-passenger who knew Mr. Lamar, and had noticed his mistake, "don't you think it's a little extravagant to pay twenty-five cents for a ride when the fare is only five cents?"

"Why, that's a fact, that's a fact!" responded the senator, waking up from his day dream.

Then he drew out a handful of change, carefully picked out a nickel, dropped it into the box and sat down, satisfied that he had rectified his mistake, and had not paid thirty cents for his ride.

A Delicate Compliment.

To be able to compliment without seeming to flatter is a rare gift, and probably no race of men are endowed with that gift more extensively than the French.

An example of the Frenchman's rare tact in matters of this sort is shown in that sweet little story of a man who had ventured to compliment a white-haired old lady on her beauty.

Two Sides to It.

He—Miss Pulsephase is an odd creature, a regular crank, in fact. Why, she actually thanked a gentleman for giving her his seat in the street car.

She—Really, but it is incredible.

He—But you don't know Miss Pulsephase.

She—I wasn't thinking of her. I was thinking of what you said about a gentleman giving up his seat.—Boston Transcript.

Firm in the Hour of Need.

Miss Oldgirl (coyly)—I had a strange dream the other night, Mr. Jones. I dreamed—only think!—that you and I were married and on our wedding tour. You don't know how real it seemed. Did you dream the same thing?

Mr. Jones (firmly)—No, Miss Oldgirl, I did not. In fact, I haven't had the nightmare for a good many years.—Truth.

Precaution.

Wife—Why, Charles, what do you mean by burning our old love letters?

Husband—I have been reading them, my dear. After I die, some one who wished to break my will might get hold of them and use them to prove I was insane.—Puck.

Making a Bargain.

Mrs. Wickwire—Henry, dear?

Mr. Wickwire—Well?

Mrs. Wickwire—I want to make a bargain with you. If you will let me have ten dollars this afternoon I will let you do fifteen dollars' worth of grumbling about my extravagance.—Indianapolis Journal.

Only One Way.

Bereaved Widow—I can't bear to see that agonized expression on the face of the deceased. Can't you make him look more natural?

Undertaker (respectfully)—Not unless you let me take off that shirt you made for him, madam.—Cloak Review.

Safe.

"I had three glasses of soda water this morning," said Walter.

"Three glasses?" cried his mother. "Why, surely it will make you ill."

"Oh no," said Walter. "I got it at the drug store, mamma, where they only keep things that make you well."—Harper's Young People.

Heredity.

He—Do you—aw—come of a very old family, Miss Jessie?

She—Yes, Mr. Simperly. Why do you ask?

He (intending to flatter)—Well, I—aw—I thought I traced some resemblance.—Truth.

Good Evidence.

She (after the service)—What makes you think my feet are so small?

He—I noticed, while we were in church, that you seemed to have no trouble in getting them into my silk hat.—Vogue.

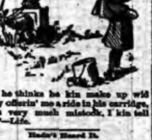
A Point for Philologists.

"Papa, what is consonance?"

"Harmony, my boy."

"I don't see how that can be. Welsh names are all consonants and there isn't any harmony in them."—Judge.

NOT TO BE PROPITIATED.



"If he thinks he kin make up wid me by offerin' me a ride in his carriage, he is very much mistook, I kin tell him!"—Life.

Hadn't Heard It.

Miss Avnue—Are you musical, Mr. Stalate?

Mr. Stalate—Er—no, not exactly; but I have a very good ear for time.

Miss Avnue—Oh! have you, indeed?—was that eleven or twelve that struck then?—Puck.

Natural Regret.

"I wish my teeth were not so regular," sighed the young woman, regarding herself pensively in the glass. "Every time I smile when I'm talking to Harry he looks as if he wondered how much they cost."—Chicago Tribune.

The Final Order at the Caterer's.

"And pray remember, Mr. Pasotti, not to send me a very black negro to serve the supper. This is my parents' golden wedding, and a sort of yellowish complexioned man would be more appropriate to the occasion."—Brooklyn Life.

The Ugly Heiress.

Fortune Teller—Your husband will be a poor man.

Inquirer—How can you tell that?

Fortune Teller—Well, rich men don't marry for money.—Life.

Living in Hopes.

May—Don't you think your landlady's little boy is an angel?

Frank—Not yet, but I have hopes.—[illegible]

TELEPHONE COMPANY!

SPEAKING CONNECTION WITH OVER 12,000 SUBSCRIBERS—PROTECTION FROM FIRE AND BURGLARS, PLAINFIELD, N. J.

Central Office—49 North Avenue.

Subscriber's Name	Address.
Albion Hotel, The	Park av and 5th st
Ames, G J	33 Crescent ave.
Alert Hose Co., No 1	Madison ave.
Ackerman, Mrs. J. E.	30 West 7th street
Adams, Dr D C	46 Grove st
Bradley, F W	Dunellen
Brokaw, Isaac V	Bound Brook
Babcock, Geo H	9th and Union sts.
Barnaby & Dunn	10 North ave.
Boone, W. C., M. D.	Cor. Front & Central Av.
Bunnell, John	Central ave. and 9th st.
Boothower, J E	Park av and 3d st
Berg, Jos F, M D	10 E 6th st
Board of Education—6th st, 9th and Union sts
Booth, E R	40 Madison ave
	6th & Liberty, 6th & Monroe
Clark, B B	2 Waynwood place
Children's Home	Jackson ave.
Clawson, James T	Richmond and Front sts.
Constitutionalist Office	3 North ave.
Cook, A D & Bro	Park ave and RR.
Conley, Dr J H	Manning and Westervelt aves.
Cox, Rowland	Sevenoaks
Chapman, Mrs. F. A.	9 Third Place
Cruikshank, S. A.	120 Carlton avenue
Carman, J H, M D	49 Somerset st
Chase, B P M	Somerset st
Central Pharmacy, (J H Leggett, Mgr)	Park ave and Front st
Daily Press	3 North ave.
Depew, Mrs. E. S.	19 Crescent ave.
Day, Frank	30 W. Fourth st.
Davis, Dr T S	Cor 6th st & Park av
Day, B M	Rockview ave
Demarest, P H	37 Park av
Dumont, John B	24 E 7th st
Decker, T—pay station	Westfield, N J
DeGraff, James	73 E 9th st
Doane, T O—Chief P F D	40 W 6th st
Dellinger, S L	131 Madison av
Davis & Stevens, coal and wood	Office W Front
Endicott, Dr Geo W	Park ave. and 4th st.
Evening News, T.W. Morrison, Editor	1 S cor't st.
Engine No 1	West 3d st.
Engine No 2	Front st.
Engine No 3	Somerset st.
Evans, Geo C	27 Washington ave
Fisk, Chas. J	32 West Seventh St
Fanwood, pay station	Fanwood station
Freight House	C. RR. Depot
French, F M & Sons	Somerset st.
Fritts, Dr J T	12 Park ave.
Fleming, Howard	36 Park avenue
Fish, Pliny	6 W 7th st
French, O Frank	49 Somerset st
Grant, Geo W, chief of Police	20 W 4th st
Goddard, C M	17 Third Place.
Griffen, A M	19 E Front st.
Gaston, H. D., W F	5th and New sts
Gilbert, A	Cor Central av & 5th st
Howell & Hardy	North Avenue
Heyniger, L	31 & 33 Somerset street
Hegeman, R. A.	107 Sycamore avenue
Hedges, Dr. Ellis W	49 East Front st.
Hyde, Chas	141 Front street.
Hedden, Albert	4th st. near Park ave.
Higgins, M. A.	76 East 4th st—20 North ave
Hetfield, John N	204 South 2d st—31 Park av
Harder, Francis C	122 Madison av
Hermanns, C	Netherwood
Hoagland's City Express	29 North av
Jenkins, Dr. C. L	56 W. Front st.
Jones, Evan	13 Kensington st
Kirkner, J	5th and Division sts.
Kaufman, W T	45 W 7th st
Lowry, Rev Robert	Madison ave and 5th st.
Lovell, L M	Crescent ave
Lord, Wm A	Belvidere av
Loomis & Rice	No 49 Broadway
Laire, J P & Co	3 W Front st
Linke, Frank	43 W Front st
Lounsberry, F C	19 Plainfield ave
Myers, J E	[illegible]
McGee, Henry A	Willow ave
McGee, James	Willow ave.
Miller, J C	10 E. Front st.
Moore, Geo. A	20 North ave
Muhlenberg Hospital	South ave.
Murray, Dr. Wm. H	107 Broadway
Matthews, Chas	49 Grove st
Pond Mach Tool Co.	Boulevard below Grant av
Pierson's Hardware Co	41 W Front st
Reed, Chas A	27 Myrtle ave
Milliken, E F	120 Central
Morrison, T W	11 Somerset st
MacDonald, J F	46 E Front st
Myers, Lawrence	E Front st
Netherwood Hotel	Netherwood.
Newhall, Henry B	36 E 7th st.
N J Postal Tel Co	4 Park ave
Reynolds, H P	Park and North ave.
Reynolds, H. F	Washington avenue
Roberts, D S	17 North avenue
Rockfellow, Geo W	Park and North ave.
Runyon, A M & Son	Park ave.
Runyon, A M & Son	43 Madison ave
Rushmore, Dr Edward	Park ave. near Fifth st
Rooms, Mrs J	Cor. Mercer & Sycamore aves.
Runkle, H. G	6th st
Runyon, Chas W	Park ave
Rice, Jr. W. & Co	[illegible] Emily and Dover sts
Randolph, L W	Front st
Rogers, D W	[illegible]
Rogers, E P jr	34 Westervelt ave
Stover, E W	30 east 5th st
Serrell, Lemuel W	Front st. and Plainfield ave
Seguine, C. J	69 Front street.
Shaw, E J	Front st. opp. Park ave.
Streall, A S	Prospect ave.
Smith, W F	Belvidere av., Netherwood
Shephard, A D	Fanwood
Smith, Jas A	13 W Front st
Scott, Walter & Co	South ave
Smith, Chas A	Spring st., Westfield, N J
Stelle, Irving G	Sixth st
Terrill & Cole	16 E Front st
Thompson, A. D.	29-31 North av
Talmadge, Henry P (Res)	Netherwood.
Thickstun, Jno A	Madison av
Titsworth, Jos M	38 W. 7th st.
Tomlinson, Dr T H	La Grande and E B'dwy
Tobin & Emander	51 North av
Tracy, J Evarts	8th and Division st
Thorn, Alex	37 Somerset st
Tweedy, G. B.	13 Crescent avenue
Townsend, Samuel	96 Rockview av
Thompson, A D	Prospect ave
Telegraph Office	Plainfield station
Thorn, E	76 W Front st
United States Express Co	9 North ave
Union Co Country Club	Cor 7th st & Arlington
Van Sickle W. J	10 North ave
Wharton, Clinton	17 Central av
Woltman, C	West Seventh street
Wadsworth, W B	5th and Liberty sts
Western Union Telegraph Company	at Depot
Welchers, J F	W 5th st., near Grand ave
Waters, E, Ass't Chief	3d st near Washington
Westfield, pay station	Westfield, N J
Wotherspoon G G	148 E Front s

TELEPHONE TOLL RATES.

FOR FIVE MINUTES CONVERSATION.

PLAINFIELD, NEW JERSEY

Asbury Park, N J	[illegible]	Hempstead N Y	[illegible]
Astoria, N Y	[illegible]	Hoboken N J	[illegible]
Babylon, N Y	[illegible]	Hunter's Point N Y	[illegible]
Bath, N Y	[illegible]	Irvington N J	[illegible]
Bayonne N J	[illegible]	Islip N Y	[illegible]
Bergen Point N J	[illegible]	Jamaica N Y	[illegible]
Bayside N Y	[illegible]	Jersey City N J	[illegible]
Bay Shore N Y	75c	Keyport N J	[illegible]
Bayville N Y	[illegible]	Kingston N J	[illegible]
Belleville N J	[illegible]	Laurel Hill N Y	[illegible]
Blissville N Y	[illegible]	Leonia N J	[illegible]
Bloomfield N J	[illegible]	Little Neck N Y	[illegible]
Bloomingdale N J	[illegible]	Little Silver N J	[illegible]
Boonton N J	[illegible]	Long Branch N J	[illegible]
Brooklyn N Y	[illegible]	Madison N J	[illegible]
Caldwell N J	[illegible]	Matawan N J	[illegible]
Carlstadt N J	[illegible]	Millburn N J	[illegible]
Centreville N J	[illegible]	Montclair N J	[illegible]
Chatham N J	[illegible]	Morristown N J	[illegible]
Closter N J	[illegible]	Newark N J	[illegible]
Colt's Neck N J	[illegible]	New Brunswick N J	[illegible]
Coney Island N Y	[illegible]	Newton N Y	[illegible]
Cresskill N J	[illegible]	New York N Y	[illegible]
Dover N J	[illegible]	Orange N J	[illegible]
East Norwich N Y	[illegible]	Pompton N J	[illegible]
Eatontown N J	[illegible]	Passaic N J	[illegible]
Elizabeth N J	[illegible]	Paterson N J	[illegible]
Englewood N J	[illegible]	Perth Amboy N J	[illegible]
Fairview N J	[illegible]	Rahway N J	[illegible]
Fanwood N J	15c	Red Bank N J	[illegible]
Far Rockaway N Y	[illegible]	Seabright N J	[illegible]
Flatbush N Y	[illegible]	Short Hills N J	[illegible]
Flushing N Y	[illegible]	South Amboy N J	[illegible]
Fort Lee N J	[illegible]	South River N J	[illegible]
Franklin Park N J	[illegible]	Staten Island N Y	[illegible]
Freehold N J	[illegible]	Westfield N J	[illegible]
German Settlem't N Y	[illegible]	Woodbridge N J	[illegible]
Glen Cove N Y	[illegible]	Yonkers N Y	[illegible]
Gravesend N Y	[illegible]	Trenton N J	[illegible]
Hackensack N J	[illegible]	Tarrytown N Y	[illegible]

TWENTY Years experience in the business.

SECOND STREET, 2 doors above Postoffice.

Mr. JOHN H. STEVENS, Horse-shoer, gives particular attention to Shoeing, Forging, [illegible] and Interfering Horses. Speedy Cutters stopped in an incredibly short space of time. Horses with diseased feet treated in a particular manner by experienced workmen.

ALBERT HEDDEN,
Livery and Boarding Stables
FOURTH STREET,
Between Peace street and Park avenue.
First-Class Livery.
Horses Boarded by Week or Month.
Telephone call No. 114.

ADMINISTRATOR'S SETTLEMENT.—Notice is hereby given that the account of the subscriber, Administrator, with the will annexed, of Thomas Blackwell, deceased, will be audited and stated by the Surrogate, and reported for settlement to the Orphans' Court of the County of Union, on Wednesday, the nineteenth day of July next.

ALVAH A. CLARK.

Dated May 3, 1893. [illegible]

ADMINISTRATOR'S SETTLEMENT.—Notice is hereby given that the account of the subscriber, [illegible]

GUILT AND JUSTICE.

A. H. Hummel Tells How America's Great Criminal Lawyers Work.

Memories of Men and Things—The Legal Advocate Can Draw Tears and Laughter with Equal Ease—Appearance in the Courtroom.

[COPYRIGHT, 1893.]

Common sense should be the key stone of the legal edifice, and application to work the corner stone of success in law.

The gift of oratory, now so rare, was once an essential compound of a practicing attorney. Time has divided the profession into specialties and a man may now stand at the very head of one of the several branches who has never tried a case in court. A fortune may be accumulated by the corporation or real estate lawyer, for instance, who could never have earned his salt by pleading in the criminal courts.

To be a successful criminal lawyer one must be, first, an effective speaker, and, second, possessed of a keen insight into human nature. The latter is as essential to him as the knowledge of the criminal law, and the latest decisions. Where the life or liberty of the person whom he is called on to plead for hangs by a thread so slender that the slightest jar will pull it asunder, the lawyer must read the thoughts of the members of the jury. The slightest blunder may mean death.

The entire machinery of the state has been working to crush out the poor wretch at the bar. The prosecuting attorneys, backed by the police department, have reputations to earn or to sustain by securing convictions. The lawyer for the defense stands alone. He need look to no one for help. He requires a keen wit and a ready mind to seize any opportunity that offers to discover any flaws and loopholes. His responsibility is all pervading.

The jury, of course, is instructed to give the prisoner the benefit of any reasonable doubt and that he must be deemed innocent until he has been proven guilty. We all know, however, that the mere fact of the arraignment of a man for trial creates in every mind the presumption of his guilt which is only shaken by positive proof of his innocence.

One wonderful advantage that the prosecution has is that of making the final argument. Any mistake made by the counsel for the prisoner can be pulled to pieces and no opportunity to reply is afforded him. The jury leave the courtroom with the words of the prosecuting attorney ringing in their ears. Unless the plea for the prisoner was most effective and stirred the minds of those who heard it it had already been forgotten.

A. H. HUMMEL.

It seems very easy to try a criminal case, especially by those who have never tried to do it. It is always easy to criticise the methods of the attorney. As in a game of cards the onlooker, whose knowledge of the game is equal to that of the player, is generally able to see the mistakes made at the time of the play. The player's mind, being more intently absorbed, may overlook points perfectly apparent from the outside. So it is with the lawyer.

The most effective addresses are those that sound the simplest. The argument that convinces is the one that the average hearer thinks he could have made himself or that he would like to have made himself. Those who have tried addressing a jury for the first time know that is not quite as easy as it looks. A story that has always amused me is told of a young lawyer whose first case in court was one assigned him to appear for a man charged with theft. He remained perfectly calm and collected until the time came for him to deliver his summing up address to the jury. He had arranged a nice little speech in his mind, but when he stood on his feet the brilliant opening sentence had passed from his mind.

"May it please your honor and gentlemen of the jury—ah! ah—may it please your honor and gentlemen of the jury," he began; then turning to a court attendant, he said: "Officer, a glass of water, please."

After taking a sip of water he resumed: "May it please your honor and gentlemen of the jury. This unfortunate prisoner—"

This is not the way he had intended to begin, so he stopped, took another sip of water and then resumed: "May it please your honor and gentlemen of of the jury. My unfortunate client—"

This was not at all what he had wished to say, so he again hesitated and sipped some more water while a titter ran around the courtroom. The judge looked down kindly from the bench and remarked: "Go ahead, counselor, thus far the court is with you."

The number of great criminal lawyers that New York has had in the last quarter of a century has been very small. Of these, the more prominent were James T. Brady, John Graham, ex-Judge William Fullerton, William F. Howe and De Lancy Nicoll. There have been many others of some reputation, but no others whose names have been universally known. Of the prosecuting attorneys who have won fame in my time, I know of none more eloquent than Col. John R. Fellows or more impressive than Daniel G. Rollins, who has since then occupied the bench in the surrogate's court.

Mr. Brady was in his day the prince of criminal lawyers. Like his brother, the late judge of the supreme court, he was the soul of affability. His speech was characterized by force and impressiveness, and he had a rare fund of humor, and lightened up his most serious addresses by charming anecdotes.

William Fullerton, who once occupied the supreme court bench, is now a very old gentleman and he seldom tries a case. He, however, has retained the force and keenness that marked him among the lawyers of New York when he first began to make his reputation. His daring originality was demonstrated on the trial of the famous Campbell-Arbuckle suit for breach of promise of marriage in which Judge Fullerton's client, Miss Clara Campbell, secured a verdict for forty-five thousand dollars. To the great surprise of everybody present at the trial, the first witness called by Judge Fullerton was Mr. Arbuckle. This scheme proved most effective, as Judge Fullerton was able to prove his case to the satisfaction of the jury and to prejudice their minds against his adversary at the outset. Judge Fullerton is a heavily built man with strong features and light blue eyes. He has a habit of poking his spectacles over the top of his forehead while he is cross-examining a witness, and then pulling them down to the very tip of his nose and glaring savagely over them. He is an orator of the old school, forceful and flowery.

John R. Fellows is a perfect type of the eloquent southerner. He shines to great advantage in a closely-contested case. He is able to pick up the thread of a case at any period, to enter upon a trial with very little preparation, and to accomplish wonders. His memory [illegible] paying much attention to the [illegible] of the trial. When the examinations have been conducted by one of his assistants, at the close of the case he has risen to his feet and spoken from one to six hours at a time without making a single error in the chronological order of his story, missing no point that he could use to the slightest advantage, and keeping everybody within hearing spellbound by his eloquence.

William F. Howe is one of the most dramatic speakers who has ever appeared in the New York courts. Had he gone upon the stage he would have made as great an actor as he now is a criminal lawyer. He has a vast fund of sentiment to draw on and is never lacking in pathos. He has the power to work himself up to the wildest pitch of enthusiasm, where apparently there was very little occasion for such acting. He has a powerful and melodious voice which he uses to excellent advantage, and he has that sort of magnetism that carries people with him often against their wishes. A feature of Mr. Howe's pleas in the criminal court is his admirable stock of quotations from the classics. He always has some verse or line that is explanatory of what he has to say and that is admirably fitted for the case. He usually begins in a theatrical manner bringing out his strongest point and weaving his tissue of arguments around the one excuse that he has been able to find for his client. Not only is he able to work himself up to the point of tears, but he is able to bring tears from the eyes of jurors who had previously seen nothing in the case but brutality and crime. When one hears him begin, one is inclined to believe that his voice will break down by the time that he is half through. He, however, knows too much about his own power to overtax it, and after a time he alternates between the lowest and the highest tone as the occasion and effect require.

Daniel G. Rollins began his career in the criminal court as an assistant under Benjamin K. Phelps, whom he succeeded as district attorney. He made a considerable reputation by his prosecution and conviction of the incendiaries who had hitherto proceeded almost without restraint in New York, and he saved hundreds of thousands of dollars for the insurance companies by his vigilance. His method was to begin by examining the man suspected of arson; to obtain from him, under oath, a list of the property that he claimed had been burned, and then to secure his conviction by proving the falsity of these claims.

De Lancy Nicoll, the youngest man who has ever been elected to the important office of district attorney of New York, has demonstrated his ability in many important criminal cases. He is a man of great energy and reasoning and has cleared the dockets of all the accumulated work of former administrations. It is only necessary to mention his services in the "boodle" cases, in the Buddensieck case and in the recent poisoning cases to establish his right to a place among the great prosecuting attorneys that this city has had.

The matter of a criminal lawyer's appearance which might seem trivial to some people is of the greatest importance in the courtroom. A man need not be good looking. He need have no physical attraction, but he must carry the appearance of earnestness, ability and honesty. A familiar anecdote, illustrating this point, relates to a burglar who had entered a plea of not guilty. He had no money to employ counsel and the court assigned a lawyer who had been standing around the room to defend the case. The prisoner looked at the lawyer for a few minutes without saying a word, sized him up and then waved him aside and turning toward the judge said: "Your honor, I guess I'll plead guilty."

A. H. HUMMEL.

Breaking the Ice.

She—If you don't stop letting me sit down on the same sofa with you I'll tell papa.

Bashful Youth (much bewildered)—Eh? Wha—what will he do?

She—He'll make you marry me.

Then he proposed.—N. Y. Weekly.

A Question.

Which is the greater sin? She can sing well
Yet oft' declines, protesting she cannot;
Then yields at last, and holds us in a spell
Where all her false denials are forgot.
Another, songless, basely we deceive,
Assuring her we're yearning for her din;
She yields politely, daring to believe;
One lies; we lie; which is the greater sin?
—Roe L. Hendrick, in Life.

Sympathized with Him.

Carraway had eloped with Mrs. Buster, but later he repented and went like a man to Buster to apologize.

"I'm awfully sorry, Buster," said he.

"That's all right," said Buster. "I know you would be. I've eloped with Mrs. B. myself."—Judge.

Only Second Best.

Jackson—And when your former fiance, Miss Prettigigh, was married to Jack Handsome you were the best man?

Mellow—Not in the bride's opinion. [illegible]

MISCELLANEOUS | MISCELLANEOUS.

E. P. THORN,
No. 17 Park Avenue,
PLAINFIELD, N. J.

Pure Wines and Liquors,
For Family and Medicinal Use,
A SPECIALTY.

3-26-y

CASTORIA
for Infants and Children.

THIRTY years' observation of Castoria with the patronage of millions of persons, permit us to speak of it without guessing. It is unquestionably the best remedy for Infants and Children the world has ever known. It is harmless. Children like it. It gives them health. It will save their lives. In it Mothers have something which is absolutely safe and practically perfect as a child's medicine.

Castoria destroys Worms.
Castoria allays Feverishness.
Castoria prevents vomiting Sour Curd.
Castoria cures Diarrhœa and Wind Colic.
Castoria relieves Teething Troubles.
Castoria cures Constipation and Flatulency.

Castoria neutralizes the effects of carbonic acid gas or poisonous air.
Castoria does not contain morphine, opium, or other narcotic property.
Castoria assimilates the food, regulates the stomach and bowels, giving healthy and natural sleep.
Castoria is put up in one-size bottles only. It is not sold in bulk.
Don't allow any one to sell you anything else on the plea or promise that it is "just as good" and "will answer every purpose."
See that you get C-A-S-T-O-R-I-A.

The fac-simile signature of Chas. H. Fletcher is on every wrapper.

Children Cry for Pitcher's Castoria.

From the Lips of Experience.

"I now feel quite satisfied that there is no life so happy as a married one."

"And how long have you been married?"

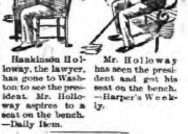
"Since last Wednesday."—Boston Globe.

In a Hopeless Minority.

Tom—You're the most trying girl to have for a fiancee that I ever heard of.

Gertie (indignant)—Neither George nor Ned ever thought so.—Chicago Record.

THE SUCCESSFUL OFFICE-SEEKER.



Hankinson Holloway, the lawyer, has gone to Washton to see the president. Mr. Holloway aspires to a seat on the bench. —Daily Item.

Mr. Holloway has seen the president and got his seat on the bench. —Harper's Weekly.

She Knew by Experience.

"My dear, look down below," said Mr. Grandiose, as he stood on the bridge with his wife, and gazed at a tug hauling a long line of barges. "Such is life: the tug is like the man, working and toiling, while the barges, like women, are"—

"I know," interrupted Mrs. G., acridly, "the tug does all the blowing, and the barges bear all the burden."—London Tid-Bits.

Very Apt to Do It.

Downey—Oh, yes; when I go to the world's fair I shall stop with some distant relatives in Chicago.

Fleecy—Have you seen any of them lately?

Downey—Oh, about six years ago.

Fleecy—How do you know they won't plead the statute of limitations?—Judge.

Symptoms.

The Wife—There is a prescription that the doctor left for you to-day when he called and found you out.

The Husband—How did he know what to give me?

The Wife—He said that from my appearance and symptoms he knew you were suffering from chronic dyspepsia.—Life.

Young America.

"Well, Charlie," said the nurse the other day to a nine-year-old Boston boy, "you're an uncle now. You've just had a little nephew."

"Is that so?" said Charlie, with a blase air. "Well, I suppose I'll have to give the little beggar a spoon."—N. Y. Tribune.

She Felt Wicked.

Revivalist—Is it possible that you dance?

Fair Sinner—Oh, yes, often.

"Now tell me, honestly and fairly, don't you think the tendency of dancing is toward sin?"

"I must confess that sometimes while dancing I have very wicked thoughts."

"Aha! I feared so. When is it that you have wicked thoughts?"

"When my partners step on my toes."—N. Y. Weekly.

Fellow Feeling.

"You have been in the army a great many years, but I never heard of your capturing anything," said an old coquette to a somewhat venerable officer.

"You ought to have a fellow feeling for me," was the reply.

"How so?"

"Because we both know what it is to grow old without making any conquests."—Quips.

Almost a Hint.

Mr. Slowboy, who has been paying attention to Birdie McGinnis, the belle of Harlem, said the other evening: "I don't think earrings are becoming to you."

"I agree with you, Mr. Slowboy. I'd much prefer to have a ring—an engagement ring, for instance."—Texas Siftings.

In the Cemetery.

"This man must have been a sea captain," said Hicks, stopping in front of a grave over which rose the familiar broken pillar.

"Why do you think that?" asked Mawson.

"They've erected a broken shaft in his memory."—Judge.

All Lost.

Rev. Dr. Drowsie—I am afraid that my remarks on the proper raiment for a clergyman this morning were entirely lost.

Mrs. Drowsie—How so?

Dr. Drowsie—I have since ascertained that there isn't a tailor in my whole [illegible]

THE CONSTITUTIONALIST.

VOL. XXVI. PLAINFIELD, N. J., THURSDAY, JULY 6, 1893. No 27.

"Support the Constitution, which is the cement of the Union, as well in its limitations as in its authorities."—MADISON.

Rates of Advertising

Space	1	2	3	1	2	3	6	12
	—WEEKS—			—MONTHS—
1 in.	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]
2 in.	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]
3 in.	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]
4 in.	3.00	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]
5 in.	3.50	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]
¼ col.	4.50	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]
½ col.	7.00	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]
1 col.	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	140.00

All Electro's must be solid metal.

Double cols. 30 per ct. advance of above rates.

PROFESSIONAL CARDS.

JACKSON & CODDINGTON,
Counsellors-at-Law,
Commissioners of Deeds, Masters-in-Chancery, Notaries Public. Offices corner of Park avenue and Second street.—jo4tf

GEORGE W. DAY,
General Auctioneer.
Sales of Personal Property solicited. P. O. Box 132, Dunellen, N. J., or address in care of CONSTITUTIONALIST. Terms reasonable.

DR. CHARLES E. THEIRS,
Dentist,
19 West Front street. A new local anaesthetic application for extracting teeth without pain. Gold filling a specialty.—jo4tf

BUSINESS CARDS.

P.P.VanArsdale,
PIANO TUNER.
Instruments put in thorough order. Terms reasonable. Pianos and Organs for sale and to let. Orders by postal, P. O. Box 180, or left at Willett's shoe store, No. 4 Park avenue, will receive prompt attention. Residence 24 E. Front street, corner Elm street. jly19tf

T. J. GILLIES,
Auctioneer & Real Estate Agent.
SALESROOM—Madison Avenue and Front Plainfield, N. J.
Goods received on consignment.

John Chandler,
CARPENTER AND BUILDER,
Plainfield, N. J.
Residence and shop No. 36 East Third street.
Jobbing promptly attended to. ap1y

E. B. MAYNARD,
PRACTICAL BARBER
AND
Artistic Hair Dresser,
No. 26 PARK AVENUE.
Ladies' and Children's Hair Cutting done at their residences. Shaving, Shampooing, etc. satisfactorily performed. 1l7yl

CARNEY BROTHERS, Agents,
7 West Front St.
TINNERS,
PLUMBERS,
GAS FITTERS.
PARLOR STOVES,
COOK STOVES,
HEATERS.

Grates and Bricks for all kinds of Stoves can be found here at Jobbers' prices. Bring your Tinware mending to us. Stoutest Tinners, the best Plumbers, and the best Gas-fitters in this section. We use none but the very best of materials, and our work always gives satisfaction.

Keys of All Kinds are Made Here.
Tinware Made to Order.
Ranges, Brick and
Portable Furnaces
SANITARY PLUMBING.

Parlor Stoves,
Furnaces, Ranges,
Water Piping, Plumbing.
Heater Work, Tinning,
Hardware.
A. M. GRIFFEN,
13 East Front Street.
TELEPHONE CALL, 6. 11 11-tf

Beautiful Assortment!
Furniture!
Largest Assortment!
Best Goods!
Lowest Prices?
Ever Offered in Plainfield!
23, 25 and 27 PARK AVE.
Garret Q. Packer.

SANITARY PLUMBING,
Brick and Portable Furnaces,
GAS FITTING,
TIN ROOFING,
Etc., Etc.

I am prepared to do any of the above branches in a strictly first-class, sanitary and workmanlike manner.
Having associated myself with the Master Plumbers Association of New York City, I [illegible]
D. W. LITTELL,
No. 9 North Ave., Plainfield, N. J.

MISCELLANEOUS.

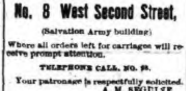
FOR MALARIA,
GENERAL DEBILITY
AND
ALL STOMACH TROUBLES
COLES'
PERUVIAN BARK
AND
WILD CHERRY BITTERS
ARE THE BEST.
A Vegetable Substitute for Quinine.
SOLD BY ALL DRUGGISTS.
Price, 50 cents and $1.00 per Bottle.
PREPARED ONLY BY THE
D. P. COLES DRUG AND MFG. CO.
RAHWAY, N. J.
8-21-y

Jas. M. Dunn,
Dealer in
GROCERIES, PROVISIONS,
Vegetables, Fruits, etc.
No. 36 Park Ave.
OPPOSITE NORTH AVENUE.
THORBURN & CO'S GARDEN SEEDS,
BEST IN THE WORLD.
ALL GOODS DELIVERED FREE OF CHARGE

ESTABLISHED 18 6.
C.E. & J.W. BROWN,
(Successors to G. P. & C. E. Brown & Co.)
Importers, Wholesale and Retail Dealers in
WALL PAPER.
321 Canal Street,
NEW YORK.
English Tiles, Anaglypta, "Hand, Leather" Embossed Flock Papers, &c. Burlaps for Walls.
Manufacturers of Window Shades. 3-13-tf

LIVERY.

REMOVAL.
A. M. SEGUINE,



Has removed his office to
No. 8 West Second Street,
(Salvation Army building)
Where all orders left for carriages will receive prompt attention.
TELEPHONE CALL, NO. 98.
Your patronage is respectfully solicited.
A. M. SEGUINE.

RICKERT'S
ACCOMMODATION EXPRESS.
OFFICE—Vanderbeek's Music Store, Park avenue. The "Accommodation Express" will attend to the general carrying business of the city, delivering goods or baggage to and from the depot, or from place to place.
Moving of Furniture, Pianos, etc., with care and safety.

INSURANCE.

WILLIAM A. WOODRUFF,
FIRE AND LIFE
INSURANCE AGENT,
Office cor. Front St. and Park Ave.,
PLAINFIELD, N. J.
Real Estate for Sale & Exchange.
MONEY TO LOAN
On Approved Security.
Mar30tf

Fresh Garden Seeds
AND FERTILIZERS,
Farm and Garden Implements,
Lawn Mowers Refrigerators,
Ice Cream Freezers
Gasolene Stoves,
Hardware, Tools, etc.
J. J. HEIDELOFF,
No. 13 SOMERSET ST. 3-18-tf

WANTED—Reliable Parties
To act as agents. Steady employment and
Good Pay From the Start.
No experience necessary; outfit free. Address THE HANKS NURSERY CO., Rochester New York. 9-23-3m

WANTED.
Honest energetic men to solicit orders for FRUIT and ORNAMENTAL NURSERY STOCK.
Expenses and salary to those who can leave home and devote all their time to the work; or liberal commissions to local agents. State age, occupation and choice of territory. Address
R. G. CHASE & CO.,
1430 So. Penn Square, Philadelphia, Pa.
3 20 3m

CANOPIES
For Weddings, Parties, Etc.,
TO HIRE. CHARGES REASONABLE.
Hugo Weigman,
20 EAST FRONT STREET, PLAINFIELD, N. J.
Mch30tf

LEWIS B. CODDINGTON,
(Successor to T. J. Carey.)
Furniture and Freight Express!
OFFICE—24 W. FRONT ST.
Large Covered Vans or Trucks. Goods delivered to any part of the U. S. Satisfaction guaranteed. Charges Reasonable. P. O. Box [illegible]

TOBACCO, SEGARS, &c.

H. EGGERDING,
No. 17 Park Avenue,
PLAINFIELD, N. J.
Manufacturer of the Celebrated
G. O. D. CIGAR,
The best 5 cent cigar in the State, and made on the premises from the finest Havana.
CLEAR HAVANA SEGARS A SPECIALTY.
A large assortment of the Choicest Brands of Foreign and Domestic Cigars, Cigarettes and Tobaccos, always on hand.
Smokers Articles in Great Variety.
7m1y

C. M. FINE,
Dealer in Havana & Domestic
SEGARS!!—
6.58 PARK AVE., (near corner of SECOND ST.)
PLAINFIELD, N. J.
Tobacco and Smoker's Materials,
of every description.
The celebrated "Old Judge" Smoking Tobacco, with the popular [illegible]

A. WOLFF,
Manufacturer of
CIGARS,
And dealer in all kinds of Smoking and Chewing Tobacco, and smokers' articles, has removed from 10½ W. Front street, to 47 West Front, one door east of Madison avenue, and solicits the patronage of his friends and the public generally. 4 2 m

PAINTERS & PAINTERS SUPP

Paints, Varnishes, Glass.
WINDOW SHADES AND FIXTURES.
WALL PAPERS!
PAPER HANGING A SPECIALTY.
A. SWALM,
No. 6 North Avenue, Plainfield.
a922

L. E. WOOLSTON. J. P. BUCKLE
Woolston & Buckle,
PAINTERS,
Wall Papers,
ARTISTS' SUPPLIES. 26 NORTH AVENUE.

6. Dickinson
Optician
13 Park Ave.
Plainfield N. J.

WHATEVER form of printed matter you require we can be of service to you; whether it be

Letter Headings,
Circulars,
Programmes, Memorial
Addresses,
Memorials,
By-Laws of Societies,
Prospectuses and Reports of Financial Associations, or any other matter for Public or Private Circulation.
Everything.

WEEKLY CONSTITUTIONALIST
DAILY PRESS
(Chautauqua Building).
PLAINFIELD N. J

TA-RA-RA PRAYERS.

Here's a Pleasant Little Tale About Some of Plainfield's [illegible] Kids.

A man who lives up on West Fifth street is the happy proprietor of a cross-eyed dog of uncertain breed, a second hand baby-carriage, and three up-to-date children. The cross-eyed dog of uncertain breed does not figure in the present case, and is merely mentioned to lend interest and individuality, and the second-hand baby-carriage is only introduced to emphasize the fact that the children have outgrown it.

But the young ones are the whole story.

The eldest is 7, the next 5, and the third 3 years old; and it is but fair to their father to mention that they have been brought up in the way in which they should go, with a vengeance. They were taught prayers before they could speak, they warbled hymns before they could sing, and they have all been outwardly devout members of the Sunday-school since they were infants in arms.

Every evening, when the hour of retiring draws near, a regular devotional exercise is gone through, comprising a little hymn and a little prayer, and then each hopeful is carefully tucked away in a tiny bed to sleep the sleep and dream the dreams that come alone to those who approach their slumber in reverence and awe.

The other night, after the usual hymn and prayer and tucking away, the good man kissed each little one in benediction; and then, as is customary, wandered back to the library to finish his paper and pipe. He had just comfortably composed himself when there fell on his startled senses a strange and unearthly clamor, undeniably proceeding from the nursery. He arose and listened. There was sound of marching and martial melody. Curiosity and indignation combined to hasten an investigation. The conscientious householder stealthily crept upstairs and peered in through the nursery door. To say he was astonished and shocked, does not do the matter justice, for behold: there were the three young ones—two girls, mind you, and only one boy—parading up and down and across the room in Indian file, and singing, in their most cultivated Sunday-school voices, to an air not infrequently heard on the street nowadays and rendered popular by a certain Miss Lottie Collins, these words:

"Now I lay me down to sleep,
Pray the Lord my soul to keep;
If I die before I wake—
Pray the Lord my soul to take.
CHO:—Ta-ra-ra, boom-de-ay, etc."

The canes and umbrellas that were disfigured in the scene that followed, can be bought cheap now, if you are interested in relics of that sort.

LUNCHING ON DAISIES.

How a Wall Street Broker Combined Business With Pleasure After Visiting Plainfield's Suburbs.

He had been visiting in Westfield, N. J.,—says the New York Recorder—and returned in the morning with a bunch of golden-hearted daisies in his hand, together with a lot of buttercups. The flowers were still wet with the dew as he walked up Cortlandt street, on his way to his office, with the flowers hanging negligently at his side. As he reached Washington street a little barefooted girl ran up to him and said:

"Oh, mister, gi' me a flower?"

He looked down at the dirty face, at the eloquent, pleading eyes, at the eager hands, and, selecting two of the brightest flowers, placed them in the grimy fist. Two shop girls walked behind him, and he heard one of them whisper to her companion:

"Do you like butter?"

"Try and see", he exclaimed, turning and handing to her three of the delicate yellow cups nodding on their slender stems. She took them with a conscious blush, and, as he walked onward, he stole a furtive look over his shoulder and saw one of the girls holding a buttercup under her rounded chin to see if the sun would reflect the yellow upon her white skin.

He had scarcely rounded the corner into Broadway when he was saluted with:

"By George, Harry, give me a few of those daisies. They make me feel homesick. They remind me of the pasture at the back of the house in Greene county. Why, man, they recall the scent of honeysuckle, the hum of bees and the song of the whippoorwill. Here's three twenty-five cent cigars. Give me three daisies."

The exchange was made and Harry strolled down Broadway toward Wall street. It was early when he entered the Stock Exchange. Business for the day had not yet begun. An idea came to Harry. "I'll combine sentiment with business," said he to himself, "and earn enough to pay for my lunch."

Jumping upon a chair he began shouting to the crowd of brokers already assembled:

"Hear ye! hear ye! A consignment of daisies has just arrived from Jersey. They are for sale singly, in lots or in a bunch! How much am I offered?"

"Give me two for a dime," said a young swell who needed a boutonniere.

"Going at a nickel apiece," shouted the auctioneer. "It will cost you 50 cents in car fare to get one of these where it grows! Going at a nickel! Do I hear any more?"

But there was no need of any more bidding. Every man in the room rushed up to secure a flower, and when Harry counted his gains he found he had enough cash to pay for his lunch at the Savarin, with a bottle thrown in.

J. Wesley Johnson's Yacht.

Commuters and others going to New York may have noticed a handsome naptha launch anchored off Bergen Point near the New Jersey Athletic club's house. The launch was built at Mt. Morris for J. W. Johnson, of LaGrande avenue, and cost $3,500. It is 30 feet long and capable of comfortably seating 32 persons. It is equipped in elegant style, the deck being of mahogany. Captain Luke Henry will start with the launch early next week for Mr. Johnson's summer residence near Burlington, Vt., going via Hudson River to Troy, thence by canal to Whitehall and so on to Lake Champlain. While the boat is anchored off Bergen Point, Mr. Johnson's friends are daily inspecting it.

Corn Looking Well, Potatoes Not Thriving.

(Official Crop Bulletin.)

Plainfield—The [illegible] of the [illegible] have [illegible] well [illegible], although they are heading, will not amount to much without more rain. Rainfall, 0.86 inches. JOHN NEAGLE.

South Plainfield—The dry weather has shortened the berry crop, [illegible] has retarded all kind of garden truck. The dry weather has given all a chance to kill weeds and cultivate, and corn is looking well. P. C. JOHNSON.

PREST ROCKFELLOW.

PERMANENT ORGANIZATION OF THE BOARD OF TRADE.

New [illegible] Plainfield Board, Under the Leadership of Such a Progressive Body—Who Are in It, and What They Purpose Doing.

The second meeting of the Board of Trade was held Thursday in the parlors of the Crescent league. This meeting was called to hear the reports of the committees on by-laws and constitution, and on the nomination of officers. Postmaster E. R. Pope was elected to fill the chair temporarily, as chairman G. W. Rockfellow was not present. Judge John Ulrich acted as secretary of the meeting. The minutes of the last meeting were read and approved, and the committee on by-laws and constitution, consisting of Judge Ulrich, J. F. Mac Donald and F. W. Runyon, made its report and read the constitution that it had framed. The main points of the constitution were as follows: The association shall be known as The Board of Trade of Plainfield, N J. The object of the association shall be to promote the business interests of Plainfield and the social interests of its members. It was suggested that the Grocers' Protective association should be merged into the Board of Trade.

The officers shall consist of a president, two vice presidents, a secretary, treasurer and counsel. The board shall be by a board of nine directors. This board shall be made of the officers of the board of trade and three directors elected from the association at large. This board of directors shall be divided by lot into three classes of two members each the first-class to hold office for one year, the second for two years and the third for three years. Last night the officers and the three members of the board were elected by the association at large, but hereafter the officers will be elected annually by the board of directors. A two-thirds vote of the directors shall be a majority. The article providing for the election of officers occasioned no little discussion as the language of the original section was considered by some to be ambiguous, but it was finally inserted with slight changes. The meetings of the board of trade shall take place on the second Thursday of each month, and fifteen members shall constitute a quorum. The annual meeting for the election of officers shall take place on the first Thursday in June of each year.

Partisan politics and sectarian religion shall have no influence in the considerations of the board.

The usual restriction as to proposing, seconding and posting names for membership are embodied in a section provided for that purpose. The initiation fee shall be $10 payable in the outstanding Crescent league coupons and the dues $5 a quarter in advance.

Honorary members shall pay $10 a year and have the privileges of the club-house but no voice in the management or any interest in the property. After some deliberation and argument the constitution was adopted, each section being voted on separately.

The next report was that of the committee on nominations for officers. T. F. French read the nominations of his committee.

The entire list was elected by the secretary casting a ballot for each name. The officers for the ensuing year therefore are:

President—George W. Rockfellow.
First vice-president—William Archibald Coddington.
Second vice-president—Charles A. Reed.
Treasurer—Elston M. French.
Secretary—George A. Hallock.
Counsel—William R. Codington.
Members of the board of directors—Chas. M. Ulrich, J. F. MacDonald, George Griffin.

It was moved, seconded and carried that counsel Codington be instructed to draw up the necessary papers for incorporation under the laws of the State of New Jersey.

The terms under which the Board of Trade take possession of the Crescent League club-house have already been stated in THE PRESS. The meeting adjourned until next week Thursday.

The following list of gentlemen have signed their names to the roll of charter members of the board:

E. R. Pope,
J. F. MacDonald,
John Ulrich
A. M. Runyon & Son,
F. W. Runyon,
C. M. Ulrich,
John H. Doane,
E. M. Laing,
T. S. Armstrong,
Geo. W. Rockfellow,
A. Swalm,
J. W. VanSickle,
L. S. Pocock, D. V. S.
Woolston & Buckle,
Fred W. Dunn,
B. T. Berean,
VanEmburgh & Son,
J. Hervey Doane,
Robt. A. Meeker,
E. Bell,
Clarence J. Rice,
Theodore F. French,
James C. Pope,
J. F. Hubbard,
J. B. Coward,
John Johnson,
J. K. Arnold,
Laire Bros,
C. W. Runyon,
Amos Andrews
A. V. D. Honeyman,
Horace Sherwin,
Herman A. Weber,
Geo. A. Hallock,
A. D. Mallinson,
W. A. Woodruff,
Geo. W. Kyte,
W. A. McClurg,
Zimmerman & Rampf
A. M. Griffen,
Charles J. Fisk,
Wm. A. Coddington,
A. D. Thompson,
J. Augustus Smith,
G. Q. Packer,
Wm. H. Sebring,
C. A. Reed,
C. B. Gillen,
S. H. Whitney,
E. C. Mulford,
E. H. Holmes,
H. W. Marshall,
W. R. Codington,
Elston French,
Geo. Griffen,

$17 FOR THE FUND.

Trinity Sunday-School Workers Conduct a Delightful Fair.

The fair that was held Thursday afternoon and evening on the lawn of Mr. Keeselring, 25 Chatham street, for the benefit of the building fund for a proposed new Sunday-school building for Trinity Reformed church, cleared $17. The affair was admirably planned by Miss Lillie Zeiss and Miss Jennie Sheppard, who also had charge of the cake and candy tables. Fancy table No. 1 was in charge of Miss VanNorstrand, and fancy table No. 2 in charge of Miss Meyers. The lemonade well and fishing pond were a novelty, gracefully presided over by Miss Pangborn. Miss Morse was queen of the doll tent, and Miss Lang dispensed ice-cream.

Always 24 Hours Late.

The moribund News is at its old tricks again. Tuesday it reproduced from these columns of the day before the list of Saturday's tennis play on the Union County courts, and the fire department test of the hydrant service—in both instances a word-for-word steal.

Paoli's Trial Postponed.

The re-trial of the case of the city against Lorenzo Paoli, for alleged violation of the Sunday-selling ordinance, has been postponed until such a time as [illegible] can decide on a [illegible] both [illegible]

Mr. Thompson's Possessions Still Increasing.

William Kelly, of Oak Tree, has sold his half interest in the 70,000-acres of land in which he was interested in Florida, to A. D. Thompson of this city.

THIS BUREAU'S WORK A SUCCESS.

DR. CARROLL'S RELIGIOUS STATISTICS OF THE UNITED STATES, COMPLETE.

The Office of the Sixth Division of the United States Census, in Plainfield, Closed.

The branch of the Census office which has been located in this city since October, 1889, under the supervision of Dr. Henry K. Carroll, special agent, has had in charge the gathering and tabulating of the statistics of all churches in the United States, even including Alaska.

The force employed has averaged ten clerks for three years; although the entire number of persons that have been employed has been twenty-five.

The attempt has been made by each Census during fifty years to gather and publish the statistics of churches; but this is the first time that a success has been reached. In the Tenth Census, 1880, not a word was published relating to religious bodies, although there was a larger outlay made in the attempt.

The Eleventh Census, that of 1890, of which Dr. Carroll's branch is a part, has successfully gathered the statistics of all denominations, even those of only a score of members, and has issued the full report of each in fifteen bulletins, the last of which was published and sent out this week.

Something like sixty thousand of the bulletins have been distributed through the various denominations, and as this very important work was, for the first time, completed for the year 1890, just a century after the signing of the Constitution that made us a nation, it shows the growth for the first hundred years and gives a good basis from which to compare the future growths.

Too much praise cannot be given for the completeness and the accuracy of the work, while the introductions which have been published with the tables of each denomination give briefly the history and polity of each of the more than 140 denominations; so that the sum total is a vast mine of interesting information that is more valuable than most publications, for the reason that before any of the statements have been published, the subject matter with the accompanying tables, has been submitted to representative men of each denomination for their careful perusal, and their endorsement. This makes the work not only exhaustive in its scope, but entirely authentic and reliable.

Charles E. Buell, who has been in charge of the detail of the office, speaks very highly of the careful oversight which Dr. Carroll has given, and states that he has proved himself to be just the right man for the place he has held; being skilled in the most essential part, that of church history, and the various peculiarities that are encountered in the government of so many widely differing religious organizations; things that the average well informed man knows nothing about. Mr. Buell speaks very highly of the clerks that have been furnished for the work. The patient and intelligent labor that has been performed by them, cannot be, he says, defined properly by the few words at his command.

Mr. Buell has been directed to report for duty at the Census office, in Washington, for a few weeks work, when he expects to return to Plainfield.

Following is a complete list of all who were connected with the work in this city:

Dr. Henry K. Carroll, special agent, 25 Westervelt avenue.
Hon. Isaac Clark, special agent, 24 East Third street.
Charles E. Buell, chief of division, 22 Manning avenue.
Horatio Dorr, clerk, City Hotel.
Clarence L. Cullen, clerk, Sixth and Broadway.
James Lawrence Dudley, clerk, 60 East Front street.
William E. Masten, clerk, 71 East Third street.
Edward F. Arnold, clerk, 71 East Third street.
W. Rudolph Stokes, clerk, North avenue.
Thomas H. Peterson, clerk, 57 Cottage place.
Henry J. Shortt, Washington, D. C.
David T. Belt, Washington, D. C.
Mrs. Cassandria A. Smith, clerk, 11 West Fourth street.
Miss Lisette P. Harrison, clerk, 28 West Second street.
Miss Estelle M. Jenkins, clerk, West Second street.
Miss Jennie L. Demarest, clerk, 7 East Fifth street.
Miss Hattie Isabelle Lunger, clerk, 90 Westervelt avenue.
Miss Carrie Tingley, clerk, 21 Orchard place.
Miss Ruth Ann Day, clerk, 22 Duer street.
Miss Marion B. Nevius, clerk, 29 Sanford avenue.
Miss Eleanor Demarest, clerk, 7 East Fifth street.
Miss Mary Gregg, clerk, 70 Webster place.
Miss Justina M. Schmidt, clerk, 126 Manning avenue.
Chas. H. Angleman, clerk, 248 West Front street.
*Miss Ada Granna*tt, clerk, 221 West Fourth street.

DISCUSSION OVER REAL ESTATE.

Difference of Opinion Over the Sale by the Rahway Friends.

An out-of-town paper thus speaks of a matter which has already been mentioned in these columns:

The Society of Friends at Rahway and the Society at Plainfield are expected to come together Thursday in an important business matter over which a clash may be looked for. The Society in Rahway has dwindled in membership until the support of a meeting-house has become a burden, and the Friends appointed a committee to sell the property. The Plainfield Society has jurisdiction over that at Rahway, and some of its leaders think that the Rahway Friends are sacrificing their estate at a very low figure. Warm opposition has been aroused, and at 5 p. m. Thursday a special meeting will be held to investigate the matter and decide what shall be done.

Gives up His Property for the City's Good.

William Kelly, owner of the house on North Front street, is about to remove the Levi Sutton house to Elm place. The property cost him, he says, $1,600, and in order to have Westervelt avenue straightened and perfected he has donated sixteen feet of his property free.

Affords It Pleasure to Announce.

(Dunellen Weekly Call.)

It affords the Call great pleasure to announce through its columns the appointment of J. A. Demarest, of the Plainfield Press, by President Cleveland, as Consul to Brockville, Ontario. The post is an important one, and is one much sought after. There were many recommended for it from several States, but one could be appointed, and Mr. Demarest is to be congratulated that of the many he was the one who should be the choice of our chief magistrate. That Mr. Demarest will give satisfaction to all concerned no one who knows the man can for a moment doubt.

TURNER TURNED THE TABLES.

He Took Sneden's Place in the Box, and the Crack Poughkeepsies Were Beaten.

The Crescents are home from their Poughkeepsie trip with one victory to their credit. With Turner in the box they defeated their victorious adversaries of the day before, in a game that manager Keller says was great. The scores:

TUESDAY'S GAME.

CRESCENTS.

	AB.	R.	1B.	PO.	A.	E.
Hofford, rf	4	0	0	0	0	0
Smith, ss	4	0	2	1	2	0
Turner, cf	4	0	0	4	0	0
Heckman, 3b	4	2	2	2	3	1
Fritz, c	4	0	0	5	2	1
Keenan, 2b	4	0	0	7	1	1
McLaughlin, lf	3	0	1	2	0	0
Jones, 1b	4	0	0	6	0	1
Sneden, p	3	0	2	0	5	0
		2	7	27	14	4

POUGHKEEPSIE.

	AB.	R.	1B.	PO.	A.	E.
Dwight, ss	4	1	0	3	2	1
McCluskey, 2b	5	2	3	1	1	0
Allen, 3b	5	1	0	5	0	0
Schlude, c	4	1	1	9	1	0
Walsh, 3b	4	1	1	1	0	1
O'Brien, rf	5	1	1	5	0	0
Daly, p	4	1	2	0	10	0
Lee, cf	4	1	2	2	0	0
Arras, lf	4	0	1	1	0	0
		9	11	27	14	2

BY INNINGS.

Poughkeepsie	3	1	0	0	0	2	3	0	0—9
Crescents	0	0	0	1	0	0	0	0	1—2

Earned runs—Crescents, 1; Poughkeepsie, 2. First base by errors—Crescents, 2; Poughkeepsie, 3. Left on bases—Crescents, 3; Poughkeepsie, 4. First base on balls—Off Sneden, 5; off Daly, 1. Struck out—By Sneden, 5; by Daly, 10. Home runs—Heckman, Daly. Two-base hits—Heckman, McLaughlin, Sneden, McCluskey, Daly, Lee. Stolen bases—Heckman, Dwight, McCluskey. Hit by pitcher—By Sneden, 1. Umpire—Frank Williams. Time of game—3 hours.

WEDNESDAY'S GAME.

CRESCENTS.

	AB	R	1B	PO	A	E
Hofford, rf	4	1	1	2	0	0
Smith, ss	3	2	1	2	1	0
Turner, p	4	0	1	0	8	0
Heckman, 3b	4	2	0	1	2	1
Fritz, c	5	2	0	9	2	1
Keenan, 2b	5	1	2	4	2	0
McLaughlin, lf	4	0	2	0	0	1
Jones, 1b	4	0	0	7	1	0
Sneden, cf	4	1	1	2	0	0
		9	8	27	16	3

POUGHKEEPSIE.

	AB	R	1B	PO	A	E
McCloskey, 1b	4	0	1	10	0	0
Allen, 2b	5	0	1	0	2	1
Schlude, c	5	0	1	4	2	0
Walsh, 3b	5	0	0	2	1	1
Weeks, cf	4	2	2	3	1	1
Daly, ss	3	1	1	2	2	1
Lee, p	4	1	0	0	8	0
Arras, lf	3	1	1	2	0	0
O'Brien, rf	4	1	0	1	0	0
		6	7	24	16	4

BY INNINGS.

Crescents	0	0	0	3	1	0	4	1	0—9
Poughkeepsie	0	1	0	1	0	1	0	0	3—6

Earned runs—Crescents, 2; Poughkeepsie, 1. First base by errors—Crescents, 2; Poughkeepsie, 1. Left on bases—Crescents, 6; Poughkeepsie, 6. First base on balls—Off Turner, 2; off Lee, 5. Struck out—By Turner, 6; by Lee, 4. Two-base hits—Sneden, Schlude. Sacrifice hits—Jones. Stolen bases—Hofford, (2), Heckman, Keenan. McLoughlin, McCloskey, Weeks, Daly. Hit by pitcher—By Turner, 1. Passed balls—Schlude, 1. Umpire—J. Dobbey. Time of game—2 hours.

AN OUT-OF-SIGHT JUSTICE.

Will Ever Another Equal This Record of V. W. Nash?

During his term of office as justice of the peace, Vincent W. Nash of this city has decided between 1,600 and 1,800 cases brought before him, yet on appeal to higher courts only two of his rulings have been changed.

New York and New Jersey papers please copy. THE PRESS is curious to know whether any other justice living can equal that record.

A Gift They Can't Use.

The new piano which the ladies of the Woman's Relief Corps, 10, presented to Winfield Scott post, recently, now stands in the post rooms, but none of the members can manipulate the ivories. Some of the ladies of the corps will have to call round and play it.

An Army of Men Besiege 'Ferd Fish for a Job in a Bath House.

Ferdinand Fish, who married a daughter of the late James M. Taylor of this city, and succeeded to the latter's extensive real estate business in New York, advertised yesterday morning as follows:

YOUNG MEN (4), steady, wanted at seashore bathing establishment. Apply before 9 30 a. m., Room D, 149 Broadway.

No. 149 Broadway is a large office building at the corner of Liberty street, and shortly before 8 o'clock squads of sturdy-looking fellows began to congregate on the sidewalk in front of the door. At 9:20 there were a thousand or more waiting, and soon the hallway leading to Room D was packed with a solid mass of humanity.

When Mr. Fish reached his office, he took in the situation at a glance, then rushed around to the Church street police station, and three policemen were sent to clear the street.

This was no easy matter, however, for the men refused to budge an inch, and Broadway was not cleared of the bath-house men until after 10.

Councillor Wilson.

At the annual and quarterly business meeting of Franklin council, 41, Jr. O. U. A. M., held Thursday night, the following officers were elected for the ensuing term:

Jr. Past Councillor—Chas. I. Young.
Councilor—Augustus Wilson.
Vice Councilor—F. Murton Lunger.
Recording Secretary, one year—David S. Dunavan.
Assistant Recording Secretary—Horace G. Adams.
Financial Secretary, one year—David Bodine.
Treasurer, one year—Firman A. Long.
Warden—Chester Force.
Conductor—William C. Force.
Inside Sentinel—Charles J. Newman.
Outside Sentinel—Jay V. Snyder.
Trustee, eighteen months—Elias R. Pope, jr.

These officers will be installed next week.

Commander Kriney.

An election of officers took place Friday night in Unity Lodge, Knights of Pythias. The following list were elected for the ensuing year:

C. C.—John Kriney.
V. C.—J. S. Jones.
P.—J. Snyder.
M. of W.—C. W. DeGraw.
M. of A.—B. D. Bigelow.
Trustees—J. S. Shepard and R. Thatcher.

Thinks It a Soft Snap.

(From The New Brunswick Home News.)

Editor Demarest, of the Plainfield Press, is to be congratulated on his appointment to a consulship in Canada; but Plainfield and the newspaper profession of the State can ill afford to lose so able a journalist and so public-minded a citizen. Still a $3,500 salary and a vice consul to assist him makes the appointment a soft snap for four years. It is said that there were some 600 applicants for the position. Mr. Walter Irving Clarke, a former attache of the HOME NEWS, is likely to succeed Mr. Demarest in the editorial chair of the Press.

YOUNG IRELAND'S NIGHT

A WITCHING SIGHT, AND LOTS OF MUSIC GLORIOUS.

The School Year O'er, Reward Galore for Students' Meritorious.

Bloom and beauty, such as Ireland is so prodigal of, in her children, made Music Hall a scene of brilliant enjoyment Thursday, when St. Mary's school gave public exhibition and excellent entertainment, in the closing exercises for the year.

That clever Irishman, Dr. A. Conan Doyle, himself a shining example of what the Irish race may become under education's influence, has displayed his great genius in an extraordinary book entitled "The Doings of Raffles Haw". This noble-minded billionaire of the odd name had a marvelous palace where at will in a twinkling one reveled in the indolent delights of India, the antiquities of Egypt, the sunny skies of Italy, or the well-kept English landscape. The beauty of it all was that everything was real and genuine, yet the lightning change was perfectly natural; there was no hocus-pocus or jugglery about it.

As in this fascinating book, so in the parochial school commencement was there a continual transmigration from bliss to bliss, by simple means yet in bewildering profusion. The rapid shifting of a scene, and the house full of people were enraptured by the sweet strains of Ireland's own music; a flash, and they were in fairyland sniffing the odors of countless of earth's fairest blossoms and reveling in the antics of a myriad of sprites; a blink of the eyelids, and they were transported to Japan to witness the dance of the timid almond-eyed maidens.

All of this magical effect was the pro*duct of most perfect management.* The good Sisters of the school, aided by competent assistants, had wrought well upon the young people in their charge, and they gave splendid showing of their training.

Silently rose the big curtain before the large and eager audience, and disclosed, in the soft emerald light of the calcium reflector, a stage filled with school girls, whose white gowns took well the tint of green. It was a very pretty picture, and the music of the song of greeting (Wekerlin's chorus "O'er Blooming Meadow") increased the pleasant impression.

Miss Kate Keenan had written an appropriate salutatory, which Fred Willby proceeded to render in most amusing fashion. This little mite of a man, whose knickerbockers and jacket were almost hidden in the big collar and ruffles of his shirtwaist, stepped out close by the footlights, and in clear, shrill tones and with manly and emphatic gestures spoke his speech.

Everyone enjoyed the piano duet of Misses Annie Roth and Mary Lynch, who played very effectively Jackson's "Rays of the Sun".

A well trained class of fifty girls gave in matchless concert recitation the dramatic story of "The Battle of Fontenoy" as told in verse by Davis.

Two charming dark-haired lasses, Miss Alicia McIntyre and Miss Elizabeth Day, gave Rubenstein's "The Angel" in choice duet. The sweet soprano and rich alto mingled in rarest unison.

The drama of "The Student and His Neighbors" afforded much amusement and gave the instructive moral that book-learning was a more excellent thing than worldly craft or foxy scheming. The characters were admirably portrayed as follows:

Deep Thought........Master Michael Glennon
Graball...........Master Thomas O'Keefe
Sobersense..........Master Joseph Burns
O'Mulligan..........Master John Owens
Noisybreath..........Master Edward Flynn
Swagger..........Master Joseph Connors
Steeplstop..........Master Joseph Galbraith
VanKoot..........Master Peter Ritter

In gay attire decked with streaming ribbons and tiny jingling bells, a host of school girls gave a hoop drill and dance which set every heart in tune with its rhythm.

In becoming gown of simple white, and with a tiny bow of white ribbon nestling in her fair and wavy hair, Miss Kate Cooley gave sweet and rich rendition of Mattei's "Hearest Thou".

Choir boys sang Gilmore's "Ireland to England" as only male voices can give such a spirited song.

One of the two graduates of the evening, Master John J. Daley, read a thoughtful essay on "Individual Influence", holding every man to be the architect of his own fortune, and showing that by making himself a power about him one's memory and influence would continue to posterity a blessing.

Surely never was an audience more enraptured than with the fantasy of Irish airs, given in faultless style and execution by Misses Ellen Kelly, Anna Roth and Mary Smith, on the piano, and Miss Allie Quinn on the violin. Ireland's matchless songs were mingled and blend*ed,* the gay, the sentimental, the rollicking, the grave. And the artists were as graceful and as near perfection as such soulful music deserved.

"The Boy's Complaint", an amusing description of youthful masculine woes, was very aptly given by James Finley. Then came a feast of beauty, the allegory "The Queen of a Night" and the "Dance of the Flowers".

In the center of the stage was a floral throne, to which, after pleasing dialogue of crocus, violet, pansy, snowball, wild rose and other dainty blossoms, the modest buttercup (Miss Nellie Walsh) was elected, and crowned with pretty ceremony. The shamrock was faithfully represented by the Misses Annie Daly, Lydia Hughes and Clara Lanning.

The costuming, dancing, evolutions, and all, made a most bewitching scene, and Miss Kittie Quinn conducted the music so that all was in perfect time.

"The Harp that Once Through Tara's Halls" was given most melodious *rendi*tion by Misses A. M'Intyre and K. Cooley, sopranos, and Misses E. Day and M. Smith, altos.

"Fifteen Minutes in Japan" was another delightful dance. Strings of Japanese lanterns swung in the breeze, and a score of bewitching maidens in correct oriental costume evoluted and frisked about to Mikado airs. This and the other dances of the evening gave high credit to Madame Ida Lream, the talented and experienced instructress, who arrayed the tasteful entertainments and trained the young people into their admirable proficiency. These dances were a favorite feature of the evening, though every number on the programme was unstintedly applauded. No encores, however, were responded to.

"National Influence" was the subject of the essay of Master Fred Hughes, the other of the two graduates. He dwelt particularly on the vast influence of America as a republic on other great nations, and paid glowing tribute to the Grand Old Man Gladstone, whose efforts combined with America's influence would ere long result in Ireland's freedom.

The announcement of the conferring of honors caused a bustle of expectation. To the Rev. Father P. E. Smyth Miss

The Constitutionalist,
A DEMOCRATIC WEEKLY.
W. L. FORCE & E. L. FORCE, Editors and Proprietors.
AT PLAINFIELD, NEW JERSEY.
TERMS—TWO DOLLARS A YEAR.

Kittie Quinn handed the prizes as awarded, who in turn gave them to meritorious students as the Rev. Father Murphy announced their names.

PRIZE WINNERS.

GRADUATING CLASS.
Diplomas awarded to Masters Frederick Hughes and John J. Daley.
First honors awarded to Master Hughes.
Second honors awarded to Master Daley.
For proficiency, a gold medal offered by Father Smyth—Fred Hughes.
For arithmetic, a gold medal offered by Father Smyth—John Daley.
Special prize in composition—Fred Hughes.

SENIOR CLASS.
For proficiency—Edna Phillips.
Arithmetic—Anna Roth.
Composition—Kate Keenan.

FIRST PREPARATORY.
Proficiency—Michael Glennon.
Arithmetic—George Kuhn.
Composition—Mary Leahy.

SECOND PREPARATORY.
Proficiency—Mary Smith.
Arithmetic—Mary Lynch.
Composition—Kate Carty.

THIRD PREPARATORY.
Proficiency—Mary Dowd.
Arithmetic—Joseph Connors.
Composition—Lizzie Flanagan.

FOURTH PREPARATORY.
Proficiency—Joseph Murphy.
Arithmetic—Larry Doyle.
Composition—John Galbraith.

SPECIAL PRIZES.
For maximum attendance and scholarship—Fred Hughes, Edward Flynn, Daniel O'Keefe, Anna Roth, Margaret Shannon.
For improvement in music—John Madden, Ellen Keely.
For improvement in sewing and attendance at sewing class, offered by Mrs. James Slevin—First prize, silver medal—Mary Motley. Second, work basket—Mary McDonald. Third, work basket—Ellen O'Keefe.

The school joined in Creswold's "Parting", a chorus sadly sweet, and Miss Alicia McIntyre sang a touching solo "Angels Guard Our Little Ones". The closing tableau was a lovely grouping of the young people. Some of the tiny tots, cherub-faced and curly-headed, sat in little rocking-chairs fondling their dollies. Bigger boys posed on hobby horses, or playing fife and drum. At the rear were sweet girls with fleecy white wings, breathing benediction over all.

A Thrilling Street Duel, and Dainty Maidens in Song and Magic.

At the Eden Musee a new wax group is now being arranged which will represent a street duel in Spain. It will be one of the most thrilling scenes ever produced and exhibited. The participants with long daggers in hand, will be at the point of making the final thrust which will decide the suitor for the fair hand in the window above. The object of this bloody tragedy looks down upon the scene in a state of half amazement and half fright, while her presence seems to enrage the participants to a point bordering on frenzy. The new uniform of Colonel of Hussars for Emperor William II. of Germany has arrived and now adorns the perfect likeness of the foremost sovereign of to-day. It was made by the court tailor at an expense to the Musee of $1,200. The stage performance is as interesting as ever, and the wonderful illusions of Chevalier Mystere Delprade have astounded thousands of people. Every new one he produces seems to excel the one before, and he seems to have an inexhaustible supply of wonders in store for the patrons of the Musee. No one as yet has discovered the key to the wonderful mind reading of Mons. Guibal and Miss Marie Greville, while the magic hand of the former defies optical detection, in his clever sleight-of-hand tricks. One of the most remarkable attractions of the stage performance is the act of Miss Adele Purvis Ouri in balancing and posing on a slack wire. She seems to defy the laws of gravity and equilibration, for she performs some feats that appear impossible to the audience. Miss Lizzie Derious Daly in her captivating rendition of the popular songs of the day is a magnetic attraction and she never fails to win her audience. After many years of labor the Eden Musee has succeeded in engaging the finest Hungarian Band in the world, led by Danko Gabor, a famous and renowned violinist, and under the management of Carl Biringer. The afternoon and evening programmes are brimful of charming airs, and repeated applause greets every selection rendered.

A Rich, Rare Treat for Plainfield.

Albert F. Venino to-day received a letter from Gustav Dannreuther, manager of the Beethoven String Quartette, assuring him of their hearty co-operation for his proposed subscription concerts. Vladimir de Pachmann, the greatest Chopin interpreter, will visit America in October, and will be heard in Plainfield in either the November or January concert. Plunkett Green does not arrive until January, and will be reserved for the last concert of the series. Arthur Friedheim, the favorite pupil of Liszt, has also been secured. This will be a great treat for Plainfield music-lovers. Such artists have never appeared here before. The most intimate friendship and esteem exists between these artists, and Mr. Venino alone makes their appearance here possible, as their prices are so very high that none but large cities can ordinarily afford to engage them.

The Only Kind of Humor Somerville Knows.

Under the choice heading "Perhaps It's What the Crescents Lacked", the Somerville Messenger comments because "a Mr. Smith is about to ask permission of the councils of the city and borough to build a public bath. The permission should be granted. When a man has such an eye for the eternal fitness of things as Mr. Smith, and is willing to make an effort to fill such a long-felt want, he should be tendered every possible encouragement. The 'Colorado of the East' would be benefited by a good bath. By all means, let them have it."

Second Edition of Panjandrum.

For the past fortnight unusual preparations have been in progress at the Broadway theater, New York city, by popular DeWolf Hopper and his clever associates, for the second edition of the gorgeous operatic spectacle, "Panjandrum", which was given at the theater for the first time last evening.

Many important changes, have been made by J. Cheever Goodwin and Woolson Morse, and the new edition shows a radical change from the present version, as the book has not only been entirely rewritten, but several new characters have been added, as well as many charming melodies to its really excellent score that have not been heard before.

Post 73 Will Want to Keep its Name

There is a movement on foot looking to the consolidation of Winfield Scott and Major Anderson posts, G. A. R., of this city. At the meeting of Post 73, Tuesday evening, a committee was appointed to consider the matter, with instructions to report at the next meeting. The question of changing the name of the new post, should the two consolidate, was also talked over, but it is not likely that the members of Post 73 will consent to a change of name.

The Constitutionalist.

W. L. FORCE, | A. L. FORCE
Editors and Proprietors.

THE SILVER BILL.

It is amusing to hear Republicans crying so lustily for the repeal of Senator Sherman's Silver Purchasing law, and their fault finding with President Cleveland because he did not convene Congress on brief notice to wipe the obnoxious measure out of existence.

Why did your party enact it, gentlemen?

It was pernicious legislation from top to bottom, and its effect has been to disorganize financial affairs, creating distrust and embarrassing business affairs throughout the entire country.

Why did you permit such a law to sully the statute book?

Your partisan representative in Congress, Mr. Conger, of Iowa, when presenting a favorable report to the House gave the bill this emphatic Republican endorsement:

"This measure will be given to the country, I am happy to say, by Republicans. It was agreed upon in conference by Republicans only. It was passed in yonder chamber only by Republican votes, and I suspect that it may pass here only by Republican votes. It will then go where it will be signed by a Republican President, and from there it will go to a country which, in November next, will give such a Republican endorsement that many of you gentlemen will not be found here to pass upon the next silver measure that may come before Congress. It is, Mr. Speaker, in line with Republican judgment and Republican policy."

That clearly reveals its political parentage.

President Cleveland has wisely summoned Congress to meet August 7, the earliest practicable date, when it is to be hoped that the people will be relieved from the incubus of degenerate legislation of all kinds.

INDEPENDENCE DAY.

We have just passed the one hundred and seventeenth anniversary of American Independence.

To compare the infant Republic of 1776 with the sturdy giant of 1893 is indeed marvelous.

The growth of our country in population, territorial expanse, material resources and inventive genius, excels all other realms in the world's history.

We have passed through many and severe ordeals, but thanks be to the God of our Fathers, the flag of prosperous and peaceful union floats triumphant, bearing forty-four in lieu of thirteen original stars, and the principles of '76 remain intact, the priceless heritage of over sixty million of freemen.

The Fourth of July has a meaning more eloquent than speech and more precious than wealth.

May each rolling year augment its moral grandeur and make stronger the bulwarks of human happiness.

LIGHTNING'S RAVAGES.

A Barn Damaged, and a Second Street Residence Burned.

During the violent electric storm of Monday evening lightning tore shingles from Matthew H. Brandon's barn, Evona, and set the roof ablaze. Policeman Krincy had a key in the nearest fire-alarm box, but an impromptu bucket brigade put out the blaze.

The house of Philip Cottrell, 176 East Second street, was struck by lightning. The bolt burned the cord of a window sash and ran down the wall to the kitchen, tearing plaster away.

$90 for Two Kicks.

Henry Burnet of Stirling, had an experience with one of his hired men that has given him cause to think twice before acting again in too hasty a manner. He gave John Small permission to cut two large apple trees that stood in his wheat field last winter, as they shaded the ground too much when in leaf. John cut the trees, and brought them home for firewood at the time. Farmer Burnet recently visited his wheat field and found the brush of the trees among his wheat. He was angry, and called on Mr. Small and demanded why the brush was not burned or taken off the field. Mr. Small said it was not in the agreement to burn it. He demanded that it be done at once. Small said he would not do it. Mr. Burnet then knocked Small down, and gave him a couple of kicks as a reminder of his alleged broken promises. Small had him brought before the Morris county court, where it cost him $90 for his pleasure of taking satisfaction out of Small. Burnet says it will be a long time before he kicks anyone again.

In Plainfield July 17 and 24.

District Deputy Grand Master Chas. W. Tallman and staff will visit the different lodges in this district and install their newly-elected officers, as follows:

Westfield Lodge, No. 169, Westfield, July 5.
Somerset Lodge, No. 43, Somerville, July 7.
Franklin Lodge, No. 9, Elizabeth, July 10.
Elizabethport Lodge, No. 116, Elizabethport, July 11.
Memorial Lodge, No. 165, Elizabeth, July 12.
Lawrence Lodge, No. 62, Perth Amboy, July 14.
Plainfield Lodge, No. 44, Plainfield, July 17.
Hesua Lodge, No. 145, Elizabeth, July 21.
Queen City Lodge, No. 228, Plainfield, July 24.
Essex County Lodge, No. 27, Rahway, July 28.
White House Lodge, No. 207, White House, July 31.

The Hired Man Took His Diamond.

A. E. Nelson, of Warrenville, had in his employ a young man by the name of Ed. Handrill. He recently discharged him, and on going to his room found that Handrill had taken his best suit of clothes, his watch and diamond pin.

Nelson says he will catch the young man if it takes a year. As he could not find him at his home it is probable he is in hiding.

A Pleasure Party's Mishap.

While Richard A. Boyce, of the Somerset House, was out riding yesterday with his mother and family, a wheel of his vehicle was wrecked on Front street, after leaving the street railway track opposite Mr. Serrell's. The ladies and children had the pleasure of walking home, and through the kind assistance of Mr. Serrell and Mr. Krincy the carriage was fixed up so that Mr. Boyce could get back with it. Nobody was hurt, but all were a little frightened.

Beat Captain Martin's Record.

Antonio Evans of the New Brunswick Bicycle club on Thursday established a new State record for the longest bicycle run in twenty-four hours. He covered 220 miles, beating the best previous record of 208 miles, made by F. L. C. Martin of Plainfield.

CHOIR BOYS IN CAMP.

The Holy Cross Singers Having a Jolly Good Time, Under Strict Military Discipline.

DAILY PRESS TENT,
CAMP SAUNDERS,
MERWIN'S POINT, CONN.

JULY 1—Our first day in camp is over, and things in general have settled down to a routine nature. Yesterday morning we got our breakfast at 8, and such a hungry lot of persons you never saw. The entire company was astir at 5 a. m., and you can perhaps imagine three hours of waiting for our first meal in the day, but when the good cook called us we responded most readily, and quickly devoured our portion, which was served in excellent style, and was exceptionally well cooked.

After breakfast, the boys attended morning prayer, and then amused themselves in various ways. Some went in bathing, some boating, and others wandered around. The bathing was very good, though the water was a little cold; those who went in enjoyed themselves hugely.

Mr. Miner keeps a watchful eye on the boys, and all dangers are avoided.

At 12 we had a good lunch, which was refreshing in the middle of the day.

We are divided into two sets, for meals, the tent not being large enough to accommodate all at once.

It was quite warm in the sun during the day, but a cool breeze was felt almost all the time.

After lunch, several of the boys had a game of ball, in one of the fields near camp, which was participated in heartily, and was quite warming.

The latter part of the day was spent in playing various games.

Mr. Miner was obliged to go to New Haven in the afternoon, and the camp is in charge of the older boys.

The officers of the day from yesterday till the close of camp are as follows:

Friday June 30—E. J. Waring.
Saturday July 1—E. D. Mackey.
Sunday July 2—Robert Clark.
Monday July 3—Herbert Schutt.
Tuesday July 4—Thomas Parks, George Westervelt.
Wednesday July 5—E. D. Clark.
Thursday July 6—Frank Perry.
Friday July 7—Frank Hoadley.

Following is the daily routine as made out by Mr. Miner:

6:30 a. m—Morning Call.
7 a. m.—Breakfast.
7:30 a. m—Morning Prayers.
8 a. m.—Orders for Day.
11:30 a. m.—Lunch Call.
12 m—Lunch.
5:30 p. m—Dinner Call.
6 p. m—Dinner.
8:45 p. m—Retiring Call.
9 p. m—Evening Prayers.
9:30 p. m—Lights.

With the above followed out, one can readily see that with pleasure the boys have good discipline, though not too strict.

Most of our company were very glad to hear that Yale had won the famous boat race. Mr. Miner brought us the news when he came back from New Haven at 5:30.

JULY 2—"Who are, who are we, camp Saunders '93!" This cry was given with much force last evening, and closed very appropriately the last day of the week, after which the call for "lights" was given.

To-day being Sunday, life about the camp is very quiet; not even a church bell is heard. The campers are observing the day in good style. Will Holmes was one of the late arrivals last evening. He will stay until Tuesday. John Steiner came Friday night. We expect some more on Monday, and by the 4th we will have a large crowd here.

Mr. Miner took ten of the boys to Naugatuck last night. They will sing in St. Michael's church to-day, and return to-morrow morning.

The weather has been especially favorable for outdoor living. Two or three times it has threatened rain, but eventually the clouds passed away.

While some of the boys were out Saturday evening they were invited to one of the cottages, where they were hospitably entertained.

On Tuesday there will be a game of ball between boys from the camp and those living here; also some athletic games. In the afternoon the choir will give a concert at the Pembroke hotel, and in the evening they will be entertained there.

Mr. Miner has secured a boat for the use of the boys while in camp. It arrived on Saturday in charge of Mr. Beulah of New Haven.

As the boys scatter themselves among the rocks along the shore, their voices can be heard singing familiar songs. These rocks line the whole shore; they are very large and rugged, and extend a long distance into the water. One can scramble a considerable distance from the beach on them.

Everybody is getting plenty to eat, and growing fat. Various good things are often missed from the cook's tent, and of course nobody knows anything about them. Saturday night there was a large bunch of bananas missing, and they never came back.

A very large crowd of people were here to-day from the surrounding places, Ansonia, New Haven, Milford, etc., some in wagons, and some on bicycles. Most of them brought their lunch, and it resembled a picnic very much.

JULY 3—As your correspondent sat in his tent writing this letter, several of the boys came around and offered suggestions, such as "If you put anything in about me, I'll put you through the mill."

To-day promises to be very warm, and no doubt there will be lots of bathing.

Mr. Miner is expected back to camp this morning, and he will probably have some programme for us for the day.

One of our number while at breakfast this morning had to be guarded by one of the boys with a club, so he could finish his meal.

Usually when we wake in the morning we find our water pails and basin jar, far away, and anything we wish to keep has to be watched very closely.

We were all quite tired this morning, and in consequence did not feel like getting out very early.

To-night will be made glorious from the fact of it being the eve of the National celebration. Plans are being made for a lively time.

Mr. Bond is expected to arrive to-day, with several of the boys from Naugatuck.

Everybody continues in good health. The boys all agree that this is the most successful camp ever held.

As I am writing this letter, Mr. Miner and the boys are just coming in the stage, and all are shouting and making themselves heard throughout the camp.

We are now getting ready to have our picture taken. DOBBINS.

—Mamie Warren, a nurse at the City Hotel, has gone to Asbury Park.

—Bids are to be advertised for, for putting electric fixtures into the new fire-department house.

—A stage load of young people from this city enjoyed the Fourth on a picnic to New Providence.

—At the request of captain Grant, $225 has been appropriated to buy new uniforms for the police.

—The ordinance to extend the flagging limits of Central avenue was adopted on final passage Monday night.

—Hereafter Somerville and Bound Brook papers will appear on the tables at the Plainfield Y. M. C. A. rooms.

—The annual report of the public library directors shows receipts of $6,621.55, and a balance of $5,303.30 on hand.

—President Ginna and councilmen Bird, Erickson, Fisk, Millington and Weber attended the common council meeting Monday night.

A BLAZE OF BEAUTY AND GLORY.

SUPERB CELEBRATION BY THE PARK AND COUNTRY CLUBS.

The Heavens Adorned With Showers of Colored Fires and Golden Rain—Vast Pleasure to Both Guests and Outsiders Alike.

The evening celebration of the Fourth at the Park club was in every way delightful. The grounds were illuminated by scores of gay Japanese lanterns, and the house was thronged with merrymakers. The charming patronesses received the guests, and ample seats were provided for a good view of the pyrotechnic display on the tennis courts. A large crowd of outsiders thronged the street and bridge and enjoyed the spectacle. Everything went off in perfect order, and the exhibition was one of the most tastefully arranged and pleasing ones within the power of a private club to give. After the fireworks, refreshments were to be had, and all merrily danced the evening hours away. The wealth and fashion of the borough were well represented, and many guests from Plainfield attended. That most handsome, cultured and agreeable of gentlemen, B. A. Hegeman, jr., was given profuse thanks by the delighted throng, for his superb management of the event. He was cleverly assisted by George C. Evans, George P. Dupee, George D. Hallock and Augustus Van-Deventer.

The patronesses were:

Mrs. Sam'l Townsend,	Mrs. James T. Scott,
Mrs. Samuel St.J. McCutchen,	Mrs. Aug. VanDeventer
	Mrs. B. A. Hegeman, jr.,
Mrs. Morgan S. Taylor,	Mrs. Geo. D. Hallock,
Mrs. George P. Dupee,	Mrs. Chas. A. Reed,
Mrs. George C. Evans,	Mrs. Edward S. Hooley,
Mrs. Wm. L. Saunders,	Miss Ida Musgrave,
Mrs. Wm. J. Roome,	Mrs. Walter M. McGee,
Mrs. Henry A. McGee.

THE COUNTRY CLUB.

At 9 last night fully 500 people had assembled at the Union County Country club-house to witness the display of fireworks that the committee had provided for the club and its guests. The Casino chairs were arranged in rows on the tennis courts, and every seat was filled by 8:45. After those who had been invited by the club had obtained seats, the doors were opened, and all who were watching through the back nets of the tennis courts were admitted to the grounds. The display was one of the finest ever seen in Plainfield, but notwithstanding the fact that the pieces were set up and fired by professionals, two of the most elaborate set pieces failed to go off properly. The rockets and mines, however, were very effective, and called forth rounds of applause. One set piece was particularly appropriate to the occasion. It consisted of a transparency of Washington surrounded by thirteen stars, around which were placed roman candles that threw fiery contents out in a halo around the hero's head. The display lasted until 9:30, when the guests adjourned to the Casino and danced until midnight. The floor was perfect, as it had been scraped under the able superintendence of Charles Fisk, and rubbed down until it was smooth as glass. The piazzas were prettily lighted by Chinese lanterns, and the little groups of young people who, seated under their rosy light, regaled themselves with ices and rested from the fatigues of the dancing room, made a pleasing picture for those who had retired to the rocking chairs on the tennis courts for contemplation and the enjoyment of a cigarette. Supper was served with a promptness usual when Mr. Werts has the arrangements in charge, and everyone was back on the floor in short order, making the most of the dancing. The guests were loath to leave, and the last dance was gone through with as much vigor as those earlier in the evening.

Among those present were:

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Fisk, Mr. and Mrs. Pliny Fisk, Mr. and Mrs Aleck Fisk, Mr. Ritchie of Trenton, Miss Berge, of Louisville, Mr. and Mrs. J. Parker Mason, Miss Corlies, Mrs. Virginia B. Hart, Miss Lena Hart, Howard Beebe, Mr. and Mrs. Orville T. Waring, Mr. and Mrs. L. Gouverneur Timpson, Miss May Waring, Miss Florence Waring, Mr. and Mrs. William E. Lowe, Miss Lotta Lowe, Henry Lowe, Mr. and Mrs. John W. Murray, Mr. and Mrs. John W. Murray, jr., Mr. and Mrs. Roger Murray, Miss Fay Hawley, Mr. Hawley, Miss Gertrude Walz, Miss Bertie McKinney, Fred Walz, Miss Annie Opdyke, Charles W. Opdyke, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Bushnell, Mr. and Mrs. John Bushnell, Miss Bushnell, Mr. and Mrs. Middledith, Miss Maud Middledith, Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Adams, the Misses Tracy, Miss Lillian Erskine, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Stewart, Percy Stewart, Mr. and Mrs. H. G. Runkle, Dr. and Mrs. Endicott, Mr. and Mrs. H. P. Reynolds, Mr. and Mrs. George A. Goddard, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Raymond, Miss Fairbairn and Mr. Worth of Westfield, Mr. and Mrs. G. Harry Squires, Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Brooks, Mrs. Sterling, Mr. and Mrs. Garigue, Miss Carrie Streuli, Mr. Streuli, Miss Lawrence, Miss Clara Findley, Mr. and Mrs. August Kleinecke, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Depew, Miss Depew, Mr. and Mrs. John Drayton, Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Burnet, the Misses Burnet, Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Kaufman, Mr. and Mrs. George W. Van Boskerck, Mr. and Mrs. Wilcox, Miss Butler, Mayor and Mrs. Alexander Gilbert, Mr. and Mrs. Frank O. Herring, Mr. and Mrs. Fred. H. Andrews, Miss Anthony, J. S. Anthony, Miss Edith Taylor, Mr. and Mrs. Lawson, Mr. and Mrs. B. O. Bowers, Mr. and Mrs. Craig Marsh, Miss Ada Marsh, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Ladd, Miss Evans, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Fleming, Mrs. Dorman, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Ely, Miss Carrie Vail, Mr. and Mrs. Clifton Wharton, jr., Roger Erickson, Harry West, Sherwood West, Russel Burke, Henry Talmadge, Frank Hyde, Robert Farlee and George Farlee of New York, Ralph Opdyke, Harry Opdyke, Lawrence Van Buren, George Schoonmaker, Captain Schoonmaker, J. H. P. Wharton, E. J. Patterson, Rowland Cox, Dr. Field and W. E. Stiger.

—At the solicitation of Mr. Ginna's Bethel chapel, Mr. Ginna's common council has authorized the laying of a cross-walk at Fifth and Washington streets.

—To the fire and buildings committee has been referred the application of M. S. Simpson to move a frame building at Fifth and Liberty streets to the rear of the lot.

—Another incendiary attempt was made at Somerville Sunday, when a blaze was started in the Messenger newspaper office. Luckily the flames were subdued in time.

A Physiological Study.

Mrs. Slimdiet—I do have such a time getting my boarders up in the morning. I've tried bell ringing, gong banging, door knocking and everything.

Boarder—That shows that the sense of hearing is not easily aroused in sleeping persons.

"I should say it wasn't."

"No; there's no doubt on that subject. Try awakening the sense of smell."

"Smell? But how?"

"I think the odor of a broiling porterhouse steak might be effective."—N. Y. Weekly.

School for Scandal.

Mrs. Murray Hill—How hideous Miss Blakely looked in that bonnet.

Mrs. Manhattan Beach—I thought it was very becoming. At least the trimming was very appropriate.

Mrs. Murray Hill—I didn't notice the trimming.

Mrs. Manhattan Beach—The bonnet was trimmed with ivy leaves. Ivy is very appropriate. It only clings to old ruins.—Texas Siftings.

HILL'S

REMEMBER we guarantee a cure and invite the most careful investigation as to our responsibility and the merits of our Tablets.

READ OUR TESTIMONIALS

Double Chloride of Gold Tablets

Will completely destroy the desire for TOBACCO in from 3 to 5 days. Perfectly harmless; cause no sickness, and may be given in a cup of tea or coffee without the knowledge of the patient, who will voluntarily stop smoking or chewing in a few days.

DRUNKENNESS and MORPHINE HABIT can be cured at home, and without any effort on the part of the patient, by the use of our SPECIAL FORMULA GOLD CURE TABLETS.

During treatment patients are allowed the free use of Liquor or Morphine until such time as they shall voluntarily give them up.

We send particulars and pamphlet of testimonials free, and shall be glad to place sufferers from any of these habits in communication with persons who have been cured by the use of our Tablets.

HILL'S TABLETS are for sale by all first-class druggists at $1.00 per package.

If your druggist does not keep them, enclose us $1.00 and we will send you, by return mail, a package of our Tablets.

Write your name and address plainly, and state whether Tablets are for Tobacco, Morphine or Liquor Habit.

DO NOT BE DECEIVED into purchasing any of the various nostrums that are being offered for sale. Ask for HILL'S TABLETS and take no other.

Manufactured only by

—THE—
OHIO CHEMICAL CO.,
51, 53 & 55 Opera Block,
LIMA, OHIO.

PARTICULARS FREE.

TOBACCO HABIT EASILY CURED.

A FEW Testimonials from persons who have been cured by the use of Hill's Tablets.

THE OHIO CHEMICAL CO.: DEAR SIR:—I have been using your cure for tobacco habit, and found it would do what you claim for it. I used ten cents worth of the strongest chewing tobacco a day, and from one to five cigars; or I would smoke from ten to forty pipes of tobacco. Have chewed and smoked for twenty-five years, and two packages of your Tablets cured me so I have no desire for it. B. M. JAYLORD, Leslie, Mich.

DOBBS FERRY, N. Y. THE OHIO CHEMICAL CO.:—GENTLEMEN:—Some time ago I sent for $1.00 worth of your Tablets for Tobacco Habit. I received them all right and, although I was both a heavy smoker and chewer, they did the work in less than three days. I am cured. Truly yours, MATHEW JOHNSON, P. O. Box 45.

PITTSBURGH, PA. THE OHIO CHEMICAL CO.:—GENTLEMEN:—It gives me pleasure to speak a word of praise for your Tablets. My son was strongly addicted to the use of liquor, and through a friend, I was led to try your Tablets. He was a heavy and constant drinker, but after using your Tablets but three days he quit drinking, and will not touch liquor of any kind. I have waited four month before writing you, in order to know the cure was permanent. Yours truly, MRS. HELEN MORRISON.

CINCINNATI, OHIO. THE OHIO CHEMICAL CO:—GENTLEMEN:—Your Tablets have performed a miracle in my case. I have used morphine, hypodermically, for seven years, and have been cured by the use of two packages of your Tablets, and without any effort on my part. W. L. LOTEGAY.

RESPONSIBLE AGENTS WANTED

Address all Orders to
THE OHIO CHEMICAL CO.,
51, 53 and 55 Opera Block. LIMA, OHIO.
(In writing please mention this paper.)

THE NEW REICHSTAG.

President and Vice-Presidents Chosen To-day.

Von Levetzow is the New Presiding Officer—Favorable Comments on the Emperor's Speech of Yesterday.

BERLIN, July 5.—When the Reichstag convened to-day Herr Von Levetzow, Conservative, was elected president; Baron Von Buol-Berenberg, Clerical, first vice president; and Professor Von Marquardsen, National Liberal, second vice-president.

Most of the newspapers comment favorably on the Emperor's speech in opening the Reichstag. It was much more conservative and pacific than had been anticipated in many quarters. While reading the speech the Emperor was frequently interrupted by applause. He said in part:

Honored Gentlemen:

"Since you have been called in common to work for the Federal Government, I desire to welcome you upon entering on your deliberations. A bill concerning the peace footing of the army, which was submitted to the former Reichstag, to my regret did not find approval. It was the unanimous conviction, shared by all my high confederates, that the Empire no longer could afford to renounce the development of the army system necessary to guarantee the future safety of the Empire. In face of the development of military institutions, the rejection of the Army bill was bound to lead to the resolution to dissolve the Reichstag and order new elections. Since the first introduction of the bill the political situation in Europe has experienced no change. The relations of the Empire with other powers are thoroughly friendly and free from all clouds. The proportion of Germany's organized military strength has, however, changed for the worse during the past year when compared with that of our neighbors. If already Germany's geographical position and historical development lay upon us the duty to maintain a relatively strong army, then a further increase in the military strength of the Empire becomes a forcible necessity to satisfy the duties laid upon me by the constitution. I consider that all the means at our disposal must be utilized in order to establish an effective defence of the Fatherland.

"You will receive immediately a new bill regarding the peace footing of the army, in which there will be taken into account as far as possible certain desires expressed during the discussion of the late bill. Consequently, diminished demands are made upon the personal capacities and tax-bearing power of the people as far as possible without endangering the efficiency of the army. The Empire's interest requires, especially in view of the end of the septennate next spring, that the bill be passed with the utmost dispatch, so that the new recruits calls may be made in the autumn on the new basis. Delay would influence most unfavorably our strength for more than twenty years.

"With a view to enabling you to devote undivided attention to the discussion of the bill the Government will not in the meantime introduce any other measures.

"I and my high confederates remain convinced that the means for the new organization can be procured, without overburdening the country, on the basis of the financial bill introduced in the Reichstag last autumn. At the opening of the winter session a bill will be presented directed to obtaining means according to the capability of the taxpayers. Until then the increased costs will be covered by the federated States through matriculation payments.

"Gentlemen: With great sacrifices Germany has been united in one Empire. The nation honors most those who staked their blood and property on this work, which led the Fatherland to prosperity. To safeguard the glorious achievements with which God has blessed us in our battle for independence is our most sacred duty. This duty we can only fulfil if we make ourselves strong enough to remain surety for Europe's peace.

"I trust you will not fail to give me and my confederates your patriotic sacrifices and willing support in striving for these aims."

The Tageblatt, Radical Unionist, calls the Emperor's speech a special plea for the Army bill.

The Vossische Zeitung, Radical, says the speech confirms the former opinions of Radicals that the reduction of the original demands of the bill was possible. The writer regrets that the Emperor omitted to give the assurance that no new taxes should be imposed on the less wealthy classes. "In this direction," says the writer, "the Reichstag must insist upon more binding pledges.

CABLE BRIEFS

The Pope has given 500,000 francs to be used in spreading the propaganda of the faith in foreign countries.

The Russian cruiser Vladivostock is reported to be aground on a rock, a three day's sail from Port Lazaref, Corea. She will probably become a wreck

PAPIAC.

(Boynton Beach,)

OPEN SATURDAY,
June 17.

6 15-tf-p c

E. C. Morris Safe Co
Incorporated. Capital $250,000.
Successors to E. C. Morris & Co.
64 Sudbury St., Boston, Mass.
FIRE AND BURGLAR-PROOF SAFES.

Bank Safes, Bank Vaults, Bank Vault Doors and Deposit Work of all kinds. The Best Safe in the World. 150,000 in use. Always preserve their contents. Champion Record in all the Great Fires. One of the largest and best equipped factories in the country has just been erected near Boston, fitted with the latest and most improved tools, which render facilities for manufacturing the best work at the lowest prices, unequalled by any other concern in the country. Our aim is to give the best construction and most improvements for the least amount of money. Estimates and specifications furnished upon application. AGENTS WANTED.
7-p-e

Mullins & Co

218 and 220 Market Street,

NEWARK, N. J.

The Leading Furniture and Carpet House in the State.

OUR PRICES ARE THE LOWEST.

WHY?

We have no exorbitant rental expenses, for we own our buildings and everything in them. We buy in the best markets, get the largest discounts and are satisfied with reasonable profits.

Oak Chamber Suit $12.

Our assortment of Furniture, Carpets, Baby Carriages, Refrigerators, Cooking Stoves and almost everything for housekeeping are worth seeing, whether you purchase or not.

CARPETS.

Wilton, Axminster, Moquette, Velvet, Body and Tapestry Brussels and Ingrain Carpets, Linoleum, Oilcloth, Cocoa and China Matting, in latest designs and choicest colorings.

Miscellaneous.

Baby Carriages, Stoves, Ranges, Cooking Utensils, Window Shanes, Pictures, Clocks, Chenille and Lace Curtains at

The Best Terms of Any House in the State

BRANCH STORES | 78 to 84 Myrtle ave., Brooklyn, N. Y.
121 to 125 Newark ave., Jersey City.
213 Main st., Paterson, N. J.

3 30 3m

We Have Now In Stock

The largest and best assortment of

$12 BUSINESS SUITS

that we have ever manufactured. They are the latest styles of Plain and Fancy Cheviots, Cassimere Suitings, Black Thibets, etc., and the most of these styles have never been sold before for less than $15 per suit. Our

$12 BLUE SERGE SUITS

Are made from Indigo Blue Serges, color guaranteed and we recommend these as the most comfortable, serviceable and stylish suits for summer wear

Kilpatrick & Betts,
745 and 747 Broad Street,
Newark.
Near Academy street.
30 3m

DO YOU COUGH
DON'T DELAY
TAKE KEMP'S BALSAM
THE BEST COUGH CURE

Cures Colds, Coughs, Sore Throat, Croup, Influenza, Whooping Cough, Bronchitis and Asthma. A certain cure for Consumption in first stages, and a sure relief in advanced stages. Use at once. You will see the excellent effect after taking the first dose. Sold by dealers everywhere. Large bottles 50 cents and $1.00.

CANNON'S
MARKET, MULBERRY, MECHANIC STS
NEWARK.

Cobbler-Seat Rockers

Quarter-Sawed Antique Oak.
Elegant Piano Polish.
Embossed Sole Leather Seat.
It will never wear out.
(SAME AS CUT.)

$4.90.

Would be Cheap at $6.00.

CARPETS!

Nowhere else can you be so well pleased both in assortment and price.

Matting • Special.
100 pieces Jointless Damask Matting
27½c. yard.
Regular 40c. per yard.

Plain Figures,
One Price,
Cash or Credit.

LARGEST HOUSE OUTFITTERS IN NEW JERSEY

COOPER'S FLORAL DENTINE.

So popular with the Ladies for rendering their teeth pearly white. With the cleanliness for cleansing their teeth and perfuming the breath. It removes all traces of tobacco smoke. Is perfectly harmless and delicious to the taste. Sent by mail for 25c. At all dealers. Send 2c. stamp for sample to

F. COOPER & HARDENBURGH, Chemists, Kingston, N. Y.

Lady Agent Wanted

To sell Miss Harriet Hummel's unequaled Toilet Preparations for hair and complexion; large profits. Apply at 402 West 6th street.
6 14 m-m w-e

EXECUTOR'S SETTLEMENT.

Notice is hereby given, that the account of the subscriber, executor and trustee under the will of Frederick F. Chase, deceased, will be audited and stated by the Surrogate, and reported for settlement to the Orphans' Court of the county of Union, on Wednesday, the thirteenth day of September next. CRAIG A. MARSH.
Dated July 1, 1893. 7 4 10

MASTER'S SALE.

By virtue of a decree made by the Court of Chancery of the State of New Jersey bearing date the twenty-fourth day of June A. D. eighteen hundred and ninety-three, in a certain cause pending in the Court of Chancery of New Jersey wherein James Smith is complainant and Mary J. Bartine et als are defendants, I, John D. Bartine, one of the Special Masters of the Court of Chancery of New Jersey, duly appointed and commissioned to make said sale and all necessary things pertaining thereto, will sell at public auction to the highest bidder on the premises at Murray Hill, in Union County, New Jersey, on Monday, the seventh (7) day of August next, between the hours of twelve and five o'clock, to wit, at two o'clock in the afternoon of said day, all those two tracts or parcels of land and premises hereinafter particularly described, situate, lying and being in the township of New Providence, in the County of Union and State of New Jersey:

The First Tract—Lying south of the Stony Hill Road. Beginning at an iron stake in the middle of the road leading from New Providence to Scotch Plains at a corner of land lately purchased by Charles F. Smith, and running thence along the line of said Charles F. Smith south six and a quarter degrees east thirty-seven chains and eighty-seven links more or less to a stake for a corner in line of Ann Bartie; thence along Ann Bartie north eighty-seven and a-half degrees west fourteen chains and thirty-six links to a butternut tree for a corner; thence along the Bartie estate north one and a-half degrees east thirty-two chains and forty-four links to a stake in the middle of said road; thence along the middle of said road (1) north seventy degrees east four chains; thence (2) north sixty degrees east six chains and sixty-two links to the iron pin, the place of beginning. Containing forty-one and ninety-hundredths acres more or less.

The Second Tract—Lying north of the Stony Hill Road. Beginning at a stake in the middle of the road leading from New Providence to Scotch Plains in line of (formerly) Jotham Potter's land; thence running along the line of said Potter's land north one degree east seven chains and fifty links, more or less, to a stone heap for a corner in an old Tier line and line of (formerly) Wilcox; thence along said Tier line and line (formerly) Wilcox south eighty-eight and a quarter degrees east seven chains and eighty-six links, more or less, to line of (formerly) Elias Clark; thence along said Elias Clark's line to a stake in the middle of said road; thence along the middle of said road three courses and distances; (1) south sixty degrees west three chains and forty-eight links more or less; (2) south seventy degrees west four chains; (3) south sixty-five and a-half degrees west two chains and forty-seven links to the place of beginning. Containing four acres and seventy-five hundredths acres more or less.

Being the land and premises of which William Smith died, seized; including the estate and interest in dower of the defendants, Christina Smith and Martha Smith, in said premises, together with all and singular, the hereditaments and appurtenances to the said premises belonging or in any wise appertaining.

J. D. BARTINE,
Special Master in Chancery of New Jersey.
GEO. V. VANDERVEER, Sol'r.
Dated June 29, 1893.
CASH. fees $14.40 7 6 wk

THE PLAINFIELD
PACKING HOUSE
25 West Front Street,

Would respectfully inform its patrons that in addition to its usual stock of

Fresh, Salt and Smoked Goods,

It has added a full line of

Fresh Beef, Lamb,
Veal, Mutton & Poultry,

Which it is prepared to sell at
Reasonable Prices!

All goods delivered free of charge.
Telephone 141.
C. M. ULRICH.

At Half Prices

N. B.—Notice the first name, AMOS and No. 73, before entering the store.

AMOS H. VANHORN.
LIMITED,
73 MARKET STREET,

GREAT
MIDSUMMER SALE
AT HALF PRICES.

Moquette, per yard only	75c
Velvet carpet, per yard only	75c
Body Brussels carpet per yard only	75c
Tapestry Brussels carpet, per yard only	50c
All-wool ingrain carpet, per yard only	50c
Three ply carpet, per yard only	65c
Parlor suits in plush, 6 pieces, mahogany finished frames, only	$27
Parlor suits, mahogany finished frames, in rug covering, only	$37
Antique oak bedroom suits, reduced from $20 down as low as	$13

Hotels, Summer Resorts and Summer Boarding Houses will always find a large line of goods at my establishment, and at low prices and easy terms.

Fancy Matting, large stock and low prices. Best makes of Refrigerators at the lowest prices.

Telephone 580. Terms to suit purchasers Car fare paid. Goods delivered free of charge to all parts of the state.

BOOK ACCOUNT OPENED IF DESIRED.

Telephone 580! Elevator to Every Floor!

Goods Delivered FREE OF CHARGE to All Parts of the State!

AMOS H. VAN HORN.
LIMITED.
My only place of Business is at
73 Market Street,
Near Plane St., Newark, N. J.
NO BRANCH STORES.
10-5-1y

TOWNSEND'S
Marble & Granite Works,
30 SOMERSET STREET,
PLAINFIELD, N. J.

If you have not engaged your work, I should be pleased to do it for you.

I buy only first-class Marble and Granite and do not sell unless at prices that will enable me to put up the work with credit to myself and justice to the parties purchasing.

I employ no agents and therefore am enabled to make a reduction in the price of my work to the customer, of the commission generally paid to agents.

I am under a very small expense in running my shop, myself and my son doing the larger portion of the work, and we personally attend to the setting of all work, and look upon business in this light, that Good Work and Good Material, at Fair Prices, is a standing advertisement for my business, which will tend to build up trade, and I feel safe to warrant that no dealer can sell you the same work and same stock any cheaper than I can.

Hoping to be favored with your patronage, I am yours respectfully,

J. E. TOWNSEND,
Manager. 8 11 tf
Branch Yard Westfield, N. J.

FURS
And all kinds of wearing apparel
STORED
And insured against all damage by fire or moth.
Repairing and re-dyeing of Furs should be done during the summer months.

GEO. C. TREADWELL CO.
SUCCESSORS TO
W. H. AND R. BURNETT,
17 Academy st., Newark. 5 11 4

Scientific American Agency for

PATENTS
CAVEATS, TRADE MARKS, DESIGN PATENTS, COPYRIGHTS, etc.

For information and free Handbook write to MUNN & CO., 361 BROADWAY, NEW YORK. Oldest bureau for securing patents in America. Every patent taken out by us is brought before the public by a notice given free of charge in the

Scientific American

Largest circulation of any scientific paper in the world. Splendidly illustrated. No intelligent man should be without it. Weekly, $3.00 a year; $1.50 six months. Address MUNN & CO., PUBLISHERS, 361 Broadway, New York City.

Dime Savings Institution
OF PLAINFIELD, N. J.

Is now receiving deposits payable on demand, with interest at the rate of three (3) per cent. per annum payable semi-annually.

JOHN W. MURRAY, President,
WILLIAM WHITE, Vice "
NATHAN HARPER, " "
ELIAS R. POPE, Treasurer.

NEWARK
BEE-HIVE

Things Sold There That Make The Great Store It is.

STOCK LIST No. 15.

CUT OUT AND SAVE FOR REFERENCE.

RIBBONS

Satin and Gros-Grain, 5-16 to 5 in. wide.
Gros Grain, plain and satin edge, ½ in. to 3½ in. wide.
Moire Ribbon, ¾ in. to 3½ in.
Moire, with picot edge, ½ in. to 2½ in.
Taffeta Gros Grain, 3 in. to 5 in.
Cord Edge Ribbons, ¾ to 2½ in.
Ruching Ribbons, 1¼ in. wide.
Loop Edge Ribbons in black, white and cream, 1½ in. wide.
Silk Taffeta, black and white, No. 1.
Satin Taffeta, Nos. 2 and 3.
Gros Grain, plain and picot edge, No. 1.
Velvet Ribbons, linen and satin back, all widths.
Double-face Satin Ribbons, all widths.
Black Armure Gros Grain, Bengaline and and Taffeta Mourning Ribbons.
Red, White and Blue Ribbons, ¾ in. to 2½ in.
Flag Ribbons, 1½ in. wide.
Pleated Ribbons in all colors.
Satin and Gros Grain Sash Ribbons, 7 and 9 in. wide.
Moire Sash Ribbons, 8, 9 and 12 in. wide.
Gros Grain Sash Ribbons, 7, 8, 9 and 10 in. wide.
Ladies' Surah Silk Sashes, with silk knotted Fringe, $1.49 to $4.98.
Children's Surah Silk Sashes, 69c. to $2.98.
Black and White Striped Ribbons.
Blue and White Striped and Polka-Dot Ribbons.
SEASONABLE NOVELTIES IN FANCY RIBBONS.
PRICES THE LOWEST IN THE LAND, QUALITY CONSIDERED.

NO BRANCH STORES.

L. S. PLAUT & CO.
707 to 721 BROAD STREET,
NEWARK, N. J.

SAMPLES CHEERFULLY SENT and mail orders promptly filled.

Our immense assortment allows the matching of almost every shade.

NOTICE. June 3, 1893.

Estate of Harriet N. Case, Deceased.

Pursuant to the order of George T. Parrot, Surrogate of the county of Union, this day made, on the application of the undersigned, administrator of said deceased, notice is hereby given to the creditors of said deceased to exhibit to the subscribers under oath or affirmation their claims and demands against the estate of said deceased within nine months from this date, or they will be forever barred from prosecuting or recovering the same against the subscriber.

JOSEPH D. CASE,
Administrator.
6 3 10

CITY DEPARTMENT.

OFFICIAL PAPER OF THE STATE, THE COUNTY AND THE CITY, AND HAS THE LARGEST CIRCULATION OF ANY PAPER PUBLISHED IN THE COUNTY OF UNION.

J. A. DEMAREST - - City Editor.

—The expressmen and mail carriers find it difficult to locate houses according to the new numbers.

—George Moore suggests that a section of East Front street because of its Negro pool shops and resorts, be called East Thompson street.

—The Golden Rule circle, King's Daughters, cleared $20 for the Fresh Air Fund, by their recent rose festival at 68 and 70 Westervelt avenue.

—The common council will meet again Monday evening, July 17, at 8, to consider such matters as the improvement of Madison avenue and the new fire building.

—Dr. C. R. Thiers has sold out his stock in Stomatine to the other shareholders, and is now paid a royalty by the company on his patent of the mouthwash.

—The application of E. P. Thorn to place an iron drinking trough in front of his place, 125 Park avenue, has been referred to the committee on streets, with power.

—A fire-alarm box is likely to be placed at Liberty and Second streets. Fifty citizens petitioned for it, and the committee on fire and buildings was given power to put it up.

—The Potter Press and Scott Press representatives at the World's Fair all observe Sunday as the Sabbath and keep their exhibits covered and roped in from inspection.

—Grace A. Tingley has been granted permission to move her frame building at 405 West Fourth street to a different location on the same premises, for the purpose of improvement.

—The first chance this year to enjoy the delights of Asbury Park amid a host of Plainfield friends will be afforded Friday, when the Crescent Avenue people run their annual excursion.

—A. M. Runyon is planning to erect a two-story extension, 14x16 feet, to his house, 420 Madison avenue. The committee on fire and buildings has been given power in the matter.

—There was great sport at Dunellen and New Market over the old-fashioned celebration of the Fourth. Two hundred Plainfielders attended by train, and many more went by wagon and wheel.

—An ordinance was adopted on second reading and ordered engrossed and advertised, Monday evening, to macadamize North avenue from Richmond street to Berckman, to a width of 40 feet.

—If you haven't had the number changed on your house or store, you would better get it done at once, as the authorities mean to enforce the ordinance. The time for changing is a month past.

—The Silver Leaf Glee club, an organization of Negro singers, will give their first cakewalk and ball in T. A. B. hall Thursday, August 17. They purpose making an annual feature of such amusements.

—John A. Thickstun has received the contract for curbing the gutters and flagging the sidewalk on the Park avenue side of the Park Avenue church, and as soon as grade stakes are set will begin the work.

—A number of children in town have been poisoned by too much strawberries. The afflicted little ones have faces and hands badly broken out. The physicians in charge say that the fruit also causes rheumatism.

—The Emmanuel Baptist church will give a tent sociable and lawn party on their new grounds on Richmond street, east of Third, Thursday evening, July 13. An ancient gypsy camp and a Rebecca's well will be features.

—THE PRESS cat is nothing if not patriotic, and she celebrated the great holiday by presenting five Fourth of July kittens to the staff. The little ones are very lively, and maltese Ruth is kept very busy supplying their needs.

—Harry Bush, an employe of Ran Thorn, was prostrated by sunstroke while tinning the roof on Sandford's barn, West Seventh street, Monday morning. He was taken home in a carriage and attended by Dr. Tomlinson.

—The street committee of the council has been authorized to lay crosswalks at West Ninth street and Madison avenue, West Eighth street and Madison avenue, Madison avenue and West Eighth street, and Elm street and Orange.

—A gray-haired man ran across the tracks just in time to keep from being hit by an east-bound Blue Line flyer, at the North avenue station, Tuesday afternoon. He was warned of the near approach of the train, and only crossed the track a second or two before the engine went thundering by.

ANOTHER TIE TOURNEY.

Magnificent Tennis Exhibition at the Hillside Club.

On the grounds of the Hillside Tennis club, Tuesday, was seen some of the best tennis that has ever been played in Plainfield. The Nahant tournament brought large numbers of people, both morning and afternoon, and by 4 p. m. every desirable standpoint was taken. Play was begun at 9 a. m., and many of the less interesting sets were played off in the morning. As the afternoon went on it looked very much as if Albert Simmonds and Carl Walz would win the prettily engraved solid-silver shoehorns that the club had provided as prizes. They had 7 wins to their credit, and no defeats, while H. V. Ryder and Fred Fish, jr., were a good second with 7 wins and 1 defeat. The last match, however, changed the aspect of things, for the West brothers, playing in splendid form, won a match from Simmonds and Walz amidst the vociferous applause of the onlookers. It was an exhibition of the prettiest tennis that has ever been played on these courts. The first set went to Simmonds and Walz, the Wests winning the first two games, their opponents the next 4. The Wests then made it 4 all, and Simmonds and Walz took the next 2, making 4-6. The next set went to the Wests, after a hard fight, 7-5, and in the ensuing and deciding set the Wests outplayed their opponents in every way, beating by a score of 6-2. Sherwood West's terrific smashes from the middle of the court, and Henry West's placing and swift drives, proved entirely too much for their opponents, and the prospects of the tournament were suddenly changed and play was stopped, leaving Simmonds and Walz and Ryder and Fish tied for first place.

Lack of space forbids giving the detailed play of the other sets. The result of the three-day play was as follows:

	Won.	Lost.
Simmonds and Walz	7	1
Ryder and Fish	7	1
West Brothers	5	3
Huntington and Schoonmaker	5	3
Morgan and Abbott	5	3
Walz Brothers	4	4
Wharton and McGee	2	6
Murray and Brandegee	1	7
Jennings and Brown	0	8

The tie between Ryder and Fish and Simmonds and Walz will be played off Thursday at 5:30 p. m.

I have been a sufferer from catarrh for twenty years. I found immediate relief in the use of Ely's Cream Balm. Since using it I have not suffered a moment from headache, sore throat or loss of sleep, from which I previously suffered, caused by catarrh. I consider your Balm a valuable remedy. E. G. Vassar, 56 Warren st., New York.

Ely's Cream Balm is worth its weight in gold as a cure for catarrh. One bottle cured me. S. A. Lovell, Franklin, Pa.

PERSONALIA.

Mrs. Louis K. Hyde has returned to Titusville.

J. T. Closson is enjoying the wonders of the World's Fair.

Captain William B. Ostrom is out again in renewed health.

The rumor is untrue that Mr. and Mrs. John Neull Miller are to take the Patton house.

Miss Blanche Brussat, of New York, is the guest of Miss Allison of Somerset street.

Dr. O. L. Jenkins is home from the World's Fair, most intensely delighted with it.

Editor Thomas Lane's mother will be made postmistress at Summit, by Congressman Dunn.

Mr. and Mrs. Hall, of Westervelt avenue and Orange street, are home from their wedding trip.

Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Pope left town Saturday for a week at Mrs. Pope's sister's, Spring Valley, N. Y.

Mrs. George L. VanEmburgh, of East Second street, is visiting her sister, Mrs. Scofield, at Morristown.

Miss Carrie Tingley, of Orchard place, returned Wednesday from a week's visit with relatives in Washington, D. C.

Mr. and Mrs. Howard Crosley Tracy will be at home from their wedding trip, at 134 East Sixth street, after October 1.

Mrs. Raymond and daughter, of Kensington avenue, are spending a few weeks with their friend, Mr. Stelle, at South Orange.

W. R. Moore, of New street, has gone to see his sister at the old homestead, Warrenville. He will be gone the rest of the week.

Counselor W. K. McClure has gone to the Pennsylvania wilds to entice the speckled trout from the mountain streams.

Mrs. John Neil and Mrs. John Angleman, of East Second street, started Friday afternoon for a short visit to the World's Fair.

Mrs. E. R. Pope and Mrs. Truell, the latter of Central avenue, are enjoying the sights at the World's Fair. They will remain indefinitely.

C. G. Hedge will close his Sandford avenue home for the months of July and August, and will take his family to the Prospect House, Good Ground, L. I.

Will Cadmus and wife and little baby Helen, are at 78 Duer street, North Plainfield, the home of Mrs. Cadmus's parents, Mr. and Mrs. L. Cole, for the summer.

Charles B. Brown, formerly of this city, contributes an interesting and valuable article on the Minneapolis Y. M. C. A. anniversary, to a recent issue of the Young Men's Era.

Mrs. W. L. Patton, who sailed for Europe a few days ago, will stay at the home of her sister in England till the financial clouds of Mr. Patton's failure have blown away.

The board of governors of Muhlenberg Hospital, on the recommendation of the hospital staff, have created an eye and ear department and appointed Dr. F. C. Ard of Broadway attending surgeon.

A party from North Plainfield will depart for Lake Placid, in the Adirondacks, this week. Among those who will go are Mrs. W. L. Saunders, Mrs. B. A. Hegeman, jr., and Mrs. William J. Roome.

At a regular meeting of Winfield Scott post, 73, G. A. R., held Tuesday evening, Frank Whiteley, I. McVoy and George W. Moore were appointed a committee to draft suitable resolutions on the death of Levi Sutton.

Counselor W. K. McClure has returned frost bitten from the Alleghanies. He says the nights were so cold that he shivered under piles of blankets, and he had to come home to get his joints thawed out.

Among the arrivals by the Umbria, Saturday, was Alfred W. Hunt, of London, Eng., appointed judge of water-color paintings in the British section at the World's Fair, and who is now the guest of his niece, Mrs. Frost, of Watchung avenue.

The common belief that the handsome new house on Seventh street opposite the palatial Schipper home is owned by Gustave Schipper, and occupied by him and his bride, is a fallacy; the esteemed couple are living with Charles Schipper on the opposite corner.

The tale circulated in irresponsible papers that Miss Teale had broken her wrist, has no foundation in fact. She had an unfortunate fall that resulted in a painful injury, but until the swelling of her wrist is reduced no one can tell whether it is a sprain or a break.

Invitations are out for a tennis tournament for gentlemen's doubles, to be played on the Union County Country club courts, Saturday, July 8. The tournament is to be on the same lines as last Saturday. Play will begin at 2 p. m. The winning team will be given a prize.

There is missed from the PRESS composing rooms the genial presence of Arthur Dean, who has gone to New London, Conn., to work on the Day newspaper. From the many household purchases Mr. Dean made before leaving Plainfield it is believed he is about to shuffle off the coil of single blessedness.

Ripe in years, and leaving a blessed memory among her loved ones, Pamelia Bliss Foote, relict of Herschel Foote of Cleveland, Ohio, has entered into rest eternal, at Larchmont, N. Y. She was recently a resident of Plainfield, and her son A. M. Foote is a highly respected citizen. Funeral services will be held at the home of her son, Dr. E. B. Foote, Larchmont, N. Y., to-morrow afternoon at 3.

The Rev. A. Armstrong, uncle of manager T. S. Armstrong of Reynolds's pharmacy, was executive clergyman at a wedding, Wednesday, when Miss Ida TenEyck, daughter of J. F. TenEyck, was married to B. F. Harris. The Rev. E. Thompson assisted. All the parties are of South Plainfield. The happy couple have gone to the World's Fair. The bride is a niece of Firman Van Neste, of Bound Brook, and for the past two years has been teaching school at South Plainfield.

Samuel Prescot Hall, the eldest son of David Prescott Hall and Mrs. Florence Howe Hall, of Plainfield, graduated with honors this week from Harvard University. He was assigned a commencement part, graduating cum laude, and also with honorable mention in Greek and Latin. Although one of the youngest men in the class of 1893, entering college with honors, he maintained them throughout his career there. Mr. Hall was fitted for college at John Leal's school in this city.

Justus H. Hesse, of West Seventh street, who sailed for Germany, May 30, with his two sons and his late wife's sister, died at Goslar, in the province of Hanover, Wednesday night. He was in the 45th year of his age and quite ill when he left this country. He was one of the most popular men in Plainfield and highly esteemed by all who knew him. He has been honored with the nomination for councilman by the Democrats in his ward, but the Republican majority there is invulnerable. Mr. Hesse was a member of the New York firm of D. W. McLeod & Co., dealers in Scotch goods. Notice of funeral will be given later.

OF THE NETHERWOOD YACHT CLUB.

Albert Wright, of Park avenue, has returned to Plainfield for a few days from City Island, where he has been superintending the overhauling of his new schooner yacht, the Priscilla. The boat is being completely refitted, with new rigging, new plumbing and new color above the water line. Mr. Wright says the Priscilla will probably be in commission by July 4.

PERSONALIA.

Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Bushnell have gone to Ocean Grove for the season.

Miss M. Bridges, of Watchung avenue, has gone to Newark, for a week.

N. Carman Dunn, of Philadelphia, spent Sunday with relatives in town.

Mrs. Prescott, of Brooklyn, has been visiting her brother, A. L. Force, of Duer street.

Miss Ellie Dunn, of West Fourth street, spent the Fourth with relatives near Somerville.

Mrs. C. Crook, of Brooklyn, is visiting her sister, Mrs. Kate Philpott, 457 West Front street.

Miss Maggie Kirch will preside at the organ of the German church on Craig place hereafter.

Mr. and Mrs. Howard Hall, of New York, are visiting Mr. Hall's parents on Plainfield avenue.

Mrs. Milton C. Barkalew, of 83 Duer street, North Plainfield, is visiting friends at Huntington, L. I.

Miss Mamie Neilson and her brother George have gone to spend a week's vacation in New York.

Cyrus Moore, of New street, celebrated the Fourth at the home of a charming young miss of Red Bank.

Isaac Harris, of Philadelphia, has returned to his home after a short visit with Plainfield relatives.

Garret Q. Packer has been summoned to Montgomery, Somerset county, because of the death of a brother.

The engagement is announced of Miss May Stelle, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Stelle, of Madison avenue, to David Sutphen.

A. S. Fritts, of the Crescent League wheelmen, was a good second in a one-mile bicycle race (2:50 class) at Trenton, Saturday.

S. A. Wallace, of Grove street, is visiting his brother, who is one of Baltimore's leading ship chandlers, and with whom he is associated in business.

The Rev. B. B. Tyler, of New York, pastor of the Disciples' Church of Christ, will preach some Sunday this summer for B. W. Hand in the First Church of Christ.

E. S. Hunt, lately assistant principal in the High school, has gone to his home in Charleston, N. H., and in the fall will enter the junior class in Columbia Law school.

Mr. and Mrs. Nelson Wycoff, of 40 Craig place, North Plainfield, have returned to their home after a week's stay at the World's Fair; they were delighted with their visit.

Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Brower, of Peace street, Broadway, or Watchung avenue, are registered at the Curlew, Asbury Park, for a ten day's rest. Thence they will go to Moscow, Pa.

Miss Robinson, of East Fifth street, accompanied by her brother, Joseph A. Robinson, left Plainfield Monday evening for the World's Fair, Niagara Falls, and Canada. Miss Robinson will remain in Canada during the summer.

Miss R. M. Verdon, of Shady Lawn, accompanied by the Misses Verdon, of Mount Joy Square, Dublin, Ireland, and Mr. Verdon of Montreal, are off for a trip. They take in Washington en route to the Columbian Exhibition, over the Pennsylvania railroad, and will return by way of Niagara.

WATCHUNG'S CELEBRATION.

They Danced the German at Midnight, and the Scene Was Like an Oriental Garden.

Pretty Fanwood celebrated the Fourth in true patriotic style, at the entertainment given by the Watchung club.

In the afternoon, beginning at 4, tennis, bowling and other games were indulged in, while for the evening was reserved a beautiful exhibition of fireworks, followed by a lawn party with dancing and refreshments. The grounds were beautifully decorated with hundreds of Japanese lanterns, artistically grouped, so as to give one the impression of an oriental garden. It was by far the most successful entertainment of the kind ever given in Fanwood, and thus the Watchung club bowed its entrance into New Jersey society.

The reception and evening entertainment was under the supervision of the chairman of the entertainment committee, Mrs. Frank Dale Warren, and her assistants, the Misses Smith, of North Andover, Mass., and Mrs. W. E. Gibbs; and to them full praise is due for the success of the celebration. Guests were present from Elizabeth, Cranford, Westfield, Netherwood, Plainfield, Brooklyn and New York. Among those who attended were the following:

Mr. and Mrs. A. D. Beeken, Mr. and Mrs. A. McKown, Mr. and Mrs. B. Urner, Mr. and Mrs. F. D. Warren, Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Beeken, Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Lightowler, Mr. and Mrs. G. H. Renaud, Mr. and Mrs. J. H. L. Todd, Mr. and Mrs. H. Robinson, Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Gibbs, Mr. and Mrs. G. C. Miller, Mr. and Mrs. G. F. Hamlin, Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Force, Mr. and Mrs. C. W. TenBroeck, Mr. and Mrs. George Kyte, the Misses Kyte, Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Quereau, Miss Quereau, Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Kieb, Miss Kieb, Mr. and Mrs. George Bates, Miss Bates, Mrs. C. V. G. Miller, Mrs. John Merrylees, the Misses Boucher, L. S. Ashley, Mr. and Mrs. Cameron, General and Mrs. TenBroeck, Miss TenBroeck, Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Nichol, the Misses Nichol, E. A. Urner, Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Smith, Miss Smith, Mr. and Mrs. W. Edward Pentz, Mr. and Mrs. Wiltsie, Mr. and Mrs. C. K. Moore, Captain and Mrs. F. T. Leigh, Miss Fulton, Mrs. Foster, Ed. Foster, Mr. and Mrs. Ellis, Mrs. Morrison, Mr. and Mrs. Glover, Mr. and Mrs. T. S. Bainbridge, Mrs. Chase, Mr. and Mrs. Williams, Miss Tugden, Mr. Holly, Peter Matthews, Mr. and Mrs. Cooley, Mr. and Mrs. Broadway, Captain Tuzo, Miss Tuzo, Louis Tuzo and Lou Carter.

The german ended the festivities at midnight.

One who is a connoisseur on judging says that among all the belles the most charming and beautiful were Mrs. C. T. Nightingale of Plainfield, Miss Delaney of New York, and Miss Hammond of Brooklyn.

DISFIGURED FOR LIFE.

Andrew Love Injured, and Other Fourth of July Casualties.

Andrew Love, jr., was disfigured for life by the careless handling of a pistol Tuesday night. Ed Dooley stood near him at the Metropolitan stables on North avenue, and attempted to discharge a pistol in the air. The charge hung fire, and as he lowered it it went off and the contents were discharged into Love's face. Luckily the load was a blank, but Love's face was filled with grains of powder and will be disfigured for life. Dr. Carman skillfully extracted the powder that lodged in the eyeballs, and Love's sight is safe.

Fred Lane, age 16, of Brooklyn, was visiting his uncle at Mercer and Sycamore avenues. A firecracker burst in his face, burned the flesh, and injured the left eye. Dr. Carman fixed him up so he went home to-day.

At midnight July 3 Henry Rose, a cake baker for Geo. Voehl, touched off a pound can of powder in Pruden's alley, and had both hands badly burned, and pieces of the tin were imbedded in the flesh. Dr. Adams relieved his sufferings. Rose is laid up for a month at least.

—The Bound Brook Chronicle says that Percy W. Cannon of Dunellen gave an interesting talk on blind asylums, at the Presbyterian prayer meeting, Monday evening.

Royal Baking Powder

Absolutely Pure

A cream of tartar baking powder. Highest of all in leavening strength.—Latest U. S. Government Food Report.

ROYAL BAKING POWDER CO., 106 Wall St., N. Y.

DOUBLE VICTORY FOR PLAINFIELD.

CRESCENTS WIN TWO GOOD HOLIDAY GAMES.

Strong Teams of Both Paterson and Trenton Defeated, by the Coincident Score of 8 to 3—Crowds Entertained by the Excellent Exhibitions.

'Twas old times over again, on the Crescent Oval Tuesday, for the games were good, the crowds were large, and Plainfield won. Never was more perfect day for outdoor sport. The sun shone bright and clear, the breeze was cool and steady, and the green mountains made a pretty setting for a pretty picture. The grand-stands and the bleachers were filled with gay crowds of both sexes. The players were in good trim, and gave fine exhibitions.

Turner and Keenan both did nice work in the box, and their support was admirable. Good sharp playing was the feature of the day. Both of the visiting teams came dangerously near scoring additional runs at critical points, and the games were close enough to give considerable excitement. Special admiration burst forth over the splendid one-hand catch of Ryman, who stuck one paw up in air far above his head and with a back-hand movement pulled down and stopped what would have been a three-base hit. Sneden also did a pretty thing, in running with all his might towards second base and picking up a fly just four inches above the ground. The afternoon game was considerably enlivened by the way Eugene Laine was chased around by giant crackers. Go where he would, just as he got comfortably seated there would be a big explosion directly beneath him, driving him to other quarters.

The scores:

MORNING GAME.

CRESCENTS.

	AB.	R.	BH.	SB.	LB.	SO.	PO.	A.	E.
Hofford, c, rf	3	2	0	0	0	0	4	0	1
Smith, ss	3	1	2	0	1	0	1	1	1
Ryman, lf	5	0	1	0	1	0	2	0	0
Turner, p	5	1	1	0	1	0	1	2	0
Heckman, 3b	5	1	3	0	2	1	0	2	1
Sneden, cf	5	1	2	0	1	0	2	0	0
Fritz, rf, cf	4	1	2	0	0	0	2	0	1
Keenan, 2b	4	1	1	0	0	0	2	3	0
Jones, 1b	4	0	1	0	1	0	13	0	1
		8	13	0	7	1	27	8	5

PATERSON.

	AB.	R.	BH.	SB.	LB.	SO.	PO.	A.	E.
Mooney, 3b	4	1	2	1	1	0	1	1	0
Barry, 2b	4	0	0	0	0	0	2	4	0
Murphy, lf	4	1	0	1	0	0	0	0	1
Tierney, cf	4	0	1	1	1	0	4	0	0
Touhey, 1b	4	0	1	0	1	0	12	0	0
Heiser, ss	4	0	0	0	0	2	2	4	0
Rafferty, c	4	0	0	0	1	0	5	2	0
Malone, rf	3	1	1	1	1	0	1	0	0
Meakin, p	4	0	0	0	0	1	0	1	0
		3	5	4	5	3	27	12	1

BY INNINGS.

Crescents	1	0	0	0	5	0	0	2	0	—8
Base hits	0	1	1	1	4	0	2	3	1
Paterson	0	0	3	0	0	0	0	0	0	—3
Base hits	0	1	3	0	1	0	0	0	0

Earned runs—Crescent. Three-base hit—Sneden. Two-base hits—Sneden, Mooney. Sacrifice hits—Ryman, 2; Turner, 2; Sneden, Barry, Heiser. First base on errors—Paterson, 2. Base on balls—Off Turner, 1; off Meakin, 4. Wild pitch—Turner. Flies caught—By Crescents, 15; by Paterson, 10. Time, 1.55. Umpire—Hudson.

AFTERNOON GAME.

CRESCENTS.

	AB	R	BH	SB	LB	SO	PO	A	E
Hofford, rf	2	1	1	2	2	0	0	0	0
Smith, ss	4	0	1	0	1	0	3	12	0
Ryman, lf	5	1	0	1	1	0	0	0	0
Turner, 2b	4	2	2	2	1	0	6	5	1
Heckman, 3b	5	0	1	0	0	0	1	2	0
Sneden, cf	3	1	1	1	2	0	0	0	0
Fritz, c	4	2	1	0	1	1	3	2	1
Keenan, p	4	1	2	0	1	0	0	2	0
Jones, 1b	5	0	0	1	1	0	10	0	0
		8	9	7	10	1	27	23	2

TRENTON.

	AB	R	BH	SB	LB	SO	PO	A	E
Vaughn, ss	4	1	1	0	1	0	2	6	0
Uplander, lf	4	0	0	0	0	0	2	0	1
Pierson, 2b	4	0	1	0	1	0	4	2	0
Vandergrift, rf	4	0	1	1	1	2	1	0	0
Thomas, 1b	3	0	0	0	0	0	11	0	0
Belman, 3b	4	0	0	0	0	0	1	5	1
Reichart, c	2	1	1	0	1	0	3	1	0
Koeffler, cf	4	1	3	1	2	0	3	0	2
Balatya, p	1	0	0	0	0	1	0	0	0
Randow, p	2	0	0	0	1	1	0	1	0
		3	7	2	7	4	27	15	4

BY INNINGS.

Crescents	2	0	0	3	0	0	1	0	2	—8
Base hits	1	0	0	4	0	0	1	0	3
Trentons	0	0	0	0	0	1	2	0	0	—3
Base hits	1	0	1	0	1	1	1	1	1

Two-base hit—Heckman. Sacrifice hit—Sneden. Double plays—Smith to Turner, to Jones; Keenan to Smith, to Turner, to Jones. First base on errors—Crescents, 1; Trentons, 1. On balls—Off Keenan, 5; off Balatya, 5; off Randow, 3. On hit by ball—Turner. Passed balls—Reichart, 3; Fritz, 1. Flies caught—By Crescents, 3; by Trentons, 10. Time of game—1:50. Umpire—W. Cadmus.

OH, HURRY THOSE SEWERS!

For the North Plainfield Board of Health is After Plainfield's Sanitary Condition With a Very Sharp Stick.

The Plainfield common council Monday night received the following document and referred it to the committee on water and sewerage:

OFFICE OF
BOARD OF HEALTH,
NORTH PLAINFIELD, N. J.

At a meeting of the North Plainfield Board of Health, held June 26, 1893, the following resolution was offered and adopted:

WHEREAS: Numerous complaints have come to us concerning the offensive matter poured into Green Brook by the Peace street sewer, and,

WHEREAS: The noxious odors arising therefrom are not only a constant annoyance to many people, but also a source of sickness and disease, therefore, be it,

Resolved, That the Board of Health of North Plainfield desires herewith most respectfully to enter a protest against the City of Plainfield allowing any foul, feted, noxious or offensive matter, from any cesspool, water closet or other source to empty into said brook, from the said sewer, and most earnestly request the Common Council of the City of Plainfield to take such measures as in their wisdom they may deem best, to abate the nuisance complained of, especially as the said sewage discharge is detrimental to the public health, and also a direct violation of the State law.

—The Courier says that at a recent meeting of the Camera club, "No definite action was taken". What's the matter with tooken?

—Vincent L. Frazee, the housewives' favorite market man, had a call yesterday from a woman who read in THE PRESS that his high grade butter was cheaper in price than any other in town. She was so well pleased on sampling the butter that she bought a tub of it and a bill of goods amounting to $20 cash. PRESS advertising pays.

—Wm. Winges, manager and collector for the Ruppert Brewing company of New York, gave a clam-bake to forty friends, Thursday, at his home in Dunellen. William Brown did the baking, and the guests did the rest. There were clams by the hundred, while spring chicken, salad, and a free flow of lacteal fluids, made up the bill of fare.

THE NAHANT TOURNAMENT.

Tennis Team Contest in Full Progress on the Hillside Courts.

Lured by the combined attractions of a regular tea and the prospect of seeing the preliminary games of the Nahant tournament, a large number of people gathered on the grounds of the Hillside Tennis club, Saturday afternoon.

Mrs. Clifton Wharton, jr., assisted by a number of young ladies from the reception committee, did the honors for the club, and served iced tea and lemonade under the shade of the trees.

Only three of the teams that have entered for the tournament were present, and only three matches were played. Nine teams have entered, so there will be 36 matches played, as in a Nahant tournament every team plays every other team, the prize going to the team that wins the most matches.

The entries are:

J. P. Murray and W. P. Brandegee.
F. W. Walz and E. L. Walz, jr.
Albert Simmonds and C. F. Walz.
J. H. P. Wharton and ——
C. B. Morgan and Wesley Abbott.
Sherwood West and Harry West.
A. F. Jennings and C. S. Brown.
H. V. Ryder and Fred Fish, jr.
August Huntington and G. F. Schoonmaker.

The results of Saturday's play were:

Walz brothers beat West brothers, 6—3, 4—6, 6—1.

Walz brothers beat Murray and Brandegee, 6—0, 6—1.

West brothers beat Murray and Brandegee, 6—4, 6—0.

Among those present Saturday were:

Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Brooks, Mr. and Mrs. Robert L. Burnett, Miss Lawrence, Miss Butler, Miss Maud Lord, Mrs. Saunders, Mrs. Hart, Miss Hart, Miss Musgrave, Miss Wilson, Mrs. Fox, Mr. and Mrs. DeWitt C. Ivins, Miss Tweedy, Dexter O. Tiffany, Miss Kenyon, Mrs. Huntington, Miss Halsey, Miss Gertrude Walz, the Misses Depew, Miss Annie Ellis, Miss Minnie Wood, Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Ginna, Mrs. Dorsey Hyde, Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Brown, Miss Carrie Streuli, Mr. Streuli, Mr. and Mrs. George Meilick, Mrs. Schuyler, Miss Minnie Sprague, the Misses Tracy, the Misses Erskine, Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Anthony, Miss Anthony, Mr. and Mrs. Constantine P. Ralli, C. W. Opdyke, Ralph Opdyke, Miss Opdyke, Messrs. Walter Stewart, J. P. Murray, H. D. West, Sherwood West, W. P. Brandegee, J. H. P. Wharton, Fred. Fish, jr., E. L. Walz, E. L. Walz, jr., J. S. Anthony, Carl Walz, and VanRensselaer Schuyler.

The prizes are solid silver shoe horns, to be given to each member of the winning team.

SNEDEN TO PITCH NO MORE.

He Helped Lose Saturday's Game to New York.

The Crescents presented the game of Saturday to the N. Y. A. C., in the first inning; and try as they would thereafter, they could not get it back.

The N. Y. A. C. were a mighty fine looking lot of fellows, and perfect gentlemen. At the start they didn't expect to win, but took courage on seeing the Crescents go to pieces at the outset. Two bases on balls, a wild pitch, and three errors, gave the New Yorks the starting four runs, where none should have scored. The earned run was by their hard hitting of Sneden. The run in the fourth inning was a gift of hit by ball and passed ball, backed up by a single hit. After that the Crescents did sharp and clever work. Keenan, taking wild Sneden's place, pitched in great shape, and was as cool as ever, both in delivering the ball and in fielding his position. He's a veritable ice-box for coolness.

There was no earthly reason why the Crescents shouldn't have scored a dozen runs in the second inning, and a half-dozen more in the third. They were pounding the life out of Sharrot, but they had forgotten how to run bases. Heckman, Fritz and McIndoe all disgraced themselves by starting for home when there was no chance of reaching there, and McIndoe was punished by having his hand torn by Kinsler's spikes. He retired disabled, and Burke took his place, giving fair satisfaction. The Crescents took chances with Kinsler they ought not to, for he's one of the slickest catchers in the business, and caught the runners napping at bases as easy as rolling off a log.

Towards the last the Crescents vainly tried to brace up, but all they could do was to hit the ball in long high flies right into the outfield pockets.

Hausling, the bewhiskered right fielder, was the good-natured manager of the visitors, familiarly known as "Spinach", who took the position to fill a vacancy.

Sneden is not to be permitted to pitch again, but will take the field.

Jack Martin, an old Crescent player, distinguished himself. The Bonner who played was not the same as Plainfield used to have.

The score:

PLAINFIELD CRESCENTS.

	AB	R	BH	SB	LB	SO	PO	A	E
Hofford, c	4	0	1	0	2	0	5	1	0
Smith, ss	4	0	1	1	2	1	4	3	2
McIndoe, lf	1	0	0	0	0	0	1	0	0
Burke, lf	3	0	1	0	0	0	1	0	0
Turner, cf & 2b	5	1	2	2	1	0	2	2	0
Heckman, 3b	4	0	0	0	0	2	1	5	0
Fritz, rf	4	1	3	0	2	0	0	0	0
Keenan, 2b & p	4	1	0	0	0	0	1	4	2
Jones, 1b	4	0	1	0	2	1	12	0	0
Sneden, p & cf	4	0	1	0	1	1	0	0	0
		3	10	3	11	5	27	15	4

N. Y. ATHLETIC CLUB.

	AB	R	BH	SB	LB	SO	PO	A	E
Doppler, cf	2	2	1	1	1	2	5	0	0
Strebeigh, 2b	3	1	1	1	1	0	2	2	0
Kinsler, c	5	1	1	0	0	0	10	1	0
Martin, 3b	5	1	1	2	1	0	1	2	0
Hotchkiss, 1b	4	0	2	0	1	0	5	0	0
Sharrot, p	4	0	0	0	1	0	0	2	0
Bonner, ss	4	0	0	0	0	0	0	1	1
Hausling, rf	3	0	0	0	1	2	0	0	2
Fisher, lf	4	1	2	0	0	2	4	0	0
		6	8	4	6	6	27	9	3

BY INNINGS.

Crescents	0	1	1	0	0	1	0	0	0	—3
Base hits	0	3	2	0	1	2	1	0	1
N. Y. A. C.	4	1	0	1	0	0	0	0	0	—6
Base hits	2	2	1	1	0	1	1	0	0

Earned runs—Crescents, 1; N. Y. A. C., 1. Two-base hits—Hotchkiss, Fisher. Sacrifice hits—McIndoe, Keenan, Hotchkiss, Bonner. Double play—Smith to Keenan, to Jones. First base on errors—Crescents 3; N. Y. A. C. 2. First base on balls—Off Sneden, 3; off Keenan, 1; off Sharrot, 2. On hit by ball—By Keenan, 2; by Sharrot, 2. Passed balls—Hofford, 2. Wild pitch—Sneden. Flies caught—By N. Y. A. C., 12; by Crescents, 7. Time of game—1:55. Umpire—Hudson.

The Climaxes After that Prize.

The Climax Gun club will hold their regular monthly shoot for July, Wednesday afternoon, July 12. The club has entered a strong team, in the contest for the 5-man team championship of the United States that is being managed by the publishers of Shooting and Fishing, of Boston, that journal offering special prizes to the victorious State teams, and donating $750 to the two teams winning the sectional championship, the last contest to be decided in Chicago in September.

Great Scott's Great Pitching.

The Hope chapel class of the Rev. G. Kennedy Newell were defeated at baseball Saturday afternoon, on the John street grounds, by a picked nine from the Sunday-school. The score was 28 to 13. Littell and Leland were the Newell battery, and Scott and Firstbrook did the work for the picked nine. Scott struck out 14.

More Room for White.

Edward White has given out the contract for excavating the rear basement of his building for another salesroom, and when it is finished it will give him an extra salesroom of 95 feet in length by 20 feet wide, and will make his perhaps the most complete department store this side of New York. It is not quite six months ago that he built on an extension to his store 20x30 feet, and his business has grown to such enormous proportions that more room is necessary.

DR. BARNES IN THE SOUTH.

Chautauquans Accept Him as a Typical Instructor.

Assembly Notes, the official organ of the C. L. S. C. convention now in session at Lexington, Ky., says of the Rev. Dr. C. R. Barnes of Plainfield:

Normal Hall was filled to its utmost limits, and many were unable to find room inside the building long before the ten o'clock bell rang this morning, every one being alive with interest to hear Dr. C. R. Barnes begin his series of lectures on the Jewish Tabernacle.

Dr. Barnes is a new factor in our Lexington Chautauqua work, and we wish it were possible to introduce him to the general public of our Chautauqua community with something of the pleasant effect the Doctor himself left on his audience. He holds a place on the programme which has been filled in the history of our assembly by men who did some of the best work its annual gatherings have known. Our excellent Superintendent of Instruction said last night that help for Sunday-school workers was the inspiration of the great Chautauqua movement, and the foundation on which its permanence rests. Persons who have given attention to this phase of our Assembly work heretofore know how large a place it has occupied on the programmes, and how ably its interests have been maintained. It is moderate praise of Dr. Barnes to say that he is a worthy successor of the men he follows in this department, and that his selection does eminent credit to our educational management.

The topic this year is a peculiarly happy one for the improvement of the Sunday-school teacher. Few Bible themes can attract and influence the young mind better than the Jewish Tabernacle with its vivid pictural setting and symbolism. Yet it may perhaps be safely said that no equally large portion of the Scripture contents is as little known and understood.

No Sunday-school teacher, nor anyone else with whom rests the opportunity and responsibility of developing the spiritual nature of a child, should neglect this opportunity of enlarging his power.

The first thing which attracted attention at the hall was a tent-like structure representing the tabernacle, which serves as an object lesson to illustrate the lectures.

The lecture was an explanation of the structure of the tabernacle and its court and furniture, all made delightfully plain and instructive by models of the parts as they were described, as well as by the lucid, entertaining style of the Doctor.

We have no idea of reporting the substance of this lecture. For one reason, because it was all substance, pleasantly enlivened with quiet humor; and then we hesitate to intrude upon people a good thing when they can get so much better for themselves. Everybody come to hear Dr. Barnes at 10 o'clock to-morrow. He is unquestionably a typical Chautauqua scholar.

MR. BRETT'S SONS SUCCEED HIM.

William G., of Plainfield, and Pierre, of Brooklyn, to Carry On the Business of the Late Gustave of This City, Established in 1793.

In a great city like New York, co-partnership changes are so numerous that it is impossible for any newspaper to keep a complete record of them as they occur. That great and highly influential paper, the "Journal of Commerce", endeavored to do so a few years ago, but the plan had to be given up for lack of space. But, every now and again there will be a change in some concern that is too old and important and widely known to be passed by. The announcement that has suggested these reflections, says the Mercantile and Financial Times, of New York, is that just made in regard to the business of the house of G. A. Brett, Son & Co., shipping and commission merchants, at 41 South street, New York city.

This is the oldest and best known concern in New York—if not in the United States—in this line of business, having been established in 1793—over a century ago—under the style of Peter H. Schenck. There have been, of course, in such a long period of time, various firm changes. About a dozen years ago the present firm style was taken on, the partners being G. A. Brett and his two sons, Wm. G. Brett of this city and Pierre V. A. Brett, the first of these two brothers having been connected with the house since 1865, and the second since 1870. G. A. Brett died in Plainfield on May 25, ult., at the age of seventy-three, after spending a life time with the house. He had entered it as a boy and in all his life was never connected, either as employe or partner, with any other concern.

It is now announced that the business will be continued under the old firm style of G. A. Brett, Son & Co., by the two sons. Messrs. G. A. Brett, Son & Co. stand very high in business circles. They own and charter vessels to South American and West Indian ports, and run a packet line of twelve vessels to Haytian ports. The business relationships of the house are of a most important character, and many of them date back forty, fifty and even seventy years.

The Youngest Manager, from Plainfield.

Harry A. Thorne of Plainfield made a flying visit to New York for a few days, in response to a call from the president of the Adirondack League club to accept the management of their new club-house, which was opened June 20. In accepting this management he was compelled to give up a position at Lake View House, Lake Placid, where he had been engaged for the coming year. Mr. Thorne is the youngest manager in the Adirondacks, and has had considerable experience in hotel management. This club-house, of which the league has three, is the largest in the Adirondacks, and has a big membership, many Plainfielders being members. Among them are Henry C. Squires, G. Harry Squires, W. E. Lowe, Aug. D. Shepherd, J. K. VanArsdale and James Clark. Mr. Thorne was in good health, and loud in his praises of the mountains. Mr. and Mrs. Thorne's address for the present will be Old Forge, Herkimer county, N. Y.

His Personal Experience.

Hon. James W. Husted, while serving his sixth term as Speaker of the Assembly of the State of New York, writes:

"STATE OF N. Y., ASSEMBLY CHAMBER,
ALBANY, Jan. 16, 1890.

I desire once more to bear my testimony to the value of ALLCOCK'S POROUS PLASTERS. I have used them for twenty-five years past, and can conscientiously commend them as the best external remedy that I have known. Years ago, when thrown from a carriage and seriously injured, I gave them a thorough trial. In a very short time the pain that I was suffering disappeared, and within a week I was entirely relieved. On another occasion, when suffering from a severe cough, which threatened pulmonary difficulties, which I was recommended to go to Florida to relieve, I determined to test the plasters again. I applied them to my chest and between the shoulder blades, and in less than a fortnight was entirely cured. On still another occasion when suffering from an attack of rheumatism in the shoulder to such an extent that I could scarcely raise my arm, I again resorted to the plasters, and within a very few days the rheumatism entirely disappeared. I have them constantly by me, whether at home or abroad. My family as well as myself have found them to be a sovereign remedy, both for external and internal troubles. I never had but one kidney difficulty in my life, and the application of the plasters cured me in a week. I desire, as I said before, to bear my testimony in a public way to their efficacy, and I know of no better way of doing it than by giving you my personal experience."

—At the Pond Machine Tool works, smoking is strictly prohibited, except in the washroom and blacksmith shop. Notices to that effect are posted about the building.

Children Cry for Pitcher's Castoria.

When Baby was sick, we gave her Castoria.
When she was a Child, she cried for Castoria.
When she became Miss, she clung to Castoria.
When she had Children, she gave them Castoria.

THAT HOUSE NUMBERING AGAIN.

Difficulties in Following Out the Letter of the Law.

Policemen Glass and Flynn, while on their rounds to discover houses that have not yet complied with the numbering ordinance, have been in some puzzling situations. On Saturday their course was through some of the parts of the town where it is not very thickly built up, and where many of the houses stand back from the street and fences are scarce.

The policemen say that in many of the side streets of town the smaller houses that are near the street have no old numbers, and that the inmates, not finding any record of the old are in no hurry to put up new ones.

An amusing interview took place between the policemen and a citizen whose house stands some 600 feet back from the street. The owner of the house says he does not know where he can obtain figures that can be seen from the street, and would not care to disfigure his house with such huge things if he could. The policemen saw the force of the objection, but still naturally wished to obey orders and insisted that numbers be put up or the owner be fined.

Indians Elect Officers.

At a regular meeting of Miantonoma Tribe, No. 118, Improved Order of Red Men, held in their wigwam Friday night, the following officers were elected for the ensuing term and will probably be installed by District Great Sachem Andrew J. Stiglitz and staff, next Friday evening:

Prophet—William A. Westphal.
Sachem—John H. Carney.
Sr. Sagamore—Charles Holsteen.
Jr. Sagamore—Joseph W. Wycoff.

Mr. Honeyman's Delightful Tours.

The New Jersey excursion party conducted by A. V. D. Honeyman of this city to the World's Exposition report the most perfect weather for sight-seeing and the most enjoyable time its members have ever had. They left Chicago for home this morning. Letters from them indicate that any of them would rather miss a trip to Europe than this fair, which is from first to last the marvel of the age. They wanted to remain a month. The next party leaves Plainfield next Friday at 9:30 a. m.

Woman's Danger.

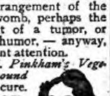
No man can ever know the devoted martyrdom of many women.

Unselfishly a woman works and suffers that home and loved ones may be happy.

When it seems as though her back would break, when she grows irregular, faint, irritable, loses all interest in society, gets the "blues," is crushed with that indescribable feeling of "bearing-down," she "drags along," day after day, suffering agonies that would appal a man.

The cause of all her trouble is some derangement of the uterus or womb, perhaps the development of a tumor, or cancerous humor,—anyway, give it instant attention.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is the sure cure. It is recommended by thousands of women. Its cures are unparallelled.



All druggists sell it. Address in confidence, LYDIA E. PINKHAM MED. Co., LYNN, MASS. Liver Pills, 25 cents.

An Open Letter From Clothing Builders to Clothing Buyers.

We make Clothing, you buy it. You buy Clothing ready made because it is cheaper.

There are different kinds of ready made. Have you ever investigated how different?

We show you the best that's made, the tailor made, the kind the tailor would make you to order.

In many instances you'll not be able to notice the difference in make between ours and theirs, but the difference in price will open your eyes.

The tailor's prices are about double ours and he furnishes you no better style, fit, finish, trim of fabric.

Why his big price?

He makes for the few; we for thousands. The wise and knowing are wearing OUR SUPERIOR CLOTHING and saving money.

See our grand line of SPRING SUITS between $10 and $20.

MC GREGOR & CO.,

850 and 852 Broad Street,

NEWARK, N. J.

THE WATER COMPANY OBSTINATE.

CORPORATION COUNSEL ASKED TO PROTECT THE CITY.

Plainfield Can't Get Fire Hydrants Asked for, and Litigation May Result—The Grip of the Monopoly Being Felt at Last.

Councilman Erickson Monday night called attention to difficulties encountered by the city in securing from the Water Supply company what the fire committee considers is the city's just due.

It was the 3d of last April that the city ordered 17 new fire hydrants of the company. A number of them have not yet been placed, and are not likely to be till the company can force the householders of the section where they are wanted to pay such a revenue as the corporation seeks.

Voluminous correspondence has passed between Mr. Erickson and the company, and the upshot is that the company refuses to put in the required hydrants till private subscriptions for water service are secured for the same section. Mr. Erickson disputes the company's right to do this, and also questions the company's demanding higher rates for new four-way hydrants than for the old. He was virtuously indignant at the council meeting and said "I move that the corporation counsel be instructed to act in the matter, to see if we can't get our rights without further trouble". This was done.

Mr. Erickson also said the company had been delinquent in not reporting the erection of 4 hydrants so that the fire department would know they were ready for use.

It may turn out that the company's contract with the city justifies the autocratic attitude of the company. If so, 'twill be a surprise to the committee.

The company has asked the council to rescind the water-works contract of Chas. K. Moore, which it acquired by assignment. That matter also has been referred to the corporation counsel. It is thought the company may be up to some sly move in this direction.

Only One Fire-Box Call.

The rain of Monday dampened everything against the attacks of Fourth of July gunpowder. The Plainfield department had only one alarm, that of box 12, at 6:22 p. m., to put out a blaze that had started in an awning in front of the store of Powlison & Jones, from a carelessly-thrown cracker. The wooden cornice was slightly burned.

A number of incipient blazes were suppressed without alarm.

Justice Nash's residence got afire, and James Frisbie put out the flames.

No. 2 engine wet down the piles of wood back of Packer's furniture house Monday, but in spite of the precaution a fire started there yesterday. A fire extinguishing brigade headed by Berney Rogers put out the blaze.

Firecrackers burned half an awning at the rear of Rogers's Seafood market yesterday.

Holding Trick Sessions Again.

The board of education is again holding star chamber proceeding. Instead of meeting regularly Monday evening, they without warning met the previous Saturday. They do not seem disposed to keep the newspapers and public informed of what they have a right to know. The only important business transacted was the reappointment of principal Maxson and the selection of Frederick K. Hardon of Mansfield, Mass., for vice-principal, at $1,200 a year, and Charles F. Holck, of Oswego, N. Y., as science teacher, at $900.

—Police captain Grant says that the police have always been granted a day off when asked for, and he fails to understand why two of them got councilman Weber to move that a day off each month be granted to the regular policemen in addition to the usual vacation. The motion was adopted, and the effect will be to limit the days off to one each month, instead of their being granted at will.

SUNDAY SELLING AMENDED.

THE CITY JUDGE ALONE TO DECIDE IF A MAN IS A GENUINE SEVENTH-DAY.

No Jury to Settle This Point—He Who Keeps Open Shop Sunday Must Devote Saturday to Religious Worship—Mayor Gilbert's Strong Message on Men Who Use the Existing Law as a Subterfuge.

The difficulty of securing satisfaction in such cases as that of Lorenzo Paoli who though not openly a Seventh-Day worshiper professed a change of heart in order to close Saturdays and keep open Sundays, has prompted the legislation predicted exclusively in these columns.

At the regular July meeting of the common council, held Monday night, Mayor Gilbert again exhibited his ready and capable grasp of important situations, in presenting the following message:

MAYOR'S OFFICE,
PLAINFIELD, N. J.,
July 3, 1893.

To the Honorable Common Council of the City of Plainfield.

GENTLEMEN:—Herewith I submit for your consideration an ordinance to amend the ordinance relating to the morals, peace and good order of the city of Plainfield. The necessity for this amendment arises from the fact that the ordinance that refers to selling and doing business on Sunday is not as clear and explicit as it should be, and certain of our shopkeepers are violating the law under the impression that the closing of their places of business on Saturday entitles them to sell openly and do business on Sunday.

Unless this impression is removed, it will not be long before the example of the few who are violating the law to-day will be followed by others who may find Sunday a more profitable business day than Saturday.

While I have no desire to interfere with the religious privileges of any, it is my duty to see that the ordinances of the city are not openly violated by men who profess religious convictions merely as a shield to protect themselves from punishment.

Respectfully submitted,
A. GILBERT, Mayor.

The ordinance which he introduced provides a fine of $20 for selling anything except milk or medicine or in case of necessity, on Sunday, with this proviso:

That no person shall be found guilty who when brought before the city judge to answer to complaint for the violation of the ordinance shall then and there prove to the satisfaction of said city judge that he uniformly keeps the seventh day of the week as the Sabbath and habitually abstains from following his usual occupation or business and devotes the day or a portion thereof to the exercise of religious worship, and that he carries on his business within his premises in such a manner as not to disturb the religious observance of Sunday as the Sabbath.

The ordinance was unanimously adopted on second reading and ordered engrossed and advertised preparatory to final passage.

AFTER THE SHOPKEEPERS.

Groceries, Dry Goods and Other Sidewalk Obstructions, to Be Cleared Away.

Councilman Fisk called attention Monday evening to the sidewalk obstruction so prevalent about town. He said that the time had come to stop this turning sidewalks into storehouses. On his motion the street commissioner was directed to notify all offenders, whoever they are, to move their goods from the sidewalks and keep them within the building line. The police were directed to assist in securing the reform.

Plainfield High School Boys Win.

S. Clinton Crane won the two-mile bicycle race at Dunellen, and Thomas A. Cuming that at New Market. Crane got a silver flask as first prize, and Cuming a silver medal. Both are members of the Plainfield High School Athletic association.

He Won't Get It.

Charles H. Hand has applied to the council for permission to connect his Watchung avenue buildings with the North avenue sewer. The petition was referred to the committee on water and sewerage.

CHEAPEST RATE YET!
THE WORLD'S COLUMBIAN EXPOSITION
AT CHICAGO.

25c. Including all Expenses

AT MUSIC HALL, MONDAY AND TUESDAY EVENINGS,

JULY 17 and 18

200 Mammoth Scenes, the Most Brilliant and Accurate, Projected by the Most Perfect and Powerful Apparatus, on Canvas 400 Square Ft.

T. DeQUINCY TULLY

Who has won renown by years of experience with Illustrated Lectures, has at great expense, and with painstaking care prepared the most magnificent and satisfactory presentation of the

WORLD'S COLUMBIAN EXPOSITION

Possible. The grand and beautiful sights are most enchanting, every department faithfully represented as it actually appears at Chicago. The whole described, as the scenes appear, in a carefully prepared lecture. Mr. Tully certainly gives the best idea of the world's accumulated treasures at the Great Columbian Exposition at Chicago obtainable.

Reduced Rates If You Take Both Trips.

"And the nights shall be filled with music,
And the cares that infest the day
Will fold up their tents like the Arabs,
And as silently steal away."

Longfellow knew the soothing power of music. Melody banishes care—smooths out the wrinkles on one's forehead—gives rest.

A piano in the house is better than medicine—helps more than a vacation.

A Gabler Piano

Doesn't cost any more than a summer trip. It lasts longer. Ten years hence and your piano is as good as new. A piano is furniture, it is entertainment, it is investment. We sell them for cash or easy payments. We also rent, but its better to buy.

S. D. LAUTER COMPANY

657 and 659 Broad Street, Newark, N. J.

$35.00 TO CHICAGO AND RETURN,

Including Hotel accommodations for five days at

FRANK'S

REDUCED RATES

Railroad and Steamship Ticket Agency,

345 and 347 BROADWAY, Cor. Leonard St., N. Y.

Lowest Rates to all parts of the World. Tickets purchased and exchanged. Sleeping Berths reserved. Baggage transferred.

MEMBER AMERICAN TICKET BROKERS' ASSOCIATION.

ELY'S CREAM BALM—Cleanses the Nasal Passages, Allays Pain and Inflammation, Heals the Sores, Restores Taste and Smell, and Cures

CATARRH

Gives Relief at once for Cold in Head. Apply into the Nostrils.—It is Quickly Absorbed. 50c. Druggists or by mail. ELY BROS., 56 Warren St., N. Y.

CATARRH
COLD in HEAD
ELY'S CREAM BALM

CRAZY, AND STOPPED THE CARS.

AN INSANE WOMAN MAKES TROUBLE FOR THE ELECTRIC ROAD.

The motor-men and conductors of the electric cars were troubled on Saturday by a wild woman, who threw herself in front of the cars as they went by the car house on Fourth street, and tried to tell the men her woes.

She says her husband is crazy, and that he should be shut up. She is also afraid that "they" (she does not specify who) are going to take her house away from her. Her name is Mrs. Samuel K. Doty, and she lives on Fourth street near Fondville. Early this morning she besieged the car house and tried to get the ear of superintendent Passmore, who, she says, is the only man who can shut up her husband and protect her house. Policeman Kiely went to her house at about 11 this morning and took her into custody, and she will be examined for lunacy.

Mrs. Doty is a woman about 45, dresses well, and wears diamond ear-rings and yellow mitts.

AN OCTOGENARIAN DEAD.

His Ancestors Settled and Named Piscataway.

(Bound Brook Chronicle.)

One of the oldest and most highly respected residents of this vicinity, John S. Randolph, died at his home, a short distance southwest of this place, early last Sunday morning. He had been troubled more or less for some months past, with cancer of the stomach.

About three years ago the late Frederick Cook prepared for this paper several sketches of our oldest inhabitants, including one of Mr. Randolph, which was published in THE CHRONICLE of Sept. 5, 1890. From that article the following facts are learned:

Elizabeth Blossom came to this country with her parents, when a child, from Nottingham, Eng., in the Mayflower, landing on Plymouth Rock in 1620. Edw. F. Randolph came from Nottingham 10 years later. In 1646 these two young people were married in Barnstable, Mass. Soon after they removed to and settled in Piscataway, N. J., naming it after Piscataway, New England. The grandfather of John S. Randolph lived on what is now the Township farm, Piscataway, during the Revolution. The father of John S. Randolph lived at Martin's Dock, New Brunswick, afterwards purchased of Stephen Vail the grist mill, situated a short distance from Greenbrook, near the Rice place. Here John S. Randolph was born in 1813. His mother was Harriet Runyon. He came to Bound Brook in boyhood, attended school and entered business here, living for several years with John H. Voorhees. He was engaged for ten years in the grain business, after which he purchased in 1840 the farm where he died.

The funeral was held at the old farmhouse Tuesday morning and many were the neighbors and friends who were present to pay their last sad token of respect to the memory of this good old man. The Rev. Mr. Fletcher, pastor of the New Market Baptist church, conducted the service, Mr. Randolph having been a member of that church for a long term of years. Interment was made in the Bound Brook cemetery, the remains being followed to the grave by a lengthy train of carriages.

NO STRIFE AMONG THE FRIENDS.

Eminent Counsel Arranged a Settlement Just as the Good People Wished It.

In deference to the wishes of the Society of Friends, the Plainfield newspapers have almost entirely refrained from reference to the legal matters which it was known were under consideration by that society. Erroneous accounts having appeared in certain New York dailies, the Friends have consented that this brief statement may be made.

All matters in dispute have been settled in a friendly way. The property in question consisted of the meeting-house property near the railway station in Plainfield, and similar property in Rahway. These properties and their burial plot in Rahway are by the settlement to be released from all adverse claim. The Rahway meeting-house property referred to, being no longer used by the Friends, will be sold, and the proceeds will be divided in certain proportions mutually agreed on between the Rahway Friends and the Plainfield Friends.

The Rahway Friends have had the legal advice of Cortlandt Parker and ex-senator B. A. Vail, and the Plainfield Friends that of Craig A. Marsh. It is a matter of principal with the Society of Friends to avoid strife and litigation except in case of necessity, and the settlement reached in the present instance is an exemplification of this principle. Suit was not even begun, but an agreement has been reached for the permanent settlement of all claims on both sides.

Whoopin' It Up for Plainfield.

(Elizabeth Journal.)

The Plainfield Republicans held a meeting Wednesday night to discuss the prospects of the party for the coming campaign. It must candidly be admitted that the Plainfield Republicans are always in the very forefront of every campaign, and that much of the hope of the Republican party throughout Union county rests on the sterling and aggressive Republicans of the city of Plainfield. Their's is, so far as we have heard, the first meeting held this year in the county, and they have undoubtedly struck the only campaign note which can possibly be made successful in the coming campaign. The Republican party is nothing if not moral. It must fight for moral issues. It is doomed to absolute and deserved defeat if, either in its platforms or in its nominations, it does not go before the people as the antagonists of wrong and as determined to do right.

Important Changes in Train Schedule.

The Pennsylvania Railroad company announces that beginning Sunday, July 2, the Atlantic Coast Line connection of the train leaving Philadelphia at 7:20 a. m. will be discontinued, and on the same day a new train to the south will be placed in service, called the "Atlantic Coast Line Express", leaving New York at 9:30 a. m. daily, and Philadelphia at 12:10 (noon). Sleeping cars now run to Jacksonville, Savannah and Charleston on the train leaving New York at 12:15 midnight, will be run on the new "Atlantic Coast Line Express" to Port Tampa, Columbia and Charleston, respectively. The sleeper now running on the train leaving New York at 9 p. m. to Port Tampa, will run to Jacksonville only.

Town Merchants Indignant.

The merchants of Plainfield, whom U. S. express manager Skiff has served so faithfully, are greatly aroused over his removal, and are preparing an indignant protest to be presented to the company. They are very bitter in their censure of editor Runyon of the Courier for his spiteful and malicious persecution of the abused agent.

His Past Record Assures Him.

(Bound Brook Democrat.)

The Stroller of the Plainfield Press is most assuredly right in placing first on the list for senator the name of senator Keys, whose past record will undoubtedly assure him a triumphant renomination and election.

THE MESSRS. FISK SAY SO TOO.

"Every Day's Delay Means Untold Ruin and Heartrending Distress."

The following address to the country was sent out this morning from the office of Harvey Fisk's Sons, three of whom are prominent Plainfielders:

Our country is threatened with one of the greatest disasters since the Civil War. Its institutions are being shaken to their very foundations. The demon Distrust is stalking about the land, from the Atlantic to the Pacific, leaving in his trail the countless wrecks of the work of thousands of its honorable citizens.

The standard of value by which the money of the poor man and the rich man is measured, is being trodden in the dust. Instead of twelve inches to the foot, we are forced to accept six or a little over. The actual value of our present silver dollar is but 53 cents, and growing less each day. Still this great American nation is obliged to calmly face inevitable ruin—the sweeping away of far more wealth than was involved in the great war between the North and the South, simply because its representatives are not called together in accordance with the authority vested in its Chief Executive, and forced to remove from the statute books the law which is eating away the vitals of American honesty, of American credit, and casting into a great abyss a century of financial honor.

Repeal the Silver Act of 1890. Every day's delay means untold ruin and heartrending distress. Our great United States is fast becoming a financial outcast among the nations of the world. The people of the United States are honest, yet our honesty is impugned.

We have made a mistake. We know it. It is the will of the people that this grave mistake shall be immediately corrected. Let the President convene Congress at once and then let the people in all parts of the land rise up and with righteous indignation demand that this law be immediately repealed.

This is "a Government of the people, for the people, and by the people." Let every officer of every financial institution, let every merchant, let all business and professional men, let every workingman, telegraph or write to the President of these, our beloved United States, and demand that without another day's delay he shall exercise the right given him, and immediately convene Congress in extra session.

Let there be no doubt left that at last every thinking man in this great country demands the protection which "the honest dollar" brings.

Very truly,
HARVEY FISK & SONS.

PLAINFIELD'S NEW POSTMASTER.

Messrs. Force and Stover the Only Prominent Candidates at Present.

Although there will be no change of postmaster in this city until February of next year, as President Cleveland will not under any consideration turn a good man out of such office, no matter what his politics, before his term is expired, yet the struggle among the Democrats who would like the appointment began long ago.

Congressman Dunn already finds himself in warm water about it. He is being coaxed every day to appoint this or that one, and pleaded with the next moment to pay no attention to their claims at all but consider wholly another's.

Ex-postmaster Force, and Mr. Martine's candidate, E. M. Stover, are really the only ones with any show in the race today. Mr. Dunn says he intends to appoint the man the people want, and will act accordingly just as soon as it is satisfactorily shown him who Plainfield does want. He is unpledged in this matter as in all others. He never makes promises before election that would tie his hands after, and prevent his serving the people in whatever way they might desire and suggest.

HOW MANY CANDLES!

Judge Moore's Birthday Party a Delightful Surprise.

A surprise was in store for judge C. K. Moore of Fanwood, Thursday, on his return from New York, occasioned by the presence of his mother, Mrs. Col. James Moore of Elizabeth, together with Miss Mary Lewis, and Masters Charles and Robert Willis, Lawrence Moore of Elizabeth, and Mrs. Blanchard Foegate and son of this city, who were all sitting around his dining table, in the center of which was an enormous cake, with eight candles all ablaze. Until that moment, the judge had not thought of it being his birthday anniversary, and from the number of the candles, made all sorts of combinations to arrive at his age. His mother prompted him as to the correct one, and while all were enjoying his embarrassment who should drop in but the Hon. Wm. Dougan of Gloversville, who had made the trip especially to congratulate the judge on the occasion. Charles T. Nightingale, jr., of Plainfield, accompanied by his father and mother, also paid their respects. These surprises are fully enjoyed—so says the court.

Sunday-School People Talk It Over.

The first annual convention of the Sunday-schools of Warren Township was held in the Mt. Bethel Baptist church Thursday evening. At 7:45 the convention was called to order by the township secretary, John G. Bicknell. After fifteen minutes of song and praise service, an address of welcome was given by the Rev. George Bowers, to which the township secretary made a brief response. An address was made by Miss Nettie J. Beeching, of Washingtonville, which was very interesting to all engaged in primary work. The Rev. E. Morris Ferguson, State secretary, of Trenton, delivered an eloquent address on "The Teacher's Responsibility". He said the teacher was responsible for five things, namely: Presence at school; place; attention of class; care of class and exercises of the school.

The reports of the superintendents followed, which proved to be very interesting. Before closing the convention a permanent township organization was formed.

Congratulations Both Ways.

[From the Rahway Democrat.]

The editorial fraternity of Union county has been recognized by President Cleveland in the appointment of James A. Demarest, of the Plainfield Press, as consul to Brockville, Canada, a very desirable position. We congratulate brother Demarest upon his good fortune, and also the administration upon the excellent selection. He has made a successful newspaper man, and will doubtless be as successful in his new and responsible position.

A Great Expositor.

The Lexington, Ky., Morning Transcript says of a Plainfield preacher at the Chautauqua Assembly: "At the same hour the Rev. Chas. E. Barnes, of the First M. E. church, Plainfield, New Jersey, delivered in Normal Hall, a highly interesting lecture on 'The Tabernacle and Its Construction'. Dr. Barnes will lecture daily to the Sunday-school Normal class, at 10 a. m. Dr. Barnes's abilities as an expositor of Biblical subjects are too well known to need commendation."

The Wife Would Not Testify.

Fred. Randolph, a colored man of Cottage place, threatened the policeman on that beat, Thursday night, and called him names. Sergeant Kiely arrested him last night, and he was up in the city court this morning. He pleaded guilty, but he would offend no more. The verdict of the court was $10 or 40 days. Randolph paid, and went home.

Philip Zimmer, who was fined the other day for beating his wife, was arrested for a repetion of the offense, last night, but this morning his spouse objected to testifying against him, so the court suspended sentence.

Just What Plainfield Wants.

The Scranton Truth says of the crematory built by Seymour G. Smith's company: "We now have a sure preventive for cholera and other contagious diseases. Garbage, dead animals and all refuse matter should be taken to the crematory, where they are burned without danger to health and free from all [illegible]

FRIEND POUND AT REST.

Fellow Townsmen and Townswomen Give Testimony of His Worth.

The obsequies of George Robinson Pound were held Friday afternoon in the Friends' meeting-house on Peace street. The rites were the first that had been observed in that building in a long time, and as Mr. Pound had been a respected resident of Plainfield and vicinity all his life, his friends filled the quaint edifice and listened to the words of praise and exhortation that those who were moved to speak poured forth with fervor and earnestness. The casket was placed in the center of the building, and was covered simply with black cloth; flowers were noticeably absent.

Aaron Powell spoke of the beautiful character of the deceased, and said it should serve as an example for everyone who desired to lead a good life.

The others who spoke were Friend Elizabeth Thistlethwait, Friend Francis Williams, and Friend Elias Underhill.

The interment took place in the cemetery in the rear of the meeting-house.

The deceased leaves a widow and one son to mourn their loss.

SUNDAY SELLING.

Are the Seventh-Days in Danger of Losing Their Rights.

A city official told a PRESS reporter this week that as a result of the Paoli case the common council would repeal the Sunday-selling ordinance and compel all shops, even genuine Seventh-Day ones, to keep closed Sunday. The Seventh-Days claim that the State law gives them just the same privilege as the ordinance, and that their right to keep open Sundays cannot be revoked. Still, some movement is afoot to prevent the Seventh-Day exemption from being used as a subterfuge, as is alleged in the Paoli case.

ANOTHER NEW CHURCH.

The German Lutherans So Successful They Will Build at Once on Grove Street.

The German Lutherans to-day purchased the property at the east corner of Mercer avenue and Grove street, for $2,000 cash. They will erect a church at once, and have it finished by October. The church has 40 members, and the Rev. Edward Kionka is the eloquent and esteemed young pastor. To marshal Pangborn credit is due for assisting in the transfer. The lot is a beautiful one, and has been held at a much higher figure for years. James Smith was the owner.

That New Bridge a Certainty.

The Plainfield bridge committee reported to the Union county board of freeholders, Thursday, that they met with the Somerset county representatives, and it was agreed to recommend the construction of a new iron bridge over Green brook, on Westervelt avenue, at a cost to Union county of not more than $1,800. It was also agreed to replank another Plainfield bridge, and to recommend that a new bridge be built over Cedar brook.

The report was received and the recommendations were adopted.

Appreciated Abroad.

The Poughkeepsie Eagle says: "The Jerseymen played a great game, and fairly won by excellent work. Turner pitched a nice game for the Plainfields, striking out 6. The Plainfield team are a gentlemanly lot of men, and will be welcomed here again. Among the Jerseymen here from Plainfield was Mr. Walter C. Dobbins, of the Plainfield Daily Press. Mr. Dobbins greatly enjoyed himself while in this city, not only by witnessing two fine games of ball, but also the moonlight excursion of the Washington M. E. church Tuesday evening."

The Press-News says: "We hope to have the Crescents here again during the season. Manager Keller was trying to arrange a date for our boys to play in Plainfield."

His Speedy Recovery Hoped For.

[From The Rahway Democrat.]

We regret to learn that Wm. L. Force, Esq., senior publisher of the Plainfield Press and Constitutionalist, was seriously injured Saturday night by a kick from a horse and fall from the carriage in which he was riding. We earnestly hope for his speedy recovery.

Your Painter

has often wasted time and material in trying to obtain a shade of color, and has even resorted to the use of ready mixed paints, the ingredients of which he knew nothing, because of the difficulty in making a shade of color with white lead. This waste can be avoided by the use of National Lead Company's

Pure White Lead Tinting Colors

These tints are a combination of perfectly pure colors, put up in small cans, and prepared so that one pound will tint 25 pounds of Strictly Pure White Lead to the shade shown on the can. By this means you will have the best paint in the world, because made of the best materials—and pure colors. Insist on having one of the brands of white lead that are standard, manufactured by the "Old Dutch" process, and known to be strictly pure:

Strictly Pure White Lead

"Atlantic" "Bradley"
"Brooklyn" "Jewett"
"Ulster"

These brands of Strictly Pure White Lead and National Lead Co.'s Pure White Lead Tinting Colors are for sale by the most reliable dealers in paints everywhere.

If you are going to paint, it will pay you to send to us for a book containing information that may save you many a dollar; it will only cost you a postal card.

NATIONAL LEAD CO.,
1 Broadway, New York.

SHERIFF'S SALE.—In Chancery of New Jersey.—Between the Trustees of the Episcopal Fund of the Diocese of Newark, complainants, and Francis L. Schoonmaker and Melissa M. Schoonmaker, defendants. Fi. fa. for sale of mortgaged premises.

By virtue of the above stated writ of fieri facias to me directed, I shall expose for sale by public vendue, at the court House in the City of Elizabeth, N. J., on at 2 o'clock in the afternoon of said day, all that tract or parcel of land and premises hereinafter particularly described, situate, lying and being in the City of Plainfield, in the County of Union, and State of New Jersey.

WEDNESDAY, THE TWELFTH DAY OF JULY, A. D. 1893,

Beginning at the corner formed by the intersection of the easterly line of Carlton avenue with the northerly line of Putnam street; thence running northerly along the said easterly line of Carlton avenue one hundred and seventy-five feet; thence easterly parallel with Putnam street one hundred and seventy-five feet to a stake and corner; thence southerly parallel with Carlton avenue, one hundred and seventy-five feet to the northerly line of Putnam street; thence westerly along the said northerly line of Putnam street one hundred and seventy-five feet to the point or place of beginning, together with the land in front of said premises to the center line of Putnam street and Carlton avenue to be used as public streets.

W. H. Hicks, Sheriff.
A. Q. Keasbey & Sons, Sol'rs.
CH&C [illegible]

SHERIFF'S SALE.—In Chancery of New Jersey. Between The Mutual Life Insurance Company of New York, complainant, and James E. Forbes et al., defendants. Fi. fa. for sale of mortgaged premises.

By virtue of the above stated writ of fieri facias to me directed, I shall expose for sale by public vendue at the court house, in the city of Elizabeth, N. J., on

WEDNESDAY THE 19th DAY OF JULY A. D. 1893, at two o'clock in the afternoon of said day, all [illegible]

W. H. Hicks, Sheriff.
Frederick G. Burnham, Sol'r.
[illegible]

MARY WASHINGTON.

Ladies About to Erect a Monument Over Her Grave.

Model of the Dignified Design Placed on Exhibition at the Columbian Exposition—A Severely Classic Memorial.

The ladies of the National Mary Washington Memorial association have an abiding faith in the country and sincerely believe that the women of America will provide sufficient funds to meet the cost of the monument which is shortly to be erected over the long-neglected grave of George Washington's mother at Fredericksburg, Va.

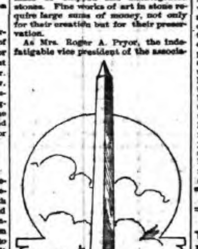
In view of this, says the New York Herald, they have awarded a contract for a beautiful memorial to the firm of John Crawford & Son, of Buffalo, who have prepared a model, which is now on exhibition in the Woman's building of the World's Columbian exposition in Chicago.

The memorial is simple, dignified and severely classic in design. It is a monolith, the most ancient form of a monument, and undoubtedly the most appropriate for the character of the woman over whom it is to be reared. It will be constructed of Vermont granite, the shaft forty feet in height, supported by a base ten feet in height, giving an extreme elevation of fifty feet. As it will rest upon the rising ground it is destined to be the most conspicuous object in the landscape in and about Fredericksburg.

In selecting the memorial the ladies of the association have not been unmindful of the character of Mary Washington. To many of the ladies of the association the severe simplicity of the shaft has been a disappointment. Their fancy and taste had suggested an exquisite structure of pure Italian marble, enriched by elaborate carving of the master sculptors of the country.

Reflection, however, will convince the friends of the association of the wisdom of the selection. A marble monument, with symbolic carving and delicate tracery, was projected for the grave a half century ago. A portion of it was erected, and this is now a mass of chipped and disintegrated stones. Fine works of art in stone require large sums of money, not only for their creation but for their preservation.

As Mrs. Roger A. Pryor, the indefatigable vice president of the association, has pointed out, Mary Washington was a simple Virginia housewife of sterling character. She was conspicuous for simplicity and had an aversion for anything smacking of eulogy, adulation or extravagance. She was a plain woman of the people, strong in her faith and her integrity. These qualities appealed to Lafayette, who said: "In her only of all women lives the Roman matron of modern days."



PROPOSED MONUMENT AT MARY WASHINGTON'S GRAVE.

Respect for her character and opinions influenced the association in selecting the simple form of memorial upon which the Messrs. Crawford are now engaged.

The path of the association has not been one strewn with roses. Unfriendly critics have censured the work; some the simplicity of the memorial, others its cost, while others still have complained of the delay and "desultory fashion" in which they claim the work has been carried forward.

To all such the association returns but one reply, embodying these points: That the fund has been slow of accumulation, and that the simple shaft over the ashes of the mother of Washington is in accordance with her character and the ability of the association. If there has been delay in erecting the monument, was there not also delay in building the great Washington monument, delay over Gen. Grant's tomb, and scores of others?

No cause is dearer to the ladies of the association than the completion of the work in hand. To that end they are devoting whatever they can command of time, thought, energy and patience. They now believe that the exhibition of the model at the world's fair will result in crowning the efforts of years and succeed in securing ample funds for all needs.

Among the methods which the ladies will pursue to secure money will be the establishment of life memberships. The payment of $25 will entitle a person to life membership privileges and a silver medal, while for $50 the association will provide a gold medal. The medal is a five-pointed star with a bas-relief of the head of Mary Washington in the middle, the initials of the association in blue and white enamel on the points of the obverse side, and the Washington coat-of-arms on the reverse.

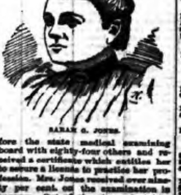
Prevalence of Bicycles.

One out of every 150 inhabitants of the United States owns or rides a bicycle.

DOWN IN VIRGINIA.

A Colored Woman Is the Old State's First Female Physician.

Sarah G. Jones, M. D., the first woman to be licensed to practice medicine in Virginia, is a daughter of George W. Boyd, the leading colored contractor and builder of Richmond. She was born in Albemarle county, Va., and educated in the public schools of Richmond, being graduated in 1883. She then taught in the schools of Richmond for five years. In 1888 Miss Boyd was married to M. R. Jones, who, at that time, was also a teacher, but now is G. W. A., secretary of the true reformers. Mrs. Jones entered Howard medical college, Washington, D. C., in 1890, and was graduated this year with the degree of M. D. She appeared before the state medical examining board with eighty-four others and received a certificate which entitles her to secure a license to practice her profession. Mrs. Jones received over ninety per cent. on the examination in surgery. Out of the class of eighty-five twenty-one white graduates, representing several colleges, failed to pass. Dr. Jones and her husband are representatives of the best society of colored people in the state and are well-to-do people. When a schoolteacher she was known as one of the brightest young colored women in the city. She will practice among her race.

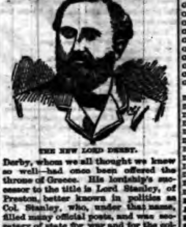


SARAH G. JONES.

THE NEW LORD DERBY.

His Common Sense or Family Noted for His Love of Humor.

The late Lord Derby had none of the gravity of his father, which forbade the [illegible] seriously, even when he was prime minister of England, and which levity was often the despair of his more solemn colleagues. His son, who was learned beyond his contemporaries in political lore, gravely wondered whether a great statesman was ever as ignorant as his father. The father returned the compliment by calling his son a "Blue Book in Breeches." Yet, for all these obvious divergencies in character, father and son were alike in possessing a strong sense of humor; but while with the father it showed in public, the late lord kept his humor for his intimates. He was an excellent companion, and loved to laugh and to make laugh. Perhaps no incident in his eventful career could so have touched his feeling for humor as the fact that he—the staid, formal, unromantic, conventional Lord Derby, whom we all thought we knew so well—had once been offered the throne of Greece. His lordship's successor to the title is Lord Stanley, of Preston, better known in politics as Col. Stanley, who, under that name, filled many official posts, and was secretary of state for war and for the colonies. He is at present governor general of Canada.



THE NEW LORD DERBY.

An Alligator's Nest.

Alligators' nests resemble haycocks more than anything else to which they can be compared. They average about 4 feet in height and about 8 feet in diameter, and are constructed of grasses and herbage. First the mother 'gator deposits one layer of eggs on a mortar-like floor, and having covered this with a stratum of mud and herbage about 8 inches thick lays another set of eggs upon that and so on to the top, there being commonly from 100 to 200 eggs in the nest. With their tails the parents then beat down the tall grass and weeds to prevent the approach of unseen enemies. The female watches her eggs until they are hatched by the heat of the sun, and then takes her brood under her own care, defending them and providing for their subsistence. Dr. Lutzemburg, of New Orleans, once packed one of these nests for shipment to St. Petersburg, but the young hatched out before they were started on their long journey, and were kept about the doctor's premises, running all over the house, up and downstairs, whining like young puppies.

Railroads.

The Pennsylvania Railroad.

The Standard Railway of America

Perfected throughout by the Interlocking switch and Block Signal System.

On and after Feb. 19, 1893, trains will leave Elizabeth as follows:

8.52 a. m.—COLUMBIAN EXPRESS daily. Pullman vestibule sleeping cars to Chicago and Cincinnati, dining, smoking and vestibule passenger coaches from New York to Chicago. [illegible]

[illegible] FAST LINE, with Pullman [illegible] St. Louis, daily, except Saturday [illegible]

[illegible] WESTERN EXPRESS, with Pullman [illegible] sleeping cars, dining car daily for [illegible] Chicago, Cleveland, daily except Saturday, for Toledo, Williamsport, Rochester, Buffalo and Niagara Falls.

8.24 p. m.—SOUTHWESTERN EXPRESS with Pullman vestibule sleeping car, daily, to Columbus, Cincinnati, Indianapolis, St. Louis, and Memphis. Dining car Altoona to Richmond.

[illegible] p. m. [illegible]

For Baltimore, Washington and the South—[illegible]

[illegible]

FOR ATLANTIC CITY

3.35 p. m. week-days, with through Buffet parlor cars and day coaches.

Cape May, Sea Isle City and Ocean City, [illegible]

For Trenton—[illegible]

[illegible]

A full line of tickets are on sale, and sleeping car accommodations can be secured at the ticket office at Elizabeth.

For further information, see time tables to be had at the ticket offices.

S. M. PREVOST, General Manager.
J. R. WOOD, Gen. Pass. Agent.

Central Railroad of New Jersey.

(Anthracite coal used exclusively insuring cleanliness and comfort.)

Station in New York foot of Liberty Street. Time Table in Effect JUNE 25, 1893

PLAINFIELD AND NEW YORK.

Leave Plainfield [illegible]

Leave New York from foot of Liberty street, [illegible]

PLAINFIELD AND NEWARK.

Leave Plainfield [illegible]

Passengers for Newark change cars at Elizabeth.

PLAINFIELD AND SOMERVILLE.

Leave Plainfield [illegible]

PLAINFIELD AND EASTON.

Leave Plainfield [illegible]

PLAINFIELD AND LAKE HOPATCONG.

Leave Plainfield [illegible]

WESTWARD CONNECTIONS.
LEAVE PLAINFIELD

[illegible]

Long Branch, Ocean Grove, etc.

[illegible]

ROYAL BLUE LINE.

[illegible]

J. H. OLHAUSEN, General Supt.
H. P. BALDWIN, Gen. Pass. Agt.

TELEPHONE COMPANY!

SPEAKING CONNECTION WITH OVER 12,000 SUBSCRIBERS—PROTECTION FROM FIRE AND BURGLARS. PLAINFIELD, N. J.

Central Office—49 North Avenue.

Subscriber's Name	Address.
Albion Hotel, The	Park av and 5th st
Ames, C J	13 Crescent ave.
Alert Hose Co., No 1	Madison ave.
Ackerman, Mrs. J. H.	23 West 7th street
Adams, Dr D C	44 Grove st
Brakeley, F W	Dunellen
Brokaw, Isaac N	Bound Brook
Babcock, Geo H	5th and Union sts.
Barcalow & Dunn	17 North ave.
Boone, W. C., M. D.	Cor. Front & Central Av.
Bunnell, John	Central ave. and 9th st.
Beerbower, J B	Park av and 2d st
Berg, Jos F, M D	10 E 6th st
Board of Education—6th st. 5th and Union sts
Booth, E N	26 Madison ave
	4th & Liberty, 6th & Monroe
Clark, B B	3 Waywood place
Children's Home	Jackson ave.
Closson, James T	Richmond and Front sts.
Constitutionalist Office	2 North ave.
Cook, A D & Bro	Park ave and RR.
Cooley, Dr J E	Manning and Westervelt aves.
Cox, Rowland	Seventh st
Chapman, Mrs. E. A.	9 Third Place
Cruikshank, S. A.	126 Carlton avenue
Carman, J H, M D	40 Somerset st
Chase, B F M	Somerset st
Central Pharmacy, (J H Leggett, Mgr.)	Park ave and Front st
Daily Press	2 North ave.
Depew, Mrs. E. H	18 Crescent ave.
Day, Frank	50 W. Fourth st.
Davis, Dr T S	Cor 6th st & Park av
Day, B M	Rockview ave
Demarest, P M	77 Park av
Demott, John B	30 E 7th st
Docker, T—pay station	Westfield, N J
DeGraff, James	22 E 9th st
Doane, T O—Chief P F D	40 W 9th st
[illegible], S L	122 Madison av
Davis & Stevens, coal and wood	Office W Front
Endicott, Dr Geo W	Park ave. and 4th st.
Evening News, T. W. Morrison, Editor	7 Court st.
Engine No 1	West 3d st.
Engine No 2	Front st.
Engine No 3	Somerset st.
Evans, Geo C	27 Washington ave
Fisk, Chas. J	25 West Seventh St
Fanwood, pay station	Fanwood station
Freight House	C. RR. Depot.
French, F M & Sons	Somerset st.
Fritts, Dr J T	72 Park ave.
Fleming, Howard	26 Park avenue
Fisk, Pliny	4 W 7th st
French, O Frank	69 Somerset st
Grant, Geo W, Chief of Police	25 W 6th st
Goddard, U M	17 Third Place.
Griffen, A M	13 E Front st.
Gaston, M. D., W P	5th and New sts
Gilbert, A	Cor Central av & 6th st
Howell & Hardy	North Avenue
Heyniger, L	61 & 63 Somerset street.
Hageman, D. A	107 Sycamore avenue.
Hedges, Dr. Ellis W	46 East Front st.
Hyde, Chas	146 Front street.
Hedden, Albert	4th st. near Park ave.
Higgins, M. A	76 East 4th st—36 North ave
Hatfield, John N	204 South 2d st—11 Park av
Harder, Francis C	133 Madison av
Hermance, O	Netherwood
Hoagland's City Express	30 North av
Jenkins, Dr. O. L	66 W. Front st.
Jones, Evan	13 Kensington st
Kirkner, J	5th and Division sts.
[illegible], W T	46 W 7th st
Lowrie, Rev Robert	Madison ave and 9th st.
[illegible], N	Crescent ave
Lord, Wm A	Belvidere av
Loomis & Rice	[illegible] 40 Broadway
Laire, J P & Co	3 W Front st
Linke, Frank	43 W Front st
Lounsberry, F C	13 Plainfield ave
Myers, J K	17 East 7th st
Melick, Henry A	Willow ave
Melick, James	Willow ave.
Miller, J G	10 E. Front st.
Moore, Geo. A	30 North ave
Muhlenberg Hospital	South ave.
Murray, Dr. Wm. H	107 Broadway
Matthews, Chas	49 Grove st
Pond Mach Tool Co.	Boulevard below Grant av
Pierce Hardware Co.	43 W Front st
Reed, Chas A	27 Myrtle ave
Milliken, B F	130 Central
Morrison, T W	11 Somerset st
MacDonald, J F	46 E Front st
yers, Lawrence	3 Front st
Netherwood Hotel	Netherwood.
Newhall, Henry B	16 E 7th st.
N J Postal Tel Co	4 Park ave
Reynolds, H P	Park and North ave.
Reynolds, E. F	Washington avenue
Roberts, D S	17 North avenue.
Rockfellow, Geo W	Park and North ave.
Runyon, A M & Son	Park ave.
Runyon, A M & Son	46 Madison ave
Rushmore, Dr Edward	Park ave. near Fifth st
Roome, Mrs J	Cor. Mercer & Sycamore aves.
Rankin, H. G	9th st
Runyon, Chas W	Park ave
[illegible] W. & Co	[illegible] cor. Emily and Duer sts
Randolph, L W	Front st
Rogers, D W	W 4th st
Rogers, N P jr	24 Westervelt ave
Stover, H W	20 east 9th st
Serrell, Lemuel W	Front st. and Plainfield ave
Seguine, C. J	40 Front street.
Shaw, R J	Front st. opp. Park ave.
Streuli, A S	Prospect ave.
Smith, W P	Belvidere av., Netherwood
Shephard, A D	Fanwood
Smith, Jas A	13 W Front st
Scott, Walter & Co	South ave
Smith, Chas A	Spring st., Westfield, N J
Stelle, Irving G	Sixth st
Terrill & Cole	16 E Front st
Thompson, A. D	29-31 North av
Talmadge, Henry P (Res)	Netherwood.
Thickstun, Jno A	Madison av
Titsworth, Joe M	30 W. 7th st.
Tomlinson, Dr T H	La Grande and E B'dwy
Tobin & Enander	21 North av
Tracy, J Evarts	8th and Division st
Thorn, Alex	27 Somerset st
Tweedy, C. B.	11 Crescent avenue
Townsend, Samuel	29 Rockview av
Thompson, A D	Prospect ave
Telegraph Office	Plainfield station
Thorn, E	16 W Front st
United States Express Co	2 North ave
Union Co Country Club	Cor 7th st & Arlington
Van Sickle W. J	10 North ave
Wharton, Clifton	17 Central av
Wolfman, C	West Seventh street
Wadsworth, W B	8th and Liberty sts
Western Union Telegraph Company	at Depot
[illegible], J F	W 8th st., near Grand ave
Waters, R, Ass't Chief	3d st near Washington
Westfield, pay station	Westfield, N J
[illegible] O C	146 E Front st

TELEPHONE TOLL RATES,
FOR FIVE MINUTES CONVERSATION.

PLANFIELD, NEW JERSEY

Asbury Park, N J	[illegible]	Hempstead N Y	[illegible]
Astoria, N Y	[illegible]	Hoboken N J	[illegible]
Babylon, N Y	[illegible]	Hunter's Point N Y	[illegible]
[illegible]	[illegible]	Irvington N J	[illegible]
Bayonne N J	[illegible]	Islip N Y	[illegible]
Bergen Point N J	[illegible]	Jamaica N Y	[illegible]
Bayside N Y	[illegible]	Jersey City N J	[illegible]
Bay Shore N Y	75c	Keyport N J	[illegible]
[illegible]	[illegible]	Kingston N J	[illegible]
Belleville N J	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]
[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]
Bloomfield N J	[illegible]	Little Neck N Y	[illegible]
[illegible]	[illegible]	Little Silver N J	[illegible]
[illegible]	[illegible]	Long Branch N J	[illegible]
Brooklyn N Y	[illegible]	Madison N J	[illegible]
Caldwell N J	[illegible]	Matawan N J	[illegible]
Carlstadt N J	[illegible]	Millburn N J	[illegible]
[illegible]	[illegible]	Montclair N J	[illegible]
Chatham N J	[illegible]	Morristown N J	[illegible]
Chester N J	[illegible]	Newark N J	[illegible]
[illegible]	75c	New Brunswick N J	[illegible]
Coney Island N Y	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]
[illegible]	[illegible]	New York N Y	[illegible]
Dover N J	[illegible]	Orange N J	[illegible]
[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]
[illegible]	[illegible]	Passaic N J	[illegible]
Elizabeth N J	[illegible]	Paterson N J	[illegible]
Englewood N J	[illegible]	Perth Amboy N J	[illegible]
Fairview N J	[illegible]	Rahway N J	[illegible]
[illegible]	[illegible]	Red Bank N J	[illegible]
Far Rockaway N Y	[illegible]	Seabright N J	[illegible]
Flatbush N Y	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]
Flushing N Y	[illegible]	South Amboy N J	[illegible]
Fort Lee N J	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]
Franklin Park N J	[illegible]	Staten Island N Y	[illegible]
Freehold N J	[illegible]	Westfield N J	[illegible]
[illegible]	[illegible]	Woodbridge N J	[illegible]
Glen Cove N Y	[illegible]	Yonkers N Y	[illegible]
Gravesend N Y	[illegible]	Trenton N J	[illegible]
Hackensack N J	[illegible]	Tarrytown N Y	[illegible]

TWENTY

Yearsexperienceinthebusiness.

SECOND STREET, 2 doors above Peace street

Mr. JOHN E. STEVENS, Horseshoer, gives particular attention to Shoeing, Forging, Stumbling and Interfering Horses. Speedy Cutters stopped in an incredible short space of time. Horses with diseased feet attended to in a particular manner by experienced workmen.

ALBERT HEDDEN,
Livery and Boarding Stables
FOURTH STREET,
Between Peace street and Park Avenue.
First-Class Livery
Horses boarded by Week or Month.
Telephone call No. 154.

ADMINISTRATOR'S SETTLEMENT.—Notice is hereby given that the account of the subscriber, administrator of [illegible]

ALVAH A. CLARK.

Dated May 4, 1893. [illegible]

ADMINISTRATOR'S SETTLEMENT.—Notice is hereby given that the account of the [illegible] Wednesday, the nineteenth day of July next.

[illegible]

Dated May 8, 1893. [illegible]

THE EPWORTH LEAGUE.

Its Beautiful Memorial Church at Cleveland, O.

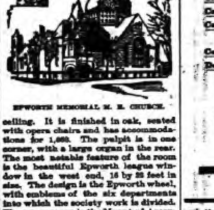
One of the Handsomest Edifices in the United States—Erected on the Spot Where the League Was Founded in 1889.

Four years ago May 15 in the little side room of the Central M. E. church of Cleveland, O., was founded what has since grown into one of the greatest religious societies of the world. The Epworth league was the crystallization of five feeble societies of the Methodist Episcopal church into one. When organized it had scarcely 1,500 chapters and 60,000 members. To-day its chapters exceed 9,000, its membership approximates 700,000, and in every state and territory of the union as well as in many foreign lands its significant Greek cross is proudly worn.

On the site of the old frame church where the Epworth league was organized May 14-15, 1889, has recently been dedicated the handsomest church structure in northern Ohio and an edifice that is excelled in completeness and perfection of arrangements by few churches in the country. It is to stand as the memorial of the organization of the league and bears the name "Epworth Memorial Methodist Episcopal church."

The church structure departs from many of the traditional lines of American church architecture, being a combination of Byzantine and Romanesque in an original manner, and was designed by Architect S. R. Badgley, of Cleveland. The effect is an admirable arrangement of space for all the numerous departments of modern church work, and a building destined to attract wide attention for architectural beauty. The walls are of gray St. Lawrence marble in rock-faced, irregular ashler blocks, and are surmounted by a magnificent dome 135 feet high. The site is the corner of Prospect street and Willson avenue, in the center of a very choice residence district, and has a frontage of 140 feet on Willson avenue and 115 feet on Prospect street.

The main auditorium is 71 feet square, with the splendid great dome for its ceiling. It is finished in oak, seated with opera chairs and has accommodations for 1,000. The pulpit is in one corner, with a large organ in the rear. The most notable feature of the room is the beautiful Epworth league window in the west end, 16 by 28 feet in size. The design is the Epworth wheel, with emblems of the six departments into which the society work is divided. The upper scene is the Mount of Ascension and represents the spiritual work of the league. Next is the Good Samaritan, emblematic of mercy and help. Christ and the doctors symbolize the literary, the home at Bethany the social side of the league, John on Patmos the correspondence work and Christ and the tribute money the financial. In the center is the Greek cross and in small circles portraits of John and Susanna Wesley. The workmanship is as finished as the design is elaborate. Few more beautiful and artistic windows can be found in America.



EPWORTH MEMORIAL M. E. CHURCH.

The Sunday school room has a capacity of 1,200, and its twenty class rooms are shut off by sliding doors, which operate by hydraulic rams directed from an electric keyboard. The finish is Georgia pine and the ceiling paneled glass, like an art gallery. The Epworth parlor seats 300 and the ladies' parlor the same number. These can all be thrown together into a vast audience room seating over 2,800. Besides these there are the pastor's office, a library for young men to be open day and evening, and kitchen arrangements for serving refreshments. The ventilation is by means of a great blower in the basement and is the best possible.

The church society has a membership of 600. Rev. B. F. Dimmick has been its pastor during this construction period, and has done much to stimulate and direct the work, of which every lover of fine architecture in Cleveland is proud.

Paper Stockings for Warmth.

Paper stockings are a new German invention. A Berlin shoe trade journal says that the stockings are made of a specially-prepared impregnated paper stock, which, it is claimed, has an extraordinary effect on perspiring feet. The moisture is absorbed by the paper as rapidly as it is formed, and the feet remain dry and warm, while the constant temperature maintained in the shoes is said to be a great preventive of colds.

The Old Horse Got Even.

James Deity, of Bethlehem, Pa., has a horse. Three weeks ago Deity whipped the animal. The horse showed plainly a disposition to get even. One morning he attacked Deity in the stable, tore two pieces of flesh from his face, knocked him down, and would have killed him had not another driver rescued him.

The Bible in Verse.

Senor Carulla, of Madrid, has published an edition of the Bible in verse.

Births in Workhouses.

Nearly 1,000 children are born yearly in London workhouses.

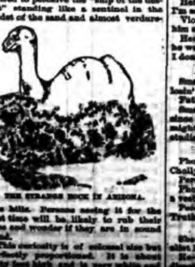
A CAMEL IN GRANITE.

Curious Rock Formation Found in the Interior of Arizona.

Curious rock formations are to be found all over the world, but most of them require a long stretch of the imagination before the objects they are said to represent can be seen. The well-known pictured rock known as the "Old Man of the Mountain" is possibly the most perfect natural curiosity of the kind in the country, when viewed from the west under certain atmospheric conditions. There are a dozen natural wonders of the same kind scattered over the country, all more or less perfect, but in Arizona there is one that is deserving of first place.

It is a short distance east of the stage road between Tucson and Oracle, and stands on a knoll several feet above the surrounding sand hills. When first seen the effect is startling, and the mind has to get over a shock before the peculiar object can be comprehended. It is a most perfect representation of a camel, and is formed of one piece of granite.

No effort of the imagination is required to perceive the "ship of the desert" standing like a sentinel in the midst of the sand and almost verdureless hills. Persons seeing it for the first time will be likely to rub their eyes and wonder if they are in sound mind.



THE STRANGE ROCK IN ARIZONA.

This curiosity is of colossal size but perfectly proportioned. It is about sixty feet high and is very white and smooth. There are very few fissures ed the surface, and they, strangely, are in the proper places to form features. The only real projection from the surface is exactly placed for an eyebrow. The two humps are plainly to be seen and the neck is curved beautifully.

The rock is really a solid piece rising from the ground, but the effect of legs is produced by a clump of dark-colored brush that grows beside the stone. The white stone shows plainly at both sides of the brush and the effect of legs is unmistakably produced.

The strangest part of it is that it looks like a camel from all sides and at all times of the day or night. There is no disguising the resemblance.

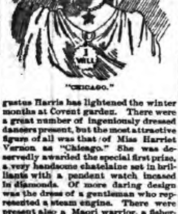
How the rock got into its present shape is one of the great mysteries of nature. It has, no doubt, stood in its present position for ages, and was possibly a prominent landmark of the Aztecs in the days when they lived in the land, and the chances are that it will keep guard over the desert long after the present civilization has passed away.

GLORIOUS CHICAGO.

An English Girl Who Represented Her Wins a Handsome Prize.

The wonderful new city of the exposition is a subject of special interest in old London town just now. The liberal way in which England and English products are represented shows the enthusiasm with which our transatlantic cousins have entered into the spirit of the greatest of international shows.

Recently London has been entertained with a comic opera bearing the name of the world's fair city, and now a young lady who personated the world-compelling damsel "I Will" has carried off a very handsome prize. The occasion was the last of a series of fancy dress balls with which Sir Augustus Harris has lightened the winter months at Covent garden. There were a great number of ingeniously dressed dancers present, but the most attractive figure of all was that of Miss Harriet Vernon as "Chicago." She was deservedly awarded the special first prize, a very handsome chatelaine set in brilliants with a pendent watch incased in diamonds. Of more daring design was the dress of a gentleman who represented a steam engine. There were present also a Maori warrior, a fisherman clad in his nets, a lady covered with pledges and bearing on her head the familiar sign of a pawnbroking establishment.



"CHICAGO."

A Monster Advertisement.

The largest advertisement that has ever been thrown out for wondering humanity to gaze upon is that of the Glasgow News, made of flower beds on the side of a mountain back of Ardenlea, Scotland. The words: "Glasgow News," can be seen and plainly read at a distance of four miles. The length of each letter is 40 feet, the total length of the line 225 feet, and the area covered by the letters 14,845 feet. The borders of the bed are sown with white flowers, the centers with red and purple. The effect from a distance is said to be very grand.

Heartbreaking.

Henriette—Have you any jolly news? I'm so melancholy.

Violet—Oh, Jack's uncle had just left him a million!

Henriette (who refused Jack because he was poor)—Do you call that jolly? I don't! (Renews her tears.)—Life.

Losing Interest.

Small Boy—I think our teacher is losin' interest in us.

Father—Why so?

Small Boy—It's 'most two weeks since she reminded us boys that we might grow up to be president, if we studied hard.—Good News.

Could Use It.

Phoebe—What are you going to give Cholly for a birthday present?

Perdita—A razor.

Phoebe—A razor! Pshaw! He hasn't a vestige of a mustache.

Perdita—No, but he has corns.—Truth.

Fitted for It by Nature.

She—What a charming conversationalist Mr. Fleecy is, to be sure.

He—Yes, he has a great gift in that direction. I've often thought that Fleecy missed it when he decided not to go into the bunco business.—Judge.

MISCELLANEOUS | MISCELLANEOUS.

E. P. THORN,
No. 17 Park Avenue,
PLAINFIELD, N. J.

Pure Wines and Liquors,
For Family and Medicinal Use,
A SPECIALTY.

3-26-y

CASTORIA
for Infants and Children.

THIRTY years' observation of Castoria with the patronage of millions of persons, permit us to speak of it without guessing. It is unquestionably the best remedy for Infants and Children the world has ever known. It is harmless. Children like it. It gives them health. It will save their lives. In it Mothers have something which is absolutely safe and practically perfect as a child's medicine.

Castoria destroys Worms.
Castoria allays Feverishness.
Castoria prevents vomiting Sour Curd.
Castoria cures Diarrhœa and Wind Colic.
Castoria relieves Teething Troubles.
Castoria cures Constipation and Flatulency.

Castoria neutralizes the effects of carbonic acid gas or poisonous air.
Castoria does not contain morphine, opium, or other narcotic property.
Castoria assimilates the food, regulates the stomach and bowels, giving healthy and natural sleep.
Castoria is put up in one-size bottles only. It is not sold in bulk.
Don't allow any one to sell you anything else on the plea or promise that it is "just as good" and "will answer every purpose."
See that you get C-A-S-T-O-R-I-A.

The fac-simile signature of Chas. H. Fletcher is on every wrapper.

Children Cry for Pitcher's Castoria.

ABYSSINIAN MONKS.

Their Life Seems Enjoyable to an English Traveler.

They Retain Third Century Customs and Have Most Remarkable Relics—The Famous Monastery of Debra Bizen.

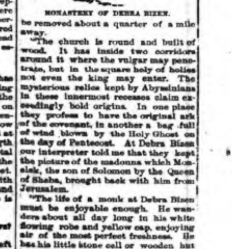
Abyssinia is a country of queer customs and a strangely interesting land. The people are, for the most part, dirty and immoral, inferior in many respects to the Kaffirs of South Africa, but they are Christians, and have retained in its ancient simplicity the religion that was taught them in the third century.

Among Abyssinians the man who kills a lion is a popular hero, and is awarded the proud privilege of wearing about his head the name of the beast he has slaughtered, a privilege that is prized as highly as knighthood among Europeans, and makes its possessor a man of mark to the end of his life.

Some interesting, rare and exceedingly valuable relics they are possessed of, too, or think they are. Here is an account of a visit to the monastery of Bizen by J. Theodore Bent, who recently returned from Abyssinia:

"We started off at break of day to visit the monks. It took us three hours to reach the summit, where the monastery of Debra Bizen, or 'The Church of the Vision,' is placed, and truly the name has been well bestowed, for no more lovely vision could be imagined than the one which lay before us. We could easily see Massowah and the Red sea coast line, and the folds of rich blue mountains to the right and left of us as we stood on the pinnacle of the sacred mountain were glorious to behold.

"My wife and I reached the holy precincts unobserved. We were seeking out for ourselves a spot where we could repose, when down came the monks, mute with horror at a woman having approached so near. In vain we expostulated and pleaded fatigue, in vain we said we were English and determined to hold our ground. The monks sat around weeping and exclaiming: 'Better for us to die than to permit a woman to stay here.' Seeing their genuine distress, my wife permitted her objectionable and weary person to be removed about a quarter of a mile away.



MONASTERY OF DEBRA BIZEN.

"The church is round and built of wood. It has inside two corridors around it where the vulgar may penetrate, but in the square holy of holies not even the king may enter. The mysterious relics kept by Abyssinians in these innermost recesses claim exceedingly bold origins. In one place they profess to have the original ark of the covenant, in another a bag full of wind blown by the Holy Ghost on the day of Pentecost. At Debra Bizen our interpreter told me that they kept the picture of the madonna which Menelek, the son of Solomon by the Queen of Sheba, brought back with him from Jerusalem.

"The life of a monk at Debra Bizen must be enjoyable enough. He wanders about all day long in his white flowing robe and yellow cap, enjoying air of the most perfect freshness. He has his little stone cell or wooden hut beneath the shadow of the rock. He has his refectory, where he meets his fellows twice a day at meal times—that is to say, when there is no fast on, and fasts in the Abyssinian calendar are many and rigorous. On festival days he is very busy chanting and dancing in the church. He never marries. He knows nothing of the world or its vices. His existence is a negative one—he does neither harm nor good to his fellow creatures."

Dick Follows Instructions.

Mother—Do you take a spoonful of that medicine before each meal, as the doctor ordered?

Little Dick—Yes'm.

"Seems to me it's lasting a long while. The directions call for a dessert spoon, you know."

"Yes'm."

"Humph! which of the spoons do you use?"

"This one."

"That little bit of a thing? Why, that's an orange spoon."

"Well oranges is dessert, isn't they?"—Good News.

THE CONSTITUTIONALIST.

VOL. XXVI. PLAINFIELD, N. J., THURSDAY, JULY 13, 1893. No 28.

"Support the Constitution, which is the cement of the Union, as well in its limitations as in its authorities."—MADISON

Rates of Advertising

Space	Weeks 1	2	3	Months 1	2	3	6	12
1 in.	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]
2 in.	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]
3 in.	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]
4 in.	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]
5 in.	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]
¼ col.	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]
½ col.	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]
1 col.	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]

All Electro's must be solid metal.

Double cols. 50 per ct. advance of above rates.

PROFESSIONAL CARDS.

JACKSON & CODINGTON,
Counsellors-at-Law,
Commissioners of Deeds, Masters-in-Chancery, Notaries Public. Offices corner of Park avenue and Second street.—jeeif

GEORGE W. DAY,
General Auctioneer.
Sales of Personal Property solicited. P. O. Box 123, Dunellen, N. J., or address in care of CONSTITUTIONALIST. Terms reasonable.

DR. CHARLES E. THESSO,
Dentist,
49 West Front street. A new local anesthetic application for extracting teeth without pain. Gold filling a specialty.—jeeif

BUSINESS CARDS.

P. P. VanArsdale,
PIANO TUNER.
Instruments put in thorough order. Terms reasonable. Pianos and Organs for sale and to let. Orders by postal, P. O. box 180, or left at Willett's shoe store, No. 4 Park avenue, will receive prompt attention. Residence 91 E. Front street, corner Elm street. 3jy1yd

T. J. GILLIES,
Auctioneer & Real Estate Agent.
SALESROOM—Madison Avenue near Front St. Plainfield, N. J.
Goods received on consignment.

John Chandler,
CARPENTER AND BUILDER,
Plainfield, N. J.
Residence and shop No. 30 East Third street.
Jobbing promptly attended to. ap27

E. B. MAYNARD,
PRACTICAL BARBER
AND
Artistic Hair Dresser,
No. 26 PARK AVENUE.
Ladies' and Children's Hair Cutting done at their residences. Shaving, Shampooing, etc., satisfactorily performed. 31jy1

CARNEY BROTHERS, Agents,
7 West Front St.
TINNERS,
PLUMBERS,
GAS FITTERS.
PARLOR STOVES,
COOK STOVES,
HEATERS.

Grates and Bricks for all kinds of Stoves can be found here at Jobbers' prices. Bring your Tinware mending to us. The best Tinners, the best Plumbers, and the best Gas-fitters in this section. We use none but the very best of materials, and our work always gives satisfaction.

Keys of All Kinds are Made Here.
Tinware Made to Order.
Ranges, Brick and Portable Furnaces
SANITARY PLUMBING.

Parlor Stoves,
Furnaces, Ranges,
Water Piping, Plumbing.
Heater Work. Tinning,
Hardware.
A. M. GRIFFEN,
13 East Front Street.
TELEPHONE CALL, 6. 11 11-tf

Beautiful Assortment!
Furniture!
Largest Assortment!
Best Goods!
Lowest Prices!
Ever Offered in Plainfield!
23, 25 and 27 PARK AVE.
Garret Q. Packer.

SANITARY PLUMBING,
Brick and Portable Furnaces,
GAS FITTING,
TIN ROOFING,
Etc. Etc.

I am prepared to do any of the above branches in strictly first-class, sanitary and workmanlike manner.
Having associated myself with the Master Plumbers Association of New York City, I employ none but first-class mechanics and non-unionists. I believe in every man running his own business. Estimates furnished in all cases.
D. W. LITTELL,
No. 9 North Ave., Plainfield, N. J.

MISCELLANEOUS

FOR MALARIA,
GENERAL DEBILITY
AND
ALL STOMACH TROUBLES
COLES'
PERUVIAN BARK
AND
WILD CHERRY BITTERS
ARE THE BEST.
A Vegetable Substitute for Quinine.
SOLD BY ALL DRUGGISTS.
Price, 50 cents and $1.00 per Bottle.
PREPARED ONLY BY THE
D. F. COLES DRUG AND MFG. CO.
RAHWAY, N. J.
8-25-y

Jas. M. Dunn,
Dealer in
GROCERIES, PROVISIONS,
Vegetables, Fruits, etc.
No. 36 Park Ave.
OPPOSITE NORTH AVENUE.
THORBURN & CO'S GARDEN SEEDS
BEST IN THE WORLD.
ALL GOODS DELIVERED FREE OF CHARGE
sh6tf

ESTABLISHED 18 6.

C. E. & J. W. BROWN,
(Successors to G. F. & C. E. Brown & Co.)
Importers, Wholesale and Retail Dealers in
WALL PAPER.
321 Canal Street,
NEW YORK.
English Tiles, Anaglypta, Hand, Leather Raised Flock Papers, &c. Burlaps for Walls.
Manufacturers of Window Shades.
9-15-tf

LIVERY.

REMOVAL.
A. M. SEGUINE,
Has removed his office to
No. 8 West Second Street,
(Salvation Army building)
Where all orders left for carriages will receive prompt attention.
TELEPHONE CALL, NO. 94.
Your patronage is respectfully solicited.
A. M. SEGUINE.

RICKERT'S
ACCOMMODATION EXPRESS.
OFFICE—Vanderbeek's Music Store, Park avenue. The "Accommodation Express" will attend to the general carrying business of the city, delivering goods or baggage to and from the depot, or from place to place.
Moving of Furniture, Pianos, etc., with care and safety.

INSURANCE.

WILLIAM A. WOODRUFF,
FIRE AND LIFE
INSURANCE AGENT,
Office cor. Front St. and Park Ave.,
PLAINFIELD, N. J.
Real Estate for Sale & Exchange.
MONEY TO LOAN
On Approved Security.
Mar8tf

Fresh Garden Seeds
AND FERTILIZERS,
Farm and Garden Implements,
Lawn Mowers Refrigerators,
Ice Cream Freezer.
Gasolene Stoves, Hardware, Tools, etc.
J. J. HEIDELOFF,
No. 13 SOMERSET ST. 3-10-tf

WANTED—Reliable Parties
To act as agents. Steady employment and
Good Pay From the Start.
No experience necessary; outfit free. Address THE HAWKS NURSERY CO., Rochester New York. 3 22 3m e

WANTED.
Honest energetic men to solicit orders for FRUIT and ORNAMENTAL NURSERY STOCK.
Expenses and salary to those who can leave home and devote all their time to the work; or liberal commissions to local agents. State age, occupation and choice of territory. Address
R. G. CHASE & CO.,
1430 So. Penn Square, Philadelphia, Pa.
3 30 3m

CANOPIES
For Weddings, Parties, Etc.,
TO HIRE. CHARGES REASONABLE
Hugo Weigman,
30 EAST FRONT STREET, PLAINFIELD, N. J. mch6tf

LEWIS B. CODDINGTON,
(Successor to T. J. Carey.)
Furniture and Freight Express!
OFFICE—32 W. FRONT ST.
Large Covered Vans or Trucks. Goods delivered to any part of the U. S. Satisfaction guaranteed. Charges reasonable. P. O. Box 1. Piano moving a specialty.

TOBACCO, SEGARS, &c.

F. EGGERDING,
No. 17 Park Avenue,
PLAINFIELD, N. J.
Manufacturer of the Celebrated
U. O. D. CIGAR.
The best 5 cent cigar in the State, and made on the premises from the finest Havana.
CLEAR HAVANA SEGARS A SPECIALTY.
A large assortment of the Choicest Brands of Foreign and Domestic Cigars, Cigarettes and Tobaccos, always on hand.
Smokers Articles in Great Variety.
1myly

C. M. FINE,
Dealer in HAVANA & DOMESTIC
SEGARS!!
No. 28 PARK AVE., (near corner of SECOND ST.) PLAINFIELD, N. J.
Tobacco and Smoker's Materials, of every description.
Tansill's Celebrated "Old Judge" Smoking Tobacco, with other popular brands constantly on hand.
49m6

A. WOLFF,
Manufacturer of
CIGARS,
And dealer in all kinds of Smoking and Chewing Tobacco, and smokers' articles, has removed from 31 W. Front street, to 41 West Front, one door east of Madison avenue, and solicits the patronage of his friends and the public generally. 4 2 m

PAINTERS & PAINTERS SUPP

Paints, Varnishes, Glass.
WINDOW SHADES AND FIXTURES.
WALL PAPERS!
PAPER HANGING A SPECIALTY.
A. SWALM,
No. 6 North Avenue, Plainfield.
4y22

L. B. WOOLSTON. J. T. BUCKLE.
Woolston & Buckle,
PAINTERS,
Wall Papers,
PAINTER'S SUPPLIES. 38 NORTH AVENUE
ap6tf

C. Dickinson
Optician
13 Park Ave
Plainfield N. J.

WHATEVER form of printed matter you require we can be of service to you; whether it be

Letter Headings,
Circulars,
Programmes, Menus,
Addresses,
Memorials,
By-Laws of Societies,
Prospectuses and Reports of Financial Associations, or any other matter for Public or Private Circulation.
Everything.

WEEKLY CONSTITUTIONALIST
DAILY PRESS
(Chautauqua Building)
PLAINFIELD N. J

"PID" IN HARD LUCK.

THE EX-CONGRESSMAN SUED BY HIS NEPHEW AND OTHERS.

But Counselor Reed's Father-in-Law Denies that Any Assignment Has Been Made.

Ex-congressman James Nelson Pidcock, of Hunterdon county, North Plainfield, New York and Jersey City, is financially embarrassed, it is said. The lines that are being drawn taut about the money market are squeezing him. Ex-congressman Alvah A. Clark, of Somerville, father of Mrs. Charles A. Reed of North Plainfield, made hot denial yesterday that an assignment had been made to him by Mr. Pidcock, but he admitted Mr. Pidcock was largely involved and his assets were more or less tied up at present.

In spite of friendly assurances news of a less encouraging kind came from several quarters. There were rumors of mortgages made to relatives in Somerville; in Trenton his nephew, J. H. Pidcock, sued him for $9,000, and Alvah A. Clark for $7,500 on promissory notes, and from the Jersey City stockyards came the announcement that the New Jersey Sheep and Wool company and the Gansevoort Sheep Market company in which Mr. Pidcock and his son and namesake are chiefly interested, had suspended operations. The sheep and wool company was a large operator and its suspension must necessarily cause the ex-congressman some anxiety.

Reports, which as far as can be learned are probably exaggerated, place the liabilities of the two companies whose suspension is announced at $500,000. No one of Mr. Pidcock's business friends who are acquainted with his affairs, could say to what extent these two would jeopardize the host of other enterprises in which he is known to be engaged, but they hoped not at all.

Mr. Pidcock has been for years an active operator in many lines of enterprise. He runs at his home, in Hunterdon county, one of the most fertile of truck and dairy farms. He has speculated largely in lumber and even horseflesh. No one but himself knows what sums of money his various lines of activity have kept in circulation, for Mr. Pidcock keeps his affairs to himself; but the amount guessed at is very large.

He is the Democratic "boss" of central Jersey, and in the counties of Hunterdon, Sussex, Somerset, Warren and Morris his word has for years been almost law. A good many years ago he was a State senator, representing Hunterdon county. Then he became a representative and put his arm around the bunch of counties embraced in the Fourth Congress district. If he has not found it always possible to make Governors and Senators to his liking he has always found it easy to defeat those not to his liking.

BIG INJUNS GET A RAISE.

From Prophet to Little Brave They Have a Glorious Time.

Deputy Great Sachem Andrew J. Stiglitz and staff raised up the chiefs of Miantonomah tribe, 118, Improved Order of Red Men. The chiefs raised up were:

Prophet—William A. Westphal.
Sachem—John H. Carney.
Sr. Sagamore—Charles Holstein.
Jr. Sagamore—Joseph Wycoff.
First Sannap—Elmer H. Neal.
Second Sannap—David C. Allen.
First Warrior—R. J. Allaham.
Second Warrior—William Klein.
Third Warrior—Nelson Wyckoff.
Fourth Warrior—Louis Alpaugh.
First Brave—G. Houseman.
Second Brave—M. Leahy.
Guard of Wicket—W. C. Kilby.
Guard of Forest—Charles Conover.

After the raising up of the chiefs, Deputy Great Sachem reported the order in a flourishing condition throughout the district, and that in his official visits he had been royally entertained in every tribe that he had visited. Remarks were made by the various officers who had been raised up, after which a most pleasant surprise was found to be in store for the Representative to the Great Council of the United States. Sachem John H. Carney in behalf of the officers and members of the tribe presented to Past Sachem and Representative Norman G. Mague an elegant sash, composed of stripes of purple and scarlet running lengthwise, and the edge trimmed with gold lace and fringe. On the breast was an Indian shield with the letter "R" and the initials of New Jersey. The sash was of the finest silk, and lined with quilted satin, with elegant embroidery upon the front, consisting of vines and leaves with the American eagle in the center. Representative Mague received the gift and responded in a manner that proved to all that no mistake was made in their selection of a representative, and that New Jersey would hold her own.

Miantonomah is in a flourishing condition, and appreciates the honors conferred on her at the last great council.

RISEN ABOVE THEIR NATIVITY.

New Plainfield's Adopted Citizens Have Triumphed Over the Obstacle of Their Birthplace.

The Bound Brook Chronicle is anxious to proclaim for its town the honor of turning out some of Plainfield's great men, and says:

"Bound Brook produced noble men not only during the Revolution, as the Rev. Mr. Davis told his hearers, on the Camp Ground, Tuesday, but she keeps right along at the good work. When Plainfield organized its board of trade, a few days ago, the Hon. George Rockfellow was elected president and the Hon. William A. Coddington the first vice-president, both Bound Brook boys. Charles A. Reed, also of Somerset county, was elected for second vice-president."

IF ANY MAN CAN, HE CAN.

Bound Brook Natives Spellbound by a Plainfield Pastor's Eloquence.

The Bound Brook Chronicle, in its report of the Fourth of July celebration at Washington's Camp Ground, says:

After music by the band, the Rev. Dr. A. H. Lewis, of Plainfield, was introduced.

"He said that it was the first time he had ever enjoyed a visit to this beautiful and historical spot. He advised our Board of Trade to build a trolley road from the town to the mountain, and to connect old Bound Brook with our new western neighbor by a direct road. Then the town would grow as it had never done before.

"Launching out into his oration he held his audience with the closest attention, his remarks being frequently interrupted with applause. We regret that we are not in possession of a verbatim report of the masterly speech, which was characterized by many as the best they ever listened to."

—Local firms are estimating for the repainting of the shabby street cars.

MAY BE A FIGHT YET.

THE PEACE STREET TROUBLE TO BE REVIVED.

France Heirs Threaten Suit for Damages Against the City—The Husband Signed Consent for the Widening When the Wife Owned the Property.

Since Peace street lost its name it seems to have lost its nature also. Warfare has again revived over the matter of widening.

The France estate is the present bone of contention.

The heirs have been looking into the matter since Mrs. France died, and claim that the city never had any right to cut down the big shade trees in front of the house or tear up the sidewalk or take any of the land.

They say that the consent the council holds for the estate was merely that of Mr. France, signed before Mrs. France died; that Mrs. France was the sole owner; and that the city shall pay full damages to the estate and stand the expense of relaying the sidewalk.

They have employed counselor McClure to make things hot for the city.

WON BY SIMMONDS AND WALZ.

Tame Ending of the Hillside Club's Nahant Tournament.

Lovers of tennis gathered Thursday at the Hillside Tennis club grounds to see the tie played off between Simmonds and Walz and Ryder and Fish, who came out of Tuesday's tournament with equal honors. The play was announced to begin at 5:30, and a few minutes before that hour the two teams stepped on the court and were greeted with a round of applause. Among the people who lined the sides of the court were seen many of the best players in town, who rest on their previously won laurels and do not enter tournaments, but if they expected to see a fine exhibition game they were disappointed, as the play was inferior in every way to that seen in the beginning of the week. Only in the first set was there any show of fight on the part of Ryder and Fish, and that was short-lived. With the exception of a couple of long rallies and some good lobbing, the play was without interest, both sides seeming to be afraid to let themselves out. The first set went to Simmonds and Walz, 6-4. For the second set Ryder and Fish went all to pieces, only winning 9 points in the 7 games played, and their opponents had a walkover at 6-1. The pretty silver shoe-horns were handed over to the winners, who were loudly applauded.

Enthusiasts are now looking forward to the 15th, when the first of the inter-club games will be played, and local players will match their strength with outsiders.

Deer Park and Oakland.

To those contemplating a trip to the mountains in search of health and pleasure, Deer Park, on the crest of the Alleghany Mountains, 3,000 feet above the sea-level, offers such varied attractions as a delightful atmosphere during both day and night, pure water, smooth, winding roads through the mountains and valleys, and the most picturesque scenery in the Allegheny range. The hotel is equipped with all adjuncts conducive to the entertainment, pleasure and comfort of its guests.

The surrounding grounds, as well as the hotel, are lighted with electricity. Six miles distant on the same mountain summit is Oakland, the twin resort of Deer Park, and equally as well equipped for the entertainment and accommodation of its guests. Both hotels are upon the main line of the Baltimore and Ohio railroad, have the advantages of its splendid vestibuled limited express trains between the East and West, and are most desirable resting places for World's Fair tourists. Season excursion tickets, good for return passage until October 3, will be placed on sale at greatly reduced rates at all principal ticket offices throughout the country. One way tickets reading from St. Louis, Louisville, Cincinnati, Columbus, Chicago, and any point on B. & O. system to Washington, Baltimore, Philadelphia, or New York, or vice versa, are good to stop off at either Deer Park or Oakland, and the time limit will be extended by agents at either resort upon application.

This season at these popular resorts commences June 15.

For full information as to hotel rates, rooms, etc., address George D. DeShields, manager, Deer Park, or Oakland, Garrett county, Maryland.

Another Sample of Its Deception.

The Courier boasts for P. M. French of the "complete victory" he has won in "getting the street railway company to agree not to lay switch or turnout on Somerset street between Front street and the brook". The Courier editor either wilfully deceives his readers or else does n't know anything about the proceedings of the council of which he is clerk. The company never had any intention of doing anything else but what they have now agreed to do. They never contemplated laying a double track or a turnout on the short line from Front street to the brook. They never asked for permission except for a single track, and that was all the council granted franchise for.

NO MORE ROTTEN HOSE.

At Last the Borough Fire Department Is to Have a Drying Tower.

North Plainfield is following her sister's example, and is going to have a tower to dry and preserve fire hose. 'Twill not be as pretentious as Plainfield's but adequately serviceable. Last night the bids for building according to the plans and specifications were opened. A. J. Winckler's figure was $305. D. L. Hullck bid $300, and was unanimously awarded the contract. One-third of the price is to be paid when the frame is up and the roof sheathed.

AUGUST 15.

That's the Date When the Somerset Street Cars Must Be Running.

The borough council last night granted to the Plainfield Street Railway company an extension to August 15 of the time when the Somerset street extension must be in complete operation. The company asked for August 24, thinking that June 24 was the original date; but the council held the contract to expire June 11, and refused to grant more than two months from that date, with four days grace.

Miss Smith Wants Her Wages.

Miss Smith, the pretty milliner who has sued Isaac Lederer for damages for slander, has also brought suit now for wages claimed from the time of her discharge to July 2, the date of expiration of the alleged contract. Justice Mosher has set Thursday, July 13, as the date for trial.

AT AMHERST 61 YEARS.

COL. TYLER'S FATHER RETIRES FROM HIS POST OF TEACHING.

Many Famous Men Have Been Enrolled in His Greek Classes, and Many Students Throughout the Country Remember His Text Books.

With the close of the present year Amherst college loses the services of her pioneer instructor, Prof. William Seymour Tyler, D.D. LL. D., Williston professor of the Greek language and literature, who is the venerable father of the esteemed Col. Mason W. Tyler of this city.

Intimately connected with the college for 61 years, under the administration of Pres. Hitchcock, Stearns, Seelye and Gates, Prof. Tyler has seen the faculty change and change again, and has witnessed the growth of the college during a period longer than any other member of the faculty can remember.

In the world of letters his name has been made familiar by the numerous volumes he has written and edited and by newspaper and magazine articles published from time to time.

Prof. Tyler was born in Hartford, Penn., Sept. 2, 1810. His father, a farmer, had come from New England.

At an early age he was sent to Hamilton college, where he entered the junior class. He had been there but a short time when the president and one of the prominent professors of the college withdrew and with them the entire junior class, with the exception of two members.

Prof. Tyler entered the senior class of Amherst college and in 1830 he was graduated with second honor.

For two years he studied theology at Andover seminary. From 1832 to 1834 he served as tutor at Amherst. Then, continuing his theological studies, he passed the winter with Dr. Skinner in New York city, being a member of the class from which the Union theological seminary was developed.

Returning to Amherst, he was appointed professor of Greek and Latin, which position he held until 1847, when he became professor of Greek and Hebrew.

In 1857 he received the degree of D D from Harvard and in 1871 the degree of LL D from Amherst. Harvard again honored him at her quarter millennium with LL D.

Prof. Tyler has been president of the board of trustees of Mt. Holyoke seminary, now Mt. Holyoke college, at South Hadley, member of the board of trustees of Williston seminary at East Hampton, of Maplewood institute at Pittsfield and of Smith college.

He was the founder of the Massachusetts Beta of Phi Beta Kappa and has been president of it since its founding. He is a member of the American oriental society, of the American philological society, of the American archæological society, of the managing committee of the American school at Athens, and of the Greek philological society at Constantinople.

Among his publications are the following: Germania and Agricola of Tacitus, 1847; Histories of Tacitus, 1848; Plato's Apology and Crito, 1859; Plutarch on the Delay of the Deity, 1867, and the last nine books of Homer's Iliad.

Prof. Tyler has seen Amherst college grow from the academy-like institution of 1830 to its present high position. He has had under his instruction such men as Henry Ward Beecher, Dr. Richard S. Storrs, ex-president Seelye, Dr. Charles H. Parkhurst, and hosts of others.

At the alumni dinner Wednesday he was applauded to the echo as he rose to speak. With tears in his eyes he bade farewell to his labors in the college, and gave his parting messages in the form of entreaties that the trustees and faculty should never allow classical studies to be given a secondary place in the curriculum and that the religious standard should never be lowered.

It has always been one of his delights to say to the students who complained of compulsory chapel at 8 a. m., that in his time the chapel services were held at 6 o'clock in the morning.

The tributes paid to the retiring professor are almost without number. His life-long friend, ex-president Seelye, says: "I consider Prof. Tyler one of the heroes of the college."

Prof. Tyler will devote his time to rest and study, and it is hoped by his friends that he may be able to lecture to the advanced Greek classes from time to time.

Increased Attendance Continues.

On Monday evening comedian DeWolf Hopper, Della Fox, Samuel Reed, Edmund Stanley, Anna O'Keefe and other members of his merry company, commenced the third month of his successful season at the Broadway theater, New York city. The second volume of "Panjandrum" has met with great favor, and since its initial performance there has been a very marked increase in the attendance, while the returns, from a box-office standpoint, have, at every performance, shown the most satisfactory results.

The entire performance of "Panjandrum", from the rise until the final fall of the curtain, demonstrates unmistakable evidences of improvement, not only in the numerous changes made in the story, which make it more coherent and logical, but also in the many bright lines and funny situations, which, together with several new musical numbers, have greatly enhanced its value as a diverting entertainment, and with its gorgeous stage pictures, its brilliant costumes and excellent stage effects, in addition to its excellent cast of principals and well trained chorus, the new "Panjandrum" bids fair to take the lead in amusements during the summer season, in spite of the heat, and the opposition of counter attractions.

A Valuable World's Fair Book.

The passenger department of the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad company has prepared for general distribution a handsome pamphlet descriptive of the scenic and other attractive features of that road from New York to Chicago. This book should prove invaluable to those visiting the World's Fair. In its artistic cover, illustrations and reading matter, it is fully up to the high standard which has been fixed by the B. & O. for publications of this character. The scenery en route, which has gained for the B. & O. the richly deserved sobriquet of "Picturesque", the public buildings at Washington, old Harper's Ferry, Luray Caverns, and other attractive points are faithfully portrayed. The value of the publication is increased by descriptions and illustrations of the principal buildings at the World's Fair. This book can be procured free of charge upon personal application to ticket agents, B. & O. R. R. Co., or you can have it mailed to you by sending name and address with five cents in stamps to Chas. O. Scull, general passenger agent, Baltimore, Md. World's Fair tourists should bear in mind that the B. & O. is selling tickets at very low rates good going via Washington and returning via Niagara Falls.

YEARLY CIRCULATION, 20,707.

Creditable Patronage Accorded to the Public Library.

The annual report of the public library directors, just submitted, is interesting and edifying:

Statement of receipts and disbursements for the year ending May 31, 1893.

RECEIPTS.

Item	Amount	Total
Cash balance on hand May 31, 1892		$1,[illegible]
Cash rec'd from taxes— For years prior to 1891	[illegible]
" year 1891	[illegible]
" " 1892	[illegible]
Cash rec'd net proceeds of lectures given for benefit of Library	[illegible]
Cash rec'd from fines, subscriptions of non-residents, sales, etc.	[illegible]
Total receipts		$5,[illegible]

DISBURSEMENTS.

Item	Amount	Total
For librarian	[illegible]
" assistants to librarian	[illegible]
" janitor	[illegible]
" papers, magazines, etc.	[illegible]
" insurance	[illegible]
" repairs to building	111.28
" coal	197.75
" stationery and printing	[illegible]
" gas	[illegible]
" binding	[illegible]
" books	[illegible]
" sundry expenses	[illegible]
Total disbursements	$3,418.16	$3,419.16
Balance on hand May 31, 1893		$[illegible]

Item	Number
Number of volumes in the library May 31, 1892	11,15[illegible]
Number of volumes added by purchase	[illegible]
" " " gift	[illegible]
" " in Library May 31, 1893	11,[illegible]
Number of periodicals and papers received	[illegible]
Number of card-holders	2,67[illegible]
" visitors to the library building	29,36[illegible]

The home circulation of books and the general character and kinds of books loaned out have been as follows:

Class	Number
Fiction	11,[illegible]
Juvenile	2,364
Biography	1,016
Travel	[illegible]
Philosophy	109
Religion	[illegible]
Sociology	446
Philology	19
Natural Science	[illegible]
Useful arts	[illegible]
Fine arts	[illegible]
Literature	1,[illegible]
History	[illegible]
Periodicals	[illegible]
Total	20,707

The use in the library of books of reference has been extensive and constant. Five books have been lost in circulation during the year but all have been replaced at the borrower's expense. Forty books are now missing from the library having been taken clandestinely from the shelves, seventeen of which have been taken within the last two years.

A catalogue or finding-list of the books in the library has been in course of preparation during the greater part of the past year. This has been a tedious work, requiring the exercise of great care and the expenditure of much time and labor, and although the list will make a printed volume of several hundred pages and involves a considerable expense which must be paid out of the balance now on hand the board has deemed it of great importance to the usefulness of the library and feels sure that the completed work will be highly appreciated. The board is gratified now to be able to report that this work is approaching completion, and that the printed list will probably be available for use by September of the present year.

LIBRARIAN'S REPORT FOR JUNE, 1893.

Item	Number
Volumes on accession-book, May 31, 1893	11,9[illegible]
" added by purchase	[illegible]
" " " gift	[illegible]
Volumes now in the library	12,0[illegible]
Number of card-holders	2,[illegible]
Cash rec'd from fines and sales	$12.4[illegible]
" " " non-resident subscriptions	$[illegible]

Home Circulation.

Class	Number
Fiction	[illegible]
Juvenile	[illegible]
Biography	[illegible]
Travel	[illegible]
Philosophy	[illegible]
Religion	[illegible]
Sociology	[illegible]
Philology	[illegible]
Natural science	[illegible]
Useful arts	[illegible]
Fine arts	[illegible]
Literature	[illegible]
History	[illegible]
Periodicals	[illegible]
Total	1,6[illegible]

Visitors to the building, 2,4[illegible].

A BOUQUET FOR THE PROPHETESS.

John Carney Staggered Under Its Weight, and Delivered a Golden Oration.

A felicitous occasion Friday night was the installation of New officers of Iona council, of the feminine department of the Red Men's order. All of the noble squaws and their braves were present, and a most delightful time resulted. The officers, as installed by district deputy sister Rachel Newcomb and staff, were:

Prophetess—Mrs. William A. Westphal.
Pocahontas—Mrs. George Richter.
Wenonah—Mrs. Charles Holstein.
Powhattan—William Klein.
Keeper of Wampum—Mrs. Andrew J. Stiglitz.
Collector of Wampum—Miss Lizzie Duvere.
Keeper of Records—Mrs. Fred. Canfield.

During the "good of the order" portion of the meeting, a mammoth bouquet staggered into the room. From this lovely mass of flowers streamed satin ribbons of the color of the order. Behind it, boosting it up, was the inimitable John Carney, who in his usual happy manner presented the floral tribute to the fair prophetess, Mrs. Wm. A. Westphal. The bouquet was then stood up in the middle of the room, ladders were arranged around it, and the gallants helped the damsels up to get a sniff of its lovely perfume. This charming presentation was an entire surprise.

A collation and impromptu programme made the hours till midnight very fleet.

AN INTER-CLUB TOURNAMENT.

Hillside Tennis Players to Meet Out-of-Town Experts.

A regular meeting of the Hillside Tennis club was held Thursday at the clubhouse, Watchung avenue. Four new members were elected, and some other business that was before the club was settled. It is proposed to have a series of games with some out-of-town tennis clubs the first games to be played here July 15, and return games to be played at the grounds of the other clubs, on dates to be arranged later. Everyone interested in tennis will look forward to seeing local players matched against some out-of-town experts.

This Coolness Bad for Farmers.

(Official Crop Bulletin.)

SOUTH PLAINFIELD—The much-needed rain came and was a blessing to everything in gardening and farming; a good help to potatoes and corn. The only drawback is the cool nights; they are not good for vegetables.

FRED C. [illegible]

PLAINFIELD—The rains of the 8th and 9th were a great boon to the farmers. Everything is looking up. Harvesting is being pushed. Rainfall, 1.26 inch. JOHN [illegible]

A Long and Faithful Term.

Charles S. Cook yesterday completed his 24th consecutive year of employment in THE PRESS service.

GLORIES OF NETHERWOOD.

What the Metropolis Sees to Admire in Plainfield Suburbs.

(From The New York Herald.)

Railways are not agreeable neighbors. To this rule the suburban stations of the Jersey Central are noteworthy exceptions. Graceful stations, surrounded by well shaded parks, are strung along the railway. Among these stations none has more attractive surroundings than Netherwood. The road runs through the wooded valley, the Orange Mountains on one side, with verdant scollops, showing the outlines of the trees which cover it with chenille-like tapestry, and the heights of Netherwood on the other, crowned with castellated outlines of the Hotel Netherwood. Excellent roads radiate from the hotel through a country abounding in beautiful scenery, and from the shaded paths vistas of ever-changing beauty open.

Handsome dwellings adorn the terraces, set in well kept fenceless lawns, each forming a picture with individuality enough to create a distinct remembrance, each perfect in setting and detail. On the heights the central figure in capacious lawns is the Hotel Netherwood, the dominant feature of the scene, its many angled brick walls rising in massive piles, as if many buildings had somehow merged in one. The well modulated roads permit an ascent without weariness, and a view from its broad piazzas is a joy forever. The trees which surround the lawns are backed by masses of evergreen foliage, which make the nearer trees stand out in distinct lines of lighter greens. Over the undulant branches on every side broad views open in panoramic beauty. Plainfield, one mile away on the left; the Orange Mountains in front, and immense stretches of forests, bounded by the horizon, in the other direction, give bird's-eye pictures of one of the prettiest sections of picturesque Jersey.

Mrs. Charles Loeb, of New York, one of the guests at the hotel, possesses a lovely mezzo soprano voice of exquisite culture, and occasionally favors the guests in the rendition of charming selections from favorite composers. A large number of visitors are now sojourning there from New York, Brooklyn and other points, and the outlook for one of the most prosperous and brilliant seasons in the annals of this delightful home resort is assured. There is a delightful sense of restfulness pervading the atmosphere of Netherwood and its surroundings.

It is somewhere written "See Venice and die." Let me respectfully suggest see Netherwood and live to enjoy all the pleasure and happiness surely obtainable at this Arcadia on the heights of fair Netherwood. Mr. Frank E. Miller, owner and proprietor of the Netherwood, with an excellent force of assistants, leaves nothing undone that will contribute to the happiness and comfort of his patrons. From whisperings in the air the amusement list for the season of '93 will be full of delightful surprises. The nearness of the Netherwood to New York—only forty-five minutes by the Central Railroad of New Jersey, with about fifty trains daily each way—renders it a very desirable place for business men and their families, as well as others.

CIVIL SERVICE EXAMINATION.

Here's a Chance for Any of You to Be a Post Office Clerk or Carrier.

In pursuance of the Presidential order of January 5, 1893, extending the Civil Service Law to all free-delivery post-offices, the Civil Service Commission at Washington has ordered that an examination be held in this city on Saturday, August 5, 1893, commencing at 9 o'clock a. m., for the grades of clerk and carrier in the city post-office. Only citizens of the United States can be examined. The age limitations are as follows: For clerk, not under 18 years; for carrier, not under 21 nor over 40; for messenger, stamper, etc., not under 18. No application will be accepted for this examination unless filed with the undersigned, on the proper blank, before 12 o'clock, noon, on July 17, 1893.

The Civil Service Commission takes this opportunity of stating that the examinations are open to all reputable citizens who may desire to enter the postal service, without regard to their political affiliations. All such citizens, whether Democrats or Republicans, or neither, are invited to apply. They shall be examined, graded, and certified with entire impartiality, and wholly without regard to their political views, or to any consideration save their efficiency, as shown by the grades they obtain in the examination. For application blanks, full instructions, and information relative to the duties and salaries of the different positions, apply at the post-office to

G. C. GODOWN,
Sec'y Board of Examiners.

Complimented by His Chief.

Dr. H. K. Carroll of this city has received from superintendent Porter the following compliment:

DEPARTMENT OF THE INTERIOR,
CENSUS OFFICE,
WASHINGTON, D. C., July 1, 1893.

MY DEAR SIR:—I beg to acknowledge the receipt of your letter of the thirtieth ultimo, and to say that I have felt that the inquiry relating to the statistics of church organizations in the United States has been one of the most satisfactory branches of the work. Your bulletins have, I believe, on the whole, attracted more public attention than any other publications of the Census Office, and I feel that you and your efficient assistants are to be congratulated upon the completion of one of the most interesting and important statistical investigations ever made by the Government of the United States. This volume will be a perpetual monument to your ability and industry. I take pleasure in gratulating you on the successful termination of your work.

Very respectfully,
(Signed) ROBERT P. PORTER,
Superintendent of Census.

DR. H. K. CARROLL,
Special Agent,
Plainfield, N. J.

The Strain on the Back Seat Too Much.

While on their way to Boynton Beach, July 4, Miss Grace Wetherell, Miss Grace Mosher, William Buckley and Elliott Collins met with an accident in the breaking of one of the hind wheels of their carriage. Luckily they had only reached the railroad bridge near Fanwood, and were able to return to Scotch Plains and hire another carriage, after which they pursued their journey and had a pleasant time.

Not a Bad Beat, Either.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE PRESS:—The masons of Plainfield went to Raritan Tuesday and met with a defeat at a game of base-ball, although no disgrace to the Plainfielders, as they were supposed to play the masons of that place, but upon reaching the grounds found 1 mason and 8 men who do nothing but play base-ball all summer, the score being 4 to 2, the features being the battery work of the Plainfielders, Mosher and Smith.

THE CAPTAIN.

The Constitutionalist,
A DEMOCRATIC WEEKLY.
W. L. FORCE & A. L. FORCE, Editors and Proprietors.
AT PLAINFIELD, NEW JERSEY.
TERMS—TWO DOLLARS A YEAR.

P. M. FRENCH PACIFIED.

THE RAILWAY COMPANY SETTLES, AND RAPID TRANSIT LINKS CITY AND BOROUGH.

Citizens were surprised and delighted Thursday morning to find a gang of men under the personal direction of superintendent Passmore tearing up Somerset street from Front to the brook for the purpose of laying the balance of the Somerset street extension of the electric railroad.

Inquiry revealed the fact that the company had yielded to P. M. French and granted the concessions he demanded. They agreed that they would not lay the rails above or below the established street grade, nor lay a double track or turnout in front of his place. They also assumed the liability of paying his costs in the lawsuit. Whether or not they paid him a bonus is not stated.

The tracks being completed, the poles and wires will now be put up, and the road will be in complete operation within a few weeks. The work will be pushed as rapidly as possible.

COSTLY LESSON FOR SUYDAM.

He Backed Against a Plainfield Ordinance and Defied the City Officials.

The case of the city against John P. Suydam for violation of the ordinance forbidding the erection of any wooden building within the prescribed fire limits, came up in judge Coddington's court on Thursday. Corporation counsel Barret of Bloomfield represented the defendant, while corporation counsel Craig A. Marsh appeared for the city. The property in question is that occupied by Gavett on Front street, and the violation of the ordinance lay in Mr. Suydam's building a wooden elevator shaft on the rear wall of the brick structure. It was put up without asking the consent of council, and fire marshal Doane ordered it torn down, which command Suydam ignored. Mr. Barret said that the defendant, acting under his advice, would plead guilty, but he added that his client had already made such changes in the structure as were necessary to make it comply with the requirements in the ordinance, and that the changes had involved an expense of about $100.

He said in excuse for the delay in reaching a trial that his client was a non-resident and that immediately after the complaint his client had a severe fit of illness. Under these circumstances, Mr. Barret said, he asked for leniency at the discretion of the court.

Mr. Marsh said that he had intended to advise the court to inflict the extreme penalty allowed for the violation of this ordinance; that builders and agents were very apt to disregard the law in cases like this, but as the counsel for the defendant had put the case so well and as he had represented that everything was now as it should be, he would also ask the court to impose only a nominal fine.

Judge Coddington gave a verdict of $10 fine with costs, which Mr. Suydam paid immediately.

THAT BLESSED RAILROAD.

Because of Its Coming Somerset Street Is to Be Greatly Improved.

Acting mayor Neal of the borough told a PRESS reporter on Friday that when the street railway company got through with its work on Somerset street that thoroughfare would be in better condition than ever before. All hollows—he said—that have been left by the elevating of the rails to a higher grade are to be filled in, and for the entire length of the road a top-dressing of fine stone is to be spread between the rails and eighteen inches each side of the track, and the whole then thoroughly rolled. All this is to be done at the company's own expense. The rails will then be flush with the street surface, and traffic will be free since the rail is of the improved pattern out of which wagon wheels are extricated with ease.

THE MARCH OF MACADAM.

Upper Duer Street Bound to Keep Up With the Neighborhood.

The residents of Duer street from Emily street to Linden avenue want to have things as nice as their neighbors have from Craig place to Emily street, and so asked the borough council for a graded macadam roadway just like theirs is to be. The council last night granted the first petition, for the portion from Craig place to Emily street, and the work of laying crushed stone for a width of 16 feet is to be begun just as soon as the money pledged by the property-owners along the route is paid. The second petition is being considered by the street committee.

FROM $1 TO $9,000.

Big and Little Sales of Land, in North Plainfield Township.

The following transfers of North Plainfield real estate have just been recorded in the Somerset county clerk's office:

Alexander Trand to Theodosius J. Goth, $1.
Mary E. McLaughlin to George Hummer, $[illegible].
John G. Low to Edward C. Mulford, $1,[illegible].
William M. Stillman to Lucy M. Titsworth, $1,[illegible].
Philippine Solomon to Lewis P. Child, $[illegible].
The Mutual Life Insurance company of New York to Jesse M. Emerson, et al., $9,000.

E. M. Got Damages, and Now A. M. Wants Some.

Alexander M. Runyon, and not Theodore M. Runyon, is the Plainfield suitor in the case against the Central Railroad company for $5,000 damages. Some Elizabeth correspondent sent dispatches to the New York papers which were wide of the truth. Craig A. Marsh is counsel for Mr. Runyon, and states that the damages claimed are for the pain and injury suffered by Mr. Runyon and the consequent loss in business including expenses for medical services.

And Still They Cry for More.

The gratitude of the PRESS employes is expressed to C. K. Compton for his generous remembrance of yesterday. With his compliments came some of the most delicious ice-cream that ever congealed the palate; and greatly refreshed were those who feasted on the delicious luxury. They all recommend it for Sunday's dessert.

Joy for the Young People.

R. N. Shelley, of Morristown, is to open a "steam riding gallery" or merry-go-round near French's milldam, North Plainfield, next Monday. He is a gentlemanly young man, highly recommended by the mayor and editors of Morristown.

There's Hope for Him Now.

Isaac Lederer has engaged Craig A. Marsh to defend him against Miss Smith's suits, and his friends assure him that he 'll win.

The Constitutionalist.

W. L. FORCE. | A. L. FORCE
Editors and Proprietors.

OBITUARY.

WILLIAM L. FORCE.

(From The Press of July 10.)

Just as the sun reached its meridian to-day, one who himself had but just attained the meridian of a valued and useful life passed away from earthly scenes forever.

For days the vitality of William L. Force had hung in the balance. Injured in a driving accident Saturday afternoon, June 24, he had ever since been confined to his room in the City Hotel. The best of medical skill was accorded him, and one of the most faithful of wives looked after his every comfort and need; but the internal injuries proved so severe that human skill was unavailing. The patient who was so brave and unflinching under his agonizing pain, and who even in his accident thought first of all of his beloved helpmeet, sank from his fever and delirium into the rest of unconsciousness, and his heart-beats grew weaker and weaker. The gong had sounded the noonday hour; the heat of the day shone on the city: when the last weary sigh was breathed, and the flickering fountain of life gave its final pulsation. A devoted husband, son and brother, a beloved employer, and an honored man, had gone to his eternal rest.

The end was calm and tranquil; there was not the slightest struggle. He died as he had lived—at peace with all, the enemy of none.

Fifty-two years ago, the same blessed anniversary which Christian nations celebrate for the birth of our Lord, Wm. L. Force was born. Equipped with a good education, he learned the printer's trade, that art which has aptly been styled preservative of all the arts. He was thrifty and prosperous; and nearly 27 years ago he and his surviving partner started the printing and publishing business which still occupies the same site as originally. The first issue of THE CONSTITUTIONALIST was Jan. 2, 1868, one year after the firm began business, and the heading of that paper has never since been changed, nor has any week missed its publication. Mr. Force's native place was Plainfield, where he spent most of his life. He was born on the old farm by what is now Hyde's mill-pond.

The success of Mr. Force in the business world made him a valued man throughout the community and county, and at the solicitation of prominent citizens he became identified with politics and a leader in local statesmanship.

The honor and trust of public office was repeatedly conferred on him. Grover Cleveland himself, on March 18, 1886, wrote that "Reposing special trust and confidence in the intelligence, diligence and discretion of William L. Force", be by and with the advice and consent of the Senate did appoint him postmaster of Plainfield. That office Mr. Force honorably, capably and efficiently filled for the full executive term of four years.

During the administration of Postmaster Force, free delivery service was established in Plainfield through his efforts, and he made the service a success which was appreciated by the public. During his administration also, the business of the office was greatly increased, so that when he retired the revenue was nearly double that when he took possession four years before.

In the brotherhoods of man Mr. Force was a cherished associate. He was a member of Jerusalem Lodge, No. 26, F. and A. M.; of Jerusalem Chapter, No. 24, R. A. M.; of Trinity Commandery, No. 17, K. T.; of Easter Lodge, No. 8542, K. of H.; and of the Exempt Firemen's Association. He was also ex-foreman of Gazelle Engine company, No. 1; for many years a member and secretary of the Plainfield Fire Department Commissioners; Fish Warden of Union county at his death, and for years previous, under the appointment of the Governor of New Jersey; for many years a member and secretary of the Union and Middlesex Gun clubs, and later of the Climax Gun club. He was also secretary for years of the Game and Fish Protective association of New Jersey.

No man loved Nature better than he; no man was more faithful to the care of the creatures whom he had been commissioned to protect. He loved his bereaved wife with all the strength and devotion of his big and generous heart. By all his associates and employes he was respected and esteemed. Everyone in THE PRESS office feels in his death a deep and personal grief.

His venerable mother is among the sorrowing ones mourning to-day the departure of a great and kindly nature. His good wife, who nursed him so tenderly and unceasingly during his fatal illness, was his most cherished earthly idol.

The last sad rites over the body of the departed, will take place Thursday afternoon. The Rev. Dr. D. J. Yerkes will conduct services in the City Hotel at 3, and Masonic honors will be given at the grave. The resting-place will be in North Plainfield cemetery, beside his brother, Joseph Lindley, who sacrificed his life for his nation in the Civil War.

There hangs over the inner door of THE PRESS sanctum a design in blue and silver, which the fingers now lifeless wrought a quarter of a century ago. It is a handsomely set and well printed sign of the firm's business, when Park avenue was Cherry street. Mr. Force was justly proud of it; and it shall hang where he placed it, as long as THE PRESS office stands.

But the pall of mourning to-day darkens the silver letters; the blue of the background is as the eternal heaven veiled in a mist of tears. With reverent hands the shades are lowered; with grief smiting their hearts, the bereaved associates of the dead one place the mourning bands across the paper.

One whom we loved, is gone; the ashes of sorrow choke our eyes, and the hand of death lies heavy on our hearts.

One of my children had a very bad discharge from her nose. Two physicians prescribed, but without benefit. We tried Ely's Cream Balm, and much to our surprise, there was a marked improvement. We continued using the Balm and in a short time the discharge was cured.—O. A. Cary, Corning, N. Y.

The children's health must not be neglected. Cold in the head causes catarrh. Ely's Cream Balm cures at once. It is perfectly safe and is easily applied into the nostrils. The worst cases yielding to it. Price 50c.

CONFIDENCE.

Confidence is the life blood of credit, both public and personal, and to maintain it there must be strict integrity of action.

Without well based confidence governments cannot negotiate loans, merchants transact business, or legitimate enterprise flourish.

Confidence inspires credit and anything that threatens to undermine it forebodes disaster.

A lack of confidence is the immediate cause of our present financial troubles.

It comes from entertained doubts that excessive issues of Government obligations for the purchase and storage of silver bullion will impair the ability to preserve currency equilibrium and sound redemption.

That is an evident cause; remove it and confidence will regain ascendancy.

The unconditional repeal of the unwise Sherman Silver Bill by Congress is the first needed step to be taken.

Afterwards measures can be considered and adopted that will guarantee the permanent and exchangeable par value of a mixed currency of gold, silver and paper, in volume supply sufficient to serve the business wants of the people, but not to an imprudent and dangerous excess.

That will solve the financial problem.

SENSELESS.

What dunces mortal men can make of themselves!

A lot of senseless Colorado miners get together in public meeting and resolve that the Silver States will secede from the Union if the Government stops buying and paying a gold equivalent for their fluctuation metal commodity.

Talk is cheap and oftimes very windy. Secession is a thing entirely of the past: It will never be tried again.

This Government was established to equally promote the welfare of all the people of the United States, and not the local selfish interests of any section.

If the Government is bound to receive and pay for the unwanted Silver product of Colorado and Nevada, why not do the same for the wheat raisers of Kansas and Iowa or the copper miners of Michigan.

One proposition would as sensible as the other.

WHEN THE LIGHTS WERE OUT.

Blessings Appreciated When They Are Taken Away.

The intense darkness of Saturday night, caused by the storm's extinction of the electric light, was very inconvenient to those obliged to stumble about the streets of the unlighted sections. Many were very suspicious of footpads. John W. Murray, jr., ran into a man in the blackness, and involuntarily grabbed him. The man evidently thought he was a robber, for he gave a shrill yell and went tearing down the street as fast as his legs could carry him.

R. J. Shaw was going homeward when he was joined by a big burly fellow who walked beside him ostensibly looking for Richmond street but in the doctor's mind watching a chance to waylay him. Mr. Shaw was very glad to reach his own front door without molestation, and dodged in leaving his unwelcome companion standing there somewhat bewildered.

DIVORCED MRS. SANDFORD.

Frederick of Plainfield Is Legally Separated at Last.

After fighting in the cour for a year and a half, Frederick Sandford, formerly of this city, has won his suit for divorce against his former wife, Ella A. Sandford. He began the suit through Craig A. Marsh as counsel, and was met with a stubborn resistance on every point. Counsel when applied to said that he preferred not to go into details further than to say that despite the opposition of eminent counsel the court vindicated Mr. Sandford, and granted the prayer of his petition for divorce.

Would Not Let Her Teach Prayers.

Rudolph Hering, the engineer recently employed by this city to supervise the construction of the water-works, is reported by the New York Tribune as follows:

A divorce was granted at Sioux Falls, South Dakoto, on July 7, to Rudolph Hering, a civil engineer and sewerage expert, of 277 Pearl street, New York, from Fannie Field Hering, who became insane after the action was begun, and is now a patient in the Butler Hospital for the Insane at Providence, R. I. Hering charged his wife with desertion, ans she made a counter charge of cruel treatment, alleging that he would not permit her to teach her children simple prayers. A Tribune reporter called at Mr. Hering's office yesterday, and was informed that Mr. Hering was in Chicago, and that no person here had any information on the subject.

Frazee Lee Heirs Getting Their Portion.

According to the decision of the courts, a few days ago, Meeker Hetfield, one of the heirs of the Frazee Lee estate, is entitled to one-half of the 93-feet frontage of the property on the south side of East Front street between Park and Watchung avenues. By this division Hetfield is entitled to the property now occupied by George Moore and it also takes off some five feet of the building now occupied by John Sayers. The other heirs will divide the unimproved property on the opposite side of the street.

"We'll Be In It", Say the Eagles.

Capt. J. C. Diggs and Fred Byers, of the "Eagle wheelmen" of Newark, were out last Sunday over the course to be traversed for the 25-mile handicap road-race to be run under the direction of Bert Harvey, of this city, July 27.

"I near about pushed the tires off my wheels"—said Fred—"on that Fanwood road; it is out of sight, and we boys are going to make the pace; hey, capt?"

"All we drinks is sarsaparilla and very little of that, as we get the bulge on the whiskey drinkers"—said the captain.

This race will be by the gentry of the colored persuasion, and will undoubtedly be a close one, though the Eagles seem to think they can win hands down.

He Sought Some Creeping Plasters.

The champion prevaricator of the borough was recently sent to a drug store to purchase a porous plaster, and when he returned he told the parties who sent him that they should have bought a "creeping plaster", and when asked what kind they were, he said: "Why, it's a plaster that you put on where the pain is, and when the pain moves to another part of the body the plaster just creeps over to that spot and knocks it out." No one else had ever heard tell of such plasters, and several persons have tried to get the individual to procure some, but have failed.

PAPIAC THE POPULAR.

A Special Correspondent's Views of Plainfield's Long Time Favorite Beach.

East of Long Branch, I know of no more popular one-day resort along the Jersey coast, than that formerly known as Boyntoe's Beach, but now called Papiac. There one can enjoy the cooling breezes in peace and quiet and gaze enrapt upon the scenery of Staten Island and its picturesque shores.

For a day's outing, for Plainfielders, even though the drive was a long one, all would be amply repaid in the recreation to be found there. The bathing is unsurpassed, then there are the bowling alleys, shooting gallery, merry-go-'round for young and old, and boating and fishing. Shady nooks and corners abound, and last but not least the dancing pavilion with its orchestra that plays the sweetest of waltzes and other dances, which greatly enhances the pleasure of those who can trip the light fantastic.

Standing on the bluff, overlooking the Sound, one can see a panorama of sailing craft. From the slender rigged cat boat up to the three masted schooner which appear like white winged swans upon the placid waters. The scene is ever changing and interesting, and the doughty little tug boat with its eight or ten coal laden canal boats, puffs and steams and frets for a full hour in view before passing out of sight towards New York. A word to the anglers. Why go to Barnegat when Papiac is so near, now that the variety of fish for which sportsmen yearn the coming into northern waters, only await the hook and line at Papiac.

The restaurant furnishes the best of food at a nominal rate, while the various amusements may be indulged in at no great sacrifice to the pocket. It would be unkind not to speak of the management which is most excellent in very detail. Mr. Boynton the proprietor gives personal attention to the many enterprises about the grounds and sees to it that every man, woman and child is courteously looked after and shown every attention by his many attendants.

The best of accommodations are accorded to lunch parties, and mothers who bring their children can find numberless cosy places to lay their little ones for a restful nap.

The best of order always prevails there, and one may feel that his family is safe and far removed from all such scenes of rudeness and disorder as are characteristic of more pretentious "day resorts".

Papiac is reached by the Central Railroad of N. J., Sewaren station, which is but a few rods distant from the beach, or by the Pennsylvania road to Woodbridge, and thence by stage, which connects with all trains. For excursion trains the C. R. R. of N. J. have a spur running into the grounds.

THE INTER-CLUB TOURNAMENT.

Play to Be Begun Saturday on the Hillside Courts.

At the Hillside Tennis club, Saturday, will be seen the first games in the inter-club series between the teams of the Bergen Point tennis club, the Jersey City tennis club, and the Hillside. On the two following Saturdays the games will be continued at the out-of-town clubs. Fred Waiz and Albert Simmonds constitute the team selected to meet the visitors Saturday, and others will go out of town to represent the club. The regular tea will be held as usual, at which Mrs. W. J. Ladd will receive and be assisted by some other ladies of the club.

Apropos of That "Firemen's" Contest.

Here is a true little story that is going the rounds which illustrates one of the evils of the "coupon" system which desperate sheets are using to bolster up their dying circulation. It furnishes its own moral:

"In a New England city a bright young woman who earns her own living had saved $75 with which to go to the World's Fair. A few weeks ago a sensational newspaper started a "contest" for free trips to the Fair. The young woman's friends thought they would surprise her with one of these free trips. They began buying the newspaper coupons and sending them in to be credited to her. Some indiscreet friend let her know what was going on. As her friends were spending so much money for her benefit she felt bound in honor to assist. In the end her $75 went into the pool and in the total over $400 was spent. But this sum was not quite enough. The free trip went to somebody who had 29,500 coupons against her 20,000. She gets nothing for the $400 spent in her behalf and she will not go to the Fair."

Della to Have a Vacation.

After next Saturday evening's performance of "Panjandrum", at the Broadway theater New York city, Miss Della Fox will temporarily retire from the cast, in order to enjoy a vacation which she very much needs, and which the clever little woman has earned by nearly four years of constant work in the Hopper company, during which period of time, in fact since the organization has been in existence, she has been one of the most reliable and painstaking of its members, and her absence during the long and prosperous runs of "Castles in the Air", "Wang", and the present production at the Broadway theater, is confined to three performances.

Miss Fox's vacation has been limited to six weeks, during which time Edna Wallace Hopper, the charming soubrette of Charles Frohman's Stock company, who made such a marked success in "The Girl I Left Behind Me", during its recent run at the Empire theater, has been specially engaged to play the role of Paquita, which Miss Fox has played so daintily and successfully since the opening night of "Panjandrum".

A Pair of Spectacles.

It is amazing how little is known of the structure of the eye by those who have given the subject no study. Its delicate and intricate mechanism is a closed book to many who should at least know what can with safety be done with it and what can not. Let us tell you what you should know and just what will enable you to preserve this precious instrument from either damage or decay. Have your eyes examined. There may be easily much the matter with them and yet you may not know it. If you take chances at all, take small ones. With almost anything else in the world you may be able to afford to run risks, but not with the eye.

The safest and withal the cheapest way to have your eyes fitted is by the eye specialist from Queen & Co., Philadelphia's famous firm of opticians and opticians, who is at 7 East Front street, every Thursday.

Westfield Here Saturday.

Manager Keller has engaged the Westfield base-ball team to play against the Crescents in Plainfield Saturday. Manager McLaughlin of this popular nine has strengthened his team. He has a crack new first baseman in Belyea of the Staten Islands. The previous game this season between Westfield and Plainfield was lost by Westfield through her players' costly errors. Francis pitched good ball, and will do so again. The game should bring out a large crowd. Remember the old Plainfield favorites Martin and Murphy will be back. And don't forget the low prices.

To Shoot for $200.

The return shoot between Harry Campbell, of this city, and Aaron Woodruff, of Elizabeth, will be shot at Tremley Point, on the Long Branch road, to-morrow, for $100 a side. The 12 noon and 3:26 p. m. trains from this city, make connections at Elizabethport.

HILL'S

REMEMBER WE GUARANTEE A CURE and invite the most careful investigation as to our responsibility and the merits of our Tablets.

READ OUR TESTIMONIALS

Double Chloride of Gold Tablets

Will completely destroy the desire for TOBACCO in from 3 to 5 days. Perfectly harmless; cause no sickness, and may be given in a cup of tea or coffee without the knowledge of the patient, who will voluntarily stop smoking or chewing in a few days.

DRUNKENNESS and MORPHINE HABIT can be cured at home, and without any effort on the part of the patient, by the use of our SPECIAL FORMULA GOLD CURE TABLETS.

During treatment patients are allowed the free use of Liquor or Morphine until such time as they shall voluntarily give them up.

We send particulars and pamphlet of testimonials free, and shall be glad to place sufferers from any of these habits in communication with persons who have been cured by the use of our TABLETS.

HILL'S TABLETS are for sale by all FIRST-CLASS druggists at $1.00 per package.

If your druggist does not keep them, enclose us $1.00 and we will send you, by return mail, a package of our Tablets.

Write your name and address plainly, and state whether Tablets are for Tobacco, Morphine or Liquor Habit.

DO NOT BE DECEIVED into purchasing any of the various nostrums that are being offered for sale. Ask for HILL'S TABLETS and take no other.

Manufactured only by

—THE—

OHIO CHEMICAL CO.,

51, 53 & 55 Opera Block,

LIMA, OHIO.

PARTICULARS FREE.

TOBACCO HABIT EASILY CURED.

A FEW Testimonials from persons who have been cured by the use of Hill's Tablets.

THE OHIO CHEMICAL CO.: DEAR SIR:—I have been using your cure for tobacco habit, and found it would do what you claim for it. I used ten cents worth of the strongest chewing tobacco a day, and from one to five cigars; or I would smoke from ten to forty pipes of tobacco. Have chewed and smoked for twenty-five years, and two packages of your Tablets cured me so I have no desire for it. B. M. JAYLORD, Leslie, Mich.

DOBBS FERRY, N. Y. THE OHIO CHEMICAL CO.:—GENTLEMEN:—Some time ago I sent for $1.00 worth of your Tablets for Tobacco Habit. I received them all right and, although I was both a heavy smoker and chewer, they did the work in less than three days. I am cured. Truly yours, MATHEW JOHNSON, P. O. Box 45.

PITTSBURGH, PA. THE OHIO CHEMICAL CO.:—GENTLEMEN:—It gives me pleasure to speak a word of praise for your Tablets. My son was strongly addicted to the use of liquor, and through a friend, I was led to try your Tablets. He was a heavy and constant drinker, but after using your Tablets but three days he quit drinking, and will not touch liquor of any kind. I have waited four month before writing you, in order to know the cure was permanent. Yours truly, MRS. HELEN MORRISON.

CINCINNATI, OHIO. THE OHIO CHEMICAL CO.:—GENTLEMEN:—Your Tablets have performed a miracle in my case. I have used morphine, hypodermically, for seven years, and have been cured by the use of two packages of your Tablets, and without any effort on my part. W. L. LOTEGAY.

Address all Orders to

RESPONSIBLE AGENTS WANTED.

THE OHIO CHEMICAL CO.,

51, 53 and 55 Opera Block, LIMA, OHIO.

(In writing please mention this paper.)

Board of Chosen Freeholders of the County of Union.

OFFICIAL.

ELIZABETH, N. J., June 29, 1893.

Pursuant to adjournment the Board of Chosen Freeholders of Union County, met on Thursday, June 29, 1893.

Present—Director Sauer and Freeholders Badgely, Donahue, Ehrlich, Hubbard, Howard, Halliday, Hunt, Kyte, Moore, Roll, Swain, Scudder, Trahon, Vanderbeek, Winans, Woodruff.

Absent—None.

The minutes of the last meeting were read and Freeholder Hubbard moved to correct by inserting the names of members on all divided votes, which was carried, and the minutes approved.

COMMUNICATIONS.

From the committee on Fourth of July in Elizabeth, inviting the board to attend the services in the First Presbyterian church, read and on motion of Freeholder Trahon received, filed and invitation accepted.

COMMITTEE REPORTS.

The committee on bonds reported progress.

From county road committee:

To the Board of Chosen Freeholders of Union County:

Your committee on county roads, to whom was referred the maps, profiles, agreement and specifications of the Newark avenue road, held a meeting on Monday, June 26, 1893, at the Freeholders' room, and with the assistance of the county engineer and county attorney, very carefully went over the agreement and specifications, and believe they are correct, and it is now submitted to your honorable body for approval.

Signed—Chas. H. Moore, W. H. Swain, J. F. Hubbard, J. Martin Roll, M. M. Scudder, Committee.

On motion of Freeholder Vanderbeek received and filed.

From committee on Springfield avenue bridge, between Springfield and Union townships.

Gentlemen—Your committee on said bridge would respectfully report that they have examined the said bridge and would recommend that they build an iron beam brick arch bridge, at a cost not to exceed fourteen hundred dollars ($1,400).

Signed—J. Martin Roll, Chas. H. Moore, J. F. Hubbard, Noah Woodruff, M. M. Scudder, committee.

On motion of Freeholder Hubbard the report was received and filed, and the committee empowered to build the bridge.

To the Honorable Board of Chosen Freeholders of Union county:

Gentlemen—At the request of the director, the undersigned committee met with a Committee from the Morris County Board of Freeholders in reference to building a bridge over the road leading from New Providence to Liberty Corners, the said bridge being a line bridge. The joint committee recommended that a new iron truss bridge be built at a cost not to exceed ten hundred dollars to each county, all of which is most respectfully submitted.

Signed—E. D. Badgely, J. Martin Roll, W. H. Swain, John J. Donahue, Committee.

On motion of Freeholder Kyte received and filed and recommendations adopted unanimously.

Report of Plainfield bridge committee:

Your committee on Plainfield bridges would respectfully report that they met the Somerset County Board, and they passed a resolution to build an iron truss bridge over Green Brook on Westervelt avenue, at a cost not to exceed eighteen hundred dollars to this county, and your committee would recommend that we adopt the same for this county. Your committee would further report that the joint committee agreed to replank the bridge over Green Brook, on Grove street, with three-inch Georgia pine plank. Also your committee would recommend that we build an iron beam bridge over Cedar Brook, with brick arches, at a cost not to exceed eight hundred dollars.

Signed—A. Vanderbeek, J. F. Hubbard, John A. Halliday, Chas. H. Moore, Noah Woodruff, Committee.

On motion of Freeholder Moore received and filed and recommendation adopted unanimously.

REPORT FROM COUNTY ENGINEER.

To the Board of Chosen Freeholders of Union County:

Gentlemen—In accordance with resolutions heretofore adopted by your board, authorizing the county engineer to make the necessary surveys and maps and draw agreements, proposals and specifications for the paving of Newark avenue from Broad street, Elizabeth, to the Essex county line; Morris avenue, from Hobart's Gap, Summit township, to the Passaic river; Springfield avenue, from Morris avenue, Springfield township, to the Essex county line; Edgar Road, from Grove street, Elizabeth, to Stiles st, Linden township. The undersigned respectfully report maps and profile of Edgar Road, proposals, agreements and specifications of Morris avenue, Springfield avenue and Edgar Road. Respectfully submitted.

LOUIS QUIEN, County Engineer.

On motion of Freeholder Howard received and filed.

RESOLUTIONS.

By Freeholder Moore:

Resolved, That the director and clerk of this board be and are hereby authorized and requested to execute in triplicate, on the part of this board, the contract with the Central Railroad Company for the construction of a new bridge over the Elizabeth river at South Front street, of which a draft has been submitted to this meeting.

The contract was read, and on motion of Freeholder Roll approved and the resolution adopted unanimously.

By Freeholder Trahon:

Resolved, that the Gas and Water Companies of Elizabeth be prohibited from using the roadway of Newark avenue, from North Broad Street to the county line, for the purpose of laying down their mains.

Freeholder Donahue moved to adopt. Freeholder Roll moved to amend to report to the county attorney. Freeholder Hubbard moved to lay on the table which was carried.

By Freeholder Hunt:

Resolved, that a committee of five be appointed to report on the advisability of extending bridge over Rahway river on Eastman street in Cranford township.

On motion of Freeholder Swain adopted.

By Freeholder Badgely:

Resolved, That a committee of five be appointed with power to construct an iron truss bridge over the Passaic river, on the road leading from New Providence to Liberty Corner, at a cost not to exceed ten hundred dollars on the part of Union County.

On motion of Freeholder Hubbard adopted unanimously.

By Freeholder Swain:

Resolved, That the clerk of this board be and is hereby requested, to notify the Mountain Water Company, of Summit, N. J., to grade the side of the county road through Summit township, between the Telford pavement and the gutter where the said company have laid water pipes, and if the same is not done within ten days from the receipt of the notice of said clerk, the county committee of this board will have the same done at the said Water Co's expense.

On motion of Freeholder Howard adopted unanimously.

By Freeholder Donahue:

Resolved That the director and clerk of this board be empowered to execute an agreement between the old Colony Land and Improvement Company and the Board of Chosen Freeholders of the County of Union in accordance with a resolution adopted by this board on February 2, 1893.

On motion of Freeholder Woodruff adopted.

Freeholder Kyte moved that the specifications for Morris avenue Springfield avenue and Edgar road be referred to Committee of the whole which was carried.

Freeholder Hubbard moved that the specifications of Newark avenue be referred to the committee of the whole to be called by the director which was carried.

The Director appointed the following committees:

On New Providence bridge—Freeholders Badgely Swain Roll Hunt and Trahon.

On Cranford Bridge—Freeholders Hunt Scudder Halliday Kyte and Ehrlich.

The following bills, audited and approved, were read and on motion ordered paid:

Court Account—James Ritchie $75, Amos Mott [illegible], Michael Finneran 75, John M. C. Marsh [illegible], Daniel Donovan 20, John H. McGrath 20, Wm H Smith 20, Henry Smith 20, Oliver Coston 67.50, Jas J Gerber 2.

Bridges—Louis Quien $18, [illegible], Frank Murphy 124.69, Adam Gerlach [illegible], [illegible] C. H. Winans 50, Samuel T Moore & Son 21.88.

Members' Pay—Noah Woodruff [illegible], W H Swain 24, J I Winans 50, John S Sauer [illegible].

Committee Expenses—Martin Roll [illegible], J I Winans 20.50, W H Swain 10 68, Noah Woodruff 10 07.

County Road—Louis Quien [illegible].

Stationery—Summit Record $26 77, Chas H Smith [illegible], W A Tubbs 76 11, L S Hyer 21 50.

Incidental—Jas J Gerber $150 00, Louis Quien [illegible], Michael Durning 25.

Public Grounds and Buildings—J E Keinig [illegible].

The Director announced a meeting of the committee of the whole for Monday, July 3, at 1:30 p. m.

Freeholder Kyte moved to adjourn, which was carried.

The director declared the board adjourned to Thursday, July 6, 1893, at 2:00 p. m.

ALFRED B. COOK, Clerk.

COOPER'S FLORAL DENTINE.

So popular with the Ladies for rendering their teeth snowy white. With the dentifrice for cleansing their teeth and perfuming the breath. It removes all traces of tobacco smoke, is absolutely harmless and delicious to the taste. Sent by mail for 25c. All dealers. Send 2c stamp for sample to

T. [illegible] & [illegible],
[illegible], N. Y.

Mullins & Co.

218 and 220 Market Street,

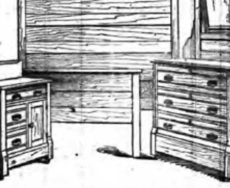
NEWARK, N. J.

The Leading Furniture and Carpet House in the State.

OUR PRICES ARE THE LOWEST.

WHY?

We have no exorbitant rental expenses, for we own our buildings and everything in them. We buy in the best markets, get the largest discounts and are satisfied with reasonable profits.



Oak Chamber Suit $12.

Our assortment of Furniture, Carpets, Baby Carriages, Refrigerators, Cooking Stoves and almost everything for housekeeping are worth seeing, whether you purchase or not.

CARPETS.

Wilton, Axminster, Moquette, Velvet, Body and Tapestry Brussels and Ingrain Carpets, Linoleum, Oilcloth, Cocoa and China Matting, in latest designs and choicest colorings.

Miscellaneous.

Baby Carriages, Stoves, Ranges, Cooking Utensils, Window Shades, Pictures, Clocks, Chenille and Lace Curtains at

The Best Terms of Any House in the State

BRANCH STORES | 78 to 84 Myrtle ave., Brooklyn, N. Y.
121 to 125 Newark ave., Jersey City.
213 Main st., Paterson, N. J.

3 30 3m

We Have Now In Stock

The largest and best assortment of

$12 BUSINESS SUITS

that we have ever manufactured. They are the latest styles of Plain and Fancy Cheviots, Cassimere Suitings, Black Thibets, etc., and the most of these styles have never been sold before for less than $15 per suit. Our

$12 BLUE SERGE SUITS

Are made from Indigo Blue Serges, color guaranteed and we recommend these as the most comfortable, serviceable and stylish suits for summer wear.

Kilpatrick & Betts,

745 and 747 Broad Street,

Newark.

DO YOU COUGH DON'T DELAY TAKE KEMP'S BALSAM THE BEST COUGH CURE.

It cures Colds, Coughs, Sore Throat, Croup, Influenza, Whooping Cough, Bronchitis and Asthma. A certain cure for Consumption in first stages, and a sure relief in advanced stages. Use at once. You will see the excellent effect after taking the first dose. Sold by dealers everywhere. Large bottles 50 cents and $1.00.

E. C. Morris Safe Co

Incorporated. Capital $250,000.
Successors to E. C. Morris & Co.

64 Sudbury St., Boston, Mass.

FIRE AND BURGLAR-PROOF SAFES.

Bank Safes, Bank Vaults, Bank Vault Doors and Deposit Work of all kinds.

The Best Safe in the World. 150,000 in use. Always preserve their contents.

Champion Record in all the Great Fires.

One of the largest and best equipped factories in the country has just been erected near Boston, fitted with the latest and most improved tools, which render facilities for manufacturing the best work at the lowest prices, unequalled by any other concern in the country.

Our aim is to give the best construction and most improvements for the least amount of money. Estimates and specifications furnished upon application. AGENTS WANTED.

7-9 c

IN CHANCERY OF NEW JERSEY.

To George F. Martens and William Allen.

By virtue of an order of the Court of Chancery of New Jersey, made on the day of the date hereof in a cause wherein Caroline F. Harrison is complainant and you and others are defendants, you are required to appear, plead, answer or demur to the bill of said complainant on or before the ninth day of September next, or the said bill will be taken as confessed against you.

The said bill is filed to foreclose a mortgage given by John E. VanNess to the said Caroline F. Harrison, dated October eighth, Eighteen hundred and ninety, on lands in the city of Plainfield, Union County, New Jersey, and also on lands in the township of North Plainfield Somerset county, New Jersey and you George F. Martens are made a defendant because you own said lands or some part thereof, and you, William Allen, are made a defendant because you hold by assignment from said complainant a mortgage on said lands.

OSCAR B. KEEN,
Solicitor of Complainant, No. 763 Broad street, Newark, New Jersey.
Dated July 8, 1893. 7 13 4

SHERIFF'S SALE.

NEW JERSEY SUPREME COURT. UNION COUNTY—Charles A. Reed, vs. John C. Moore, alias. Fi. fa. de. bo. et. ter. In debt.
Charles A. Reed, Att'y.
Patrick Lynch, Trustee, vs John C. Moore, alias. Fi. fa. de. bo. et. ter. In debt.
Wm. R. Codington, Att'y.
Daniel H. Terry, vs. John C. Moore, alias. Fi. fa. de. bo. et. ter. In debt.
Pl'tiff pro se. Att'y
UNION COUNTY CIRCUIT COURT—Comegys Paul, vs. John C. Moore, alias. Fi. fa. de. bo. et ter. On Contract.
Wm. A. Coddington, Att'y.
UNION COUNTY COMMON PLEAS COURT—Thomas Callahan vs. John C. Moore. alias. Fi. fa. de. bo. et. ter. On docketed judgment.
Jackson & Codington, Att'ys.
Newton B. Smalley, vs. John C. Moore, alias. Fi. fa. de. bo. et. ter. On docketed judgment.
Wm. R. Codington, Att'y.
Harry Werner, vs. John C. Moore, alias. Fi. fa. de. bo. et. ter. On docketed judgment.
Jackson & Codington, Att'ys.

By virtue of the above stated writs of fieri facias to me directed, I shall expose for sale by public vendue at the court house, in the city of Elizabeth, N. J., on

WEDNESDAY, THE SIXTEENTH DAY OF AUGUST, A. D., 1893,

at two o'clock in the afternoon of said day, all the right, title and interest of the defendant John C. Moore, of, in and to all that tract or parcel of land and premises, situated in the city of Plainfield, county of Union and state of New Jersey.

Beginning at a point in the southerly line of Second street, distant easterly one hundred and thirty feet more or less from the intersection of said line of Second street, with the easterly line of Park avenue which point is also the northwest corner of the lot of Daniel Roberts; thence first westerly along said southerly line of Second street thirty-five feet, more or less, to a point thence southerly in a course parallel with the westerly boundary of said Roberts, eighty-five feet, more or less, to the line of the Hotel property of Condert Brothers; thence easterly along said hotel property thirty-five feet, more or less, to the line of Daniel Roberts; and thence northerly along said line of Daniel Roberts and parallel with the Second st eet course eighty-five feet, more or less to the place of beginning.

W. H. Ricks, Sheriff.
DL&O Fees $11.60

EXECUTOR'S SETTLEMENT.

Notice is hereby given, that the account of the subscriber, executor and trustee under the will of Frederick F. Chase, deceased, will be audited and stated by the Surrogate, and reported for settlement to the Orphans' Court of the county of Union, on Wednesday, the thirteenth day of September next. CRAIG A. MARSH
Dated July 1, 1893. 7 6 10

MASTER'S SALE.

By virtue of a decree made by the Court of Chancery of the State of New Jersey bearing date the twenty-fourth day of June, A. D., eighteen hundred and ninety-three, in a certain cause pending in the Court of Chancery of New Jersey wherein James Smith is complainant and Mary J. Bartle et als. are defendants I, John D. Bartine, one of the Special Masters of the Court of Chancery of New Jersey, duly appointed and commissioned to make said sale and all necessary things pertaining thereto, will sell at public auction to the highest bidder on the premises at Murray Hill, in Union County, New Jersey, on Monday, the seventh (7) day of August next, between the hours of twelve and five o'clock, to wit, at two o'clock in the afternoon of said day, all those two tracts or parcels of land and premises hereinafter particularly described, situate, lying and being in the township of New Providence, in the County of Union and State of New Jersey:

The First Tract—Lying south of the Stony Hill Road. Beginning at an iron stake in the middle of the road leading from New Providence to Scotch Plains at a corner of land lately purchased by Charles F. Smith, and running thence along the line of said Charles F. Smith south six and a quarter degrees east thirty-seven chains and eighty-seven links more or less to a stake for a corner in line of Ann Bartle; thence along Ann Bartle north eighty-seven and a-half degrees west fourteen chains and thirty-six links to a butternut tree for a corner; thence along the Bartle estate north one and a-half degrees east thirty-two chains and forty-four links to a stake in the middle of said road; thence along the middle of said road (1) north seventy degrees east four chains; thence (2) north sixty degrees east six chains and sixty-two links to the iron pin, the place of beginning. Containing forty-one and ninety-hundredths acres more or less.

The Second Tract—Lying north of the Stony Hill Road. Beginning at a stake in the middle of the road leading from New Providence to Scotch Plains in line of (formerly) Jotham Potter's land; thence running along the line of said Potter's land north one degree east seven chains and fifty links, more or less, to a stone heap for a corner in an old Tier line and line of (formerly) Wilcox; thence along said Tier line and line (formerly) Wilcox south eighty-eight and a quarter degrees east seven chains and eighty-six links, more or less, to line of (formerly) Elias Clark; thence along said Elias Clark's line to a stake in the middle of said road; thence along the middle of said road three courses and distances: (1) south sixty degrees west three chains and forty-eight links more or less; (2) south seventy degrees [illegible] four chains; (3) south sixty-five and a-half degrees west two chains and forty-seven links to the place of beginning. Containing four acres and seventy-five hundredths acres more or less.

Being the land and premises of which William Smith died, seized; including the estate and interest in dower of the defendants, Christina Smith and Martha Smith, in said premises, together with all and singular, the hereditaments and appurtenances to the said premises belonging or in any wise appertaining.

J. D. BARTINE,
Special Master in Chancery of New Jersey
GEO. V. VANDEVEER, Sol'r.
Dated June 29, 1893.
C&CH., fees $14.40 7 6 w5

THE PLAINFIELD

PACKING HOUSE

25 West Front Street,

Would respectfully inform its patrons that in addition to its usual stock of

Fresh, Salt and Smoked Goods,

It has added a full line of

Fresh Beef, Lamb,

Veal, Mutton & Poultry,

Which it is prepared to sell at

Reasonable Prices!

All goods delivered free of charge.

Telephone 141.

C. M. ULRICH.

At Half Prices

N. B.—Notice the first name, AMOS and No. 73, before entering the store.

AMOS H. VANHORN.

LIMITED,

73 MARKET STREET,

GREAT

MIDSUMMER SALE

AT HALF PRICES.

Moquette, per yard only	75c
Velvet carpet, per yard only	75c
Body Brussels carpet per yard only	75c
Tapestry Brussels carpet, per yard only	50c
All-wool ingrain carpet, per yard only	50c
Three ply carpet, per yard only	65c
Parlor suits in plush, 6 pieces, mahogany finished frames, only	$27
Parlor suits, mahogany finished frames, in rug covering, only	$37
Antique oak bedroom suits, reduced from $20 down as low as	$13

Hotels, Summer Resorts and Summer Boarding Houses will always find a large line of goods at my establishment, and at low prices and easy terms.

Fancy Matting, large stock and low prices. Best makes of Refrigerators at the lowest prices.

Telephone 580. Terms to suit purchasers Car fare paid. Goods delivered free of charge to all parts of the state.

BOOK ACCOUNT OPENED IF DESIRED.

Telephone 580! Elevator to Every Floor!

Goods Delivered FREE OF CHARGE to All Parts of the State!

AMOS H. VAN HORN.

LIMITED.

My only place of Business is at

73 Market Street,

Near Plane St., Newark, N. J.

NO BRANCH STORES.

10-5-1y

TOWNSEND'S

Marble & Granite Works,

30 SOMERSET STREET,

PLAINFIELD, N. J.

If you have not engaged your work, I should be pleased to do it for you.

I buy only first-class Marble and Granite and do not sell unless at prices that will enable me to put up the work with credit to myself and justice to the parties purchasing.

I employ no agents and therefore am enabled to make a reduction in the price of my work to the customer, of the commission generally paid to agents.

I am under a very small expense in running my shop, myself and my son doing the larger portion of the work, and we personally attend to the setting of all work, and look upon business in this light, that Good Work and Good Material, at Fair Prices, is a standing advertisement for my business, which will tend to build up trade, and I feel safe to warrant that no dealer can sell you the same work and same stock any cheaper than I can.

Hoping to be favored with your patronage, I am yours respectfully,

J. E. TOWNSEND,

Manager. 8 11 tf

Branch Yard Westfield, N. J.

FURS

And all kinds of wearing apparel

STORED

And insured against all damage by fire or moth.

Repairing and re-dyeing of Furs should be done during the summer months.

GEO. C. TREADWELL CO.

SUCCESSORS TO

W. H. AND R. BURNETT,

17 Academy st., Newark. 5 11 4

Scientific American Agency for

PATENTS

CAVEATS, TRADE MARKS, DESIGN PATENTS, COPYRIGHTS, etc.

For information and free Handbook write to MUNN & CO., 361 BROADWAY, NEW YORK. Oldest bureau for securing patents in America. Every patent taken out by us is brought before the public by a notice given free of charge in the

Scientific American

Largest circulation of any scientific paper in the world. Splendidly illustrated. No intelligent man should be without it. Weekly, $3.00 a year; $1.50 six months. Address MUNN & CO., PUBLISHERS, 361 Broadway, New York City.

Dime Savings Institution

OF PLAINFIELD, N. J.

Is now receiving deposits payable on demand, with interest at the rate of three (3) per cent. per annum payable semi-annually.

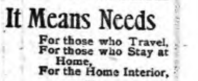
JOHN W. MURRAY, President,
WILLIAM WHITE, Vice "
NATHAN HARPER, " "
ELIAS R. POPE, Treasurer.

Semi-Annual Clearing Sale

AT THE

NEWARK

BEE HIVE



Beginning

Monday, July 10

Ending

Saturday, July 15

Offering for the Six Days the contents of our vast establishment at reduced prices, to effect a speedy clearing of all Summer Goods and stock in surplus.

It Means Wear

For the Men,
For the Women,
For the Children.

It Means Needs

For those who Travel,
For those who Stay at Home,
For the Home Interior,

—AT—

Prices Much Below

THOSE PREVAILING IN EARLY SEASON.

Regular patrons know, and prospective visitors will learn, that this is not a "Job Lot" hurrah of odd or poor-selling stock, but the offering of choice merchandise, such as is sold in our place from day to day. To the public in general the Summer season is at its height—to us it means preparation for the Fall and Winter.

Hence this Cut Price Carnival.

Write for Detail List.

NO BRANCH STORE.

L. S. PLAUT & CO.,

707 to 721 Broad Street,

NEWARK, N. J.

NOTICE. June 5, 1893.

Estate of Harriet E. Case, Deceased.

Pursuant to the order of George T. Parrot, Surrogate of the county of Union, this day made, on the application of the undersigned, administrator of said deceased, notice is hereby given to the creditors of said deceased to exhibit to the subscribers under oath or affirmation their claims and demands against the estate of said deceased within nine months from this date, or they will be forever barred from prosecuting or recovering the same against the subscriber.

[illegible] D. CASE,
Administrator.

CITY DEPARTMENT.

OFFICIAL PAPER OF THE STATE, THE COUNTY AND THE CITY, AND HAS THE LARGEST CIRCULATION OF ANY PAPER PUBLISHED IN THE COUNTY OF UNION.

J. A. DEMAREST - - City Editor.

—The question is frequently asked: "What has become of the soldiers' monument?"

—The effects of the Census bureau on North avenue, have been shipped to Washington, by express.

—The public library directors will hereafter hold their regular sessions the first Tuesday in each month.

—A bicycle race will take place July 20 between Frank Hart and Fred Minor, for $20, on Campbell's track.

—John Carney expects to give one of his successful entertainments at Basking Ridge in the near future.

—Admission, including grand stand seat, to the Crescent ball games, will hereafter be 25 cents. General admission 15 cents.

—Car No. 1, of the street railway, is off duty for the purpose of being repainted. The other cars will be similarly treated in their turn.

—Two of the big poles which held the netting in front of the base-ball grand stand blew down during the gale, Saturday evening.

—A party of three amateur fishermen from this city spent Sunday fishing along the Cranford river. The total catch was over 100 fine eels.

—Don't neglect to take that two days' trip to the Chicago fair for 50 cents, all expenses paid, Monday and Tuesday evenings at Music Hall.

—Plainfield Lodge, 44, I. O. O. F., have decided to run an excursion to Lake Hopatcong August 24, stopping at Dunellen, Somerville and White House.

—Fifty cents for two days at the World's Fair, Chicago, with all expenses paid. That's what's offered for next Monday and Tuesday evenings at Music Hall.

—Two new cars for the Somerset street extension of the street Railway are now due here from the shop, and there are already 166 applications for positions as motormen and conductors on the new route.

—Oscar R. Keen, solicitor for Caroline F. Harrison, gives notice of foreclosure of a mortgage given by John K. VanNess to her, on Plainfield and North Plainfield lands. The matter will be heard in court Sept. 9.

—The Elizabeth "Town Tattle", a society journal published for the last three and a half years by John C. Wetmore of that city, has suspended. Mr. Wetmore says the financial depression is the principal cause.

—To the street committee of the borough has been referred the petition of citizens to lay a crosswalk at Grandview and Westervelt avenues and to repair the Grand street and Grandview avenue sidewalk, which is in bad condition.

PERSONALIA.

Uncle Peter Wooden has disposed of his kittenish colt.

Fred Jansen is now the genial clerk at the Arlington hotel.

C. Wharton, of Third place, started for a trip to Canada, Sunday.

Borough councilman Joseph Howell is off for a six weeks' vacation.

Mr. and Mrs. George Randolph, of Duer street, are at the seaside.

Mrs. Dr. T. H. Tomlinson, of LaGrande avenue, has gone to Westerly, R. I.

Miss Anitia Fraley, of East Ninth street, has gone to Pompton Plains.

R. W. Rice's son, of the borough, is home, with two schoolboy friends visiting him.

Jack Barry, Bull Frog City's only sport, is spending this month at the World's Fair.

D. F. Godown and family, of Vine street, are spending a few days in Hunterdon county.

D. A. P. Jones, "the white Japanese", and his crew of Japs, left town Monday for New Brunswick.

Andrew R. Kenney leaves St. Louis next week for a short visit to his family on Manning avenue.

Acting-mayor Neal's family, of the borough, are enjoying life up the Hudson river, alongside Newburgh.

Miss Lillie Otis, of Kingston, N. Y., is visiting for a few days at the home of Mr and Mrs. Carey, Prospect place.

Miss Percy Emmons, of Plainfield, is the guest of Miss Hester Holman, of Livingston avenue, New Brunswick.

The Rev. J. W. Richardson, pastor of the Park Avenue Baptist church, is at Middlebury, Conn., for July and August.

Charles Overbaugh, a former resident of North Plainfield, has been calling on friends in the borough, much to their delight.

Mrs. Ireland and child, of Philadelphia, have been visiting Mrs. Ireland's brothers, Messrs. Hiram and Henry Woodland.

Bolhke Luerssen, who was so long an esteemed resident of North Plainfield, has returned to Reading after a visit to his old home.

Young Sandford Robinson, a son of Emory Robinson, caught a large mess of fish at Sebring's mills the other day, which old fishermen envied.

Mr. Emerson, who recently purchased and now occupies the stone house on the hillside, North Plainfield, is making many improvements about the place.

Isaac Colthar, who has built probably more bridges than any other one individual in this State, will be 73 years of age April 11, 1894. He is still a most active citizen.

To Mrs. Boisterll, who was such a valuable aid in nursing Wm. L. Force through his fatal illness, the bereaved family express their most heartfelt gratitude.

Herbert Willett, of Craig place, North Plainfield, intends spending a few weeks up in the other end of Somerset county, near Kline's mills, fishing. He'll have a jolly time.

The annual reunion of the 30th Veterans' Association of New Jersey will be held at Asbury Park on the 20th inst. Two of the members, W. H. Ludlow and H. C. Drake, will go from this city.

The Elizabeth Herald, under the heading "To be honored here", says that the Union County Press club will hold a special meeting to take action on the death of Wm. L. Force.

Collector H. N. Spencer has in his possession a wooden canteen carried by one of his ancestors in the Revolutionary war. It is indeed a relic, and very unique. He is justly proud of it.

Harry C. Skiff, formerly agent for the United States Express company here, is now a night messenger on the train arriving in this city at 1:17 from New York. His run is from New York to Philadelphia.

Mrs. Sarah Scofield, a sister of Mrs. Geo. L. VanEmburgh of East Front street, died at her home in Morristown, Sunday evening, after a lingering illness. Her funeral services will be held in the Parsippany Presbyterian church to-morrow afternoon.

Thomas Moore, a valued attache of McNabb's Twelfth street and Broadway photographic studio, New York, is visiting friends here and collecting a large number of fine views. Mr. Moore is a skilled artist, and his collection faithfully represents Plainfield's beauties.

PERSONALIA.

F. R. Andrews and family have gone to East Northfield, Mass.

Mrs. J. P. McMurray is enjoying the pleasures of Asbury Park.

Miss Carrie Ayers, of West Third street, has gone to Pennsylvania to stay a month.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Stover, of New York city, are visiting relatives in their old home.

Mrs. Horsley Barker left town yesterday to spend a few days at Brooklyn and Staten Island.

Mrs. Edwin C. Cloyd of Grove street is at Cayuga Lake House, Sheldrake, N. Y., for the summer.

Lewis E. Waring and Clifford W. McGee are stopping at Hotel Plymouth, 6,341 Hope avenue, Chicago.

Wm. H. Lyon, father of Mrs. A. W. Day of Madison avenue, has gone to South Hingham, Mass.

Mrs. E. Chapin has returned from the home of her daughter, Greenwich, Conn., after a two months' visit.

Leonard Smith, of New York, is enjoying Plainfield's fine scenery and balmy air for the summer months.

Mrs. Voorhees W. Laing and son Edward, of East Front street, are visiting relatives at Hackettstown.

C. F. Abbott, formerly of Prospect avenue, has taken possession of his handsome residence on Central avenue

Charles Naylor, formerly of the borough, but now of Brooklyn, has been visiting relatives on West Second street.

J. P. Allis and Miss Lizzie Allis have returned from Lake Hopatcong, where they were registered at the Bryant House.

Mrs. James Lynch, of Brooklyn, has been spending a week at the home of her son, Thomas Lynch, 303 Madison avenue.

Miss Lottie M. Smith, formerly chief operator in the central telephone office, has gone to visit friends at Morristown.

Mrs. Edward White and son, of 403 Park avenue, left Saturday for Somerville, where they will spend the summer.

Mrs. Wm. M. Buckman and son Adrian, of Linden avenue, will spend the summer at Wilkesbarre, Scranton and Harrisburg.

George Ball is to accompany the McCutchens to Lake Placid to take care of their horses during their summer stay there.

The engagement is announced of Miss Lulu Lewis, daughter of the Rev. Dr. A. H. Lewis, to James Kimball of East Fifth street.

Mrs. Sarah Dietrich and the Misses Dietrich, of Grove street, are home from Chicago, where they have been attending the Fair.

Mrs. James Philpott has returned to her home, 457 West Front street, after a two months' visit with relatives in Brooklyn.

Mrs. David W. King, of Craig place, is visiting her grandmother, at Liberty Corner. Her little daughter Ethel accompanies her.

Edward Kellogg, of Mount Pleasant, is entertaining a charming niece from Ohio, whose father, Mr. Kellogg's brother, is a missionary in India.

The family of M. S. Taylor, of Rockview terrace, will spend the month of July at the Adirondack League club reserve, Old Forge, N. Y.

Miss Grace Lewis, of Central avenue, is enjoying the breezes of old ocean, at Noyes's Beach, Watch Hill, the famous Seventh-Day summer resort.

Mrs. M. C. VanArsdale, formerly of Plainfield, is visiting her sister, Mrs. W. H. Brokaw, West Front street. She will spend the entire month of July in this city.

Miss E. L. Adams, public librarian, has earned a vacation, and the board of directors has granted leave of absence for three weeks. A grateful public wish her a happy time.

Will Stout, of East Front street, who has been confined to his room, and part of the time to his bed, for the past three weeks, with rheumatism, is reported very little better.

Charles Heyder, a prominent Tammany Tiger of New York, is visiting his brother-in-law, Wm. W. Springman, of North Plainfield. His wife and daughter accompany him.

Franklin S. Smith, lately science teacher of the High school, will spend the summer at Kimball's Island, Isle au Haut, Maine, and will then resume studies at Harvard.

The New Brunswick Home News says: "Councilman Elias Bird of Plainfield with his wife rode from that city through Metuchen to New Brunswick and back, the other evening. They are both expert bicyclists."

Captain Doane, of LaGrande avenue, left Saturday for Barrington, Nova Scotia, accompanied by his son, Benjamin H. Doane of the New York court of appeals, to spend the summer. Moose hunting will occupy his attention some of the time.

Andrew Love, jr., who was severely burned by powder on the Fourth, is convalescing at the residence of his parents on Duer street, North Plainfield. His eyesight is not injured, and Dr. Carman, the attending physician, will have him out in a few days.

Among the latest arrivals in this city are William J. Flaherty, C. J. Murphy and Frank Daley, members of the South Boston Tiger association of South Boston, Mass. They are spending two weeks' vacation at the residence of Mrs. Amanda Mattis, 307 Monroe avenue.

The funeral of the late Stewart Milligan, who died Thursday, took place from the house, West Fourth street, Sunday at 2 p. m. The Rev. Dr. D. J. Yerkes officiated. The members of the Masons' and Bricklayers' union were present in a body, and accompanied the remains to Hillside Cemetery.

John P. Munn, O. G. Waring, Howard Huntington and Irving West have returned from a two weeks' vacation spent at Mrs. Munn's place at Otsego Lake, N. Y. Miss Florence Huntington, Miss Kittie Stewart, Miss Jessamy Harte, and Miss Maude VanBoskerck returned last week from a visit to the same place.

Fred. S. Dunn, gave his Plainfield friends a happy surprise last night by returning from Hot Springs, Va., where for seven weeks he was chief engineer of the electric light plant. His duties kept him busy seven days in the week, which his conscience forbade, so he gave up the excellent position. This creditable and courageous action is a strong recommendation for the competent electrician.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Force and Miss Mabel Force, of Bound Brook, had a very pleasant ride in Jack's new steam yacht, the Nassau, recently, as far as New Brunswick. Jack having joined the New Brunswick Boat club, has decided to keep his boat at that place, where it will be much handier, and afford him a better chance to enjoy it in company with his and his wife's many friends.

A. V. D. Honeyman left town to-day on the Royal Blue line, with about sixty more excursionists, on his second World's Fair excursion. From this section go Dr. Hecht, George D. Ehni, Mr. and Mrs. Rohn, Miss Hartzfeldt and E. B. Kinyon, of Raritan; Miss Cawley, of Somerville; Matt. Suydam, jr., and Miss Kate Suydam, of Franklin Park; ex-mayor Whiting and family, of Bound Brook; Raymond A. and Harry A. McGee, and Miss Hattie Rockwell, of Plainfield; L. S. Blackwell and wife, of Wertsville; James Bowman, of South Branch; and Mr. Honeyman's son, Edward Maxwell. The next tour starts August 26, when a large number of people who could not go earlier expect to accompany it.

THE INVENTOR A PLAINFIELDER.

AND HIS INVENTION JUST WHAT THIS TOWN NEEDS.

Seymour G. Smith and His Wonderful Crematory—It Disposes of Garbage Without Odor or Smoke, and Converts Disease Germs Into Harmless Ashes.

Seymour G. Smith, ex-president of the Plainfield common council, is to be congratulated for solving the great problem of how to dispose of garbage and disease-breeding refuse matter without danger to health. Millions of dollars have been spent all over the world, in trying to devise some method to accomplish the result he alone has achieved.

It now appears that Mr. Smith, after eight years of experimenting, at the expense of over $300,000, has invented just what every city or large town requires—a crematory that can convert into harmless substance the refuse matter that threatens the health of every citizen who breathes its dangerous gases.

Watering places on the shores of Long Island and New Jersey have for years been annoyed by garbage, dead animals and other filth being washed on their beaches, coming from the millions of loads towed to sea from New York city. All of this can now be avoided at a very small expense by the adoption and use of Mr. Smith's Vivartias odorless system of cremation. If it is as stated, that there are no odors coming from the furnace of this system, while burning, it is positive proof that the dangerous gases are all consumed inside of the retort, which is the one and only thing required to make such cremation a success.

In Scranton, where Mr. Smith's system has been adopted and has become popular, the papers speak of it as follows:

(From The Scranton Tribune.)

THE CREMATOR TEST.

Prominent City Officials Delighted with Its Work.

NO BAD ODORS ARE DISCOVERED.

The Stack Will Be Raised Twenty-five Feet and the Seventh Ward Will Be Satisfied—All Kinds of Garbage and a Couple of Dead Animals Incinerated.

The Vivartias crematory recently erected in this city was thoroughly examined yesterday afternoon by members of the board of health and various city officials and citizens. The examination and test was set down for 2 o'clock and by that time there were upward of 100 persons on the grounds. Among the prominent ones were President Ripple, Secretary Edgar, Dr. Paine, Dr. Bently and Mr. Kelly of the board of health, Health Officers Allen and Burke, Captain Moir, chairman common council; Director Gibbons of the poor board, School Controller Jennings, John R. Farr and many others.

Gathered near the door and inside the shed were about fifty barrels of garbage of all kinds and description. The drying cells of the furnace were charged to their utmost capacity with an assortment of stuff that would never burn with an ordinary fire. They dumped in a couple barrels of cabbage, also watermelons and other decayed vegetables, refuse from the numerous markets scattered throughout the city. This was followed by mixed garbage containing about twenty-five per cent of water, and also a couple of dogs. An hour later everything was taken out in a couple of wheelbarrow loads in dry ashes.

NO ODORS TO BE FOUND.

During the process of incineration there were no odors wafted on the air as could be distinguished, and the atmosphere which permeated the building was as pure as that which nature has given us. Everybody pronounced it a success, and even those who have petitioned councils against it acknowledged that there were no disagreeable odors connected with it. The chief complaint of the petitioners is that the smoke stack is not high enough. This will be remedied immediately to satisfy their scruples. Mr. Smith, the representative of the Vivartias Crematory company, claims that it will do no good, but at the same time says it will do no harm, and if it will satisfy those who have been kicking that he would put it up. Another complaint that reached the board of health was that, although the odors could not be distinguished during the day time that it was impossible to sleep at night owing to the offensive smell with which the air is laden. This is peculiar. At 7 o'clock every morning the fires are started and the furnace begins its work. At 6 o'clock everything is shut down and it is not again put in operation until the following day. Therefore it does not stand to reason that these odors which prevent sleep come from the crematory.

RUNNING EXPENSES SMALL.

One of the things which the company guaranteed was that it would not consume over one ton of coal per day. In this respect they have been agreeably surprised. The crematory has been running just one month Saturday, and during that time it has consumed just nine tons of coal. In this time 5,000 barrels of garbage have been consumed. This easily proves that the running expense will not be as great as was expected. Another feature is that the ashes removed from the furnace will make a good fertilizer, and when sifted will be worth from $10 to $12 per ton. This will also cut down the expenses of running the cremator, and in a few years it will be paying for itself. The maximum capacity of the furnace is 180 cubic yards per day, and the minimum is 125 yards. To do this it takes a half a ton of coal at present, but part of this expense will be done away with as soon as the new boiler is placed in position. The burning of the garbage then will generate the steam in the boiler and create the forced draft produced by a blower.

HOW IT WORKS.

The secret of the entire machine is explained by their company's representative, as lying in the mixing of oxygen and the gases and passing them over the various fires. This is the second one ever erected by them and they are particularly delighted with its unqualified success.

The furnace is built of pressed brick and contains five drying cells. The garbage is dumped into the drying cells and allowed to remain there until perfectly dry, it is then dropped on the hearth below where cross fires soon ignite and consume it. It gradually drops into the ash receiver below and is wheeled out. Each of the cells will hold a cubic yard or about a ton of garbage, with the exception of one which was built twice as large as the others so that the body of a horse or cow could be received. The drying cells are covered with soapstone plates which fit over the apertures very tightly and allow no smoke nor odors to arise this way. No night soil has been burned as yet, owing to a delay in having a large chute made to convey it from the barrels to the mouth of the drying cells.

The cremator is a success and will benefit the city in many ways.

ERECT ONE IN HYDE PARK.

[From the Scranton Courier-Progress.]

The success of the crematory located near Stowers' packing house is best shown by the fact that barrels upon barrels of offensive stuff are quickly burned without an offensive odor being perceptible to those in and around the structure at the time of operation. This was the case on Thursday when tests were made of the efficiency of the crematory, which can consume over 150 cart loads of anything destructible in a working day of ten hours. In June 4,000 barrels of garbage were burned and what is left in the way of ashes, etc., covers a very small space.

The benefit derived from this crematory is the difference in purity that would emanate from those 4,000 barrels of decayed garbage lying about in barrels, scattered in alleys and yards, or along the river, sending forth their offensive odors and disease-breeding germs, and that amount of stuff burned down to a comparative handful of ashes. When the virtues of a crematory are better known one of these health protectors will not be sufficient for this city. There should be three more, one in Hyde Park, one on the South Side and another in Providence. The quantity of disease-breeding material that four crematories could destroy would surprise us, and there is nearly enough for this number to destroy in any city the size of Scranton. After viewing the work of a crematory and what has been consumed by it, it is a matter of wonder that humanity has so long lived as it is considering the putrid matter that sends its noxious vapors into the atmosphere we breathe.

An Undisputed Test of Merit.

A medicine that has been a household remedy for over fifty years and used in that time by more than 150,000,000 persons must have great merit. Such a medicine is found in BRANDRETH'S PILLS. This fact demonstrates the value of these pills better than any statement of the proprietors. It will be observed that the dose required to cure is small. One or two pills taken every night for ten or twenty days will cure dyspepsia, costiveness, rheumatism, liver complaint, biliousness, or any disease arising from an impure state of the blood.

BRANDRETH'S PILLS are purely vegetable, absolutely harmless and safe to take at any time.

Sold in every drug and medicine store, either plain or sugar coated.

Royal Baking Powder

Absolutely Pure

A cream of tartar baking powder. Highest of all in leavening strength.—Latest U. S. Government Food Report.

ROYAL BAKING POWDER CO., 106 Wall St., N. Y.

[From The Scranton Times.]

THERE WAS NO SMELL,

BUT STILL THE PEOPLE OF THE SEVENTH COMPLAIN.

The Investigating Committee at the Crematory Yesterday — They Are Satisfied That It Is All Right and Will So Report.

On an invitation extended by the board of health a large crowd gathered at the crematory yesterday afternoon to inspect it. Every member of the board of health was present with the exception of Mr. H. J. Zeigler. Among others present were the Hon. John R. Farr, Dr. Gates, John Gibbons, C. F. Mattes, president Moir of the common council, members of the sanitary committee of the councils and many of the protesting property holders of the Seventh Ward.

The first test made of the crematory in the afternoon for the benefit of the spectators was the consumption of fifty-seven barrels of ordinary garbage in twenty minutes. The next test was the consumption of twenty-four barrels of garbage, twenty-four kegs of fish and one dog in thirty minutes. During all this time little or no smell could be found around the premises, with the exception where the garbage was being deposited in the kilns.

Nevertheless some of the property holders of the Seventh ward protested against the crematory bitterly and crowds of three and four stood here and there discussing what they termed a nuisance which must be abated. They admitted, however, that no bad odors could be found yesterday afternoon, but claimed the stench is always worst in the evenings.

In an interview with President Moir of the common council, he said he thought the crematory was a success, as did also the members of the board of health and other representative citizens present. One thing is certain though that many improvements can yet be made about the crematory and no doubt will be made by the board of health as soon as convenient. The citizens of the Seventh ward want the stack raised higher thinking it will have a tendency to carry off the foul odors better, which they claim issue from it. This matter will probably be discussed at the special meeting of the board of health this evening and if deemed advisable the stack will be raised to the height they desire.

The crematory has been in operation a little over a month now and during that time something in the neighborhood of 5,000 cubic yards of garbage has been consumed, which required nine tons of coal. The maximum of the consumption of garbage in the crematory is 180 cubic yards in ten hours and the minimum, 125 cubic yards in ten hours.

(From The Scranton Republican.)

THE CREMATORY INSPECTED.

TWO POLITICAL PARTIES IN THE SEVENTH CLASH OVER IT.

Upon invitation of the Vivartias Crematory Company to the Board of Health, members of councils, representatives of the press and citizens generally to visit and inspect the plant the company has erected in the Seventh ward of the city, many people journeyed in that direction yesterday afternoon.

The officials and people of prominence present were: Colonel Ripple, Drs. Paine and Bentley and M. J. Kelly of the Board of Health, Dr. Allen and Captain Burke, Secretary Edgar, Captain Moir, D. W. Humphrey and many Seventh ward citizens. "Convinced a man against his will and he is of the same opinion still." The above quotation seems to apply exactly to the kicking element of the Seventh ward. They admit that there is no offensive smell but persist that the stack should be at least twenty-five feet higher. If this change were made they would be satisfied and consider themselves victorious from a political standpoint.

From a talk yesterday with a number of the residents it would appear that the two political factions in the Seventh ward are at the bottom of the war against the crematory, and the height of the stack will be the making or the breaking of the successful or defeated party.

The meeting at the crematory yesterday only resulted in argument. All the garbage brought was taken care of and consumed in very short time, and it included three dogs, one barrel of watermelons, about a dozen kegs of herring and many barrels of vegetables and refuse.

The manner of delivering garbage in old leaky barrels and unloading the filth on the front platform attracts any amount of flies and the odor is not very pleasant. This fact is recognized by Mr. Smith, and will be remedied as soon as possible, the matter being in the hands of the health authorities. Mr. Smith cannot hurry them along or make any provision against the odor or flies. Inside the crematory everything appears to work satisfactory and if the crematory is not successful the defects must be pretty well covered up.

Robbed Again of $40.

The South Plainfield hotel was entered and robbed of about $40 worth of goods, Monday night. This is the second time the place has been broken into and robbed within the past few weeks.

—25 cents will take you all through the World's Fair—pay transportation to it and all expenses. How? Why at Music Hall next Monday and Tuesday evenings.

—Chatham street, or, better still, Brook avenue, is looking fine. The work on it will be complete in a day or two, and street commissioner Gavin has the thanks of the entire community.

—A telephone wire hangs very low over the roadway, on account of a pole falling, on Greenbrook road between the farms of Cadmus and Stine. It is dangerous, and should be removed.

—You remember how you enjoy Ragan's views at Music Hall every year! Well go and see the 200 mammoth views of the World's Fair, Monday and Tuesday evenings next, at Music Hall.

—"Heavy Weather" George Stewart, "who'll be 68 years of age comin' corn", wants the Somerset street railway to pass his doorway. George, you'll live to see the cars run all through the valley!

—A midsummer excursion to Mauch Chunk, Glen Onoko and the Switchback, is offered by the Central railroad, from this city, next Saturday. Don't miss it! Only $1 75 for the round trip, leaving this city at 9:27 a. m.

—135 of the 183 telephones in Plainfield were knocked out by the storm of Saturday afternoon, by the fuses being burned out by lightning. All have been repaired but one, and that is in a house locked up because of the family's absence.

—Widen Greenbrook road from Somerset street to the borough line underneath Washington Rock, and call it some other name that smells as sweet, and you will have the finest drive in New Jersey, and the thanks of everybody for all time to come.

—Ex-councilman Sebring has finished drilling the well for Smalley Bros., at their stone cracker. A wind-mill has been attached, and they now furnish the stone house and the Brookside retreat with water. The well is down 180 feet, and has 145 feet depth of water.

—Hope and Bethel chapel Sunday-schools will take their annual excursion to Ocean Grove on Friday. There will be two sections of ten cars each, one starting from Grant avenue at 7:30 and one from Plainfield at 8, returning from Asbury Park at 5:30 p. m., stopping at Long Branch both ways.

A BIG WIND COMES TO TOWN.

NO BIGGER BLOW REMEMBERED IN PLAINFIELD.

Trees Swept Over on Nearly Every Street—Buildings Damaged, and People Pretty Thoroughly Scared.

Everybody in town said Saturday night "That's the biggest blow I ever saw here". The hurricane which excited this remark began shortly after 5:30. The afternoon had been clear, but suddenly the western sky grew dark. Wicked-looking clouds, in yellow and black masses, boiling and whirling and twisting, sped over the mountains. With a roar and a rush the wind pounced down upon city and borough. In an instant the air was a mass of blinding dust. Hats, handkerchiefs and parcels were thrown about indiscriminately. Trees went bowling over, big branches snapped, signboards lost their fastenings, everything swayed and trembled before the violence. The wind blew fiercely for ten minutes, and then came a drenching rain which cleared the air of the dense swirling clouds of dust and gave people subjected to the dust bath a chance to clear their eyes, noses and mouths of the grit.

Scarcely a street escaped having its shade trees injured. Many noble trees were utterly ruined, others lost big branches. The wind twisted big trunks in twain as easily as saplings.

A party of 21 bicycle riders from Rahway were caught in Plainfield in Saturday's storm. One of them, a cousin of Mrs. T. O. Doane, took the whole party to the house of the genial chief of the fire department and they enjoyed Mrs. Doane's hospitality until nearly 9 o'clock. When they went on their way again they gave three cheers for their kind hostess and another three for Plainfield.

The same party of wheelmen were at Tier's ice-cream pavilion near the lake when the storm broke and stayed there until a tree that grows through the roof of the pavilion was cracked off just above the shingles by the wind and came down with a crash carrying boards and all other movables with it. A tray containing empty dishes was blown into the lake and then the men thought it was about time to leave so they went to Mrs. Doane's house where they spent the rest of the evening.

Dr. Hedges's place fared worse than many of the others as there were three trees badly broken up; one huge elm lost almost its entire top. One of the beautiful willows around the fountain on J. W. Reinhart's place in Netherwood was completely uprooted and lies pitiably on its side. The scuttle on the roof of W. Palmer Smith's residence was blown from its fastenings and dashed, down hitting the piazza rail and breaking a large piece from it. The house of Robert Radford on West Front street had a narrow escape. A huge tree blew down in front of it striking the house and causing some damage. The large stage doors in the rear of Music Hall were blown open and the wind rushing through the house broke the locks on the front door and blew the scenery around on the stage. A bushel basket was blown from the stage up into the gallery and the scuttle is missing from the roof. The skylight in the residence of Seymour G. Smith of Central avenue was blown in and the fire-alarm wires in that street were broken by a tree falling across them in front of Dr. Wells's house. Herbert Chamberlain the lineman who was going over the wires with chief Doane was on a pole with his head in close proximity to a wire just as the lightning struck the wire.

He was shocked for a few moments, but recovered after stimulants were administered. A window in the tower of the Crescent Avenue church blew in but no other damage was done to the building.

A barn belonging to C. M. Raybert on Fourth street was unroofed, but the shingles and beams blew against a brick wall and did no damage. In many sections of the town belated citizens stumbled along in darkness, and only in the business parts of the city were there lights.

George Butche, the driver for J. T. Odam, the slate roofer, narrowly escaped with his life. He was about to drive out of the ball field when one of the huge gates blew off, just missing him.

The closest escape from a serious accident was at a house on West Second street owned by Mr. Markly and occupied by a family named Hargraves. A large tree standing in front of the house blew over striking the building near one corner and straining the framework so that the family who were in the house could open neither the back nor front doors. A neighbor, seeing the peril of the inmates, opened a window and helped the frightened family to escape.

A colored girl was blown around the corner of Park avenue into North. She blew into policeman Kiely's arms and he hurried her into the drug store just as a piece of the roof of THE PRESS building fell in the place in which he had been standing.

—Many new houses are being erected hereabouts.

—The World's Fair for 25 cents and all expenses paid, Music Hall next Monday and Tuesday.

—You can stay at the shore till 7 in the evening, by going on the Trinity excursion July 19.

—Cheapest trip yet! Chicago and back and the whole World's Fair for 25 cents. Next Monday at Music Hall.

—Why not change the name of Chatham street to Brook avenue? All the property-owners are willing.

—Every day on the borough banks of Tier's lake may be seen many sleepy fishermen. Still they catch some fish.

—The action taken by the council in reference to the Plainfield electric light company is generally commended in the borough.

—Grace M. E. church Sunday-school, of North Plainfield, will go on an excursion to Black River Falls park, Tuesday, July 18.

—Winfield Scott post, 73, G. A. R., has adopted a new design to mark the graves of the dead soldiers. It is an iron staff with the G. A. R. badge.

—Some of the walks laid on Peace street will have to be taken up and relaid, because they do not conform to the established line. The man who mislaid the stones will have to relay them at his own expense.

—The Baptists have arranged for fine weather July 21, and will provide ample care for all who wish to join in a merry time at the shore. The excursion will leave Plainfield at 8 and stay at the Park till 6, stopping at Long Branch both ways.

—John J. Kenney intends to live high next winter, and is raising his own bacon with that end in view. He paid $2 for the greased pig which somebody won in a Fourth of July race, and spends his spare hours developing the fat and lean streaks.

—"A Bicycle Rider" warns THE PRESS that wheelmen "should beware of a young lady who lives on Front street, Scotch Plains, near a shoe shop, as she sits on the stoop and tries to draw the attention of them by hallooing and laughing at them as they go by."

—What THE PRESS has always advocated should be done to popularize baseball in Plainfield, is now to be accomplished—the lowering of the price of admission. Manager Keller has cut it down to 15 cents, and now everyone may go—even the schoolboy with lots of [illegible] but little cash.

THE WHIRLWIND AT FANWOOD.

Trees Uprooted and Broken Off, Outbuildings Wrecked, and Several Persons Injured.

A windstorm of unusual vigor and violence passed through Fanwood Saturday evening and occasioned considerable damage, besides frightening the inhabitants. A funnel-shaped cloud was seen approaching from the west, and the apex of the funnel seemed to bound from the ground and descend at intervals. This was proved to be true after the windstorm passed, as in its direct track buildings on the ground were wrecked, while others further on were unharmed, but tops of trees were snapped like matches. On the east side of Martine avenue ten trees were broken off close to the ground, one of them a black oak as thick as the body of an ordinary-sized man. The cloud then skipped to the summit of Quality hill, ripped off the flag from the halyards and staff at judge Moore's, demolished the outbuildings on the premises of Wright Babcock, and blew his servant girl off the rear porch, bruising her severely. The outbuildings of Mrs. James Fancher were also wrecked, and one of them, it is reported, was hurled down the railroad bank, knocking over an unknown man who it is presumed clung under the bank for shelter from the wind.

He was picked up unconscious, but later recovered and found to be injured about the head. He would not give his name, but took a train for Plainfield saying he would have his injuries attended there.

L. J. Briggs attempted to withstand the gale, and while endeavoring to protect his property was thrown violently and received severe contusions on his right leg.

No electric lights were in use Saturday night, the wires being down, and the residents depending on that source of supply for lighting their houses found it convenient to borrow oil lamps from neighbors.

RAIDED A GAMBLING DEN.

Police Do Good Work, and the Court Fines the Offenders.

For about two weeks past the police have been watching a suspicious-looking place on East Front street, with the idea that some unlawful proceedings were going on there.

Just two weeks ago Thursday, captain Grant and sergeant Kiely made their way into this place, and found some men playing cards, but as they had been warned of the approach of the police nothing of a compromising nature was found.

Last week a man who said he had lost $20 in the establishment made some complaints to the police so on Saturday night a raid was planned.

The front and back doors were guarded by the police, and other officers went inside and succeeded in arresting the proprietor of the establishment. The brother of the proprietor succeeded in getting away by a side door, but the man who helped him get away, one Sheridan Jones, was apprehended and fared worse than the refugee might have done. The proprietor, Alexander Hooper by name, made some show of fight but was speedily landed on the floor by officer Kiely. At the time of the arrest the place was full of men playing various games of cards and the place has been carrying on a thriving business on the regular gambling house principle of selling chips to the players who "buck" against the bank. David Hooper, the brother of the proprietor, who acted as assistant and dealer, has not been found. Alexander, however, was fined $25, and warned to desist from his evil ways. Sheridan Jones was given his choice of a $25 fine or 60 days, for aiding the escape of the younger Hooper.

HENRY RYDER WINS.

Country Club Tennis in Full Blast When the Storm Descended.

The tennis tournament and tea at the Union County Country club were rudely interrupted Saturday by the sudden storm, but the finals of the gentlemen's singles were played off with the expected result of the victory of Henry Ryder. As has been told in THE PRESS, only three men were left in the tournament after the play of June 24. These were Henry Ryder, who had secured a place in the finals, and Carl Walz and George Schoonmaker, who were contesting for the honor of playing Ryder, and who each had one set out of the match. Walz won from Schoonmaker, and Ryder defeated Walz by the score of 6-5, 6-0, taking the prize of a silver shaving mug.

In the doubles only a few matches were played, and the results were indecisive. The remaining games will be played at a date to be fixed hereafter. The prizes in the gentleman's doubles are brierwood pipes.

When it began to rain, everyone made a dash for the club-house, and the storm-bound guests got home slowly and in small detachments. The telephone wires were down, and the only way cabs could be procured was by hailing each passing vehicle and engaging it for its return trip.

The people were well looked after during their stay, by the reception committee for the day. The ladies receiving were Mrs. J. Parker Mason, Mrs. Corlies, Mrs. Brown, Mrs. Thomas and Mrs. Charles E. Brooks. The young ladies at the tables were Miss Corlies, Miss Clara Finley, Miss Lena Harte, Miss Bessie Ginna, Miss Lillian Erskine and Miss Tracy.

BENEFACTION ABUSED.

The Friends of Jones Made Up the Fine, Which He Squandered.

Sheridan Jones, who was arrested for aiding one of the Hooper brothers to escape from the gambling house on Front street, Saturday night, during the raid, asked James O'Neil to get the money together to pay his fine. Jones himself had $3, which he gave to O'Neil, and some of his friends contributed some more money amounting to $6, so $16 more was necessary to make up the fine. Jones sent O'Neil to his girl, who is employed by a family on Putnam avenue, for assistance. She appealed to her mistress, and received a check for the $16, which O'Neil took. He succeeded in getting the check cashed, and when he turned up at last he had spent all of the $25 except $10.50, so Jones will rest in jail for a while longer.

Faithful to the End.

A touching incident in the death of Wm. L. Force was the devotion shown by his faithful old employe, Charles S. Cook, who had served him so well for a quarter of a century. Cook was one of the most frequent visitors at the sick man's bedside, and Saturday took his post at the head of the sufferer's bed and cooled his fevered face by fanning him for hours at a time. Cook scarcely left the place for a moment, till the end came.

Plainfield Wants It Too.

The Easton city officials visited Scranton Saturday to inspect the workings of Seymour G. Smith's garbage crematory. They were greatly pleased with the remarkable and complete disposition of garbage, and want the system adopted in Easton.

Children Cry for Pitcher's Castoria.

When Baby was sick, we gave her Castoria.
When she was a Child, she cried for Castoria.
When she became Miss, she clung to Castoria.
When she had Children, she gave them Castoria.

THIS CANADIAN EDITOR OPENS HIS MIDST TO MR. DEMAREST.

A Brockville Daily Welcomes the New Consulate and Hopes the Old Will Stay in Town.

[From the Brockville, Ont., Daily Times.]

From the Plainfield, N. J., Daily Press, we copy the following reference to J. A. Demarest, who has been appointed to succeed Mr. Ellis as the U. S. Consul at this port. Mr. Demarest is managing editor of the Plainfield Press, and we welcome him amongst us as a member of the fourth estate.

* * * * * *

While welcoming Mr. Demarest to our midst, we cannot but express regret that it necessitates the removal of Mr. Ellis, who for over three years has filled the position of U. S. Consul here to the satisfaction of everyone. Mr. Ellis has been a most courteous and gentlemanly official, and by his many excellent qualities of head and heart, has won the respect and esteem of the people of the town of Brockville. His wife and daughter have also won a warm place in the affection of the people. Although Mr. Ellis is retiring from official life, it is the hope of all that he and his estimable family may continue to make their home amongst us, but should they leave, they will carry with them the hearty wishes for future happiness of a wide circle of friends formed during their years of sojourn in the Island City.

The Trip Indefinitely Continued.

The impression has got abroad that "A Trip to Chinatown" closed its run at the Madison Square theater Saturday night. This is not true. Manager McKee announces that the performances of this most successful of Hoyt's farce comedies will be continued indefinitely.

Only Seven Innings Played.

The Crescents were beaten in a seven-inning game, Saturday. The storm suddenly wound up the contest. The score by innings:

Crescents	0	0	0	1	2	0	0—3
Olympics	0	2	0	1	2	3	1—9

The attendance was deservedly large.

A Boy's Bad Fall.

Isaac Staats fell down the trap door leading to the cellar in Dunn's grocery store on Saturday afternoon. He struck his head in the descent and was unconscious for several minutes. To-day he is pronounced to be suffering from concussion of the brain.

DEADLY GASOLINE.

It Wrecked a Tenement House, and Might Have Burned Up a Family.

A strange accident happened Wednesday about 9:30, in the combination tenement house and store at Grant avenue and South Second street. A gasoline stove in the flat occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Zimmer, on the second floor, exploded, and suddenly filled the entire second floor with gas. Zimmer was standing in the room when the explosion occurred; and, through his presence of mind, and the timely assistance of motorman Martin of the street railway, who, seeing the flash of the explosion, rushed in from his car and smothered the flames with a rug, serious results were avoided.

As it was, the force of the explosion was sufficient to tear great pieces of plaster from the walls, and to shake down the ceilings of the two shops on the first floor. One of them is occupied by U. B. Crane, men's furnishings, and the other is unoccupied at present, but was formerly used as a meeting place for the Plymouth Brethren. Had anyone been in the latter place there might have been serious results, as great pieces of plaster and laths fell when the explosion took place.

The fire alarm was sounded from box 45, at 9:30, but all danger was past, and the fire put out, before the apparatus arrived; and the recall was sounded at 9:40. The building is owned by Welch Brothers, of German Valley.

Had not motorman Martin acted in the nick of time, the family imprisoned by flames upstairs must have been burned to death. At the moment of the explosion, the entire house was filled with one sheet of flame.

The Littells Live to Good Old Age.

Mrs. Mary Littell, widow of the late Terrance Littell, and grandmother of Daniel W. Littell of this city, died Sunday night in her ninety-fourth year. Mrs Littell was born in Rahway Neck in May, 1800. Until six days ago Mrs. Littell was around the house doing light work, and was as active as one of fifty. On the Fourth of July she collapsed. Mrs. Littell was married sixty years. Her husband died five years ago in his eighty-fifth year. Eight children were born, and three survive, aged 74, 72 and 68. There is only one other male grandchild besides Mr. Littell.

Mr. Littell went to Rahway to-day to attend the funeral this afternoon at 3.

—The Jersey Central Railroad company is laying a new board walk from the Netherwood station to South avenue.

A "SMALL AND EARLY".

Delightful Dance at J. H. Whiton's Hospitable Home.

One of the most charming of the informal dances that have become such a feature this season in Plainfield, was that given by Miss Whiton at her home on Central avenue Wednesday night.

As it was a "small and early" dance, the guests began to arrive about 9, and the party broke up shortly after midnight. The piazzas were prettily decorated with many colored Chinese lanterns, and comfortable easy chairs were placed in various shady nooks, affording rest for the tired dancers. Mrs. Opdyke, sister of Mr. Whiton, matronized the party. Among those present were: Miss Maude VanBoskerck, Miss Clarkson, T. R. VanBoskerck, Miss Florence Huntington, Howard Huntington, Miss Bushnell, Henry Bushnell, Miss May Waring, Miss Carrie Vail, Miss Maude Middleditch, Miss Abbott, Miss Opdyke, Irving West, Sherwood West, Howard Corlies, J. S. Anthony, Gerald Lowe, Clarence Logan Murphy, Jean Ericson, Edward Field, and James Murray.

INSANE FROM GRIEF.

The Loss of Her Husband Upsets Mrs. Pound's Reason.

Mrs. George Robinson Pound, who was recently bereaved by death of her husband, has become violently insane from grief over her loss, and on the certificate of Drs. Tomlinson and Murray she was taken to the asylum. It is a most pitiable case.

—Proprietor Leggett of the Central pharmacy is always ahead of the times. His popular brand-new soda fountain is now dispensing genuine lemonade, fresh from the fruit. It's the best and most refreshing summer drink in the city.

PAPIAC.

(Boynton Beach,)

OPEN SATURDAY,

June 17.

6 15-tf-p c

CHEAPEST RATE YET!

THE WORLD'S COLUMBIAN EXPOSITION AT CHICAGO.

25c. Including all Expenses

AT MUSIC HALL, MONDAY AND TUESDAY EVENINGS,

JULY 17 and 18

200 Mammoth Scenes, the Most Brilliant and Accurate, Projected by the Most Perfect and Powerful Apparatus, on Canvas 400 Square Ft.

T. DeQUINCY TULLY.

Who has won renown by years of experience with Illustrated Lectures, has at great expense, and with painstaking care prepared the most magnificent and satisfactory presentation of the

WORLD'S COLUMBIAN EXPOSITION

Possible. The grand and beautiful sights are most enchanting, every department faithfully represented as it actually appears at Chicago. The whole described, as the scenes appear, in a carefully prepared lecture. Mr. Tully certainly gives the best idea of the world's accumulated treasures at the Great Columbian Exposition at Chicago obtainable.

Reduced Rates If You Take Both Trips.

Ferris' Good Sense Waist

Best for Health, Economy and Beauty.

Buttons at front instead of Clasps. Ring Buckle at hip for Hose supporters. Tape-fastened Buttons—won't pull off. Cord-Edge Button Holes—won't wear out.

FIT ALL AGES—Infants to Adults.

Send for illustrated circular to

FERRIS BROS., Manufacturers, 341 Broadway, New York

For Sale by ALL LEADING RETAILERS.

MISS VANDEVENTER'S NEW STORE, 132 Central Ave.

CHILDREN'S OUTFITS Made to order. A full line of GOOD-SENSE-WAISTS.

"And the nights shall be filled with music,
And the cares that infest the day
Will fold up their tents like the Arabs,
And as silently steal away."

Longfellow knew the soothing power of music. Melody banishes care—smooths out the wrinkles on one's forehead—gives rest.

A piano in the house is better than medicine—helps more than a vacation.

A Gabler Piano

Doesn't cost any more than a summer trip. It lasts longer. Ten years hence and your piano is as good as new. A piano is furniture, it is entertainment, it is investment. We sell them for cash or easy payments. We also rent, but its better to buy.

S. D. LAUTER COMPANY

657 and 659 Broad Street, Newark, N. J.

An Open Letter From Clothing Builders to Clothing Buyers.

We make Clothing, you buy it. You buy Clothing ready made because it is cheaper.

There are different kinds of ready made. Have you ever investigated how different?

We show you the best that's made, the tailor made, the kind the tailor would make you to order.

In many instances you'll not be able to notice the difference in make between ours and theirs, but the difference in price will open your eyes.

The tailor's prices are about double ours and he furnishes you no better style, fit, finish, trim of fabric.

Why his big price?

He makes for the few; we for thousands. The wise and knowing are wearing OUR SUPERIOR CLOTHING and saving money.

See our grand line of SPRING SUITS between $10 and $20.

MC GREGOR & CO.,

850 and 852 Broad Street,

NEWARK, N. J.

CANNON'S
MARKET
MULBERRY STS
MECHANIC
NEWARK.

Furniture, Carpets, Upholstery, Bedding, Stoves, Refrigerators, Baby Carriages, &c.

YOU CAN COMPLETELY FURNISH YOUR HOUSE, WITHOUT LEAVING OUR STORES.

PLAIN FIGURES, CASH OR CREDIT.

LARGEST HOUSE OUTFITTERS IN NEW JERSEY

$35.00 TO CHICAGO AND RETURN,

Including Hotel accommodations for five days at

FRANK'S

REDUCED RATES

Railroad and Steamship Ticket Agency,

345 and 347 BROADWAY, Cor. Leonard St., N. Y.

Lowest Rates to all parts of the World. Tickets purchased and exchanged. Sleeping Berths reserved. Baggage transferred.

MEMBER AMERICAN TICKET BROKERS' ASSOCIATION.

ELY'S CREAM BALM—Cleanses the Nasal Passages, Allays Pain and Inflammation, Heals the Sores, Restores Taste and Smell, and Cures

CATARRH

Gives Relief at once for Cold in Head. Apply into the Nostrils. —It is quickly Absorbed. Druggists or by mail. ELY BROS., 56 Warren St., N. Y.

NO PLAINFIELD WORK REJECTED.

OUR SCHOOLS' EXHIBIT RANKS FIRST AT CHICAGO.

A PRESS Correspondent Tells of The Success of the Educational Exposition of This State and This City at the World's Fair.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE PRESS:—The educational exhibit at the World's Fair is the most extensive and valuable collection of accomplished work, of its kind, that has ever been brought together. Each State shows the measure of its appreciation of the value of education, by its method of handling its exhibit, and by the use made of the space allowed by the commissioners.

The exhibit includes the whole range of educational methods, from the Kindergarten to the finished work of the Pratt Institute and the Rensselaer Polytechnic.

A notice upon this subject in one of the Chicago daily papers contained the following paragraph: "Notwithstanding that New Jersey is one of the smallest States in the Union, her educational exhibit is among the best, as containing more original ideas both in work and methods of display."

Thus urged, we lost no time in making an examination of New Jersey's department. We found that the praise was justly bestowed. The space allowed is entirely inadequate to show the large amount of excellent work contributed, though some ingenious original devices have been invented by the ex-postmaster of Atlantic City, by which the space is almost indefinitely increased—a space of one square yard being made available for exhibiting twenty square yards of work, and at the same time protecting the copies from dust and handling.

It will be of interest to residents of Plainfield to hear that the work sent from our schools ranks with the best of its kind in the fair. As a proof of this we were told that not a single copy which was sent from Plainfield was rejected, all being included in the exhibit.

It is with great pleasure we record this fact, both as cause for encouragement in future efforts, and as a reward for work well done in the past.

A prominent and interesting feature of educational work, is that accomplished by the Manual Training schools, showing what an interest is taken in the full development of the pupil—eye and hand being trained to see and express the thought in the desired material as well as in fitting language.

In this important department the world is running away from Plainfield and obtaining such a start that we are apt to become only copyists of what others have done instead of taking front rank as leaders in thought and action in this invaluable branch of educational work.

In the Children's building at the World's Fair there is a very interesting department, a school room, fitted up with joiners' benches, where children may be left in charge of the managers upon payment of twenty-five cents per day, and they are instructed in "Sloyd work" which comprises lessons of a practical character and includes drawing and working in wood and clay. The children become earnestly interested in the work and some very good examples of modeling and wood carving, done by the children, are on exhibition. A happier set of children, than can be seen in the "Sloyd Department" of the World's Fair, cannot be found.

It suggests a valuable adjunct to the "Boys' Club", being practical and inexpensive—in fact such a school would be an acquisition in every town and in every district of larger cities, as it enables children who are backward in the use of language to make use of their hands and eyes, saving them from the weariness of idleness and turning mischievous propensities into useful channels.

JOHN DALZIEL.

Screens to Hold in the Bugs.

Two windows in Spencer's hall were supplied with screens at Friday night's borough council meeting, while all the rest of the windows were wide open and screenless. The night bugs displayed their perversity by flocking in through the unguarded openings, tormenting the unfortunate mortals within, and then vainly seeking to escape through the two windows with screens.

The Switch Is Placed.

The laying of the switch connecting the Front street line and the Somerset street line of the electric railway was accomplished Friday without any delay to the traffic. The sections of new rail with frogs were placed alongside the old rail, the old rail removed, and the new immediately substituted and spiked.

Had the Excursion in Mind.

Charles Remsen, the express messenger for M. Estil the stationer, witnessed the robbing of the jewelry firm of Benedict Bros., New York city, Thursday. Charley says they told him to "stop the thief", but he being so small decided not to take the risk, as he wants to enjoy one more trip to the seashore with the Trinity people.

Some Day 'Twill Reach the Mountain.

The proposition to repair and improve the Grove street extension is still under consideration of the borough street committee. Borough people would rejoice to see the improvement consummated. Grove street is bound to become a magnificent avenue, and is progressing towards the highlands.

A $10 Home for Wayward Dogs.

Every summer the borough marshal has paid money out of his own pocket for the impounding of dogs. This year the council is generous and appropriates $10 for the rental of a pound where stray and unmuzzled canines will be held, and assassinated if not redeemed.

Could n't Miss Their Annual.

Work was suspended on George W. Cole's new building on West Second street Friday. Inquiry revealed the fact that the colored men engaged to put up the iron girders were members of the Bethel mission and had gone to Asbury Park on the excursion.

The best builders use only the best materials—lumber, brick, lime, cement, sand—whatever goes into the construction of a building; they employ only the best workmen and pay the best wages; they get better prices for their work than their less careful competitors, and always get the best contracts; they paint their work with

Strictly Pure White Lead

manufactured by the "Old Dutch Process" of slow corrosion, and with one of the following standard brands:

"Atlantic" "Bradley" "Brooklyn" "Jewett" "Ulster"

For colors they use the National Lead Company's Pure White Lead Tinting Colors. These colors are sold in small cans, each being sufficient to tint twenty-five pounds of Strictly Pure White Lead the desired shade.

These brands of Strictly Pure White Lead and National Lead Co.'s Tinting Colors, are for sale by the most reliable dealers in paints everywhere.

If you are going to paint, it will pay you to send to us for a book containing information that may save you many a dollar; it will only cost you a postal card to do so.

NATIONAL LEAD CO.,
1 Broadway, New York.

NEWS FROM CAMP SAUNDERS.

Base-Ball Games, Fireworks, and a Dance, Enliven the Fourth.

DAILY PRESS TENT,
CAMP SAUNDERS,
MERWIN'S POINT, CONN.

JULY 5—This has been the best day we have had; the weather has been fine, and everything has passed off most successfully.

At 9:30 there was a ball game between the Merwin Pointers and a team made up from the camp boys. It was a very exciting contest, and though our team was defeated it was in a well-played game, and only by the score of 6 to 5. The number of visitors was large, and all were very enthusiastic.

After the game, our boys prepared for dinner, which was a model in every respect. No one could wish for better salads or ices. Later in the day the ball players took a refreshing swim, and were joined by a merry crowd from the camp.

At the request of the proprietor of the Pembroke hotel, the choir gave a concert on the veranda. The audience was very large, and much enjoyment was expressed over the following programme:

Chorus—Sweet and Low.
Solo—Orville Waring.
Chorus—Crusaders.
Solo—Fred Tallamy.
Quartette—Love's Old Sweet Song,
Messrs. Miner, Hudson, Holmes and E. Clark
Solo—Out on the Deep............W. A. Hudson
Chorus—The Watchword.

The singing was excellent, and the people profusely praised the chorus and Mr. Miner's careful training. The boys acquitted themselves with high credit.

The smaller boys of the camp, and the natives, had a ball game during the day which the camp won by 20 to 12.

On the evening of July 3, W. A. Hudson and L. S. Bond arrived, and were received and entertained in royal fashion.

Last night we were all invited to the hotel, where they gave a Fourth of July hop. It was a delightful affair. Previous to the dances, there was a grand display of fireworks along the shore, extending about a mile. The boys went down on the beach and enlivened the patriotic occasion with a few spirited songs.

Mr. Beulah took the Naugatuck boys out for a sail the afternoon of the Fourth, and to-day the Holy Cross boys will take a trip.

A few of the boys will return home to-day, which will give more room for sleeping. We have been quite crowded, there having been two or three fellows in some of the single beds.

The young men of the camp never knew how valuable and delightful a young lady's presence was until they came here. For the first few days the gentler sex were at a premium, and the boys were very shy, but they have made charming acquaintances, and are making up for lost time. But oh, how they long for the dear Plainfield girls!

The Rev. Mr. and Mrs. Ellsworth, of Naugatuck, are spending a few days here, and are greatly enjoying the novelty. We had lots of visitors on the Fourth, and the officer of the day, George Westervelt, was the center of admiration for his gallantry in showing them about the camp.

Batches of THE PRESS are received from time to time, and eagerly welcomed. The boys all scramble to read the news from home.

There is an especial fondness for baseball among the boys, and another contest is now going on between teams from the two choirs.

There has been neither accident nor sickness to any of us.

JULY 6—Yesterday was an eventful one in camp. We had our first rain, and the wind blew very hard. The morning was quite fair, but in the early part of the afternoon the water became exceedingly rough, and later tempestuous. Heavy black clouds covered the sky, and it looked as if we would have a really exciting time. Early in the evening it thundered heavily, and there was considerable vivid lightning, which preceded a heavy shower. The rain did not penetrate the canvas of the tents, however, and everybody kept dry.

Mr. Beulah took the boys out for a sail, and they had no trouble in finding a breeze; in fact there was too much. When they came back it was very difficult to anchor. After landing the boys, he took the boat to a place called Oyster Point, and there fastened it, returning with a rowboat later. The boys were all quite anxious as to his safety, and when he reached camp he was enthusiastically received and presented with a box of cigars.

This morning is clear, the sun is bright, and we all are happy.

The ball game yesterday resulted in a victory for our team, 27 to 15.

There is a place near the camp which is appropriately called the choir boys' retreat. Frequent visits are made. It is not necessary to say that young ladies are the attraction. Recently there were four of our number present, and two of them endeavored to outstay the other two.

An interesting feature of the camp is a young man who sleeps in a hammock. Last night, or this morning, he had hard work in getting in it, as someone had stretched it pretty high. He had to keep his attire on, and it was very convenient, as all he had to do in the morning was to put on his hat and he was ready for another day.

Several games of whist have been played by the campers, and some of them are becoming experts.

Groups of fellows are frequently seen in one or the other of the tents, where interesting stories are told, much to the enjoyment of all.

One of the many obliging young men in camp has a standing contract to carry water for a young lady near the camp, and at intervals during the day he can be seen going back and forth to the well, his countenance glistening with joy.

We have a young man here who has the promise of making a great singer. He practices daily, and the following was heard recently: "Listen to my edicated voice, and observe the tremlo." Mr. Miner watches his progress with interest.

JULY 7:—This is our last day in camp, and everybody is sorry that such is the case, for we have had a glorious time, and it seems as if we had only just come. Yesterday was spent most pleasantly in various ways. Some of us being rather tired, rested considerably during the day, and judging from last night's experience there will be much resting to-day.

A party from New Haven was here last night, and the boys sang for them at the Sandford house, for which they received ice-cream. Everyone seemed to be full of music, for it could be heard in all directions.

The young man I spoke of as sleeping in the hammock has succeeded in borrowing a cot, in return for which he is to carry water. He still retires every night in full attire, even to his Waterbury watch.

Mr. Miner called all of the boys into his tent last night and presented to Mr. Beulah a box of cigars, for his kindness and bravery with the boys while sailing. Beulah made a speech, and we gave three rousing cheers for him.

This morning the boys are taking it easy, lying around and telling interesting stories about one another.

We have visitors daily to the camp, and they are much pleased with our way of living.

Mr. Hudson is still with us, and has enjoyed himself immensely. His singing at the concert Tuesday was a rare treat, and much appreciated.

Your correspondent wishes also to thank Mr. Miner for his generous hospitality and kindness, and when another year rolls around may the outing be as successful as this has been! DOMINUS.

THE BOROUGH GETS ITS BACK UP.

"YOU SHAN'T PLAY IN OUR YARD, MR. PLAINFIELD COMPANY!"

"'Cause You Would n't Let Us Play in Yours"—Vigorous Policy of Protection Against Foreign Competition—Warren Mission Shan't Have the Light It Wants, and the Plainfield Gas and Electric Monopoly Must Clear Out and Leave the Field Free for the Home Concern, Or Else Go to Law About It.

This is a hard week for Plainfield corporations. First the Water Supply company got into a snarl with the city council and Mr. Erickson got in some fine work against it. Next the street Railway company was forced to yield to P. M. French's demand for recompense. And now the big Gas and Electric Light concern is being everlastingly sat on by the fighting bantam borough of North Plainfield.

The trouble started two or three weeks back. When the Crescent Avenue people took control of Warren chapel they of course began improvements. The introduction of electric lights was one of these. Wires and lamps were arranged in the building, in the expectation that the Westinghouse system (that of the Plainfield company) would be used. Two poles were put up by the Plainfield company, and connection was being made.

But the aggressive North Plainfield company popped up with the claim that that was its exclusive territory, and down came the poles.

The Crescent Avenue church people investigated and found that permission should have been asked of the borough council before the poles went up. Thereupon J. K. VanArsdale for the trustees petitioned the council for the privilege. In that petition, which was received by, and read to the borough council last night, Mr. VanArsdale earnestly pleaded that to change the wiring and fixtures so as to use the Edison (or North Plainfield) system would involve much expense. The council turned a deaf ear to his entreaties.

More potent was the petition of a number of property-holders asking that the poles and wires of the Plainfield Gas and Electric Light company be removed from in front of their places, for councilman Needham presented a resolution with a long list of whereases, intended to knock the Plainfield company out of the borough altogether.

This combination of preamble and resolution provides that inasmuch as the Plainfield company's poles and wires are in the borough solely by the grace and at the pleasure of the council, and as the company violated the borough ordinances, and as the North Plainfield company is supplying light at the same rate as the Plainfield company charges, and as there appears to be no longer any necessity for the Plainfield company's poles and wires, and as property-holders ask that the poles and wires be removed, therefore: the Plainfield Gas and Electric Light company is required to remove from North Plainfield all its poles and wires, within 20 days from the service of an order so to do. The resolution provides further that if the company neglects to obey the order, the street commissioner shall then remove the poles and wires; the street commissioner is directed to see that all this is carried into effect; and the corporation counsel is directed to serve the company immediately with an order to take away the poles and wires.

Acting Mayor Neal explained that some years ago some poles were erected in North Plainfield by a Plainfield concern as a matter of experiment, on the condition that they should be removed at any time the council ordered. The present company were the successors of that concern and bound by its liabilities. The poles were therefore in the borough by sufferance, and the company had been culpable in seeking to erect other poles without proper compensation to the borough or recognition of the council.

Councilman Needham supplemented this by stating that it was in December, 1885, that the privilege was given to the Plainfield Electric Light company to erect poles and exhibit the arc-light system. Later the council had authorized experimental street lighting to continue at the pleasure of the mayor and council. But in January, 1888, by resolution of the council, the service had been discontinued, and an order was issued for the removal of the poles and wires. This order had been generally obeyed; but some poles and wires were permitted to stand along Somerset and Grove streets, forming a loop into the Park. Some of the houses there were supplied with the light, and privilege was granted to continue that service. The council had, however, very carefully guarded its legal rights, and in the resolution of that date had renewed the prerogative of ordering all poles and wires removed whenever desired by the borough.

The time has come—argued Mr. Needham—for the removal of those wires and poles. We have a home company that pays us good revenue in taxes; the Plainfield company pays us not a cent. When our company sought to supply North Plainfield light, where it was asked for, as in some of the Front street stores and in Westervelt avenue and Sandford avenue residences near the brook, the Plainfield company shut our company out and would not let them encroach on what they considered solely their territory. Mr. Needham further said that the current of the Plainfield company's wires was dangerous, and he strongly condemned the Plainfield company's action in attempting to go ahead to furnish additional lights in direct violation of the ordinances.

Councilman Hummer attempted to explain the reason of the Crescent Avenue people for preferring the Plainfield company's service in Warren chapel. In Grace M. E. church—he said—they had had trouble with the North Plainfield lights. The lamps had grown dim, or gone out altogether, and they had had to borrow lamps from the neighborhood. But he hoped the North Plainfield company had passed its experimental stage and that perfect lighting was now assured.

The resolution ordering the Plainfield company's wires and poles removed was finally adopted, by the following vote:

AYE.	NO.
Edwards,	Connolly,
Hummer,	Howell.
Needham.

Mr. Neal's vote was asked for by the clerk, but he as acting-mayor declined to give it, there being no tie to decide. To Mr. Howell afterwards he declared himself in favor of the resolution as a matter of principle.

It is believed that the Plainfield company will not yield its footing in North Plainfield without a struggle, and an interesting bit of litigation may result. The Crescent Avenue people are of course interested in seeing the Plainfield company win, to save the expense of altering to the North Plainfield system. The councilmen say that the North Plainfield users of the Plainfield current are ready and willing to change.

Manager Keller's Swift Cole Wanted.

The Elizabeth Journal advises the leading local base-ball team to arrange midweek games with the Plainfield Crescents, on the Elizabeth grounds, and says: "They are a good drawing card".

The Borough Profits by Private Bounty.

The borough is about to dispense with the extra-expensive night watchman Mackey has been, and private subscriptions will maintain the continuance of his service.

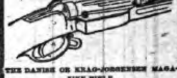
THE NEW ARMY RIFLE.

American Inventors Fail to Produce a Satisfactory Gun.

The Krag-Jorgensen Magazine Model Adopted After Long Delay—Disappointment in Army Circles—The Weapon Described.

The decision to arm the soldiers of the United States with magazine rifles of the Krag-Jorgensen type is one of considerable importance. It declares in effect, says the Chicago Tribune, that American inventors have not yet made a magazine rifle which can compare with this model of foreign skill. Awaiting only the final approval of the secretary of war, it will settle at last a controversy which has been raging for more than two years in military circles. Under the provisions of an act of congress passed in February last the sum of $400,000 will be spent in the manufacture of these rifles in the national armories, the royalty, of course, going to the foreign inventors. In the exhibit of the war department at Chicago are models of rifles in every stage of development, from the first invented in China, hundreds of years ago, to this same Krag-Jorgensen gun, which is placed at the top of the list as the highest type of modern magazine rifles.

Early in 1891 a special board of army officers was appointed by the war department to investigate and examine models of magazine rifles, and report as to which one seemed best suited to the needs of the United States army. Magazine rifles of every prominent type were submitted to the board for its examination, and its report after two years' work was in favor of the Krag-Jorgensen gun. American inventors and makers of firearms were, however, not satisfied. They argued that it would be only patriotic to buy the arms for the national army of home manufacturers, and they succeeded in passing through congress the following bill, which was approved February 27, 1893:

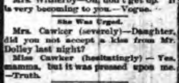


THE DANISH OR KRAG-JORGENSEN MAGAZINE RIFLE.

For manufacture of arms at the national armories, $400,000, provided, that no part of this appropriation shall be expended for the manufacture of magazine rifles of foreign invention until such magazine rifles of American invention as may be presented for test to the war department within the next thirty days shall have been tested by a board of officers to be selected by the secretary of war, which board shall report to the board of ordnance and fortification on or before July 1, 1893. If the decision of said board of officers shall be in favor of any American invention and shall also receive the approval of the board of ordnance and fortification and the secretary of war, then this appropriation, or such part thereof as the secretary may direct, shall be expended in the manufacture of such American arm; provided further, that if no such American invention shall be recommended by said board or receive the approval of the secretary of war, this appropriation shall be applicable to the manufacture of magazine arms recommended for trial by the board recently in session and approved by the secretary of war.

The Krag-Jorgensen gun that was accepted was made especially for trial by the American board, and is an improvement over the gun of that name adopted by Norway and Denmark. It is therefore considered that in the new rifle the American army will have the best gun in the world, and will consequently have an advantage in an engagement with the land forces of any foreign power. The magazine is of the fixed type, is placed horizontally below and to the left of the receiver. It holds five cartridges, which are loaded from the right hand. Closing the cover brings the magazine spring in bearing against the cartridges, which are pushed around under the receiver until they enter it in succession through a cut at its left-hand upper surface. A cut-off permits use as a single loader, and the light metal charges for loading the magazine enable it to be replenished quickly. The gun weighs nine pounds eight ounces and is thirty caliber. The barrel is surrounded by an outer metal casing that it may be handled during rapid firing, and has a knife bayonet attached to this casing by an ingenious clasp.

A Washington dispatch says: In army circles the failure of American inventors to present an acceptable gun to the army is deeply regretted. Every facility has been afforded them. Their complaints have been heard, modifications have been made in the original plans, fresh tests have been given, but the superiority of American inventors has not been demonstrated. While this is regretted from a national point of view, nevertheless the army could not afford to arm itself with an inferior gun merely as a matter of patriotism. The Krag-Jorgensen small arm has shown its superiority in the view of the most competent experts, and there was nothing to do but select it.



RIFLE LOADED, MAGAZINE DETACHED TO SHOW FIRING MECHANISM.

A Lengthy Operation.

It does not look reasonable that six to twelve months should be needed to make a billiard ball, but a first-class ball cannot be manufactured in less time, owing to the tendency of carved ivory to shrink. If it shrank equally a ball could be cut and polished in a few hours, but it does not, the shrinkage being greater in the direction of the width than of the length of the tusk. A ball must thus be roughly shaped, then kept for a number of months, until the shrinking process has been completed, when the fine cutting and polishing may be done.

A Harmonious Effect.

Mrs. Witherby—That chair you are sitting on is a genuine antique.

Miss Elderby—Then perhaps I had better not sit on it.

Mrs. Witherby—Oh, don't get up. It is very becoming to you.—Vogue.

She Was Urged.

Mrs. Cawker (severely)—Daughter, did you not accept a kiss from Mr. Dolley last night?

Miss Cawker (hesitatingly)—Yes, mamma, but it was pressed upon me.—Truth.

After the Shower.

Marmaduke—May I go out to play now?

Mamma—What, with those holes in your boots?

Marmaduke—No, with the bulldog next door.—Wasp.

Trying the Impossible.

"Yes, Mr. Bobbins made a failure. He tried to do two things at once."

"How's that?"

"He tried to love a woman and be married to her at the same time."—Brooklyn Life.

He Had Kept House Before.

Mrs. Talk (looking over the new house)—What in the world is this vast attic for?

Mr. Talk—It is to hold the things that you buy and can't use.—Boston Globe.

Scriptural.

"Why is it that when a woman loses her husband she becomes so attractive to men?"

"It is the old, old story of the widow's might."—Judge.

By the Wink.

Marie—You can tell a drinking man by his eye.

Justine—Yes, if he is at a soda water fountain in a drug store.—Brooklyn Life.

When Women Get Their Rights.

"So Marigold has applied for a divorce from his wife! On what possible ground?"

"Oh, he accuses her of failure to support him."—Town Topics.

Well Meant, But—

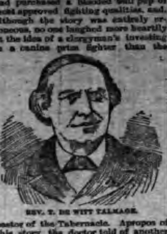
"He conceals his ignorance well, doesn't he?" said Higgins.

"Yes, but not half as well as you do," said the flatterer.—Truth.

STORIES OF TALMAGE.

The Great Preacher Rather [illegible] the Tales Told About Him.

Probably no man in what may be called public life preserves his equanimity so perfectly when stories about him with absolutely no foundation whatever appear in the public prints as does Dr. Talmage. Not long ago a dispatch from Massachusetts announced that the reverend gentleman had purchased a blooded bull pup of most approved fighting qualities, and, although the story was entirely erroneous, no one laughed more heartily at the idea of a clergyman's investing in a canine prize fighter than the pastor of the Tabernacle. Apropos of this story the doctor told of another experience of his which evidently amused him greatly, though some men would have been annoyed by it.



REV. T. DE WITT TALMAGE.

"I remember," he said, "some years ago when I left home for the summer one of the Brooklyn newspapers came out with a long story about how glad the neighbors were to get me out of the way for a few weeks. According to the story I had purchased a cornet, and life had been rendered almost unendurable upon my block by the doleful sounds which I expelled from the instrument, often until late at night. I don't remember," added the doctor, laughing heartily, "that I ever had a cornet in my hand. Certainly it never occurred to me to buy one, or to try to play one."

The doctor's faith in the Bible is of the old school style. "During these twenty-four years," he said, in a recent address to his congregation, "I have tried as far as I could by argument, by illustration and by caricature to fill you with disgust with much of this modern religion which people are trying now to substitute for the religion of Jesus Christ and the religion of the apostles. I have tried to persuade you that the worst of all cant is the cant of skepticism, and instead of your apologizing for Christianity it was high time that those who do not believe in Christianity should apologize to you; and I have tried to show that the biggest villains in the universe are those who would try to rob us of this Bible, and that the grandest mission of the church of Jesus Christ is that of bringing souls to the Lord—a soul-saving church."

Very Likely.

Father (to extravagant son)—Now just suppose for an instant that I at your age had behaved as you do, what would I have been to-day?

Son—Well, you would have been penniless, and I'd have had a chance to become a useful citizen.—Harper's Bazar.

Modern Chivalry.

Mrs. Blossom—Ah, Clarence, men are so cold nowadays! In the age of chivalry you would have told me you would be willing even to die for me.

Mr. Blossom—But, my dear, you forget. Haven't I already expressed my willingness to try to live with you?—Brooklyn Life.

The Chemist.

"How much is the sirup?"
"Fifty cents, madam."
"What extortion!"
"Look at my ledger. The ingredients cost five cents, and general expenses are forty-five cents more!"—Demorest's Magazine.

Two Somebodies.

Mrs. Flyabout—They say poor Mrs. Glaspy was never heard to speak an unkind word about anybody in her life.

Mrs. Gofrequent—Dear me! What a spiritless nobody she must have been!—Chicago Tribune.

Three Minutes Fast.

Robert—Mamma, my stomach says it is dinner time.

Mamma—You'd better go and see what time it is.

Robert (after an inspection of the clock)—Well, mamma, my stomach's three minutes fast.—Life.

Economy.

Brown—Going to housekeeping, eh?
Jones—Yep.
Brown—Awfully expensive.
Jones—Won't be for us. Going to use my wife's temper for a furnace and her feet for a refrigerator.—Truth.

An Incomplete Cleansing.

"Yes, sir," said Japsmith. "I washed my hands of the entire transaction."

"Why didn't you use some soap?" asked Cumso, with a glance at the hands alluded to.—Judge.

A Fair Bed.

"Is n't this the hardest bed you ever slept in?" said one man in a crowded Chicago hotel to his bedfellow.

"Oh, no!" was the cheerful reply; "I once slept in the lava beds of the Black Hills."—Puck.

Courtship's Hours.

They strolled together 'neath Luna's light,
At nine at her father's door were seen,
At ten he whispered to her, good night,
And he sadly left her at one fifteen.
—N. Y. Press.

LYDIA E.

PINKHAM'S VEGETABLE COMPOUND

Is a positive cure for all those painful Ailments of Women.

It will entirely cure the worst forms of Female Complaints, all Ovarian troubles, Inflammation and Ulceration, Falling and Displacements, of the Womb, and consequent Spinal Weakness, and is peculiarly adapted to the Change of Life. Every time it will cure

Backache.

It has cured more cases of Leucorrhœa than any remedy the world has ever known. It is almost infallible in such cases. It dissolves and expels Tumors from the Uterus in an early stage of development, and checks any tendency to cancerous humors. That

Bearing-down Feeling causing pain, weight, and backache, is instantly relieved and permanently cured by its use. Under all circumstances it acts in harmony with the laws that govern the female system, and is as harmless as water. It removes

Irregularity,

Suppressed or Painful Menstruations, Weakness of the Stomach, Indigestion, Bloating, Flooding, Nervous Prostration, Headache, General Debility. Also

Dizziness, Faintness,

Extreme Lassitude, "don't care" and "want to be left alone" feeling, excitability, irritability, nervousness, sleeplessness, flatulency, melancholy, or the "blues," and backache. These are sure indications of Female Weakness, some derangement of the Uterus, or Womb Troubles.

The whole story, however, is told in an illustrated book entitled "Guide to Health," by Mrs. Pinkham. It contains over 90 pages of most important information, which every woman, married or single, should know about herself. Send 2 two-cent stamps for it. For and Backache of either sex the Vegetable Compound is unequaled.

Kidney Complaints

Lydia E. Pinkham's Liver Pills, etc., cure Biliousness, Constipation, and Torpid Liver. By mail, or of druggists.

All druggists sell the Vegetable Compound, or sent by mail, in form of Pills or Lozenges, on receipt of $1.00. Correspondence freely answered.

You can address in strictest confidence.

LYDIA E. PINKHAM MED. CO., Lynn, Mass.

TELEPHONE COMPANY!

SPEAKING CONNECTION WITH OVER [illegible] SUBSCRIBERS—PROTECTION FROM FIRE AND BURGLARS, PLAINFIELD, N. J.

Central Office—49 North Avenue.

Subscriber's Name	Address.
Albion Hotel, The	Park av and 9th st
Ames, C. J.	33 Crescent ave.
Alert Hose Co., No 1	Madison ave.
Ackerman, Mrs. J. E.	33 West 7th street
Adams, Dr D C	48 Grove st
Brakeley, F W	Dunellen
Brokaw, Isaac N	Bound Brook
Babcock, Geo H	9th and Union sts.
Buckalew & Dunn	16 North ave.
[illegible], W. C., M. D.	Cor. Front & Central Av.
Bushnell, John	Central ave. and 8th st.
[illegible], J E	Park av and 3d st
Berg, Jos F, M D	16 E 6th st
Board of Education—Sch'ls 5th and Union sts
Booth, E E	69 Madison ave
	9th & Liberty, 4th & Monmouth
Clark, E B	3 Waywood place
Children's Home	Jackson ave.
Clawson, James T	Richmond and Front sts
CONSTITUTIONALIST Office	3 North ave.
Cook, A D & Bro.	Park ave and RR.
Cooley, Dr J H	Manning and Westervelt aves.
Cox, Rowland	Seventh st
Chapman, Mrs. F. A.	5 Third Place
Cruikshank, R. A.	128 Carlton avenue
Carman, J N, M D	49 Somerset st
Chase, R F M	Somerset st
Central Pharmacy, (J H Leggett, mgr)	Park ave and Front st
DAILY PRESS	3 North ave.
Depew, Mrs. E. G.	18 Crescent ave.
Day, Frank	52 W. Fourth st.
Davis, Dr T S	Cor 6th st & Park av
Day, B M	Rockview ave
Demarest, P M	27 Park av
Dumont, John B	10 E 7th st
Decker, V—pay station	Westfield, N J
DeGraff, James	26 E 9th st
Doane, T O—Chief P F D	40 W 8th st
Dolliver, S L	121 Madison av
Davis & Stevens, coal and wood	Office W Front
Endicott, Dr Geo W	Park ave. and 4th st.
Evening News, T.W. Morrison, Editor	7 Som't st.
Engine No 1	West 2d st.
Engine No 2	Front st.
Engine No 3	Somerset st.
Evans, Geo G	27 Washington ave
Fisk, Chas. J	29 West Seventh st
Fanwood, pay station	Fanwood station
Freight House	C. RR. Depot
French, F M & Sons	Somerset st.
Fritts, Dr J T	72 Park ave.
Fleming, Howard	29 Park avenue
Fisk, Pliny	6 W 7th st
French, C Frank	60 Somerset st
Grant, Geo W, Chief of Police	36 W 6th st
Goddard, C M	17 Third Place.
Griffen, A M	13 E Front st.
Gaston, M. D., W F	5th and New sts
Gilbert, A	Cor Central av & 5th st
Howell & Hardy	North Avenue
[illegible], L	31 & 33 Somerset street.
Hageman, B. A	107 Sycamore avenue.
[illegible], Dr. Ellis W	41 East Front st.
Hyde, Chas	141 Front street.
Hedden, Albert	4th st. near Park ave.
Higgins, M. A	76 East 4th st—29 North ave
[illegible], John N	208 South 2d st—21 Park av
Harder, Francis C	133 Madison av
Hermance, O	Netherwood
Hoagland's City Express	29 North av
Jenkins, Dr. O. L.	88 W. Front st
Jones, Evan	13 Kensington st
Kirkner, J	9th and Division sts.
Kaufman, W F	46 W 7th st
Lowry, Rev Robert	Madison ave and 9th st.
Lovell, L M	Crescent ave
Lord, Wm A	Belvidere av
Loomis & Rice	40 Broadway
Laire, J F & Co	5 W Front st
Linke, Frank	40 W Front st
Lounsberry, F C	13 Plainfield ave
Myers, J K	17 East 7th st
[illegible], A	Willow ave
[illegible], James	Willow ave.
Miller, J G	10 E. Front st.
Moore, Geo. A	20 North ave
Muhlenberg Hospital	South ave.
Murray, Dr. Wm. H	107 Broadway
Matthews, Chas	48 Grove st
Pond Mach Tool Co.	Boulevard below Grant av
Pierce Hardware Co.	48 W Front st
Reed, Chas A	27 Myrtle ave
Milliken, E F	130 Central
Morrison, T W	11 Somerset st
MacDonald, J F	46 E Front st
Myers, Lawrence	E Front st
Netherwood Hotel	Netherwood.
Newhall, Henry B.	16 E 7th st.
N J Postal Tel Co	4 Park ave
Reynolds, H F	Park and North ave.
Reynolds, H. P.	Washington avenue
Roberts, D S	17 North avenue.
Rockfellow, Geo W	Park and North ave.
Runyon, A M & Son	Park ave.
Runyon, A M & Son	48 Madison ave
Rushmore, Dr Edward	Park ave. near Fifth st
[illegible], Mrs J	Cor. Mercer & Sycamore aves.
Runkle, H. C	8th st
Runyon, Chas W	Park ave
Rice, R. W. & Co.	7th cor. Emily and Duer sts
Randolph, L W	Front st
Rogers, D W	W [illegible] st
Rogers, E F M	34 Westervelt ave
[illegible], E W	20 East 9th st
[illegible], Lemuel W	Front st. and Plainfield ave
Seguine, C. J.	66 Front street.
Shaw, E J	Front st. opp. Park ave.
[illegible], A S	Prospect ave.
Smith, W F	Belvidere av., Netherwood
Shephard, A D	Fanwood
Smith, Jas A	13 W Front st
Scott, Wolter & Co	South ave
Smith, Chas A	Spring st., Westfield, N J
Stelle, Irving G	[illegible]
Terrill & Cole	16 E Front st
Thompson, A. D.	29-31 North av
Talmadge, Henry F (Res)	Netherwood.
Thickstun, Jno A	Madison av
Titsworth, Jos M	50 W. 7th st.
Tomlinson, Dr T H	La Grande and N B'dwy
[illegible]	21 North av
Tracy, J Evarts	8th and Division st
Thorn, Alex	27 Somerset st
Tweedy, O. B.	11 Crescent avenue
Townsend, Samuel	90 Rockview av
Thompson, A D	Prospect ave
Telegraph Office	Plainfield station
Thorn, E	76 W Front st
United States Express Co	5 North ave
Union Co Country Club	Cor 7th st & Arlington
Van Sickle W. J	10 North ave
Wharton, Clifton	17 Central av
Woltman, G	West Seventh street
Wadsworth, W B	8th and Liberty sts
Western Union Telegraph Company	at Depot
[illegible], J F	W 8th st., near Grand ave
Waters, E, Ass't Chief	3d st near Washington
Westfield, pay station	Westfield, N J
Wotherspoon O G	144 E Front st

TELEPHONE TOLL RATES.

FOR FIVE MINUTES CONVERSATION.

PLAINFIELD, NEW JERSEY

Asbury Park, N J	40c	Hempstead N Y	45c
Astoria, N Y	[illegible]	Hoboken N J	25c
Babylon, N Y	60c	Hunter's Point N Y	45c
Bath, N Y	[illegible]	Irvington N J	40c
Bayonne N J	45c	Islip N Y	60c
Bergen Point N J	30c	Jamaica N Y	40c
Bayside N Y	50c	Jersey City N J	25c
Bay Shore N Y	75c	Keyport N J	30c
Bayville N Y	60c	Kingston N J	[illegible]
Belleville N J	40c	Laurel Hill N Y	45c
Blissville N Y	45c	Leonia N J	45c
Bloomfield N J	35c	Little Neck N Y	50c
Bloomingdale N J	45c	Little Silver N J	50c
Boonton N J	[illegible]	Long Branch N J	50c
Brooklyn N Y	25c	Madison N J	40c
Caldwell N J	45c	Matawan N J	[illegible]
Carlstadt N J	45c	Millburn N J	35c
Centreville N J	45c	Montclair N J	35c
Chatham N J	30c	Morristown N J	40c
Chester N J	45c	Newark N J	30c
Colt's Neck N J	75c	New Brunswick N J	25c
Coney Island N Y	40c	Newtown N Y	45c
Cresskill N J	45c	New York N Y	30c
Dover N J	[illegible]	Orange N J	30c
East Norwich N Y	60c	Pompton N J	45c
Eatontown N J	50c	Passaic N J	35c
Elizabeth N J	25c	Paterson N J	35c
Englewood N J	35c	Perth Amboy N J	25c
Fairview N J	45c	Rahway N J	15c
Fanwood N J	15c	Red Bank N J	50c
Far Rockaway N Y	45c	Seabright N J	50c
Flatbush N Y	[illegible]	Short Hills N J	30c
Flushing N Y	40c	South Amboy N J	35c
Fort Lee N J	45c	South River N J	30c
Franklin Park N J	30c	Staten Island N Y	30c
Freehold N J	50c	Westfield N J	15c
[illegible] N Y	50c	Woodbridge N J	25c
Glen Cove N Y	60c	Yonkers N Y	40c
Gravesend N Y	45c	Trenton N J	40c
Hackensack N J	30c	Tarrytown N Y	60c

TWENTY Years experience in the business.

SECOND STREET, 3 doors above Peace street.

Mr. JOHN H. STEVENS, Horse-shoer, gives particular attention to Shoeing, Forging, Stumbling and Interfering Horses. Speedy Cutters stopped in an incredibly short space of time. Horses with diseased feet treated in a particular manner by experienced workmen.

ALBERT HEDDEN,
Livery and Boarding Stables
FOURTH STREET,
Between Peace street and Park avenue.
First-Class Livery.
Horses Boarded by Week or Month.
Telephone call No. 114.

ADMINISTRATOR'S SETTLEMENT.—Notice is hereby given that the account of the subscriber, Administrator, with the will annexed, of Thomas [illegible], deceased, will be audited and stated by the Surrogate, and reported for settlement to the Orphans' Court of the County of Union, on Wednesday, the nineteenth day of July next.

Dated May 5, 1893. ALVAH A. CLARK.

ADMINISTRATOR'S SETTLEMENT.—Notice is hereby given that the account of the subscriber, Administratrix of William [illegible], deceased, will be audited and stated by the Surrogate, and reported for settlement to the Orphans' Court of the County of Union, on Wednesday, the nineteenth day of July next.

Dated May 5, 1893. [illegible]

SHOOTING OF CORBETT.

A Detective Story, Wrong-End Foremost, by Fielding.

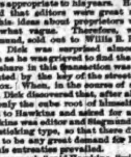
The Difficulty In This Case Was to Find An Innocent Man Who Couldn't Be Convicted with Perfect Ease—A Surplus of Evidence.

[COPYRIGHT, 1893.]

The value of circumstantial evidence is too serious a subject to treat with levity. I would not jest about it for ten dollars a column. Judges at large salaries and jurors at three dollars a day and board may make it ridiculous if they so desire. That is a question between them and their consciences. As for me, I tell the story of the shooting of Dick Corbett because I believe that it will be a valuable contribution to the discussion which recent remarkable criminal trials have evoked. There is no fiction here. I have not altered a single detail. Indeed I was not tempted. The facts are sufficiently absurd to suit my contention that by circumstantial evidence anything except the truth can be proven.

Dick Corbett, at twenty-one, was the editor of the Daily News of Aurora, Ill. Jake Siegmund owned the paper and set the type.

Journalism in Aurora was then in the genial stage. Every man who figured in print, whether he was notable for benevolence or burglary, was described as "the genial" Mr. So-and-So. Meanwhile, scandal was boiling so hard in the town that one could stand twenty miles out on the prairie and hear it sizzle. A trained metropolitan journalist could have gone into Aurora and wrecked a dozen homes the first day. The stories told across back fences, if proven in court, would have filled the jails with genial citizens. These possibilities, however, were studiously overlooked by the editors of the local papers.



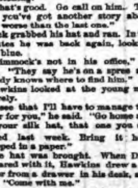
THE PLOT THICKENS.

Corbett was a bright young man, but he was not wholly exempt from the errors appropriate to his years. He believed that editors were great men, and his ideas about proprietors were somewhat vague. Therefore, when Siegmund, sold out to Willis B. Hawkins, Dick was surprised almost as much as he was grieved to find that his own share in this transaction was represented by the key of the street in a tin box. When, in the course of some days, Dick discovered that, after all, he was only the cube root of himself, he went to Hawkins and asked for a job. Hawkins was editor and Siegmund was still sticking type, so that there didn't seem to be any great demand for Dick, but his entreaties prevailed.

"Your work," said Hawkins, "will be to get me one sensation a week."

For some months this was easy. All the good old yarns that had been ready for so long, were spun, and Dick made from one to a dozen deadly enemies every Thursday. That was scandal day with the News, and it became much more popular than Sunday in Aurora.

But at last the crop was reaped. There came a Wednesday when Dick had no sensation. He announced the fact to Hawkins in the morning.



THE DOCTOR FIXED HIM.

"What, no sensation?" cried the able editor. "Well, Dick, I'm sorry for you, but—"

"Sorry for me? Why, what do you mean?"

"I thought that you understood our agreement," said Hawkins. "You were to get a sensation every week."

"But there isn't any this week."

"There must be. Your position depends upon it."

The death rattle could be heard in Dick's throat. No man with any trace of pity could view his distress unmoved.

"If there isn't any sensation this week you must make one," said Hawkins, kindly. "Can't you get somebody to assault you?"

"Dimmock, the dentist, has been threatening to shoot me," said Dick, brightening.

"That's good. Go call on him. Tell him you've got another story about him, worse than the last one."

Dick grabbed his hat and ran. In ten minutes he was back again, looking very blue.

"Dimmock's not in his office," he said. "They say he's on a spree and nobody knows where to find him."

Hawkins looked at the young man severely.

"I see that I'll have to manage this affair for you," he said. "Go home and get your silk hat, that one you discarded last week. Bring it here wrapped in a paper."

The hat was brought. When Dick appeared with it, Hawkins drew a revolver from a drawer in his desk, and said: "Come with me."

They went to the outskirts of the town, and, in a deserted gravel-pit under the shelter of a high bluff, set the hat on a mullein stalk. Then Hawkins put a bullet through it.

"Now we'll call on Dr. Gilson," said he, in an encouraging tone, to his young assistant, "and get him to cut a hole in your head."

The genial Dr. Gilson was a stern-faced old fellow who liked a joke better than any other man in Aurora.

"Why certainly," said he, when the matter had been explained to him; "sit right down here, Dick, and I'll fix you up so that any doctor in town will swear that you've had a bullet along your scalp."

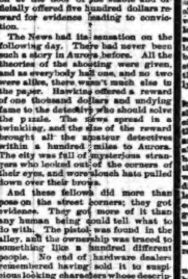
Dick did not utterly enjoy himself while the doctor was artistically making a bullet wound to match the hole in the hat; but he survived the operation.

In those days all Aurora went to the post office immediately after supper. On the day in question there was the usual crowd about seven o'clock. At that hour Hawkins and Dick walked up the main street, and separated at a corner in full view of the throng. Corbett walked down a cross street which led towards his home. Fifty yards from the main street he came to an alley which was quite dark. He looked all around. Nobody was watching. He took off the light hat with the hole in it, and rubbed the wound in his head to make it bleed, according to the directions from his medical adviser. Then he fired the revolver in the air; flung it as far as he could up the alley, and fell on the sidewalk.

There was a crowd around him in no time. He was tenderly raised from the ground, and borne into a livery stable near by where he was laid upon a bench. Among the first to arrive was Dr. Gilson. Two or three other doctors were in the crowd. They examined the wound and unanimously pronounced it serious. There were indications that the skull had been fractured.

Hawkins stood, meanwhile, at the feet of his wounded assistant. He observed with [illegible] pale as a ghost. In fact the young man was nearly fainting with excitement.

The air was full of execrations. The hat with a hole in it was passed from hand to hand. It was openly said that the assassin could expect to ornament a lamp-post before morning, if he should be caught. The mayor stood on at the door of the stable and officially offered five hundred dollars reward for evidence leading to conviction.



THEY ALL HAD EVIDENCE.

The News had its sensation on the following day. There had never been such a story in Aurora before. All the theories of the shooting were given, and as everybody had one, and no two were alike, there wasn't much else in the paper. Hawkins offered a reward of one thousand dollars and undying fame to the detective who should solve the puzzle. The news spread in a twinkling, and the size of the reward brought all the amateur detectives within a hundred miles to Aurora. The city was full of mysterious strangers who looked out of the corners of their eyes, and wore slouch hats pulled down over their brows.

And these fellows did more than pose on the street corners; they got evidence. They got more of it than any human being could tell what to do with. The pistol was found in the alley, and the ownership was traced to something like a hundred different people. No end of hardware dealers remembered having sold it to suspicious looking characters whose description they gave. It was an easy way for a dealer to get his name into print. These descriptions never failed to fit one or another of the men whom Dick had "exposed" in the News. In fact it would have been hard to imagine a description which couldn't fit somebody who was known to have a grudge against him.

These early developments Hawkins handled with comparative ease. He set one against another, and succeeded in so scattering suspicion that there was little danger of an arrest. But presently the case took on a more serious aspect. A baker who had a shop on the corner of the alley already mentioned called upon Hawkins and told a perfectly straight story which rather staggered the author of this plot.

The baker said that he had been kneading bread by a window which opened on the alley. He had seen the shot fired and could describe the villain. He did describe him, and that description fitted Dimmock better than his epidermis. The baker, however, did not pretend to have recognized the man. He had seen him run up the alley. It happened that a flight of stairs led directly from Dimmock's office into this alley. His threats against Dick were well known. Here was motive, opportunity and everything else necessary to the needs of an intelligent jury.

I may as well say right here that the baker simply lied. He craved notoriety. He wanted to get his name into the papers. At such times we occasionally forget that our fellow men will lie; but they will. The best witness, the most positive witness, the most convincing witness I ever heard was a man who, to my certain knowledge, had not told the truth in eleven years.

Well, the baker wanted to know what Hawkins was going to do about it. That was just what the able editor wanted to know; but he didn't. However, he persuaded the baker to wait a few days before hanging anybody, and he promised to print a modified version of the story which would be a good enough advertisement for a bakery, but would not quite amount to a conviction of Dimmock.

The next day no less than a dozen detectives called with additional proof against the dentist. There was enough to convict him a dozen times over. Nothing saved him from arrest except the diligence with which Hawkins boomed certain other theories of the crimes, inconsistent with Dimmock's guilt. There were at least twenty [illegible] on the detectives watching them.

The only difficulty was to find an innocent person. Every man in the city who had been a victim of one of Dick's sensations provided himself with the best alibi he could beg or buy, and waited in perspiring suspense for somebody to come and arrest him. Dimmock, being hampered in his search for an alibi by the fact that he could not himself remember where he had been at that time, consoled himself with the flowing bowl, and was popularly supposed to be drowning his remorse.

Then one day, there came to Hawkins' office a hard-headed, shrewd old fellow who had been deputy United States marshal of that district, and was then a detective of some prominence. We will call him Capt. Gay. He was a different sort of man from the amateur Hawkshaws who had preceded him. He looked Hawkins straight in the eye and said, in a calm voice: "I've got your man."

Hawkins' spinal marrow was a trifle cold as he asked: "Who is he?"

"John Blank," replied the detective, with decision.

Then he outlined his case. It was absolutely iron-clad. Not a point but was supported by a half-dozen credible witnesses. Blank had been seen in a saloon near the alley just before the shooting. He had exhibited a revolver exactly like that found in the alley, and had said in the presence of several men that he was going out to look for Dick Corbett. The man had been the subject of a very unpleasant story in the News. From the saloon the detective had traced Blank directly to the ally.

He had next been seen at his boarding house, half an hour after the shooting, and had been noticeably excited. He had given the information that Corbett had been killed, and had afterwards told of a story of his whereabouts which made it impossible that he should have learned anything about the shooting. The detective had watched him for several days, and had discovered that he had prepared to leave the city forever, and had told conflicting stories as to where he was going. The clothes which he had worn on that day corresponded exactly with the baker's description. In size and general appearance, he strongly resembled Dimmock, the dentist.

In conclusion the detective announced his belief—and I agree with him—that these facts would secure a conviction in any court. He proposed to arrest Blank that night when he returned to work.

The effect of this story upon Hawkins can be imagined. For nearly two weeks he had watched that alley get more and more crowded with desperate assassins until it was impossible to see how they could all have discharged their weapons without shooting one another. His nerve was beginning to weaken, and he had almost come to the conclusion that confession was the only refuge. However, he put Capt. Gay off for twenty-four hours by claiming to know that the criminal was not Blank. Meanwhile he prepared his confession. But it proved to be unnecessary. At the time appointed Capt. Gay returned to the Daily News office and settled the whole business in these words:

"We're too late. Blank is dead."

It was true. The man had been killed in a Chicago freight yard. From that time the excitement subsided. It was whispered that Capt. Gay had found the criminal and that he was dead. Gradually the other detectives abandoned the case. But if Blank had not died just as he did, nothing in the world but Hawkins' confession would have saved Blank from the penitentiary. Indeed, it may be doubted whether even that would have saved him, for, when some years later, that confession was actually printed in Aurora, nobody believed it. It was taken for a joke.

Remember that I have stated the exact facts in this case. With the aid of circumstantial evidence either of the two men whom the prosecuting officer had selected could have been convicted of the shooting of Dick Corbett—either of those two, certainly, and any one of a dozen others, probably.

Which is why I remark that by circumstantial evidence collected in the usual manner anything but the truth can be proven. HOWARD FIELDING.

How to Be Happy.

Old Gent—On the eve of your marriage let me give you a piece of advice. Remember when your wife's next birthday comes, and give her a handsome present.

Young Man—Yes, of course.

"Give her the best your pocket can buy every birthday, but at Christmas, New Year's, and such times, give her only inexpensive little tokens. Form that habit."

"Yes; but why?"

"It will pay."

"I presume so."

"Yes. In a few years you can begin to forget the birthdays and she won't

MISCELLANEOUS. MISCELLANEOUS.

E. P. THORN,
No. 17 Park Avenue,
PLAINFIELD, N. J.
Pure Wines and Liquors,
For Family and Medicinal Use,
A SPECIALTY.

CASTORIA
for Infants and Children.

THIRTY years' observation of Castoria with the patronage of millions of persons, permit us to speak of it without guessing. It is unquestionably the best remedy for Infants and Children the world has ever known. It is harmless. Children like it. It gives them health. It will save their lives. In it Mothers have something which is absolutely safe and practically perfect as a child's medicine.

Castoria destroys Worms.
Castoria allays Feverishness.
Castoria prevents vomiting Sour Curd.
Castoria cures Diarrhœa and Wind Colic.
Castoria relieves Teething Troubles.
Castoria cures Constipation and Flatulency.
Castoria neutralizes the effects of carbonic acid gas or poisonous air.
Castoria does not contain morphine, opium, or other narcotic property.
Castoria assimilates the food, regulates the stomach and bowels, giving healthy and natural sleep.
Castoria is put up in one-size bottles only. It is not sold in bulk.
Don't allow any one to sell you anything else on the plea or promise that it is "just as good" and "will answer every purpose."
See that you get C-A-S-T-O-R-I-A.

The fac-simile signature of Chas. H. Fletcher is on every wrapper.

Children Cry for Pitcher's Castoria.

THE CONSTITUTIONALIST.

VOL. XXVI. PLAINFIELD, N. J., THURSDAY, JULY 20, 1893. No 29.

"Support the Constitution, which is the cement of the Union, as well in its limitations as in its authorities."—MADISON.

Rates of Advertising

Space	Weeks 1	2	3	Months 1	2	3	6	12
1 in.	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]
2 in.	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]
3 in.	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]
4 in.	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]
¼ col.	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]
½ col.	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]
1 col.	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]

All Electro's must be solid metal.

Double cols. 30 per ct. advance of above rates.

PROFESSIONAL CARDS.

JACKSON & CODINGTON,
Counsellors-at-Law,
Commissioners of Deeds, Masters-in-Chancery, Notaries Public. Offices corner of Park avenue and Second street.—lodtf

GEORGE W. DAY,
General Auctioneer.
Sales of Personal Property solicited. P. O. Box 124, Dunellen, N. J., or address in care of CONSTITUTIONALIST. Terms reasonable.

DR. CHARLES R. THEIRS,
Dentist,
29 West Front street. A new local anesthetic application for extracting teeth without pain. Gold filling a specialty.—je10

BUSINESS CARDS.

P. P. VanArsdale,
PIANO TUNER.
Instruments put in thorough order. Terms reasonable. Pianos and Organs for sale and to let. Orders by postal, P. O. box 186, or left at Willett's shoe store, No. 6 Park avenue, will receive prompt attention. Residence 21 E. Front street, corner Elm street.

T. J. GILLIES,
Auctioneer & Real Estate Agent.
SALESROOM—Madison Avenue, near Front St. Plainfield, N. J.
Goods received on consignment.

John Chandler,
CARPENTER AND BUILDER,
Plainfield, N. J.
Residence and shop No. 24 East Third street.
Jobbing promptly attended to. apl7

E. B. MAYNARD,
PRACTICAL BARBER
AND
Artistic Hair Dresser,
No. 26 PARK AVENUE.
Ladies' and Children's Hair Cutting done at their residences. Shaving, Shampooing, etc., satisfactorily performed. f17y1

CARNEY BROTHERS, Agents,
7 West Front St.

TINNERS,
PLUMBERS,
GAS FITTERS.
PARLOR STOVES,
COOK STOVES,
HEATERS.

Grates and Bricks for all kinds of Stoves can be found here at Jobbers' prices. Bring your Tinware mending to us. The best Tinners, the best Plumbers, and the best Gas-fitters in the section. We use none but the very best of materials, and our work always gives satisfaction.

Keys of All Kinds are Made Here.

Tinware Made to Order.

Ranges, Brick and
Portable Furnaces
SANITARY PLUMBING.

Parlor Stoves,

Furnaces, Ranges,

Water Piping. Plumbing.

Heater Work. Tinning,

Hardware.

A. M. GRIFFEN,
13 East Front Street.
TELEPHONE CALL, 6. 11 11-tf

Beautiful Assortment!

Furniture!

Largest Assortment!
Best Goods!
Lowest Prices!
Ever Offered in Plainfield!

23, 25 and 27 PARK AVE.

Garret Q. Packer.

SANITARY PLUMBING,
Brick and Portable Furnaces,
GAS FITTING,
TIN ROOFING,
Etc. Etc.

I am prepared to do any of the above branches in a strictly first-class, sanitary and workmanship manner.

[illegible]

D. W. LITTELL,
No. 9 North Ave., Plainfield, N. J.

MISCELLANEOUS.

FOR MALARIA,
GENERAL DEBILITY
AND
ALL STOMACH TROUBLES
COLES'
PERUVIAN BARK
AND
WILD CHERRY BITTERS
ARE THE BEST.
A Vegetable Substitute for Quinine.
SOLD BY ALL DRUGGISTS.
Price, 50 cents and $1.00 per Bottle.
PREPARED ONLY BY THE
D. F. COLES DRUG AND MFG. CO.
RAHWAY, N. J.
8-27-y

Jas. M. Dunn,
Dealer in
GROCERIES. PROVISIONS
Vegetables, Fruits, etc.
No. 36 Park Ave.
OPPOSITE NORTH AVENUE.
THORBURN & CO'S GARDEN SEEDS
BEST IN THE WORLD.
ALL GOODS DELIVERED FREE OF CHARGE

ESTABLISHED 18 6.

C.E. & J.W. BROWN,
(Successors to G. F. & C. E. Brown & Co.)
Importers, Wholesale and Retail Dealers in
WALL PAPER.
321 Canal Street,
NEW YORK.
English Tiles, Anaglypta, Hand, Leather Raised Flock Papers, &c. Burlaps for Walls.
Manufacturers of Window Shades.
3-18-tf

LIVERY.

REMOVAL.

A. M. SEGUINE,

Has removed his office to
No. 8 West Second Street,
(Salvation Army building)
Where all orders left for carriages will receive prompt attention.
TELEPHONE CALL, NO. 96.
Your patronage is respectfully solicited.
A. M. SEGUINE.

RICKERT'S
ACCOMMODATION EXPRESS.
OFFICE—Vanderbeek's Music Store, Park avenue. The "Accommodation Express" will attend to the general carrying business of the city, delivering goods or baggage to and from the depot, or from place to place.
Moving of Furniture, Pianos, etc., with care and safety.

INSURANCE.

WILLIAM A. WOODRUFF,
FIRE AND LIFE
INSURANCE AGENT,
Office cor. Front St. and Park Ave.,
PLAINFIELD, N. J.
Real Estate for Sale & Exchange.
MONEY TO LOAN
On Approved Security.
Mar30tf

Fresh Garden Seeds
AND FERTILIZERS,
Farm and Garden Implements,
Lawn Mowers Refrigerators,
Ice Cream Freezers,
Gasoline Stoves, Hardware, Tools, etc.
J. J. HEIDELOFF,
No. 11 Somerset St. 3-18-tf

WANTED—Reliable Parties
To act as agents. Steady employment and
Good Pay From the Start.
No experience necessary; outfit free. Address THE HAWKS NURSERY CO., Rochester New York. 3 23 3m-e

WANTED.
Honest energetic men to solicit orders for FRUIT and ORNAMENTAL NURSERY STOCK.
Expenses and salary to those who can leave home and devote all their time to the work; or liberal commissions to local agents. State age, occupation and choice of territory. Address
R. G. CHASE & CO.,
1430 So. Penn Square, Philadelphia, Pa.

CANOPIES
For Weddings, Parties, Etc.,
TO HIRE. CHARGES REASONABLE
Hugo Weigman,
20 EAST FRONT STREET, PLAINFIELD, N. J.

LEWIS B. CODDINGTON,
(Successor to T. J. Carey,)
Furniture and Freight Express!
OFFICE—30 W. FRONT ST.
[illegible]

TOBACCO, SEGARS, &c.

F. EGGERDING,
No. 17 Park Avenue,
PLAINFIELD, N. J.
Manufacturer of the Celebrated
C. O. D. CIGAR,
The best 5 cent cigar in the State, and made on the premises from the finest Havana.
CLEAR HAVANA SEGARS A SPECIALTY.
A large assortment of the Choicest Brands of Foreign and Domestic Cigars, Cigarettes and Tobacco always on hand.
Smokers Articles in Great Variety.

C. M. FINE,
Dealer in HAVANA & DOMESTIC
SEGARS!!
6 PARK AVE., (near corner of SECOND ST.)
PLAINFIELD, N. J.
Tobacco and Smoker's Materials,
of every description.
The celebrated "Old Judge" Smoking Tobacco, with other popular and deservedly known brands.

A. WOLFF,
Manufacturer of
CIGARS,
And dealer in all kinds of Smoking and Chewing Tobacco, and smokers' articles, has removed from 15½ W. Front street, to 41 West Front, one door east of Madison avenue, and solicits the patronage of his friends and the public generally.

PAINTERS & PAINTERS SUPP

Paints, Varnishes, Glass.
WINDOW SHADES AND FIXTURES.
WALL PAPERS!
PAPER HANGING A SPECIALTY.
A. SWALM,
No. 6 North Avenue, Plainfield.

L. B. WOOLSTON. J. F. BUCKLE
Woolston & Buckle,
PAINTERS,
Wall Papers,
PAINTER'S SUPPLIES. 29 NORTH AVENUE

G. Dickason
Optician
13 Park Ave
Plainfield N.J.

WHATEVER form of printed matter you require we can be of service to you; whether it be

Letter Headings,
Circulars,
Programmes, Menus,
Addresses,
Memorials,
By-Laws of Societies,
Prospectuses and Reports of Financial Associations, or any other matter for Public or Private Circulation.
Everything.

WEEKLY CONSTITUTIONALIST
DAILY PRESS
(Chautauqua Building),
PLAINFIELD, N. J

THAT WIND WAS EVIL.

When Crops Were Progressing Finely, the Storm Wrought Great Injury.

The observers and crop correspondents of the New Jersey Weather Service report for the week ending Monday, July 10, that in the northern, the central and the extreme southern counties the weather conditions have been favorable to all growing crops, and that a marked improvement in their condition is noted. The nights of the week have been warm, and with the gentle local showers all crops, especially corn and potatoes, have made a rapid stride forward. In Atlantic county, especially in the vicinity of Hammonton, crops have suffered much from drought; raspberries, which were so promising early in June, have been greatly shortened, so much so that the yield will not be more than one-half a crop. In other sections this crop is very promising. The shower of Saturday night, July 8, which was quite heavy in portions of Atlantic county, has probably done much toward relieving the crops from the effect of the drought. A destructive hailstorm passed over portions of Camden and Burlington counties on the night of July 5, doing considerable damage to crops. In the vicinity of Camden, the destruction was so great that some farmers are replanting.

The Plainfield observer reports that Saturday evening, July 8, a severe thunder storm passed over that station, doing very great damage; several trees were uprooted and some damage done to growing crops. In all sections the harvesting of grain is progressing under very favorable weather conditions, and the yield, both of grain and straw, will be above the average, except in Hunterdon and Mercer counties, where the "Wheat Head Army Worm" is doing considerable damage, even after the grain is in stack. Director E. W. McGann, of the crop and weather service, advises immediate threshing as the only means of saving the grain from destruction by these pests.

The temperature and sunshine during the week have been about normal, while local showers have visited all sections, greatly reviving and stimulating all crops.

Prof. Smith says that the caterpillar injuring grain in some sections is the "Wheat Head Army Worm", which occasionally, in a favorable season, becomes troublesome. There is no remedy that can be satisfactorily applied at present, and it is recommended that the grain be harvested as soon as possible, and that it be threshed at once and bulked in bins. This will also prevent injury from the grain moth.

Prof. Smith is anxious to get a good supply of specimens of this insect and of the corn web-worm, and will be obliged to any who will send them.

(Official Crop Bulletin.)

UNION COUNTY.

PLAINFIELD—Every thing progressing with the farmer in harvesting the crops. High wind of the 8th did great damage, especially to the fruit trees. Rainfall 0.75 inch.
JOHN NEAGLE.

CLARK TOWNSHIP—The past week has given excellent growing weather. Harvesting well advanced, most of the grain having been cut in good condition. We had a fine shower the evening of the 3d. On Saturday evening, the 8th, a shower with very high wind swept over the township doing much damage to fruit and early tomatoes.
EDGAR L. SMITH.

SOUTH PLAINFIELD—A nice shower on the 3d helped all crops, especially corn and garden truck. Haying about finished and grain most all out. Work is up to the season and all things getting along nicely. Corn and potatoes are looking well. Currants and gooseberries most all in market, and raspberries in season now. Some cucumbers and squashes were pulled on the 7th.
F. C. JOHNSON.

SOMERSET COUNTY.

THREE MILE RUN—Wheat is a good crop and is being harvested in good condition. Corn and garden truck making a good growth.
GEORGE HUTCHINSON.

SOMERVILLE—Very favorable week. Average temperature, 74.2 deg. Rainfall, 0.20 inch.
P. HARDCASTLE.

THE SUIT WITHDRAWN.

Edward C. Mulford Extends His Sympathy and Consolation.

The following letter was sent to this office with the request that it be published Thursday:

July 13, 1893.

William K. Stillman, Esq.,
Counselor at Law:

As my attorney in the suit that I have begun against the proprietors of THE DAILY PRESS for libel, I hereby instruct you to discontinue the same.

As an old friend of the late William L. Force, and full of the recollections of his almost lifelong friendship for me, I feel that I cannot let this, the day of his funeral, go by, without thus in a manner expressing my sorrow over his untimely end, and my deep respect for his memory.

To his sorrowing family I would extend my sympathy and consolations in this the hour of their bereavement and trouble.

I am very respectfully,
EDWARD C. MULFORD.

Miss Smith's Suit to Be Adjourned.

The case of Miss Smith the milliner, who is suing Isaac Lederer for wages that she says Lederer owes her until July 2, the date of expiration of the alleged contract, will come up before justice Mosher this afternoon at 2.

On account of the funeral of W. L. Force, the counsels, judge W. A. Coddington for Miss Smith, and W. K. McClure for Lederer, will ask for an adjournment, when the justice will allow an adjournment for one week.

The slander case between the same parties will be tried in Elizabeth, and corporation counsel Craig A. Marsh will conduct the defense.

Plainfielders on the County Boards.

Gov. Werts has appointed the county boards of registration for the State. The boards are named upon the recommendation of the respective chairmen of the Democratic and Republican State committees. These boards in turn, upon the recommendation of the county chairmen, name the local boards of registry and election. This will be done within the next few weeks. The boards appointed include the following for this section:

Union—Democrats, James T. Wiley, Elmore D. Moffett of Plainfield. Republicans, Wm. Chamberlain, Edwin C. Woodruff.

Somerset—Democrats, Elisha Coriell, J. H. Mattison of North Plainfield. Republicans, C. H. Bateman, Wm. H. Long.

Valuable to His Community.

The Bound Brook Democrat, referring to the death of Wm. L. Force, says: "In all positions he gave valuable service and made many warm friends who sincerely sympathize with his bereaved widow."

Not Quite So Soon, Brother Lowrie.

Our genial editor of The Press—says the Dunellen Call—has resigned his position from the government, and will leave for his place in the far northeast about July 20.

Speculating on His Successor.

It is probable that Walter Irving Clarke, now city editor, will succeed Mr. Demarest as editor of the Press.—Westfield Leader.

OUR LARGEST LAND-OWNERS.

These Good Citizens Make Their Homes the Pride of Plainfield.

Dennis C. Crane, secretary of the Union county board of agriculture, in his annual report to the State board, contrasts strikingly a number of Plainfield's well-cared-for suburban places with the uncultivated land of the county. He says:

"Chauncey B. Ripley, of Westfield, owns several hundred acres, keeps about sixty head of registered Jerseys, of which 'Pedro Royal Marjoram' is at the head. He underdrains, manures highly, grows heavy crops, especially of clover, timothy, corn and rye, but no weeds are seen. The roads running through his place are lined with fine maple and elm trees. The sidewalks and ditch banks are in grass, and are mowed several times through the summer. The center of the highways (at cost to himself) is macadamized with crushed stone, and a straight edge preserved between the traveled way and the green grass border, giving the farm an altogether park-like appearance.

"South of Plainfield, near Marconnier station, on the Lehigh Valley railroad, is the Holly Grove farm, owned by General Samuel K. Schwenk. He has a herd of registered Jerseys of fashionable strain, something over fifty head. They have been exhibited at the different fairs in New Jersey and other States, and admired by all who have seen them. He retails the milk in Plainfield to families who are willing to pay one or two cents a quart over the price for common milk. He has extensive outbuildings fitted with all the modern improvements for comfort and convenience—silo cutters, grinders, automatic water troughs, chain ties, manure gratings, etc. Large quantities of beets and mangels are raised annually for feeding to the stock, and vegetables for the Plainfield market. The place gives evidence of thrift and good management.

"In the suburbs of Plainfield, little north, under the mountain, are the farm and residence of John Taylor Johnston, ex-president of the Central railroad. About one hundred acres are kept in a park; it is adorned with serpentine drives and walks which are covered with crushed stone. Ornamental hedges, shade trees, shrubs and flowers are all kept in order. Back from this and somewhat nearer the mountain are the numerous farm buildings for housing the stock. Mr. Johnston's son keeps the herd of registered Jerseys—about seventy head. The morning's milk is sold in Plainfield at a premium; the evening's milk is made into butter. In connection with the place is a large hennery.

"On the road from Plainfield to Springfield are the handsome residences and grounds of the late Dr. Abraham Coles and Warren Ackerman. The most creditable work of Mr. Ackerman is the reclaiming and beautifying of the deserted village of Feltville, now called Glenside, between the First and Second mountains. The dozen or more houses are used in summer for keeping boarders of the better class. In the vicinity are mountains, ravines and streams of water, a good-sized lake, abrupt mountain sides, extensive woods, rocky glens and well-built macadam roads. Mr. Ackerman is the largest land owner in the county.

THE COURT'S EYES MOIST.

It Wouldn't Take a Complaint Against a Starving Little Girl for Till Tapping.

Martha Brunt, a pretty girl, aged 9, was arrested in Rahway Thursday for till tapping and taken before justice Franze. For some days money has been missed by Jacob Fetter, who keeps a butcher shop; and a watch being set on the till, Martha was caught in the act of taking money from it. When searched $1.30 was found in her pocket. She wept bitterly when arraigned before the justice. She said she stole because her family was starving, and she wanted to buy something to eat. The girl's father is blind, and her mother works hard to support a lot of small children. Justice Franze shed tears when he heard the prisoner's story. He refused to take a complaint against her, and persuaded Mr. Fetter to let the matter drop.

Flight of the Somerset Fair.

The Elizabeth Journal says: "The Somerset County Agricultural society is likely to furnish an object lesson as to some of the effects of the race-track legislation. Under the infamous laws of last winter all such societies must have licenses to trot horses, and under that license pool-selling and bookmaking are allowed. This society applied to the Bridgewater township committee for the necessary license, and it was refused. Then they applied to the board of freeholders, and that body also refused. Now the society will either have to abandon their fair or go ahead without a license and become liable to indictment. The Somerset county fair is one of the best county fairs in Northern New Jersey, and the directors have, at times, refused to license the sale of any intoxicating drinks on the grounds, and have done other things to make the fair reputable. But the race-track gamblers have now not only got hold of the running tracks, but practically control every fair ground in the State."

$600 Among Eight Heirs.

The Meriden (Ct.) Daily Journal of July 6 says: "This morning, before judge Flower in the Probate Court, was rendered the account of Richard Gleeson of Meriden, as trustee on the Catherine Flood estate. The heirs were determined and the distribution was ordered, the heirs being: George Hyland and Maria F. Foulds of Stamford, Wm. and P. Hyland of Norwalk, T. Hyland of Plainfield, N. J., Jas. and Eliza Hyland of Raritan, N. J., and Jas. Keating of Frostburg, Md. Six hundred dollars was distributed."

Contractor Kirk to Build Both Bridges.

The boards of freeholders of Union and Somerset counties, unanimously awarded to William T. Kirk, of this city, contracts to build the new bridges over the brooks at Westervelt avenue and at Tenth street.

The members of the boards expressed themselves as thoroughly satisfied with all of contractor Kirk's work, and with the material and construction. Consequently there was no thought of giving the new contracts to anyone else, and his were the only specifications and estimates considered. The cost of both bridges will be about $2,700.

The Board of Trade Incorporated.

County clerk [illegible] has filed the certificate of incorporation of the Plainfield Board of Trade. The incorporators are G. W. Rockfellow, Charles M. Ulrich, G. A. Hallock, Leonard K. Woolston, Joseph B. Coward, Elston M. French, J. F. MacDonald, George M. Gridley, William B. Coddington, Charles A. Reed, and William A. Coddington.

THOSE MAINS FROM PLAINFIELD.

Editor [illegible] Likes the Water, But Doesn't Favor the Nuisance.

It is already very evident—remarks the Elizabeth Journal—that some positive and radical measures must be taken to protect the county roads.

As was anticipated, the building of these magnificent highways brought the adjacent property into market, and houses are now being built or will soon be built on every lot between Elizabeth and Cranford. These facts are exceedingly gratifying, and it is also a matter of great satisfaction that a large main of the purest water in New Jersey runs by the side of the telford road between Elizabeth and Netherwood, the entire length.

But it is not a matter of satisfaction that the hard, smooth, compacted mass of crushed stone which makes the road-bed is torn up, its entire width, to connect these new houses with the water main.

Complaints not a few in number have come to the Journal with reference to this matter, and they are well-founded. It is not at all necessary that the road-bed should be broken, and it should in no instance be allowed. Many days of steam rolling when the roads were built, and years of all kinds of travel since they were completed have compacted the road metal until it is like a solid rock; and when it is broken it cannot be put down again in as good condition. Either a ridge or a hollow will remain, and the road metal which is removed will not compact with the body of the road as it did before it was disturbed.

In Roselle the authorities will not permit telford pavement to be in any way molested. Those wishing to connect their premises with the water mains must either drive their pipes under the road-way, or else dig through far enough below the surface to perfectly protect the pavement from disturbance.

It can easily be seen that unless some such restriction is enforced, the county roads will be torn up every fifty or one hundred feet, and humps and hollows will take the place of the smooth surfaces which have made Union county roads famous throughout this country.

No investment this county ever made has paid so well as these roads; no other single thing has given such an impetus to improvements and caused the building of so many new houses and the investment of so much new wealth. It is the part of wisdom therefore to take all reasonable care of them, and nothing is more reasonable than to prevent their being broken up.

In the city of Elizabeth are abundant evidences of the unwisdom of allowing pavements to be torn up. Notwithstanding bonds are given that those who tear up the pavements to make connections with sewers and water mains, shall replace them "in as good condition as formerly", they are not so replaced, and in some of the streets a blind man in a carriage can tell from the humps and hummocks where these connections have been made.

In the matter of these county roads, there is no necessity whatever—as proved by Roselle—for tearing up a single foot; and the best way therefore,—concludes the Journal—to prevent damage to them, is to allow no one to tear them up for any cause whatsoever.

PIGS IN A POKE.

Relief Women Sell Surprise Baskets for Their Piano Fund.

A novel "basket sale" was given by the Women's Relief corps, No. 10, auxiliary to Winfield Scott post, 73, G. A. R., Thursday evening in their rooms on East Front street.

For some time past the ladies have been preparing baskets, which were neatly trimmed in various ways, as with ribbons. After decorating them, they filled them with all sorts of articles, such as dust pans, small brooms, needles, thread, fancy work, potatoes, cabbage, peas, dolls, fruit and flowers, and articles useful in the nursery.

Comrade Mallon was the auctioneer, a good one. The audience was large and the bidding was very enthusiastic, several at different times, bidding in opposition on the baskets. Prices ranged from 10 cents to $1.50, and those purchasing did not lose much in their bargains, as they received articles which can be used handily about the house.

One interesting feature was the bidding on a peach basket which was very prettily decorated. On the top was a lovely bouquet of flowers. It was bought for $1.50, and when he opened it the purchaser found some peas, two heads of cabbage, and a quantity of potatoes. Another interesting case was of a new bridegroom buying a basket which contained a nursery outfit. So all through the sale there were continual surprises for all, and some exceedingly laughable.

After the sale the ladies served ice cream, cake and other refreshments. They will probably realize about $20 profit.

It was a unique affair throughout, and decidedly successful, for the trouble in getting it up was small in comparison to what was made. However, the ladies have put considerable work and time in their undertaking, and they deserve the success which has come to them, and which will still further help to pay off the remaining debt on their recently purchased piano.

They hope to give another entertainment soon.

THE RICHMOND STREET GANG.

They're a Bad Lot, and Need Considerable Police Attention.

Four offenders were in the city court on Friday. They were Thomas Gorman, James Motley, Robert Schwak and a man named Pierson. This quartette belongs to what is known as the Richmond street gang. A complaint was made against them by Brook Carson and they were arrested yesterday. Carson said he was going over the Green brook bridge on Richmond street, Tuesday night and that James Motley threw stones at him. He warned him to stop but Motley continued to throw stones and asked Carson if he wanted to fight. Carson's blood was up and he proceed to lay out Motley but was interfered with by the other members who held him while Motley struck him repeatedly. Carson got away and made the complaint and judge Coddington fined Motley $10 and the other three $5 a piece this morning.

A Man of Sterling Qualities.

(Westfield Leader.)

W. L. Force, senior proprietor of the Plainfield Press, died at noon Monday, from the effects of a driving accident received June 24. He was 53 years of age, and was a man of sterling qualities. In 1868 he founded the Constitutionalist, and in 1887 the Press. He was postmaster during the first Cleveland administration, and held other local offices.

AT REST FOREVER.

MASONIC HONORS ATTEND THE OBSEQUIES OF THE LAMENTED WILLIAM L. FORCE.

(From The Press of July 13.)

Over a new-made grave in North Plainfield cemetery, the summer breezes sighed last night, and the skies drenched the fresh green sod with weeping. Beneath the turf of this earthen tomb reposes in silent and eternal rest the body of William L. Force.

The respect and esteem which were felt in the hearts of the people for the departed, were eloquently expressed in the large gathering at the funeral services. The City Hotel was turned into a house of mourning. All the rooms of the entire second story were thrown into one, and camp chairs were arranged so that all should hear the words of the divines who were to speak.

Within a darkened room where all might see, was laid the casket. Its cover was of rich black cloth, relieved by massive silver plate and handles. Masonic emblems of silver adorned the head and the foot. The inscription was the simple chronological record:

Died July 10, 1893.
WILLIAM L. FORCE,
Aged 53 years, 6 months, 14 days.

Grief-stricken relatives and sorrowing friends thronged continually about the coffin. They gazed long and tenderly on the dear dead face. Save for the pallor that death alone can give, he seemed to be peacefully sleeping. His arms were folded in easy repose. The hair that more than half a century of Christmas birthday anniversaries had silvered, was brushed back from the forehead as in life. There was no mark of pain or wrinkle of suffering. But the lurking smile of geniality was gone from the lips, and the eyelids shut in those orbs that once had beamed of overflowing generosity.

The lapel of the coat bore the badge of the Exempt Firemen's association, reverently pinned there by Augustus Saltzman of that order. The background was a drapery of black, a heavy curtain arranged in graceful folds. Against this, above the casket, were heaped up floral tributes of rarest beauty. There was a bunch of wild roses, dainty sweet briers, from some unknown friend who kept his identity concealed. A crescent of white and yellow blossoms bore in red immortelles the expressive word "Exempt", an appropriate tribute from the veteran firemen. The Masonic fraternity contributed a large pillow of yellow and white roses, ruffled with the ever-graceful smilax. On it, the square and compass design representing the Blue Lodge, was pictured in blue immortelles; the cross and crown of the Templars were in yellow, at the center; on the other side was the triangle of Royal Arch Masons, in red. The bereaved widow's affection was expressed in another pillow of white roses and pinks and lilies, with the loving word "Husband" in purple immortelles. Gen. Wm. H. Sterling sent a beautiful maltese cross. From J. S. Anthony came two elegant funeral palms, bound together with sprays of smilax. Mr. and Mrs J. P. Laire contributed a box of white roses and sweet peas. Mrs. Adelia H. West gave a sickle, all in white. Nephews and nieces united in one common sympathy in a white wreath bearing the words "Uncle Will" in purple immortelles. Mr. and Mrs. J. A. F. Simpson of Fanwood sent a cross. Annie Clayton of Princeton had tastefully grouped together maiden-hair ferns, brakes, roses and pinks. A bunch of water lilies exhaled their perfume. They were from VanOver Cottage, Lake Hopatcong, where, amid the glories of Nature he loved so well, the deceased was wont to spend his summers. From the PRESS employes was a mammoth wreath of white sweet-pea blossoms, English violets and white and spotted Japanese lilies. It was all a most touching picture.

The services in the hotel were simple and impressive. The venerable clergyman, the Rev. Dr. D. J. Yerkes, arose and bowed his head, and brought the people's hearts before the Lord, in prayer. Then he read passages of Scripture appropriate to the sad occasion. Beginning with the selection from Romans, "Wherefore, as by one man sin entered into the world, and death by sin", he went on through the parable of the wise and foolish virgins and the coming of the Bridegroom, to those comforting selections, "Blessed are they who die in the Lord" and "Come ye blessed of my Father". He drew from the precious fountain of Revelations the blessed assurance that there shall be no more death There, for the former things have passed away; and all joined in dependence on the Saviour's staff as he read of the Psalmist walking through the dark valley. He showed how God is our refuge and our strength, and told how to live was Christ, to die was gain. The resurrection hope was offered by the fifteenth chapter of I Corinthians, "forasmuch as ye know that your labor is not in vain in the Lord", and counsel was given to "watch and pray", and "be ye also ready".

In a brief address and sermon Dr. Yerkes dwelt on the great and eloquent lesson to be interpreted by the preacher from the presence of death. The departed had held a place in a great many minds and hearts. He had been a public journalist, and through the peculiar influence of journalism had come into personal contact and association with nearly the entire community. He had been a public officer. His face was familiar to all. And now his friends were gathered to look upon him for the last time. He had gone away from them. It was in such solemn events as this that God spake to men, and showed how truly life was but a brief pilgrimage, of few days, and full of trouble.

The days come and go—said Dr. Yerkes—and are as milestones on the journey through life. Time never stays. Pleasant things touch our hearts, and pleasant places we enjoy, but they are only temporary, for soon we leave them all behind. Joshua might retard the sun, the shadow might go back on the dial of Hezekiah, and the Jordan might roll back its waters, but our lives stayed not in their course, and the end was soon at hand.

I am thinking to-day—continued the preacher—of the frailty of man, who withereth like the grass of the field, or is cut down like the flower or the corn tops. We look on the leaves of the trees, and they are green and full of life. But after awhile they fall, and the winter winds whistle through the lifeless branches. Just as the grass withers and the leaf fades, so is man.

The thought of man's frailty never comes so sensibly home to the human heart as when looking on the face of the dead, and touching the cold and lifeless form. From the clay the life had departed; the eye no longer sparkled; for the man had gone to his long home, and the mourners went about the streets.

I am thinking to-day—he added—of the inevitableness of this event; it comes so surely. All forms of life must die. All that throbs with blood is subject to dissolution and decay. Blood, the source of life, is itself the very seat of death. Even though accident and disease be escaped, the infirmity of old age is sure to smite.

I am thinking to-day of the suddenness and unexpectedness of death. Who would have thought a few weeks ago that our friend so soon would go? Little did he dream, little did we think, of it. Yet to-day he is gone from the ranks of the living. We know not what a day may bring forth, and there is but a step between us and death. How good a thing it is to be prepared for the great and stupendous change!

Human life is but the scaffolding around an immortal being. This life is not worth the living—save for the life to come. Brief as it is, it is of infinite value in the work of preparing ourselves for eternity, for the kingdom of God and his righteousness.

In conclusion, Dr. Yerkes spoke of the great sorrow of this bereavement to the mother, wife, sister, brothers, and others; and directed them to the God of the afflicted, who would bestow compassion and comfort on their troubled hearts according to his tender and infinite mercies. He earnestly commended them to the keeping of the Almighty, the Husband of the widow, and the Friend of all who put their trust in His love.

Tender and touching was the prayer then breathed by the Rev. Cornelius Schenck. He asked for God's richest blessings on all assembled, and especially petitioned for most gracious compassion on her who had been the partner of the departed in all his joys and sorrows, his pains and afflictions. He prayed that she might be encircled by the everlasting arms of His mercy, and urged that all might live up to the lesson that life was fleeting and death was sure.

With tears dimming their vision, and sorrow choking their throats, all filed past the casket where lay the dead, and took a farewell look at the reposeful features. Strong men were bowed with grief, and old comrades said "Ah, but he's in his glories!"

The casket and the flowers were borne to the hearse, and a large funeral procession formed and went to the cemetery. Park avenue was black with people; during the services in the hotel a large crowd had stood outside unable to find room within the hearing of the clergymen.

Among those gathered at the obsequies were prominent citizens and men from every walk of life. Senator W. J. Keys, who had sent a kind letter of sympathy, was there. James E. Martine, Major J. H. Ackerman of New Providence, and Freeholder Bradford Jones, of the same place, were also present. Ex-Gov. Green sent a letter of sympathy. Editor and Assemblyman Thomas Lane of Summit telegraphed condolences. Ex-county clerk Henry R. Cannon sent a message of sorrow and said that illness detained him.

At the cemetery, the Exempt Firemen's association, headed by chief T. O. Doane, and Jerusalem lodge, headed by Worshipful Master G. H. Rugg, formed a circle about the grave. The Worshipful Master stationed himself at the head of the grave, and the chief mourners at the foot. Pallbearers Wm. A. Coddington, William Sebring, Henry Woodland, John Chandler, John E. Beerbower and and E. P. Thorn (all of Trinity Commandery, Knights Templar) lowered the body to its final resting place. Mr. Rugg conducted the beautiful Masonic service, and chaplain Daniel L. Gulick made a prayer. All joined in the Masonic hymn for the dead, and after the Worshipful Master had placed a lambskin apron on the casket all followed him in depositing emblematic sprigs of evergreen in the grave. They gave the grand honors, indicating how they cherished in their hearts the memory of the departed, committed his body to the dust, and his spirit unto God who gave it. The Worshipful Master committed "dust to dust", and the Rev. Dr. Yerkes pronounced the benediction. The large concourse of people turned sadly away.

To-day the grave is a beauty-spot in the city of the dead. The floral tributes of the living adorn the mound, and the song-birds sweetly sing in the neighboring branches.

BASE-BALL BABBLE.

Good Game at Middletown, and a Greater Coming To-Morrow.

Manager Keller's Plainfield base-ball team went to Middletown Thursday and lost to the Asylum nine in a beautiful game. The diamond is of grass, but, in spite of not being used to it, the Crescents put up an errorless game—one of the greatest fielding exhibitions ever seen. The new man whom manager Keller was trying in the box gave the Asylum nine their lead, they hitting hard and getting bases on balls. Then little Keenan was put in, and with his accustomed coolness held the batsmen down to three hits. Keenan also made a great stop of a hot line hit. Speden's home-run hit was the longest ever batted on the diamond. Leo Smith by his cute head work made a fine double play. The score:

Asylum.........0 0 0 5 2 0 1 2 0—10
Crescents.........0 0 0 2 0 3 0 1 1—7

You'll miss the game of the season if you stay away from the Crescent grounds to-morrow. The batting order:

CRESCENTS.	WESTFIELD.
Smith, ss.,	Howe, 2b.,
Martin, 2b.,	Dowd, c.,
Turner, p.,	McLaughlin, lf.,
Murphy, cf.,	Mullen, ss.,
McIndoe, lf.,	Francis, p.,
Speden, rf.,	Towse, rf.,
Keenan, 3b.,	Relyea, 1b.,
Jones, 1b.,	Townley, cf.,
Fritz, c.,	Roberts, 3b.

AT NEW BRUNSWICK YESTERDAY.

New Brunswick......0 2 0 2 0 0 0 0 0—4
Westfield.........0 0 1 0 0 0 0 0 0—1

The Second Party to Chicago.

The second Honeyman party from Plainfield to the World's Exposition report the same perfect weather and the same delightful accommodations at the hotel as the first party enjoyed. Everyone is doing as he pleases and all are seeing "the most wonderful creation of man", as Charles Dudley Warner describes the Fair. The party speaks in unmeasured terms both of the arrangements made and the sights to be seen. Letters from the members indicate that they will regret to leave next Monday. The next tour will leave Plainfield August 12. Ladies can go on these tours with perfect comfort and without companions.

Sincere Sympathy.

(Dunellen Weekly Call.)

We see by the Press that W. L. Force has departed this life. The editors of the CALL extends to the bereaved circle in the home and also to the members of the editorial staff their sympathy.

They're All Engaged.

(Westfield Leader.)

The Plainfield Press announces that its office cat has presented the staff with five kittens. There's news for those papers wanting office cats.

The Constitutionalist,
A DEMOCRATIC WEEKLY.

W. L. FORCE & A. L. FORCE, Editors and Proprietors.

AT PLAINFIELD, NEW JERSEY.

TERMS—TWO DOLLARS A YEAR.

THE BOARD OF TRADE.

That Excellent New Organization Progressing Finely.

A meeting of the board of trade took place in the board's rooms in the old Crescent League building Thursday. It was the first real meeting of the association as the act of incorporation was not filed until Tuesday.

After waiting the customary time in the deliberations of this body the meeting was called to order at 8:40 by president Rockfellow. The reading of the minutes of the last meeting was dispensed with as the secretary did not have them in a shape to read. Postmaster Pope, who was chairman of the last meeting owing to the absence of president Rockfellow, told those present last night what business had been transacted.

The constitution and by-laws were read as they had been revised to meet the requirements of the law of incorporation.

The chief change was in the clause providing for a board of directors. This formerly called for 9 members but there must be at least 10 by law and as an odd number is desirable it was decided to have 11. This in turn made it necessary to change the number in the quorum of the board of directors and it was raised at last night's meeting from 5 to 6.

The counsel reported that the articles of incorporation had been duly filed, returned and sent to the Secretary of State. The members present proceeded to sign the constitution. A list of the charter members has already been given in THE PRESS. The meeting then adjourned.

A meeting of the board of directors was held immediately after the adjournment of the meeting of the Board of Trade to discuss the old claims against the Crescent League and put the association on a good footing with the creditors of that organization.

Stole a Boat for His Girl.

(New Market Correspondence Dunellen Call.)

On the night of the Fourth, a young man and his girl from Plainfield, who had come to witness the pyrotechnical exhibition, thinking it would be pleasant and more secluded upon the water, engaged one of Coriell's boats, and after rowing about for some time the young man proposed to go ashore and have some cream, to which the lady readily assented. After refreshments they returned to the shore, but the boat had disappeared, and seeing another one close at hand they broke it loose and rowed away. Upon returning they found the owner very mad, who demanded two dollars as compensation for his boat. The young fellow pulled a one dollar bill from his pocket and said that was all the money he had, but gave his name and address and promised to send the balance by mail. In due time a letter was received begging to be let off, as he had paid pretty well for boating. He was let off. This practice of taking boats that belong to others is annoying, and it is to be regretted that this young man could not find the party who took his.

Long in the Harness.

(From The Rahway Democrat.)

The death of editor Wm. L. Force, of Plainfield, referred to in another place, has brought to our attention a noteworthy fact in connection with the DEMOCRAT, which is, that it is the only newspaper establishment in the State in which there has been no change of management since the spring of 1865, when the present editor and proprietor took charge, as we find by looking over the annual report of the State association, the Constitutionalist, of which Mr. Force was one of the proprietors, being next in that respect, dating from 1868. And there are only four instances in the State where the publishers in charge in 1865 are still connected with the establishment, as follows: Woodbury Constitution, Augustus S. Barber, 1834, took his son as assistant in 1871; Monmouth Democrat, James S. Yard, 1854, A. C. Hart, assistant editor, 1868, Yard & Son, editors and proprietors, 1890; Morris Jerseyman, A. A. Vance, 1852, Vance & Stiles, 1869; Salem Sunbeam, Robert Gwynne, 1849, son as assistant, 1879.

In this connection it is suggested to our mind that after these many years of continuous toiling we are also prepared for a change, and that, a retirement from even a flourishing business to take a desired rest, and thus "break the record" above referred, to, for the benefit of some one else, for a fair remuneration for a first-class printing plant, and for energy expended in establishing one of the most prosperous newspapers in the country, with still better future prospects. Who will be our lucky successor?

Plainfield Will Send a Contingent.

The Y. M. C. A. camp at Wanamassa will be re-opened July 22. Fitted up with the idea of giving young men a place affording the most possible facility for enjoyment and recuperation, it has been successful to a remarkable degree. Situated on the seashore near Asbury Park, it covers fifteen acres, and contains a six-acre athletic field, with gymnasium, bowling alleys and the finest quarter-mile bicycle track in the State, and this in addition to excellent bathing, boating and fishing. A rain-proof, wood-floored tent, with board, lodging, the use of the gymnasium and athletic field, costs association members only $7 a week, and non-association members only $8; transients are charged $1.50 a day. Boat hire is 25 cents per hour. For further information apply at the Y. M. C. A. rooms.

He'll Get Success by Deserving It.

The Bound Brook Democrat says: "John D. Kirch, formerly of Warren township, bought property in North Plainfield and moved there a short time ago. He is foreman over a gang of carpenters for builders Kain & Brokaw. John is a good mechanic, and we wish him success in his new position."

Honors From the Press Club.

The Union County Press club held a special meeting Wednesday afternoon, and a committee was appointed to prepare resolutions on the death of William L. Force, late of the Plainfield Daily Press. The president of the club was appointed to be its representative at the funeral services.

Had Many Friends Everywhere.

(Bound Brook Chronicle.)

William L. Force, of Plainfield, who died Monday, was 53 years of age and was one of the Force Brothers, who published the Constitutionalist and Daily Press. He was postmaster during Cleveland's first term. His brother, James H. Force, is proprietor of the Mansion House, in Bound Brook. "Billy" Force, as he was familiarly called, had many friends here, who sincerely mourn his loss. He leaves a widow, but no children. The funeral, yesterday, was largely attended.

—The Bethel camp will be in session next Sunday, July 23, in Vail's grove on West Fourth street.

The Constitutionalist.

W. L. FORCE, | A. L. FORCE
Editors and Proprietors.

RESPONSIBILITY.

The two existing laws known as the Sherman Silver Purchase and the McKinley Tariff are the great stumbling blocks in the way of public prosperity.

They bear the names of Sherman and McKinley because those gentlemen were the committee chairmen who reported the measures, but the responsibility of their enactment rests directly upon the shoulders of a Republican Congress and a Republican President.

Neither of those laws originated in expediency and neither would have passed had practical business intelligence and the wants of the country dominated partisan subterfuge.

They have both proved mischievous in effect, one disrupting financial affairs by piling up in the treasury millions of unavailable and depreciated silver bullion and lowering the essential stock of gold, and the other by fostering unjust favoritism, impracticable methods, and reckless speculative combinations, disorganizing legitimate trade, commerce and investments.

One should be unconditionally repealed and the other radically reformed.

Congress can alone do that.

When President Cleveland retired from office, March 4, 1889, he left a gold surplus of about one hundred million dollars.

On assuming executive duties for the second time, March 4, 1893, he was not only confronted with the loss of all that surplus, but an actual deficiency, and furthermore, encumbered with the provisions of absurd laws passed in the interim.

If Congress will only do its whole duty with promptitude, the people can rely upon President Cleveland doing his, and the time will soon come when confidence will be restored and the wheels of finance and business be again set in prosperous motion.

JUST WHAT THE CHIEF WANTS.

National Fire Underwriters Suggest Improvements That He Long Has Advocated.

Improvements in Plainfield's fire department system which chief engineer T. O. Doane has for months been urging, are at last to be brought about, since the national board of fire underwriters has taken a hand in suggesting pointedly that they should be accomplished.

The president of the board has written to Mayor Gilbert a letter which was read to the common council last evening. In it he states that an inspector visited Plainfield recently to examine the fire department outfit and the water supply. As a result of the inspector's report, the board suggests:

1. That a chemical engine be purchased and put in service. It is especially needed in sections where water mains and hydrants are lacking, and by its use a considerable per cent. of destruction can be prevented.

2. That the number of mains in service be increased, and that 2,000 feet more of hose be purchased.

3. That the fire-alarm system be arranged in two circuits.

4. That water be extended into the southwest part of the city as soon as possible.

The consummation of these improvements—suggested the board—would tend to help Plainfield's insurance rates and record. A copy of the communication had been sent to the local board of underwriters for cooperation.

The matter was referred to the fire and buildings committee.

Later in the evening the committee was on its own recommendation authorized to divide into four circuits the fire-alarm system, concentrating in the new headquarters building on East Second street, near Watchung avenue, and to put in a switch at Park and North avenues and one at Third and Liberty streets. The object of this is to make it easier to find and remedy breaks in the wires. At present the system is all in one circuit, and a single break throws every box out of service and is hard to locate. The change will not affect the workings of the boxes, which will remain as at present.

The committee recommended new hydrants, and they were ordered put up as follows:

Lee place and South Second street.
Stebbins place and South Second street.
Prescott place and South Second street.
Pond place and South Second street.
Monroe avenue and South Second street.
Manson place and South Second street.
Morris street and South Second street.
Grant avenue and Third street.
East side of Third street, 30 feet northeast of Grant avenue.

All of these, except the last, are to be on the east corners. That at Pond place and South Second street is to be a four-way hydrant; the others are all to be two-way.

The other recommendations of the underwriters are under consideration.

BITTEN BY A PET DOG.

Serious Result of a Boy Going Home to His Mother.

Leon Schwab, twelve years old, of this city, who is temporarily living in Rahway with his mother, was badly bitten last night in the left hip by a pet dog. He was going home with his mother when the dog sprang upon him. Much consternation was created in the community. Dr. Randolph was called in and cauterized the wound. The dog had been chained up for a long time, and broke loose last night and wandered about in the streets.

Ought to Be Remedied Now.

The attention of the street commissioner is respectfully but firmly invited to the disreputable condition of the board walk that forms a portion of the west side of Westervelt avenue, near Orange street. The property along there is all improved, and deserves good sidewalks. The owners should be required to flag and curb the sidewalk, without delay. The present condition of the board walk liable to cause serious injury and result in suit for damages.

What Shall Be Done with Garbage?

The question what to do with garbage perplexes many housewives. Men who will take charge and dispose of kitchen refuse seem few and far between, and some districts are entirely neglected. This is an important matter, and needs speedy legislation on the part of the city fathers. What is needed is a regular system of collecting garbage, and a crematory to render it inoffensive.

Too Much Wheeling on a Hot Day.

Ten-year-old Theodore Smith, of Richmond street, near Front, wheeled with a party of lads to Boynton Beach, yesterday afternoon, and was overcome by the heat. Mr. and Mrs. B. T. Barnes, who were at the beach for the day, cared for young Smith and brought him home in their buggy.

THE YEARS OF A SAINT.

Long Life of T. J. Gillies Held to Be a Special Proof of God's Love.

Funeral services for the late Theodore J. Gillies were held at 3:30 Saturday afternoon, in the Crescent Avenue church. The funeral procession arrived at the church promptly at the hour. The hearse was escorted by about fifty members of the Exempt Firemen's association, of which the deceased was a prominent and honored member. A long train of carriages followed. The pall-bearers were: A. Saltzman, L. E. Barkalew, G. Thorn, Thos. MacDonald, Stephen Ryder and Joseph S. Cotter, all exempt firemen.

The floral tributes that accompanied the casket to the church were a cross in roses and smilax, and an anchor with the word "Exempt" in scarlet immortelles from the Exempt Firemen's Association, a sheaf of wheat, a wreath of sweet peas, and one of pansies.

The Rev. Dr. W. R. Richards conducted the services, and read first from the Epistle of Peter. The choir then sang "Come Sleep in Jesus", and Mr. Richards spoke at length of the qualities of the deceased and drew a lesson from his life. He said in brief:

"The Old Testament teaches us to look on the long life of a good man as a special proof of God's love. In that book the valued men, the saints, lived through sickness and accident, to a good old age, and it was through God's special care and love that they did so. The New Testament, however, shows us that death is not a manifestation of God's displeasure. The very foundation of the New Testament shows us that it cannot be so, for did not God take away life from His best beloved Son when He was but 30 years old? So if we look on a long life as a sign of God's pleasure we must not think of death as His displeasure. The life of the deceased is a good example of a useful and good man living to a good old age. He had lived more than the alloted time, over 3 score and 10.

But if we follow out our ideas we can see a reason for this. It is explained by his kindliness, his public spirit, and his general usefulness to the community. But if all we had to think of was what he has been this would indeed be a mournful occasion. The things that have been are only a shadow of the Heavenly life, of God's favor that shall continue forever.

"I was speaking only a few days ago to the deceased"—the pastor continued—"and had been reading to him from the Epistle of Peter that I have read you today, and he agreed most thoroughly that the trial of faith was the most precious experience he ever had." As an example of faith Mr. Richards told how the dead man was unwilling to bid his friends good-bye, saying that it was only for a little while.

The choir rendered "Abide With Me" in a very touching and solemn manner, and Mr. Richards offered a prayer. The funeral party waited until the friends of the deceased had taken a last look at the body, and then went directly to the North Plainfield cemetery, where the interment took place in the family plot. The deceased leaves a widow and a large family of children.

Theodore Jackson Gillies was born in Philadelphia March 15, 1815. While in Philadelphia he belonged to Reliance Engine company, No. 17. He went to New York in the fall of 1839, and moved to Williamsburg in 1849, and there joined Zephyr Hose company, No. 4, which was called the Kid Glove company. In 1853 he began the manufacture of ornamental iron spring furniture and sleighs, on which he had patents. He also invented the metallic sarcophagus coffin and preserving box. He manufactured an ornamental iron spring bedstead for the New York Crystal Palace. It was to be delivered the day before the palace was burned down, but was not delivered, and therefore was saved from destruction. It is still in use at his former place of residence. In the fall of 1858 he moved to Passaic Valley, N. J., after which he came to Plainfield in 1861, when he engaged in the real estate and auction business, and had resided here ever since. He was one of the original 15 members of Gazelle Engine No. 1 to organize No. 2 company, which was started in Guillermo Thorn's studio on Front street. He was first vice-president of the Exempt Firemen's association; was offered the presidency, but declined, and held the position of vice-president continuously; was chief of police, overseer of the poor, and elected justice of the peace. He leaves a wife, 10 children, 31 grandchildren and 4 great-grandchildren. He was married twice—the first wife being Miss Eliza S. Wilson, by whom he had nine children, and the second wife, Miss Mary B. Buchanan, by whom he had five children. Two sisters survive him—Mrs. Charles McGlathery and Miss Emily Gillies, both of Philadelphia. The children by the first wife living are: Janet W. DeLong, Mary C. Hale, John J. Gillies, Agnes M. Palmer, Robt. C. Gillies, Cornelia E. Coffin, James W. Gillies. By the second, of whom are living, Emily Ryder, Theodore J. Gillies, jr., and Mabel Gillies.

THE BLIND GIRL'S FUNERAL.

Her Dying Words Were a Benediction.

The funeral of Miss Hattie L. Oblinger took place Tuesday afternoon in the Third Street mission. A large number of friends of the deceased were present, to pay a last tribute to one whom they had loved. The Rev. Dr. D. J. Yerkes gave an interesting and impressive discourse on the life of the departed. Besides being blind for several years, her life had been full of other trials and tribulations. Yet through it all she had maintained a high standard in Christian living, and any one meeting her would say she was the happiest of persons, for she was continually praising God for His goodness. An impressive incident in her closing days occurred Saturday evening. She was feeling very thankful to her Heavenly Father, when her mother suggested that they offer prayer; at the conclusion she pronounced very distinctly, "In the name of the Father, Son and Holy Ghost, Amen!" These were her last words, and soon afterwards she passed away very quietly, with her trust firm in God.

A choir composed of Miss Annie Angerbauer, Miss Kyle, Miss Mary Thorn, Mrs. Grant, L. W. Randolph, and James Flack, sang several appropriate hymns. Miss Randolph, a sister of L. W. Randolph, assisted at the piano.

The remains were interred in the Baptist cemetery on Plainfield avenue.

Of Marked Ability and a Leader.

[Madison Eagle.]

We deeply regret to learn of the death of Bro. W. L. Force, the senior editor of the Plainfield Constitutionalist. He was a man of marked ability, and a citizen whose loss will be deeply felt. He was in the prime of life and was the acknowledged leader of the Democratic forces in Plainfield. In 1886 he was appointed postmaster, and filled his four years of service with ability and credit to himself.

"Press" Agitation Always Wins.

The reference of THE PRESS to the need of garbage collectors in the borough has secured one man to whom a district has been assigned, and the authorities are looking for others.

One of my children had a very bad discharge from her nose. Two physicians prescribed, but without benefit. We tried Ely's Cream Balm, and much to our surprise, there was a marked improvement. We continued using the Balm and in a short time the discharge was cured.—O. A. Cary, Corning, N. Y.

The children's health must not be neglected. Cold in the head causes catarrh. Ely's Cream Balm cures at once. It is perfectly safe and is easily applied into the nostrils. The worst cases yielding to it. Balm 50c.

BURNHAM HELD GUILTY

Verdict of Grand Jury in the World's Fair Disaster.

ACCUSED OF CRIMINAL NEGLIGENCE.

Fire Marshal Murphy and the President and Secretary of the Hercules Iron Company Also Held Responsible—What Director of Works Burnham Says.

CHICAGO, July 19.—After its prolonged investigation the coroner's jury investigating the World's Fair cold-storage calamity reached a verdict last evening. The jury held to the grand jury the following persons:

D. H. Burnham, Director of Works, the World's Fair.

Fire Marshal Edward Murphy, of the World's Fair fire department.

J. B. Skinner, president of the Hercules Iron company.

Charles A. McDonald, secretary and treasurer of the Hercules Iron company.

The jury reached its conclusion much more quickly than the time they were out would indicate, as there were 16 deaths, the causes of which they were called to consider, and each represented a separate case.

The verdict was the same in all the cases and read as follows:

"We, the jury, find that the deceased came to their deaths from injuries and burns received at a fire of the cold storage building at the World's Fair grounds on July 10, 1893; and we, the jury, find from the evidence presented that Charles A. McDonald, John B. Skinner, D. H. Burnham and Edward W. Murphy, be held to the grand jury for criminal negligence, and there held until discharged by the course of law."

Director of Works Burnham said this morning:

"This is a great surprise to me. I was never officially notified of the unsafe condition of the cold storage tower and Engineer Shanklin never reported the tower as dangerous."

NEGROES NOT WANTED.

They Are Requested Not to Occupy Seats at Asbury Park.

ASBURY PARK, N. J., July 19.—Founder James Bradley of Asbury Park has at last set his foot down upon the colored people who patronize his board walks and ocean pavilions to the exclusion of the city people who patronize Asbury Park hotels and cottages.

Yesterday Mr. Bradley, who still owns the entire beach front, together with the many pavilions and bath houses, caused to be posted the following sign:

"NOTICE—Colored people are requested not to occupy this pavilion by order of James A. Bradley."

Complaints from summer patrons of Asbury Park, upon whom the hotels and cottages depend for their business, began pouring in upon Mr. Bradley thick and fast this week. He did not want to raise a race war by ordering his police to exclude all of the negroes from the beach, so he instructed his officers to request the colored people not to occupy the choice seats upon the beaches and pavilions.

Mr. Bradley says that he fears no trouble from the colored people, but if they still persist upon pushing themselves where they are not wanted he will have them arrested.

COLUMBIAN CLUB MATCHES.

Dixon to Meet Solly Smith and Griffin to Fight Johnson.

CHICAGO, July 19.—The Columbian Athletic Club signed George Dixon, champion of the world in his class, and Solly Smith to fight for the featherweight championship of the world. The contest will be for a purse of $6,000 and a possibility of a side bet of $5,000 each.

Johnny Griffin and George Johnson, the champion 120-pound pugilist of England are also matched for a purse of $5,000 and a side bet of $2,000.

The Smith-Dixon fight will be in September and the Griffin-Johnson affair one month later.

Chancellor von Caprivi Thanked.

BERLIN, July 19.—The Reichsanzeiger publishes a Cabinet order expressing the most sincere thanks of the Emperor and his allies to Chancellor von Caprivi for his services in securing the adoption by the Reichstag of the Army bill. The order also expresses the hope that the Chancellor's services will long be preserved to the Emperor and the Fatherland.

To Provide for the Army Bill Outlay.

BERLIN, July 19.—Dr. Miquel, Minister of Finance of Prussia, and the Finance Ministers of all the other German States will hold a conference at Frankfort-on-the-Main on Aug. 6, with the object of discussing the means to be adopted to cover the outlay that will be incurred through the carrying into effect of the provisions of the Army bill.

Recognized as an Old Offender.

BOSTON, July 19.—Walter Borsch, who was arrested for stealing a bundle from a wagon, and who gave an assumed name, has been recognized by the officers as a man who had served at least half a dozen sentences for larceny, mostly from express teams. If convicted on this charge he will receive a 25 years sentence under the habitual criminal act.

Drowned in the Passaic.

BELLEVILLE, N. J., July 19.—Shortly after 1 o'clock yesterday Charles Smith, a carpenter, 19 years of age, was drowned while bathing in the Passaic River, near the Eastwood Manufacturing company's dock. His body has not been recovered. Smith lived with his parents at Woodbell and worked for Peter Atkins at this place.

Fatal Accident on the W. N. Y & P.

BUFFALO, July 19.—An excursion train coming west on the Western New York & Pennsylvania railroad was wrecked at East Aurora last evening, and one passenger fatally and 15 seriously injured.

The Nabob of Rampur at Niagara.

NIAGARA FALLS, N. Y., July 19.—The Nabob of Rampur and his staff arrived at the Clifton House last night and will spend a few days here.

NEWS OF THE DAY.

Dr. Mayer, the alleged poisoner, will be arraigned in New York to-morrow.

The gold reserve took another downward tumble yesterday from $98,039,480, its amount Monday, to $97,672,852.

The Interior Department announces the death in Oklahoma of William M. Stone, ex-Commissioner of the General Land Office.

TWELVE MEN DROWNED.

Another Lot of Victims of Mayor Saunders's "Iron Gates".

The Iron Gates, in the River Danube, where many lives have been lost, and which mayor W. L. Saunders went to Europe to engineer, claimed twelve more victims yesterday.

For some time past operations have been carried on by means of Mr. Saunders's company's machinery, with the object of taking out of the river the rocks that have given the name of Iron Gates to this part of the river. Twelve workingmen who were in a small boat were caught in the current, which runs with great velocity at this point, and were dashed against a dredger that was moored in the stream.

The boat was smashed and the men were carried down stream by the rushing water before any assistance could reach them.

Oh, What a Cough!

Will you heed the warning. The signal perhaps of the sure approach of that more terrible disease, Consumption. Ask yourselves if you can afford for the sake of saving 50c., to run the risk and do nothing for it. We know from experience that Shiloh's Cure will cure your cough. It never fails. This explains why more than a Million Bottles were sold the past year. It relieves croup and whooping cough at once. Mothers, do not be without it. For lame back, side or chest, use Shiloh's Porous Plaster. Sold by A. D. Mellinson, 66 North Ave. opposite railroad station. 5-16-y is the result of twenty-six years' study and treatment of the disease. One bottle convinces the most skeptical. It is always ready for use, needing neither douche nor atomizer. It restores the hearing, cures the hawking cough and expectorating, removes the headache and nose bleeding, increases the appetite, produces sound sleep, invigorates the whole system and increases the vitality. Prepared only by W. B. Jones, M. D., No. [illegible] South Eighth street, Philadelphia. For sale by L. W. Randolph, 21 West Front street. Price $1.

The American Catarrh Cure

HILL'S

REMEMBER [illegible]

Double Chloride of Gold Tablets

DRUNKENNESS and MORPHINE HABIT [illegible]

TOBACCO HABIT EASILY CURED.

A FEW Testimonials from persons who have been cured by the use of Hill's Tablets.

[illegible]

THE OHIO CHEMICAL CO., 51, 53 & 55 Opera Block, LIMA, OHIO.

PARTICULARS FREE.

RESPONSIBLE AGENTS WANTED.

THE OHIO CHEMICAL CO., 51, 53 and 55 Opera Block, LIMA, OHIO.

(In writing please mention this paper.)

A BULLET IN HIS BREAST.

Young Johnny Martin Seriously Injured by His Own Carelessness.

John Martin, whose father works for Adam Fritz on Fritz's farm, and who himself was employed at Terry's place in Evona, accidently shot himself with a revolver Wednesday afternoon. He was toying with the weapon, when it discharged a ball into his breast, dangerously near the heart. He is in a critical condition.

Caspar Discusses Finances.

Caspar Ebener of the borough says that a lack of confidence is the cause of our financial troubles, and that Congress must repeal the Sherman silver bill when it convenes. This, he says, will permit that body to adopt certain measures that will guarantee the permanent and exchangeable par value of a mixed currency of gold, silver and paper, in volume supply sufficient to serve the business wants of the people, but not to an imprudent and dangerous excess. Have a seegar? Nein; Ich wollen sie stein haben. Gesundheit.

Both Still in the Shoe Line.

Two bootblacks who polished about town two years ago (one an Italian named Pete and the other a Greek named George) were in town last week shaking hands with some of their old customers. George the Greek has a second-hand shoe store in Elizabeth, while Petey still pushes the brushes for five cents a shine on board a ferry-boat.

Board of Chosen Freeholders of the County of Union.

OFFICIAL.

ELIZABETH, N. J., July 6, 1893.

Regular meeting of the Board of Chosen Freeholders of Union County, held on Thursday, July 6, 1893.

Present—Director Sauer and Freeholders Donahue, Ehrlich, Hubbard, Howard, Halliday, Hunt, Kyte, Moore, Roll, Swain, Scudder, Trabon, Vanderbeek, Winans, Woodruff.

Absent—Freeholder Badgely.

The minutes of the last meeting were read and on motion approved.

COMMUNICATIONS.

From Dr. Putnam, Health Inspector of Elizabeth, notifying the board of the foul condition of a creek crossing Morris avenue in Union township, was read and on motion of Freeholder Hubbard received and referred to Freeholder Woodruff of Union township.

COMMITTEE REPORTS.

To the Board of Chosen Freeholders:

Gentlemen—The committee appointed at the last meeting of this board to enquire and report on the necessity of building a sidewalk to the bridge over Rahway river at the foot of Eastman street, in the township of Cranford, met for that purpose, and after fully considering the same, respectfully recommend that the said improvement be granted at a cost not to exceed seven hundred dollars $700.

Signed, J. C. Hunt, M. M. Scudder, John A. Halliday, George Kyte, Christian Ehrlich, Committee.

On motion of Freeholder Roll received, filed and recommendations adopted unanimously.

Report of the committee of the whole:

To the Board of Chosen Freeholders of the County of Union:

Gentlemen—Your committee of the whole having under consideration the drafts of proposals, agreements and specifications prepared by the county engineer for the building and improvement of the following named roads, which have been adopted by this board as county roads, viz: Newark avenue, Elizabeth, Springfield avenue, Springfield, Morris avenue, Summit, and Edgar road, Linden, would respectfully report that we have carefully examined the same, and found them satisfactory to your committee, and would recommend the approval of the same.

Signed, J. F. Hubbard, Chairman.

On motion of Freeholder Roll received and filed.

RESOLUTIONS.

By Freeholder Vanderbeek:

Resolved, That the thanks of this board be extended to the Hon. Wm. M. Oliver, county collector, for the presentation of a bound copy of the laws to each member of this board.

On motion of Freeholder Howard adopted unanimously.

By Freeholder Winans:

Resolved, That a committee of three be appointed to examine a bridge on Rahway avenue near Wood avenue, in Linden township, to look into the advisability of enlarging the same.

On motion of Freeholder Vanderbeek adopted.

The Director appointed Freeholders Winans, Woodruff and Howard as the committee.

By Freeholder Roll:

Resolved, That the drafts made by the county engineer of proposals, agreements and specifications for the improvement of the following named county roads, viz: Newark avenue, Elizabeth, Springfield avenue, Springfield, Morris avenue, Summit, and Edgar road, Linden, be approved as recommended by the committee of the whole.

On motion of Freeholder Moore adopted.

Freeholder Moore moved that one hundred copies of each of the proposals and specifications be printed, which was carried.

Freeholder Moore moved that when the Board adjourned it be to Thursday, July 20, 1893, at 2:30 p. m., which was carried.

The following bills, audited and approved, were read and on motion ordered paid:

Courts—[illegible]

County Roads—[illegible]

Bridges—[illegible]

Public Buildings—[illegible]

Jail—[illegible]

Publication—F W Runyon [illegible]; W L Force & Bro 100; [illegible]

Members' Pay—[illegible]

Incidentals—[illegible]

Salary—[illegible]

Stationery—[illegible]

Freeholder Swain moved to adjourn, which was carried.

The director declared the board adjourned to Thursday, July 20, 1893, at 2:30 p. m.

ALFRED B. COOK, Clerk.

PAPIAC.

(Boynton Beach,)

OPEN SATURDAY,

June 17.

6 15-tf-p c

Mullins & Co.

218 and 220 Market Street,

NEWARK, N. J.

The Leading Furniture and Carpet House in the State.

OUR PRICES ARE THE LOWEST.

WHY?

We have no exorbitant rental expenses, for we own our buildings and everything in them. We buy in the best markets, get the largest discounts and are satisfied with reasonable profits.

Oak Chamber Suit $12.

Our assortment of Furniture, Carpets, Baby Carriages, Refrigerators, Cooking Stoves and almost everything for housekeeping are worth seeing, whether you purchase or not.

CARPETS.

Wilton, Axminster, Moquette, Velvet, Body and Tapestry Brussels and Ingrain Carpets, Linoleum, Oilcloth, Cocoa and China Matting, in latest designs and choicest colorings.

Miscellaneous.

Baby Carriages, Stoves, Ranges, Cooking Utensils, Window Shades, Pictures, Clocks, Chenille and Lace Curtains at

The Best Terms of Any House in the State

BRANCH STORES
78 to 84 Myrtle ave., Brooklyn, N. Y.
121 to 125 Newark ave., Jersey City.
213 Main st., Paterson, N. J.

3 30 3m

We Have Now In Stock

The largest and best assortment of

$12 BUSINESS SUITS

that we have ever manufactured. They are the latest styles of Plain and Fancy Cheviots, Cassimere Suitings, Black Thibets, etc., and the most of these styles have never been sold before for less than $15 per suit. Our

$12 BLUE SERGE SUITS

Are made from Indigo Blue Serges, color guaranteed and we recommend these as the most comfortable, serviceable and stylish suits for summer wear

Kilpatrick & Betts,

745 and 747 Broad Street,

Newark.

Near Academy street.

E. C. Morris Safe Co

Incorporated. Capital $250,000.
Successors to E. C. Morris & Co.

64 Sudbury St., Boston, Mass.

FIRE AND BURGLAR-PROOF SAFES.

Bank Safes, Bank Vaults, Bank Vault Doors and Deposit Work of all kinds.

The Best Safe in the World. 150,000 in use. Always preserve their contents.

Champion Record in all the Great Fires.

One of the largest and best equipped factories in the country has just been erected near Boston, fitted with the latest and most improved tools, which render facilities for manufacturing the best work at the lowest prices, unequalled by any other concern in the country.

Our aim is to give the best construction and most improvements for the least amount of money. Estimates and specifications furnished upon application. AGENTS WANTED. 7-2-6

DO YOU COUGH DON'T DELAY TAKE KEMP'S BALSAM THE BEST COUGH CURE

It cures Colds, Coughs, Sore Throat, Croup, Influenza, Whooping Cough, Bronchitis and Asthma. A certain cure for Consumption in first stages, and a sure relief in advanced stages. Use at once. You will see the excellent effect after taking the first dose. Sold by dealers everywhere. Large bottles 50 cents and $1.00.

IN CHANCERY OF NEW JERSEY.

To George F. Martens and William Allen.

By virtue of an order of the Court of Chancery of New Jersey, made on the day of the date hereof in a cause wherein Caroline F. Harrison is complainant and you and others are defendants, you are required to appear, plead, answer or demur to the bill of said complainant on or before the ninth day of September next, or the said bill will be taken as confessed against you.

The said bill is filed to foreclose a mortgage given by John E. Vanblank to the said Caroline F. Harrison, dated October eighth, Eighteen hundred and ninety, on lands in the city of Plainfield, Union County, New Jersey, and also on lands in the township of North Plainfield, Somerset county, New Jersey, and you George F. Martens are made a defendant because you own said lands or some part thereof, and you, William Allen, are made a defendant because you hold by assignment from said complainant a mortgage on said lands.

OSCAR KEEN,
Solicitor of Complainant, No. 762 Broad street, Newark, New Jersey.
Dated July 6, 1893. 7 13 4

SHERIFF'S SALE.

NEW JERSEY SUPREME COURT, UNION COUNTY—Charles A. Reed, vs. John C. Moore, alias, Fi. fa. de. bo. et. ter. In debt.
Charles A. Reed, Att'y.
Patrick Lynch, Trustee, vs John C. Moore, alias. Fi. fa. de. bo. et. ter. In debt.
Wm. R. Codington, Att'y.
Daniel H. Terry, vs. John C. Moore, alias. Fi. fa. de. bo. et. ter. In debt.
Pl'ff pro se. Att'y.

UNION COUNTY CIRCUIT COURT—Conegre Paul, vs. John C Moore, alias. Fi. fa. de. bo. et. ter. On Contract.
Wm. A. Coddington, Att'y.

UNION COUNTY COMMON PLEAS COURT—Thomas Callahan vs. John C Moore alias. Fi. fa. de. bo. et. ter. On docketed judgment.
Jackson & Codington, Att'y's.
Newton Bymmalley, vs. John C. Moore, alias, Fi. fa. de. bo. et. ter. On docketed judgment.
Wm. R. Codington, Att'y.
Harry Werner, vs. John C. Moore, alias. Fi. fa. de. bo. et. ter. On docketed judgment.
Jackson & Codington, Att'y's.

By virtue of the above stated writs of fieri facias to me directed, I shall expose for sale by public vendue at the court house, in the city of Elizabeth, N. J., on

WEDNESDAY, THE SIXTEENTH DAY OF AUGUST, A. D., 1893

at two o'clock in the afternoon of said day all the right, title and interest of the defendant, John C. Moore, of, in and to all that tract or parcel of land and premises, situated in the city of Plainfield, county of Union and state of New Jersey.

Beginning at a point in the southerly line of Second street, distant easterly one hundred and thirty feet, more or less from the intersection of said line of Second street, with the easterly line of Park avenue which point is also the northwest corner of the lot of Daniel Roberts; thence first westerly along said southerly line of Second street thirty-five feet, more or less, to a point thence southerly in a course parallel with the westerly boundary of said Roberts, eighty-five feet, more or less, to the line of the Hotel property of Condert Brothers; thence easterly along said hotel property thirty-five feet, more or less, to the line of Daniel Roberts; and thence northerly along said line of Daniel Roberts and parallel with the second at set course eighty-five feet, more or less to the place of beginning.

W. H. HICKS, Sheriff.
DLAC Fees $12.60

EXECUTOR'S SETTLEMENT.

Notice is hereby given, that the account of the subscriber, executor and trustee under the will of Frederick P. Chase, deceased, will be audited and stated by the Surrogate, and reported for settlement to the Orphans' Court of the county of Union, on Wednesday, the thirteenth day of September next. CRAIG A. MARSH.
Dated July 1, 1893. 7 6 10

MASTER'S SALE.

By virtue of a decree made by the Court of Chancery of the State of New Jersey bearing date the twenty-fourth day of June, A. D., eighteen hundred and ninety-three, in a certain cause pending in the Court of Chancery of New Jersey wherein James Smith is complainant and Mary J. Bartine et als. are defendants I, John D. Bartine, one of the Special Masters of the Court of Chancery of New Jersey, duly appointed and commissioned to make said sale and all necessary things pertaining thereto, will sell at public auction to the highest bidder on the premises at Murray Hill, in Union County, New Jersey, on Monday, the seventh (7) day of August next, between the hours of twelve and five o'clock, to wit, at two o'clock in the afternoon of said day, all those two tracts or parcels of land and premises hereinafter particularly described, situate, lying and being in the township of New Providence, in the County of Union and State of New Jersey:

The First Tract—Lying south of the Stony Hill Road. Beginning at an iron stake in the middle of the road leading from New Providence to Scotch Plains at a corner of land lately purchased by Charles F. Smith, and running thence along the line of said Charles F Smith south six and a quarter degrees east thirty-seven chains and eighty-seven links more or less to a stake for a corner in line of Ann Bartle; thence along Ann Bartle north eighty-seven and a-half degrees west fourteen chains and thirty-six links to a butternut tree for a corner; thence along the Bartle estate north one and a-half degrees east thirty-two chains and forty-four links to a stake in the middle of said road; thence along the middle of said road (1) north seventy degrees east four chains; thence (2) north sixty degrees east six chains and sixty-two links to the iron pin, the place of beginning. Containing forty-one and ninety-hundredths acres more or less.

The Second Tract—Lying north of the Stony Hill Road. Beginning at a stake in the middle of the road leading from New Providence to Scotch Plains in line of (formerly) Jotham Porter's land; thence running along the line of said Porter's land north one degree east seven chains and fifty links, more or less, to a stone heap for a corner in an old Tier line and line of (formerly) Wilcox; thence along said Tier line and line (formerly) Wilcox south eighty-eight and a quarter degrees east seven chains and sixty-six links, more or less, to line of (formerly) Elias Clark; thence along said Elias Clark's line to a stake in the middle of said road; thence along the middle of said road three courses and distances; (1) south sixty degrees west three chains and forty-eight links more or less; (2) south seventy degrees west four chains; (3) south sixty-five and a half degrees west two chains and forty-seven links to the place of beginning. Containing four acres and seventy-five hundredths acres more or less.

Being the land and premises of which William Smith died, seized; including the estate and interest in dower of the defendants, Christina Smith and Martha Smith, in said premises, together with all and singular, the hereditaments and appurtenances to the said premises belonging or in any wise appertaining.

J. D. BARTINE,
Special Master in Chancery of New Jersey.
GEO. V. VANDERVEER, Sol'r.
Dated June 29, 1893.
CSCHL Fees $14.60 7 6 wk

THE PLAINFIELD

PACKING HOUSE

25 West Front Street,

Would respectfully inform its patrons that in addition to its usual stock of

Fresh, Salt and Smoked Goods.

It has added a full line of

Fresh Beef, Lamb,

Veal, Mutton & Poultry,

Which it is prepared to sell at

Reasonable Prices!

All goods delivered free of charge.

Telephone 141.

C. M. ULRICH.

At Half Prices

N. B.—Notice the first name, AMOS and No. 73, before entering the store.

AMOS H. VANHORN.

LIMITED,

78 MARKET STREET,

GREAT

MIDSUMMER SALE

AT HALF PRICES.

Moquette, per yard only	75c
Velvet carpet, per yard only	75c
Body Brussels carpet per yard only	75c
Tapestry Brussels carpet, per yard only	50c
All-wool ingrain carpet, per yard only	50c
Three ply carpet, per yard only	65c
Parlor suits in plush, 6 pieces, mahogany finished frames, only	$27
Parlor suits, mahogany finished frames, in rug covering, only	$37
Antique oak bedroom suits, reduced from $20 down as low as	$13

Hotels, Summer Resorts and Summer Boarding Houses will always find a large line of goods at my establishment, and at low prices and easy terms.

Fancy Matting, large stock and low prices. Best makes of Refrigerators at the lowest prices.

Telephone 580. Terms to suit purchasers Car fare paid. Goods delivered free of charge to all parts of the state.

BOOK ACCOUNT OPENED IF DESIRED.

Telephone 580! Elevator to Every Floor!

Goods Delivered FREE OF CHARGE to All Parts of the State!

AMOS H. VAN HORN.

LIMITED.

My only place of Business is at

73 Market Street,

Near Plane St., Newark, N. J.

NO BRANCH STORES.

10-5-ly

TOWNSEND'S

Marble & Granite Works,

30 SOMERSET STREET,

PLAINFIELD, N. J.

If you have not engaged your work, I should be pleased to call for it. I buy only first-class Marble and Granite and do not sell it for less than it will be worth me to put up the work; I employ competent men, and give my personal attention to it. I am under no rent, therefore can afford to sell lower than any dealer. I am prepared to furnish all kinds of Granite and Marble work and build up the trade. Hoping to merit your patronage, I am yours respectfully,

J. E. TOWNSEND,

Manager. 8 11 tf

Branch Yard Westfield, N. J.

FURS

And all kinds of wearing apparel

STORED

And insured against all damage by fire or moth.

Repairing and re-dyeing of Furs should be done during the summer months.

GEO. C. TREADWELL CO.

SUCCESSORS TO

W. H. AND R. BURNETT,

17 Academy st., Newark. 5 21 4

Scientific American Agency for CAVEATS, TRADE MARKS, DESIGN PATENTS, COPYRIGHTS, etc.

Scientific American

Dime Savings Institution

OF PLAINFIELD, N. J.

Is now receiving deposits payable on demand, with interest [illegible]

NEWARK

BEE HIVE

Things Sold There That Make The Great Store It is.

STOCK LIST No. 16.

CUT OUT AND SAVE FOR REFERENCE.

VEILINGS

Silk Malines, plain and dotted in single and double width.
Grenadine, with Satin and plaid borders.
Tuxedo Veiling in plain and dotted and with dotted border.
Russian, Parisienne and Sewing Silk Veilings.
Grenadine Veiling in chenille colors, with chenille stripe border.
Beaded Veiling, single and double width.
Silk Mull, in plain and Brussels Net in plain, dotted and figured.
Beaded Dotted Veilings.
Columbia Veils, round and square, with Ribbon, 27 to 36 inches wide.
Mourning Veilings, all colors.
Silk Blondes, white and cream, 27 to 108 inches wide.
Wash Blonde in plain and dotted.
Paris or Cotton Net in white, 1 to 4 yards wide.
Cape Net in black and white, glazed and unglazed.
Silk Mull, 2½ yards wide, all colors.
Crepe de Chene and French Crepe.
Footing, in white and black 1½ to 3 inches wide.
Mourning Veils, ready-made, round and square, with or without borders.
Mourning Veils, ready-made, with crape, with grenadine borders.
Ready-made Velvet Border Veils, round and square.
Ready-made Lace and Rosebud Dotted Veils, round and square.
Santa Maria Veils, round and square, plain or dotted.
Confirmation Veils, trimmed, 1 yd. wide.
A Lace Veils in silk.
Infants' Veils in silk and worsted.
Bridal Veils, 2 and 3 yds. wide.

NO BRANCH STORES.

L. S. PLAUT & CO.

707 to 721

BROAD ST.

NEWARK, N. J.

Samples Cheerfully Sent Free of Charge.

NOTICE. June 3, 1893.

Estate of Harriet E. Case, Deceased.

Pursuant to the order of George T. Parrot, Surrogate of the county of Union, made on the [illegible] day of [illegible] A. D., 1893, upon the application of the subscriber, executor of the said deceased, notice is hereby given to the creditors of said deceased to exhibit to the subscriber, under oath or affirmation, their claims and demands against the estate of said deceased within nine months from this date, or they will be forever barred of any action therefor against the said subscriber. [illegible]

CITY DEPARTMENT.

OFFICIAL PAPER OF THE STATE, THE COUNTY AND THE CITY, AND HAS THE LARGEST CIRCULATION OF ANY PAPER PUBLISHED IN THE COUNTY OF UNION.

J. A. DEMAREST - - City Editor.

—The Climax gun club will conduct an open tournament in August.

—John Stine says this is the time to cut off the Canada thistles, or dig them out.

—As a result of his Fourth of July accident, Andrew Love, jr., has permanently lost the sight of one eye.

—Ex-councilman Emmons and Dr. C. B. Thiers practice quoit pitching for pastime and pleasure. They make a good team.

—Make the little ones happy by getting for them some of those dolls that Harper is running a special sale of, at 411 Park avenue.

—They say the First Baptist Sunday-school excursions are the best managed and largest that leave Plainfield. This year their date is July 21.

—A journal in a town like Plainfield is on its last legs when it has to resort to the "coupon" evil to secure the sale of papers among the credulous.

—Householders who use gasoline stoves must have a permit from the insurance companies in which they are insured or their policies are worthless.

—The Somerset Messenger says that lawyer Harry C. Runyon of Plainfield has sold his house and lot on Second street, Somerville, to Mrs. Hannah Heyman.

—W. T. Kirk, contractor for the Terrill & Cole building on West Second street, says that the iron girders have arrived all right and have been put in position.

—Elm place has lost its last board walk, for which the populace is grateful. Stone flagging and curbing make the street a delight for pedestrians from end to end.

—How do News advertisers like the idea of having premiums put on New York shopping by the "journalist" to whom they pay good money for booming home trade?

—Borough residents want to know what they are to do with their swill and garbage. They say there is no garbage collector, and the stuff has to stay in their yards and decay.

—The health officials will soon be obliged to do something to remedy the North avenue sewer nuisance. The stench from the outlet into Green brook last night was dreadfully vile.

—The Exempt Firemen's association, through their treasurer Joseph A. Hubbard, contributed $50, according to their custom, towards the funeral expenses of their lamented brother, William L. Force.

—Miller Bros. are about to put a first-class restaurant into that part of the Hotel Grenada now occupied by the Postal Telegraph company, and the telegraph office will be situated in Hoagland's express office.

—The trainmen on the Central road had their pay raised July 1. The conductors on freight and coal trains will now get $2.75 per day instead of $2.50; brakemen advanced from $1.83 to $2; flagmen from $1.90 to $2.10.

—Lew Kline, of Kline's Extract fame (that is a sure cure for headaches, corns, rheumatism, stiff neck, black eyes, toothache, chills, cholera and hay fever) can be seen any fine morning before 6 exercising his trotter.

—Plainfielders who like to sleep nights will be glad to learn that new whistles are being put on the Jersey Central railroad locomotives. They are less shrill than the old whistles, and sound not unlike a steamboat whistle.

—A handsome monument of Millstone Point granite will soon be erected to Mrs. A. Q. Fine, in Hillside cemetery, by J. E. Townsend, at whose marble and granite works on Somerset street the monument has just been completed.

—Edward White has bought and put on sale $3,000 worth of fine muslin underwear. The manufacturer wanted ready cash, and to get it sacrificed his stock; and Mr. White says he will sell it the same as he bought it, at one-third regular price.

—All who admired the magnificent floral display at the funeral of Wm. L. Force, will be interested to know that most of the tributes were supplied by Miss A. E. Lincoln, the expert florist. She filled 10 large orders to everyone's gratification.

—Gov. Werts has appointed the same members of the County Board of Registration this year that filled it in 1892. They are Judge James T. Wiley, Elizabeth, and Elmore D. Moffett, of this city, Democrats; W. Chamberlin, Rahway, and E. C. Woodruff, Elizabeth, Republicans.

—Terrill & Cole have been highly complimented on the kindly and efficient manner in which they conducted the funeral arrangements of the late Wm. L. Force. It was the first time hanging-black draperies had been used in Plainfield, and the effect was very satisfactory.

—During the thunder shower Saturday evening, the lightning burned out the convertor on the Electric Light company's pole at North and Watchung avenues. Some of the stores on North avenue had to be lighted with kerosene lamps the rest of the night.

—When the North Plainfield fire alarm sounded Saturday night, there was no one willing to drive the horses. Finally Edward Terry jumped on the seat and sent the horses through space, going by a roundabout way, but getting there in time to be of some service.

—Jesse Hetfield's trolley car was the means of restoring another child to his home, Sunday. A little chap named Walling was lost and heartbroken. Mr. Hetfield took him aboard, found out that Madison avenue was his locality, and dropped him off there, in sight of his front gate.

—Two young men from this city drove to the Wheatsheaf Hotel, near Roselle, Saturday evening. On the way home, late at night, the buggy was upset, and the occupants were thrown out in a promiscuous heap. The vehicle was a wreck, and one man had to ride the horse home, while the other walked.

—Garret Q. Packer refutes the claim of fire marshal Doane that the lot at the rear of his store is dangerous because of the boxes and other substances piled there. He claims that his has the reputation of being the most careful furniture house in the State against fire, and says there is absolutely no danger from the material stored in the yard.

—Firemen and others say it was a shame the way Alert's hose horse had to run to the fire, Saturday evening. The animal had been to a cart all day, and the way it had to tear to the VanNess fire, they say, was ample proof that fire department horses should not be used for continuous labor unless it is desired that they be ruined for fire service.

—Mr. S. H. Conklin writes from Mount Carmel, Conn.: "Enclosed please find check for your bills of May 2 and 12. I repeat the gratification I expressed before as to the convenience, the economy, and the real artistic beauty the National Lead Company's Pure White Lead Tinting Colors have proved to me in using them. It would seem as if the old way of trying to produce the desired shade of color by mixing many colors together with much labor and guess-work must be abandoned in favor of your economical, sure and easy method. My painters wish to introduce their use in an adjoining town, and want a couple of your books as guides."

PERSONALIA.

Miss A. O. Marsh is seeing the World's Fair.

Mrs. W. K. McClure is with friends in Montreal.

Mrs. John Darling and Miss Mabel are at Asbury Park.

Orson Clark, of Westerly, R. I. is visiting relatives here.

A. W. Duxbury is spending his vacation days at Plymouth, Mass.

Miss Jennie Voorhees, of Brooklyn, is visiting relatives in the borough.

H. G. Runkle and family are at Hotel Champlain, Clinton county, N. Y.

East Stroudsburg, Pa., is exhibiting its summer delights to Seely Edsall.

The Misses Fawcett, 15 Grove street, will spend a month at Ocean Grove.

Ray Dunn, of Philadelphia, is visiting his aunt, Mrs. Phillips, of Park avenue.

Miss Ida A. Williams, of Madison avenue, is enjoying a quiet rest at Asbury Park.

Mrs. F. G. Foster, of the borough, is at Berwick Lodge, Avon-by-the-Sea, for the summer.

A. S. Patterson, city accountant, is keeping cool at Mecox Inn, Water Mill, Long Island.

O. B. Leonard and family, of Madison avenue, are at Chicago, "doing" the World's Fair.

The family of C. C. Burnett, of Madison avenue, are enjoying the many pleasures of the seashore.

Mrs. G. F. Randolph has been obliged by illness to return home, and is now confined to her bed.

Miss Eva Wilkins, of 133 East Fifth street, is spending a few days at her former home in Orange.

The family of Wm. White, of the borough, are enjoying the breezes of old ocean, at Asbury Park.

Mrs. James Andrews, of Jersey City Heights, is visiting Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Muir, of West Fourth street.

Mrs. Lucy Hooley, mother of A. G. Hooley of Central avenue, is at Stroudsburgh, Pa., for the summer.

A. B. Beers, of Watchung avenue, has been called to Delaware on account of the severe illness of his mother.

W. H. Miner arrived home Saturday evening from Merwin's point, where he has been spending a few days.

Miss Obenger, of East Third street, a faithful member of the Baptist mission on that street, died Saturday evening.

Miss Depew, of 346 Franklin place, left town Saturday for Philadelphia, to join a party of friends en route for Chicago.

The Holy Trinity congregation at Spring Lake enjoyed a good sermon from the Rev. Dr. R. M. Rodman Sunday.

E. W. Conklin and family, of 825 First place, have returned from New York, and are again domiciled in their cozy homes.

Mr. and Mrs. William O. Worth, of Park place, have returned from Asbury Park, where they spent the last fortnight.

J. T. Vegiard of North avenue is hobbling about again after a seige of rheumatism. Here's to his quick and complete recovery.

M. C. VanArsdale, formerly of this city, but now of Greenwich, Conn. spent Sunday with his wife at the home of her mother on West Front street.

The Plainfield Electric Light company can't get along without Fred S. Dunn, the expert electrician and engineer, and he has accepted a position with them to attend to the engine.

A bevy of young ladies, including Miss Kelly, Miss Carney, Miss Shehan, Miss O'Keefe and Miss Day, went over to the Convent near Morristown, Sunday, in a stage, and spent a pleasant afternoon there.

Civil engineer Alfred B. Nelson, of 104 East Front street, has been chosen engineer of construction of the Passaic, Rutherford and Carlstadt electric railway, and will have a branch office in Passaic.

H. P. Bronk, an old resident of this city, but now of South Amboy, is here in the interest of a large public sale of South Amboy land. Mr. Bronk opened up the Washington Park section when it was farm land.

Charles G. Hedge's new yacht, the Frolic, won the first prize in the ten-mile race on Shinnecock Bay, Long Island, last Saturday. The Frolic led the fleet over the entire course, and was an easy winner by over a mile.

Mrs. C. H. Penfield, of Park avenue and Seventh street, is going on a trip to Independence, Iowa. She will be accompanied by her aunt, Mrs. Voorhis of Raritan River, and they will stop at Chicago to see the World's Fair.

William E. Alpaugh, who has been laid up with rheumatism for some two months past, is able to walk out again with the aid of crutches. Mr. Alpaugh is adjutant of post 73, G. A. R., and he is also a member of the Odd Fellows.

Mrs. E. J. Black, of Charleston, S. C., who with her two children, Tulip and Walter, has been visiting her sister, Mrs. Robert A. Meeker, of East Second street, has returned to her home, in answer to a telegram from her husband.

Three members from this vicinity will attend the 13th Regt. N. J. Volunteers reunion at Antietam August 17. They are George W. Moore, of this city, Captain Airy, of Oak Tree, and Reune Manning, of South Plainfield.

The New York World says that Mrs. Alexander Fisk, who has left the belleship of Louisville to become a bride and make Plainfield her home, is one of the most popular women here, and before the summer is over will be counted as one of its social leaders.

Sergeant Kiely's friends have been deeply concerned for his little boy, who has been dangerously ill with cholera infantum. Thanks to Mrs. Kiely's faithful nursing and the excellent treatment of Drs. Hedges and Tomlinson, the little one is getting better and will recover.

Mention is made by a New York journal that among the young married women who have taken cottages in Plainfield for the summer is Mrs. James P. McQuaide, nee Sidebotham, who reigned in Philadelphia's most exclusive set as one of its belles. Mrs. McQuaide entertains a great deal.

Warren Rice has returned from Pennington school, and a week's outing on a catamaran has given him a first-class coat of tan. In the fall he intends entering the medical department of the University of Pennsylvania at Philadelphia. Thus Plainfield will probably furnish another good doctor of medicine.

Mr. and Mrs. Howard Fleming have the sincere hope of the community that their little one may soon recover from the serious attack of illness now threatening its life. The baby was so ill that it had to be taken to the shore lying on a pillow. The change to sea air was recommended as likely to be highly beneficial, as it has been in so many similar cases.

The remodeling of the interior of James Clark's home at Seventh street and Central avenue, is making of it one of the handsomest, in many respects, of any in Plainfield. The dining room, especially, is beyond rivalry by a like apartment in this city. The architect is A. L. C. Marsh and the decorators are New York artists. White mahogany is used with charming effect in the reception room, and the combination of quartered oak and dull silver in the dining room is a most delightful novelty. The same rare judgment and taste in both wood work and wall treatment as have already been shown, promise for the parlors something beyond what our [illegible] in Plainfield.

Acting Mayor Neal's family have returned to their borough home from New York State.

Mr. and Mrs. O. T. Waring will spend the month of August at Pine Lee Cottage, Saunderstown, L. I.

John Bushnell, W. E Lowe and H. B. Newhall are to leave in a private car for Lake Placid, Aug. 1.

Mayor Saunders shook hands with Grand Old Man Gladstone, last week, in the House of Parliament.

Miss Daisy Shepard, daughter of A. D. Shepard of Scotch Plains, is visiting Miss Soley at Shinnecock Bay, L. I.

George G. Worth, of Grove street, was confined to his home Sunday and Monday with a slight attack of influenza.

Mrs. Seymour G. Smith and sons George and Seymour are at Richfield Springs, en route for Hartwick, N. Y.

Miss Mabel Voorhees, daughter of William H. Voorhees, formerly proprietor of the city pharmacy of this place, but now of Brooklyn, is visiting the Johnsons of Duer street, North Plainfield.

Aunt Betsy Cole, of Warren street, North Plainfield, will be eighty-nine years of age next September. Her husband was Miller Cole, who died some years ago.

Grandma Spencer, of the borough, was eighty-five years of age, last Monday. She is hale and hearty, and is full of early reminiscences of this section of the country.

Herbert Schutt, of Duer street, who is one of the Holy Cross church choir, is compelled to cease singing for awhile on account of change in his voice. He is still a member of the choir, and will resume singing later.

The Minneapolis Tribune says: "Charles B. Brown, membership secretary of the Y. M. C. A., formerly of Plainfield, will succeed Mr. Elliott as Bible instructor at the association during the latter's absence from the city."

Harry A. Connett, of the freight-house staff, has concluded to attempt the delights of housekeeping, after years of boarding, and he and his estimable wife to-day take possession of their new home at East Fifth street, near Richmond.

The Rev. Dr. J. P. Taylor, of Park avenue, preaches every Sunday in the Episcopal church at Middletown, Monmouth county, and has removed to that place with his wife and boy for the summer. Middletown is the center of a fine farming country, and is an important shipping-point for local produce.

MARKSMEN'S VARYING LUCK.

Interesting Sweepstakes Shooting on the Climax Gun Club Grounds.

The Climax Gun club sportsmen enjoyed some good shooting on the grounds Tuesday afternoon, in spite of the drenching downpour which at one time drove them to shelter and the wind which wrecked a tree. The first event was a handicap sweepstakes, unknown angles, and resulted as follows:

A. Trust, shot at 30 birds, killed 23.
John Darby, shot at 25 birds, killed 21.
C. Smith, shot at 25 birds, killed 22.
J. Robinson, shot at 32 birds, killed 22.
T. Brantingham, shot at 25 birds, killed 22.
T. H. Keller, shot at 25 birds, killed 21.
H. Campbell, shot at 27 birds, killed 21.
S. Terry, shot at 32 birds, killed 21.
W. Terry, shot at 30 birds, killed 19.
D. Terry, shot at 25 birds, killed 18.
W. Squires, shot at 30 birds, killed 17.
A. Frentz, shot at 23 birds, killed 15.

Two optional sweepstakes, both unknown angles, were shot as follows:

15 BIRDS.

Smith	14
Brantingham	13
Keller	13
A. Trust	13
S. Terry	13
Al Soper	12
D. Terry	11
J. Darby	11
W. Squires	11
Frentz	11

10 BIRDS.

T. H. Keller	9
J. Darby	9
D. Terry	6
A. Trust	6
W. Terry	6
Scot Terry	6
C. Smith	5

BREAK UP THOSE DENS!

They Are Low Gambling Resorts for the Lowest Class of People.

A fight occurred at Babbitt's pool rooms Tuesday, over a game of cards. This pool room is on Front street, diagonally opposite the post-office, and has borne a bad reputation for some time past. Not long ago another resort in this neighborhood was raided by the police, and two arrests were made. It was well known at the time of the raid that the block on which the resort was situated was a regular "Thompson street", given up to loafing, card playing, and fighting negroes, and the police have at last come to the conclusion that it is time to act. Card playing, drinking and fighting go on night after night, with now and then an arrest, which has little effect on the proceedings. THE PRESS hopes that these disreputable dives may be speedily weeded out, or at least made to carry on their business (ostensibly the playing of pool) in an orderly and seemly manner.

BASE-BALL BABBLE.

Middletown Can't Come, But Phillipsburg Is Substituted.

Manager Keller of the Plainfield Crescents has just received a telegram from the manager of the Asylum team at Middletown, N. Y., stating that it will be impossible to come here Saturday. Mr. Keller will therefore bring the Phillipsburgs here in their stead. The Phillipsburgs are a strong team, and have been beaten only twice this year, and then by the Easton and Johnstown teams of the Pennsylvania State league. They played a 2—1 game with the old-time Somervilles, and will make the Crescents hustle.

The Crescents will go to Poughkeepsie next week to play two games there. They are likely to play a game at Fishkill also.

Grace Church to Join the Baptists.

The excursion committee of the First Baptist church is striving to surpass all former efforts to make the excursion of this week Friday the most enjoyable ever given. Special arrangements have been made with the railway officials, and the first section will leave promptly at 8 and the second section not till 8:10. Each section will have a committee in charge to take care of lunch baskets. The masculine sex will have a car where they may enjoy a smoke. Besides the Baptist school and missions, Grace church Sunday-school will join in the holiday trip. The committee gives assurance that the utmost will be done to give an enjoyable day. Already the sale of tickets has begun, and the evidence is that a host of friends will go with the Baptists.

Plainfield's Ordinance Concerned As Well.

The Rahway cyclists are going to fight the ordinance of their town against riding at night without bell and light. They have paid no attention to the ordinance, as some lawyer told them it would not stand in court. But now that two of the wheelmen have been arrested for violation, a test trial is to be made. For the sake of the safety of the public it is hoped the cyclists will lose the case and be made to pay their fine.

Fraternal Sympathy.

(Westfield Standard.)

The editor of the Standard begs to extend the hand of fraternal sympathy to the staff of the Plainfield Press and The Constitutionalist, lamenting the loss of [illegible] William L. Force.

Royal Baking Powder

Absolutely Pure

A cream of tartar baking powder. Highest of all in leavening strength.—Latest U. S. Government Food Report.

ROYAL BAKING POWDER CO., 106 Wall St., N. Y.

HARRY WILLIAMS LED.

And Charming Patronesses Dispensed the Pretty Favors.

The subscription german to which the guests of the Hotel Netherwood have been looking forward for some time past took place Tuesday and was a great success in every way. The dancers were especially fortunate in having such a cool night for their festivities.

The large windows of the hotel parlors were thrown open to catch the cool breeze that blew from the hills after the afternoon's storm, and between the figures of the german the piazza was thronged with promenaders. The end of the piazza was crowded by those who preferred to watch the dances through the open windows to participating in them themselves.

Among them, besides the guests of the hotel, were many from Plainfield and Netherwood who had driven or ridden up on bicycles. The dancing began about 9:30 and continued until nearly 2. Harry Williams, who has been a well-known leader in the social events at the Netherwood for the past ten years, led the german with his accustomed grace and snap. The figures were pretty and amusing. One of the most diverting was the old whistling figure, where five men stand at the end of the room and whistle a waltz, to which the remainder of the people danced. The comical attempts of the improvised whistling orchestra brought rounds of applause. The favors were many and handsome, and were selected by Messrs. Balch and Williams in New York. Among them were fans, coffee cups, silver spoons, silver hat markers for the men, and a large assortment of other less useful things. The favor table was graced by Mrs. W. V. R. Smith, Mrs. Soeckner, Mrs. Gondran, Mrs. M. C. Ogden, who handed out the pretty baubles as they were required.

Among those dancing were: Mr. and Mrs. Balch, Mr. and Mrs. F. E. Miller, Mr. and Mrs. F. S. Jordan, Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Ogden, Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Gondran, Mr. and Mrs. F. H. Richardson, Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Williams, Mr. and Mrs. William W. Farmer, Miss Marjorie K. Farmer, Miss Fannie Farmer, Miss Fannie Knowles, Mr. and Mrs. Solomon Weatherin, Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Ranney, Mr. and Mrs. M. C. Ogden, Mr. and Mrs. W. O. Smith, Mr. and Mrs. William H. Soeckner, Mr. and Mrs. L. Benton, Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Kelley, Mr. and Mrs. White, Miss White, Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Spooner, Miss Annie S. Betts, Mr. and T. J. Frank, Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Hancey, Mr. and Mrs. D. J. McCabe, Miss Berckman, Mr. and Mrs. Bowen, Mrs. Bennett, Miss Bennett, Mrs. Bendit, Mrs. Jacobs, J. Dyson Aspinwall, W. E. Smith, F. W. Jordan, C. A. Smith, Charles Loeb, A. Elliott Ranney, N. A. Benner, George Martin, Harry Witherspoon and others.

GREAT THINGS IN STORE.

Plainfield Amateurs to Grace "As You Like It", With Plainfield's Natural Scenery.

Plainfield is the happy possessor of a number of gifted amateur Thespians whose deeds in the past large audiences have applauded. They have on former occasions attempted difficult plays, and have come forth crowned with laurels by their admiring friends. All this is most pleasing to the Thespians, and gratifying to those who are fond of Plainfield; and it is with expectations of fresh conquests of the difficulties of drama that THE PRESS hears of two new ventures in the theatrical line.

The first is only a possibility; but the second, THE PRESS is assured, is practically an accomplished fact. The company that has delighted local audiences for the past few years at the Casino is thinking seriously of giving "A Scrap of Paper" in the fall. The two leading parts, those of Suzanne and Prosper Couramour, will be taken by the lady who has graced the leading parts in many plays and by a gentleman who lives not far from Netherwood and whom the Casino company has been trying to get as its leading man for a long time.

But the theatrical event of the season will undoubtedly be the production of "As You Like It", on the beautiful grounds of a wealthy resident of Front street. The success of this drama as given first by professionals of no small reputation at the Stephens place in Hoboken, and later in Orange, has naturally made Plainfield ache to do something equally great, and the event will take place in September. Many of the parts have already been given out, and Rosalind and Orlando are to be done by two of Plainfield's younger amateurs, who now will have a chance to show what they can do on the greensward.

No one has as yet been chosen as manager of the show. The position has been offered to one gentleman from out of town, but he declined the honor. All will look forward to this last triumph of Plainfield talent, and will join hands and sing praises when the New York papers ring with the success of Plainfield's production of "As You Like It".

Lawyer Runyon Has Two Cases.

Justice Mosher issued summons this morning in the suit of Edward Peck vs. Wm. Craig, for $150 damages alleged to have been done to his property in Dunellen. Craig owned a house in Dunellen, which Peck rented. Peck, it is charged, removed some plumbing from the building, and Craig says that it injured the house $150 worth. The suit will come up July 24.

Another suit before justice Mosher is that of Carney Bros. vs. Anna Miller, on contract, to come up July 25. Harry C. Runyon has been secured by the defendant in each case, and some lively arguments are expected.

Lost $300,000 in Car Wheels.

Chancellor McGill, at Jersey City Saturday, appointed John C. Paul of this city, receiver of the Garwood steel works. The company was originally a Boston concern, and made steel car wheels. The works are at Garwood, between Westfield and Cranford, and $300,000 has been lost in following a new process.

The Good Doctor Likes Reporters.

Dr. Yerkes, in his sermon Sunday morning, paid a handsome tribute to newspaper reporters, when he said that these men would scour the country to get news of truth, and then write it attractively and display it with appropriate headlines.

Should Be Underground Where Possible.

Morristown people objected to having the streets disfigured by overhead wires and unnecessary telephone and other poles, and the electric conductors are therefore to be put underground. Plainfield ought to do likewise, where possible, but will not for years to come. In [illegible]

RIVALS USE THEIR TEETH.

One of Them, Badly Bitten, and Slashed With a Meat Cleaver.

John Alexander, a waiter in Hotel Grenada, and Edwin King, a helper to the cook in the same establishment, have for some time cast longing glances on the same girl. This condition of things naturally begat jealousy in the hearts of both men, but up to Saturday they had confined themselves to casting dark looks at one another.

Monday night, however, King, who seems to have had the inside track, came to the conclusion that Alexander was interfering a little too much, and made up his mind to have it out with him.

Accordingly, he began to-day by reproaching his rival, which the latter resented by striking him in the face. King took up a meat cleaver and made a rush for Alexander, who caught his arm and wrenched the cleaver away, but not before an ugly cut had been inflicted over his eye. Being deprived of movable weapons, the men resorted to the use of those provided by nature, and started in a chewing match the like of which has seldom been seen. When the fight had eased up a little, Alexander broke away and ran into the street, where he found policeman Kiely, who promptly arrested both men, as proprietor Miller said they were equally to blame. When they were examined, it was found that Alexander's injuries included a cut over the eye with the cleaver, thumb nearly bitten off, and a large chew out his arm near the shoulder. King's only injury was a bite in the arm in a similar place to that of Alexander's.

The two men are now lodged in separate cells, awaiting the action of judge Coddington.

WESTFIELD TRIED HARD.

But She Went to Pieces in the Sixth, and Couldn't Rally.

The ball players of Westfield made brave battle against Plainfield, Saturday, but lost through a bad case of rattles in the sixth inning. Plainfield didn't earn a run, while Westfield did. Francis did some good pitching, but was disheartened by the lack of fielding support. The Westfield gang of rooters, headed by lucky Carbonell of Somerville fame, did noble shouting and with silver-tongued Jim Emmons's aid made the game lively. Gentle Murphy slid to bases like a trolley car. Turner and Keenan both did well in the box. The score:

											R	B	E
Plainfield	0	0	0	1	0	5	2	0	*	—	8	7	2
Westfield	0	1	0	0	0	1	0	1	0	—	3	6	5

The Middletown asylum team will play a return game here next Saturday.

Cadmus, whose umpiring has displeased so many, will be replaced by J. J. Daily, a professional of the Eastern and New England leagues.

There's no cooler place in town than the Crescent grand-stand. Don't miss Saturday's great game.

The Fourth ward base-ball team would like to get a Saturday afternoon game with any team in Plainfield whose members are under 18 years old. Address captain Kelly Lyons, 511 South Second street.

In the game Saturday between the West Ends of Somerville and the Cranfords, the latter were unable to make a base hit off Harkins, the old League pitcher. Somerville won, 7 to 0.

CAP. KIRKNER SHOT.

He Was Careless With His Revolver, and His Left Hand Is Laid Up.

Casper Kirkner, son of the Hon. Jacob Kirkner, of West Eighth street, is conductor of a Pullman dining car on the New York Central, and spends every other night in Plainfield. Two or three nights ago while at his father's home he was practicing shooting with a revolver, and said "Here goes the last one! He carelessly held his left hand in front of the right, as he fired, and the ball tore its way through the flesh, fortunately missing the bones.

They Stood on the Bridge to Hear Him.

The Rev. Dr. Tyler, of the Church of Christ, Fifty-sixth street, New York, was at the First Church of Christ Sunday evening; and although the night was exceedingly hot a large congregation greeted the speaker. Many who desired to hear him but could not get in the chapel stood on the bridge, from which point the speaker could be distinctly heard. His subject, "Why I am a Christian", was ably discoursed, and these reasons were given: First, because of who Christ was; second, because of what He has done; third, because of what He is doing; fourth, because of what He will do.

Mr. Tyler held his audience spellbound until twenty minutes after 9, and although very warm many expressed a desire to stay until 10. Mr. Tyler promises to preach in Plainfield soon again. He was very much pleased with the little chapel here, and bespoke large results for its work. He is a deep scholar, and a pulpit orator of no small calibre. His next talk will be on "What are our Christian Endeavor societies doing, and should we have one in the First Church of Christ at Plainfield?"

Nearly $7,000,000 in Plainfield.

The Union county assessors met in Elizabeth Monday, with J. A. Hubbard representing Plainfield. The following assessments were reported for this section:

Plainfield, real estate, $5,[illegible]; personal, $1,144,316; liabilities, $[illegible]; total, $6,[illegible]; polls, 2,[illegible].

Fanwood, real estate, $[illegible]; personal $[illegible]; liabilities, $[illegible]; total, $[illegible]; polls, [illegible].

Westfield, real estate, $1,[illegible]; personal, $[illegible]; liabilities, $[illegible]; total, $1,[illegible]; polls, [illegible].

The grand total valuation in the county aggregates $[illegible]. The total amount of taxes to be raised by taxation is $[illegible].

A House With a History.

The house of "count" VanNess which was burned Saturday night was built by Ran Cole from the timbers of an old silk mill that once stood at Raymond avenue and Green brook. When Mr. Cole died his sister inherited the place, and at her death she left it with all her property to Sam Allen. Her estate included the old family farm, extending from Front street to the top of the mountain, and over $30,000 in cash. Much of this property, including the burned house, was acquired by the "count" from Allen.

Steadfast and Best.

(From The [illegible].)

In the death of William L. Force the Democratic party loses one of its most steadfast adherents, and the city of Plainfield one of its best citizens.

—Apropos of Saturday night's fire, chief Doane says no one should ever pull a box twice, in sending an alarm. Leave the second call, if needed, to the officials.

Safe, Sure and Speedy.

No external remedy ever yet devised has so fully and unquestionably met these three prime conditions as successfully as ALLCOCK'S POROUS PLASTERS. They are safe because they contain no deleterious drugs and are manufactured upon scientific principles of medicine. They are sure because nothing goes into them except ingredients which are exactly adapted to the purposes for which a plaster is required. They are speedy in their action because their medicinal qualities go right to their work of relieving pain [illegible]

GOOD-BYE FOR THE SUMMER.

No More Park Club Dancing Till Cooler Weather.

Those who love dancing love it at all times and under all circumstances, but the popular verdict is that July and August are months better spent in sitting quietly on piazzas and endeavoring to keep cool than in working one's self to a fever heat in a crowded dancing room.

The Park club follows the popular verdict, and wound up its series of informal dances Saturday night with the most successful of the many delightful ones that they have given this year.

The decorations that were put in the pretty dancing room on the Fourth still remained to brighten the scene, and the recently added promenade over the bowling alleys, ending in a spacious piazza, made a pleasant retreat from the heat of the ball room.

As it was Saturday night, the dance was early if not small, and by 9 nearly all the guests had arrived. They were received by Mrs. S. St. John McCutchen and Mrs. Augustus VanDeventer.

After a little time, however, the numbers on the floor began to thin out, and everyone made for the promenade and piazza, only going in when the notes of a two-step were wafted out through the open doors. The signs of coming rain hastened the departure of many of the guests, and by half-past eleven the numbers had greatly decreased, and by the time the storm broke everyone had reached home safely.

Among those present were:

Mr. and Mrs. S. St.John McCutchen, Mr. and Mrs. McQuaide, Mr. and Mrs. Augustus VanDeventer, Mr. and Mrs. Dupee, Mrs. Clapp, Miss Clapp, Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Hegeman, jr., Mr. and Mrs. Boome, Miss Grace Miller, Mrs. Underwood, Miss Florence Underwood, Laura Underwood, Miss Nellie Underwood, Miss Marion Henderson, Mr. and Mrs. Evans, Miss Bessie Evans, Henry Evans, Miss Elizabeth Stewart, Walter Stewart, Miss Maude VanBoskerck, Miss Lizzie VanBoskerck, the Messrs. VanBoskerck, Miss Clarkson, Edward Bloodgood, Miss Waring, Miss Florence Waring, O. G. Waring, Miss Jean Erickson, Jules Erickson, Roger Erickson, Miss Edith Hyde, Miss Pansy Herring, Miss Daisy Shepard, Bud Shepard, Miss Minnie Murray, Miss Grace Cooley, Gifford W. Cooley, Miss Murphy, Clarence Logan Murphy, Miss Maude Chilton, Irving West, Harry West, Sherwood West, James Murray, Walter Murray, Howard Huntington, Percy Sandford, Henry Bushnell, Walter Place, Richard Pease, Eli Long, Charles Faber, Edward Finch, Clarence Davis, Rowland Cox, J. S. Anthony, William Runyon, James Leonard, James Hallock, David Lenox, Henry Lowe, Harry Patent, Arthur Freeman, Dr. Charles B. Thiers, William Thiers, Arthur Strong, Mr. Rushmore, Edward VanBuren and Fred. Walz.

BURNED IN HIS ABSENCE.

Count VanNess Returns from the Beach to Find His Home Consumed.

Everybody for miles around was awakened at 11 Saturday night by the combined blowing of both city and borough fire gongs.

A big glare in the direction of Scotch Plains indicated where the house of J. K. VanNess, "count" and lawyer, was in flames.

Charles J. Noel, who had pulled box 18, needlessly sent in a second alarm; and as some one in the borough, seeing the flames, had started the North Plainfield gong going, both departments turned out entire, and Rahway telephoned over to know if help was needed.

The house burned like a tinder box, and in a short time was a mass of embers and ashes, level with the ground. The chimney alone was left standing.

Mr. VanNess and his wife, whom he always endearingly speaks of as "Baby", were spending the day at Boynton Beach. On the drive home they were delayed by an accident. From Rahway they saw the fire, and he feared it might be his place. When they reached Plainfield and found their home in ruins the wife fainted, and the "count" was nearly all night restoring her to consciousness.

Mr. VanNess says his loss exceeds his insurance. He had $6,000 on the house, and couldn't say what was on the furniture.

The house stood back from Front street, behind an apple orchard, beyond Cole's hill. Sam Allen was the former owner.

VanNess left three farm hands at home, one a Pole, one a Swede, and one a German. He says they were intoxicated when he came home. They indignantly refute a rumor that was afloat that the German had been heard to say "You upset the lamp yourself", and they say that they awoke to find the house filled with suffocating smoke and barely escaped with their lives.

The Scotch Plains department turned out, and though the fire was out of their limit got a line of hose stretched. Through the considerate courtesy of chief Westcott the Plainfield firemen were permitted to use this hose, and the Scotch Plains boys waited patiently to reel it up.

The Scotch Plains chemical engine saved the adjoining outbuildings. The house that was burned was built of the material of an old silk mill that used to be operated here.

LETTER-CARRIERS CELEBRATE.

Mr. Bauerachs Gives a Pink Tea to His Fellow-Professionals.

Letter-carrier J. W. A. Bauerachs gave a pink tea to his fellow-carriers, Saturday evening, at his home on Manning avenue. It was a grand affair, and the oppression of the warm weather did not daunt in the least the realization of a good time.

During the evening the following interesting programme was given:

Recitation..........Edward VanWinkle
Vocal Solos..........W. Demarest
Harmonica selections..........R. H. Loughlin

The various numbers were heartily received, and had to be repeated.

Those present were: Mr. and Mrs. Edward VanWinkle, Mr. and Mrs. W. Demarest, R. H. Loughlin, Edward Hann and Mr. Townsend.

Mr. Bauerachs provided a most elaborate collation, which all partook of and enjoyed.

It was quite late when the company parted, and before doing so they all agreed that their brother-carrier was a royal good fellow.

THE SON LACKS PATRONAGE.

Marx's Restaurant Goes Back to the Father Again.

Ernest Marx, of this city, who keeps a restaurant at 193 Mercer street, New York, has confessed judgment for $14,040 in favor of his father, Felix Marx, of East Front street, on account of the purchase of a restaurant from the latter on June 12, 1890, at 79 Mercer street, for $10,000, and for $3,000 money loaned on February 4, 1892. Felix Marx established the business many years ago, and the son succeeded to it three years ago. The trouble is attributed to stagnation in business and want of patronage. The sheriff has taken possession.

Children Cry for Pitcher's Castoria.

When Baby was sick, we gave her Castoria.
When she was a Child, she cried for Castoria.
When she became Miss, she clung to Castoria.
When she had Children, she gave them Castoria.

PLAINFIELD'S SQUARE SHOOTING.

She Does Creditable Work in the Inter-Club Tourney.

In Saturday's inter-club shooting, C. Smith broke 22 of his singles, and 18 doubles, equalling 40; Thos. Brantingham, 28 singles, 17 doubles, 45; Neaf Apgar, 29 singles, and all of his doubles, a feat that is not likely to be duplicated by only one competing under the conditions; Dan Terry, 26 singles and 14 doubles, 40; E. D. Miller, 25 singles and 16 doubles, 41; team total, 215, out of a possible 250. Each man shot at 30 singles and 10 pairs.

The blue rock targets were thrown hard, and the shooting was difficult, as the rules called that the targets should be thrown at unknown angles.

The club adhered strictly to the rules and if the other clubs competing have acted in the sportsmanlike manner that the Climax boys did, there is a probability of Plainfield getting a place for the honor. 15 different States are competing, and New Jersey is represented by five different teams. Should the score made by the Climax boys proved to be the winner of the State championships, they will then compete with the winning teams from the other Eastern States, to decide who shall represent the East in the sectional contest at Chicago, in September. Charley Smith and E. D. Miller did not shoot quite up to their average, and Terry also fell off a little, but Apgar made a record that he should be proud of.

The Climax's regular monthly shoot will take place to-morrow afternoon.

Honored and Esteemed by All.

(Somerset Democrat.)

Mr. Force was a remarkably active man, and was honored and esteemed by all who knew him. The cause of his death was a runaway, in which he had his chest crushed in. THE DEMOCRAT extends sincere sympathy to the bereaved family.

A Chance for Plainfield Clubs.

The Elizabeth Journal has sent a letter to all Union county bicycle clubs asking them to send one representative apiece to the meeting of the executive committee of the Journal league at Elizabeth, Thursday, July 20, to arrange for the race for the Journal trophy.

MISS SALLIE PALMER

"Working Girls,
"Are your cheeks pale?
"Your eyes dull, and step heavy?
"Does your back and side ache sometimes terribly?
"Are you at times faint and dizzy, with pain in the lower part of your stomach?
"Do you watch the clock, and wish the day would end, as you feel ill, and so tired. If so, listen! Standing all day, week in and week out, you have slowly drifted into woman's great enemy, displacement of the womb.
"That or some other derangement of the organ, causing irregularity and other troubles.
"Take warning in time! Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is the surest and safest remedy in the world for you."—Miss Sallie Palmer, Juniata St., Nicetown, Pa.

All druggists sell it. Address in confidence, LYDIA E. PINKHAM MED. CO., LYNN, MASS. Mrs. Pinkham's Liver Pills, 25 cents.

An Open Letter
From Clothing
Builders to Clothing
Buyers.

We make Clothing, you buy it. You buy Clothing ready made because it is cheaper.

There are different kinds of ready made. Have you ever investigated how different?

We show you the best that's made, the tailor made, the kind the tailor would make you to order.

In many instances you'll not be able to notice the difference in make between ours and theirs, but the difference in price will open your eyes.

The tailor's prices are about double ours and he furnishes you no better style, fit, finish, trim of fabric.

Why his big price?

He makes for the few; we for thousands. The wise and knowing are wearing OUR SUPERIOR CLOTHING and saving money.

See our grand line of SPRING SUITS between $10 and $20.

MC GREGOR & CO.,
850 and 852 Broad Street,
NEWARK, N. J.

NOT A SUICIDE.

Postmaster Baker Is Very Ill, Says His Partner, But That Is All.

Report was current in this city to-day that postmaster Baker, of the Scotch Plains and Fanwood firm of Baker & Mead, had shot himself in an attempt at suicide. In answer to inquiries of THE PRESS, Mrs. Mead, wife of Mr. Baker's partner, utterly denied the story.

"Mr. Baker is very ill",—she said—"but he has not attempted suicide."

When asked if he had not had an accident, she would only repeat "Mr. Baker is very ill".

Later Mr. Mead favored THE PRESS office with a call and said that Mr. Baker's illness was caused by a sudden attack of brain trouble, following neuralgia. The patient is in a semi-conscious state, and seems to be in a very dangerous condition. THE PRESS sincerely hopes that he may speedily rally and fully recover.

MIDNIGHT HUNT FOR A BAD MAN.

Plainfield Police Penetrate Where Fanwood Constables Fear to Tread.

Charles K. Moore of Fanwood is beginning to appreciate the hardships of a justice's career. Tuesday he got news that a bad man who was "wanted" in New York for murder had taken refuge in a hut frequented by Italians back of Scotch Plains. He ordered his posse of constables to raid the place. They all refused, and one resigned. Therefore he was forced to come to Plainfield for brave officers. Wm. R. Mattox and Henry C. Corse without hesitation agreed to accompany him, and the trio thereupon drove to the black and forbidding wilderness that skirts the Springfield road and extends on beyond Feltville. They were compelled to dismount and go afoot three-fourths of a mile, penetrating the lonesome stretch of woodland known as "the Cedars". Here they found the object of their search, a gloomy cabin, securely locked. In response to their summons a swarthy Italian appeared, clutching a big revolver. He smiled sardonically and gave sarcastic reply to their questioning. He said that they were free to search the house, but assured them the bad man was not there; and, satisfied that they could not find him even if they looked through the house, they came away. There was quite a thrill of danger in their experience, and they breathed a sigh of relief when they had left the ugly-looking Italian and his murderous weapon far behind.

"That's a lovely spot for a murder!"—said the judge.

WHAT PLAINFIELD HAS TO PAY.

County and School Taxes Specified, But Road Assessment Escaped.

The Union county board of assessors has fixed the following taxes for this section:

County—Fanwood, $3,587.10; Plainfield, $37,-[illegible]; Westfield, $4,530.36.
School—Fanwood, $1,984.70; Plainfield, $19,-[illegible]; Westfield, $5,[illegible].

The following amounts were levied to pay interest on county road bonds:

Elizabeth, $[illegible]; Union, $1,[illegible]; Springfield, $[illegible]; New Providence, $108.47; Fanwood, $334.41; Cranford, $[illegible]; Linden, $[illegible]; Rahway, $173.73; Clark, $[illegible]; Westfield $[illegible]; Summit, $[illegible]; total, $4,[illegible].

That Society's a Fake.

The New Brunswick Home News says: "Plainfield is progressive, having just organized a 'Boston Society', the object of which is to discourage treating in hotels or saloons. If a member wants a glass of beverage he takes it, but he is proscribed from offering a drink to any one else. This way of drinking used to be called the Rahway plan." Plainfield drinkers don't imitate Rahway, and the organization of the alleged society is a Courier joke.

RECOLLECTIONS OF FELTVILLE.

"Glenside Park" as It Was Forty Years Ago.

(From the Newark Daily Advertiser.)

In the spring of 1852 the writer went to live in Feltville, which was then a manufacturing village. The old mill which stands on the east side of the narrow valley where the brook runs was then a busy place. At 5 o'clock in the morning the bell rang out a peal to arouse everyone, for at 6 another bell summoned the operatives to work. The first row of houses after ascending the long flight of stairs which led from the factory to the plateau above, was occupied by the operatives and the superintendent, whose house was at the further end of the row. The one nearest the stairs was a boarding house for the men, and was called the Eagle. Another was for the girls and was called the Swan. In the next street lived the minister, and the New York bookkeeper for Mr. Felt, who was the proprietor of the village. Mr. Felt carried on business in the city, but when out to Feltville on Saturday, returning on Monday to New York. The next house was occupied by the superintendent of the store, which supplied the needs of the village. In the last house in the row lived the man who had charge of the farm, which consisted of many acres and gave employment to quite a number of men. There were also six or eight other houses occupied by men in Mr. Felt's employ. A milkman brought milk to the door, and ice was supplied from the ice-house on the place.

Over the store a neat hall was fitted up and comfortably furnished for religious service, which was held every Sunday. At a little distance from the store was the school-house, which was presided over in summer by a niece of Mr. Felt, a very lovely woman. During the winter a male teacher was in charge. Mr. Felt himself occupied a large comfortable house with broad piazzas and facing a very large flower garden.

Small as the village was, its inhabitants were of a heterogeneous character, and it was exceedingly interesting to at least one of the smaller members of the community to note the different places from which they had come. The superintendent of the factory had the look and air of a Boston business man, and he was from Boston or that vicinity. The minister was a New England man. The bookkeeper was an Englishman of good education, and had been a teacher before coming to this country. His large family of boys and girls helped to make the place lively. The superintendent of the store was from the breezy hills of Connecticut. He was blessed with a family of children who heavily drained his pocket-book, however they may have brightened his hearth. The farmer was a Scotchman, and his little fairhaired Janet was a typical Scotch lassie. There was also another man who must not be forgotten. He was foreman in one department of work in the factory and also superintendent of the Sunday-school. He was of an exceedingly genial temperament, and from his own house brought a large delegation to the school. The son of the Boston man was librarian, and one of his daughters taught the infant class. Although a variety of religious beliefs were represented by those who met together in the school, a spirit of harmony and peace prevailed.

Doubtless a large proportion of those who were gathered there have gone to that land whence there is no return. The memory of the school, together with the fragrant breath of the cedars with their purple berries, the songs of the unmolested wild birds, and the quiet beauty of the place, still haunt the memory of the writer.

Welcome to the Ranks of Journalism.

They say congressman John T. Dunn is financial backer for a one-cent daily newspaper in Elizabethport. He can make it a hustler.

CANNON'S
MARKET
MULBERRY
MECHANIC STS
NEWARK.

Furniture, Carpets, Upholstery, Bedding, Stoves, Refrigerators, Baby Carriages, &c.

YOU CAN COMPLETELY FURNISH YOUR HOUSE, WITHOUT LEAVING OUR STORES.

PLAIN FIGURES, CASH OR CREDIT.

LARGEST HOUSE OUTFITTERS IN NEW JERSEY

$35.00 TO CHICAGO AND RETURN,

Including Hotel accommodations for five days at

FRANK'S

REDUCED RATES

Railroad and Steamship Ticket Agency,
345 and 347 BROADWAY, Cor. Leonard St., N. Y.

Lowest Rates to all parts of the World. Tickets purchased and exchanged. Sleeping Berths reserved. Baggage transferred.

MEMBER AMERICAN TICKET BROKERS' ASSOCIATION.

30 CENTS A DAY.

WILL BUY A PIANO or it will buy three cigars; at the end of a given time you still have the Piano; where are the cigars?

The right kind of a Piano lasts a lifetime. It furnishes and beautifies a room; its mellow tones smooth out the cares of a tiresome day. It is not an expense; it is an investment. Come and let us talk it over. We have STEINWAY, GABLER, VOSE and STERLING PIANOS and ESTEY ORGANS.

Cash, Installments or Rented.

S. D. LAUTER COMPANY,
657 and 659 Broad Street, Newark, N. J.

THE CURE FOR CATARRH
COLD IN HEAD
HAY FEVER

ELY'S CREAM BALM—Cleanses the Nasal Passages, Allays Pain and Inflammation, Heals the Sores, Restores the Taste and Smell, and Cures

CATARRH

Gives Relief at once for Cold in Head. [illegible]

NEGLECTED REAL ESTATE.

Wealthy Sharpers Who Let Weeds Grow to Escape High Assessments.

(From Dennis C. Crane's Annual Report for Union County.)

We might say, in justice to the real estate man, that while he has broken up farming and spoiled the beauty of the landscape, in many places there can be seen redeeming features worthy of praise, as an isolated and fenced-in city lots can be seen quite a number of tasty, modern-built houses, the garden and lawn well kept and made beautiful with flowers and graveled walks. The owners are among our most enterprising and useful citizens, and they join us in demanding that neglected land be better cared for. We want some law that will give our town committee power to tax every building lot or acre one dollar, annually, in addition to the regular tax, to be assessed and collected in the regular way, which should be kept as a fund for encouraging clean cultivation and good farming in the township.

Some of these wealthy sharpers neglect their land on purpose to keep down the valuation by the assessor, claiming it yields them nothing and has only a farm value; but let a buyer go to them, or a railroad be surveyed through it, and see what they will ask. If anyone is to have a reduction, give it to those who live on their places and keep them up, support the church, the school, and whatever is for the public good.

Especially during the past two or three years have speculators been buying eligible farms, and cutting them up into building lots. While we would not discourage the coming of good people among us, nor put anything unnecessary in the way of those engaged in this business, still we think they need regulating. Not only should they be required to keep up a system of cultivation, and fertilizing the land and rotation of crops, that will preserve its appearance and fertility, but the township should be a partner in saying how streets shall be laid out, and the size of the lot. It may look like trampling upon the rights of property and liberties of individuals, still we think the community has rights as well as the individual, and should have a voice in the matter.

A RECORD OF PROBITY.

The Career of W. L. Force Full of Instruction and Encouragement.

Under the caption "Death of an Eminent Plainfield Journalist", that excellent local journal, the Metuchen Inquirer says:

About two weeks ago the inhabitants of Plainfield were deeply grieved to learn that one of their most esteemed citizens, Mr. William L. Force, had met with a very severe accident while driving in the neighborhood. His arm, two ribs and breastbone were broken.

On Monday, death put an end to the poignant and protracted sufferings, which he had borne with invincible fortitude. Mr. Force was in his fifty-third year, and, humanly speaking, had a long term of usefulness and happiness before him. "His sun went down while it was yet day."

The career of Mr. Force is full of instruction and encouragement to young men beginning life. In boyhood he manifested the innate possession of sound common sense. When his school days were over he decided to learn the printer's trade. His was an example of an old head on young shoulders. He early realized that abiding success could not be achieved without acquiring habits of daily, drudging, plodding attention.

In his 24th year he ceased being one of the employed and rose to the higher grade of an employer. He formed a partnership with his brother, Mr. A. L. Force, in the printing and publishing business in Plainfield. They issued the first copy of the Constitutionalist on the 2nd day of January, 1868. By unremitting attention to business and acting always with unflinching probity, they gained and retained public confidence. Their business was prosperous.

Mr. Force was a born leader of men and naturally, in due time became a politician. He was a life-long Democrat and labored persistently for his party, believing that in so doing he was best promoting the country's prosperity.

On March 18, 1886, President Cleveland appointed Mr. Force postmaster of Plainfield, the manifold duties of which important office he discharged with marked ability, for the full executive term of four years. He established the free delivery service, and by his judicious supervision made it a great success.

Mr. Force was a valued member of many associations in and around Plainfield.

His nature was eminently social. He was kind and considerate, and was honored and respected by every one in his employment. His now sorrow stricken widow was the idol of his heart and was indeed his true helpmeet. Thursday his remains was laid to rest in North Plainfield cemetery. The funeral was largely attended by residents of Plainfield and surrounding country.

A Genial and Sociable Man.

(From the Rahway Democrat.)

Two weeks ago we referred to a serious accident to ex-Postmaster and senior editor and proprietor of the Plainfield Constitutionalist and Press, Wm. L. Force, by being thrown from a carriage. It is with sorrow that we now have to record his death, which resulted on Monday of this week at noon. Besides the broken arm and other outward injuries he was affected internally, causing pneumonia, which complications were more than he could bear up under. He leaves a widow, but no children. He was in the 53d year of his age, having lived in the vicinity of Plainfield all his life, learning the printing business in the office of the old Plainfield Union, which was succeeded by what is now the Times. In 1868, he, and his brother, Albert L., started the Constitutionalist in that city, which they have successfully published as a Democratic paper, also establishing the Daily Press in connection with it about seven years ago. The deceased was a genial and sociable man, belonging to a number of Masonic and other societies, and took much pleasure in hunting, fishing, etc., being fish warden of the county and an officer of the State association for the protection of game and fish. The funeral occurs Thursday afternoon of this week. We tender our sincere sympathy to the bereaved wife and other relatives. As the deceased and the writer started in the editorial business in this county at nearly the same time—he three years the later—our relations have always been very friendly, and we join with the family in mourning his departure from among us.

A Serious Accusation Against Dunellen's School Board.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE PRESS:—The people of Dunellen are in an uproar because the Board of School Trustees are about to remove Prof. Johnson, a graduate of Johns' Hopkins University, from the position of principal, and substitute a Mr. Whitney, late principal of schools at Nutley, a suburb of Newark, and who leaves there because he is not competent to carry the schools to the higher grade which the people demand.

The Dunellen people are quite anxious to raise the grade of their schools so that their graduates will be fitted to enter the Plainfield High school, and are highly incensed at having a capable principal removed to make room for one who cannot raise the schools in a much smaller place.

N. G. M.

—Sobring the clothier is offering some decided bargains in fine cassimere trousers at $2.25.

LITTLE PROFIT IN MILK.

Farmers Say the Present Selling Price Is Too Low.

In his annual report to the State board of agriculture, secretary Dennis C. Crane of the Union county board writes:

For raising milk for selling to families, the Jersey, Ayreshire and Holstein breeds each have their advocates. One farmer has a herd of Dutch Belted cattle. As there are poor cows in all breeds, so there are good individual cows in all. The feeding and keeping has much to do with the quantity and quality of the milk. For butter and cream, no doubt the Jersey excels, but those who keep the Ayrshires claim that she is more hardy and will live and thrive on poorer pasture in summer and coarser fodder in winter, while, on the same feed, she will give more milk, which has in it the element of her nature, namely, nerve, vigor and vitality. Such milk is especially adapted for small children and those with weak digestion. The Holstein has of late years been sought after for crossing on the best native cows. Not only are they as a rule good milkers, but the calves weigh more.

Our farmers do not see much profit in producing milk at present prices, especially those who have to depend on hired help. The redeeming features, however, are that the cows pasture on waste land and eat much rough fodder grown on the place that must otherwise go to waste, and it affords work for the hired men in winter. Then, too, some money is coming in every day, and the manure pile is increased.

We would like to mention and describe the places of those who farm intelligently and profitably. For the most part they are descendants of the old settlers, inheriting the old homesteads and possessing many of the old-time virtues of industry and frugality, with a practical knowledge of farming. They each own from 30 to 100 acres of land, mostly under cultivation. Their principal efforts are devoted to general farming. They keep, on an average, from ten to forty cows, many of them thoroughbreds and their grades. Some sell the milk at the door to retailers who pay three cents a quart in summer and four cents a quart in winter. Quite a number retail the milk in the near-by towns and receive six and eight cents a quart. The feed of the cows in summer is largely green rye, clover and fodder corn, with the addition of some corn-meal and bran and fresh beer grains. Through the day they run out in the woods and lowlands to pasture. In the winter the day's ration consists of corn-stalks, hay and three pecks of beer grains, with six quarts of corn-meal and wheat bran. They are housed in warm stables and kept in place with stanchions.

A New Market Man's Escape.

(Bound Brook Chronicle.)

It is only mere chance that THE CHRONICLE this week is not called on to record a serious accident at the unguarded Port Reading crossing in this place. The man who narrowly escaped being killed was David Randolph, of New Market.

He was driving a load of hay to South Bound Brook, on Wednesday morning. He came up the causeway and a passing Lehigh Valley train diverted his attention from the dangers that ever lurk at the Port Reading crossing. A coal train, running at the rate of probably thirty miles an hour, crept up on him and he only discovered his danger by the shouts of pedestrians on the river bridge. Some of the more timid closed their eyes expecting to open them and see a mass of mangled flesh. Theirs was a pleasing disappointment, for the man whipped up his horses and was saved by a hair's breadth.

Jealous Hatred and Malicious Spite.

In the columns of the Somerset street lottery sheet, Thursday night, appeared the following:

THE DIFFERENCE.

On the Plainfield side the street Commissioner saw that the workmen of the Street Railway Co. made the roadbed in as good a condition as before it was torn up. No extra charge.

In North Plainfield, the street Commissioner several times, acting upon the complaints of Boroughites, saw that the road was fixed right, although he was, by so doing, interfering with another man, appointed for that purpose. Merely an unnecessary expense.

But it's the difference! Political "pulls" ought to have its running gear disarranged in local affairs. The people have enough tax to pay.

A borough official says:

"The above is done out of hatred and spite by Tom Morrison and no one knows better than he the untruthfulness of the same. Now the facts are that the borough street commissioner never did anything on Somerset street during the construction of the Somerset street railway. He was busy macadamizing Greenbrook and the Rock roads all the time that the road was being built and the thanks of the property owners and the traveling public are due the inspector, and he alone, for the replacing of the street in the condition that it is now in. For any sane man to compare the strip beyond the bridge in this city to any part of the street on the borough side is simply idiotic. On Monday afternoon of this week in front of the lottery sheet's head-quarters the street laborers were filling in the roadbed with gravel and top dressing, leaving out the foundation stone that are so necessary, in the presence of witnesses. There was more foundation stone carted away from this strip by the contractors than there was in over five times the same distance on the borough side or any part of the road."

AN AUGUST ROAD RACE.

Lyceum Wheelmen Bound to Keep Cycling Alive.

That stirring young organization, the Lyceum Wheelmen, last night decided to conduct a road race on the Scotch Plains-Fanwood course August 26. The start will be from Scott's Press Works. The race will be open to all the State, and Capt. Kiely will receive entries. Prizes will be offered by the Lyceum Wheelmen.

Bogus! Bogus white lead would have no sale did it not afford makers a larger profit than Strictly Pure White Lead.

The wise man is never persuaded to buy paint that is said to be "just as good" or "better" than

Strictly Pure White Lead

The market is flooded with spurious white leads. The following analyses, made by eminent chemists, of two of these misleading brands show the exact proportion of genuine white lead they contain:

Misleading Brand

"Standard Lead Co. Strictly Pure White Lead. St. Louis."

Materials	Proportions	Analyzed by
Barytes	[illegible] per cent.	Regis Chauvenet & Bro.
Oxide of Zinc	34.18 per cent.	St. Louis.
White Lead	6.46 per cent.

Less than 7 per cent. white lead.

Misleading Brand

"Pacific Warranted Pure [A] White Lead."

Materials	Proportions	Analyzed by
Sulphate of Lead	4.18 per cent.	Ledoux & Co.,
Oxide of Zinc	45.04 per cent.	New York.
Barytes	50.68 per cent.

No white lead in it.

You can avoid bogus lead by purchasing any of the following brands. They are manufactured by the "Old Dutch" process, and are the standards:

"Atlantic" "Bradley"
"Brooklyn" "Jewett"
"Ulster"

For sale by the most reliable dealers in paints everywhere.

If you are going to paint, it will pay you to send to us for a book containing information that may save you many a dollar; it will only cost you a postal card to do so.

NATIONAL LEAD CO.,
[illegible]

"CLUB NIGHT" AT THE WATCHUNG.

In Spite of the Storm, the Members and Guests Have a Lovely Time.

Amid the vivid lightning and roaring thunder, the enthusiastic members of the Watchung club, Fanwood, turned out Thursday to the first "club night". Music of a superior quality, furnished by a New York favorite, made the dancing set forget the hot sultry day just ending, and the ball room was brilliant with pretty faces and lovely summer evening dresses, which made the scene a fairy spectacle.

Bowling and cards had their attractions for a few, who were enthusiasts of their favorite games, but dancing and brilliant music fired the heart of the majority.

Considering the rainy night, the attendance was very large, and all voted the return of Watchung's enthusiastic president, John Peters Stevens, a blessing; for to his energetic work and magnificent organization is mainly due the success and life of the reorganized club. Refreshments were served after dancing.

In the bowling tournament, Governor Urner made 201, which is the first score over 200, and is the record of the alleys for the new club.

Among those present were noticed the following: Mrs. G. F. Hamlin, Mrs. Leigh, Mrs. Cameron, Mrs. W. E. Gibbs, Mrs. Bates, Miss M. Louise Bates, Mrs. F. D. Warren, Miss TenBroeck, Miss Kate Stevens, a recent arrival from North Andover, Mass., and sister of president Stevens, Miss Tate and the Misses Boucher. It was noticeable that "The Row" was fully represented. The gentlemen present included Messrs. Bayler, Spring, Urner, Gibbs, Miller, Becker, Leigh, Robinson, Warren and Ashley.

Dr. Hodges Has a Fire.

A stupid servant upset an alcohol lamp in one of the apartments at the home of Dr. E. W. Hodges, Thursday, and a brisk fire resulted. Carpets, curtains and furniture were badly damaged before the flames were extinguished. The careless servant was discharged.

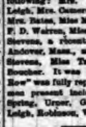
THE WRONGS OF LABOR.

National Conventions of Trades to Meet in Every Large City.

Political and Social Action—The Men and the Measures to Be Espoused Will Be of a Radical Tendency—Some Noted Leaders.

[COPYRIGHT, 1893.]

The country's various labor unions begin next week a series of gatherings throughout the country that will continue until the end of the year, and culminate in a conclave of the American Federation of Labor at Chicago, on December 12.

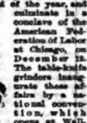


PHILLIP STRONG.

The table-knife grinders inaugurate these affairs by a national convention, which opens at Wallingford, Conn., on July 6, and, in turn, unions of retail clerks, harness makers, engineers, coopers, plumbers, tailors, machinists and every variety of manual laborers, will successively have a gathering in all the principal cities from Boston to San Francisco. They are so timed as not to interfere with each other, while various measures, social, industrial and even political, will be taken up and disposed of in turn.

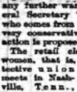
Strikes will be much discussed by the table-knife grinders when they come together at Wallingford. The delegates, especially those from the district where the Turner's Falls strike raged, are inclined to discountenance any further war on capital, and General Secretary Thomas Pinseglone, who comes from Bay State, Mass., is a very conservative man, when drastic action is proposed.

The retail clerks, salesmen and women, that is, whose national protective union meets in Nashville, Tenn., July 11, have not been generally considered an organizing class. Nevertheless they will send hundreds of delegates to the southern city, and thousands of male and female workers in retail stores, large and small, all over the country will follow the proceedings with a member's interest. President James Morrow thinks the sessions will continue some days and the presence of women will be somewhat of a novelty for a labor gathering. Miss Mary Burke, of Findlay, O., is a member of the union's executive board. One great question will be that of women's labor. The union has striven hard to raise their pay and condition with such success that the female membership has grown enormously, and the second vice president is now a woman, Miss Anna B. Weiss.



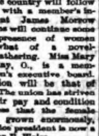
MISS ANNA B. WEISS.

The tackmakers have a gathering at Boston on July 15. This country and Canada will be represented by some two hundred and fifty delegates, whose principal business will be the settlement of the eight-hour question and an election of representatives to the December convention of the American Federation of Labor. Eagle hall, where the meetings are to be held, is a roomy structure, but its capacities will probably be "taxed," as the pen suggestive circular of one of the officers says. Craftsmen from all over the country have promised to come.



MISS MARY BURKE.

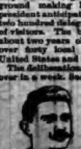
The dog days at St. Paul will be a week ahead of the Journeymen Tailors' union, which meets in annual convention there on August 7. President Frederick Jansen, who has held office some years now, will doubtless be reelected by the order. The sweating system in large wholesale clothing factories, although much less crying an evil than formerly, will be rigidly investigated and much of the debate at the sessions is to be on that subject. Secretary John B. Lennon, of the union, is also an executive officer of the American Federation of Labor, and the delegates who will go with him to Chicago, in December, are to be chosen by the St. Louis meeting.



JOHN B. LENNON.

The Brotherhood of Brass Workers sends its representatives to New York this year, and the 1st of August is the opening day of the convention. Secretary C. C. McGlogan is already on the ground making his plans, and the president anticipates the attendance of two hundred delegates to say nothing of visitors. The brotherhood is only about two years old, but it has now over forty local assemblies in the United States and Canada.

The deliberations are expected to be over in a week. Such well-known labor men as James W. Moloney, Neill McCallum, James J. Gates and others will be present.

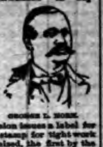


C. C. M'GLOGAN.

The carriage and wagon workers, marshalled by the president of the international union, William F. Stuart, are to assemble at Chicago on August 14, and treat with delegates over wages, the [illegible] of arbitration, not to mention the world's fair, the adjournment will not come for many days. This is also a young order, having been organized in 1891, with four hundred and fifty members all told. The members now run into the thousands.

The only considerable body of wage workers in the world which is prohibited by its constitution from taking part in strikes or from interfering with or making a standard of wages meets in national convention at Cleveland from September 5 to 9, inclusive, and is the National Association of Stationary Engineers. The association has now some 300 branches in almost every state in the union, and this, the twelfth annual convention, will be by far the largest and most important in the order's history. Should all the delegates, alternates, officers and committeemen elected attend, there will be between 800 and 1,000 persons at the sessions, not counting spectators or visitors.

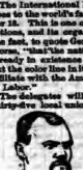
The Coopers' International union gathers at Milwaukee in September 11, next. These men have an elaborate series of stamps and labels to put on their work, and there will be considerable argument over them among the delegates when they settle down to business. The union issues a label for slack work and a stamp for tight work which are recognized, the first by the millers and the second by the brewers, distillers and others who use tight packages.



GEORGE L. HORN.

The International Machinists' union goes to the world's fair city on September 12. This is one of the new organizations, and its organization is due to the fact, to quote General Secretary N. Morse, "that the national organization already in existence refused to strike out the color line in its constitution and affiliate with the American Federation of Labor."

The delegates will represent about thirty-five local unions and thousands of members. The settlement of the labor difficulty and the adjusting of a uniform wage scale will be the two chief topics before them. Some of the radicals want a change in the apprentice system, and there is talk of prohibiting strikes altogether. Among the more notable men who will figure in the convention besides N. Morse are John A. Smith, William J. Thompson, A. H. Morden, George Heinzerling, Rudolph Stange, Fred Behre, Ernst Kuehne, C. J. Sjostrom, Aug. Waldinger and Martin Hill.

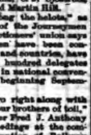


FRED J. ANTHONY.

"The helots among the helots," as Henry Weismann of the Journeymen Bakers and Confectioners' union says his fellow-craftsmen have been considered in all ages and countries, have chosen some three hundred delegates to represent them in national convention at Baltimore beginning September 11.

"We propose to go right along with our work to keep our brothers of toil," is how Grand Master Fred J. Anthony forecasts the proceedings at the coming national convention of Railway Shop Employes at Indianapolis which opens September 24. Here, in the grand master's own words, is the scope of the movement:

"About July 18, 1891, at the New Mexico headquarters of the A. T. & S. F. R. R. a little trouble arose between shop employes and the master mechanic which led to a strike of every man, although there was only one branch of employes organized, which were the machinists, and only half of them belonged to the union. On the morning of the second day, those of the machinists who did not belong to the union began talking of going back to work, and when the other employes who had no organization at all to back them heard of it, there was almost a stampede as to whether they should go to work or not. Just at that time I, who had begun to work in the shops four days prior to the walk out came around to the boys with a petition and agreement combined, setting forth that each shop employe who would sign it to ask for a charter and agreed to become a member of what shall be known as the Railway Shop Employes of America. Brother, I had some difficulty at first to get signers to this petition, but I was determined the men should not be beaten if I could help it, and that day at noon I had forty-five signers. I appointed the next day for a meeting to organize them. When the hour of meeting arrived there were mustered 19 out of 45 signers and they were organized.



WILLIAM H. COOK.

"We have now nearly thirty lodges and are still growing."

The month of October will witness national conventions of cotton mule spinners at Boston, and of railway trainmen in the same city, and of machine woodworkers in St. Louis. In November the electrical workers will send delegates from all over the country to Cleveland. The journeymen barbers do the same in December, but the representatives assemble in Cincinnati.

Finally on December 11 the annual meeting of the American Federation of Labor at which will appear delegates elected at all these various conventions will assemble in Chicago with Samuel Gompers presiding, and organized labor's work for 1893 will end when it adjourns.

Why He Was There.

The prisoner before the police court bar had been there before many a time.

"I'd like to know," said the judge, "why you get here so often?"

"It's the only place in town where I can get credit, your honor," was the ambiguous reply.

"Well, you haven't much credit here, I can tell you."

"May be so, your honor, but just the same I'm always charged with something when I come." And the court gave him ten days extra.—Detroit Free Press.

Foreign Travel Improves.

Successful Farmer—Son George got some sense durin' that foreign tour anyhow.

Wife—I hain't seen it.

"I have. You know he spent a good while in Lunnon, as he calls it."

"Yes, an' I'd like to know what good it did."

"Use y'r eyes, Miranda. He learned to turn up his pants w'en it rains."—N. Y. Weekly.

[illegible]

Old Party—Thank you, Antoine—thank you very much. Ah—do they allow tipping here?

Antoine—Oui, m'sieu.

Old Party—And are the guests likewise?

Antoine—Non, m'sieu, no rule in so [illegible] way.

Old Party—Very well, Antoine, here is a cent for you. I do not wish to break the rules.—Harper's Weekly.

Not Her Fault.

"Is Miss Morningside Park married yet?" asked a New York gentleman, who has just returned after an absence of several years.

"No, but she could have married one of the richest men in New York, if he had only been willing," was the reply of Hostetter McGinnis, to whom the question was addressed.—Texas Siftings.

[illegible]

"You see that young couple in front of us? Well, they're just married."

"How do you know?"

"Because he treads so carelessly on the skirt of her dress."

"But that is no sign."

"Oh, yes, it is. He'll be much more careful to [illegible]"

Cause for Discharge.

Judge (severely)—Horsewhipping is the only suitable punishment for you and your kind. The idea of a man of your size beating a poor, weak woman like that!

Prisoner—But, your honor, she keeps irritating and irritating me all the time.

Judge—How does she irritate you?

Prisoner—Why, she keeps saying: "Hit me! beat me! Just hit me once, and I'll have you hauled up before that baldheaded old reprobate of a judge, and see what he'll do with you!"

Judge (choking)—Discharged!—Puck.

A Philosopher Born.

An Indiana maiden, 4 years old, was driving along a prairie road with her father and a 6-year-old brother. The brother, who is of an anxious turn of mind, was in great distress at the sight of an ox that was calmly devouring a large pile of seed potatoes in the corner of a field. "O, papa, stop," he said. "We ought to tell the people in the house." "Do sit still, Freddy," put in his philosophic sister. "It isn't we ox, nor we potatoes."—Chicago Tribune.

An Unjust Suspicion.

A Texas gentleman went out fishing one day. He had a nice lunch fixed up, but upon arriving at the fishing place he discovered that he had lost it, so he retraced his steps until he met a large satisfied-looking negro, who was seated by the roadside under a tree picking his teeth.

"Did you pick up anything in the road?" asked the fisherman.

"No, sah, I didn't pick up nuffin'—couldn't a dog hab found it and ate it up?"—Texas Siftings.

Very Different.

Smith—You must have a wonderful memory to keep all those things in your head.

Jones—Yes, never forget anything when it is once there (pointing to his forehead).

Smith—Well, old man, how about the twenty dollars I lent you some time ago?

Jones—Ah, you see, that's different. I put that in my pocket.—Brooklyn Life.

[illegible]

Mose Schaumburg, Jr.—Vader, a shentlemans vants to know if dot unshrinkable undershirt don't shrink a leedle, anyvay.

Mose Schaumburg, Sr.—Does dot shirt fit him?

"No, it vas choost a leedle too pig."

"Of course it vill shrink. Vy don't you have some heads for pishness."—Texas Siftings.

Very Suspicious.

Friend—Why Elvira, what's the matter?

Elvira—Oh, I don't know, only I'm worried to death. I've had the same girl six weeks, and she doesn't talk about leaving yet.

"She doesn't?"

"No, not a word. She must be in love with my husband."—N. Y. Weekly.

Railroads.

The Pennsylvania Railroad.

The Standard Railway of America

Protected throughout by the Interlocking system and Block Signal System.

On and after Feb. 12, 1893, trains will leave Plainfield as follows:

[illegible]

FOR ATLANTIC CITY

[illegible]

A full line of tickets are on sale, and sleeping car accommodations can be secured at the ticket offices at Plainfield.

[illegible]

S. M. PREVOST, General Manager.
J. R. WOOD, Gen. Pass. Agent.

Central Railroad of New Jersey.

(Anthracite coal used exclusively insuring cleanliness and comfort.)

Station in New York foot of Liberty Street. Time Table in Effect, JUNE 25, 1893.

PLAINFIELD AND NEW YORK.

[illegible]

WESTWARD CONNECTIONS.

[illegible]

ROYAL BLUE LINE.

[illegible]

TELEPHONE COMPANY!

[illegible]

TELEPHONE TOLL RATES.

FOR FIVE MINUTES CONVERSATION.

PLAINFIELD, NEW JERSEY

[illegible]

TWENTY
Years experience in the business.
SECOND STREET, 3 doors above Park avenue

[illegible]

ALBERT HEDDEN,
Livery and Boarding Stables
FOURTH STREET,

[illegible]

CHRISTIAN HOSTS.

Twenty Thousand of Them Invade Montreal.

The Convention Leaders—Clergy and Laymen Who Will Address the Y. P. S. C. E.—Canadian Hospitality—Marshalling for the Good Fight.

[COPYRIGHT, 1893.]

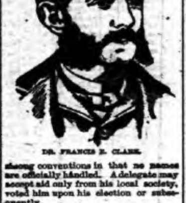
The twelfth Gubernatorial Christian Endeavor convention is to be held this year at Montreal, opening Wednesday, July 5, and closing Sunday, July 9. The phenomenal growth of the Y. P. S. C. E. since its humble origin twelve years ago in a Maine parsonage has ranked it among the yearly events of national importance to church societies and railroad managements, to thousands of delegates and the public, who wonders and questions concerning the methods and reasons of these annual gatherings. General interest was first excited last summer when 30,000 delegates of societies located in America, Europe, Asia and Africa and an immense following of unofficial visitors flocked to New York. They packed the auditorium of Madison Square garden—the largest audience hall on the continent—and overflowed in groups of a thousand and more into the neighboring churches. The last mass meetings were held simultaneously in Madison Square garden, Carnegie hall, the Metropolitan opera house and eight churches. Hotel managers, boarding house keepers and hospitable Christians were put to it to accommodate an influx of people which astonished even flexible New York, although a canvass had been made for the entertainment of visitors. With this in mind the C. E. managers of the convention in Montreal are already making extensive preparations for the thousands of young men and women expected in July.

The hotels can accommodate but a few of the delegates; a personal house-to-house canvass of private houses is in progress. An authoritative statement gives the rate in boarding houses and private families from seventy-five cents to one dollar and twenty-five cents without meals and from one dollar and fifty cents to two dollars and fifty cents with them.

A hospitable idea is that which provides for the reception of guests by a committee which will send scouts to meet each incoming train and boat one hundred miles from Montreal and escort travelers to the city. The members of the committee will wear white yachting caps to distinguish them in the midst of big crowds.

Meetings will be held in Drill hall, a fireproof building, seating 9,000 people, and in an immense tent pitched across the street, seating 8,000. This does not provide for the overflow meetings; they will be held in various churches simultaneously with the regular programme of the two main halls.

Over 19,000 delegates have planned to come—delegates who pay their own expenses can expect no aid from the general convention, which is unique among conventions in that no names are officially handled. A delegate may accept aid only from his local society, voted him upon his election or subsequently.



DR. FRANCIS E. CLARK.

Pennsylvania sends 2,000, New York 3,000, Missouri 500, Illinois 700, and New Hampshire but 750 delegates; forty-five states, five territories, seventeen provinces and several foreign countries will be represented by speakers upon the programme, while twenty-five different evangelical denominations will be heard from.

The chairman of the convention is Dr. Francis E. Clark—"Further Endeavor" Clark, as he is known among the members of the society he has founded and fostered. The general secretary is John Willis Baer, a young man who was prominent last year and has identified himself heart and soul with the society. There are numberless conference committees, branch and subcommittees, besides officers and committees to govern the various branches. The leaders include scores of prominent ministers and more laymen than have ever before appeared upon a Christian Endeavor convention programme.

The programme is so elaborate that the endeavorers will be forced to select those parts in which they are most interested to the exclusion of many others. Some of the speakers will discuss the following topics, included in the general programme.

The Wednesday evening meetings will be held in the four largest churches of Montreal. They are called "Preparatory," since the first hour will be devoted to prayer. The meetings will close with simultaneous addresses in the four churches by Rev. Theodore L. Cuyler, D. D., of Brooklyn, on "The Prayer that Has Power;" Rev. J. Wilbur Chapman, D. D., the evangelist, on "Receiving the Holy Ghost for Power," Rt. Rev. M. S. Baldwin, D. D., bishop of Huron, on "Individual Consecration," and Rev. Frank M. Bristol, D. D., of Chicago, on the "Secret of Power."

The exercises Thursday morning will be opened by the usual "early prayer meetings," which are held every day of the convention. Following will be three or four addresses of welcome in Drill hall. The dominion government will be represented by Hon. George E. Foster, minister of finance; the city pastors, by Rev. MacGillvery; the Y. M. C. A., by Secretary Budge, and the Montreal endeavorers by A. A. Ayer, chairman of '93's committee.

Thursday afternoon will be devoted to Junior C. E., under the charge of Mrs. Francis Clark, who has been as active in this work as her husband. Dr. Wayland Hoyt, D. D., of Minneapolis; Miss Katy H. Hales, of St. Louis, and J. W. Cowan, the first pastor to organize a junior C. E. society, will give addresses.

President Clark's annual address and the secretary's report will be given Thursday evening, alternately in Drill hall and the tent. Following these will be the presentation of banners to the state which during the year has made the greatest absolute gain in the number of societies.

WILLIE BAER.

Friday's speakers include some of the most brilliant men who attend the convention. Hon. W. B. P. Breckinridge, of Louisville, Ky., will deliver an address on "The Age and Its Possibilities," in lieu of that which he was prevented from giving in New York. The last speakers will be Bishop Arnett, D. D., of Vicksburg, representative of the African church, on "Christian Steward's Tie," and lastly, Rev. David J. Burrell, D. D., of New York, [illegible]

Subjects for several discussions Friday morning will be: The five essentials of a C. E. society. It is possible that the foreign representatives will largely occupy the time. No sessions will be held in the Drill hall and the tent during the afternoon. "Committee conferences" will be held in the churches instead.

Saturday morning will be given to missions. Missionary literature will be discussed by Mr. S. L. Mershon, of Evanston, Ill.; "Missionary Meeting" by Miss Ella MacLaurin, of Chicago, and lastly, a "Free Parliament," consisting of a great number of speeches one and one-half minutes long, will be conducted by Rev. Gilbert Reid, of China.

Saturday afternoon will be the time of friendly rivalry in the denominational rallies held in Montreal's churches. The chairman of the denominational conferences will make all the reports.

At Drill hall in the evening, the roll-call of states, provinces and foreign lands fills the first half of the evening, to be followed by an address on "International Fellowship," by Rev. George Wells, D. D., of Minneapolis.

In the tent will be held a most interesting session known as the pastor's hour. Speeches are but one and one-half minutes long. The closing address on "The Christian Endeavor Society a Typical Church Institution," will be delivered by Rev. Kerr B. Tupper, D. D., of Denver, Col. Sunday, the last day of the convention, will be as crowded as the most enthusiastic delegates can desire.

In the morning the Christian Endeavorers will be expected to attend church. The first regular meetings of the convention will begin in Drill hall and the last at 2:30 p. m. "Gospel Temperance" will be discussed by Mrs. Frances Barnes, superintendent of the National Y. W. C. T. U.; "The Religious Press," by Rev. Hooke, editor of the Independent, London, England; "Foes to Society, Church and the State," by Anthony Comstock.

In the Drill hall meeting T. E. Murphy, the temperance evangelist, will also discuss "Gospel Temperance;" Rev. G. Douglass, D. D., LL. D., president of Wesleyan theological college of Montreal, gives an address on "Social Purity," and Mr. A. N. Milbury, of DRILL HALL, MONTREAL.

New York, will talk on "Reaching the Masses."

Then come the great closing mass meetings and the sermons. President Clark will preside and lead the consecration meeting, called the "Mizpah," because the famous phrase is repeated in unison by the thousands present, and Rev. T. H. Lewis, D. D., president of Western Maryland college, will preach the sermon in Drill hall.

In the tent Rev. Fay Mills, the revivalist, will both preach and preside. And, besides these chief meetings will be many others, such as the junior rally, the conference of state officers and the local union and districts secretaries' conferences which are, says the general secretary, equally important.

The Poet of the Season.

To celebrate he points your way
The ancient gun corroded;
And as you die you hear him say
He didn't know 'twas loaded.
—Life.

Seedy Caller—Are you the financial editor of this paper?

Man at the Desk—Yes, sir. What can I do for you?

Seedy Caller—Couldn't you lend a pore man fifty cents?—Chicago Tribune.

The Lesson.

Artist (to class of young women)—Now, I think the composite picture of this class would be artistically beautiful.

Pretty Student (aside)—Strange that one face could so bring up the average!—Puck.

Sure to Be Profitable.

"When I grow up," said Bob, "I'm going to be an architect and draw pictures of big houses, and make other people build 'em and pay me for letting 'em do it."—Harper's Young People.

At a Fashionable Watering Place.

Mr. Billydoo—Surely you have not come here for the cure, Miss Hopeless?

Miss Hopeless—It depends on how you look at it. I have really come to find my mother a son-in-law.—Judge.

[illegible]

Doctor—You mustn't eat too much.

Patient—Why, I [illegible]

"Do you? [illegible]"

MISCELLANEOUS | MISCELLANEOUS.

E. P. THORN,
No. 17 Park Avenu,
PLAINFIELD, N. J.

Pure Wines and Liquors,
For Family and Medicinal Use,
A SPECIALTY.

3-26-y

CASTORIA
for Infants and Children.

THIRTY years' observation of Castoria with the patronage of millions of persons, permit us to speak of it without guessing. It is unquestionably the best remedy for Infants and Children the world has ever known. It is harmless. Children like it. It gives them health. It will save their lives. In it Mothers have something which is absolutely safe and practically perfect as a child's medicine.

Castoria destroys Worms.
Castoria allays Feverishness.
Castoria prevents vomiting Sour Curd.
Castoria cures Diarrhœa and Wind Colic.
Castoria relieves Teething Troubles.
Castoria cures Constipation and Flatulency.
Castoria neutralizes the effects of carbonic acid gas or poisonous air.
Castoria does not contain morphine, opium, or other narcotic property.
Castoria assimilates the food, regulates the stomach and bowels, giving healthy and natural sleep.
Castoria is put up in one-size bottles only. It is not sold in bulk.
Don't allow any one to sell you anything else on the plea or promise that it is "just as good" and "will answer every purpose."
See that you get C-A-S-T-O-R-I-A.

The fac-simile signature of Chas. H. Fletcher is on every wrapper.

Children Cry for Pitcher's Castoria.

It Depended.

With a view to giving a performance in the evening the manager of the traveling dramatic company was inspecting the building called by the enterprising Arizona proprietor an opera house.

"Yes, it's large enough," he said, "and the lighting arrangements seem to be about right, but it hasn't exits enough. In case of a sudden alarm there would be a crush. Did you ever try to find out how long it takes to empty the hall?"

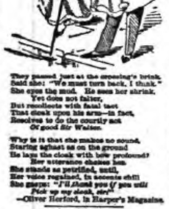
"You bet I have!" answered the proprietor. "A dog fight on the outside will empty the buildin' in twenty-seven seconds by the watch."—Chicago Tribune.

Where the Goods Went.

Mrs. Kerstyle—I gave you more material to make this dress than I ever used in a garment before and the skirt is hardly full enough to fit a churn. How does that happen?

Dressmaker (shrugging her shoulders)—Madame insessted on having ze sleeves in ze height of ze fashong.—Demorest's Magazine.

ABSENCE OF MIND.



They passed just at the crossing's brink.
Said she: "We must turn back, I think."
She eyes the mud. He sees her shrink.
Yet does not falter,
But recollects with fatal tact
That cloak upon his arm—in fact,
Resolves to do the courtly act
Of good Sir Walter.

Why is it that she makes no sound,
Staring aghast as on the ground
He lays the cloak with bow profound?
Her utterance chokes her.
She stands as petrified, until,
Her voice regained, in accents chill
She gasps: "I'll thank you if you will Pick up my cloak, sir!"
—Oliver Herford, in Harper's Magazine.

Too Willing.

Howson Lott—I tell you, you ought to come out and live at Lonesomehuurst. It's the healthiest and most beautiful station on the road.

Murray Hill (musingly)—I wonder if I could buy a nice little place out there?

Howson Lott (eagerly)—Yes; I'll sell you mine! Dirt cheap, too!—Puck.

No Competition.

"You say you have no competition in this line," said the traveling agent to the merchant.

"That's what I said."

"But there are two other men selling these goods here."

"I know it. But neither of them advertises."—Washington Star.

It Makes a Difference.

"Boggs must have a poor memory. He has been owing me five dollars for a year."

"On the contrary, I think he has a good memory. I owe him five dollars, and he asks me for it every time he sees me."—Life.

All the Accessories.

At a restaurant a customer who had ordered a cauliflower au gratin found in the middle of it a large tin tack. Calling a waitress he inquired: "Is this a part of the cauliflower?"

"No," she replied, "it's part of the grating."—Vogue.

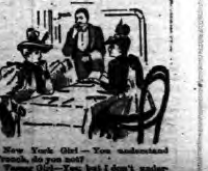
Real Economy.

"I have a remarkably economical wife."

"Makes her own bonnets and gowns, I suppose?"

"No," dejectedly; "she makes my shirts, cuffs and collars, though."—Chicago Record.

IN FRANCE.



New York Girl—You understand French, do you not?

Vassar Girl—Yes; but I don't understand why the French don't understand their own language.—[illegible]

THE CONSTITUTIONALIST.

VOL. XXVI. PLAINFIELD, N. J., THURSDAY, JULY 27, 1893. No 30.

"Support the Constitution, which is the cement of the Union, as well in its limitations as in its authorities."—MADISON.

Rates of Advertising

SPACE	WEEKS 1	2	3	4	MONTHS 1	2	3	6	12
1 in.	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]
2 in.	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]
3 in.	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]
4 in.	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]
5 in.	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]
¼ col.	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]
½ col.	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]
1 col.	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]

All Electro's must be solid metal.

Double col. 30 per ct. advance of above rates.

PROFESSIONAL CARDS.

JACKSON & CODINGTON,
Counsellors-at-Law.
Commissioners of Deeds, Masters-in-Chancery, Notaries Public. Offices corner of Park avenue and Second street.—jentf

GEORGE W. DAY,
General Auctioneer.
Sales of Personal Property solicited. P. O. Box 122, Dunellen, N. J. Or address in care of CONSTITUTIONALIST. Terms reasonable.

DR. CHARLES E. THEIRS,
Dentist,
49 West Front street. A new local anesthetic application for extracting teeth without pain. Gold filling a specialty.—jn4tf

BUSINESS CARDS.

P. P. VanArsdale,
PIANO TUNER.
Instruments put in thorough order. Terms reasonable. Pianos and Organs for sale and to let. Orders by postal. P. O. box 180, or left at Willett's shoe store, No. 8 Park avenue, will receive prompt attention. Residence 91 E. Front street, corner Elm street. jlyl9tf

John Chandler,
CARPENTER AND BUILDER,
Plainfield, N. J.
Residence and shop No. 36 East Third street.
Jobbing promptly attended to. ap2y

E. B. MAYNARD,
PRACTICAL BARBER
AND
Artistic Hair Dresser,
No. 26 PARK AVENUE.
Ladies' and Children's Hair Cutting done at their residences. Shaving, Shampooing, etc. satisfactorily performed. 27yl

CARNEY BROTHERS, Agents,
7 West Front St.
TINNERS,
PLUMBERS,
GAS FITTERS.
PARLOR STOVES,
COOK STOVES,
HEATERS.

Grates and Bricks for all kinds of Stoves can be found here at Jobbers' prices. Bring your Tinware mending to us. The best Tinners, the best Plumbers, and the best Gas-fitters in this section. We use none but the very best of materials, and our work always gives satisfaction.

Keys of All Kinds are Made Here.
Tinware Made to Order.
Ranges, Brick and
Portable Furnaces
SANITARY PLUMBING.

Parlor Stoves,
Furnaces, Ranges,
Water Piping, Plumbing.
Heater Work. Tinning,
Hardware.
A. M. GRIFFEN,
13 East Front Street.
TELEPHONE CALL, 6. 11 11-tf

Beautiful Assortment!
Furniture!
Largest Assortment!
Best Goods!
Lowest Prices!
Ever Offered in Plainfield!
23, 25 and 27 PARK AVE.
Garret Q. Packer.

LEWIS B. CODDINGTON,
(Successor to T. J. Carey.)
Furniture and Freight Express!
OFFICE—24 W. FRONT ST.
Large Covered Vans or Trucks. Goods delivered to any part of the U. S. Satisfaction guaranteed. Charges reasonable. P. O. Box 1 ... Piano moving a specialty.

SANITARY PLUMBING,
Brick and Portable Furnaces,
GAS FITTING,
TIN ROOFING,
Etc. Etc.

"I am prepared to do any of the above branches in a strictly first-class, sanitary and workmanlike manner.
Having associated myself with the Master Plumbers' Association of New York City, I employ none but first-class mechanics and non-union men. Employers to every man running his own business all times and in all cases.
D. W. LITTELL,
No. 9 North Ave., Plainfield, N. J.

MISCELLANEOUS

FOR MALARIA,
GENERAL DEBILITY
AND
ALL STOMACH TROUBLES
COLES'
PERUVIAN BARK
AND
WILD CHERRY BITTERS
ARE THE BEST.
A Vegetable Substitute for Quinine.
SOLD BY ALL DRUGGISTS.
Price, 50 cents and $1.00 per Bottle.
PREPARED ONLY BY THE
D. F. COLES DRUG AND MFG. CO.
RAHWAY, N. J.
5-27-y

Jas. M. Dunn,
Dealer in
GROCERIES, PROVISIONS
Vegetables, Fruits, etc.
No. 36 Park Ave.
OPPOSITE NORTH AVENUE.
THORBURN & CO'S GARDEN- SEEDS
BEST IN THE WORLD.
ALL GOODS DELIVERED FREE OF CHARGE
aba3lf

ESTABLISHED 18 6.
C.E. & J.W. BROWN,
(Successors to G. F. & C. E. Brown & Co.)
Importers, Wholesale and Retail Dealers in
WALL PAPER.
321 Canal Street;
NEW YORK.
English Tiles, Anaglypta, Hand, Leather Raised Flock Papers, &c. Burlaps for Walls.
Manufacturers of Window Shades.
3-15-tf

LIVERY.

REMOVAL.
A. M. SEGUINE,

Has removed his office to
No. 8 West Second Street,
(Salvation Army building)
Where all orders left for carriages will receive prompt attention.
TELEPHONE CALL, NO. 36.
Your patronage is respectfully solicited.
A. M. SEGUINE.

RICKERT'S
ACCOMMODATION EXPRESS.
OFFICE—Vanderbeek's Music Store, Park avenue. The "Accommodation Express" will attend to the general carrying business of the city, delivering goods or baggage to and from the depot, or from place to place.
Moving of Furniture, Pianos, etc., with care and safety.

INSURANCE.

WILLIAM A. WOODRUFF,
FIRE AND LIFE
INSURANCE AGENT,
Office cor. Front St. and Park Ave.,
PLAINFIELD, N. J.
Real Estate for Sale & Exchange.
MONEY TO LOAN
On Approved Security.
Mar3tf

Fresh Garden Seeds
AND FERTILIZERS,
Farm and Garden Implements,
Lawn Mowers Refrigerators,
Ice Cream Freezers
Gasolene Stoves, Hardware, Tools, etc.
J. J. HEIDELOFF,
No. 19 Somerset St. 3-15-tf

CANOPIES
For Weddings, Parties, Etc.,
TO HIRE. CHARGES REASONABLE
Hugo Weigman,
20 EAST FRONT STREET, PLAINFIELD, N. J.
mch8tf

THE PLAINFIELD
PACKING HOUSE
25 West Front Street,
Would respectfully inform its patrons that in addition to the usual stock of
Fresh, Salt and Smoked Goods,
It has added a full line of
Fresh Beef, Lamb,
Veal, Mutton & Poultry,
Which it is prepared to sell at
Reasonable Prices!
All goods delivered free of charge.
Telephone 141.
C. M. ULRICH.

TOBACCO, SEGARS, &c.

B. EGGERDING,
No. 17 Park Avenue,
PLAINFIELD, N. J.
Manufacturer of the Celebrated
C. O. D. CIGAR,
The best 5 cent cigar in the State, and made on the premises from the finest Havana.
CLEAR HAVANA SEGARS A SPECIALTY.
A large assortment of the Choicest Brands of Foreign and Domestic Cigars, Cigarettes and Tobaccos, always on hand.
Smokers Articles in Great Variety.
1aply

A. WOLFF,
Manufacturer of
CIGARS,
And dealer in all kinds of Smoking and Chewing Tobacco, and smokers' articles, has removed from 12½ W. Front street, to 41 West Front, one door east of Madison avenue, and solicits the patronage of his friends and the public generally. 4 2 m

PAINTERS & PAINTERS SUPP

Paints, Varnishes, Glass.
WINDOW SHADES AND FIXTURES.
WALL PAPERS!
PAPER HANGING A SPECIALTY.
A. SWALM,
No. 6 North Avenue, Plainfield.
4a22

L. B. WOOLSTON, J. N. BUCKLE
Woolston & Buckle,
PAINTERS,
Wall Papers,
PAINTERS SUPPLIES. 38 NORTH AVENUE
au6tf

G. Dickinson
Optician
13 Park Ave
Plainfield N.J.

WHATEVER form of printed matter you require we can be of service to you; whether it be

Letter Headings,
Circulars,
Programmes, Menus
Addresses,
Memorials,
By-Laws of Societies,
Prospectuses and Reports of
Financial Associations, or any other matter for Public or Private Circulation.
Everything

WEEKLY CONSTITUTIONALIST
DAILY PRESS
(Chautauqua Building),
PLAINFIELD N. J

Children Cry for Pitcher's Castoria.

When Baby was sick, we gave her Castoria.
When she was a Child, she cried for Castoria.
When she became Miss, she clung to Castoria.
When she had Children, she gave them Castoria.

TELLS OF PLAINFIELD'S MERITS.

All the World Now May Read the Stories of New Jersey's Queen of Garden-Spots.

A sumptuous little book entitled "The Central Railroad of New Jersey, Illustrated" has just been issued, and every Plainfielder will scan its pages with interest. The volume pictures the beauty-spots all along the route of the people's favorite railway, and gives faithful description of them. Of the region here and roundabout it says:

"Nineteen miles from New York, 48 minutes by rail, and you reach Westfield. Situated 168 feet above tide water, the town is remarkable for its health. The village is alternately fanned by the cooling breezes of the sea or the gentle zephyrs wafted down from the mountains of the Orange range. One of the oldest residents of this town tried the experiment of going out into the country to die, but it didn't work, and though this was over twenty years ago, he still prosecutes his business on 'change, as hale and hearty as ever. If you wish to know about Westfield ask him. With its public schools, especially the Lincoln high school, of which any town might be proud, its seven churches, national bank, two club-houses, and the imposing structure of the Standard publishing concern, Westfield can hold her own with any of them. The building of the Westfield Athletic club is certainly worthy of especial mention. A $25,000 club building is not often seen in a town of 3,000 inhabitants, but Westfield is abreast of the times.

"The Scots, in 1684, founded a village right in the shadow of the noble Watchung. To this day it bears the name of Scotch Plains, though the station is called Fanwood. Back in the lap of the mountains nestles the 'Deserted Village', so called because the suspension of operations at the factory there left the village untenanted. The location was too romantic to be thus neglected, and it has become one of the most lovely villages of summer residence to be found anywhere. With its beautiful lake, well-kept drives and easy access from Fanwood station, it deserves its popularity.

"The little gem of railroad architecture now upon your left is the station of a delightful suburb of Plainfield, known to the lovers of beautiful resorts as Netherwood. Here is the far-famed Netherwood hotel. This magnificent pile of brick stands out in charming contrast with its rural surroundings. This is a hotel for those who wish every elegance of the public palace and can afford to pay for it. It is under the management of its owner, F. E. Miller, who has a reputation which ensures the success of his house. Plainfield is a large city of palatial residences. Here is congregated such an abundance of opulence and culture as are seldom met with in the same area. Beautifully laid out with all the improvements of the modern city, the visitor can never tire of wandering about this later paradise, and studying the varied architecture of its homes and the beauties of its landscape gardening. Here you see a veritable old English estate, a French chateau, a Swiss chalet, and then again one of those unnamed architectural structures which are the result of an evolution wholly American. From the 'Old Colonial' to the 'Queen Anne' is but a step. Perhaps they are side by side, or across the street one from another. It is possible that you are a trifle mixed as to architectural style; if so, don't 'give it away'; just class the uncertain structure under the head of American composite and you will be safe.

"It is not surprising that Plainfield should have grown to its present proportions as a city of homes, for its location and surroundings are most eminently favorable. Pure water, rapid transit, cheap commutation and congenial society are among its many advantages. Fast express trains carry the commuters, some 1,500 strong, to and from the metropolis without a stop. The beautiful Blue Ridge protects it from the winds of winter and reflects the varied hues of the setting sun in summer, while on the east are the Short Hills of Revolutionary fame standing guard against the night rack rolling up from the sea. A dry and porous soil adds to the healthfulness of the location for invalids, so that it has come to be spoken of by physicians as the 'Colorado of the East'. No city is complete without a home for the travelling man. If you stop at the Hotel Grenada, close by the station, on your first trip, the genial landlords, George and Wallace V. Miller, are sure of a second visit. The country roads of New Jersey are justly world-famous. The bicycler who desires to visit any of the towns along this line will find the policy of the road liberal toward the wheelman. The horseman or bicycle rider who is not satisfied with the roads of Union county must be fastidious indeed. These roads should be taken advantage of, and there is no danger that they will not. Visitors to Plainfield who have never ridden a wheel before are sure to get the fever, for every one in this part of New Jersey rides. It is but the natural sequence of so much riding that Plainfield should have the best equipped wheelmen's headquarters in the State. Located on the corner of Park avenue and Fourth street, it occupies two large stores and basements in an imposing brick building. These quarters comprise salesroom, offices and reading room in one store, and in the other rental and repair departments, while the basement is devoted to a repository and ware-rooms, with a large enamelling oven in the rear. A visit to this store will give you an opportunity to examine, not only the different styles of the renowned Columbia and Hartford bicycles, but, as well, numerous other leading makes. It is not bicycles alone that the visitor finds here, for the proprietor, Frank L. C. Martin, has an emporium of general sporting goods more complete than is often met with outside of the big cities. The reading room is fully equipped for the comfort of its patrons, who can purchase their "smoke" on their premises, or quench their thirst with ice-cold soda water dispensed from a large and convenient fountain. Mr. Martin, who is one of the best-known wheelmen in the State, organizer of the Great Century, (100 miles), Newark-Philadelphia run, and is also its annual pacemaker, has established a reputation for giving full value for old machines taken in exchange for new ones. If you are in for a trade, correspond with him, either in Plainfield, or the branch store which he has established at New Brunswick. Grant avenue and Evona are suburban stations of Plainfield. At Dunellen, the next stop, was founded the Seventh-Day Baptist congregation, which has since exerted so great an influence in these parts. Back on the mountain from here stands the historic Washington Rock, where the 'Father of his Country' kept his tireless vigil on the movements of the British."

The book quotes verbatim from the columns of THE PRESS a considerable portion of Walter Irving Clarke's description of Minnen Peak, J. T. Vail's charming site on top of the mountain beyond Washington Rock, and gives a picture of the incomparable view there to be obtained. Pictures are also given of Wetumpka Falls, Sebring's Mills, Hotel Grenada and THE PRESS office, and Fanwood house. The seashore along the Jersey Central's Long Branch route is similarly treated.

The letter text of the book is in pleasant, chatty narrative style, from the facile pen of Ralph Moreton Hooker, who is also getting up THE PRESS souvenir of Plainfield and Westfield, with pictures of Plainfield's homes and streets. It is an excellent sample of what may be expected in the Plainfield book.

The publication is in the highest style of the engraver's and printer's arts, and is under the copyright of H. P. Baldwin, the gifted and eminently capable general passenger agent of the Jersey Central road. In the book, which will have world-wide circulation, Mr. Baldwin has a good thing for his road and for the towns of its route. But then only good things are to be expected from Mr. Baldwin.

THAT POOR ITALIAN!

Plainfield's [illegible] [illegible] Surprises the Metropolis.

(From the Sabbath Recorder.)

The World's Fair is not alone in the enjoyment of an unusual distinction growing out of the Sunday agitation. Other places seem to catch the inspiration, and while Sunday trains on the great thoroughfares go thundering through country, village, and city; while trolley street cars are built and run on Sunday, hacks, hotels, livery stables, excursions, post office, games, etc., etc., are carried on the same as on other days. But here comes a poor Italian selling peanuts and he must become an example. Over his devoted head the law must be maintained! All the dignity and force of the city administration must be invoked, and even the city ordinance must be amended, not to reach hacks, railways, saloons, livery stables, etc., but the man who sells peanuts or candy or perhaps a necktie and collar!

The New York World devotes over one column to the matter under the large head lines, "Plainfield in a Dilemma", and the next day the New York Tribune speaks out as follows:

> There has been a remarkable increase of late in the sect known as Seventh-Day Baptists in Plainfield, N. J. This circumstance would not call for comment were it not that action by the city authorities has become necessary in consequence of this growth. The Seventh-Day Baptists observe Saturday as the Sabbath, and by a special ordinance those of them who keep shops have been permitted to have them open on Sunday. Advantage has been taken of this arrangement by persons who claim to be Seventh-Day Baptists, but who are such for revenue only; that is, in this way they are enabled to carry on business seven days in the week. The surprising thing in the matter is the innocence of the city authorities who supposed that no one would take advantage of the ordinance referred to except those whom it was designed to benefit.

World's Fair Philanthropists.

Messrs. Boddie Bros., wealthy Chicago gentlemen, having the interest of their city at heart, and desiring to disprove the falsity of the statement that only in boarding houses can be found moderate priced accommodations during the World's Fair, remodeled and furnished at great expense one of their famous absolutely fire-proof business structures, located corner of Franklin and Jackson streets, within short walking distance of the Union depots, theaters, post office, board of trade, steam, elevated, cable roads and steamboats to the World Fair, furnished newly throughout five hundred rooms, superb parlors, elevators, electric lights, exhaust fans to keep cool entire building, named this property The Great Western Hotel, and invited the public to take their choice of rooms for $1 per day, children 5 to 12 fifty cents. Elegant restaurant and dining rooms where fine meals are served at 50 cents, or a la carte at very moderate prices.

There would be less heard or known of extortion and imposition connected with the World's Fair were there more public spirited, fair minded men in Chicago as are the owners and proprietors of The Great Western Hotel. Our readers should write as early as possible to secure rooms, for they are being taken up rapidly.—St. Paul Daily News.

Young in Heart, Though Old in Years.

WHEREAS, Our Heavenly Father in his infinite wisdom has permitted the last earthly good-bye and transferred from mortality to immortality our beloved brother, Theodore J. Gillies, and

WHEREAS, We, the members of the Exempt Firemen's association, not only conscious of our own loss, but in sympathy with the deep sorrow of his bereaved family, do hereby Resolve, That we extend to those nearest and dearest to our departed brother, our heartfelt sympathy in their greater loss—a loving husband, a tender father, a kind brother—while we mourn the loss of one who was respected in his official capacity, beloved in all his associations, honored for his Christian character and kindly deeds. Our elder brother, honored with length of days, though ever young in heart; now exempted from life's duties, its pleasures and adversities.

Resolved, That in fidelity to his memory, our rooms be draped in mourning for a suitable period, that these resolutions be placed on our records, a copy sent to his family, and further published through the daily papers.

G. THORN,
S. C. RIDER,
D. W. LITTELL,
Committee.

Beloved, Respected and Honored.

WHEREAS, The Supreme Ruler has seen fit in his infinite wisdom to remove from our midst the beloved husband, and our brother, William L. Force; therefore be it

Resolved, That the Exempt Firemen's association has lost a worthy and esteemed member; one who was beloved for his kindly nature, and to a high degree respected and honored by his fellow citizens, and be it further

Resolved, That while offering to the memory of our departed brother our full tribute of love and respect, we extend to his bereaved wife and near relatives our heartfelt sympathy in this their sad hour of affliction.

Resolved, That in further commemoration, our rooms be draped in mourning for thirty days, and that these resolutions be placed upon the minute book of the association. Also

Resolved, That a copy of these resolutions be sent to the afflicted family and published in the daily papers.

G. THORN,
D. W. LITTELL,
S. C. RIDER,
Committee.

They Lose a Good Officer.

Bergen D. N. Carter, president of the Young People's Society of Christian Endeavor of Trinity Reformed church, has tendered his resignation to the executive committee of the society, and Miss H. C. Benedict, first vice-president, will fill his unexpired term. Mr. Carter intends to leave Plainfield in a few days, hence his resignation.

The Mecca of All the World.

Washington Rock will be visited by New Brunswick's Second Presbyterian Christian Endeavor society, August 1. The picnic party will travel by stage, and anticipate a delightful day.

He'll Make a Member.

At a regular meeting, Tuesday, John F. Stevens was unanimously elected a member of the Fanwood fire company.

Fred. Smalley is at Ocean Grove.

AS WE LIKE IT.

"And now I see THE PRESS avers
Our gallant Plainfield amateurs
For fame are going to strike it,
And we shall wake some sunny morn,
To find upon a local lawn
Sill Shakespeare's "As You Like It".

Of course 't will be most ably done,
For many varied talents run
A riot in our players;
And still I pray two things to know,
And trust that out of time will grow
The answers to my prayers.

I want to ask whom we have got,
In our aristocratic lot,
Who has the strength of heart,
To dress himself [illegible],
And unreservedly essay
Bold Charles, de Wrestler's part?

And what sweet, gentle girl have we,
Possessed of the temerity,
To faithfully portray
Coy Rosalind in this great show?
For Rosalind wears tights, you know,
In Mr. Shakespeare's play!

THE CHUMP.

TRIED TO BREAK UNCLE SAM.

Banker Fisk of Plainfield Thwarts a Shabby Sheeny Trick.

What was construed as a bear trick to depress the stock market was thwarted by the use of Plainfield gold. On Tuesday, in the board room of the Stock Exchange, broker George W. Stern, acting for A. J. Weil & Co., offered $50,000 in Government 4 per cent. bonds at 110 3-4, "payable in currency". The offer was one-quarter below the regular market price, and was promptly accepted by Pliny Fisk of Harvey Fisk & Sons, who suspected a speculative scheme of some sort. Plainfield's Seventh street resident consulted with some bankers, and procured $5 and $10 pieces to make the payment of $55,375. A. J. Weil appeared in person with the bonds yesterday morning, and when he was offered the gold refused to accept it.

"Currency was stipulated," said Mr. Weil.

"Gold is the best kind of currency," replied Mr. Fisk.

"But I won't take gold," said Mr. Weil. "I want paper money."

"If you don't deliver the bonds and take this gold before the delivery hour" (2:15 p. m.) said Mr. Fisk, "I shall buy in the bonds on the Stock Exchange."

A. J. Weil went away, and Henry G. Weil, the "board member" of his firm, who gave the order to broker Stern, appeared later, and, after a conversation similar to the preceding one with Mr. Fisk, took his departure.

At 1:45 p. m. a cab drove up with clerks from Mr. Weil's office, who delivered the bonds and carted off the gold, which weighed 215 pounds.

"There was no bear trick", said Mr. Weil later. "We sold the bonds for a customer who desired currency—paper money—for them. We were simply put to inconvenience by Mr. Fisk. The customer took the gold".

"I believe", said Mr. Fisk, "that the idea in selling the bonds below the market 'for currency' was to make out that there are not paper notes enough in New York to pay for the best security in the world. I determined to spoil the game. I could get the currency to pay for $5,000,000 of bonds to-morrow. Had the scheme succeeded, I presume it would have been telegraphed through the country and to Europe. It is the first time that the credit or ability of the government has been brought into question on the Stock Exchange". -

There was some talk of bringing charges before the Governing Committee against Weil & Co. for "conduct detrimental to the best interests of the Exchange".

Mr. Fisk has been highly complimented by the leading bankers of New York for his extraordinary astuteness and the good care he took of the government's interests. The president of the Stock Exchange said that Mr. Fisk should have the full support of the Exchange, and a million in gold if necessary to sustain the Government's credit.

PRIESTS WHO ARE BAD.

They Run the Greek Church, and Plainfield Learns All About Them.

The chapel of the First Presbyterian church was filled to its utmost capacity Thursday with those who were anxious to hear the Rev. Lewis Bond and his wife tell of their missionary work in Bulgaria and Macedonia. Mr Bond spoke for about half an hour, and Mrs. Bond sang two Bulgarian hymns and afterwards spoke for a few minutes.

Mr. Bond said that with the exception of a few Mohammedans the people in European Turkey are chiefly under the rule of the Greek church. This church as found in the provinces where the missionary work is going on is Christian only in name. There is a Turkish proverb that if you wish to find if a fish is putrid you should smell of the head. This test might be applied to the head of the Greek church, as the whole system was rotten to the core. The priests—continued Mr. Bond—are all liars, and are proud of the fact, and it is a common thing to hear expressions like "lie like a priest", "drink like a priest", "steal like a priest". He told of a funeral that took place when the priest was so drunk that he fell in the grave and the people made sport of him and threw dirt in on top of him, saying that he should be buried too. It has been asked if the Greek church was not good at bottom, if it did not hide its light under a bushel. To this Mr. Bond replied that the light was there in the form of the Scriptures and that the bushel was there, but that the priests sat on the bushel and would not let out the light. In the district over which Mr. Bond has control there are 250 communicants, 8 missionary preachers, 9 preachers from the seminary that the Protestant church has educated, and 9 graduates from the church schools, who are all working for the same needs. They have besides these, three Christian Endeavor societies. At the close of her husband's talk, Mrs. Bond sang two Bulgarian hymns that sounded very weird. She then told an interesting story of a peasant family that were converted, and of the happiness that came out of it. Mrs. Bond spoke in a charming manner, and did much to show the true state of the family life in the wild countries where she has spent most of her life.

Accuse Their Ex-Treasurer.

The Plainfield Athletic club at a recent meeting passed a resolution to notify the local newspapers that Wm. Kiely, their ex-treasurer, was short $50 in his accounts, and that he would be prosecuted if restitution were not made.

Got Ready to Can.

An immense crop of peaches is expected by the growers in Hunterdon, Sussex and Warren counties this year, and the only difficulty will be to secure enough help to pick the fruit.

Everything Serene Again.

Charles E. Moore has withdrawn his water-works suit against the city.

POSTMASTER POPE SAYS NO.

Those Plainfield Poles in the Borough Will Not Come Down in a Hurry.

A PRESS reporter called on postmaster E. R. Pope on Thursday in regard to the notice that had been served on the Plainfield Electric Light company by the North Plainfield borough council, to remove their poles and wires from all parts of the borough.

Mr. Pope said that he had received the notice but that no action would be taken until H. G. Runkle returned from central New York, where he is taking a short vacation.

"I expect him home daily,"—said Mr. Pope"—and then we will take action on the matter; but we won't be in any hurry about taking the poles down."

The notice calls for the removal of the poles within twenty days of the serving thereof, and is sent as the result of the action of the borough council at a meeting held July 7.

As was stated in THE PRESS of July 8, the trouble originated when the Warren chapel was taken under the wing of the Crescent Avenue church. Improvements were started, and the chapel was wired for the Westinghouse lights as supplied by the Plainfield company. Then the borough company said that those from this side of the brook had no right to supply the chapel with light, and the matter was put before the borough council, with the results stated.

Mr. Pope's statement that they will not hurry to take the poles down seems to justify the prophecy that was made in THE PRESS at the time the action was taken:

"It is believed that the Plainfield company will not yield its footing in North Plainfield without a struggle, and an interesting bit of litigation may result."

The strongest point in favor of the borough is that they cl... when the Plainfield company fir... les in the borough it was w... derstanding that the... on demand. It is a ... THE PRESS and the pe... result with interest.

The Warren chapel people have r... to use the light furnished by the North Plainfield company, and it is not improbable that they will claim damages f... the borough on account of their b... deprived of light for so long a time. street commissioner has been autho... to cut down the poles if the com... does not remove them in the sp... time, and the expected litigatio... probably be in the character of an i... tion to prevent the commissioner... ing so.

THE DEADLY STOVE.

This Time Kerosene Gets Fine Work.

A kerosene stove in the kitche... holder A. Vanderbeek on Sog... caught fire from a leak in the... Wednesday afternoon about 4...

Mr. Vanderbeek's daughter, ... Shotwell, and one of the mai... were in the kitchen at the tim... spent about ten minutes in th... deavor to put out the blaze. ... piration of that time they cal... and Mr. Peck, who lives near... colored man, responded to ... They doused the stove ... smothered it with a piece ... then took the whole thing ... yard. Through the cooln... ence of mind of all conce... was put out without any d... without calling out the a... only damage was a partl...

NOT MOODY AND

But Moody and Norwood, ... Have a Lively Time.

Dennis Moody and John Norwood, two colored waiters at the Hotel Netherwood, had an altercation Wednesday over an apron. They came to blows, and had it hot and heavy for a few minutes, when Moody broke away and started to go out through the door. Norwood picked up a bottle, and struck the retreating Moody over the head, and laid the scalp open down to the bone. Both men were brought before judge Coddington, who fined Norwood $25 and advised Moody that he could have a State complaint made against him for assault and battery. It is thought that Moody will push such a complaint.

FEWER TEACHERS' DARLINGS.

Plainfield Students Advised to Go to College Only on Their Merits.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE PRESS:—I trust that you will not consider it impertinent in me (an old educator) to congratulate Plainfield that this year it is to send fewer young men and women to college on principal's certificates. It has a refreshing sound, I admit, to hear the boast that eminent colleges admit students on the certificates of the principal. It argues well for the school; but it is not to the pupils' advantage. Such pupils enter handicapped. They lack the independence of those who "face the music". Do you understand me when I say that I am glad that so few are going in with tied hands. The examinations are big bugbears, and the scholar who is rejected is a rara avis. Go into it, boys, with your eyes open; and you will be all right, and there will be no chance to hear your chums say "Willyjenky was his teacher's darling, and he got him in!" They always "throw" it, and the throw hurts. Moreover, the Faculty is apt to look on "certified" pupils as weak. (Faculties, you know, look down on pedagogues, and prefer to guage their classes by their own standards!) Good for Plainfield!

ALFRED M. BENNETT.

No Shooting Craps at Babbitt's.

James Babbitt claims that his place on East Front street is run on a legitimate system. He says he will not allow card playing for money, and that the police are privileged to come and go at their pleasure.

Sign Those "Sewer Postals" Now.

Acting-mayor Neal of North Plainfield is very anxious that those who have not yet signed and returned to him the "sewer postals", should do so at once that the question may be acted upon at the August meeting.

The Carriers' Anxious Seat Seized.

It is said that the bench in letter carriers' row, owned by the street railway company, was taken away Wednesday night to satisfy a judgment against John Neighbour, against whom Mr. Boice, the last man to take the initiatory degree, brought suit.

—Hammocks are to be placed in Boice's apple orchard by the nearby neighbors, and the boards of health of the city and borough are to be invited to spend an evening there, where the atmosphere is flavored from the Peace street sewer outlet.

HOW ABOUT THIS, REV. MARTINE?

A Public Meeting Wanted, Yet the President of the School Board Won't Call It.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE PRESS:—I read with interest the answer of the "Rev. A. I. Martine, D. C.," to my communication of last Saturday, but refrained from answering it until reading The Call to-night. The Rev. A. I. Martine, D. C., presents my letter and his own in to-day's Call and I am now satisfied it is time for me to say more.

Possibly I used the wrong word when I said uproar, for it is not exactly an uproar; but there is a strong feeling of disapproval at the action of the board, and over forty of our leading citizens have signed a petition asking that Prof. Johnson be retained: and also asking for an opportunity to present the same to the board and for a hearing on the subject, but thus far without success. We expected such an opportunity Tuesday evening, but the "Rev. A. I. Martine, D. C.," was out of town, and the president of the board promised that a meeting would be called for to-night. He was visited Wednesday morning before six o'clock by the "Rev. A. I. Martine, D. C." I do not know all that passed between them, but the outcome of the visit was that no meeting was called, and when two citizens waited on the president this morning with their petitions to ask the reason "why" and to request that a call be issued at once for a meeting to-night, he refused to do so, saying that they were under no obligation to give them an audience nor an explanation. Before leaving they secured from him the promise of a meeting at some future time. This movement of the people is the expression of a determination to see justice done both to our village and to Prof. Johnson.

As to the "Rev. A. I. Martine, D. C.'s" "secondly"; it is what the board has done that is making the commotion: ...have told Prof. Johnson (whose ...one questions) "that his ...ever be required" and ...whom the ...publicly ...ld ... become a... people la... "why?". The a... iculous for a sane man... moment. Your space is too ... waste in repeating such nonsense. ...egard to the "Rev. A. I. Martine, ...s" "thirdly", I can say that I have two citizens other than he who have ...d on the people of Nutley and the ...bers of the Nutley school board and both confirm what I said in my com...ication of Saturday of the incom...ency of Mr. Whitney as a disciplin...n and organizer, and of his inability ...raise the grade of the schools. The ...ev. A. I. Martine, D. C." I know "is ...t ready to believe" me, but I can bring ...m proofs of my statement that come ...oser home than any yet made, if ...ed be.

"Fourthly", neither the "Rev. A. I. Martine, D. C." nor any other member of the board have stated that they were dismissing Prof. Johnson because they believe him incapable, which would be a reasonable reason. That is all the people demand and is what they will insist upon.

It will not do for the "Rev. A. I. Martine, D. C." to say that Prof. Johnson is incompetent to teach our schools and then to recommend him for a higher one, which he has done since this controversy began.

This communication simply contains a few hints from which the "Rev. A. I. Martine, D. C" can draw his own conclusions, and is written to give him an opportunity to right himself before he is waited on by a citizens' committee.

N. G. M.

NOBLE GRAND, E. H. CLEVELEY.

Delightful Ceremonies Attended the Installation of Odd Fellows' Officers.

District Deputy Grand Master Charles W. Tallman and staff visited Plainfield lodge, No. 44, I. O. O. F., Wednesday evening, and installed the following officers for the ensuing term:

Noble Grand—E. H. Cleveley.
Vice Grand—S. N. Schlief.
Recording Secretary—Rudolf Kersting.
R. S. N. G.—L. C. Kline.
L. S. N. G.—E. R. Pope, jr.
R. S. V. G.—J. Kettenring.
L. S. V. G.—H. C. McVoy.
Outside Guard—J. Sutton.
Inside Guard—Henry Nischwitz.
Conductor—Andrew Carpenter.
Warden—E. L. Boice.
Chaplain—N. C. Pennington.
R. S. S.—William Grannatt.
L. S. L.—Theodore Kurzhals, jr.

Large delegations were present from Westfield lodge, No. 169, Westfield; Hanna lodge, No. 145, Elizabeth, and Lawrence lodge, No. 62, Perth Amboy. After the installation, a bountiful supper was served in the banquet room, which was enjoyed by all present. The visitors left on a late train for their homes, fully satisfied with the few hours they spent with their District Deputy Grand Master and Plainfield lodge, No. 44, I. O. O. F.

A VERY MYSTERIOUS FIRE.

But it Was Discovered in Time and One of Hetfield's Rows Saved Again

A fire occurred in Hetfield's "brick row" Thursday at 8:32. The house was rented by Charles Ficke, but nobody was at home at the time.

The origin is a mystery. Ex foreman Vroom, of the H. and L. company, saw the flames in a room, from his home around the corner on Madison avenue. He climbed the porch roof, raised a window and crawled in. A bed was all ablaze, but there was no lamp in the room and no trace of where the fire came from. He burned his hands throwing the bedding out.

An alarm was sounded from box 41. The box worked all right but the blows were so long because of some friction in the steam valve, that a few people could n't count them satisfactorily. The recall came twenty minutes later as the engines and truck were not needed. Five extinguishers put the fire out.

Where that Fine Stone Comes from.

Many of the buildings in Plainfield are made beautiful by the celebrated Martinville stone. This is obtained from a quarry owned by W. E. Bartels, who has just opened a large stone yard on the land of the Boice estate, on Park avenue, adjoining the Jersey Central railroad. He has a large force of men at work, both in the quarry and in the stone yard, and is fully equipped to supply this elegant building stone. The surface of the quarry is 30 feet below ground, and the supply is inexhaustible. Mr. Bartels is a most honorable man to deal with, and his yard is in charge of T. L. Abbott, a capable foreman and courteous gentleman.

—Snipe abound down Green brook way.

—John Burke, formerly of Plainfield but now of Pottstown, has been secured to play in the Reading base-ball outfield.

The Constitutionalist,
A DEMOCRATIC WEEKLY.
E. L. FORCE & A. L. FORCE, Editors and Proprietors.
AT PLAINFIELD, NEW JERSEY.
TERMS—TWO DOLLARS A YEAR.

MORE CONDEMNATION OF THE COURIER.

It Publishes Another Lot of Falsehoods Turned In by Its Cheap Reporters.

The people of Scotch Plains can't find words emphatic enough with which to deny the false tale about "Postmaster Baker's attempted suicide", published in yesterday's Courier 24 hours after it was denied in THE PRESS. A few of the most glaring falsehoods dumped into the Courier's columns by its cheap reporters, were:

That "Mrs. Osborne" was passing, when there is no such person in the town.

That "Phil Paff said". There is no "Phil" Paff, and Tom Paff says he did not say there was a pistol found and did not say there was suicide intended.

The Courier also said that the servant at Mr. Baker's house said so and so. There has been no one in the house but Mrs. Baker herself, and she has had no servant in more than a year.

Mr. Mead, Mr. Baker's partner, denies emphatically that there has been any attempt at suicide by Mr. Baker, and condemns the Courier for printing such an unfair article after Mr. Mead had called at its office and given them the facts.

Mr. Baker has been ill but is much better to-day. He sat up and attended to business matters yesterday.

DUNELLEN'S SCHOOL QUESTION.

Indignant Citizens Protesting Against Mr. Johnson's Removal.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE PRESS:—A number of Dunellen's citizens met last evening and presented a petition containing a large number of names in favor of retaining Mr. Johnson, to the Rev. A. I. Martine, clerk of the board.

Mr. Martine was asked for a reason for dismissing Mr. Johnson. He gave none worthy of consideration, and the Rev. Mr. Kinsey, who was present, plainly told Mr. Martine that he should leave the meeting with that impression.

Mr. Martine's interpretation of a Johns ...kins University course as applied to ...le was simply ridiculous.

...ther very large petition in ... Johnson, it is reported, ...s presented to the board soon. ...at can be learned, no legal compe... argain with Mr. Whitney of Nutley has yet been made. ONLOOKER.

PERSONALIA.

J. D. Runyon has gone to Bloomington, Ill., for ten days.

The Rev. and Mrs. Robert Lowry, of Park avenue, are at Asbury Park.

Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Runyon, of Madison avenue, are enjoying a little rest at Easton.

Postmaster James A. Baker is improving rapidly and will be able to be out in a few days.

Mr. and Mrs. Will Dunn, of Central avenue, contemplate a week's outing and rest in Ocean Grove.

Herbert Cass, of East Second street, is enjoying a two weeks' vacation at Saranac Lake, in the Adirondacks.

The family of councilman C. J. Fisk, of West Seventh street, will spend the month of August in Bethel, Maine.

Dr. and Mrs. Murray, of Watchung avenue, are off for a short trip to the mountains in the vicinity of Pocono.

Harold Tomlinson, of East Sixth street, will spend Sunday as the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Siebrecht of New Rochelle.

The Misses Addie and Carrie Dunn, of Philadelphia, are visiting their cousin, Miss Susie Van Winkle, of Park avenue.

Thaddeus Doane, jr., is spending his vacation in the Catskills, Adirondacks and at Saratoga, instead of Poughkeepsie.

The Rev. B. Fay Mills has refused the degree D. D. He says he prefers to be like the Saviour, without title, a plain minister.

Will MacClymont, of Washington avenue, will leave town Monday for Asbury Park, where he will spend the greater part of August.

The Netherwood coach parade has been postponed for a week, on account of four of the party starting off to-day for a drive to Lake Hopatcong.

Manning Hughes, a former resident in this city, and a brother of the late John Hughes of North Plainfield, died at Morris Plains Thursday.

Herbert Eyno, formerly of this city, and now engineer at the Haverstraw electric light station, on the Hudson, is visiting relatives and friends here.

Miss Kittie Manning is enjoying the many attractions of Asbury Park, and in the estimation of the young men has herself become one of the greatest attractions.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Chandler, after a pleasant three weeks' visit with Mr. and Mrs. Daniel B. Page, of West Third street, returned to their home at Harrisburgh, Pa., to-day.

Wm. Meeker, John Everly and Charles Burnett went fishing at Townley's Bridge on the Passaic river, Thursday night, and caught more fish than they could conveniently carry home.

P. Hall Packer, of Seabright, brother of Garrett Q. Packer, of this city, is mentioned as a candidate for the office of State Vice Councilor, at the next session of the State Council of the Jr. O. U. A. M., to be held in Trenton in October.

The other day when H. P. Brook was looking about Washington Park, North Plainfield, he was both pleased and surprised at its beauty, and said it was the same old story over again: "One man inaugurated the improvements in that end of the village, and a few others stepped in and got both the glory and money." Mr. Brook also said: "He was passing life smoothly and was contented with the world". He now resides in South Amboy.

Vladimir de Pachmann, the great pianist, arrived last Saturday, and was seen yesterday by Albert Venino, who after listening awhile to a wonderful rendition of several Chopin numbers, invited the little man out to refresh himself, which Pachmann did to the queen's taste. For nearly five hours Mr. Venino had the pleasure of hearing the pianist give utterance to his ideas of musical musicians. Liszt and Rubinstein came in for the lion share of his admiration, and Paderewski was not entirely forgotten. Mr. Pachmann's first battle was with a big watermelon, which, as he declared, got the best of him and laid him up for several days. On Monday Mr. Venino will see him again to make arrangements for his first Plainfield concert, the date of which will soon be announced. A few subscription cards are at Reynolds's pharmacy for people who have not received any circulars, and who may desire to avail themselves of the opportunity of hearing the greatest series of concerts ever given in Plainfield.

The Constitutionalist.

W. L. FORCE, | A. L. FORCE

Editors and Proprietors.

SHOOTING AT RANDOM.

Even rampant politicians should be cautious how they deal in reckless statements.

Mr. Elkins, ex-member of President Harrison's Cabinet, in his partisan zeal to antagonize the present Democratic Administration, presumes to say:

"If, instead of adding to the distrust about silver, Mr. Cleveland, early in April, had boldly declared it was the established policy of the United States, by the terms of the Silver Bill, to maintain the two metals at a parity, and that he would do so under any and all circumstances, it would have helped to prevent the silver scare."

It is charitable to attribute ignorance to Mr. Elkins rather than willfulness, because in the very month of April President Cleveland declared his purpose to do exactly what his political opponent above quoted says he ought to have done. The following emphatic language of the President then put forth cannot be misconstrued:

"The President and his Cabinet are absolutely harmonious in the determination to exercise every power conferred upon them to maintain and to preserve the parity between gold and silver and between all financial obligations of the Government.

"While the law of 1890 forcing the purchase of a fixed amount of silver every month provides that the Secretary of the Treasury in his discretion may redeem in either gold or silver the Treasury notes given in payment of silver purchases, yet the declaration of the policy of the Government to maintain the parity between the two metals seems so clearly to regulate this discretion as to dictate their redemption in gold."

To maintain a sound and sufficient currency of gold, silver and paper of uniform par value is Democratic endeavor, but to accomplish that desirable end, bad Republican legislation [illegible] removed from the pathway of [illegible]

[illegible] ...ll study recent polit... may become a wiser

CO[illegible]ESSIONAL DUTY.

There has been much said and written in regard to the proper action of Congress at its coming special session, but nothing so explicit and to the point as the published views of Congressman Harter, of Ohio. His programme, portraying practical statesmanship, is divided into five sections as follows:

1. The purchasing clause of the so-called Sherman Act should be promptly repealed, and without conditions of any kind.

2. The national banks should be allowed to issue notes up to the par value of their bonds deposited to secure their circulating notes.

3. When he deems it necessary for the purpose of maintaining the paper and silver money of the United States at a parity with its gold money, or when he deems it necessary in order to promptly pay all debts of the United States as they become due and payable, the Secretary of the Treasury should be authorized, with the approval of the President, to sell in such amounts, at such times, and upon such terms as he considers wise, five-thirty 3 per cent. bonds of the United States.

4. When he shall have been properly advised that not less than ten of the leading nations of Europe, including Great Britain, Germany and France, have opened their mints to the free and unlimited coinage of both silver and gold as legal-tender money, the President should be authorized to open the mints of the United States to the free and unlimited coinage of both metals at the same ratio as then governs the European mints.

5. The extra session should then adjourn, leaving all further legislation for the regular session."

NO HOPE FOR HILLSIDE.

She'll Have to Win All of the Final Matches to Tie with the Other Teams.

Plainfield's representatives fared badly last Saturday afternoon, when the New Jersey Inter-club lawn-tennis league held their second series of matches, on the courts of the Bergen Point Tennis club. The results were as follows:

Post and Strong, Jersey City, defeated the West Bros., Hillside, 6-4, 6-2, 6-0.

Smith and Howard, Bergen Point, defeated Post and Strong, Jersey City, 6-1, 6-2.

Smith and Howard, Bergen Point, defeated the West Bros., Hillside, 6-1, 6-0.

The record:

	Won	Lost
Jersey City	3	1
Bergen Point	2	2
Hillside	1	3

Next Saturday the concluding series of games will be played, on the grounds of the Jersey City club.

HE LEFT AT MAMIE'S CALL.

After the Albion's New Broom Had Swept the Cash Drawer Clean.

The Hotel Albion's new night clerk, after two evenings' service, left suddenly Sunday morning with all the contents of the money drawer from the desk and the cash box from the safe. Payment on the checks taken was stopped at once by wire and instructions were given to arrest anyone presenting them.

The culprit, who is a young man of education and breeding and most prepossessing manners, was probably driven to the deed by financial difficulty or domestic trouble. He received a telegram on the afternoon he left which said:

Have raised ten. Come at once. Don't tell Mr. Stelle. MAMIE.

UNION COUNTY'S CHAMPIONSHIP.

Plainfield Should Brace Up and Send Her Best Team.

The two-mile team race for the Union county championship is likely to be a hot one. The teams consist of three men, and it is quite possible that the Elizabeth Wheelmen and Elizabeth Athletic club teams will consist of men who ride in the Journal trophy races. Last year the cup was raced for at the Hospital carnival at the Jockey club grounds on Labor Day, the Elizabeth Wheelmen and Plainfield Bicycle club being the only competitors. The Elizabeth Wheelmen won on the heavy track in 6.22. This year there will probably be more contestants and a greater race.

—An organ with only three stops—three times a day for meals—can be heard any time in "Darkest North-Plainfield", (Race street), where the borough's colored population is concentrating.

THIS MOB MEANT MURDER.

1,500 MEN RIOT ON PLAINFIELD AVENUE.

Little Johnny Taylor Had Pilfered an Apple from Charles L. Parmele's Garden, and Was Bound Fast to the Cellar Steps Till the Cords Bruised Him—Exaggerated Reports Precipitated Attempts at Lynching.

(From The Press of July 25.)

Murder was in the hearts of many Plainfield people last night, and the red flag of riot was waved at the head of a violent mob demanding the lynching of Charles L. Parmele.

Fruit-thievery has long been the pest of householders of the west end, from Liberty street to Evona. Mr. Parmele has been a sufferer like the rest. His home is in the house owned by Lemuel W. Serrell at 134 Plainfield avenue, near the bridge, just back of Mr. Serrell's own home. Mr. Parmele has been especially victimized by what is known as the Boulevard Gang. They have robbed him of fruits, vegetables, eggs, groceries; they have crippled his dog; they have stoned his wife and struck her in the breast. But he could never get hold of the offenders.

Two boys were in an apple tree in his garden when he went home at 5:30 last evening from the Pond Machine Tool Works, where he is draughtsman. At sight of him they fled. He chased after the bigger one, who, after running 200 feet, stumbled and fell.

"I grabbed him by the slack of his blouse"—said Mr. Parmele to a PRESS representative this morning.—"I never touched his flesh, nor hurt him in any way, but immediately he set up a wail, and cried 'Oh let me go this time and I'll never do so no more!'

"But I felt that the time had come to make an example of my persecutors. I escorted him through the kitchen, where I picked up a piece of rope that had been cut from a hammock. Conducting the blubbering lad to the cellar, I passed the rope through his arms at the elbows, across his back, and bound him to the rail-post of the cellar stairway. I was careful not to make the knots tight enough to hurt severely, but just firm enough to hold him securely.

"Leaving him bound and standing there, I went to Mr. Lounsbury's house and asked if they had a telephone, as I wanted to summon a policeman. They had none, and I got Carl Galup to watch the house and see that no effort at escape was made. Mounting my wheel, I rode to the police station. That was locked, but at the corner of Park and North avenues I found an officer, whom I think was Mr. Lynch. I told him of my capture of the boy, and he sent me to Justice Nash's to see Captain Grant. I told Mr. Grant that I wanted an example made of the boy. He said he thought the matter was outside of his jurisdiction; that it was a State offence. I told him I thought it strange that it was so hard for him to find a law to arrest a thief under, but both he and Mr. Nash advised me to let the boy go.

"Said I: 'Provided you will send a policeman to his parents, and warn them that he must stop his thievery, I will release him.'

"When I reached home, I had not been absent more than 30 minutes. The boy could be heard still crying, and I was astonished to find a great crowd gathered.

"However, I proceeded straight into the house, unfastened the boy, and turned him loose. He walked away.

"The outrageous action of the mob, you know about. I remained in the house till some time after midnight, when I was notified by the police that I must give bonds for my appearance in court.

"This is a complete and truthful statement of the facts in the case. I assure you I never intended the boy any bodily injury, and he suffered none. It is true that by his straining at the ropes he did raise slight red ridges on the flesh."

Mr. Parmele grew very indignant as he recounted his wrongs at the hands of the lawless Boulevard Gang. His neighbors corroborated him in the statement that there was absolutely no peaceful living among them, and they said if this boy is vindicated it means that the Gang will over-rule all decent people.

Police Captain George W. Grant says that the mob which gathered at Mr. Parmele's home numbered at least 1,500 people. Plainfield avenue was blockaded. The people surrounded the house and were violent in demand for Mr. Parmele's life. For the story was on every tongue that Mr. Parmele had strung up a lad by the thumbs till the blood gushed from his nose and mouth and till his arms were paralyzed, and doctors were reported as saying that ten minutes more would have ended his life.

The story grew in the telling, and Mr. Parmele was pictured as the most brutal being on earth. Cries of "Bring out the murderer!" were raised. "Lynch him!" was cried. Patrick Lawler waved a red flag and urged the crowd to follow him, "I'll hang him!"—he shouted—"and I'd hang Captain Grant or any other policeman just as quick!"

The entire available police force was on the ground, and attempted to quell the riot. Stones flew through the air and thumped against the house. Loud threats were made, and vile abuse was heaped on the police. Tar and feathers were freely talked of. Inside the house all was dark, but the occasional moving of a second-story shutter indicated where Parmele was watching the mob.

When Lawler defied the authorities, Captain Grant grabbed him and hustled him through the crowd. Friends of Lawler attempted to tear him away. "Keep back"—said Mr. Grant—"or you'll get burnt." His determined manner awed the crowd, and he got Lawler safely away.

One other arrest was made—that of William Haywood by Policeman Lynch. Haywood was violent and abusive as Lawler had been. This morning City Judge Coddington fined Lawler $5; and Frank Coriell, Haywood's employer, gave bonds for Haywood's appearance for trial.

By dint of persuasion and threats of arrest, the police finally succeeded in getting the mob quieted and to disperse. A man named Duffy who had volunteered to fetch Mr. Parmele out of the house was silenced by Captain Grant's cry "Wyckoff, I'll lock you up!" He mistook the man. Angry groups hung about till near midnight, and not till after all had gone did the police seek Parmele in the house.

The lad over whom all this fuss had been made was John Taylor, jr., aged 13. His father was frenzied on learning of the treatment the boy had received. He openly threatened Mr. Parmele's life, and was so wrought up that he started out to inflict summary vengeance. One man who essayed to stop him was knocked flat for his pains, and it took several men to overpower Taylor. At last Taylor got a pistol, and is said to be "laying for" Mr. Parmele. Taylor will be put under bonds to keep the peace.

Mr. Parmele's arrest, made some time after midnight, was on a complaint charging him with atrocious assault with intent to kill. His landlord, Mr. Serrell, went surety for him, and he was released for a hearing to-day. The original warrant was issued by Justice King, but the case came up before Justice Nash this forenoon. Mr. Parmele claimed and proved legal defects in the complaint as prepared by Justice King, and hearing was delayed until the technicality could be straightened out.

Captain Grant says Mr. Parmele certainly had no right to tie the boy, and adds that he should have merely brought him to town and turned him over to the authorities. Mr. Parmele says had he ventured through the streets with the lad he would have been set upon by his pals, and he still thinks that he did the only thing he could under the circumstances.

Justice Nash, who saw the boy soon after his release from cellar captivity, says that the only marks on him were the red rings where the rope had chafed his arms.

Mr. Parmele vows his determination to procure protection against the vandalism of the Gang, and his long-suffering neighbors promise to back him up to the end.

But Mr. Parmele's neck was in great danger last night, and feeling still runs high among the ringleaders of the rioters.

Taylor's home is on Second street. He says he got only one apple.

The senior Taylor insists that the imprisonment of his son was a brutal outrage and that the story as at first reported is absolutely unexaggerated.

GOSSIP.

Events of Monday night constitute an impressive object-lesson pointing two morals. The evil of taking the law into one's own hands is strikingly illustrated in the case of Mr. Parmele. He meant well, but his judgment misdirected him. And then the mob did worse. But the most striking feature of the night's proceedings is the harm that gossip does. Plainfield people yesterday would have deemed it preposterous that so dangerous a mob would gather for so trivial a cause, as that which threatened the property and life of Mr. Parmele. It is a charity for Mrs. Parmele that she was not at home to witness the disgraceful and terrifying riot. And a little gossip was the cause of it all. Young Taylor was not hurt. He needed no medical attendance. When released, he stopped crying and went away. But gossip was abroad in the land, evil tale-bearers spread false stories that inflamed fiery natures, and it is a mercy that a valuable citizen was not lynched as a result of the inflation of bad blood. The moral of it all is: Don't gossip. Don't bear false witness. When you hear bad report, investigate and get the facts. Never say a thing unless you know it's so. When one sifts the story down, Mr. Parmele wasn't so culpable as the rioters who made a bad-enough matter many times worse. In any event, it doesn't pay to back against the law. Justice has human representatives who are ready to take charge of all offenders.

Another striking lesson of the evil of gossiping came to light on Tuesday. On absolutely no foundation, an idle tale was set afloat that a Plainfield institution with which confiding people have entrusted many thousands of dollars had closed its doors, or was about to do so. This little bit of gossip, breathed here and there, caused many to forsake their previous confidence, and a disastrous "run" was threatened. Fortunately, the officers of the institution were fully prepared to meet just such emergency. But that trifle of gossip has caused distrust in some quarters that will not be dispelled for days to come.

Above all things, don't gossip.

JAKE AICHER SAVES A LIFE.

A Pullman Porter Had Put a Woman Off the Car When It Was in Motion.

On the arrival of train No. 506 at the North avenue station, Saturday night, a woman intending to go to New York attempted to board the forward end of the sleeper. The train conductor, Jacob Aicher, saw her step upon the lower step leading to the sleeper, and pulled the signal for the train to proceed, but he was greatly surprised when the same woman after the train had started attempted to step on his platform next to the rear, and had it not been for Mr. Aicher's agility in assisting her the woman would have been thrown beneath the wheels.

It is said that the porter sat upon the steps of the sleeper, and prevented the woman boarding the train at that platform. The porter's name is Anderson. Had it not been for Mr. Aicher a serious if not fatal accident would have occurred, as a train was pulling into the station on the westbound track at a high rate of speed.

Mr. Pullman should pull these obsequious porters down for their arbitrary manner in dealing with passengers. Who knows whether the lady in question had the money to pay for a seat extra in "the Pullman"? The train was late and to two observers the porter was apparently asleep, sitting on the step.

SQUABBLE OVER A BRIDGE.

Freeholders of Two Counties Fighting a Passaic Contractor—Meanwhile, Go Round or Swim.

The bridge over the Passaic river from Morris to Somerset counties, is the cause of a big dilemma. The freeholders refuse to accept it, claiming that it was not built according to the specifications; and Wm. Cooper, jr., the contractor, says he will not change it. The freeholders have paid him about $365 on account, and decline to give him the balance. Isaac Colthar, the builder, says that the work was done as ordered. He claims he received only $50 for his work, and he will fill the specifications only by order of the freeholders of both counties.

Freeholder Adams of Warren is inclined to pass the work as done, but freeholder Bullman of Somerset says he does not constitute the board, and that the work must be done as contracted for.

The bridge is much needed, and was to be finished last winter. The old bridge is not safe for teams; the truss is rotted away, and one water beam is rotted almost off the piers.

The other bridge of the neighborhood, leading from Morris to Union counties, is still down in the river, so if one wishes to cross the river he has to go two miles around.

HAYWOOD IS SORRY.

With a Contrite Heart He Pays $40 for Inciting Riot.

The night of the Plainfield avenue riot, William Haywood was very bold and belligerent. He waved two flags, cursed the police, and urged on the mob.

Tuesday, after his release on Frank Coriell's parole, he got drunk and boasted about the streets, and Policeman Kiely said he was too dangerous to be at large, so locked him up.

This morning Haywood's boldness had all left him. He stood before the bar of Judge Coddington's court and shook visibly with nervousness and fear.

He acknowledged his guilt, in a low trembling voice, and said he was very sorry.

The Court sternly responded that his riotous conduct might have caused bloodshed and loss of life. All the mob wanted was a leader, and Haywood had set himself up for one.

Haywood was fined $40, which he paid.

The court told him that Frank Coriell, his employer, was the best friend he had, thought a great deal of him, and was much grieved at his misconduct. The prisoner was very penitent, and promised to reform.

Captain Grant advised him to sign the pledge. He said he would, provided he could reserve the right to take one drink at any time. The Court refused such a compromise.

Haywood promised, however, to stop drinking and to behave himself. He is not a bad-looking man, but of sturdy build and intelligent face. He wears his hair closely cropped, and has heavy iron-gray mustache and eyebrows.

HILL'S

REMEMBER We guarantee a cure and invite the most careful investigation as to our responsibility and the merits of our Tablets.

READ OUR TESTIMONIALS

Double Chloride of Gold Tablets

Will completely destroy the desire for TOBACCO in from 3 to 5 days. Perfectly harmless; cause no sickness, and may be given in a cup of tea or coffee without the knowledge of the patient, who will voluntarily stop smoking or chewing in a few days.

DRUNKENNESS and MORPHINE HABIT can be cured at home, and without any effort on the part of the patient, by the use of our SPECIAL FORMULA GOLD CURE TABLETS.

During treatment patients are allowed the free use of Liquor or Morphine until such time as they shall voluntarily give them up.

We send particulars and pamphlet of testimonials free, and shall be glad to place sufferers from any of these habits in communication with persons who have been cured by the use of our TABLETS.

HILL'S TABLETS are for sale by all FIRST-CLASS druggists at $1.00 per package.

If your druggist does not keep them, enclose us $1.00 and we will send you, by return mail, a package of our Tablets.

Write your name and address plainly, and state whether Tablets are for Tobacco, Morphine or Liquor Habit.

DO NOT BE DECEIVED into purchasing any of the various nostrums that are being offered for sale. Ask for HILL'S TABLETS and take no other.

Manufactured only by

—THE—

OHIO CHEMICAL CO.,
51, 53 & 55 Opera Block,
LIMA, OHIO.

PARTICULARS FREE.

TOBACCO HABIT EASILY CURED.

A FEW Testimonials from persons who have been cured by the use of Hill's Tablets.

THE OHIO CHEMICAL CO.: DEAR SIR:—I have been using your cure for tobacco habit, and found it would do what you claim for it. I used ten cents worth of the strongest chewing tobacco a day, and from one to five cigars; or I would smoke from ten to forty pipes of tobacco. Have chewed and smoked for twenty-five years, and two packages of your Tablets cured me so I have no desire for it. B. M. JAYLORD, Leslie, Mich.

DOBBS FERRY, N. Y. THE OHIO CHEMICAL CO.:—GENTLEMEN:—Some time ago I sent for $1.00 worth of your Tablets for Tobacco Habit. I received them all right and, although I was both a heavy smoker and chewer, they did the work in less than three days. I am cured. Truly yours, MATHEW JOHNSON, P. O. Box 45.

PITTSBURGH, PA. THE OHIO CHEMICAL CO.:—GENTLEMEN:—It gives me pleasure to speak a word of praise for your Tablets. My son was strongly addicted to the use of liquor, and through a friend, I was led to try your Tablets. He was a heavy and constant drinker, but after using your Tablets but three days he quit drinking, and will not touch liquor of any kind. I have waited four months before writing you, in order to know the cure was permanent. Yours truly, MRS. HELEN MORRISON.

CINCINNATI, OHIO. THE OHIO CHEMICAL CO.:—GENTLEMEN:—Your Tablets have performed a miracle in my case. I have used morphine, hypodermically, for seven years, and have been cured by the use of two packages of your Tablets, and without any effort on my part. W. L. LOTEGAY.

Address all Orders to
THE OHIO CHEMICAL CO.,
51, 53 and 55 Opera Block. LIMA, OHIO.

RESPONSIBLE AGENTS WANTED

(In writing please mention this paper.)

SEWERS MUST COME.

THE EXISTING NUISANCES HAVE GROWN INTOLERABLE.

Foul Smells and Disease-Germs Fill the Air, and Wealthy Men Are Among the Obstructionists — For Plainfield's Sake and for Humanity's Sake Push the Sewering Project!

No more patent argument for the immediate need of a sanitary sewerage system in Plainfield can be had than a visit to the Peace street sewer outlet in Green brook or to the catch basin at the Front street and Park avenue corner. At both points the nostrils are offended by the vilest of odors, and the stomach is nauseated by the disease-germs that fill the air. Go along Green brook, and you will find putrefying excremental matter lodged along the banks at the rear of residences, and floating on the surface in the hot sun down the stream.

"If we don't have sewers soon"—said a prominent Plainfield physician the other day—"we'll be visited by such a pestilential epidemic as will blast the town forever."

Yet THE PRESS is informed by a leading city official that wealthy and influential East Front street residents are fighting the sewerage project because they conveniently and as they suppose secretly empty all their sewage through pipes into Green brook.

The North Plainfield Board of Health is far ahead of the Plainfield Board in activity against the evil. It has effectually stopped all known contamination of Green brook on the borough side, and is now investigating Plainfield's guilt. As a result of a portion of its work the following was sent to the Plainfield Board of Health and read at its meeting Tuesday night:

To the Board of Health of the City of Plainfield:

GENTLEMEN:—Public attention has been frequently called of late to the practice of using Green brook as a sewer. We have taken great pains to locate and caused to be removed all connections between water closets, sinks, cesspools or house drains and said brook which existed within the borough of North Plainfield and we believe that none now exist.

The offensive and noxious odors arising from Green brook convinced us however that the evil still existed, and for the purpose of satisfying ourselves as to the location of the connections we had an examination made of the underground raceway leading from Somerset street along the rear of the Front street property to Grove street. This raceway is entirely within the limits of the city of Plainfield, but it empties into Green brook at Grove street and matter discharges from it into the brook.

The result of our investigation is shown by a sworn statement of which the following is a true copy:

New Jersey, }
Union County } ss

William N. Pangborn being duly sworn on his oath says that on the night of July 5, 1893, he, together with John Gunn, went through and carefully inspected for outlets of drains and private sewers the raceway leading from the mill of Phineas M. French on Somerset street in the city of Plainfield which empties into Green brook just above the Grove street bridge. That he found beginning at the line between the property of Mr. Schepflin and Mr. Geo. H. Babcock, thirty-one open connections of sewers with said raceway between said division line and Somerset street. These sewers all empty into said raceway. That some of these thirty-one connections were not apparently in use at the time of said inspection, but that deponent found unmistakable evidence that nineteen of said sewers were at that time of said inspection connected with and used as outlets from water closets. That deponent found in the rear of the new Babcock building at least six new connections or outlets into said raceway, at least one of which was at the time in use. That the stench in said raceway from the matter deposited therein by these sewers, was horrible and almost overpowering. That the sewage matter emptied into said raceway from said sewers is naturally carried by the water flowing through said raceway into Green brook just above the Grove street bridge. That the said raceway from the said division line between the Schepflin and Babcock property to Somerset street is arched over with brick and stone.

WM. N. PANGBORN.

Sworn and subscribed before me this July 7, 1893. CHAS. A. REED, M. C. C. of N. J.

Argument is unnecessary to show that regard for the public health both of the city and borough demands that prompt and vigorous measures be at once taken to put an effective stop to this intolerable nuisance.

The means are at hand and are easily set in motion and effective in operation. By an act of the Legislature approved March 14, 1885, which will be found on page 281 of the laws of 1885, it is provided that if any person shall connect any water closet with any sewer or other means whereby the contents thereof may be conveyed into any brook which runs through, or along the borders of, any city or borough, such person shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor and on conviction thereof shall be punished by a fine not exceeding one thousand dollars, or by imprisonment not exceeding two years, or both.

It is only necessary that complaint be made before a justice of the peace and warrants will issue for the arrest of offenders.

We call the matter to your attention now in order that you may take such steps as may be proper. The dry season is upon us and low water will greatly increase the danger.

We suppose that you will of course act promptly, and that we will not be obliged to institute the proceedings which a due regard for the health of our citizens demands.

Very respectfully,
W. R. HONEYMAN,
Pres. Board of Health.

Dated July 19, 1893.

By order of the Board of Health of the Borough of North Plainfield. J. H. CARMAN, Secretary.

President Rockfellow of the Plainfield Board to-day declined to give any information about Tuesday night's meeting. He said it would be unwise to make any statement before three or four days of the action of the Plainfield Board on the North Plainfield Board's communication.

I feel it my duty to say a few words in regard to Ely's Cream Balm, and I do so entirely without solicitation. I have used it more or less half a year, and have found it to be most admirable. I have suffered from catarrh of the worst kind ever since I was a little boy and I never hoped for cure, but Cream Balm seems to do even that. Many of my acquaintances have used it with excellent results. Oscar Ostrum, 45 Warren ave., Chicago, Ill.

Ely's Cream Balm is worth its weight in gold as a cure for catarrh. One bottle cured me. S. A. Lovell, Franklin, Pa.

EUCHRE, LECTURE, MIND-READING.

How Hotel Netherwood Guests Pass the Summer Evenings.

The guests of Hotel Netherwood are seldom at a loss for something to do, and dances, riding parties and other amusements follow one another in quick succession.

Monday night, a progressive euchre party was given, in the spacious parlor of the hotel, and a large number of people contested for the beautiful prizes that had been provided by the committee in charge. The evening was favorable for indoor amusements, as it was so cool that the parlor atmosphere was not uncomfortable at any time during the play. At 9 sharp, H. L. Balch, acting for Harry Williams, who was suddenly taken ill, opened the game. The play continued for two hours, and everyone spent a most enjoyable evening. The players were:

Mr. and Mrs. D. F. McCabe.
Mr. and Mrs. L. Benton.
Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Ogden.
Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Balch.
Mr. and Mrs. M. C. Ogden.
Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Eaton.
Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Richardson.
Mr. and Mrs. Wm. H. Stockner.
Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Farlon.
Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Gage Brady.
Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Haney.
Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Gondran.
Mr. and Mrs. James N. Stout.
Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Williams.
Mr. and Mrs. B. J. Kelley.
Mr. and Mrs. W. V. R. Smith.
Mr. and Mrs. J. M. White.
Dr. and Mrs. Beaney.
Mr. and Mrs. F. E. Miller.
Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Wardwell.
June M. White and Miss Annie Stuart Betts.
Chas. A. Kelley and Miss Carrie White.
Wm. E. Smith and Miss Richardson.
C. A. Smith and Miss Bracher.
C. A. Betts and Miss Annetta Loeb.
A. Raymond and Miss Raymond.

The winners were:
First prize—Mrs. Jas. N. Stout.
Second prize—Miss Annie S. Betts.
Other prizes—Mrs. W. V. R. Smith, Mrs. A. L. Gondran, Mrs. R. J. Haney, A. L. Gondran, C. A. Smith, W. V. R. Smith, W. J. Eaton, Wm. D. Godley.
Consolation winners—Mrs. H. L. Balch and W. B. Ogden.

Monday night Prof. Swift, of London, lectured on "The Tower of London, Past and Present". The lecture was accompanied by beautiful stereopticon pictures.

The date of the coaching parade that was put off from last Saturday has not yet been decided on.

August 5, Prof. Newman, the mind-reader, from Berlin, will visit the hotel, and all are looking forward to his visit with interest.

RAILROADING SUPERB.

This Is the Kind of Care and Forethought Exercised Daily on the Jersey Central.

A pretty piece of quick and good railroad judgment and tact was displayed Tuesday by the engineer of conductor Hodge's train, which left Plainfield at 12:06 p. m., eastward bound.

While drawing into the Fanwood station, with all brakes set, the engineer saw Philadelphia flyer No. 511 rounding the curve ahead of him, coming west on the track between his train and the station. Hodge's train had nearly stopped, and the passengers for Fanwood were on the platforms of the cars ready to alight as usual. They were unaware of the approaching Philly, and in a moment would have swung down in a stream from the platforms upon the track directly in front of the flyer, with disastrous results.

The engineer of the local, knowing this, to prevent anyone dismounting instantly threw open his throttle, and pulled the train beyond the station just as the flyer passed.

The passengers, although a little shaken by the suddenly increased speed, expressed their gratitude to all of conductor Hodge's crew, who stood on the lower steps of the platforms, and who, understanding the reason of the engineer's action, prevented anyone from stepping down while the train was in motion.

In the Midst of Alarms.

Robert Barr, one of the editors of The Idler and of the Detroit Free Press, and whose stories over the signature "Luke Sharp" have delighted two continents, contributes one of his most charming novels "In the Midst of Alarms", complete, to the August number of Lippincott's Magazine. This fascinating tale will alone repay one the investment of a quarter in the current issue of America's best fiction publication, but there is a wealth of other literature in the number, including verse of high merit and prose of many departments, from Julian Hawthorne's "Lady of the Lake" (a World's Fair idyl) to the latest of the Athletic Series, an illustrated article on base-ball, with portraits. When you want the choicest, get Lippincott's.

Washingtonville Warblings.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Clark spent Sunday in Newark.

Mrs. Bryant, of Brooklyn, is the guest of Mrs. H. J. Smith.

The Misses Demarest are the guests of Mrs. Joseph Gavett.

Hannah Drake and family, of Newark, were guests of Aaron Allen, over Sunday.

The excursion of the Sunday-school, thanks to the committee, was in every way a success.

John Gifford, wife and daughter, are visiting at the old homestead of W. F. Spencer, Mrs. Gifford's father.

Emanuel Hughes died in the asylum at Morris Plains last week. He was well known in Plainfield, where he was engaged in horse-shoeing.

While the crops of small fruits are very fine, and the peaches promise to be abundant, yet this dry weather is pinching vegetation in the Valley.

The chapel was well filled Sunday evening, to hear the Rev. Mr. Boudier, to whom all gave the closest attention, for his remarks were good, and they hope to hear him again soon.

JENNIE MUST BE GOOD.

If She Keeps on Breaking Her Mother's Heart, to the Industrial School She'll Go.

Jennie Parkinson had a crying spell in Judge Coddington's court on Wednesday. Jennie is a plump girl of 15 years, with short curly hair and a bright face. Her father, Tom Parkinson, left ten children as wayward as Jennie for his widow to care for.

"Oh, Jennie,"—said the careworn woman, as the two stood at the bar this morning—"you'll bring your poor mother to Morris Plains if you don't reform.

"Judge,"—she continued—"I want you to give her some good advice. She won't keep a place, she won't mind me, she runs the streets, and last night I found her sleeping in Stiger's lane."

"Yes:"—interposed Sergeant Kiely—"and I often see her running around at 2 in the morning."

Jennie denied that she was bad, and said that she had been abused.

"I got her a place at McDonough's,"—said the mother—"which they isn't as to say high-toned, but nice respectable people, and I was willin' to let her stay there. But she run away."

Jennie said that was because the missus scratched her and called her names. She added that last night she was innocently sitting on the bank of Green Brook, "lief alone", watching the merry-go-round, and not associating with anyone.

The Court warned her that she must obey her mother and keep at work and off the streets, or he would see that she was sent to the Industrial School in Trenton.

"'What 'll I do?"—queried the girl, nodding her head to the Judge's admonition.

"You 'll go back to Mrs. McDonough's"—said the mother.

"And have her call me names? I guess not."

"Behave yourself,"—sagely remarked the judge—"and she 'll treat you right."

"I've got a trial in every one of my children—sighed the mother, wiping her eyes.—"I love them dearly, and try to bring them up right, but somehow they all turn against me."

RAN AWAY FROM HER SISTER.

Poormaster Hand and Judge Moore Investigating Her Story.

Katie Reardon, age about 11, was brought by Poormaster Hezekiah Hand, of Fanwood Township, before Judge Moore, Tuesday afternoon. She was in a tattered condition, and nervously said she had no home and had been beaten and otherwise ill-treated by her sister, from whom she had run away.

Judge Moore took the matter properly in hand, and is proceeding under the advice of the Township Counsel, William R. Codington. Meanwhile the girl is being cared for by Poormaster Hand.

All Things Well in Farming.

(Official Crop Bulletin.)

SOUTH PLAINFIELD—It has been a very nice week of showers and sunshine and good growing weather. All things are looking good now and farm work is going along nicely; most all crops are in clear cultivation and all right.

P. C. JOHNSON.

Board of Chosen Freeholders of the County of Union.

OFFICIAL.

ELIZABETH, N. J., July 20, 1893.

Pursuant to adjournment the Board of Chosen Freeholders of Union County, met on Thursday, July 20, 1893.

Present—Director Sauer and Freeholders Badgely, Hubbard, Howard, Halliday, Hunt, Kyte, Moore, Roll, Swain, Scudder, Trabon, Vanderbeek, Winans, Woodruff.

Absent—Freeholders Donahoe, Ehrlich.

The minutes of the last meeting were read and on motion approved.

COMMITTEE REPORTS.

From committee on Rahway ave. bridge:

To the Board of Chosen Freeholders:

Gentlemen—Your committee, appointed at the last meeting of this board to look into the advisability of enlarging a bridge on Rahway avenue, in Linden township, do respectfully report that they have examined the said bridge, and believe it to be too small to carry the water in time of a freshet, but we also find the bridge in excellent condition, and do not deem it advisable to enlarge it at the present time.

Signed, J. I. Winans, Wm. Howard, Noah Woodruff, Committee.

On motion of Freeholder Vanderbeek received and filed.

RESOLUTIONS.

By Freeholder Roll:

Resolved, That the county engineer be and is hereby instructed to publish a notice specifying the works and materials, and inviting bids or proposals to perform and furnish the same for regulating, grading and paving with Telford macadam pavement, Springfield avenue, commencing at Morris avenue, in the township of Springfield, and running through said township, and the township of Union to and intersecting Springfield avenue, at the boundary line of the county of Essex; also, Newark avenue, in the city of Elizabeth, commencing with the intersection of North Broad street, in said city of Elizabeth, to the boundary line of the county of Essex; also Morris avenue, in the township of Summit, commencing with the intersection of said Morris avenue, in the county of Essex, to the Passaic river in the county of Union; also, Edgar Road, commencing at Grove street, in the city of Elizabeth, running to Stiles street, in the township of Linden. To be published for three weeks in the Elizabeth Daily Journal, Elizabeth Central Herald, Plainfield Daily Press and the Engineering News, of the city of New York.

On motion of Freeholder Vanderbeek adopted unanimously.

By Freeholder Moore:

Resolved, That the thanks of this board be tendered to Louis Quinn, county engineer, for the presentation of a map of the county to each member.

On motion of Freeholder Swain adopted.

Freeholder Trabon moved to suspend the order of business to go into committee of the whole, which was carried.

Freeholder Moore moved to allow the county collector, county attorney and county engineer to remain in the room, which was carried.

On re-convening of the Board in regular session the chairman of the committee of the whole reported that the committee would recommend to the Board that the committee on bonds be authorized to have the proposed county bonds printed and advertise them for sale.

On motion of Freeholder Roll the report was received and filed and recommendations adopted unanimously.

Freeholder Roll moved to adjourn, which was carried.

The director declared the board adjourned to Thursday, Aug. 3, 1893, at 2:30 p. m.

ALFRED B. CODE, Clerk.

COOPER'S FLORAL DENTINE.

SO popular with the Ladies for rendering their teeth pearly white. [illegible]

[illegible] Druggists, N. Y.

E. C. Morris Safe Co
Incorporated. Capital $250,000.
Successors to E. C. Morris & Co.
64 Sudbury St., Boston, Mass.
FIRE AND BURGLAR-PROOF SAFES.

Bank Safes, Bank Vaults, Bank Vault Doors and Deposit Work of all kinds.
The Best Safe in the World. 100,000 in use.
Always preserve their contents.
Champion Record in all the Great Fires.

One of the largest and best equipped factories in the country has just been erected near Boston, fitted with the latest and most improved tools, which render facilities for manufacturing the best work at the lowest prices, unequalled by any other concern in the country.

Our aim is to give the best construction and most improvements for the least amount of money. Estimates and specifications furnished upon application. AGENTS WANTED.

7-9-e

DO YOU COUGH
DON'T DELAY
TAKE KEMP'S
BALSAM
THE BEST COUGH CURE

Removes Colds, Coughs, Sore Throat, Croup, Influenza, Whooping Cough, Bronchitis and Asthma. A certain cure for Consumption in first stages, and a sure relief in advanced stages. Use at once. You will see the excellent effect after taking the first dose. Sold by dealers everywhere. Large bottles 50 cents and $1.00.

PAPIAC.
(Boynton Beach,)
NOW OPEN
—FOR—
EXCURSIONS & PICNICS
6 15-tf-p c

Why Bother with Cooking
When you can buy
MEATS
Already cooked at the PLAINFIELD PACKING HOUSE,
153 West Front St.
C. M. ULRICH, Proprietor
Telephone 141.

IN CHANCERY OF NEW JERSEY.

To George F. Martens and William Allen.

By virtue of an order of the Court of Chancery of New Jersey, made on the day of the date hereof in a cause wherein Caroline F. Harrison is complainant and you and others are defendants, you are required to appear, plead, answer or demur to the bill of said complainant on or before the ninth day of September next, or the said bill will be taken as confessed against you.

The said bill is filed to foreclose a mortgage given by John E. VanNess to the said Caroline F. Harrison, dated October eighth, Eighteen hundred and ninety, on lands in the city of Plainfield, Union County, New Jersey, and also on lands in the township of North Plainfield Somerset county, New Jersey and you George F. Martens are made a defendant because you own said lands or some part thereof, and you, William Allen, are made a defendant because you hold by assignment from said complainant a mortgage on said lands.

OSCAR KEEN,
Solicitor of Complainant, No. 763 Broad street, Newark, New Jersey.
Dated July 8, 1893. 7 13 4

SHERIFF'S SALE.

NEW JERSEY SUPREME COURT, UNION COUNTY—Charles A. Reed, vs. John C. Moore, alias. Fi. fa. de. bo. et. ter. In debt.
Charles A. Reed, Att'y.
Patrick Lynch, Trustee, vs John C. Moore, alias. Fi. fa. de. bo. et. ter. In debt.
Wm. R. Codington, Att'y.
Daniel H. Terry, vs. John C. Moore, alias. Fi. fa. de. bo. et. ter. In debt.
Pitt[illegible] Att'y.
UNION COUNTY CIRCUIT COURT—Comegys Paul, vs. John C. Moore, alias. Fi. fa. de. bo. et. ter. On Contract.
Wm. A. Coddington, Att'y.
UNION COUNTY COMMON PLEAS COURT—Thomas Callahan vs. John C. Moore, alias. Fi. fa. de. bo. et. ter. On docketed judgment.
Jackson & Codington, Att'ys.
Newton R. Smalley, vs. John C. Moore, alias. Fi. fa. de. bo. et. ter. On docketed judgment.
Wm. R. Codington, Att'y.
Harry Werner, vs. John C. Moore, alias. Fi. fa. de. bo. et. ter. On docketed judgment.
Jackson & Codington, Att'ys.

By virtue of the above stated writs of fieri facias to me directed, I shall expose for sale by public vendue at the court house, in the city of Elizabeth, N. J., on

WEDNESDAY, THE SIXTEENTH DAY OF AUGUST, A. D., 1893,

at two o'clock in the afternoon of said day, all the right, title and interest of the defendant, John C. Moore, of, in and to all that tract or parcel of land and premises, situated in the city of Plainfield, county of Union and state of New Jersey.

Beginning at a point in the southerly line of Second street, distant easterly one hundred and thirty feet more or less from the intersection of said line of Second street, with the easterly line of Park avenue which point is also the northwest corner of the lot of Daniel Roberts; thence first westerly along said southerly line of Second street thirty-five feet, more or less, to a point thence southerly in a course parallel with the westerly boundary of said Roberts, eighty-five feet, more or less, to the line of the Hotel property of Condert Brothers; thence easterly along said hotel property thirty-five feet, more or less, to the line of Daniel Roberts; and thence northerly along said line of Daniel Roberts and parallel with the Second street course eighty-five feet, more or less to the place of beginning.

W. H. Hicks, Sheriff.
DL&C fees $12.60

EXECUTOR'S SETTLEMENT.

Notice is hereby given, that the account of the subscriber, executor and trustee under the will of Frederick F. Chase, deceased, will be audited and stated by the Surrogate, and reported for settlement to the Orphans' Court of the county of Union, on Wednesday, the thirteenth day of September next. CRAIG A. MARSH.
Dated July 1, 1893. 7 4 10

MASTER'S SALE.

By virtue of a decree made by the Court of Chancery of the State of New Jersey bearing date the twenty-fourth day of June, A. D. eighteen hundred and ninety-three, in a certain cause pending in the Court of Chancery of New Jersey wherein James Smith is complainant and Mary J. Bartine et als. are defendants, I, John B. Bartine, one of the Special Masters of the Court of Chancery of New Jersey, duly appointed and commissioned to make said sale and all necessary things pertaining thereto, will sell at public auction to the highest bidder on the premises at Murray Hill, in Union County, New Jersey, on Monday, the seventh (7) day of August next, between the hours of twelve and five o'clock, to wit, at two o'clock in the afternoon of said day, all those two tracts or parcels of land and premises hereinafter particularly described, situate, lying and being in the township of New Providence, in the County of Union and State of New Jersey:

The First Tract—Lying south of the Stony Hill Road. [illegible]

The Second Tract—Lying north of the Stony Hill Road. [illegible]

Being the land and premises [illegible]

J. B. BARTINE,
Special Master in Chancery of New Jersey.
GEO. T. VANDERVEER, Sol'r.
Dated June 26, 1893.
CODL. [illegible] 7 3 wd

At Half Prices

N. B.—Notice the first name, AMOS and No. 73, before entering the store.

AMOS H. VANHORN.
LIMITED,
73 MARKET STREET,

GREAT
MIDSUMMER SALE,
AT HALF PRICES.

Moquette, per yard only....75c
Velvet carpet, per yard only....75c
Body Brussels carpet per yard only....75c
Tapestry Brussels carpet, per yard only....50c
All-wool ingrain carpet, per yard only....50c
Three ply carpet, per yard only....65c
Parlor suits in plush, 6 pieces, mahogany finished frames, only....$27
Parlor suits, mahogany finished frames, in rug covering, only....$37
Antique oak bedroom suits, reduced from $20 down as low as....$13

Hotels, Summer Resorts and Summer Boarding Houses will always find a large line of goods at my establishment, and at low prices and easy terms.

Fancy Matting, large stock and low prices. Best makes of Refrigerators at the lowest prices.

Telephone 580. Terms to suit purchasers Car fare paid. Goods delivered free of charge to all parts of the state.

BOOK ACCOUNT OPENED IF DESIRED.

Telephone 580! Elevator to Every Floor!

Goods Delivered FREE OF CHARGE to All Parts of the State!

AMOS H. VAN HORN.
LIMITED.
My only place of Business is at
73 Market Street,
Near Plane St., Newark, N. J.
NO BRANCH STORES.
10-5-1y

TOWNSEND'S
Marble & Granite Works,
30 SOMERSET STREET,
PLAINFIELD, N. J.

If you have not engaged your work, I should be pleased to do it for you.

I buy only first-class Marble and Granite and do not sell unless at prices that will enable me to put up the work with credit to myself and justice to the parties purchasing.

I employ no agents and therefore am enabled to make a reduction in the price of my work to the customer, of the commission generally paid to agents.

I am under a very small expense in running my shop, myself and my son doing the larger portion of the work, and we personally attend to the setting of all work, and look upon business in this light, that Good Work and Good Material, at Fair Prices, is a standing advertisement for my business, which will tend to build up trade, and I feel safe to warrant that no dealer can sell you the same work and same stock any cheaper than I can.

Hoping to be favored with your patronage, I am yours respectfully,

J. E. TOWNSEND,
Manager. 8 11 tf
Branch Yard Westfield, N. J.

FURS
And all kinds of wearing apparel
STORED
And insured against all damage by fire or moth.
Repairing and re-dyeing of Furs should be done during the summer months.
GEO. C. TREADWELL CO.
SUCCESSORS TO
W. H. AND R. BURNETT,
17 Academy st., Newark. 5 11 4

Scientific American Agency for
PATENTS
CAVEATS,
TRADE MARKS,
DESIGN PATENTS,
COPYRIGHTS, etc.

For information and free Handbook write to MUNN & CO., 361 BROADWAY, NEW YORK. [illegible]

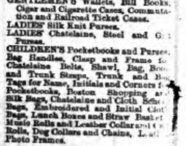
Scientific American

[illegible] MUNN & CO., PUBLISHERS, 361 Broadway, New York City.

Dime Savings Institution
OF PLAINFIELD, N. J.

Is now receiving deposits payable on demand, with interest at the rate of three (3) per cent. per annum payable semi-annually.

JOHN W. MURRAY, President,
WILLIAM WHITE, Vice "
NATHAN HARPER, " "
ELIAS R. POPE, Treasurer.



The "Bee Hive"
The largest Fancy Goods House in the State.
LADIES'
CHILDREN'S BOYS'
THE BEE HIVE
L. S. PLAUT & CO. NEWARK

NEWARK BEE HIVE.
Things Sold There That Make The Great Store It Is!

Cut Out and Save for Reference.
STOCK LIST, No 17.
Leather Small Goods.

LADIES' and Gentlemen's Card Cases, Pocketbooks and Purses.
GENTLEMEN'S Wallets, Bill Books, Cigar and Cigarette Cases, Commutation and Railroad Ticket Cases.
LADIES' Silk Knit Purses.
LADIES' Chatelaine, Steel and Gilt Purses.
CHILDREN'S Pocketbooks and Purses.
Bag Handles, Clasp and Frame for Chatelaine Belts, Shawl, Bag, Book and Trunk Straps, Trunk and Bag Tags for Name, Initials and Corners for Pocketbooks, Boston Shopping and Silk Bags, Chatelaine and Cloth School Bags, Embroidered and Initial Cloth Bags, Lunch Boxes and Straw Baskets, Music Rolls and Leather Collar and Cuff Rolls, Dog Collars and Chains, Leather Photo Frames.

BELTS.
FOR LADIES' and Gentlemen, in Silk, Canvas, Leather, Oxidized, Silver, Gilt, Ribbon and Velvet.
MEN'S Sash and Vest Belts.
MEN'S Patent Clasp Pants Supporters.
LADIES' New Celluloid Belts.
Silk Belting by the yard.

FANS.
GAUZE, Silk, Satin, Feather Tops, Ostrich Feathers, Ostrich Plumes, Linen, Parchment, Paper, Palm, Japanese and Folding Pocket Fans.
CHILDREN'S Fans a Specialty.

TRUNKS AND BAGS.
LEATHER, Zinc, Duck, Steamer and Packing Trunks, Flat and Barrel Top, with single and double inside dress trays and small compartments.
CANVAS Waterproof Telescope Bags.
CANVAS and Solid Leather Dress Suit Cases.
GLADSTONE, Cabin, Oxford, London and Club Bags.
COLLECTORS and Doctors Bags.
LUNCH and Shopping Bags.

NO BRANCH STORE.
L. S. Plaut & Co.,
707 to 721 Broad St.,
NEWARK.
MAIL ORDERS FILLED.

NOTICE. June 1, 1893.

Estate of Harriet N. Case, Deceased.

Pursuant to the order of George T. Parrot, Surrogate of the county of Union, this day made, on the application of the undersigned, administrator of said deceased, notice is hereby given to the creditors of said deceased to exhibit to the subscribers under oath or affirmation their claims and demands against the estate of said deceased within nine months from this date, or they will be forever barred from prosecuting or recovering the same against the subscriber.

[illegible] JOSEPH B. CASE, Administrator.

CITY DEPARTMENT.

OFFICIAL PAPER OF THE STATE, THE COUNTY AND THE CITY, AND HAS THE LARGEST CIRCULATION OF ANY PAPER PUBLISHED IN THE COUNTY OF UNION.

J. A. DEMAREST - - City Editor.

—The Day Nursery is closed until Monday, August 7.

—Everybody wants Chatham street's name changed to Brook avenue.

—Hand & Runyon have sold to A. D. Thompson 20 fine lots at Lorraine.

—Spencer's lima-bean patch is receiving the tenderest kind of attention.

—A borough party is being made up to visit the World's Fair in September.

—Alex. Thompson, the expert electrician, is stringing the wires for the street railway.

—George C. Polhemus, the electrician, is doing a large contract at White Plains, New York.

—Allen & Lister have dissolved partnership, and Charles C. Lister assumes the business.

—George Demarest is proud of a catch of four large black bass hooked in Tier's lake the other day.

—The shoe store of Patrick Corrigan has been removed from 23 Liberty street to 192 South Second street.

—The letter-carriers were photographed in a group, Wednesday, and the proof shows them up in great shape.

—Sam Hedden, Plainfield's pioneer hackman, lives in a modest little cottage on Duer street, North Plainfield.

—A large veranda is being built on the south side of the Children's Home. It will be an excellent improvement.

—Justice Mosher has set Thursday, Aug. 3, for the trial of James H. Fosher's suit for $75 against Andrew Seguine, Sr.

—For a few idle hours' occupation take your rod and reel and fly-fish for dace in Green and Stony brooks. They're biting and are of good size.

—The date of the next Honeyman tour from Plainfield to the World's Fair and return has been fixed for Aug. 14. That's the very best way to go.

—Judgment for $15,315 was entered in New York, Thursday, against John I. Holly of this city, in favor of the executors of the estate of Reuben Ross.

—Levi Hetfield has given $5 to Ed Vroom, of Truck Company No. 1, for preventing a serious fire in his row on Arlington avenue a few nights ago.

—At Sharkey's blacksmith shop on Emily street, North Plainfield, village statesmen talk politics to the music of an anvil chorus and a bellows orchestra.

—Manager Keller says it is quite likely the Cuban Giants will play here in the morning and the Paterson team in the afternoon, of Labor Day, September 4.

—Work has been begun on the abutments for the new iron bridge over Green brook at Westervelt avenue. The bridge will be just above the old wooden one.

—Manager Mack, of the Somerville team, wants to arrange a series of three games with the Crescents, and Manager Keller may accommodate him before long.

—Many a tired, jaded horse is refreshed by a cool drink of pure water at L. A. Hummer's pump adjoining his new feed store at Park avenue and the railroad.

—The District School entertainment given by the Epworth League of Monroe Avenue chapel June 29 netted $42.55, which has been donated to the Ladies' Aid Society of the chapel.

—Two commodious steamers, the Gen Slocum and Grand Republic, will be required in conveying the Pond Tool Works excursionists to Rockaway Beach, August 26. It'll be a great day.

—THE DAILY PRESS was selected by the Union county board of freeholders as the best medium of this section for advertising proposals for the improvement of the newly adopted county roads.

—Dr. F. C. Herbert went fishing in Manasquan waters, Friday. Besides other fish he caught a 13 lb. fluke, and 9 weakfish varying in weight from three to eight pounds. Eels were numerous, but too heavy to carry home.

—Pete Seader says that if the electric light over the engine-house door was a little nearer the clouds people up over in the mountains would take it for the moon in the early part of the evening because it shines so bright. It's lighted by the North Plainfield current.

—There was a genuine old-fashioned stag party in a Park avenue flat, Wednesday evening. The music consisted of boiled lobster, canned corn, new beets, pickles and beer. Card playing was a feature of the evening's enjoyment.

—You'd better take the chance of Friday July 28, to visit Asbury Park by excursion from Plainfield. That's the date when the First Presbyterian, Park Avenue Baptist and Congregational churches unite in a day's enjoyment at the shore. You'd better go along.

—No delegates from this city attended the meeting of the National Turners' Association held in Newark last Sunday, in spite of the expectation that delegates would do so to prosecute the claims of Washington Rock as a suitable site for the coming festival.

—A hay wagon on the way from Bound Brook to Newark, became stranded on East Front street last evening. The horses were frightened at the cars and broke the harness. 2,900 pounds was the load, and an hour's time was lost fixing up the broken leather.

—Seven bicyclists started out from Plainfield Sunday morning for a trip over the county roads. Near Rahway one of them came to grief. The cap on his automatic tire gave out, and the rider was forced to walk back to Elizabethport on foot, a distance of about five miles, in order to take a train for home.

—Some of the excursionists from this city to Asbury Park say that when you go in certain places for soda water the clerk sets out two glasses, one large and the other small. All you have to do is to place a finger on the glass you want, indicating whisky or beer. Yet Asbury Park is a temperance town.

—Joe Gavin, of the West End Dairy, says the quantity of milk used this summer is far in excess of previous years, and that is one reason of its scarcity; besides, he adds, the cows do not give as much this warm weather as they usually do. They prefer to rest under trees and keep their tail brushes at work on the flies rather than mow grass in the hot sun. Then, of course, Joe says, when milk is scarce, people want more of it

Angerbauer Made Best Time.

Henry Angerbauer, Willie Keefe, Michael Keefe, Paddy Ryan, Frank Drake and Victor Bowser ran a five-mile foot race Monday night, circling around the block bounded by Richmond, Front, Washington and Fifth streets. Willie Keefe had a minute start, and came in first. He got a neat silver badge. Henry Angerbauer made the best time, and was awarded a pretty silver medal.

Vic Bowers and Frank Drake each got a booby prize of a cent and a potato.

The race caused much interest and fun in the neighborhood.

Harvey M. Goodman, of Scotch Plains, and a brother of John Goodman of North Plainfield, is dangerously ill from cancer in the mouth. The attending physician can give no encouragement.

Mr. and Mrs. Horace G. Adams, of Duer street, North Plainfield, are the happy parents of a young daughter, born Monday evening. Mother and child are doing as well as can be expected.

PERSONALIA.

Seashore pleasures are fascinating Miss Kittie R. Fisher of West Fourth street.

Mrs. Alexander Manning is visiting her sister on Staten Island for a week or two.

The attractions of Ocean Grove are holding George H. Fairchild and family at the shore.

Mr. and Mrs. John W. Murray, jr., and family have gone to "The Nemattano", North Lubec, Maine.

Mr. and Mrs. Carl Kaerth, of East Second street, will spend a few days with relatives in Brooklyn.

Morgan Turton, of Washington street, has gone to join his family at Lakewood, for a two-weeks' recreation.

Miss Lizzie Maney, of Jutland, N. J., is spending a few days with her friend, Miss Gavin, on the West End Farm.

Among those enjoying the pleasures of Ocean Grove is Miss Minnie Arnold of the borough. She will stay about two weeks.

Miss Stella Yobe, of Scranton, Pa., and Miss Marion Vickery, of Raritan, are visiting Miss Cora Sheppard, of Orchard place.

The vacation delights of Scarsdale, N. Y., are being enjoyed by Mr. and Mrs. Henry C. Adams and family of Sixth street.

Mrs. Horace Kimball and Miss Lucy H. Everett have gone from George's Mills, N. H., to the Colby House, South Duxbury, Mass.

Mrs. Charles L. Force, and son, Raymond, of Grandview avenue, North Plainfield, are visiting relatives at High Bridge and vicinity.

John Cuthbert, who has a host of warm friends in Plainfield, paid his respects to THE PRESS yesterday. He is living in Titusville, Pa.

It is understood that the production of "As You Like It", of which these columns have spoken, will be on the beautiful grounds of Charles Hyde.

Mrs. Frank Manchester and daughter, of Arlington avenue, accompanied by Miss Dowd, are stopping at the Interlaken House, Ocean Grove.

Ramsey Blair of East Second street has greatly beautified his home by painting and making extensive improvements, including all modern appliances.

The New Brunswick Home News says: "John Kenney, of Plainfield, rode on his bicycle the other day from Holly's Corner to New Brunswick in fifty minutes."

Mr. and Mrs. David Snediker, of Grove street, are home from the great Chicago exhibition. They go to Chatham in a few days for the remainder of the summer.

Charles W. McCutchen returned from Lake Placid Saturday, and took charge of the music in the First Baptist church yesterday. He will return this week to the Adirondacks.

Mrs. Caroline Vail, an estimable octogenarian of East Second and Washington streets, fell and dislocated her shoulder. It is sincerely hoped the injury will not result seriously.

Messrs. W. H. Miner, Orville Waring, Edward Waring, C. S. Brown and Robert Schoonmaker have returned from a week's outing on the Raritan bay. They report having had a good time.

Martin Wooden, of the Royal Baking Powder company, New York, visited his aged mother Sunday, at her home on Chatham street, North Plainfield. Mrs. Wooden is nearly 86 years old.

S. B. Joseph, superintendent of Mt. Olive Sunday-school, has given up his position temporarily, but will return in September. In the meantime the Rev. Mr. Warnock will officiate in his stead.

The Rev. C. Schenck preached in the Reformed church of Freehold, Sunday, for the Rev. Dr. Isaac P. Brokaw; and the Rev. A. F. Todd, of Dunellen, occupied Mr. Schenck's pulpit in Trinity Reformed church.

One of the neatest and prettiest designs for a bathing costume entered in the New York Herald prize contest was from Miss Florence R. Patterson of Plainfield, who received high honorable mention for its artistic simplicity.

The Rev. Dr. D. J. Yerkes will be chief speaker at the corner-stone-laying of the Livingston Avenue Presbyterian church, New Brunswick, the afternoon of August 7. His subject will be "The Relation of the Church Edifice to the Church and its Work".

H. C. Drake, of North avenue, and W. H. Ludlow were the only two veterans of this city who attended the reunion of the survivors of the 35th New Jersey Regt at the Asbury Park auditorium, at noon, Saturday.

J. Hervey Doane has made some very satisfactory photographs of Col. Scott's "Battle of Antietam", the painting ordered by Col. Elliott F. Shepard that is to be presented to the 7th Regiment club of New York, by Chauncey Depew as soon as framed.

Mrs. Ann Naylor, mother of the wife of ex-borough-councilman David R. Weaver, died Saturday noon at her home, White House, Hunterdon county, age 88. She was buried in Rural Hill cemetery, near her late home, Tuesday afternoon, and her funeral was largely attended.

Harry Clifford VanEmburgh, for several months resident engineer in charge of a large contract of F. A. Dunham at Sewickley, Pa., returned to Plainfield today on a two weeks' leave of absence, at the end of which time he will go to Hornellsville, N. Y., as Mr. Dunham's representative.

A number of the many friends of Bert Rogers, the genial assistant manager of the City Hotel, were gathered at that place Friday night by the rumor of his coming marriage, which was reported to take place at 8:30. He was arrayed for the occasion in a well-fitting evening suit, a new gold watch and diamond ring, but for some reason the ceremony was postponed.

Another delightful hop took place in Hotel Netherwood Saturday evening. Among the guests from Plainfield were: Miss Grace Cooley, Miss Marion Dumont, Miss May Waring, Miss Maude VanBoskerck, Miss Lizzie VanBoskerck, Miss Clarkson, Mr. and Mrs. L. G. Timpson, Thomas R. VanBoskerck, George VanBoskerck, Will Runyon, Irving West, Rowland Cox, Gifford Cooley, Orville Waring and John P. Munn.

Tuesday evening, the Independent fife and drum corps was entertained at the home of one of the members, S. C. Terry, jr. Among those present were Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Watson, the Misses Ray and Lillie Watson, and Will Bergener, of New York; the Misses Minnie and Lizzie Hustan, Joe Angerbauer, Miss Amy Hyer, Miss Gussie Newman and Miss Jennie Brokaw. Singing and dancing were features of the evening.

A truly welcome guest in THE PRESS sanctum Friday was Andrew E. Kenney, who left such a successful business career in Plainfield and went west in the interests of the Catholic Benevolent Legion and for the benefit of his health. Mr. Kenney is looking fine, and is in good health and spirits. He will stay in Plainfield two or three weeks and return to his western field. He has done great work for the Legion, and won many warm friends in the cities he has visited.

Everyone who has heard the speeches of George H. Neal, acting mayor of the borough, in the North Plainfield council chamber, is aware of his great gift of logic and eloquence, and his admirers predict for him a most successful and honorable career as a lawyer. He has concluded with credit the course of the New York Law School, and expects to begin practice in Westfield. Mr. Neal is a man of strict integrity and unusual acumen, and he will undoubtedly receive from the people of Westfield that flourishing support which his capabilities merit.

Herbert Case has gone to Saranac Lake.

Mr. and Mrs. Howard Pope are at Asbury Park.

Miss Fawcett's school will re-open Thursday, Sept. 14.

Mrs. Elmore D. Moffett is at Ocean Grove for two months.

James G. Connolly is at Southampton, L. I., for two months.

Charles Lyman and family listen to the ocean's roar at Asbury Park.

Mrs. Daniel Cory, of Warren township, visited friends in the borough last week.

Mrs. J. Parker Mason and Miss Corliss have returned from a trip to the World's Fair.

Counselor C. A. Reed and family have come back to Plainfield to enjoy the cool wave.

Mrs. Seymour G. Smith and family are at Hartwick, Otsego county, N. Y., till Sept. 1.

Miss Florence Dodge, of North Plainfield, is having a delightful time in the Catskills. She will remain until September.

Plainfield relatives are enjoying a visit from N. C. Dunn and family, of Philadelphia.

Mr. and Mrs. McNaughton and son, Walter, returned from their vacation, Saturday.

Will Holmes will spend his vacation this year among the beauties of Greenwood Lake.

Mrs. D. S. Roberts, of North avenue, is now able to sit up, after a long and tedious illness.

Mr. and Mrs. Daniel McCarthy, of West Third street, have gone to the Catskills for two weeks.

Mrs. David Angerbauer returned from Saratoga Saturday, after a delightful stay of three weeks.

Miss Ida Lorton returned Saturday from a week with friends at Centreville, Hunterdon county.

Miss Estella Taylor is ill at her home with Mr. and Mrs. Charles S. Greer, Grandview avenue.

Borough Counsel Chas. A. Reed has been spending a few days at the Riverside House, Forked River.

Miss Mamie Morehouse, of Orange, is visiting Evva E. Wilkins, of East Fifth street, for a few days.

Mrs. Jacob Kirkner, of Eighth street, is spending the summer pleasantly in Stamford, Delaware county, N. Y.

Mr. and Mrs. I. B. Hill, of Westervelt avenue, will spend the coming two weeks at Boston and Fall River.

Charles Haseltine, of North Plainfield, returned Saturday from his vacation, which has been spent at Asbury Park.

Mrs. T. S. Thorn and son, of Orchard place, are visiting Mrs. Thorn's mother at Windsor, Mercer county, for two weeks.

Lewis Bird is building a dwelling-house on Summit avenue, North Plainfield, wherein he expects to reside with his family.

Since the ringing of the Sabbath morning bells, a bright little girl has adorned the home of Joseph B. Morrison, 321 East Fifth street.

Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Hyde, of Front street, have gone to the Adirondacks, where they will spend some time at Hotel Ampersand.

A son who easily balanced a 10-lb. weight brought joy to Mr. and Mrs. James H. Southard of East Third street Sunday night.

Beginning August 1, Edmund W. Pack will succeed Bergen D. N. Carter as head clerk for B. D. Newell, the East Front street merchant.

The Misses Ticknor, with their mother, Mrs. Page, have just returned from a charming sojourn at Saratoga Springs and Mt. McGregor.

Andrew and Frank Huff, of Park avenue, will this week begin the erection of a fine residence opposite their new house near Cedar brook.

Proprietor J. H. Leggett of the Central Pharmacy was given a happy wedding anniversary surprise by his wife and friends last night.

"Uncle Dan" Roberts paid a visit to friends in Scranton, Pa., over Saturday night and Sunday. He was accompanied by a New York friend.

Morgan Turton, of Washington street, arrived home from Lakewood, yesterday. Mrs. Turton will spend the coming two weeks at Flushing, L. I.

A letter received from the Plainfield young men camping at Budd's Lake states that they are having a great time and enjoying themselves.

Mrs. Amelia Sandford and daughters Emily and Laura have left Tarrytown, N. Y., and are now at Watch Hill, R. I., for the balance of the summer.

E. B. Day, of Central avenue, is making extensive alterations to his house. He is building a front porch and veranda, besides making improvements on the interior.

Frank Wolff, formerly clerk at the City Hotel, this city, and of the Mansion House, Bound Brook, has opened a first-class resort on Twenty-eighth street, New York.

Charles Stillwell, superintendent of an electric light plant in Hamilton, Ontario, accompanied by his wife, is visiting Mrs. Stillwell's parents at Central avenue and Second street.

The many friends of genial Andrew McCardell will be pleased to learn that there has been a decided improvement in his condition, and that there is every hope of a speedy recovery.

Stephen Jaroloman, of Whatseike, Ill., is visiting his daughter, Mrs. William Young, of 341 Watchung avenue. Mr. Jaroloman came East to settle the estate of his father, who died in 1871.

News from Frank H. Gardner, cashier of the City National Bank, is very discouraging. No hope is now entertained for his recovery, as incurable heart trouble has set in. He is being cared for with solicitude by his family in Asbury Park.

William F. Trust and a friend went to Oceanic, Sunday, and spent a very pleasant day with Mr. Trust's sister, Mrs. G. A. Wiedenmayer, and her husband. Mr. Wiedenmayer is a prominent Democratic politician in Monmouth county, and has large real estate interests there.

Ludlow Wooden, proprietor of the White House Hotel, with his brother, William, who is proprietor of the Califon Hotel near Lake Hopatcong, are in town to-day. Some years ago they were the leading bakers, of this town, and kept places on Park avenue and Front street, respectively.

Mr. and Mrs. George Braun, of 59 Liberty street, Newark, are visiting friends in this city. Mr. Braun was leader of the Saengerbund singing society here, some years ago, and is now engaged in the clothing business in New York city. He is also an active Democratic leader in the Ninth ward of Newark.

The "Home" Insurance company in which Count VanNess is said to be insured, is not the Home of New York. He holds no policy of theirs. The former is said to be in financial difficulties, with $1,200 surplus. The latter has a surplus of over $1,000,000 and is just paying a dividend of $150,000. William H. Sampson of East Fifth street has been connected with this company for many years.

The upright manhood, firm step and undiminished vigor of the Rev. Dr. D. J. Yerkes are the admiration of the populace. The good clergyman is a faithful devotee of Saratoga's waters, whose virtues, he holds, would renew the youth of many, whom age has enfeebled. He will spend his vacation at the famous watering-place as usual, this summer, quaffing the products of the springs, and resting from the heavy labors of his large and growing parish.

Royal Baking Powder
Absolutely Pure

A cream of tartar baking powder. Highest of all in leavening strength.—Latest U. S. Government Food Report.

ROYAL BAKING POWDER CO., 106 WALL ST., N. Y.

THE "COUNT'S" FAMILY ALBUM.

WHAT WAS IT DOING UNDER RAYMOND AVE. BRIDGE?

More Mystery About the Burning of the Van Ness House—The Insurance People May Be Interested in the Investigation—Is There Any More Property Hidden Away?

"Count" J. K. Van Ness expressed great astonishment on Tuesday at being told that some of the property had been found which it was supposed had been burned in his house.

It will be remembered that when Van Ness came back from Papiac Sunday morning, July 16, he found his home in ashes, and said he had lost everything.

Monday afternoon boys who were blackberrying pulled apart some bushes at the mouth of the Raymond avenue bridge over Green brook, near the burned house, and saw a big package, neatly wrapped, stowed away in a snug corner of the bank, beneath the timbers.

Hauling the package out, and unwrapping it, they found a photograph album as big as a family Bible.

It was full of pictures, prominent among which were those of the "Count" and "Baby" Van Ness. Astute Borough Marshal Pangborn, to whom the matter was immediately reported, jumped to the conclusion that the album was Van Ness's, and said "He must have been robbed".

The "Count" said the same when Mr. Pangborn saw him, and added that the album was in his house when he left it to go to Papiac the day of the fire.

Just who would be interested in saving an album with all the Van Ness family photographs is not stated. The marshal is prosecuting a search for any other property that may be lying around, and the insurance company will doubtless be interested in the result of his investigation.

Incidentally, it is reported that the company in which Van Ness had the bulk of his $6,000, or more, insurance, was the Home, which is to-day plunged in financial difficulties. So the "Count" may not get his insurance after all.

The album found was covered with red plush, and wrapped in a New York Sun of May 13.

ODD FELLOWS AND ODD LADIES.

Queen City and Mizpah Lodges Eat, Install and Are Merry.

Queen City Lodge, No. 236, I. O. O. F. held an installation Monday night in their lodge rooms on Second street. Deputy Grand Master Charles Tallman was the installing officer. Afterwards a collation was served, which was followed by speechmaking and a general good time. Below will be found a list of the officers. All except permanent secretary and treasurer are elected for six months; the others for one year:

N. G.—H. O. Hance.
V. G.—Charles Darraw.
Recording Secretary—Lewis B. Blackford.
Permanent Secretary—Louis Pocock.
Treasurer—J. F. Allis.
Warden—Charles Randolph.
Conductor—J. E. Mosher.
Chaplain—H. Voorhees.
I. G.—H. Demott.
O. G.—Thomas Osment.
R. S. N. G.—William Kirch.
L. S. N. G.—Isaac Lance.
R. S. V. G.—Harley Apgar.
L. S. V. G.—Burton D. Bigelow.
L. S. S.—William H. Pope.
C. S.—William Scout.
Organist—D. Dobbs.

At the regular meeting of Mizpah Lodge, No. 1, U. O. of I. O. L., held in their hall Monday night, R. W. L. G. Beddell of Boston, assisted by R. W. V. L. G. Skiling and R. W. L. G. Maxwell, of the Government Lodge, installed the following officers for the ensuing term:

P. L.—S. Smith.
N. L.—L. Kurzhals.
V. L.—E. Bedin.
R. S.—T. Snieder.
F. S.—R. Mattis.
Treas.—E. Brokaw.
Capt.—A. Corwin.
Con.—E. K. Cox.
Guard—E. Weigman.
I. R.—J. Huntington.
S. W.—L. Karman.
J. W.—S. Denckiss.

NO BANK TROUBLE HERE.

Plainfield's Institutions Sounder Than Ever Before.

In these days of financial trouble, when bank failures have been of daily occurrence, it is not remarkable that rumors of trouble should be noised about even in regard to such solid institutions as the Plainfield banks. Inquiry among the local bank officials, however, shows that any possible fear as to their solvency would be ungrounded. Each of the three has not only a large cash balance on hand but larger assets in the form of immediately available paper. The Dime Savings Bank may be taken as an example of the condition of the city banks. That institution has between $25,000 and $30,000 cash on hand, and $100,000 immediate assets. So it may be seen that depositors may rest easy without any doubts as to the safety of their money in Plainfield, no matter what crashes occur elsewhere.

A. VENINO'S COSTLY BATH.

While Enjoying the Water, His Watch and Money Vanished.

Albert Venino wishes he had n't gone in bathing Sunday. He was visiting Arthur Friedheim at Bath Beach. They went for a swim, and used Mr. Friedheim's private bath-house. Mr. Venino objected to leaving valuables in his clothes, but Mr. Friedheim said they would be perfectly safe. Mr. Venino stayed in the water just five minutes. When he dressed he found that his watch and chain, $30 in money, and his friend's watch, were gone. The thief seemed to have been scared away, for other money and jewelry were overlooked.

Mr. Friedheim offered to make good Mr. Venino's loss, but the musician hopes the New York police will find his watch in some pawnshop.

Hurt on the Y. M. C. A. Building.

George Gayle, father of E. E. Gayle, the builder, tore the flesh from the second finger of his left hand, to the bone, a few days ago, while handling the heavy timbers used in constructing the Y. M. C. A. building on East Front street.

—Dra Sutphen, his stepson John Duryea, and his brother-in-law Charley Vanderveer, warn all persons that they will not "pay funeral expenses nor buy gravestones" for anyone found dead in their watermelon patch.

JOB MALE'S ESTATE.

HOW THE PLAINFIELD PROPERTY WAS DIVIDED.

Official List of the Allotments to the Heirs—Who Will Own the Various Residences and Other Lands.

Below will be found a list of the Plainfield properties that have been allotted to the different heirs in settlement of the Job Male estate. It will be noticed that the total valuations are given as first published exclusively in these columns. The encumbrances on each will make a slight difference in the actual amount received by the heirs, but the figures here given are of the assessed valuations. J. H. Van Winkle, Nelson Runyon and Levi Hetfield are the commission who were appointed to make the division of the property.

Allotment to John DeLany—one-sixth share:
20 Crescent avenue,
18 Putnam avenue,
149 Broadway,
17 Crescent avenue,
126 Richmond street,
4 Second place,
41 LaGrande avenue,
Park avenue lots,
130 Park avenue,
1 First place,
111 Richmond street,
119 Richmond street,
Total valuations—$77,850.

Sarah DeLany—one-sixth share:
28 East Ninth street,
26 Carlton avenue,
19 Crescent avenue,
16 Putnam avenue,
11 Second place,
160 Broadway,
64 Kensington avenue,
3 and 5 First place,
104 and 104½ Richmond street,
62 Broadway,
113 Richmond street,
Total—$77,450.

Gertrude Penno—one-ninth share:
27 East Ninth street,
12 Putnam avenue,
107 Richmond street,
10 Crescent avenue,
129 Broadway,
12 East Ninth street,
122 and 128 Richmond street,
145 Broadway,
109 Richmond street,
Total—$51,800.

Charlotte Strathdee—one-ninth share:
35 East Ninth street,
24 Carlton avenue,
64 Hillside avenue,
14 and 16 Crescent avenue,
22 Putnam avenue,
40 East Ninth street,
112 Richmond street,
Total—$51,200.

Robert A. Male—one-ninth share:
39 East Ninth street,
40 Carlton avenue,
136 Broadway,
19 Crescent avenue,
24 Putnam avenue,
12 Third place,
126 Richmond street,
5 Second place,
Total—$52,225.

Finley L. Batty, George W. Batty and Anna Latta—one-eighteenth share:
11 First place,
20 Carlton avenue,
128 Broadway,
117 Richmond street,
29 Carlton avenue,
Total—$25,400.

Ambrose Male—one-eighteenth share:
10 First place,
30 East Ninth street,
14 Putnam avenue,
54 West Fifth street,
12 College place,
Total—$25,350.

Mary Brown—one-eighteenth share:
22 East Ninth street,
20 Putnam avenue,
19 Kensington avenue,
108 Richmond street,
37 East Ninth street,
Total—$25,675.

Charles H. Male—one-eighteenth share:
28 Putnam avenue,
26 East Ninth street,
9 First place,
115 Richmond street,
44 East Fifth street,
Total—$25,700.

Job Male—one-eighteenth share:
141 Broadway,
24 Putnam avenue,
7 First place,
20 Carlton avenue,
114 Richmond street,
Total—$25,700.

Rachael Tarbox—one-eighteenth share:
142 Broadway,
32 Carlton avenue,
26 Putnam avenue,
9 and 11 College place,
120 Richmond street,
Total—$25,675.

Gross valuations—$465,425.

A LIFE LONG AND USEFUL.

Friend Caroline Vail at Rest, After 90 Years of Well-Being.

Mrs. Caroline H. Vail, widow of the late Hugh W. Vail, died on Monday at her late residence, 302 East Second street. Mrs. Vail was one of Plainfield's oldest and most respected inhabitants. She was born in Woodbridge, Middlesex county, in 1804. The early part of her married life was spent in Rahway, whence she moved to Plainfield over 50 years ago. Her husband built the house in which she died, when he first came here. Mrs. Vail was a revered member of the Hicksite Society of Friends, and was noted for her charities and charitable work, modestly performed throughout her life. The funeral will take place Thursday at 2:30, in the Friends' meeting-house. Mrs. Vail leaves no children. Her death is the result of a fall in which she dislocated her shoulder.

He's Honest, Fair and Clever.

Editor G. Elston Lowrie got out a very creditable first anniversary number of his Dunellen Weekly Call last week. The Call is a bright and refreshing reflex of the Dunellen and New Market news field. Mr. Lowrie modestly and frankly says:

"We do not claim to be perfect in journalistic work, but we do claim to be honest. We do make pretensions to fairness. We know that we stand ready to rectify mistakes that may be made by us. Further than that we cannot go, and further than that we do not think any reasonable person would ask us to go."

Beware This Swindler.

A strange Negro applied to a number of Plainfield women of charitable disposition, Saturday, asking for money to increase the fund for his education for the ministry. He exhibited a list of alleged contributions, and liberal ones, too, from prominent Plainfielders. Investigation proved the list to be of his own manufacture. He's a humbug.

Why Elizabeth Rejoices.

Editor McBride's great newspaper, the Elizabeth Journal, says:

TOWN TATTLE, which bade this community adieu last week as an independent publication, bids its former patrons a pleasant au revoir this evening in the columns of the Journal. Editor Wetmore could n't, as we all know, totally abandon his constituents with a P. P. C., for he has many pleasant and interesting things which he wants to say to them and which they want to hear. In transferring his remarks and observations from Town Tattle to the columns of the Journal he will renew his literary acquaintances with all his old friends and many new ones.

Crushed Through a Window.

While working on an extension in the rear of White's dry goods store, A. C. Rogers walked off the roof and fell through a glass window, cutting his right arm in several places, and severing an artery. Dr. Carman was called, and sewed the cut together.

—The merry-go-round near Tier's dam ran over a dog Thursday night, cutting off a leg and the tail. No inquest was deemed necessary.

Twenty Years' Experience.

C. D. Fredricks, the well-known photographer, 770 Broadway, New York, says: "I have been using ALLCOCK'S POROUS PLASTERS for 25 years, and found them one of the best of family medicines. Briefly summing up my experience, I say that when placed on the small of the back ALLCOCK'S PLASTERS fill the body with nervous energy, and thus cure fatigue, brain exhaustion, debility and kidney difficulties. For women and children I have found them invaluable. They never irritate the skin or cause the slightest pain, but cure sore throats, coughs, colds, pains in side, back or chest, indigestion and bowel complaints."

BEAUTIFUL BALL-PLAYING.

Plainfield's Team Gives a Machine-like Exhibition.

Livelier base-ball was seldom seen in Plainfield than the game put up by manager Keller's colts Saturday. The Crescents defeated the Phillipsburgs by the score of 15 to 0, and though the score seems one-sided on paper that's characteristic of games under this year's rules. The visitors made a clever showing, but played in hard luck. Two of their three errors were quite excusable. Twice they had the bases full, and then could n't score, in spite of earnest effort. The Crescents showed the benefit of more than one game a week. They walloped the ball in every direction, no matter who was in the box. They ran the bases beautifully, and fielded faultlessly. Fritz gave the spectators an exhibition of entertaining coaching such as makes glad the heart of the cranks. He shouted in Dutch and English alternately, with telling effect. Umpire John Dailey was a decided accession, and his umpiring was a marked feature of the game. He pleased everyone with his decided manner of announcing decisions, and the way he would point to a player and shout emphatically "That man's out!" tickled the grand-stand and bleachers. Dailey has a stentorian voice that would drown both borough and city fire-gongs simultaneously. Yet veteran Leo Smith said: "That fellow's a dandy! Every year he gets up a great benefit game for himself, and every year I buy a ticket for that game to help raise money to pay his funeral expenses, as he's dying of consumption! Consumption! Look at that amplified form and listen to that fog-horn voice!"

The score:

CRESCENTS.

	AB.	R.	BH.	SH.	SB.	LB.	SO.	PO.	A.	E.
Smith, ss	4	2	1	0	0	0	1	1	1	0
Martin, 2b	6	4	4	0	2	1	0	2	5	0
Turner, p, 3b	5	3	3	1	0	0	1	1	2	0
Murphy, cf	5	1	2	1	1	0	0	2	0	0
McIndoe, lf	5	1	2	0	0	1	1	1	0	0
Snedon, rf	5	1	0	0	1	1	0	1	0	0
Keenan, 3b, p	5	1	1	0	0	2	0	2	5	0
Jones, 1b	4	1	2	0	1	2	0	9	0	0
Fritz, c	5	1	2	0	0	0	2	8	1	0
		15	18	2	5	5	5	27	15	0

PHILLIPSBURG.

	AB.	R.	BH.	SH.	SB.	LB.	SO.	PO.	A.	E.
Holly, 2b, 1b	4	0	2	0	0	0	0	4	2	1
Raub, c	4	0	1	0	0	1	1	5	4	0
Titus, lf	4	0	1	0	0	1	1	2	0	0
DeWitt, rf, p	3	0	0	0	0	0	1	0	2	0
Ricketts, 3b	3	0	0	0	0	0	1	5	0	1
Drake, cf	3	0	0	0	0	0	0	2	0	0
Ryan, ss	3	0	1	0	0	0	0	2	2	1
M'tchl'r, 1b, 2b	3	0	0	1	0	0	2	4	0	0
Myers, p, cf	3	0	0	0	0	0	0	2	4	0
		0	5	1	0	2	6	27	14	3

BY INNINGS.

Crescents	2	0	4	0	0	4	5	0	0	—15
Base hits	2	0	3	1	1	5	6	1	0
Phillipsburg	0	0	0	0	0	0	0	0	0	—0
Base hits	1	0	0	0	0	0	2	1	1

Earned runs—Crescents, 7. Two-base hits—Smith, Martin (2), McIndoe. Three-base hits—Turner, McIndoe, Fritz. Double plays—Martin, to Keenan, to Jones; Holly, to Mutchler; Ryan, to Ricketts. Base on balls—Crescents, 6; Phillipsburg, 1. Struck out—By Turner, 3; by Keenan, 2; by Myers, 4; by DeWitt, 2. Passed ball—Raub. Time—1:40. Umpire—Dailey.

BASE-BALL BABBLE.

Gallant manager Keller has decided that henceforth the wire-screened grand-stand shall be free to fair femininity.

A remarkable incident of Saturday's game was that up to the sixth inning only 3 men of the visiting team got to the plate in each inning, and were retired in one-two-three order.

The method of alternating Keenan and Turner in the box meets with popular favor. Both are skillful young twirlers, and the public likes to see them both work their tricks during each game.

On the Park avenue grounds, Saturday afternoon, the following resulted from the game between nines of the rival printing-press shops:

Potter's..................2 1 4 0 12 7—26
Scott's...................3 0 2 2 4 0—11

HARD LUCK FOR FARLEY.

All His Crops Destroyed, and a Horse Perished in the Flames.

A barn belonging to Anthony Farley, just beyond Terrill road, caught fire Saturday night at 10. An alarm was sounded from box 15, Plainfield, and both the Plainfield and Fanwood apparatus responded, but could do nothing to stop the flames, as there was no water. Farley succeeded in getting out most of his live stock, but one horse was burned to death, and all his garden tools were destroyed, besides his new crop of hay and grain. The barn was destroyed. The fire is supposed to be of incendiary origin. There was no insurance.

SMOTHERING THEIR PUFF.

The N. P. Electric Light Company's Neighbors Much Obliged.

The North Plainfield Electric Light company, after considerable expense, have hit upon a plan to do away with the nuisance to residents near the station caused by the rumbling and jarring of the exhaust of engines. They now do their "puffing" into an old well in the ground. The nuisance is entirely abated, and the neighbors are very thankful to the company.

Young Men Enjoy Papiac's Delights.

A four-horse stage conveyed the Young Men's association of the Monroe Avenue chapel to Papiac, Saturday, and brought them home after a pleasant day. They profusely praise Capt. Boynton's charming resort. The members attending were: Chauncey Burt, treasurer; Blanchard Randolph, Charles Randolph, vice-president; Samuel Saums, George Saums, Fred Phillips, George Hughes, Clarence Brouard, Robert Slorah, Harry Pound, D. P. Hicks, president; Henry Apgar, Geo. Apgar, Burt King, Geo. Blackford, Clifford Manning, Wm. Ackerman and Walter Manning.

Mr. Mosher's Attention Desired.

Spanning the gutter near the Orthodox Friends' meeting-house on East Front street is a small wooden bridge. This has been choked up with tree branches since the big wind, and during and after every heavy rain the water backs up and makes a pond way back beyond Westervelt avenue, often submerging a portion of the sidewalk. A few minutes' work by the street gang will remedy the trouble.

Should Be a Record-Maker.

The sporting editor of the Elizabeth Journal says of the 25-mile bicycle race to be ridden over the Fanwood-Scotch Plains course August 26: "This course should allow of fast time. The race, which is open to New Jersey riders, will be held under the auspices of the Plainfield Lyceum Cyclers, and deserves the support of local wheelmen. The entries close August 21 with Capt. W. J. Kiely."

Ahead of the Metropolis.

Saturday's PRESS told of the postponement of the Netherwood coaching parade, yet Sunday's New York Herald gave an account of how its Plainfield representative imagined the parade took place, which proves again that when you read it in other papers you must look in previous issues of THE PRESS to see if it's so.

Bound to Get Enough on.

Car No. 1 of the street railway service is still in the car house. It will receive nine coats of paint and varnish, and seventeen days is the time given for the completion of the job.

—The road leading from Scotch Plains to New Providence is being macadamized at the expense of the county. The road is now dug up so that bicyclists cannot pass over it with safety.

DEATH OF GEN. ABBETT.

Seized With a Fit of Coughing, He Expires in His Chair in His Father's House.

Gen. Wm. F. Abbett, the eldest son of ex-Governor Abbett, and Judge Advocate General of the New Jersey National Guards, died suddenly Sunday morning at his father's home in Jersey avenue and Montgomery street, Jersey City. Gen. Abbett had been confined to the house since last May by a severe cold and nervous prostration, but he was recovering, as it was supposed, and he expected to be able to go to the encampment of the First Brigade at Sea Girt. At 8:30 a. m., yesterday, while sitting in an easy chair, he was seized with a fit of coughing and fell back in the chair dead. Dr. McGill says that death was caused by apoplexy.

Gen. Abbett was born in Hoboken thirty years ago yesterday. He studied law in the Columbia Law School in New York city, and, after being admitted to the bar, entered the office of his father. Subsequently he became a member of the firm. Gov. Green appointed him Judge Advocate General about five years ago. The time for the funeral has not been definitely fixed, but it will probably be Wednesday.

The Great Hills Among Them.

A number of Plainfield Y. M. C. A. members anticipate attending the eleventh general conference of Christian workers, which will convene at East Northfield, Mass., Aug. 1 to 13.

Among the promised speakers are: Revs. A. J. Gordon, of Boston; J. Wilbur Chapman, Albany; A. C. Dixon, Brooklyn; Merrill Edwards Gates, Ph. D., L. L. D., President of Amherst College; Maj. D. W. Whittle, Northfield, Mass.; Rev. B. Fay Mills, Providence; Prof. W. W. Moore, of the University of Virginia; Rev. John McNeill, Scotland; Hon. R. Morton, Hamilton, Ontario; and several others from foreign lands who are now assisting Mr. Moody in Chicago. The singing will be under the direction of Messrs. Ira D. Sankey and Geo. C. Stebbins. Further information may be obtained at the Y. M. C. A. rooms, of secretary J. H. Manning.

—The West Front street headquarters have been vacated by the Plainfield Athletic club, and rooms on Park avenue have been engaged.

Another Letter to Women.

May 25, '92, Syracuse, N. Y.

"Dear Madam:

"I want to tell you what your Vegetable Compound and Sanative Wash have done for me.

"I was so bad with falling of the womb and Leucorrhœa that I could not stand.

"I had doctored so much without benefit I was entirely discouraged. I expected to die.

"One evening I read in the 'Herald' about your medicine. I got some, and took 2 bottles of the Compound, and used one of the Sanative Wash.

"I am now well and strong, am never troubled with either of the complaints. If more women would use your Compound, there would be less suffering in the world."—Mrs. Ida Casler, 126 Olive St.

All druggists sell it. Address in confidence, LYDIA E. PINKHAM MED. Co., LYNN, MASS. Liver Pills, 25 cents.

Yours for Health Lydia E. Pinkham

An Open Letter From Clothing Builders to Clothing Buyers.

We make Clothing, you buy it. You buy Clothing ready made because it is cheaper.

There are different kinds of ready made. Have you ever investigated how different?

We show you the best that's made, the tailor made, the kind the tailor would make you to order.

In many instances you'll not be able to notice the difference in make between ours and theirs, but the difference in price will open your eyes.

The tailor's prices are about double ours and he furnishes you no better style, fit, finish, trim of fabric.

Why his big price?

He makes for the few; we for thousands. The wise and knowing are wearing OUR SUPERIOR CLOTHING and saving money.

See our grand line of SPRING SUITS between $10 and $20.

MCGREGOR & CO.,
850 and 852 Broad Street,
NEWARK, N. J.

THE SUTTON FAMILY SETTLED.

And Those Westervelt Avenue Improvements Are at Last Begun.

The white house that projected out into Westervelt avenue at North Front street has at length reached its new location on Elm place. It was three days in transit, by way of Orange street. During that time the Sutton family who claim it as their abiding-place never forsook its sheltering roof. They may be said to have enjoyed the novelty of sleeping on the streets and yet in a house, for while the building blocked the thoroughfares in transit they still lodged and ate and slept there as unconcernedly as usual. The industrious sons are now busy getting their mother settled amid the new surroundings.

The old site of the Sutton house will be considerably abridged to make a sidewalk past the place, and other land is to be taken to extend the sidewalk clear to the corner. The improvement is heartily welcomed by residents of that street of pretty homes.

Bad Eggs, Both of 'Em.

Fred Willibald and James Dunavan were found hiding in Mrs. Burke's haymow on Grant avenue, by Policemen Flanagan and Vanderweg, Monday night. They were wanted for stealing rides on coal trains, meddling with the railroad signals, and breaking open the oil storage place at Grant avenue. Willibald will pay $15 fine or go to jail for 40 days. Dunavan, who was under arrest before and escaped from jail through a stove-pipe hole, got 60 days.

Good Ball, Saturday.

Paterson can't come to Plainfield Saturday, as manager Ramsey could n't get his team in shape and would not bring a weak team here; but the New Brunswicks, greatly strengthened, will be here, with Landman in the box, prepared to reverse their recent defeat. Landman pitched a winning game for the Olympics against the Crescents.

That's a Scorcher!

(Elizabeth Journal.)

At last the Job Male estate, of Plainfield, has been settled, and the heirs got a great deal of money. So do the lawyers. But the latter earned what they got, and the heirs did n't.

IN MEMORIAM.

Agnes Waterbury Rodman.

Sorrow, toil and pain are over,
Resting now for one brief day;
Ever feeding in green pastures,
In the Saviour's arms she lay;
Looking now far down the valley,
Where once on earth her steps she trod,
Sees her sister mourning yonder,
And with one sweet smile she said:

"Sister, could you now but see me,
In the Land of Light above,
Tears and sighs for me would vanish,
And of me you'd think in love.
Grieve not then for me, my sister,
Count the joys yet left below,
Think, soon we will be together,
Time on earth does not pass slow.

"'Twas hard for me to leave you, sister—
Harder than you think or know;
But now that I have crossed the river,
I would not, could not, come to you.
Try then, dear, to cheer my mother,
Fill my place with one bright day,
And when to me above you come,
Remember you have come to stay."

The end shall not be yet.—S. Mark xiii: 7.

Mother, I'm to take a journey,
Heaven is the place I seek,
Why then mother do you cry so?
As a blessing for the meek.
Life is full of sorrow, mother,
Death's dark shades soon turn to light,
You too soon will come my mother,
One brief day I'm out of sight.

Then for my sake, my sake mother,
Cease those tears and smile once more,
While the shades around me gather,
For my Saviour close the door.
All is over now my mother:
Thus she spake and passed away,
Now the grave must hold the body
Till the Resurrection Day.

Tenderly 'neath the earth they laid her,
Now in Paradise she rests,
Where no human earthly torture
Can disturb the troubled breast.
Why should we our loved one long for,
She who to our hearts is dear,
For some day that loved one longed for,
Shall to us be ever near.

EMERSON CLEVELAND HOWARD.

Held for Fighting Negroes.

James Day, alias "Buck", who was arrested for participating in the row between whites and negroes, on Park avenue, at the Potter-Scott base-ball game, last Saturday, told Judge Coddington this morning that he was guilty, but claimed that he acted in self defence. The Court appointed Saturday, 9 a. m., for the hearing. It is charged that Day fought the negroes with base-ball bats and stones

FERRIS' GOOD SENSE CORSET WAIST

Young Ladies Who ride BICYCLES, Play TENNIS, or Attend GYMNASIUM, Should WEAR FERRIS' Good Sense Corset Waists.

All shapes. Full or Slim Bust. Long or Short Waist. White, Drab, or Black.

For sale by all Leading Retailers.

Send for illustrated circular to FERRIS BROS. Manufacturers and Patentees, 341 Broadway, New York.

Miss VANDEVENTER'S NEW STORE, 132 Central Ave.
CHILDREN'S OUTFITS MADE TO ORDER. | A FULL LINE OF GOOD SENSE WAISTS.

CANNON'S MARKET MULBERRY MECHANIC STS NEWARK.

Furniture, Carpets, Upholstery, Bedding, Stoves, Refrigerators, Baby Carriages, &c.

YOU CAN COMPLETELY FURNISH YOUR HOUSE, WITHOUT LEAVING OUR STORES.

PLAIN FIGURES, CASH OR CREDIT.

LARGEST HOUSE OUTFITTERS IN NEW JERSEY

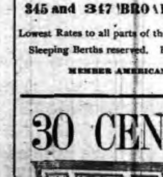
$35.00 TO CHICAGO AND RETURN,

Including Hotel accommodations for five days at

FRANK'S REDUCED RATES
Railroad and Steamship Ticket Agency,
345 and 347 BROADWAY, Cor. Leonard St., N. Y.

Lowest Rates to all parts of the World. Tickets purchased and exchanged. Sleeping Berths reserved. Baggage transferred.

MEMBER AMERICAN TICKET BROKERS' ASSOCIATION.



30 CENTS A DAY.

WILL BUY A PIANO or it will buy three cigars; at the end of a given time you still have the Piano; where are the cigars?

The right kind of a Piano lasts a lifetime. It furnishes and beautifies a room; its mellow tones smooth out the cares of a tiresome day. It is not an expense; it is an investment. Come and let us talk it over. We have STEINWAY, GABLER, KOSE and STERLING PIANOS and ESTEY ORGANS.

Cash, Installments or Rented.

S. D. LAUTER COMPANY,
657 and 659 Broad Street, Newark, N. J.

ELY'S CREAM BALM—Cleanses the Nasal Passages, Allays Pain and Inflammation, Heals the Sores, Restores Taste and Smell, and Cures

CATARRH

Gives Relief at once for Cold in Head. Apply into the Nostrils. It is Quickly Absorbed. 50c. Druggists or by mail. ELY BROS., 56 Warren St., N. Y.

TRIBUTE OF AN OLD COMRADE.

Loving Memorial Penned by One Whose Heart Is Grief-Stricken.

Jacob Pentz of Fanwood contributes to the current issue of Shooting and Fishing the following glowing tribute to his departed friend and comrade, Wm L Force:

Last week the grim destroyer carried off after short illness one of my oldest acquaintances, the man named at the head of this. My friendship with him began in the days of the Middlesex Gun Club when Force was its secretary, and the club had made a reputation for itself as a shooting club second to none. When the club's annual tournament drew men from all parts of the country to be present at the shootings. When such men as Budd and Stice and Elliott and Brewer, with a host of lesser lights, sought the shootings for a bit of the prize money or merchandise prizes that were offered for competition, and one of the chief workers for success on these occasions was the sportsman who has just left us.

Billy Force, as he was generally known, was more of an angler than a shooting man, although he loved both sports. His best hobby was fishing, and none knew better than he of the capital sport to be had in Jersey waters, if one but knew where to look, and to Billy Force it was all an open book. It will be now one of the regrets of the balance of my life, that I did not accept an invitation often extended to me by Billy to accompany him on a fishing trip for dace. "Uncle Jake," said he, "I will give you as fine sport as you have ever had in your life. I know where the fish are, and I will show you how to take them. They are gamy, and of a size sufficient to tempt any angler in the land."

"Where is that favored spot?" I queried.

"Never you mind! I'll show you, personally. It is just a pleasant drive from here to where a little, tiny stream empties its clear waters in the muddy flow of the Raritan. I have never taken but one companion there; he died last year. Come, Uncle Jake, you must go."

Alas! that I did not. Force told me that a fish of a pound's weight was nothing uncommon, and a half-pound follow the rule. He assured me that I should have the finest of fishing, and something to talk of the balance of my life.

Force was born within the present limits of Plainfield, New Jersey, a little over fifty years ago. His father owned and run a milling place on what is now known as Green brook. The lad was never fond of the dust and rumble of the mill. He has often told the writer, that, on every occasion that offered, he would steal away with rod and line, and hunt every stream of the neighborhood to its very source. Continued tramping over field and hill, highland and valley, gave him a knowledge of the country that I do not believe is equalled by any man now living. After rod and reel came dog and gun. Loving shooting as he did, it was but by-play to the ardent affection in which he held the angler's art. There was that something in his nature, that drew him to the purling waters of the brook, or the placid surface of pond and lake. There he was at home, and there he was supremely happy. For years the passion abided with him, and with another old acquaintance of mine, Asa Whitehead of Newark, it has been his custom to spend each year the weeks of the hot term at the shores of Lake Hopatcong. Here those old companions lounged away the summer season. The waters of that lake were as well-known to them both as the stars of the heavens to an astronomer. They knew where to look for the monster black bass, or, later in the season, the lurking-place of that long-jawed marauder of inland waters, the pickerel. Seldom a day passed without finding them en voyage, and seldom a night found them with empty creels. Two more devoted Izaak Waltons never made a cast or reeled in a line. Thus it was that Billy Force carried his age well. His eye was as bright, as keen, sparkled to the well telling of a tale, as if he had been a score of years the younger. His skin bore the healthy tint of out-of-door exercise, and showed the effect in its healthy color of days passed in the open air. Sunburn had no terror for him; there was no fear of tan. Then when winter came what pleasure to recite again the capture of some huge bass or big small-mouth. I often fancied he enjoyed telling full as much as he must have done the original capture. In person, Mr. Force was of medium height, sturdily built, square-shouldered, and with the typical eye of the sportsman peering from a pleasant, kindly face. Its expression showed the intelligence of the man, the quick working of the mind within.

Billy Force led a busy life; he was editor, journalist, printer, sportsman, all in one. He began life as a compositor, following that avocation for years. Then he returned to his native town, and after a short residence started the journal known as the Plainfield Constitutionalist. This was in January, 1868, and the journal proved a success from its very start. Its name has ever been the same, and it has never missed an issue. As his city grew it outgrew the weekly budget of news offered, and demanded a daily journal. The man was equal to the occasion, and from the desire came the Daily Press established by himself and brother. I have said my friend Force was eminently a busy man. That he was a popular one is fully shown by the following clipping from a recent issue of The Press. I grant that in this portion of his life I knew him not as well as I did in the twin paths of shooting and fishing. Here we had common desire and common ends. In addition to the orders and associations mentioned below, he served as postmaster of Plainfield during President Cleveland's first term of office, and proved himself one of the most efficient that ever filled similar position.

In the brotherhoods of man Mr. Force was a cherished associate. He was a member of Jerusalem Lodge, No. 26, F. and A. M.; of Jerusalem chapter, No. 24, R. A. M.; of Trinity Commandery, No. 17, K. T.; of Easter Lodge, No. 3,542, K. of H.; and of the Exempt Firemen's Association. He was also ex-foreman of Gazelle Engine company, No. 1; for many years a member and secretary of the Plainfield Fire Department Commissioners; Fish Warden of Union county at his death, and for years previous, under the appointment of the Governors of New Jersey; for many years a member and secretary of the Union and Middlesex Gun clubs, and later of the Climax Gun club. He was also secretary for years of the Game and Fish Protective Association of New Jersey.

He was buried last Thursday afternoon, and I can, even now, hardly bring myself to believe that he has passed from my sight forever. He was of large heart. So generous a nature that I shall sadly miss him. When one is getting along in years, new friends are not readily found. When one drops away it is like the breaking of a strand in a rope. The breaking is forever. There is no such thing as making it new. The rupture is for all time to the one that remains. And to Billy Force it is with trembling fingers and aching heart your old friend says this good bye!

It mayhap be as well to mention the accident that led to Mr. Force's death. He had been out driving with some friends, when the horse for some unknown cause stopped suddenly and began kicking. In a moment's cessation of this work Mr. Force started to get out of the wagon and find the trouble if possible. As he arose in the seat, bending forward, the animal kicked again, striking Mr. Force full in the breast. The blow threw him sideways, and, in falling, he went out of the wagon head first. Striking upon his arm it was fractured in two places. Upon getting home, it was further found that the breast bone was broken. The shock was too great for a man of his years to quickly rally from. The lungs impeded in their action failed to expand properly, and a few days saw as a complication pneumonia set in. From this last he never rallied, but gradually sank until he passed away. He was the most uncomplaining of sufferers, and not a murmur escaped him throughout his illness. I do not believe Billy Force had an enemy in this world. He leaves a widow but no children to mourn his most sudden taking off. His last words of consciousness were words of hope and love to the one who had been his companion through all times of striving, from the very beginning to that of the one that brought comfort and prosperity at the end.

Kindly Sympathy.

Plainfield Council, No. 711, R. A., of which Albert L. Force is a member, has given him the following kindly expression of sympathy and brotherly feeling:

PLAINFIELD COUNCIL, NO. 711,
ROYAL ARCANUM,
PLAINFIELD, N. J., July 18, 1893.

A. L. Force, Esq.,

DEAR SIR AND BROTHER:—At our last regular meeting held July 10, 1893, it was moved and seconded

"That the sympathy of this Council be extended to Bro. Albert L. Force in his deep affliction, this the loss by death of his brother, Wm. L. Force."

Rest assured, Brother, that you have the entire sympathy of your Brothers in the R. A.

I remain
Sincerely yours in V. M. C.,
H. A. THORNE, Sec'y.

Half Rates to the World's Fair by the Pennsylvania Railroad.

In order to afford an opportunity to the public to visit the World's Fair, the Pennsylvania railroad company has decided to run a series of popular excursions from New York, Philadelphia and other eastern cities to Chicago. The round trip from New York will be $20, and a single fare for the round trip will prevail from other stations.

The parties will be carried on special trains composed of the newest and best standard passenger coaches, containing all modern conveniences.

The special trains will leave New York at 9 in the morning, Jersey City 9:13, Newark 9:35, Elizabeth 9:32, Trenton 10:23, Philadelphia 11:50, and arrive in Chicago at 5:30 the next afternoon.

The first excursion is fixed for July 25; others are fixed for July 31, August 12 and 16. Another series to be run at the same rate and under the same conditions will be announced later. The return coupons of these tickets will be good within ten days, and will be accepted for passage only on trains leaving Chicago at 3:15 p. m. and 11:30 p. m.

GATHERING OF THE TRIBES.

Miantonomah, Rahwack and Poambo Meet Together and Smoke the Peace-Pipe.

The Red Men had a big powwow in the Plainfield wigwam on Friday. Miantonomah tribe did the honors nobly. Over the chair of sachem John H. Carney hung a beautiful emblem bearing the words

MIANTONOMAH
WELCOME
POAMBO—CHIEFS—RAHWACK.

The letters were of gold, and the surrounding decorations were in the colors of the order. The design was very elaborate, being decorated with fine ferns; and the entire room and officers' chairs were adorned with cedar trees, cat-tails and ferns.

The visiting tribes came by stages. As they entered the room a beautiful bouquet was presented to the presiding sachem, adding many smiles to Mr. Carney's face. His remarks of appreciation and welcome will long be remembered.

The Adoption Degree was conferred on a paleface in the amplified form, and the visitors expressed delight with the good work of the team.

Brothers Odam and York, of Miantonomah, sang, and talks and songs were given by the following:

Rahwack—George Walker, George Munday, Peter Crane, Jacob Tousant, Albert Anderson, Fred Bewing, William Leary, Thomas McDonald, Edward Evans, Martin Murtaugh, W. J. Tillyer and James Donohue.

Poambo—Andrew Peterson, Annie T. Eskerbort, John Jacobson, Christable Sund, Mable Hanson, Joe Miller, A. Mallinson, Hans Gjesson, Martin Hansen, Fred Slater.

A most satisfactory supper was served, and all left the wigwam with regret at parting and feeling that the evening had been most delightfully spent.

DELUGED BY MOLTEN IRON.

Dreadful Accident to a Moulder at Pond's.

James Simmons, a moulder at Pond's, was so badly burned on his feet and shoulders Thursday afternoon, that he had to be taken to Muhlenberg hospital. He was at work pouring a ten-ton casting, and while the ladle was over his head it accidentally turned, throwing the molten iron all over him. Simmons made an effort to escape, but slipped and fell, and his feet, left leg and both shoulders were horribly burned.

Capt. Martin to Clerk It.

W. J. Kiely represented the Plainfield Lyceum Cyclers and acted as secretary at the executive committee meeting of the Journal trophy Union county championship races, Thursday night. Only two teams, the Elizabeth Athletic club and the Elizabeth Wheelmen, have entered the race. Capt. F. L. C. Martin of Plainfield will act as clerk of course.

Real-Estate Hustlers.

J. D Runyon and Charles H. Hand have bought from A. D. Thompson a lot on Mountain avenue near Albert Runyon's Queen Anne cottage, on which they will build a $2,500 house in the near future. They have also bought several lots at Evona.

You have noticed that some houses always seem to need repainting; they look dingy, rusted, faded. Others always look bright, clean, fresh. The owner of the first "economizes" with "cheap" mixed paints, etc.; the second paints with

Strictly Pure White Lead

The first spends three times as much for paint in five years, and his buildings never look as well.

Almost everybody knows that good paint can only be had by using strictly pure White Lead. The difficulty is lack of care in selecting it. The following brands are strictly pure White Lead, "Old Dutch" process; they are standard and well known—established by the test of years:

"Atlantic" "Bradley" "Brooklyn" "Jewett" "Ulster"

For any color (other than white) tint the Strictly Pure White Lead with National Lead Company's Pure White Lead Tinting Colors, and you will have the best paint that it is possible to put on a building.

For sale by the most reliable dealers in paints everywhere.

If you are going to paint, it will pay you to send to us for a book containing information that may save you many a dollar; it will only cost you a postal card to do so.

NATIONAL LEAD CO.,
1 Broadway, New York.

JOB MALE'S ESTATE.

AT LAST THE HEIRS RECEIVE THEIR PORTIONS.

$467,000 Divided Among 13 of Them—All But Four, Canadians—Mrs. Fenno, the Housekeeper, Receives $51,933.

The Job Male estate was finally settled on Friday, when the executors apportioned the property among the heirs.

The total value of the estate was fixed at $467,403.

Sarah DeLany of Coburg, Ont., and John DeLany of Orillia, Ont., got one-sixth apiece, or $77,900.

Mrs. Gertrude Fenno of Plainfield, who was housekeeper for the deceased ex-mayor, and Robert Male and Mrs. Strathdee, both of Albany, got one-ninth each, or $51,933 33.

One-eighteenth apiece went to Mrs. Tarbuck of Elizabeth, Pa., and Job Male, Charles Male, Ambrose Male and Mary Brown, all of Coburg, Ont. Each share was $25,966 66.

The remaining one-eighteenth was divided among W. Batty of Coburg, L. Batty of Lakeport, and Anna Latty of Plainville, all of Canada.

Off for Poughkeepsie Again.

The Crescents will go to Poughkeepsie next Tuesday for two games. The trip will be a pleasant one, and those who intend to go with the team should notify manager Keller, as special rates can be secured. The total expense of the trip from New York, including admission to the games, will not exceed $5. The team leaves New York Tuesday morning, via the Albany day boat.

Old Partners May Re-unite.

L. A. Hummer, of Park avenue, has sold out his grain business to F. R. Van-Zandt, of Irvington, who will take possession July 31. Mr. Hummer and Andrew Lutkins will probably go into partnership again and engage in the stock business.

THE PUBLIC PRINTER.

He Has to Do a Good Deal of Work for Small Pay.

Origin, Growth and Present Proportions of the Government Print Shop—Four Million Required to Run It for Twelve Months.

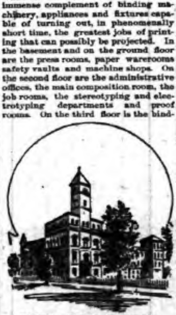
[Special Washington Letter.]

"I presume that there comes a time in the life of every lawyer when he entertains an ambition to be a judge," says ex-Senator Moody, of South Dakota. It may probably also be truthfully said that there comes a time in the life of every printer in this country when he entertains a desire or an ambition to secure employment in the government printing office at the national capital.

The public printer is at the head of a great institution which employs over three thousand men and women. The government printing office is a hive of industry, and, because of the fact that the employes in this great printing house are not under the protection of the civil service law, there are applicants for employment on hand in person every day either accompanied by their representatives or senators, or bearing letters from men of standing and influence. The office of the public printer, which is upon the second floor of the building, is the most attractive camping ground in the city for the unemployed.

It costs nearly $4,000,000 to pay the yearly expenses of this institution. Over $2,000,000 are paid out annually to the employes in wages, while the quantities of materials consumed by the government printing office are almost staggering in their volume. Last year 225 printers' reams of paper were used, costing over $600,000. There were also ten tons of printers' ink, twelve tons of glue, six tons of twine, two tons of glycerine, two tons of antimony, one ton of bar tin, one-half ton of plumbago, 860 pounds of pumice stone and 720 pounds of beeswax consumed in the regular business of the government printing office; and there were also 6,000 gallons of oil, 4,500 gallons of benzine, 140 gallons of alcohol, 3,600 packs of gold leaf, 4,000 pieces of book cloth, 3,000 dozen Turkey morocco skins, 230 square feet of calfskin, 4,000 yards of crash, 4,000 dozen sheepskins and 40,000 feet of Russia leather consumed in the regular business. It is claimed by many that the government printing office in Washington is the biggest on the face of the earth. From the expense account epitomized above one would judge that there is some ground for that claim.

It is not generally known, but it is a fact that the big building at the corner of North Capitol and H streets, in which over 3,000 men and women are employed, is a veritable fire trap and a gigantic tinder-box. If a fire should occur in any part of the building a fearful holocaust would result. Three years ago congress appropriated $250,000 for the purchase of a site and the erection of a new building for the government printing office; but real estate dealers in this city have managed, by active and energetic competition, thus far to prevent the selection of any site, and the old death-trap continues in use. In the basement of the building are 75 huge printing presses, while on the floor above there is an immense complement of binding machinery, appliances and fixtures capable of turning out, in phenomenally short time, the greatest jobs of printing that can possibly be projected. In the basement and on the ground floor are the press rooms, paper warerooms safety vaults and machine shops. On the second floor are the administrative offices, the main composition room, the job rooms, the stereotyping and electrotyping departments and proof rooms. On the third floor is the bindery and its warerooms. The fourth story is devoted to the publication of the Congressional Record, patent office specifications, and to the necessary warerooms. In addition to the numerous force of printers, compositors, pressmen, stereotypers and book-binders, there are whole battalions of feeders, computers, helpers, assistants, machinists, engineers, messengers, watchmen and laborers. Most of the computers, feeders and assistants are women and girls, numbering about 1,000 in all, who earn a competence by their labor. In addition to this great central printing office there are five branches under the supervision of the public printer, and they are located for convenience in the treasury, interior, navy, state and war departments for work requiring special secrecy and discretion in those departments.



NATIONAL BUREAU OF PRINTING.

During the last session of congress a joint committee of both houses undertook to cut down the expenses of the government printing office by recommending the discontinuance of certain publications, but the congress did not act favorably upon the reports of the committee. As a matter of fact the congress is exceedingly extravagant in its orders for printing. One hundred copies of every bill introduced in either house of congress are printed and sent to the secretary and clerk of the senate and house to be placed upon their files. As a matter of fact ten copies would be ample for official use. Thousands of copies of reports of committees are printed from day to day during sessions of congress which should never be put into type. The committees of the senate and the house having before them bills for consideration very frequently make reports favorable or unfavorable for the purpose of satisfying the demands of claimants and lobbyists who make daily personal appeals for action upon their bills. As a matter of fact no reports should be made in any cases unless action can be had by both houses of congress. Then there are thousands of reports of the executive department printed which might as well remain upon the archives of the departments in type-written form, because their publications serve no public good. During the closing days of the last session of congress Representative Stockdale, of Mississippi, advocated the increase of the number of copies of the Congressional Record donated to each representative from twenty-two to forty-four daily. It was shown by the chairman of the committee on printing that the adoption of the proposition would carry with it a $95,000 increase, and the debate upon the subject grew very warm. The proposition, however, was finally rejected. If carried it would have resulted in the practical waste of $95,000 per annum.

The common people of the country are not interested in the excessive publication of the Congressional Record. It is a very fine thing to have, bound and indexed at the public expense for the use of statesman and newspaper men, and it makes a handsome addition to the library of a gentleman. But if five copies were daily given to each member of congress, instead of twenty-two, it would be sufficient for the statesmen; and if they needed more to send to the various people in their districts they could purchase and pay for them out of their own pockets.

CAPT. W. M. MEREDITH.

The present government printing office was not founded until 1861 when Mr. John D. Defrees, of Indiana, was appointed the public printer by President Lincoln, after congress had worried along with other less convenient and satisfactory systems since the government was established in 1789. For many years the public printing was done on a small scale, the house and senate each paying for their own work out of their "appropriations for contingent expenses." For about twenty years prior to 1846 the senate and house elected public printers who were salaried officials. The duties of these officers were to make economical contracts and audit accounts for such printing only as was absolutely necessary. In that year, 1846, when the annual expense of congressional printing reached the enormous sum of $65,000, it was decided to return to the original contract system. But in 1851 the public printing cost $500,000, and the office of "superintendent of public printing" was created by act of congress, with a salary of $3,000 per annum. Strange as it may now appear, Horace Greeley was an applicant for the position, and so was Henry J. Raymond; both of them destined to become the leading journalists of their day, and one of them a candidate for the presidency of the republic.

The law of 1861, creating the office of public printer, is still in force, and under the system then commenced the government printing office has grown to the present proportions. The salary, which is $4,500, is very small, and no superior man could be induced to accept the office but for the honor of the position. The public printer gives bond in the sum of $100,000 and is obliged to abstain from any connection with or interest in any printing, binding, lithographing or engraving establishment; so that the entire time, attention, ability and energy of the public printer must be given to the government for $4,500 per annum. And yet, the duties and responsibilities of the place require the services of a man who is possessed of as much executive ability as would be required of the incumbent of a cabinet position.

The public printer must be a man of absolute incorruptibility and sterling integrity. If he is not, he is always in danger of misdirection; for the temptations of the position are very great. The following story is illustrative: "I do not like that man," said Capt. Meredith, chief of the bureau of engraving and printing three years ago, as we passed a prominent character on the avenue. "It was supposed early in '89 that I would be appointed public printer. That man came to me and asked to be appointed chief clerk of the government printing office, saying he would make me rich if I gave him that position. When I asked how he could do it, he said that, as chief clerk, he would make all contracts for materials for the office, and that he would occasionally hand me an envelope with a thousand dollars in it; and that I need not ask any questions. He had been introduced to me only a week before by an ex-member of a cabinet, and I had presumed that he was a gentleman. I have never permitted him to speak to me since that day."

The above is a true story. It illustrates pointedly and practically the dangers of the position, unless a man is armed so strong in honesty that he is absolutely incorruptible.

SMITH D. FRY.

A MAMMOTH EGG.

It Was Laid by a Bird Thirty-Five Feet in Height.

"We now come," said Mr. J. C. Stephens, at his auction rooms in King street, Covent garden, London, "to the egg of the Æpyornis maximus, the biggest bird either living or extinct. It has been extinct for some time, and only two of its bones have been found. According to the catalogue the bird was more than ten feet high and was flightless."

"I should think so," said a prospective egg buyer.

"It would seem to me," said Mr. Stevens, "that the bird that laid this egg must have been something like thirty-five feet high—about as high as a house. You will see by the catalogue that it measures 34¼ inches in its longest circumference and 26 inches in girth. This egg is several inches larger than the egg we sold last year. It is, of course, a great rarity, and not more than thirty of these eggs are known. This, I think, is the finest egg of the lot. It should be remembered that there are sixty known eggs of the great auk, and they sell for a couple of hundred guineas each. I don't mean to say that this egg should bring as much as a great auk's egg, but we sold one not so good as this last year for seventy guineas."

THE MAMMOTH EGG.

The egg was passing from hand to hand in a wooden box, while the auctioneer was speaking. It looked too large for an egg, though in other respects it seemed natural enough. It was not difficult to understand how a bird that had laid such an egg had become extinct. The strain must have been equal to the horse-power of an Atlantic liner, and the cackle that followed the arrival of the egg must have made the welkin ring until its head ached. The egg is of a brownish-gray color and sounds like porcelain when it is drummed on with the knuckles. The bird that was accustomed to lay this sort of egg lived, it is said, in Madagascar and buried its egg in the sand. It is only possible to find the egg by digging in the sand, and more eggs may yet be found, as a good deal of the seashore of Madagascar has not been dug up yet.

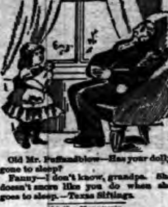
The egg was finally sold for sixty-seven guineas.

Relatively Small.

Jumpuppe—It is wonderful how little a man can live on in this world.

Jasper—Yes; especially when compared with the amount he wants.—Puck.

SHE COULDN'T TELL.



Old Mr. Puffandblow—Has your dolly gone to sleep?

Fanny—I don't know, grandpa. She doesn't snore like you do when she goes to sleep.—Texas Siftings.

At the Menagerie.

Manager—You wish to become a lion tamer. What qualifications have you for such a position?

Applicant—I am a successful book agent.

Manager—Consider yourself engaged.—N. Y. Herald.

Visible Evidence.

Jones—I saw a fellow yesterday with a cool thousand.

Brown—How did you know it was cool?

Jones—It must have been. 'Twas in a draft.—Demorest's Magazine.

Blessings of Vacation.

Little Girl (gloomily)—We'll have to learn an awful lot before vacation commences.

Little Boy (hopefully)—But think what a nice long time we'll have to forget it.—Good News.

MY CHUM, DICK.

Dick isn't quite so brilliant
In intellect as some;
But 'tisn't for his genius
A chap would choose his chum.

He's not so neat as might be
Regarding hair or dress;
He gets his fingers inky,
He's always in a mess.

His boots are splitting badly,
His hat is minus brim;
If he mislays his hairbrush
It makes no odds to him.

He isn't very punctual,
His watch is never right;
He's late for all his classes,
His school-books are a sight.

You can't say he's a wonder
On the horizontal bar;
He sings in church on Sundays,
But he'll never be a star.

Take one thing with another,
He's an average sort of chap;
If he has a special talent,
'Tis a genius for mishap.

But if it comes to wanting
A thoroughgoing friend,
My chum's the very fellow—
A choice you couldn't mend.

If he should have a hamper,
It's empty in a day;
He keeps perhaps a quarter,
The rest he gives away.

If you're in want of money,
And ask him for a loan,
He lets you treat his pockets
As if they were your own.

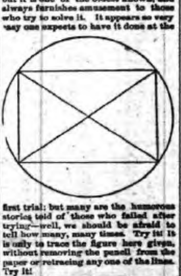
Or if some blatant bully
Uplifts his heavy hand
To "tan" you, Dick will fight him
As long as he can stand.

A friend when fun is going,
A friend when troubles come—
That's Dick' and I am lucky
That such a chap's my chum!
—Paul Blake, in Golden Days

A VENERABLE PUZZLE.

Resurrected for the Benefit of Clever Boys and Girls.

The puzzle that we give here has not occupied public attention lately, but it is one of the oldest known, and always furnishes amusement to those who try to solve it. It appears so very easy one expects to have it done at the first trial; but many are the humorous stories told of those who failed after trying—well, we should be afraid to tell how many, many times. Try it! It is only to trace the figure here given, without removing the pencil from the paper or retracing any one of the lines. Try it!



THE BRITISH THRONE.

A Complete List of the Possible Successors to Queen Victoria.

In this country, where little is known of royalty, except by tradition, no one can be expected to know anything about the order of succession; but, under an hereditary monarchy, such matters are of great importance. The London Times, an unimpeachable authority, gives the following list of the succession to the British throne.

The letters S., G.S., G.D. and G.G.D. stand for son, grandson, grand-daughter and the great-granddaughter, and indicate the relation of the person named to her majesty:

	Ages
1. Prince of Wales, S.	[illegible]
2. Prince George of Wales, G.S.	[illegible]
3. Duchess of Fife, G.D.	[illegible]
4. Lady Alexandra Duff, G.G.D.	1
5. Princess Victoria of Wales, G.D.	[illegible]
6. Princess Maud of Wales, G.D.	[illegible]
7. Duke of Edinburgh, S.	[illegible]
8. Prince Alfred of Edinburgh, G.S.	[illegible]
9. Princess Marie of Edinburgh, G.D.	[illegible]
10. Princess Victoria of Edinburgh, G.D.	[illegible]
11. Princess Alexandra of Edinburgh, G.D.	[illegible]
12. Princess Beatrice of Edinburgh, G.D.	[illegible]
13. Duke of Connaught, S.	[illegible]
14. Prince Arthur of Connaught, G.S.	[illegible]
15. Princess Margaret of Connaught, G.D.	[illegible]
16. Princess Victoria of Connaught, G.D.	[illegible]
17. Duke of Albany, G.S.	[illegible]
18. Princess Alice of Albany, G.D.	[illegible]

It is pointed out that the present duke of Fife is himself a great-grandson of William IV., and that his children are therefore of royal descent from both father and mother. The duke of Edinburgh stands seventh on the list, as, although he is the second son of the reigning monarch, he comes in the order of succession, not only after his elder brother, but after all his elder brother's children and grandchildren, male and female.

UNINVITED GUESTS.

TELEPHONE COMPANY!

SPEAKING CONNECTION WITH OVER 12,000 SUBSCRIBERS—PROTECTION FROM FIRE AND BURGLARS, PLAINFIELD, N. J.

Central Office—49 North Avenue.

Subscriber's Name	Address.
Albion Hotel, The	Park av and 5th st
Ames, C. J.	13 Crescent ave.
Alert Hose Co., No 1	Madison ave.
Ackerman, Mrs. J. H.	20 West 7th street
Adams, Dr D C	40 Grove st
[illegible], P W	Dunellen
Brokaw, Isaac B	Bound Brook
Babcock, Geo H	5th and Union sts.
Bachelor & Dunn	16 North ave.
[illegible], W. C., M. D.	Cor. Front & Central Av.
[illegible], John	Central ave. and 9th st.
[illegible], J B	Park av and 2d st
[illegible], Jos F, M D	10 E 6th st
Board of Education—[illegible] st, 5th and Union sts
Booth, B K	60 Madison ave
	5th & Liberty, 6th & Monroe
Clark, E B	2 Waynwood place
Children's Home	Jackson ave.
Clawson, James T	Richmond and Front sts.
CONSTITUTIONALIST Office	3 North ave.
Cook, A D & Bro	Park ave and RR.
Cooley, Dr J H	Manning and Westervelt aves.
Cox, Rowland	[illegible]
Chapman, Mrs. F. A.	9 Third Place
Cruikshank, S. A.	129 Carlton avenue
Carman, J H, M D	49 Somerset st
Chase, E P M	Somerset st
Central Pharmacy, (J H Leggett, Mgr)	Park ave and Front st
DAILY PRESS	2 North ave.
Depew, Mrs. E. S	16 Crescent ave.
Day, Frank	32 W. Fourth st.
Davis, Dr T S	Cor 5th st & Park av
Day, B M	Rockview ave
Demarest, F M	27 Park av
Dumont, John B	10 E 7th st
Decker, T—pay station	Westfield, N J
[illegible], James	22 E 6th st
Doane, T O—Chief P F D	40 W 4th st
[illegible], S L	121 Madison av
Davis & Stevens, coal and wood	Office W Front
Endicott, Dr Geo W	Park ave. and 4th st.
Evening News, T. W. Morrison, Editor	7 Som't st.
Engine No 1	West 2d st.
Engine No 2	Front st.
Engine No 3	Somerset st.
Evans, Geo G	27 Washington ave
Fisk, Chas. J	29 West Seventh st
Fanwood, pay station	Fanwood station
Freight House	C. RR. Depot.
French, F M & Sons	Somerset st.
Fritts, Dr J T	75 Park ave.
Fleming, Howard	28 Park avenue
Fisk, Pliny	6 W 7th st
French, C Frank	49 Somerset st
Grant, Geo W, Chief of Police	30 W 4th st
Goddard, C M	17 Third Place.
Griffin, A M	13 E Front st.
Gaston, M. D., W F	5th and New sts
Gilbert, A	Cor Central av & 5th st
Howell & Hardy	North Avenue
Heyniger, L	31 & 33 Somerset street.
Hageman, B. A	107 Sycamore avenue.
[illegible], Dr. Ellis W	43 East Front st.
Hyde, Chas	141 Front street.
Hedden, Albert	4th st. near Park ave.
Higgins, M. A	76 East 4th st—28 North ave
Hatfield, John N	204 South 2d st—21 Park av
[illegible], Francis G	122 Madison av
[illegible], O	Netherwood
Hoagland's City Express	20 North av
Jenkins, Dr. G. L	38 W. Front st.
Jones, Evan	13 Kensington st
Kirkner, J	9th and Division sts.
[illegible], W T	46 W 7th st
Lowry, Rev Robert	Madison ave and 9th st.
Lovell, L N	Crescent ave
Lord, Wm A	Belvidere av
Loomis & Rice	[illegible] 49 Broadway
Laire, J P & Co	3 W Front st
Linke, Frank	48 W Front st
Lounsberry, F C	13 Plainfield ave
Myers, J K	17 [illegible] 7th st
McGee, Henry A	Willow ave
McGee, James	Willow ave.
Miller, J G	10 E. Front st.
Moore, Geo. A	30 North ave
Muhlenberg Hospital	South ave.
Murray, Dr. Wm. H	107 Broadway
Matthews, Chas	49 Grove st
Pond Mach Tool Co	Boulevard below Grant av
[illegible] Hardware Co	42 W Front st
Reed, Chas A	27 Myrtle ave
Milliken, B F	139 Central
Morrison, T W	21 Somerset st
MacDonald, J F	46 E Front st
[illegible], Lawrence	E Front st
Netherwood Hotel	Netherwood.
Newhall, Henry B	36 E 7th st.
N J Postal Tel Co	4 Park ave
Reynolds, H P	Park and North ave.
Reynolds, H. F	Washington avenue
Roberts, D S	17 North avenue.
Rockfellow, Geo W	Park and North ave
Runyon, A M & Son	Park ave.
Runyon, A M & Son	46 Madison ave
Rushmore, Dr Edward	Park ave. near Fifth st
Roome, Mrs J	Cor. Mercer & Sycamore aves.
Runkle, H. G	8th st
Runyon, Chas W	Park ave
Rice, R. W. & Co	[illegible] cor. Emily and Duer sts
Randolph, L W	Front st
Rogers, D W	W 4th st
Rogers, F F jr	24 Westervelt ave
Stover, E W	20 east 9th st
Serrell, Lemuel W	Front st. and Plainfield ave
Seguine, G. J	60 Front street.
Shaw, B J	Front st. opp. Park ave.
Streuli, A S	Prospect ave.
Smith, W F	Belvidere av., Netherwood
Shepherd, A D	Fanwood
Smith, Jas A	13 W Front st
Scott, Walter & Co	South ave
Smith, Chas A	Spring st., Westfield, N J
Stelle, Irving G	Sixth st
Terrill & Cole	10 E Front st
Thompson, A. D	20-21 [illegible]
Talmadge, Henry P (Res)	Netherwood.
[illegible], Jno A	Madison av
Titsworth, Jos M	20 W. 7th st.
Tomlinson, Dr T H	La Grande and N B'dwy
Tobin & Enander	21 North av
Tracy, J Evarts	8th and Division st
Thorn, Alex	27 Somerset st
Tweedy, O. B	21 Crescent avenue
Townsend, Samuel	20 Rockview av
Thompson, A D	Prospect ave
Telegraph Office	Plainfield station
Thorn, E	76 W Front st
United States Express Co	6 North ave
Union Co Country Club	Cor 7th st & Arlington
Van Sickle W. J	10 North ave
Wharton, Clifton	17 Central av
Woltman, G	West Seventh street
Wadsworth, W B	8th and Liberty sts
Western Union Telegraph Company	at Depot
[illegible], J F	W 8th st., near Grand ave
Waters, E, Ass't Chief	3d st near Washington
Westfield, pay station	Westfield, N J
Wotherspoon O G	140 E Front st

TELEPHONE TOLL RATES.

FOR FIVE MINUTES CONVERSATION.

PLANFIELD. NEW JERSEY

Asbury Park, N J	[illegible]	Hempstead N Y	45c
Astoria, N Y	[illegible]	Hoboken N J	35c
Babylon, N Y	[illegible]	Hunter's Point N Y	[illegible]
Bath, N Y	[illegible]	Irvington N J	[illegible]
Bayonne N J	[illegible]	Islip N Y	[illegible]
Bergen Point N J	[illegible]	Jamaica N Y	[illegible]
Bayside N Y	[illegible]	Jersey City N J	[illegible]
Bay Shore N Y	[illegible]	Keyport N J	[illegible]
Sayville N Y	[illegible]	Kingston N J	[illegible]
Belleville N J	[illegible]	Laurel Hill N Y	[illegible]
[illegible] N Y	[illegible]	Leonia N J	[illegible]
Bloomfield N J	[illegible]	Little Neck N Y	[illegible]
Bloomingdale N J	[illegible]	Little Silver N J	[illegible]
Boonton N J	[illegible]	Long Branch N J	[illegible]
Brooklyn N Y	[illegible]	Madison N J	[illegible]
Caldwell N J	[illegible]	Matawan N J	[illegible]
Carlstadt N J	[illegible]	Millburn N J	[illegible]
Centreville N J	[illegible]	Montclair N J	[illegible]
Chatham N J	[illegible]	Morristown N J	[illegible]
Closter N J	[illegible]	Newark N J	[illegible]
Colt's Neck N J	[illegible]	New Brunswick N J	[illegible]
Coney Island N Y	[illegible]	[illegible] N Y	[illegible]
Cranford N J	[illegible]	New York N Y	[illegible]
Dover N J	[illegible]	Orange N J	[illegible]
East Norwich N Y	[illegible]	Pamrapo N J	[illegible]
Eatontown N J	[illegible]	Passaic N J	[illegible]
Elizabeth N J	[illegible]	Paterson N J	[illegible]
Englewood N J	[illegible]	Perth Amboy N J	[illegible]
Fairview N J	[illegible]	Rahway N J	[illegible]
Fanwood N J	15c	Red Bank N J	[illegible]
Far Rockaway N Y	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]
Flatbush N Y	[illegible]	Somerville N J	[illegible]
Flemington N J	[illegible]	South Amboy N J	[illegible]
Fort Lee N J	[illegible]	South River N J	[illegible]
Franklin Park N J	[illegible]	Staten Island N Y	[illegible]
Freehold N J	[illegible]	Westfield N J	[illegible]
[illegible] N J	[illegible]	Woodbridge N J	[illegible]
Glen Cove N Y	[illegible]	Yonkers N Y	[illegible]
[illegible] N Y	[illegible]	Trenton N J	[illegible]
Hackensack N J	[illegible]	Tarrytown N Y	[illegible]

TWENTY
Years experience in the business.
SECOND STREET, 2 doors above [illegible]

Mr. JOHN E. STEVENS, Horse-shoer, gives particular attention to Shoeing, Forging, Stumbling and Interfering Horses. Speedy Gaiters shipped in an incredibly short space of time. Horses with diseased feet treated in a particular manner by experienced workmen.

ALBERT HEDDEN,
Livery and Boarding Stables
FOURTH STREET,
Between Peace street and Park avenue.
First-Class Livery
Horses Boarded by Week or Month.
Telephone call No. 124.

ADMINISTRATOR'S SETTLEMENT.—Notice is hereby given that the account of the subscriber, administrator, with the will annexed, of Thomas [illegible], deceased, will be audited and stated by the Surrogate, and reported for settlement to the Orphans' Court of the County of Union, on Wednesday, the nineteenth day of July next.

ALVAH A. CLARK.
Dated May 3, 1893.

ADMINISTRATOR'S SETTLEMENT.—Notice is hereby given that the account of the subscriber, Administrator of William [illegible], deceased, will be audited and stated by the Surrogate, and reported for settlement to the Orphans' Court of the County of Union, on Wednesday, the nineteenth day of July next.

[illegible]
Dated May 3, 1893.

TOLSTOI WILL COME.

The Great Russian Intends to Visit the World's Fair.

Carried Away by the Grandeur of the Buildings at Jackson Park and in the City of Chicago—The Czarowitz' Visit.

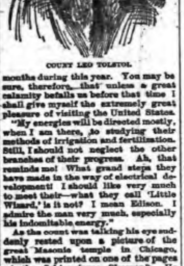
There is little doubt that Count Leo Tolstoi will visit America and the Chicago world's fair during the latter part of the summer.

In an interview at his home the count spoke of the rumors about his visit to the United States. The report of the interview is as unique as it is interesting. The count was sitting in his library when the interviewer called. After a brief general conversation the subject of America was mentioned. Upon this the count took from a drawer a copy of the Sshivopisnoe Obosrenie, which was the first Russian illustrated weekly to print the different views of the world's fair grounds and buildings. Opening this he leaned across the table and said:

"Is it not grand, beautiful? How great is the power of man who could accomplish so much in so little time! Why, it seems almost incredible! Truly, as wonderful as this appears on paper, how much grander, nobler, must it appear in reality! Have I any desire to see it? Who would not? But with me it is not merely a matter of seeing these wonders. I also wish to learn."

He then proceeded to enlarge on the fact that the only salvation for the Russian mujiks lies in adopting all the western methods of working the soil. Regarding the probability of his visiting America he said:

"God has seen fit to lighten the burden of Russia this year, although He has not taken it away altogether. Happily for us all, so far the epidemics which threatened us have been battled with right royally and the experience of the people has helped to lessen their virulence. Furthermore, the condition of the crops is not so bad as it was last year and year before last. On this account I think that my people will be able to spare me for three or four months during this year. You may be sure, therefore, that unless a great calamity befalls us before that time I shall give myself the extremely great pleasure of visiting the United States.



COUNT LEO TOLSTOI.

"My energies will be directed mostly, when I am there, to studying their methods of irrigation and fertilization. Still, I should not neglect the other branches of their progress. Ah, that reminds me! What grand steps they have made in the way of electrical development! I should like very much to meet their—what they call 'Little Wizard,' is it not? I mean Edison. I admire the man very much, especially his indomitable energy."

As the count was talking his eye suddenly rested upon a picture of the great Masonic temple in Chicago, which was printed on one of the pages of the Sshivopisnoe Obosrenie. He stopped and, looking intently at the cut, said:

"Here is a characteristic trait of these Americans. Ever climbing upward, more restless even than the proverbial Frenchmen. I am no architect, yet I cannot but feel the greatness of a building like this. Why, they say they had to put down a layer of steel plates under the foundation in order to support the immense weight of this monstrous building. I wonder" (with his characteristic smile, half gay, half ironical), "how much higher the Tower of Babel was than this central tower?"

Referring to the various talk for and against the czarowitz visiting America and the Chicago exposition, the count expressed himself very much grieved at the unfavorable attitude of the czar on the subject, as he is sure such a visit would prove very beneficial to the czarowitz directly and, consequently, to the Russian people indirectly, besides serving to cement the friendship between America and Russia.

How a Snake Bite Was Cured.

Whisky and rattlesnake bites are supposed to be inseparable, but a Riverside (Cal.) doctor recently successfully treated a rattlesnake bite without the aid of the intoxicant. The treatment was: The hand and arm were first thoroughly cleansed in a hot medicated wash, and the places where the fangs entered were lanced, so that the poisoned blood might escape. It was again washed clean, and 33¼ per cent. oily solution of camphorated phenic acid was injected into some twenty-five places in the hand and arm. The only remaining treatment was to keep the parts perfectly clean. The doctor says that anyone bitten by a rattler should immediately suck the wound and spit out the blood, then tie a handkerchief tightly above the wound and open it with a clean penknife to let it bleed. While this is being done not a moment should be lost in getting to a surgeon. The snake may also be killed while you wait.

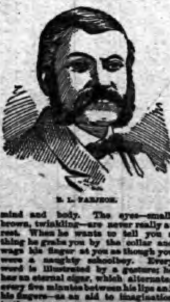
The Cost of Patents.

To have an invention protected all over the world it is necessary to take out sixty-four patents in as many different countries, the estimated total cost of which is seventeen thousand dollars.

FARJEON, THE AUTHOR.

The Most Active and Vivacious of England's Literary Men.

B. L. Farjeon, the celebrated English novelist, is a tiny man—short of stature, thin of body, dressed after the careless fashion of the literary man, with the tendency to drop into dreamland of the born story teller. But there is such life, such electricity, such quicksilver in his blood that he can't remain still for a moment; and when you think you have pinned him down into a seat and he takes his place on it as though he were going to be glued to it for half an hour—ho presto! he is up again and has taken three laps around the room as though he were competing in a long distance championship match. Everything about the man speaks of his extraordinary vivacity of mind and body. The eyes—small, brown, twinkling—are never really at rest. When he wants to tell you a thing he grabs you by the collar and wags his finger at you as though you were a naughty schoolboy. Every word is illustrated by a gesture; he has an eternal cigar, which alternates every five minutes between his lips and his fingers—as an aid to imagination in the one case, as a convenient pointer to a gesture in the other; and the cigar has a companion in a match box which is constantly opened and shut in the unavailing effort to talk with the rapidity of an Italian improvisatore and to enjoy the tranquil joy of a smoke. And Farjeon's character is pretty much what you gather from this restlessness and vitality, says T. P. O'Connor, who interviewed him recently. Amid all the hard workers there is none who works as he does. One of the first to discover the magnificent possibilities and the miraculous helpfulness of the typewriter, he has a whole storehouse of these "aids to reflection" and composition. "I have in my time," says Mr. O'Connor, "had as many as three typewriters; but Farjeon has five—all within the narrow compass of his house in South Hampstead, while mine have been scattered between my house, my office and the house of commons. I have done some hard work and some long stretches in my time; but this little man, who looks almost as if you could blow him off your hand, not unfrequently sits down at his desk at 10 in the morning and does not rise till 3:30 on the following morning, not even going to the dining-room—for at such stretches he lives on soup and tobacco."



B. L. FARJEON.

MISCELLANEOUS MISCELLANEOUS.

E. P. THORN,
No. 17 Park Avenue,
PLAINFIELD, N. J.

Pure Wines and Liquors,
For Family and Medicinal Use,
A SPECIALTY.

3-26-y

CASTORIA
for Infants and Children.

THIRTY years' observation of Castoria with the patronage of millions of persons, permit us to speak of it without guessing. It is unquestionably the best remedy for Infants and Children the world has ever known. It is harmless. Children like it. It gives them health. It will save their lives. In it Mothers have something which is absolutely safe and practically perfect as a child's medicine.

Castoria destroys Worms.
Castoria allays Feverishness.
Castoria prevents vomiting Sour Curd.
Castoria cures Diarrhœa and Wind Colic.
Castoria relieves Teething Troubles.
Castoria cures Constipation and Flatulency.

Castoria neutralizes the effects of carbonic acid gas or poisonous air.
Castoria does not contain morphine, opium, or other narcotic property.
Castoria assimilates the food, regulates the stomach and bowels, giving healthy and natural sleep.
Castoria is put up in one-size bottles only. It is not sold in bulk.
Don't allow any one to sell you anything else on the plea or promise that it is "just as good" and "will answer every purpose."
See that you get C-A-S-T-O-R-I-A.

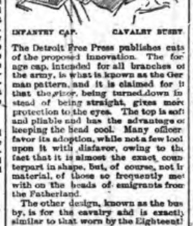
The fac-simile signature of Chas. H. Fletcher is on every wrapper.

Children Cry for Pitcher's Castoria.

MILITARY HEADGEAR.

Proposed Substitutes for the Caps and Helmets Now in Use.

The war department of the United States now has under consideration a change in the headgear of the soldiers and officers to replace the forage cap and helmet now worn in the service.



INFANTRY CAP. CAVALRY BUSBY.

The Detroit Free Press publishes cuts of the proposed innovation. The forage cap, intended for all branches of the army, is what is known as the German pattern, and it is claimed for it that the visor, being turned down instead of being straight, gives more protection to the eyes. The top is soft and pliable and has the advantage of keeping the head cool. Many officers favor its adoption, while not a few look upon it with disfavor, owing to the fact that it is almost the exact counterpart in shape, but, of course, not in material, of those so frequently met with on the heads of emigrants from the Fatherland.

The other design, known as the busby, is for the cavalry and is exactly similar to that worn by the Eighteenth hussars of the English army. It is made of black astrakhan cloth and will weigh, complete, about ten ounces. It also has a sloping visor, but very small. The cut shown is for officers. For enlisted men it will be the same minus the pompon or top ornament. Every cavalry officer at Fort Leavenworth, Kan., twenty in all, favors its adoption.

Lizard Skins from Mexico.

A warm climate and creeping things go together. According to statistics compiled by the general government of the state of Tabasco, Mexico, 560,000 lizard skins were shipped to the United States from that state last year. This peculiar industry is carried on by hundreds of natives, who capture the wild tropical lizards without difficulty. Thousands of the skins are marketed in Mexico, while large quantities are exported to European countries. It is estimated that fully 5,000,000 lizards were slaughtered for their skins in the state of Tabasco alone last year.

Where He Had Gone To.

"By the way, where is Jones now?" asked Briggs. "I haven't heard of him for a long time."

"He has gone to the spirit land," replied Quimby.

"What, is he dead?"

"I didn't say he was dead. He has moved to Kentucky."—Texas Siftings.

She Mails a Letter.

Just watch that woman mail her letter!
She drops it into the box—not quite,
But draws it back to see is better
If the address be written right.
O'er the gummed side she runs her fingers,
Then tried the stamp if it be fast;
Then flirts it in, the while she lingers
To see if it is gone at last!
—Brooklyn Life.

Compensation and Retribution.

"I see that an eastern paper is investigating the question: 'Do men neglect their wives?' What do you think about it?"

"Well, if they do, it's ten to one that other men don't."—Detroit Tribune.

Puzzled.

"I cannot understand se American papers," said the educated foreigner. "Here is one zat says ze bank is gone up and here is one zat says ze bank is gone under."—Chicago Tribune.

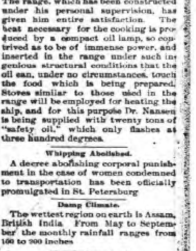
DR. NANSEN'S STOVE.

The Cooking Range Expressly Made for the Arctic Explorer.

It has been finally arranged that Dr. Nansen and has party shall leave Norway for the north pole in the Fram very soon. Apropos of the expedition, we give an illustration of a remarkably comprehensive cooking range and outfit which has been made for the use of Dr. Nansen and his crew during his forthcoming arctic expedition. When it is remembered that the latter will take at least five years, and that the range in question will be during that period practically the only means of cooking for the entire party, it is evident that the appliance should be as perfect of its kind as ingenuity and good workmanship can make it. To all appearance, this point has been attained. Solidly built in stout copper, with asbestos linings where necessary, the range is so constructed as to enable the processes of roasting, baking, boiling and frying to go on simultaneously; and, although occupying considerably less than a square yard of room, will cook sufficient substantial food for twenty-five persons. Dr. Nansen's party consists of himself and twelve men. The range, which has been constructed under his personal supervision, has given him entire satisfaction. The heat necessary for the cooking is produced by a compact oil lamp, so contrived as to be of immense power, and inserted in the range under such ingenious structural conditions that the oil can, under no circumstances, touch the food which is being prepared. Stoves similar to those used in the range will be employed for heating the ship, and for this purpose Dr. Nansen is being supplied with twenty tons of "safety oil," which only flashes at three hundred degrees.



THE COOKING RANGE.

Whipping Abolished.

A decree abolishing corporal punishment in the case of women condemned to transportation has been officially promulgated in St. Petersburg

Damp Climate.

The wettest region on earth is Assam, British India. From May to September the monthly rainfall ranges from 100 to 200 inches.

Living Over a Volcano.

China is populated so thickly that hundreds of thousands of people live all the year round in house-boats. Japan is not so over-crowded as China, but it is populated so thickly that about 20,000 persons live in the crater of Aso San, a volcano about thirty miles distant from the city of Kumamoto. "Think," says a writer in the Chicago Times, "of walking for miles among fertile farms and prosperous villages, peering into schoolhouse windows and sacred shrines, all within the shell of an old-time crater, whose walls rise 800 feet all about you. It gives one a queer feeling. Hot springs abound everywhere. In one place I saw the brick-red hot water utilized to turn a rice mill. The inner crater is nearly half a mile in diameter, and a steady column of roaring steam pours out of it. The last serious eruption was in 1884, when immense quantities of black ashes and dust were ejected and carried by the wind as far as Kumamoto, where for three days it was so dark that artificial light had to be used."

Doing the Right Thing.

Young Man—I deliver ice at your house and I thought I'd see if you wouldn't do the right thing by me in the purchase of a ring for a young woman.

Jeweler—How high do you want to go?

Young Man—About eight dollars.

Jeweler—You deliver ice at my house, you say?

Young Man—Yes.

Jeweler—Well, there's a six-dollar ring, but under the circumstances you may have it for eight.—Judge.

A Juvenile Edison.

Mrs. Wayback—That weather-vane that peddler sold you ain't worth shucks. It don't point toward the wind at all. It points just the other way.

Mr. Wayback—By Jinks, that's so. Th' wind is from the south, and that tin rooster points north, sure as guns.

Little Son—I'll tell you how to fix it, pop. Take it down, and cut it into the shape of a cow. Cows always turn tail to the wind.—Good News.

THE CONSTITUTIONALIST.

VOL. XXVI. PLAINFIELD, N. J., THURSDAY, AUGUST 3, 1893. No 31.

"Support the Constitution, which is the cement of the Union, as well in its limitations as in its authorities."—Madison.

Rates of Advertising

[illegible]

All Electro's must be solid metal.

Double cols. 50 per ct. advance of above rates.

PROFESSIONAL CARDS.

JACKSON & CODINGTON,
Counsellors-at-Law,
Commissioners of Deeds, Masters-in-Chancery, Notaries Public. Offices corner of Park avenue and Second street.

GEORGE W. DAY,
General Auctioneer,
Sales of Personal Property solicited. P. O. Box 121, Dunellen, N. J., or address in care of CONSTITUTIONALIST. Terms reasonable.

DR. CHARLES R. THEISS,
Dentist,
90 West Front street. A new local anaesthetic application for extracting teeth without pain. Gold filling a specialty.

BUSINESS CARDS.

P. P. VanArsdale,
PIANO TUNER.
Instruments put in thorough order. Terms reasonable. Pianos and Organs for sale and to let. Orders by postal, P. O. box 380, or left at Willett's shoe store, No. 6 Park avenue, will receive prompt attention. Residence 81 E. Front street, corner Elm street.

John Chandler,
CARPENTER AND BUILDER,
Plainfield, N. J.
Residence and shop No. 30 East Third street.
Jobbing promptly attended to.

E. B. MAYNARD,
PRACTICAL BARBER
AND
Artistic Hair Dresser,
No. 26 PARK AVENUE.
Ladies' and Children's Hair Cutting done at their residences. Shaving, Shampooing, etc. satisfactorily performed.

GARNEY BROTHERS, Agents,
7 West Front St.
TINNERS,
PLUMBERS,
GAS FITTERS.
PARLOR STOVES,
COOK STOVES,
HEATERS.

Grates and Bricks for all kinds of Stove s can be found here at Jobbers' prices. Bring your Tinware mending to us. The best Tinners, the best Plumbers, and the best Gas-fitters in this section. We use none but the very best of materials, and our work always gives satisfaction.

Keys of All Kinds are Made Here.
Tinware Made to Order.
Ranges, Brick and Portable Furnaces
SANITARY PLUMBING.

Parlor Stoves,
Furnaces, Ranges,
Water Piping, Plumbing:
Heater Work. Tinning,
Hardware.
A. M. GRIFFEN,
13 East Front Street.
TELEPHONE CALL, 8.

Beautiful Assortment!
Furniture!
Largest Assortment!
Best Goods!
Lowest Prices!
Ever Offered in Plainfield!
23, 25 and 27 PARK AVE.
Garret Q. Packer.

LEWIS B. CODDINGTON,
[Successor to T. J. Carey.]
Furniture and Freight Express!
OFFICE—24 W. FRONT ST.
Large Covered Vans or Trucks. Goods delivered to any part of the U. S. Satisfaction guaranteed. Charges reasonable. P. O. Box 1. Piano moving a specialty.

SANITARY PLUMBING,
Brick and Portable Furnaces,
GAS FITTING,
TIN ROOFING,
Etc. Etc.
I am prepared to do any of the above branches in a strictly first-class, sanitary and workmanship manner.
Having associated myself with the Master Plumbers Association of New York City, I employ none but first-class mechanics and competent. [illegible]
D. W. LITTELL,
No. 8 North Ave., Plainfield, N. J.

MISCELLANEOUS.

FOR MALARIA,
GENERAL DEBILITY
AND
ALL STOMACH TROUBLES
COLES'
PERUVIAN BARK
AND
WILD CHERRY BITTERS
ARE THE BEST.
A Vegetable Substitute for Quinine.
SOLD BY ALL DRUGGISTS.
Price, 50 cents and $1.00 per Bottle.
PREPARED ONLY BY THE
D. F. COLES DRUG AND MFG. CO.
RAHWAY, N. J.

Jas. M. Dunn,
Dealer in
GROCERIES, PROVISIONS
Vegetables, Fruits, etc.
No. 36 Park Ave.
OPPOSITE NORTH AVENUE.
THORBURN & CO'S GARDEN SEEDS
BEST IN THE WORLD.
ALL GOODS DELIVERED FREE OF CHARGE

ESTABLISHED 18 6.
C. E. & J. W. BROWN,
[Successors to G. P. & C. E. Brown & Co.,]
Importers, Wholesale and Retail Dealers in
WALL PAPER.
321 Canal Street,
NEW YORK.
English Tiles, Anaglypta, Hand, Leather Raised Flock Papers, &c. Burlaps for Walls.
Manufacturers of Window Shades.

LIVERY.

REMOVAL.
A. M. SEGUINE,
Has removed his office to
No. 8 West Second Street,
(Salvation Army building)
Where all orders left for carriages will receive prompt attention.
TELEPHONE CALL, NO. 36.
Your patronage is respectfully solicited.
A. M. SEGUINE.

RICKERT'S
ACCOMMODATION EXPRESS.
OFFICE—Vanderbeek's Music Store, Park avenue. The "Accommodation Express" will attend to the general carrying business of the city, delivering goods or baggage to and from the depot, or from place to place.
Moving of Furniture, Pianos, etc., with care and safety.

INSURANCE.

WILLIAM A. WOODRUFF,
FIRE AND LIFE
INSURANCE AGENT,
Office cor. Front St. and Park Ave.,
PLAINFIELD, N. J.
Real Estate for Sale & Exchange.
MONEY TO LOAN
On Approved Security.

Fresh Garden Seeds
AND FERTILIZERS,
Farm and Garden Implements,
Lawn Mowers Refrigerators,
Ice Cream Freezers
Gasolene Stoves,
Hardware, Tools, etc.
J. J. HEIDELOFF,
No. 13 SOMERSET ST.

CANOPIES
For Weddings, Parties, Etc.,
TO HIRE. CHARGES REASONABLE
Hugo Weigman,
30 EAST FRONT STREET, PLAINFIELD, N. J.

THE PLAINFIELD
PACKING HOUSE
25 West Front Street,
Would respectfully inform its patrons that in addition to its usual stock of
Fresh, Salt and Smoked Goods,
It has added a full line of
Fresh Beef, Lamb,
Veal, Mutton & Poultry,
Which it is prepared to sell at
Reasonable Prices!
All goods delivered free of charge.
Telephone 141.
C. M. ULRICH.

TOBACCO, SEGARS, &c.

B EGGERDING,
No. 17 Park Avenue,
PLAINFIELD, N. J.
Manufacturer of the Celebrated
C. O. D. CIGAR.
The best 5 cent cigar in the State, and made on the premises from the finest Havana.
CLEAR HAVANA SEGARS A SPECIALTY.
A large assortment of the Choicest Brands of Foreign and Domestic Cigars, Cigarettes and Tobacco, always on hand.
Smokers Articles in Great Variety.

A. WOLFF,
Manufacturer of
CIGARS,
And dealer in all kinds of Smoking and Chewing Tobacco, and smokers' articles, has removed from 22 W. Front street, to 61 West Front, one door east of Madison avenue, and solicits the patronage of his friends, and the public generally.

PAINTERS & PAINTERS SUPP

Paints, Varnishes, Glass.
WINDOW SHADES AND FIXTURES.
WALL PAPERS
PAPER HANGING A SPECIALTY.
A. SWALM,
No. 6 North Avenue, Plainfield.

L. B. WOOLSTON, J. P. BUCKLE
Woolston & Buckle,
PAINTERS,
Wall Papers,
PAINTERS SUPPLIES. 28 NORTH AVENUE

G. Dickinson
Optician
13 Park Ave
Plainfield N.J.

WHATEVER form of printed matter you require we can be of service to you; whether it be
Letter Headings,
Circulars,
Programmes, Menus
Addresses,
Memorials,
By-Laws of Societies,
Prospectuses and Reports of Financial Associations, or any other matter for Public or Private Circulation,
Everything
WEEKLY CONSTITUTIONALIST
DAILY PRESS
(Chautauqua Building),
PLAINFIELD N. J

Children Cry for Pitcher's Castoria.
When Baby was sick, we gave her Castoria.
When she was a Child, she cried for Castoria.
When she became Miss, she clung to Castoria.
When she had Children, she gave them Castoria.

UNTHINKING MOBS.

An Honored Citizen Moralizes on the Disorder of Monday Night.

Are we savages, or are we civilized? If we are savages, let every man take the law into his own hands and depend on the strength of his arm and the deadliness of his aim. If we are civilized, then the good name of our fair city is being trailed in the dust by the proceedings of Monday night.

Every civilized American will say that stealing must be stopped, even if it be but a few unripe apples, and that every person must be protected, even if he be a criminal, against inhuman treatment.

An unthinking mob may cry, Hang him! Crucify him! Lynch him! But justice and an intelligent public sentiment uproot all such lawlessness.

It may be of questionable propriety for a man to tie a thief to a post while going for a policeman, but to seek to cut a man's throat for so doing, or to hang him, savors only of savage lawlessness. If we are a civilized people it should be known that a thief by breaking the law exposes himself to punishment, not by the person that catches him, but by the law, and also that no person is justified in taking the law into his own hands except in self-protection.

Suppose savage instincts had prevailed and the threat of cutting a man's throat for tying up a thief had been carried out and murder had resulted from taking a few sour apples: would it not have been a lasting disgrace on our community? Two families of innocent children would have been left without a father's care to the sympathies of a cold world!

Anarchy and disorder stop the wheels of business, throw the laborer out of employment, degrade men lower than the brute, leave children fatherless and mothers widows, array one section or class against another, turn happiness into misery, and fill the world with fear and gloom.

The graveyard stillness of Tuesday night at the scene of Monday's disorder shows that one good lesson has been learned by our citizens, and that every man, woman and child realizes that justice is doing its work and that lawlessness of all kinds must and will be punished.

LEMUEL W. SERRELL.

AS JERSEY PAPERS SEE IT.

Some of Them Don't Understand the Facts, Or They'd Be More Kindly Tempered.

The Parmele case continues to excite the public mind, as evidenced by the following editorials published in out-of-town newspapers:

[From The Elizabeth Herald.]

It is to be hoped that Mr. Parmele of Plainfield will be made to pay the penalty of his inhuman barbarity to that little boy whose greatest crime was trespassing on the Parmele grounds. The wretch must have been taking lessons in torturing from the old histories of Torquemada, the Spanish buccaneers, Oliver Cromwell, the Pilgrim Fathers, or the Pennsylvania National Guard officers. It is a pity that (if convicted) his sentence cannot be made to include hanging him up by the thumbs for a few hours. Like might possibly cure like.

[From The Newark Advertiser.]

The Plainfield brute who tortured a small boy who had been caught stealing apples almost had a taste of lynch law from the citizens of that intelligent community. The brute tied the boy by his wrists to a beam in the cellar so that the lad's toes just touched the floor. For almost half an hour the boy hung in this perilous and painful position. Then when the news of the outrage spread through the town, a mob collected, and if the brute had been captured he would have suffered some of the cruel torments he devised for the boy. The case will go to the courts and no doubt adequate punishment will be visited upon this fiend who has earned the contempt of all his neighbors.

[From The Newark Evening News.]

There once was a ditty with the refrain of "And they'll hang you for a cherry down in New Jerse-e-e," which became more or less popular, especially outside the limits of the State at which its sarcasm was aimed. This was several years ago, but its memory was revived by the action of an irascible Massachusetts man named Parmley, who at present is a resident of Plainfield, N. J. He seems to have imbibed the sentiment of the ballad, but in his case an apple was substituted for the cherry. The twelve-year-old culprit, Johnnie Taylor, is too young to appreciate the merits of the cherry episode, but is likely to prove excellent authority in the matter of apples, as his experience in being hung up for the larceny of one of Parmley's pippins is likely to remain a green spot in his memory. This self-constituted policeman, judge and executioner narrowly escaped being treated to a dose of Western justice, but to the credit of the Plainfield authorities Judge Lynch was prevented holding a session of his lawless court within the quiet precincts of that pretty town. While the action of the mob was inexcusable, so also was Parmley's treatment of the boy who purloined the apples held so sacred by this descendant of the Puritan Fathers. Even though he had been annoyed by the youngsters who showed such a decided preference for the products of his orchard he had the full protection of the law.

ARREST OF A SWINDLER.

Turned Out of The Albion, He Forges Orders on D. Appleton & Co., From Jacob Kirkner and Mrs. O. T. Waring.

Robert Pierrot, thirty-two, a well-dressed Frenchman, who has been staying at The Albion, and canvassing Plainfield with a $500 art work, was arraigned in the Tombs Court, New York, Thursday morning, and held by Justice Martin in $500 for trial on a charge of larceny.

Robert D. Baker, manager of D. Appleton & Co., informed the police two days ago that Pierrot had obtained $20 from him by showing an order for a book which sold at $180. The order purported to be signed by Jacob Kirkner, a stock broker, of Eighth street, this city. When the firm's inspector called on Mr. Kirkner he found that the signature was a forgery. The detectives were put on the case Tuesday morning and arrested Pierrot on Broadway near Houston street yesterday afternoon. They identified him by a cloth cap which he wore.

In court he pleaded guilty to petit larceny and Mr. Kirkner will not press the charge of forgery. The prisoner will be tried at Special Sessions on Friday next.

Pierrot was expelled from The Albion and his goods seized, last Friday, for an unpaid board bill. He then disappeared. Tuesday of this week Mrs. O. T. Waring was surprised by a visit from one of Appleton & Co.'s delivery men who unloaded a lot of pictures at her house and demanded the money for them. He showed as his authority an order signed by her. She says it is a forgery.

Take Away This Carcass!

For the past few days the neighborhood of Dennis Kilbride's barn on West Fourth street has been made obnoxious by the presence of a dead horse whose carcass has been festering in the hot air and spreading poisonous gases through the atmosphere. The horse belongs to Matthew Kilpatrick, who boarded the animal with Kilbride. The health authorities should certainly interfere and see that the body is removed immediately.

J. B. DUMONT'S SUSPENSION.

Universal Regret in His Business and Social World.

The suspension of John B. Dumont, ex-President of the Plainfield Common Council, and an esteemed resident of East Seventh street, was a great surprise to his fellow brokers, as his conservatism was well-known. It appears, however, that he was carrying some Evansville and Terre Haute stock for a client who failed to respond to calls for margin, and when the price broke in consequence of the failure of H. I. Nicholas & Co., he was compelled to suspend. Mr. Dumont has been engaged in business in Wall street for many years. For a long time he was a member of the firm of Jessup, Paton & Co., and after that he was Vice-President of the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul Railroad. He is a member of the Stock Exchange of long standing and active in its management, being one of its Governors. His suspension caused as deep regret as that of H. I. Nicholas & Co. He made an assignment to Mason W. Tyler, of Park avenue, Plainfield. No securities were closed out for his account at the Stock Exchange, and it is believed that he has very few contracts outstanding.

Mr. Dumont was a stock broker at 40 Wall street. He was carrying the same line of stocks and a number of his customers were the same as Nicholas & Co's, who failed just previously. Hamden Clark, who resigned as a director of the Evansville and Terre Haute, formerly had a desk in his office. Mr. Clark is of the firm of O'Brien & Clark, the aqueduct contractors who have a big suit for extra work against the city of New York.

Mr. Dumont is now a member of the Governing Committee of the Stock Exchange, and has been a member of the Exchange since May 1, 1879. His liabilities are estimated at $250,000, and his assets are nominally valued at about the same amount. His assignee said that he could not obtain money and did not make up his mind to suspend until an hour before notice was sent to the Stock Exchange. Mr. Dumont made no preferences except $100 for office salaries.

GUESSING AGAIN.

Although Mr. Martine Says He Won't Run for Sheriff, Republican Papers Speculate on His Candidacy—Here's One Admits He'd Be a Strong One.

(Elizabeth Journal.)

Although it is early in the season, and the hot wave is present, the Democratic political leaders are not idle. It may not, perhaps, be said that they have fixed up the whole Democratic slate, but on the other hand it may be said that the most important places on it have been filled.

Unless the slate is broken Senator Marsh will be renominated for Senator, and Mr. James E. Martine of Plainfield will be named for Sheriff.

This condition of affairs may be said to have been brought about, if current reports are correct, by Mr. Martine. It will be remembered that the Plainfield gentleman was a very strong candidate before the Congressional convention which nominated Hon. John T. Dunn. After that convention Mr. Martine made as earnest a fight for Mr. Dunn's election as if he had himself been the candidate, and thus earned the respect and consideration of his party. Since then efforts have been made to obtain Mr. Martine's consent to head the Democratic ticket as candidate for State Senator, but it is not the office he desires and he has emphatically and, apparently, conclusively decided that under no conditions would he accept that nomination.

The general opinion has been that Mr. Martine desired, as the height of his political ambition, to occupy a seat in Congress, and that he would accept nothing short of that. But it seems likely now that a legitimate opportunity to run for this high office is, according to Democratic party usages, a remote honor, for Mr. Dunn will be entitled to a second nomination, and possibly a third if he shall prove a successful Congressman and increases his popularity with his party.

Mr. Martine, therefore, seems to have decided not to let intervening time pass without harvesting political honors, and, what is quite as essential, a few American shekels at the same time. None of the offices which have heretofore been offered Mr. Martine has been at all remunerative. But the sheriff's office is a good paying one, and its emoluments would be acceptable to Mr. Martine, as indeed they would to any honorable gentleman in this county. Mr. Martine has, therefore, if reports are correct, declared himself as a candidate for this office.

It was announced recently, in an editorial in a Democratic exchange, that Mr. Martine would be a strong candidate for Senator because he had neither fought for nor against the race tracks. It may be possible that this will be his attitude if he shall receive the Democratic nomination. At all events there is likely to be abundant opportunity for a warm but not vindictive struggle should Mr. Martine be the Democratic candidate, and the Republicans will need to put up a strong, clean candidate.

The Mother Defends the Boy.

John Edward Taylor, who is the most talked of boy in town, looks just like his mother, and in her has a most valiant defender. Mrs. Taylor emphatically denies that her boy stole more apples Tuesday from the Parmele trees. She says that at the invitation of the New York reporters he went with them to show just where he was tied, and just where he climbed the tree. But she insists that Johnnie is a good and honest boy and never out at night. She says she keeps a straight watch over him, and that he has a father just as good. She adds that Father Smyth and the Sisters of St. Mary's will give him a recommendation at any time for honesty and obedience.

Mrs. Taylor says that had Mr. Parmele brought Johnnie to her, Monday evening, she would have administered proper correction.

Successful and Satisfactory.

(From The New Brunswick Home News.)

We are glad to learn that the Chicago tours personally conducted by Mr. Honeyman, formerly of the Somerville Unionist-Gazette, have been very successful and have given the greatest satisfaction to those fortunate enough to have been of the parties. The next tours are announced for August 14 and September 18, and besides excellent company the best of accommodations are promised. Full particulars of these trips may be learned upon application to Mr. A. V. D. Honeyman, Plainfield, N. J.

—The second annual excursion of Franklin council, No. 41, Jr. O. U. A. M., to Asbury Park, Thursday, August 17, American Day, promises to be as large as any excursion leaving this city this season. The Juniors spend a day and evening by the sea, and will also parade several thousand strong.

PLAINFIELD FLOWERS IN THE SLUMS

How a Charitable Girl's Gifts Are Appreciated.

Miss Emma, daughter of Major W. D. W. Miller, of this city, is a very charitable young woman, and sends flowers into the city to be distributed among the poor. Here is a sample of the letters she receives from her good friends in the metropolis:

AUXILIARY DEPARTMENT.
THE SALVATION ARMY.
111 READE STREET, NEW YORK CITY.
July 29, 1893.

My Dear Emma:

I am afraid you think I do not mean to thank you for the lovely flowers that came to me. You see I am very busy now, Ensign Marshall is away, and this week my stenographer is sick, so I am trying to do the work of three people.

I wish you could see how delighted our slum workers are to get the flowers. The first ones that came I gave to Captain Turpin. She had finished her house to house visiting for the day, and so as the children were going home from the day nursery she gave them each a bunch. She says she wishes I could have heard the squeals of delight when they saw them. I suppose very few of them ever saw a flower growing. They love them so that they will sometimes keep them for days after they have faded.

To-day I had hardly taken the flowers out of the box and put them in water, when there was a tap at my door. It was Captain Turpin, and she had come to see if I might have some flowers. A little child in an attic-room in one of the alleys had died, and the poor mother was grieving that she hadn't a flower to put on the tiny coffin. So some of your flowers went to cheer that mother's heart. The rest Captain Purdy, another one of our slum workers, took. She said "They were just what she wanted to take to some sick people whom she was going to visit".

No, I did not forget Mr. Bjorksten. He was at Headquarters when they came, and I told him he was to take his choice, and he took a bunch of pansies. He wanted me to be sure and thank you for them when I wrote.

I must not write any more to-night as it is growing late. Please remember me to all the family, and tell your sister how much we all enjoy the papers she sends from time to time. After we have all been read them, then we mail them to some young people who live away back in the country where they have hardly any reading matter.

May God bless you dear Emma, and help you day by day to continue to do the things that are pleasing to Him.

Very sincerely, your friend,
JENNIE C. NEWCOMB.

WESTFIELD WARBLINGS.

The Lively Little Town Wants a Fire-Alarm System Like Plainfield's.

Committeeman Wells will not return from his vacation until August 15. During that time Mr. Conant will look after the road work in his district.

John J. Collins and Miss Gracie Gabrielle were married Tuesday evening by the Rev. Mr. Purvin at the residence of the bride's parents at Rahway. The wedding was private. Mr. and Mrs. Collins will spend the honeymoon at Asbury Park and then take up their permanent residence in Westfield.

A representative of the National Light and Construction Company appeared before the Westfield Town Committee at their last meeting and explained the nature of the franchise they wished. John J. Lane, of Summit, explained the merits of the Gamewell fire-alarm system. Several complaints concerning the condition of sidewalks were received and filed. At their next meeting the Town Counsel is to present an opinion as to the right of the Union Water Company to open streets in extending the mains from Netherwood. The matter of police patrol was brought up, and as there was an unexpended balance from last year, no appropriation was made. Judge Collins was directed to order patrolling when he deemed it necessary.

FANWOOD NOTES.

Interesting News of Our Suburban Friends.

The fire on Saturday evening in Fanwood is causing much talk as to its origin.

Wright Babcock and family have returned from their two weeks' outing in the mountains.

Mr. and Mrs. Simpson have returned to their handsome home from a month's vacation at Hopatcong.

Every Saturday afternoon is Ladies' day at Watchung Club. Tennis, bowling, quoits, base-ball and ice-cream find ready devotees.

Harry Robinson is making for himself a splendid reputation in the way he is backing up the newly-elected foreman of the fire company.

Will Cameron, the celebrated band singer of Brooklyn, is stopping at the "Homestead" and is a leading spirit in all outdoor sports.

Among the incorporators of the new Box Manufacturing Company of the T. B. Clark Company are noted the names of the following residents of Fanwood: Geo. C. Miller and A. D. Beeken.

Mr. Baylor and his friend Mr. Spring spend most of their time driving to Summit and Morristown. Both being single gentlemen, the knowing ones are looking for surprises at an early date.

Why don't the Board of Engineers of the Fire Department formulate some rules for its government? It is two years since they even attempted or thought of doing it. Jersey methods are sometimes slow.

Circus Lemonade for the Hay-Field Hands.

S. D. Winter completed Dr. Ripley's haying Friday, in the short time of three weeks, working from 3 a. m. to 9 p. m., with half Westfield's laborers to help him, and cutting nearly 150 acres.

The Doctor appreciated it—says the Westfield Leader—and he had the whole force to lunch under the black walnut,—Italians, Danes, Irishmen, George Clark, the colored orator, of Spring street, and all.

There was a big cedar tub full of lemonade, Frankfurts, black bread, cake and fruits,—and they all ate well.

N. R. Day presided at the tub. He is the turtle man, and, by the way, he has found another turtle, which J. R. Baker marked in 1860. Turtles live to a great age, and so does Day. He will have his pets at the Centennial next year, and when he tells all about them he may narrate that at the Haying Fete he had the Baker critter in his pocket.

Ticked When Washington Was Here.

Wm. Fitz Randolph—says the Dunellen Call—is the owner of a clock which formerly was the property of his great-grandfather, Edward Fitz Randolph (of whom it is recorded that he was Washington's guide on his first trip to Washington Rock). Edward F. Randolph had the clock made by a clockmaker who lived in what is known now as Westfield. It was made more than a century ago and is a good timekeeper and apparently in as good condition as ever it has been. The present owner has been offered large sums for it by lovers of antique things but hitherto has refused all such offers.

THE SHOOT AT BENNER'S.

Mr. Morfey Blushed When He Missed His Third Bird.

Thursday afternoon a series of matches at live birds took place at John Benner's road-house, Fanwood.

The first team match resulted in Capt. Apgar's team winning by the score of 61 out of a possible 75, against the team captained by "Dutchy" Smith scoring 56.

The last was a sweepstakes, free for all, five birds each. Mr. Morfey announced that he would kill five birds straight, and was in great glee over his previous successes. When he missed his third bird the men on the benches, as one man, started in on the refrain "We've all been there before, many a time" and Mr. Morfey blushed.

"Uncle" Jacob Pentz did nobly as referee, and held the stakes in all matches, and as usual not a question was raised as to his decisions, the winners quietly pocketing the stakes, while the losers smiled grimly.

Those present were: John Rothacker, of Philadelphia; Dan Terry, Neil Apgar and Charles Smith, of Plainfield; James Force and John D. Voorhees, of Bound Brook; Al. Heritage, of Jersey City; Thos. W. Morfey, of Paterson; Aaron Woodruff, of Elizabeth; Capt. A. W. Money, of the American E. C. Powder Co., Oakland; Henry Schultz and Wm. Laire, of Brooklyn; Geo. Frecke, of Newark; and Milton F. Lindsley, representing the American Wood Powder Co., of Hoboken.

Major J. M. Taylor, of The American Field, acted as scorer, and Jacob Pentz as referee, and were assisted by Thos. Brantingham, puller, and Warren Squire attendant, and trap boys Sidney Frazee and Oscar Smith.

A clam-bake prepared by Henry Seurer materially assisted the participants in the shooting, but more particularly was it enjoyed by their guests until sundown, when all dispersed after voting Benner a good host and exhausting his entire rookery.

GOING FOR THAT MOB.

Editor McBride Stamps It an Outrageous Proceeding.

(Elizabeth Journal.)

Is a mob ever right? No: for every mob is unlawful. Is it ever on the right side of any question? Very, very, very rarely. A mob is not raised for the purpose of discovering what is right; its object and purpose is revenge for some wrong, real or fancied. The mob in Plainfield a few nights since, is in point. A lot of hot-headed, indiscreet men were inflamed by a story of brutality. They didn't seek to learn if the story was true; they probably didn't care whether it was true or false after they had swallowed whatever was told them and had allowed themselves to become inflamed and bloodthirsty. They plunged, headforemost, toward an infinitely worse wrong than the one they sought to avenge. A street Arab, one of those pestiferous young thieves that infest every city, had been caught stealing fruit from a man's garden. The man had tied him safely in his cellar while he went for an officer. The boy naturally yelled and made a great ado, and the story went abroad that the boy had been hung up by his arms or thumbs till his feet could scarcely touch the floor, and that he was nearly dead from the agony. The mob didn't wait to see if this was true, they were going to hang the man, and possibly they would have been to-day guilty of murder if they had had their own way. The boy wasn't even hurt; he wasn't treated any more harshly than such young and pestiferous thieves richly deserve. But the mob, as usual, believed what pleased them and cared not a rap for the truth. This, at least, is the way the whole matter appears at this distance.

YOU CAN'T KEEP RIPLEY DOWN.

Here He Is Bobbing up Serenely for Supreme Court Justice.

[Westfield Leader.]

In its last issue the Summit Record says:—"Since the death of Justice Bradley, New Jersey has had no representative in the Supreme Court of the United States.

"If the President desires to secure a successor to the late Justice Blatchford who will reflect credit on the bench, as well as on the President by whom he is appointed, Union County can supply such a jurist."

This is very true, and the man is a Westfield citizen, Dr. Chauncey B. Ripley. His is a name which, when mentioned as a candidate for Governor in the last campaign, was warmly received. Eminent in legal profession, prominent in social progress, Democratic in his taste, public spirited in act and endeavor, and a man of mark as a citizen, a scholar, and a Democrat, he stands for all that is demanded as a Justice of the Supreme Court, and will magnify the place. If Mr. Cleveland seeks a man who will please the people of the Union, let him nominate one who will please the people of New Jersey.

Westfield Follows Fanwood.

The following from the N. Y. World shows the appreciation of the reform inaugurated by the Fanwood Township Committee to suppress the tramp nuisance:

WESTFIELD DOESN'T WANT TRAMPS.

The township authorities of Westfield have issued orders to arrest all tramps found within the township limits. They have become a nuisance in Westfield, and in several instances have terrorized the inhabitants. They have been driven out of Fanwood by a proclamation posted in the village.

Of Course It Wasn't the Lyceum Captain.

W. J. Kiely, formerly a clerk in Harper's store on Park avenue, wishes it understood that he is not the one accused of theft by the Plainfield Athletic Club.

The man in question works elsewhere, and his initials are W. E.

Mr. Kiely has received several letters from persons asking if he was the one accused, and in justice to himself wishes this statement made.

Doubled Its Assets Since December.

The New Jersey Building Loan and Investment Company, of Trenton, which has a flourishing branch in this city, has just issued its semi-annual statement, which shows it to be in a most prosperous condition, with assets of $104,182.48, which is double the assets of Dec. 31, 1892. A quarterly dividend of 4 per cent. is declared. Information of this excellent concern may be obtained of the secretary of the Plainfield division, H. O. Newman, at the office of Boice, Runyon & Co.

This Should Be Stopped.

The residents of Plainfield avenue and West Front street insist that they do not have proper police protection. They say that on Sunday afternoons especially, crowds of young men and boys congregate in that vicinity, and make insulting remarks to women who pass by.

CITIZENS AROUSED.

Dunellen's School Board Accused of Star Chamber Methods.

To the Editor of The Press:—A number of the citizens of Dunellen have endeavored to have the Trustees of the Public School meet in order that a petition very numerously signed by leading citizens for the retention of Mr. Johnson as principal might be presented to the Board. After some difficulty and delay, a meeting was finally announced for Thursday evening of last week. The Rev. A. I. Martine, who is Clerk of the Board, interviewed the President before 6 o'clock on the following morning, though he had to walk a long way to do it, and for some reason unknown to the public the meeting for Thursday evening was set aside indefinitely. This caused dissatisfaction, augmented by the fact that a meeting duly announced for the previous Tuesday evening did not take place. Consequently, a citizens' meeting was called, and the Rev. A. I. Martine being the only member of the Board present, the petition was publicly handed to him, which he accepted after a vain attempt at genuine bulldozing on his part, certainly very unbecoming a minister. A meeting of the Board was again asked for, to have the petition considered, and to present another part of this same petition which was not then at hand. Later a meeting was announced for Tuesday evening of this week, to be held in the Call office at 8:30 p. m. The meeting was called at just about 8:05 p. m., and adjourned at 8:30 p. m., the very time announced for it to begin. Persons who wished to be present, and whom it certainly was expected by the Board would be present, arrived as early as 8:33 p. m., but the office was not lighted, and no Trustee was about. Much indignation was felt, and freely expressed since; as the citizens have been practically ignored. They expect to have this matter adjusted. If the Rev. A. I. Martine has a propensity for dictating to the Board and for thwarting the wishes of the people, would it not be for the interests of the people and greatly for his own good to resign his trusteeship?

CITIZEN.

BYEN COLORED CHAMPION.

He Was First Man In, and Made Best Actual Time.

The colored wheelmen are still talking about their great 25-mile handicap road race held Thursday afternoon. The starting point was Scott's Press Works, and the course was up South avenue through Fanwood and Scotch Plains, down Front street to Richmond street, to South avenue again. The colored population was out in full force, to cheer the favorite riders and join in the frolic.

There were ten entries, as follows: J. Venable, I. Jones, B. Harvey, J. Scott, J. Boldin and Charles Vanderveer, of Plainfield; H. Byen and C. Jackson, of Newark; M. Hooper, of Franklin Park, N. J., and L. W. Tallman, of Rahway.

The prizes were three silver medals, one to the first man in, one for the best time made, and one for the second man in.

Below will be found the official schedule of the men who finished, and their order:

	Handicap Minutes	Start	Finish	Actual Time
1.—H. Byen....	6	2:52 1-2	4:16 3-4	1:23 1-4
2.—J. Scott....	5	2:54 1-2	4:22 1-2	1:28
3.—C. Vanderveer	scratch	2:59 1-2	4:23 3-4	1:24 1-4
4.—J. Boldon...	5	2:54 1-2	4:25 2-3	1:31 1-6
5.—I. Jones....	6	2:52 1-2	4:27 1-2	1:34
6.—C. Jackson.	6	2:54 1-2	4:26 3-4	1:34 1-4

It will be seen by this table that Byen gets two medals and J. Scott one.

All during the race considerable excitement prevailed. People ran over one another in the crowd, women got their toes trampled upon, bicycles were damaged, and one or two of the contestants took several headers, recovered themselves, and continued their journey.

There is some talk of contesting the race, as it is claimed the winner had a pacemaker.

Nathan Titsworth had charge of the affair, Dick Stevens was timer, and William Kiely served as both judge and scorer.

CAROLINE VAIL AT REST.

The Living Learn Lessons from the Uprightness of Her Righteous Life.

The funeral of Mrs. Caroline H. Vail, widow of the late Hugh W. Vail, took place at the Hicksite Friends' meeting-house on Watchung avenue Thursday afternoon at 4:30. The quaint old building was filled with friends of the deceased, and all listened reverently to the words of praise and exhortation that were uttered by those who were moved to speak. John Shotwell, of Asbury Park, dwelt on the importance of following the promptings of one's conscience in all things and the inevitable consequences of doing what was wrong. Friend Elizabeth Thistlethwaite also spoke in exhortation, and the friends went by the casket for the last time and out into the graveyard, where the body of the good old Quakeress whom so many loved was laid at rest.

KILLED BY LIGHTNING.

The Coney Island Victim Proves to Be Fred Green's Brother-in-Law.

Fred Green of this city called at Coney Island police headquarters Thursday and said that the man killed by lightning while dressing at Gebhard's bathing pavilion in Wednesday's storm was Edward Loomis, his brother-in-law, who lived at 19 Clinton street, Brooklyn. He will take charge of the funeral. The two men who were injured were J. W. Steele of Allendale, N. J., and Charles Ames, who are clerks in the Appraisers' Stores, New York.

Just What The Press Said.

[From The Dunellen Call.]

The folly of tale bearing and listening to tales unsupported, was demonstrated in Plainfield on Monday, when a body of men 1,500 strong became inflamed and incited to riot over a story that had been told concerning a man's attempt to defend his own property. It matters not whether the man acted unwisely or not in the matter, his intentions being to see that the law was enforced. The point of this article is the supreme folly of men in listening to a one-sided story as started by one person, boy or man, and allowing themselves to be led into saying or doing things that in their calmer moments they will be ashamed of.

A Sage Statesman's Wisdom.

Ex-Assemblyman D. D. Smalley, the tall sycamore of the Passaic, says that the nomination for Senator in Somerset county belongs to any man who can convince the leaders that they do not own the nomination.

A Lovely and Flourishing Parish.

An entertainment in behalf of St. Joseph's Roman Catholic church is soon to be given. The committeemen are bound to make it a grand success.

The Constitutionalist,
A DEMOCRATIC WEEKLY.
W. L. FORCE & A. L. FORCE, Editors and Proprietors.
AT PLAINFIELD, NEW JERSEY.
TERMS—TWO DOLLARS A YEAR.

MUSICALE AT THE WATCHUNG CLUB

Its Success Encourages Fanwood's Swells to Have a Minstrel Show and Circus.

Tuesday evening last was the occasion of the first Musicale given by the members. All the talent was supplied by the residents of Fanwood and other friends. The following artists volunteered their services: Miss Tenbroeck and Miss Nicoll, pianists; Mr. Whitaker, tenor; Miss Cameron, soprano; Mr. Cameron, basso; G. Herbert Potter, violinist, and Miss Searles, Miss Dixon and Mrs. Cameron, accompanists.

The Musicale was a tremendous success, all the artists being compelled to respond to encores. Mr. Cameron's superb songs were more than heartily received and the musical rendition of all the members was of a high class of art.

The success of this adventure into classical fields was a complete surprise, and a repetition or reproduction of the Musicale is expected at an early date. The hall was well filled, every available seat being occupied. Among those present were noticed the following: Mrs. Gibbs, Mrs. F. D. Warren, Mrs. G. C. Miller, Mrs. G. F. Hamlin, Mrs. F. I. Perry, Mrs. Darke, Mrs. L. J. Briggs, Mrs. Leigh, Mrs. George Bates, Miss Bates, Miss Tuzo, the Misses Kyte, Mrs. Cameron, Mrs. Douglas, the Misses Boucher, Miss Lazell, Miss Stevens, Mrs. Nicoll, Mrs. Kleb, Mrs. McKown, Mrs. Ellis, Mrs. Hoffman, and the following gentlemen: Messrs. Warren, Gibbs, Urner, Miller, Stevens, Kyte, Briggs, Lightowler, Holly, Beeken, Darke, Ellis, McKown, Nicoll, Tuzo, Cameron, Hamlin, Leigh and Robinson.

Dancing and supper followed. These entertainments of the Watchung club are meeting with great success, and it is proposed at an early date to give a dramatic entertainment, and that is to be followed by a minstrel show and circus. Fanwood indeed is leading in all these novel enterprises and bids fair soon to eclipse its neighboring boroughs.

FELL WHILE HANGING CLOTHES.

Minnie Kiely's Leg Fractured by a Fall of 15 Feet.

Minnie Kiely, a young woman in the employ of J. A. Blair, at his hotel on Somerset street, was standing on a rear extension of the house on Friday, hanging clothes on a line which was fastened to the house and thence to a pole in the yard.

Wishing to tighten the line, she began to pull, standing as she was near the edge of the roof, with her back turned toward the ground.

At an unexpected moment, while pulling the line, it broke, throwing her to the ground, a distance of about fifteen feet. In some manner she came down on her feet, with full force. The result was a fracture of her left leg near the ankle.

She was taken into the house by one of Mr. Blair's men, and Dr. Carman, who was called, set the broken member.

It was a most painful accident, and Miss Kiely suffers intensely and will be crippled for weeks.

THE DIFFERENCE THEN AND NOW.

This Foolish German Threw Away the Chance of a Lifetime to Make a Fortune.

About forty years ago a newly-arrived German purchased a twenty-six acre tract of land on top of the mountain and built a cottage thereon, spending in all about $900 for building, stock, etc. He was then working for the late Thomas Stillman, and Mr. Stillman did all in his power to persuade the German to purchase that tract of land extending from present Park to present Watchung avenue, and comprising about twenty acres, but could not do so. A trifle over $600 was all that was required. The mountain property his children still own, and it has not yet advanced one cent's worth, while the Crescent Avenue church and many of the elegant residences that the eastern end of the city now contains occupy the land that the German could not be prevailed on to purchase and pay for as he pleased for a few paltry dollars.

FANWOOD FIREMEN TEST.

One of the Residents Dissatisfied with Chief Stevens's Refusal.

The Fanwood Fire Department was out Thursday for a drill and to test the hydrants. Water was found at all points, but in limited quantity. On Quality Hill, about 300 feet east of Mr. Briggs's residence, a trial was made through fifty feet of hose and an inch and three-eighths nozzle. The stream thrown, as estimated by Frank Quereau, was sixty feet. The foreman, J. P. Stevens, was asked to extend the hose to test its practicability in case of a fire at Mr. Briggs's, or a distance equivalent to it from the hydrant. The foreman refused, stating that he thought water delivered through that length of pipe would be thrown nearly as far as through a fifty-foot length. "Very funny,"—remarked one of the residents, who immediately arranged to increase his insurance.

EXPANDING BOTH WAYS.

The Lighting Company to Double Its Producing Capacity of Gas and Electricity.

An immense plant is to be made of the Plainfield electric light station. The power-house is to be extended till the building will be double the present size. The dwelling-house at the corner of Second street and Madison avenue is to be removed, and the power-house will be extended part if not all the way to Second street, as well as extended on the Alex Titsworth property. The capacity will be doubled, two new engines being put in, and additional dynamos. The increase is necessary to meet the growing demand. The present capacity is overtaxed.

The capacity of the gas works is also to be doubled by the huge new tank to be constructed.

The Kind of Promises He Makes.

About ten days ago the editor of the Courier, according to the race officials, said he would give a silver water pitcher as a prize for the bicycle race of August 19. One having the race in charge went to the editor recently to see about it, and was met with absolute refusal. The editor said that he would give a year's subscription to his paper instead, which was declined.

He Never Got the Germs in Plainfield.

The Bound Brook Chronicle says:

City Judge Wm. A. Coddington, of Plainfield, spent a couple of days this week in Bound Brook. He has been suffering with chills and fever for some time, but by frequent visits to this place he is gradually eliminating the germs from his system.

Base libel, brother Mason! What's curing the Judge is good Dr. Adams's medicine, and he'd been well long ago had he kept away from the Bound Brook marshes.

The Constitutionalist.

W. L. FORCE, | A. L. FORCE

Editors and Proprietors.

PUBLISHERS' ANNOUNCEMENT.

James A. Demarest, who for nearly 14 years has been a valued associate of the publishers of THE CONSTITUTIONALIST, has removed to Brockville, Ont., to serve the U. S. Government there as Consul. That he will fulfil with eminent honor the duties of the office, all who are familiar with his newspaper successes are assured. THE CONSTITUTIONALIST parts with regret from the esteemed Consul. Mr. Demarest's editorial duties have been transferred to Walter Irving Clarke, his former associate editor.

RELIABLE TESTIMONY.

A Philadelphia journal presumes to say—"Great industrial depression and financial anxiety prevail in this country, due chiefly to the announced policy of the present Administration and Congress to repeal the protective tariff."

That is merely echoing the mercenary cry of special interests fostered by one-sided protection.

It is not the intelligent judgment of financial and business men, regardless of party.

Ex-Postmaster Field, of Philadelphia, is a citizen and merchant of high repute, and politically a Republican.

Ponder his expressed sentiments as follows:

"Although not the oldest man, yet I am one of the oldest merchants on Market street.

I have passed through many panics, but never, in my judgment, such a senseless and protracted one as this.

One year ago money was forced upon us by the banks, but for some time past we have not asked for it, because it is unobtainable.

The primary cause was undoubtedly the passage of the Sherman Act in 1890 by which the Government agreed to make a market for the production of the silver men at the expense of the whole people.

The lack of confidence is the great factor.

I regard the man who introduces mere partisan issues into the present crisis as little less than a traitor to his country.

It makes no difference by whom the defective spar was put in the craft or who is her captain, the simple question before the people is—the Ship of State is in danger, and all loyal hands must to the rescue."

Those are words of patriotism, soberness and truth, and they picture the situation as it really exists.

The testimony of such a man as Mr. Field is reliable.

CHEAP TALK.

Some Republicans, whose partisan temperature ranges over a hundred degrees in the shade, call existing financial disturbances throughout the country—"The Democratic Panic of 1893."

Talk is cheap, but truth is mighty precious.

Who enacted and approved the Sherman Act which compelled the Government to purchase millions of dead weight of silver mining product every month and to give gold equivalent in exchange, thereby laying the foundation of a currency and business panic?

That is the question of the hour, gentlemen!

The Congressional and Executive records of 1890, when the Democrats were out of power will furnish an authentic answer.

Search the records and be sedate.

DISGRACEFUL.

A disgraceful scrimmage occurred last week in the British House of Commons among high-toned statesmen, English gentlemen, and loyal supporters of monarchal institutions.

It was a rough and tumble fight on the floor and under benches, resulting in a crop of blackened eyes and disfigured visages.

Had such undignified conduct been chargeable to members of the American Congress or those of a wild frontier Legislature, what a blustering howl John Bull would have raised against the demoralizing influences of Democracy.

Better sweep before your own door, John.

THE REGISTRY BOARD MEETS.

Those Who Will Register North Plainfield Democrats.

The Somerset County Registry Board is in session at Somerville Tuesday for the purpose of electing the local boards of registry. The Democrats that have been chosen for North Plainfield are as follows:

NORTH PLAINFIELD TOWNSHIP.

First district—George B. Stewart, John T. Case.

Second district—John Bodine, E. C. Morse.

NORTH PLAINFIELD BOROUGH.

First district—David J. Carney, John Blackford.

Second district—David E. Smalley, George Squire.

Picturesque Route to the Fair.

No other line offers the variety of scenic interest between New York and Chicago that is enjoyed by World's Fair tourists via the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad. Passing through Philadelphia, Baltimore, Washington, the capital of the nation, and by way of Harper's Ferry and the historic Potomac Valley to the Allegheny mountains, which are crossed at an elevation of 3,000 feet above the sea, the traveler sees the arena of the activity of the nation as well as the principal historical features and scenic wonders of the East. Low rates. 26-w & s-3w

A Wonderful Machine.

There is no doubt that man is a fine mechanism, but like every other machine he wears out by friction. It is said that he is born again every two or three years. His body is virtually re-made from food. To retard this making over is radically wrong, as a man loses so much vitality in the delayed process that it takes a long time to recuperate. The process of making anew is so accelerated by purging with BRANDRETH'S PILLS that a new man, as it were, may be made in two or three months, and the change in the mechanism is such that the worn out part is replaced by the new without the usual running down of the entire machine. You don't have to stop for repairs. Purge away with BRANDRETH'S PILLS the old, diseased and worn out body. They are purely vegetable, absolutely harmless, and safe to take at any time.

A MERRY TIME AT EUCHRE.

DELIGHTFUL SOCIAL EVENT AT HOTEL NETHERWOOD.

Charming Miss White and Esteemed Miss Raymond Won the Full Dozen—Who Took the Prizes, and What They Were.

The grand parlor of the Hotel Netherwood was again the scene of a happy gathering Monday night, the event being the second progressive euchre party of the season.

Promptly at 9 the participants gathered in the spacious parlor, and under the guidance of Horace L. Balch the merry gamesters began the contest.

The prizes were ten in number, all useful and very pretty, and spoke well for the purchasing committee. There were twelve tables, and forty-eight players, who were:

Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Balch.
Mr. and Mrs. D. F. McCabe.
Mr. and Mrs. M. C. Ogden.
Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Gage Brady.
Mr. and Mrs. P. J. Kelley.
Miss Florence Kelley and W. E. Smith.
Mrs. Ranney and Elliott Ranney.
Miss Richardson and Chas. A. Smith.
Mr. and Mrs. F. H. Richardson.
Mrs. W. B. Ogden and Clarence E. Smith.
Mrs. H. W. Williams and W. B. Ogden.
Mrs. Wm. J. Eaton and N. A. Benner.
Mrs. Wm. H. Sneckner and Jas. N. Stout.
Mrs. W. V. R. Smith and Wm. H. Sneckner.
Mrs. A. L. Gondran and W. V. R. Smith.
Miss Annie S. Betts and W. T. Wardwell.
Mrs. J. M. White and Chas. Kelley.
Miss Carrie White and J. M. White.
Mrs. Frank E. Miller and June M. White.
Miss Annetta Loeb and Frank E. Miller.
Miss Raymond and E. O. Raymond.
Miss G. Raymond and James Phyfe.

The winners were:

Miss G. Raymond—cut-glass dish.
Miss Carrie White—salad bowl, Limoges.
Mrs. F. E. Miller—silver scissors.
Mrs. H. W. Williams—Bohemian vase.
W. B. Ogden—silver whisk-broom.
Wm. G. Brady—silver-back hat brush.
Jas. Phyfe—silver scarf-fastener.
M. C. Ogden—silver cigar-cutter.

CONSOLATION PRIZES.

Mrs. Balch—silver link buttons.
James M. White—silver key-ring.

Miss G. Raymond and Miss Carrie White (who is conceded to be the most charming young lady at the Hotel) won the entire twelve games.

To-morrow evening Prof. D. Neuman, of Berlin, the wonderful mind and thought reader, will entertain the guests of The Netherwood with his rare performance.

WORKING ITS WAY TO PLAINFIELD.

That New Electric Railway Scheme Progressing Onward from Orange.

The recently-organized New Jersey Improvement Company, which intends constructing an electric railway from Paterson to New Brunswick by way of Plainfield, as previously announced in these columns, has engaged H. J. Holmes, Jr., a Millburn real-estate dealer, to secure the right of way from South Orange to Plainfield. Mr. Holmes has already secured the consent of several property-owners in Springfield, but a few farmers are opposed to the scheme, as they think the railway will damage the streets. One of the latter said he would not allow the proposed electric road to pass his residence for less than $2,000. Mr. Holmes says that this man recently offered to sell his property for $900. The majority of residents of Springfield are in favor of the construction of the road, as the town is now without any railroad facilities, the nearest road being the D. L. and W. Railroad at Millburn, a mile from the centre of the village.

This is the form of the agreement which the property-owners are requested to sign:

> For and in consideration of the sum of $1, to me in hand paid, the receipt whereof is hereby acknowledged, and for other good and valuable considerations, I, the undersigned owner of property fronting .... feet on .... in the county of ...., State of New Jersey, do hereby give my consent to and authorize and empower the New Jersey Improvement Company, its successors and assigns, to construct, equip, maintain and operate a street railway in front of said property, to be operated by electricity or other motive power, except steam.
>
> Witness my hand and seal this .... day of ...., A. D., eighteen hundred and ninety-three ....
>
> Signed, sealed and delivered in the presence of ....

Among the first to sign the agreement was Chairman A. P. Stiles, of the Springfield Township Committee. Mr. Stiles, whose property has a frontage of 5,000 feet on the Plainfield road, is enthusiastic over the plan. In his agreement the company promised to operate the road in two years. Freeholder J. Martin Roll is also strongly in favor of the scheme.

Mr. Holmes says the company intends to pass along the Ridgewood road in South Orange to Mountain avenue, Wyoming (a town near Millburn), thence along Wyoming avenue to Springfield avenue, the Essex County road, along this thoroughfare a half mile to Main street, south along Main street to Springfield, where the route will extend an eighth of a mile. West on Morris avenue to Westfield avenue, thence to Westfield and Plainfield.

This is the route desired by the company, but Mr. Holmes says if the property-owners in Millburn and Springfield offer much objection the route will be changed, and extend from South Orange to Hilton, thence to Unionville, and along Westfield avenue to Westfield. The residents of Unionville, it is said, are anxious to have the road extend through that village.

FIFTY WILL RACE.

That Lyceum Wheeling Contest to Be a Great Success.

A meeting of the Lyceum Wheelmen was held in the club-house on Monday to perfect arrangements for the coming 25-mile road race to be held Aug. 19. It was decided to close the entries Aug. 12, and it is earnestly desired that all those intending to participate shall enter as soon as possible so that arrangements may be made accordingly. The designs of the two gold medals have already been chosen, and they will be very handsome. The officials of the race have already been told in The Press. Nearly 50 entries are expected.

The Borough Cars Will Soon Be Here.

Superintendent Passmore says that the Somerset street extension of the electric railway will be running between the 12th and 15th of August. The cars will arrive here early in the month. The great difficulty at present is the stringing of the wires. All of the electric light wires have to be raised, and in consequence the work of stringing the trolley wires moves slowly. Car No. 1, which has been idle undergoing painting, will be ready for duty Thursday.

The Judge Did Right in Discharging Him.

A bicyclist named Potter was arrested by Policeman Myers Tuesday night beyond Netherwood for riding without a light. He said that he was on his way from Germantown, Pa., to Bayonne City, where he lived. An impromptu court was held by Judge Coddington at 10:30 last night, and Mr. Potter was discharged. Plainfield will soon get a bad name among wheelmen if out-of-town bicyclists ignorant of the ordinance are brought to the City Court every time they go through the unfrequented suburbs without a light.

—The prospectus of the State Normal and Model schools is published in another column, and shows the superior advantages of those institutions. The tuition is not expensive, and the benefits of the training and education are incalculable.

THE DEAD MAN COULDN'T SIGN.

SO HIS LAWYER FORCED THE NERVELESS FINGERS.

Facts of the Maynard Will Contest—Undue Influence Alleged to Have Been Exercised by the First-Born Son, Who Was at Hand When the Will Was Drawn.

A case that is likely to cause considerable interest in the courts is the contest regarding the validity of the will of the late James Maynard of this city, who died March 17, 1893, leaving all his property to his son Edward and cutting off his two other sons by a second marriage without a cent. One of his sons by his second marriage is named Edwin R., and the other is John R. Edwin is proprietor of Maynard's Tonsorial Parlor, and shortly after the will was made public he settled with Edward and agreed to give up all claims to his father's property for a consideration, having pocketed which, he went on his way rejoicing.

John, however, who lives in Boston, did not compromise, but began to pick flaws in the legality of the document.

James Maynard, the father, was taken ill Monday, March 14; and on Wednesday of the same week, it being evident that he was not long for this world, he called in his legal adviser, J. B. Coward, and a will was drawn up. The old man was too far gone to hold the pen to sign his name, so Mr. Coward traced his signature, holding the pen in the sick man's hand. Edwin says that he did not know his father was ill until Tuesday, and the papers that have been filed for an appeal from the admission of the will to probate state that undue influence was brought to bear on the sick man by the son Edward, who was intimately associated with the old man during his last illness, before the other boys could get around, and it is therefore held that the signature cannot stand. Attorney George DeMeza has the case in hand for John, the contestant, and it is set to come up in the Orphans' Court at Elizabeth September 14.

PRAISE FOR FRAZEE AND WEBER.

These Two Councilmen Have the Thanks of Honest Workingmen.

At a recent meeting of Watchung Lodge, No. 167, International Association of Machinists, the following preamble and resolution were unanimously adopted and ordered placed on the minutes and published in The Daily Press:

> WHEREAS, There was introduced in the Plainfield City Council, June 5, 1893, an ordinance granting to employes of the Street Department nine hours for a day's work; and
>
> WHEREAS, Two Aldermen, Messrs. Vincent L. Frazee and Herman A. Weber, voted and worked in favor of the above ordinance; be it
>
> Resolved, That to Vincent L. Frazee and Herman A. Weber our thanks and the thanks of all honest labor are due, for their untiring labor in our behalf.
>
> J. T. VREELAND,
> E. C. EVERETT,
> J. W. JAMES,
> Committee.

JOHN ADLEMAN HIS SUCCESSOR.

In Superintendent Passmore Plainfield Loses a Good Citizen and the Company a Valued Man.

John Adlemann, of Grant avenue, Wednesday succeeded J. H. Passmore as Superintendent of the Plainfield Street Railway Company. Mr. Adleman has been Mr. Passmore's foreman for the past year, and is thoroughly fitted to take the position. He is originally from Newark, but moved with his family to Plainfield some time ago.

While welcoming the new Superintendent, The Press wishes to extend its good wishes also to Mr. Passmore, who by his excellent management of the road and his many highly valued personal qualities has secured hosts of friends in Plainfield, to which he came a stranger. He and his wife, who also is greatly esteemed by Plainfield people, will left Wednesday for Norristown, Pa., where Mr. Passmore will take charge of the street railroad of that town. He takes with him good wishes, for his prosperity, from all.

THE PUBLIC DISAPPOINTED.

Architect Foegate Wouldn't Exonerate, But Simply Declined to Prosecute.

The case of the city of Plainfield against W. C. Smith, the contracting mason, brought on complaint of Blanchard Foegate, the architect, who accused Smith of calling him names, was withdrawn Tuesday morning.

When the time came for his trial in the City Court, Walter Hetfield, acting for Mr. Foegate, rose at the appointed time and to the surprise of all declared the case withdrawn. Ex-Judge John Ulrich, who appeared for Mr. Smith, arose and desired to know if in withdrawing the case Mr. Hetfield would exonerate the defendant from all blame in the matter, and also if he would pay all costs. Mr. Hetfield replied that his client, acting on his advice, simply withdrew the case, and that he did not exonerate Mr. Smith in the least; that furthermore Mr. Foegate was ready to prove everything he had sworn to if Mr. Ulrich cared to fight the matter out, and that it was the city's place to pay the costs. Some lively arguing followed, for a few minutes, and the learned counsel for both sides were slightly irritated, but the Judge said the city would pay, and the jurors and spectators who had expected some lively fun went away disappointed.

Plainfield Germans Away from Home.

The Aurora Singing Society of New Brunswick celebrated their twentieth anniversary Tuesday afternoon, to the delight of a large crowd.

About forty members of the Turn Verein of this city went over in stages and participated in the festivities. Societies were also present from Perth Amboy and Brooklyn.

During the afternoon there was singing by each society separately, under the direction of Prof. Stein.

Afterward an elaborate dinner was served, and a general good time was had. There was no parade, as the new bridge was not completed and could not be used.

Voorhees Dead of His Injuries.

Hiram Voorhees, painter, died in Muhlenberg Hospital Monday night of the injuries received in his fall from W. D. Murray's new house Saturday. His death is the source of much heartfelt grief, as he was a most excellent workman and a good Christian man, having been converted some time ago by the Salvation Army. The afflicted family have the sympathy of all.

PARMELE DECLINES A HEARING.

He Prefers to Have the Grand Jury Pass Direct Upon His Case.

The examination of Charles Parmele (who is accused of cruelty to little John Taylor) which was to have been held before Justice Nash Wednesday, has been waived, and his bail will be renewed this afternoon for his appearance before the Grand Jury in September.

John H. French was his bondsman.

I feel it my duty to say a few words in regard to Ely's Cream Balm, and I do so entirely without solicitation. I have used it more or less half a year, and have found it to be most admirable. I have suffered from catarrh of the worst kind ever since I was a little boy and I never hoped for cure, but Cream Balm seems to do even that. Many of my acquaintances have used it with excellent results. [illegible], Chicago, Ill.

HILL'S

REMEMBER We guarantee a cure and invite the most careful investigation as to our responsibility and the merits of our Tablets.

READ OUR TESTIMONIALS

Double Chloride of Gold Tablets

Will completely destroy the desire for TOBACCO in from 3 to 5 days. Perfectly harmless; cause no sickness, and may be given in a cup of tea or coffee without the knowledge of the patient, who will voluntarily stop smoking or chewing in a few days.

DRUNKENNESS and MORPHINE HABIT can be cured at home, and without any effort on the part of the patient, by the use of our SPECIAL FORMULA GOLD CURE TABLETS.

During treatment patients are allowed the free use of Liquor or Morphine until such time as they shall voluntarily give them up.

We send particulars and pamphlet of testimonials free, and shall be glad to place sufferers from any of these habits in communication with persons who have been cured by the use of our Tablets.

HILL'S TABLETS are for sale by all FIRST-CLASS druggists at $1.00 per package.

If your druggist does not keep them, enclose us $1.00 and we will send you, by return mail, a package of our Tablets.

Write your name and address plainly, and state whether Tablets are for Tobacco, Morphine or Liquor Habit.

DO NOT BE DECEIVED into purchasing any of the various nostrums that are being offered for sale. Ask for HILL'S TABLETS and take no other.

Manufactured only by
—THE—
OHIO CHEMICAL CO,
51, 53 & 55 Opera Block,
LIMA, OHIO.

PARTICULARS FREE.

TOBACCO HABIT EASILY CURED.

A FEW Testimonials from persons who have been cured by the use of Hill's Tablets.

THE OHIO CHEMICAL CO.: DEAR SIR:—I have been using your cure for tobacco habit, and found it would do what you claim for it. I used ten cents worth of the strongest chewing tobacco a day, and from one to five cigars; or I would smoke from ten to forty pipes of tobacco. Have chewed and smoked for twenty-five years, and two packages of your Tablets cured me so I have no desire for it. B. M. JAYLORD, Leslie, Mich.

DOBBS' FERRY, N. Y. THE OHIO CHEMICAL CO.:—GENTLEMEN:—Some time ago I sent for $1.00 worth of your Tablets for Tobacco Habit. I received them all right and, although I was both a heavy smoker and chewer, they did the work in less than three days. I am cured. Truly yours, MATHEW JOHNSON, P. O. Box 45.

PITTSBURGH, PA. THE OHIO CHEMICAL CO.:—GENTLEMEN:—It gives me pleasure to speak a word of praise for your Tablets. My son was strongly addicted to the use of liquor, and through a friend, I was led to try your Tablets. He was a heavy and constant drinker, but after using your Tablets but three days he quit drinking, and will not touch liquor of any kind. I have waited four month before writing you, in order to know the cure was permanent. Yours truly, MRS. HELEN MORRISON.

CINCINNATI, OHIO. THE OHIO CHEMICAL CO:—GENTLEMEN:—Your Tablets have performed a miracle in my case. I have used morphine, hypodermically, for seven years, and have been cured by the use of two packages of your Tablets, and without any effort on my part. W. L. LOTEGAY.

Address all Orders to
THE OHIO CHEMICAL CO.,
51, 53 and 55 Opera Block, LIMA, OHIO.

RESPONSIBLE AGENTS WANTED

(In writing please mention this paper.)

NEWS OF OUR NEIGHBORS.

Bright Gossip from the Flourishing Township of Ripleyville.

WESTFIELD, August 2.

Westfield has a new post-office, situated in the Plainfield Cook Bros' National Bank building, with entrances on both Broad and Elm streets. The quarters are commodious and tastefully furnished, but poorly lighted, being in this respect inferior to those formerly occupied.

The surprising thing in connection with this moving of the post-office is that the petition to have it done was signed and largely circulated by merchants who will suffer by the change. Let it be remembered that in a town like Westfield the location of the post-office is a matter of considerable importance to tradesmen, as the office acts somewhat like a magnet, drawing travel to itself along certain well defined routes, and leaving business interests in unfavored portions of the town to suffer accordingly.

Speaking of the post-office leads one inevitably to the question of the postmastership. The two candidates most worthy of mention are Freeholder Mulford M. Scudder and ex-Postmaster Addison S. Clark. The race is interesting at present, with the Freeholder about two lengths in the lead.

The twelfth annual excursion of the Sunday-schools of Westfield, Fanwood and Scotch Plains, to Ocean Grove, takes place to-day. This excursion has become an annual event in the history of the three towns, second only in importance to Christmas and the Fourth of July. It is especially to be distinguished as the time when the youth of nineteen is tempted to don knickerbockers, murder his mustache, and obtain a free ticket to the seashore by posing as a member of the Sunday-school infant class.

Appleton Morgan, LL. D., President of the New York Shakespeare Society and Editor of Shakespeariana, is once more residing in Westfield. Mr. Morgan, who is a college-bred man and a graduate of Columbia Law School, has recently published a little book called "The Society and The Fad", in which he cleverly dissects the Browning cult.

Columbia Law School has given Westfield another bright man in Charles N. Codding, the young attorney who with Judge John B. Green has recently opened law offices in the National Bank Building, which offices are in charge of Charles B. VanWinkle of Plainfield. Mr. Codding has for some time been successfully prominent in Westfield's public affairs, and as a consequence is now being talked of as the probable Republican candidate for Assemblyman in the third district.

REMA.

ADVISED BY HIS PLAINFIELD FRIENDS

Rowland Cox, the Famous Patent Lawyer, Writes to Secretary Gresham on the Financial Question.

The long duration of the period of business depression and the great scarcity of ready money have caused many prominent business and professional men to bring their private influence to bear on the Chief Executive of the nation and his advisers. Plainfielders have not been behind in the good work, and the latest news that The Press hears on the subject is that Rowland Cox of Seventh street, following the wishes of many associates of the business world, has written to his personal friend, Walter Q. Gresham, Secretary of State, urging him to use his influence with the President in attacking the financial question immediately on the gathering of Congress. If good results can be judged by the number of the communications that have been received by the chief officers of the country, the people may look for an improvement in the state of their pockets shortly after Congress convenes.

A FORMER PLAINFIELDER HONORED.

Father Stafford Made Vice-President of Seton Hall College.

Rev. John Stafford, who has been for some time past assistant priest of St. Mary's Roman Catholic church in Jersey City, has been appointed by Bishop Wigger Vice-President of Seton Hall College. Father Stafford is a native of Paterson, and about nine years ago graduated from Seton Hall. He went from there to the American College in Rome, where he took high honors and won several medals for his excellence in the studies of moral theology and philosophy. There Monsignor Satolli was one of his teachers in dogmatic theology. After his return from Rome he was sent to St. Mary's church in Plainfield where he officiated as assistant priest for four years and whence he was transferred to Jersey City. He has the congratulations of his many friends in this city.

Brilliant, Thorough, Faithful.

(From The Elizabeth Journal.)

Walter Irving Clarke, formerly a reporter on the Plainfield Daily Press, succeeds James A. Demarest, who has been the managing editor since the paper was established, and who has resigned to enter upon his duties as U. S. Consul at Brockville, Canada. Mr. Clarke is a brilliant and faithful hustling young fellow, and a thorough newspaper worker.

Mr. Hudson's Vocal Classes.

Walter A. Hudson, the vocal teacher, has closed his studio, and will hie himself to the mountains in quest of a much needed rest, after his arduous labors in New York and Plainfield. He has been very successful since opening his studio in this city, and the rapid progress of his pupils attests his ability as a teacher. He will resume instructions September 12.

—The Catholic Young Men's Lyceum, which always makes a success of everything it undertakes, will run an excursion to Highland Beach, Thursday, August 3.

THE OLD CHURCH WILL STAND.

The Precious Relic of Plainfield's Early Seventh-Day Life Not to Be Molested.

The organ for the new Seventh-Day Baptist church has arrived, and will be put in place as soon as the glaziers have finished their work in the organ loft. It is a very fine instrument, and one of which any church would be proud.

The date of the opening of the new church has not yet been decided on. The rumor started from an irresponsible source that the old church would be cut up into modern dwelling houses is pronounced by Dr. Lewis to be utterly unfounded.

It has not been decided definitely what is to be done with the old church, but it will probably be rented for various church purposes so that the property will pay for itself and not be a dead investment. When the brethren return from their vacations, steps will be taken toward the plans for a formal opening, and the date will be decided, but as they have plenty of time and do not believe in hurrying, a late opening of the church may be looked for.

IT IS PLAINFIELD'S PRIDE.

Metropolitan Eyes See Possibilities of a Fortune in Its Development.

A New York member of The Tribune staff waxed enthusiastic, in a lengthy article in last Sunday's issue, over the historic Watchung Mountain eminence known as Washington Rock. After a detailed description of the enrapturing view, the writer says:

> While by no means so extensive, and though there is no silvery ribbon of river in the middle distance, the view suggests the splendid panorama presented to the eye when one stands on the piazza of the Mountain House in the Catskills. In many respects it is equally satisfactory. It is an extremely civilized view. The hand of man is apparent everywhere.
>
> There is no other outlook on the mountain comparable with this. The plateau here is exceptional. There is, perhaps, an acre of practically level land, covered with a thin growth of flourishing trees. One cannot help thinking what a fine site it would be for a summer hotel. There was a hotel here a few years ago, in fact, but after being burned it was not rebuilt. Under proper management it would seem that such an enterprise, at this short distance from New York, and in a spot so easily accessible, could not fail of success. There would be no difficulty regarding a water supply. Within a quarter of a mile of this point is a bountiful spring of water as pure and cold as that to be found in the innumerable springs that delight the soul and the palate of the pedestrian in the White Mountains. It is not surprising that the Rock is visited by many picnic parties throughout the summer. They come from all the towns and cities within a distance of a dozen miles or more, and those who come once invariably desire to come again. On Sundays some thirty residents of the plains come up in wagons and bring a supply of beverages of various sorts that appeal to the thirsty. The man who asks for beer receives a negative answer with such a palpable series of winks as would shock a true-blue Prohibitionist.
>
> The Rock remains to be discovered by the great majority of New Yorkers. Some day they will find it out; and perhaps some day somebody will make a fortune there. The writer has visited it a number of times this summer, each time with fresh delight, wonder and satisfaction. He unhesitatingly recommends a trip to the Rock to all who are in search of a superb view that may be obtained with a small expenditure of time, money and muscle.

Half Rate Excursions to the World's Fair via Washington and the B. & O. R. R.

The Baltimore and Ohio R. R. will run a series of special excursions from New York to the World's Fair at rate of $17.00 for the round trip. The trains will consist of first-class day coaches equipped with lavatories and toilet conveniences. The trains will start from Jersey Central station, foot of Liberty street, New York, at 8:20 a. m., August 5, 9 and 15, and reach Chicago at 4:30 p. m. the following day. Tickets will be valid for outward journey only on the special trains, but will be good returning from Chicago in day coaches on any regular train within 10 days, including day of sale. Stops will be made for meals at the dining stations on the line. A tourist agent and a train porter will accompany each train to look after the comfort of passengers. Tickets will also be sold for these trains at the Jersey Central offices in Newark, Elizabeth, Plainfield, Bound Brook and Somerville. New York offices 172, 415 and 1140 Broadway, and station foot of Liberty street. 26-w&s-3w

THE PENALTIES OF MATRIMONY.

On Account of His Employe's Wife, Barber Kesseiring Won't Get His Vacation.

George Kesseiring, the Park avenue barber, has had very hard luck with his employes lately. Not long ago one of his men suddenly disappeared leaving a bad financial record behind him. His place was speedily filled, however, and Kesseiring was just preparing to take a much-needed vacation when man No. 2 took his departure suddenly leaving only a note in the cash drawer which read: "Good-bye. My wife is after me."

Kesseiring sighed, forgave the man, and prepared to do double work instead of taking his desired rest.

Steady Rain Needed Now.

(Official Crop Bulletin.)

SOUTH PLAINFIELD—The warm sunshine and high winds have dried up the soil, so much so, that sweet and field corn, tomatoes, lima beans and potatoes will not be a heavy crop. A speedy rain is greatly needed. The light showers on 28th and 29th were of little benefit.

PETER C. [illegible]

Dunellen Must Stop This Trespass.

Measures are to be taken by the North Plainfield Township authorities to stop the dumping of garbage, by residents of Dunellen, who throw this waste just over the line in North Plainfield. Complaints are constantly being made in reference to it.

ONLY 3 BIRDS DIFFERENCE.

The Dutch Team of Plainfield Lost the Pigeon Shoot.

The pigeon shooting contest at the Climax Gun Club grounds, Tuesday, drew a large audience, who were well repaid, for the contest was a clever exhibition of the handling of the shotgun. The match, as stated in yesterday's Press, was a team race, the principals being Chas. Smith of this city and John Rothacker of Philadelphia on one side, against H. F. Lindsley of Hoboken and Capt. A. W. Money of Oakland. The match resulted in a win for Money and Lindsley by the score of 90 kills out of a possible 100, to 87 for the "Dutch" team.

The birds were a first-class lot of strong flyers, particularly the last half shot at, as these were helped on their flight by a strong wind that had sprung up. Of the first 25 shot at, Lindsley killed 23, Money 22, Rothaker 24, and Smith 20. Of the second 25, Lindsley scored 22, making a total of 45; Money 23, total 45; Rothaker 21, total 45; and Smith 24, bringing his score up to 44. Neaf Apgar acted as referee, Jacob Pentz, of Shooting and Fishing, scorer, and the veteran sportsman Al Heritage, of Jersey City, pulled the traps. After the contest the visitors were entertained by Mr. Smith, and after spending a pleasant evening left on the 10:17 train.

KILLED AT DUNELLEN.

James McGerry Struck By a Passenger Train Near the Tanks.

The local passenger train that is due at Plainfield at 1:20, bound for New York, while running by the tanks between Bound Brook and Dunellen, this afternoon, struck James McGerry, a blacksmith who lives in Raritan, and threw him unconscious to the side of the track.

He was picked up and taken to the Dunellen freight house where Dr. Brakeley attended him, but found him beyond medical aid. He died shortly after 3.

The engine struck him in the temple, and it is supposed that he was confused and could not get out of the way.

Lauter's Musical Journal.

Lauter's Musical Journal for August comes to us filled with the following choice selections of vocal and instrumental music: "The Mighty Deep", by W. H. Jude; "Love's Old Sweet Song", by J. L. Molloy; "Violettes Waltzes", by Emile Waldteufel; "Monastery Bells", by L. Wely. Same can be had free upon application at the piano and organ warerooms of S. D. Lauter Co., 657 and 659 Broad street, Newark.

—At the corner of Plainfield avenue and Fourth street, the Fourth Ward boys will have a 100-yard race, August 3, at 3 p. m. A prize will be offered for whoever wins. Boys under 16 years of age can enter. The entries are free.

—The Equitable Life Assurance Society, through their messenger, J. S. Murden, Saturday sent to the widow a check for $1,500 insurance on the life of William L. Force. The insurance was placed through John C. Eisele, Manager, of Newark, and he and the company are to be commended for their speedy and full settlement of the claim.

Masculine Superiority.

The feeling of superiority in the sterner sex is inborn. "Mamma, do you think you'll go to Heaven?" said Jack, thoughtfully looking into his mother's face.

"Yes, dear, if I'm good," said the little mother cautiously, wondering what would come next.

"Then please be good, for papa and I would be so lonesome without you."—Kate Field's Washington.

Onto His Curves.

Young Husband—Good-by, darling. Should I be prevented from coming home to supper, I will send you a note by a messenger boy.

Trusting Wife—Not at all necessary, dear; I have already taken it out of your coat pocket.—Truth.

Of Relative Importance.

Bertie Slimley—Miss Wiggle, I—ah—that is—don't you know, I love you. Will you—ah—can you—?

Miss Wiggle—Really, Mr. Slimley, I must take time to consider. In the meantime you may be a sister to me.—Puck.

There Is Still Time.

"Did you ever have all the cake you wanted to eat?" asked the lady of the little boy who was visiting her.

"No'm," replied the little boy; "I haven't lived long enough to eat all I ever wanted."—Harper's Young People.

A Feast.

Wee Miss—We couldn't eat all the cake you gave me for my garden party.

Mother—You said you had invited ten.

Wee Miss—Yes, but eight of 'em were dolls.—Good News.

The Old, Old Story.

He married his stenographer
So dainty, neat and trim,
No longer he dictates to her,
For she dictates to him.
—Chicago Tribune.

No Wonder.

Mistress—What makes your potatoes so soggy?

New Cook—Please, mum, the water they was boiled in was very wet.—N. Y. Weekly

PAPIAC.
(Boynton Beach,)
NOW OPEN
—FOR—
EXCURSIONS & PICNICS
[illegible]

AT BEDTIME I TAKE A PLEASANT HERB DRINK

THE NEXT MORNING I FEEL BRIGHT AND NEW AND MY COMPLEXION IS BETTER.

My doctor says it acts gently on the stomach, liver and kidneys, and is a pleasant laxative. This drink is made from herbs, and is prepared for use as easily as tea. It is called

LANE'S MEDICINE

All druggists sell it at 50c. and $1 a package. If you cannot get it, send your address for a free sample. Lane's Family Medicine moves the bowels each day. In order to be healthy this is necessary. Address, ORATOR F. WOODWARD, Le Roy, N. Y.

E. C. Morris Safe Co

Incorporated. Capital $250,000.
Successors to E. C. Morris & Co.
64 Sudbury St., Boston, Mass.
FIRE AND BURGLAR-PROOF SAFES.

Bank Safes, Bank Vaults, Bank Vault Doors and Deposit Work of all kinds.
The Best Safe in the World. 150,000 in use. Always preserve their contents.
Champion Record in all the Great Fires.

One of the largest and best equipped factories in the country has just been erected near Boston, fitted with the latest and most improved tools, which render facilities for manufacturing the best work at the lowest prices, unequalled by any other concern in the country.

Our aim is to give the best construction and most improvements for the least amount of money. Estimates and specifications furnished upon application. AGENTS WANTED. 7-9-6

COOPER'S FLORAL DENTINE.

SO popular with the Ladies for rendering their teeth pearly white. With the sponge [illegible] for cleansing their teeth and perfuming their breath. [illegible] of tobacco-smoke. Is perfectly harmless and delicious to the taste. Sent by mail for 25c. At all dealers. Send 2c. stamp for sample to F. COOPER & [illegible], [illegible], N. Y.

NEW JERSEY
State Normal & Model Schools
TRENTON, N. J.

Fall term will commence Tuesday, September 12, at 9.15 a. m. Buildings open to receive students on Monday, September 11.

The Normal School gives a thorough professional training for teaching; the Model prepares for business, the general pursuits of life or college. Total cost, including board, washing books, etc., at the Normal $154 to $160 per year; at the Model $200 per year.

Buildings lighted by gas and heated by steam. Dormitories comfortably furnished, provided with baths, etc. The facilities, both of the school building and boarding halls have been greatly increased during the present year, the former by a properly equipped gymnasium, laboratories, etc., the latter by increased capacity. For further particulars address

J. M. GREEN, Principal, Trenton, N. J.

8-3-6

IN CHANCERY OF NEW JERSEY.

To George F. Martens and William Allen—

By virtue of an order of the Court of Chancery of New Jersey, made on the day of the date hereof in a cause wherein Caroline F. Harrison is complainant and you and others are defendants, you are required to appear, plead, answer or demur to the bill of said complainant on or before the ninth day of September next, or the said bill will be taken as confessed against you.

The said bill is filed to foreclose a mortgage given by John K. VanNess to the said Caroline F. Harrison, dated October eighth, Eighteen hundred and ninety, on lands in the city of Plainfield, Union County, New Jersey, and also on lands in the township of North Plainfield Somerset county, New Jersey and you George F. Martens are made a defendant because you own said lands or some part thereof, and you, William Allen, are made a defendant because you hold by assignment from said complainant a mortgage on said lands.

OSCAR KEEN,
Solicitor of Complainant, No. 761 Broad street, Newark, New Jersey.
Dated July 8, 1893. 7 13 4

SHERIFF'S SALE.

NEW JERSEY SUPREME COURT, UNION COUNTY—Charles A. Reed, vs. John C. Moore alias. Fi. fa. de. bo. et. ter. In debt.
Charles A. Reed, Att'y.
Patrick Lynch, Trustee, vs John C. Moore, alias Fi. fa. de. bo. et. ter. In debt.
Wm. R. Codington, Att'y.
Daniel H. Terry, vs. John C. Moore, alias. Fi. fa. de. bo. et. ter. In debt.
Pl'tiff prose Att'y.
UNION COUNTY CIRCUIT COURT—Cenegre Paul vs. John C. Moore, alias. Fi. fa. de. bo. et. ter. On Contract.
Wm. A. Coddington, Att'y.
UNION COUNTY COMMON PLEAS COURT—Thomas Callahan vs. John C. Moore alias. Fi. fa. de. bo. et ter. On docketed judgment.
Jackson & Codington, Att'ys.
Newton B. Smalley, vs. John C. Moore, alias, Fi. fa. de. bo. et. ter. On docketed judgment.
Wm. R. Codington, Att'y.
Harry Werner, vs. John C. Moore, alias. Fi. fa. de. bo. et. ter. On docketed judgment.
Jackson & Codington, Att'ys.

By virtue of the above stated writs of fieri facias to me directed, I shall expose for sale by public vendue at the court house, in the city of Elizabeth, N. J., on

WEDNESDAY, THE SIXTEENTH DAY OF AUGUST, A. D., 1893

at two o'clock in the afternoon of said day all the right, title and interest of the defendant, John C. Moore, of, in and to all that tract or parcel of land and premises, situated in the city of Plainfield, county of Union and State of New Jersey.

Beginning at a point in the southerly line of Second street, distant easterly one hundred and thirty feet more or less from the intersection of said line of Second street, with the easterly line of Park avenue which point is also the northwest corner of the lot of Daniel Roberts; thence first westerly along said southerly line of Second street thirty-five feet, more or less, to a point thence southerly in a course parallel with the westerly boundary of said Roberts, eighty-five feet more or less, to the line of the Hotel property of Conduct Brothers; thence easterly along said hotel property thirty-five feet, more or less, to the line of Daniel Roberts; and thence northerly along said line of Daniel Roberts and parallel with the second set out course eighty-five feet, more or less to the place of beginning.

W. H. Hicks, Sheriff.
DL&C Fees $11.00

EXECUTOR'S SETTLEMENT.

Notice is hereby given, that the account of the subscriber, executor and trustee, under the will of Frederick P. Chase, deceased, will be audited and stated by the Surrogate, and reported for settlement to the Orphans' Court of the county of Union, on Wednesday, the thirteenth day of September next.

CRAIG A. MARSH.
Dated July 1, 1893. 7 8 10

MASTER'S SALE.

By virtue of a decree made by the Court of Chancery of the State of New Jersey bearing date the twenty-fourth day of June, A. D., eighteen hundred and ninety-three, in a certain cause pending in the Court of Chancery of New Jersey wherein James Smith is complainant and Mary J. Bartle et als. are defendants. I, John D. Bartine, one of the Special Masters of the Court of Chancery of New Jersey, duly appointed and commissioned to make said sale and all necessary things pertaining thereto, will sell at public auction to the highest bidder on the premises at Murray Hill, in Union County, New Jersey, on Monday, the seventh (7) day of August next, between the hours of twelve and five o'clock, to wit at two o'clock in the afternoon of said day, all those two tracts or parcels of land and premises hereinafter particularly described, situate, lying and being in the township of New Providence in the County of Union and State of New Jersey:

The First Tract—Lying south of the Stony Hill Road. Beginning at an iron stake in the middle of the road leading from New Providence to Scotch Plains at a corner of land lately purchased by Charles F. Smith, and running thence along the line of said Charles F. Smith [illegible]

The Second Tract—Lying north of the Stony Hill Road. Beginning at a stake in the middle of the road leading from New Providence to Scotch Plains in line of (formerly) Jonathan Potter's land; [illegible]

J. D. BARTINE,
Special Master in Chancery of New Jersey.
[illegible]

At Half Prices

N. B.—Notice the first name, AMOS and No. 73, before entering the store.

AMOS H. VANHORN.
LIMITED,
73 MARKET STREET,

GREAT
MIDSUMMER SALE,
AT HALF PRICES.

Moquette, per yard only	75c
Velvet carpet, per yard only	75c
Body Brussels carpet per yard only	75c
Tapestry Brussels carpet, per yard only	50c
All-wool ingrain carpet, per yard only	50c
Three ply carpet, per yard only	65c
Parlor suits in plush, 6 pieces, mahogany finished frames, only	$27
Parlor suits, mahogany finished frames, in rug covering, only	$37
Antique oak bedroom suits, reduced from $20 down as low as	$13

Hotels, Summer Resorts and Summer Boarding Houses will always find a large line of goods at my establishment, and at low prices and easy terms.

Fancy Matting, large stock and low prices. Best makes of Refrigerators at the lowest prices.

Telephone 580. Terms to suit purchasers Car fare paid. Goods delivered free of charge to all parts of the state.

BOOK ACCOUNT OPENED IF DESIRED.

Telephone 580! Elevator to Every Floor!

Goods Delivered FREE OF CHARGE to All Parts of the State!

AMOS H. VAN HORN.
LIMITED.

My only place of Business is at

73 Market Street,

Near Plane St., Newark, N. J.

NO BRANCH STORES.

10-5-1y

TOWNSEND'S
Marble & Granite Works,
30 SOMERSET STREET,
PLAINFIELD, N. J.

If you have not engaged your work, I should be pleased to do it for you.

I buy only first-class Marble and Granite and do not sell unless at prices that will enable me to put up the work with credit to myself and justice to the parties purchasing.

I employ no agents and therefore am enabled to make a reduction in the price of my work to the customer, of the commission generally paid to agents.

I am under a very small expense in running my shop, myself and my son doing the larger portion of the work, and we personally attend to the setting of all work, and look upon business in this light, that Good Work and Good Material, at Fair Prices, is a standing advertisement for my business, which will tend to build up trade, and I feel safe to warrant that no dealer can sell you the same work and same stock any cheaper than I can.

Hoping to be favored with your patronage, I am yours respectfully,

J. E. TOWNSEND,
Manager. 8 11 tf
Branch Yard Westfield, N. J.

FURS
And all kinds of wearing apparel
STORED
And insured against all damage by fire or moth.
Repairing and re-dyeing of Furs should be done during the summer months.
GEO. C. TREADWELL CO.
SUCCESSORS TO
W. H. AND E. BURNETT,
17 Academy st., Newark. 5 11 4

Scientific American Agency for
PATENTS
CAVEATS, TRADE MARKS, DESIGN PATENTS, COPYRIGHTS, etc.

For information and free Handbook write to MUNN & CO., 361 BROADWAY, NEW YORK. [illegible]

Scientific American

Largest circulation of any scientific paper in the world. [illegible] MUNN & CO., PUBLISHERS, 361 Broadway, New York City.

Dime Savings Institution
OF PLAINFIELD, N. J.

Is now receiving deposits payable on demand, with interest at the rate of three (3) per cent. per annum payable semi-annually.

JOHN W. MURRAY, President.
WILLIAM WHITE, Vice "
[illegible]
[illegible]

NEWARK
BEEHIVE
Things Sold There That Make the Great Store it is.

L. S. Plaut & Co.
THE BEEHIVE

STOCK LIST NO. 18.
Cut Out and Save for Reference.
FANCY WORK
and
ART MATERIALS

Chenille, Arasene, Braidene.
Embroidery Silks, by bunch or spool.
Knitting Silk and Purse Twist.
Filling, Wash, Rope, Twisted Darning and Etching Silks.
Royal and Linen Floss, all colors.
Rope Linen and Embroidery Cotton.
Crochet Cotton and Glasco Lace Thread.
Crewel, Macreme Cord and Kensington Crochet Twist.
Japanese Gold and Copper Thread.
Tinsel, Spangles, Purse Rings, Purse Frames and Ornaments.
Zephyr Worsted, Germantown Yarn, German Knitting Yarns, Saxony Wool, Spanish Yarn, Fairy, Floss, Shetland, Ice, Angora and Pompadour Wool.
Millinery and Fancy Dress Trimmings.
Gold and Silver Fringe, Tassels, Stars, Cords and Braids.
Gold, Silver, Copper and Colored Stars.
Coins, Bells and Cup Hooks.
Stamping Outfits, Wax, Glass, Steel, Jet, Satin, Gold, Silver, Mourning and Mixed Beads.
Thermometers, Banner Rods and Chains.
Manilla Rope, Dairy Stools, Rolling Pins, Embroidery hoops and tambourines.
Tin Boxes, Whisk Broom Holders.
Enamel Paint, Gold, Silver and Colored Paints.
Moebeline Furniture Polish.
Rings for Fancy Chair Scarfs.
Japanese Wall Panels and Wood Splashers.
Gold and Silver Paper for Decorating.

No Branch Stores.
L. S. PLAUT & CO.,
707 to 721 Broad St.,
NEWARK.
MAIL ORDERS FILLED.

NOTICE. June 3, 1893.

Estate of Harriet E. Case, Deceased.

Pursuant to the order of George T. Parrot, Surrogate of the county of Union, this day made, on the application of the undersigned, administrator of said deceased, notice is hereby given to the creditors of said deceased to exhibit to the subscriber under oath or affirmation their claims and demands against the estate of said deceased, within nine months from this date, or they will be forever barred from prosecuting or recovering the same against the subscriber.

[illegible]

CITY DEPARTMENT.

OFFICIAL PAPER OF THE STATE, THE COUNTY AND THE CITY, AND HAS THE LARGEST CIRCULATION OF ANY PAPER PUBLISHED IN THE COUNTY OF UNION.

Walter Irving Clarke, City Editor.

—Wilkesbarre is after Turner, but he won't go.

—Work is soon to be begun on the macadamizing of Duer street.

—E. A. Couch of this city is the patentee of a new wheel cultivator.

—J. C. Henry of Westfield has invented and patented an electric railway.

—The winter supply of coal is being put in the various school buildings.

—The excursion of the First Church of Christ, to Passaic, will take place August 9.

—The Street Railway Company has a new derrick wagon, perfect in its workings and good to look upon.

—A detachment from Company H, 3d Regiment, Somerville, will go to Sea Girt next week for rifle practice.

—Mrs. A. Mattis, mother of Wm. Wilson who was hurt by the cars Sunday, denies that the man was intoxicated at the time of the accident.

—E. P. Thorn's cat is still missing, and fears for its safety are entertained. There is talk of getting out a search warrant to go through a certain house nearby.

—John Taylor, of Second street, has retained Lawyer DeMeza as counsel in his case against Mr. Parmele, for cruelty to his boy, which comes up August 2.

—Wm. F. Trust has presented E. P. Thorn with a handsome white cat, weighing twelve pounds. The new owner highly prizes the intelligent and beautiful feline.

—The delay on the new North Plainfield public school building is caused by the non-arrival of terra cotta which was ordered over a week ago of a Trenton firm.

—"Paddy" Lyons, it is said, drove a party of pleasure-seekers over to Mt. Bethel, Sunday, with "Billy" Sullivan's rig, and the latter says he eloped with the price, $5.

—Policeman Lynch has a body-guard every night in the shape of a little black mongrel dog. The animal is continually at his heels, and is almost as vigilant as the officer.

—The Independent Fife and Drum Corps have changed their headquarters from the corner of Park and North avenues to the Salvation Army building on West Second street.

—The 25-mile road-race to be ridden August 19, under the auspices of the Y. M. C. L., will be started at 2 p. m. W. J. Kiely has already received samples of medals to select from, which are very handsome.

—While absent from Plainfield on her Western trip, Mrs. L. Adams, the milliner, will leave her business in competent hands, and her patrons, bearing this in mind, will find the service and work fully up to the standard.

—The Street Commissioner's men are tearing up the turnpike on West Fifth street, near New street, for the purpose of establishing a proper grade. It seems a pity to tear up that well-built street, but it is said to be necessary.

—In their new quarters opposite the North avenue station the Postal Telegraph Company have provided double the facilities they had before, and are equipped to do the best service. Messages by the Postal go quick and sure.

—There is a stump of a tree directly in the path leading to the camp-meeting grounds. Sunday night fully a dozen women fell over it, and some of them were badly bruised. A crowd of hoodlums stood around watching what they called "fun".

—Now that old Peace street has been widened, the crosswalks are being relaid to conform to the new sidewalk line, and a new crosswalk spans new Watchung avenue from Love's corner of North avenue. A culvert is being laid from the east side of the avenue at Second street to convey the water from that side to the catch basin of the sewer on the opposite corner.

PERSONALIA.

Miss Mabel Maxson, of Madison avenue, is enjoying the delights of Belmar.

S. A. Davis, of the City Hotel, is back from a pleasant trip to Ocean Grove.

Miss Maggie Lynch, of Brooklyn, is visiting relatives on Madison avenue.

Dr. F. S. Wells, of West Fourth street, will enjoy a short outing at De Ruyter, N. Y.

Brooks Brown, one of Seely Edsall's employes, has gone to Asbury Park for a week.

John Mantz, of the clothing firm of Mantz Bros., has gone to Passaic for a week.

Miss Freeman, of Rahway, is visiting her aunt, Mrs. W. C. Ayres, of West Second street.

W. H. Sampson and family, of Fifth street, are enjoying the delights of Sullivan county, N. Y.

W. H. Moore, formerly manager of the Plainfield Electric Light Company, is visiting friends in town.

J. M. Whiton and family, of Central avenue, will spend the remainder of the summer at Moosehead Lake, Maine.

Mrs. George Smock and Mrs. C. H. Penfield, of Park avenue and Seventh street, are sojourning at Long Branch.

Edward White is negotiating for a yacht to take a party fishing off Far Rockaway, Sunday. They will troll for bluefish.

Miss Minnie Scheidecker, of Church street, will be registered at the Robison Cottage, Ocean Grove, during the month of August.

Mr. and Mrs. George VanNess of Jersey City, will spend the month of August with Mr. and Mrs Charles Conover, on Elmwood place.

Harry Rand, of West Front street, is carrying his right hand in a sling, the result of an accident, which he says is not worth recording.

Albert Hinrichs expects to ride in the bicycle races at Asbury Park, August 19. He is the only representative that the Crescent Wheelmen will send.

Mrs. J. P. Homan and daughter, Mrs. Samuel Clark, of Fifth street, are at The Grandview, Asbury Park, where they will enjoy the hot month of August.

Miss Katie E. Saverd and Miss Katie A. Dorgan have returned home after three weeks at the home of their aunt, Mrs. T. J. Walsh, North Amherst, Mass.

Elder A. J. Stewart, of the First Church of Christ, attended services at that church Sunday for the first time in three months, and had charge of the Communion service. He has been very ill.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph M. Sandford will spend the month of August at Lake Placid, in the hope of benefiting Mr. Sandford's health, which has not improved very much since his recent illness.

Alfred Norbury, Assistant Superintendent of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company, will take all of the company's Plainfield staff and a number of friends to Boynton Beach for a day's pleasure, Friday. There will be 16 in the party, and Hand's stage will convey them.

Counselor John H. Jackson is once more able to be about after his long siege of serious illness. He is feeling much better, and feels like resuming active law business. He will therefore go into partnership with Winfield S. Angleman, which will make a very excellent legal firm.

F. O. Langhorne and family are at The Atalanta, Asbury Park.

The Courier says that "Miss Clara M. Harris and son" are visiting here.

Chatham, Mass, is to be the scene of George T. Rogers's August vacation.

Miss E. C. Smith, formerly milliner for Lederer, has gone to Saratoga for a visit.

Miss Ingram and Miss Ackerman, of North Plainfield, are spending two weeks in Orange.

Miss Minnie Ammerman, of Madison, is visiting Mr. and Mrs. David King, on Craig place.

John F. Wilson has gone to the famous Mountain House, Cresson, Pa., to remain till Sept. 15.

The Misses Doran, of Jersey City, are visiting at the home of M. Powers, Somerset street.

Mrs. Edward Schenck, of Grandview avenue, is visiting her father, Dr. Bibble, at Harlingen.

Miss S. Louise Wood has returned from four weeks' of pleasure at the Carlton House, Belmar.

Peter Flynn, of West Third street, has arrived home from a visit with relatives at Johnstown, Pa.

S. C. Terry, of Richmond street, has taken a two weeks' vacation to visit his brother, near Oak Tree.

Miss Minnie Wyckoff, of 678 West Front street, is visiting friends in Flemington and Three Bridges.

The Rev. C. E. Dunn, of Albany, is visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Solomon Dunn, on Park avenue.

George VanNest, an employe of A. M. Griffen, will spend the next ten days in the suburbs of Bound Brook.

Misses May and Mattie Bourke, of Brooklyn, are visiting their cousins, the Misses Jacot, of Somerset street.

Alexander Gibby Spencer, of Rahway, eldest son of Collector H. N. Spencer of the borough, is visiting his parents.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Lynch and baby Helen, of 303 Madison avenue, will spend a portion of August in the Catskills.

Joseph Angerbauer, jr., accompanied by his sister, Frances, has gone to spend a few days with relatives at Maspeth, L. I.

Cornelius Buckley, of Rosendale, N. Y., is visiting his daughter, Mrs. Calvin Sutton, of West Fourth street, for a few weeks.

J. Somersetstreet Powlison has been absent from his place of business the past week, and is growing young again up in York State.

John J. Coard and family are enjoying the mountain breezes of Pocono. They make the Mt. Pleasant House their headquarters.

Freeman Pangborn has rented a cottage at Asbury Park for the season, and his family are enjoying life at the popular seashore resort.

Mrs. M. D. Barnes and Miss Fanny Barnes, of Eighty-fourth street, New York, are visiting Mrs. B. T. Barnes of Norwood avenue.

Cyrus Moore and E. M. Tomlinson attended a lawn party given on the lawn at the Whiting farm near Bound Brook, Thursday evening.

Senator W. J. Keys is making extensive alterations to the old Rose property in East Somerville. It will make an ideal home when completed.

The family of W. E. Lowe, of Park avenue, will spend August amid the beauties of Saranac Lake, for which place they started yesterday.

Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur Chamberlain, Miss Grace Chamberlain, and George Chamberlain, all of Jersey City, are visiting Constable Amos Moffett.

Mrs. Edwin Chamberlin, formerly Miss Addie Gillette, and son, of San Antonio, Texas, have been visiting Miss May Tomlinson, of LaGrande avenue.

Mrs. David King, of Craig place, is at Ocean Grove, assisting in the care of Cashier F. H. Gardner, whose dangerous illness is causing so much concern.

John Weaver, brother of ex-Councilman David Weaver of the borough, and Ezra Hall of Raritan, were in town yesterday on a visit to some of their G. A. R. comrades.

A sociable was given in Grace M. E. church, North Plainfield, last evening, under the auspices of the Epworth League. It was a successful affair, and all had a lovely time.

Consul James A. Demarest and Mrs. Demarest left Friday for his post at Brockville, Ont. They were accompanied by Mrs. F. A. Pope and son, who will spend August there.

Warren Stewart is a very happy grandpa. A sturdy young Democrat came to gladden the home of his son George, of Duer street, a few evenings ago. All is prospering in the Stewart household.

C. Lyons, A. Lyons, A. Smalley, W. Heideloff and I. Lyons have returned from a few days outing at Lake Hopatcong. They had great fishing, and W. Heideloff caught a bass weighing 6 lbs.

Mrs. Blanchard Fosgate and son, of Park avenue, are home from three delightful weeks at Newport, which they spent in the company of Mrs. James Moore, wife of Col. Moore, of Elizabeth.

Dr. C. R. Barnes, pastor of the First M. E. church, has joined the procession. Two weeks ago he knew nothing about cycling, but now is an expert wheelman. He will buy cycles for his daughters also.

Some effort is being made among the guests at Hotel Netherwood to form a riding club and use the rink certain evenings in the week. Several names have already been handed in by those who wish to join.

U. B. Crane and Geo. H. Cook rode their wheels from here to Asbury Park Wednesday in 5½ hours. Cook rode back by wheel part of the way and by train the balance, and left Crane there for a day or two recreation.

M. M. Dunham, who is recovering from a long spell of sickness, goes out every day, but does not feel well enough to assume charge of his business at the office. His daughter, Miss Ida Dunham, makes an efficient clerk for him.

The Rev. Mr. Richards and H. B. Newhall will take their families in a chartered car to Lake Placid for a few weeks. Mr. and Mrs. Garigue, of Grace Court, are already there, and Dr. and Mrs. T. S. Davis and children go Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard A. Boyce, of the Somerset House, have just returned from a pleasure trip to the Thousand Islands and the Province of Ontario, Canada. They had an excellent time, and enjoyed the trip immensely.

The Rev. Mark Smalley, who until recently has been preaching in Texas, is at the home of his father, John Smalley, North Plainfield, in a very precarious condition. He was taken ill while in the West, and came home thinking the change would do him good.

Last Monday morning the little eleven-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Hummel, of Dunellen, died of cholera infantum; and was buried yesterday in the Presbyterian cemetery in North Plainfield. The many friends of the bereaved parents in this city will heartily sympathize with them in their affliction.

George Woodbridge Randolph, ("Fid"), the accommodating and obliging assistant at Maynard's sea-foam shampoo parlors, has just returned from a visit to Saratoga. "Fid" went up via the Troy boat, and had a stateroom which contained electric bells and other luxuries. The trip beat anything "Fid" had ever experienced, and he says he doesn't care whether his [illegible] is not paid this month or the next, either.

The Rev. Charles E. Herring left town Tuesday for a month's vacation.

Mrs. A. M. Gillard, of North Plainfield, is visiting friends at Bedminster.

Miss Marion Vickery, of Raritan, has been visiting Miss Cora Sheppard.

Miss Emma Sutphen is spending a week among the hills of Hunterdon.

Mrs. W. C. Ayres, of West Third street, is spending a month at Pottsville, Pa.

Miss Carrie Greene is visiting Mrs. David Rogers, of West Second street.

George M. Randall is at the Saunders House, Saunderstown, R. I., till Sept. 1.

Mr. and Mrs. Abner Bartlett, Jr., are at the Mahomet House, South Plymouth, Mass.

Miss Alice MacDonald, of Jersey City, is visiting Miss Mabel Force at Bound Brook.

Miss Clara Staats, of Somerville, has been visiting her Plainfield uncle W. J. Burnett.

Miss Lillian M. Walker, of Philadelphia, is visiting Miss Ada L. Wagner, Watchung avenue.

Miss Gertrude Volck, of Brooklyn, is visiting her aunt, Mrs. S. O. Doane, East Fourth street.

The Misses Livesey, of Park avenue, have returned from a pleasant visit to Philadelphia.

Miss Mabel Wilson, one of Edsall's efficient helpers, will spend her summer vacation at Belmar.

Patrons of the Jersey Central are glad to see Walter Durling of Somerville reinstated as conductor.

Morris VanArsdale and family spent Sunday in town with Mrs. VanArsdale's sister, Mrs. W. H. Brokaw.

Miss Irene Epner has given up her position as typewriter in M. M. Dunham's office, for another position.

Mrs. Constantine F. Balli, of Netherwood, has returned from a two weeks' visit at Bridgehampton, L. I.

Miss Lizzie Dunn, of West Fourth street, is spending a week with relatives at Neshanic and Clover Hill.

Mrs. O. T. Waring and family, of Park avenue, will spend August at one of Rhode Island's summer resorts.

Mrs. Andrew Lutkins and Master Louis M. Hummer left Saturday for a stay of two or more weeks at Westwood.

J. O. Powers, one of H. P. Reynolds's trustworthy clerks, is drinking in the salt air at Asbury Park this week.

Mrs. H. O. Newman is visiting Mrs. Henry C. Squires at her summer residence, Conklin, Broome county, N. Y.

J. M. Messersmith and family have returned from White Lake, Sullivan county, N. Y., where they had been since June 30.

Barney Kelly, formerly of this city, but now on the Brooklyn police force, has been spending a few days with friends here.

The restful quiet of old Manasquan, on the Jersey coast, is giving enjoyment to Mrs. E. P. Thorn, of 352 East Front street.

W. J. Woodruff and family, of Union avenue, left Saturday to spend the remainder of the summer at shore and mountain.

Dr. Pocock has the congratulations of all in the news that by the death of an uncle he has acquired a portion of a large estate in Ohio.

Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Martin and their young daughter will spend the week with Mrs. Martin's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Radford, West Front street.

Mr. and Mrs. Carman Dunn, of West Philadelphia, have returned home after a pleasant sojourn among their many Plainfield friends and relatives.

Mrs. J. Hervey Doane and Miss May and Master Clyde will spend a portion of the month of August on the Rockview farm, under Washington Rock.

Mrs. Robert L. Burnett left Plainfield to-day for Patchogue, where she will spend the month of August, going in September to Lake Hopatcong.

F. A. Church, of Craig place, has returned from Ghent, Columbia county, N. Y., where he and his wife have been enjoying farm life for over a month.

Miss Lawrence, of Hillside avenue, has left Plainfield for the remainder of the summer. She will spend some time at Flushing, Orange and Patchogue.

The Rev. Asa Reed Dilts was Tuesday welcomed back to Plainfield by many warm friends. He came to preach at the funeral of the late Rev. Marcus Ward Smalley.

Mrs. Wilkins and daughter Eva, of East Fifth street, have gone to Greenwich, Conn., to spend the month of August with Mrs. M. C. VanArsdale, who is a sister of Mrs. Wilkins.

Mr. and Mrs. Townsend Fellows, of Albany, are visiting Mr. Fellows's mother and sister Blanche, at their home on Duer street. Thence they will go to Spring Lake for two weeks.

Mrs. A. Hummer, of Annandale, with her granddaughter Miss Florence Hummer, is spending a few weeks with her sons, Louis A. and Charles Hummer of Somerset street, North Plainfield.

Mrs. J. A. Blatz, who had been ill for some time past, was prostrated again by seeing her laundress fall from the building at Somerset and Chatham streets last week. She is recovering gradually.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. H. N. Cadmus, of Brooklyn, spent Sunday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. L. E. Cole, 78 Duer street, teaching their lovely grandchild Helen to walk and call them grandpa and grandma.

William Wright, recent proprietor of the Arlington Hotel, North Plainfield, will start in a few days for the Adirondacks and Saratoga. Mrs. Wright's health is not good, and the change is made for the purpose of benefiting it.

Word has been received that Emil Berckman and John M. Schorb, Jr., of this city, who sailed for Europe July 17, arrived safe and sound at Southampton on the 25th, having a very pleasant voyage over. They will visit Hamburg, and probably go to France before returning home in September.

T. R. VanZandt, who has bought the grain and produce business of L. A. Hummer, at 204 Park avenue, will make 418 East Sixth street his home, and is domiciling his wife and family at that address. To make his acquaintance is a pleasure, and he will undoubtedly become one of Plainfield's most honored and successful business men.

The Rev. Dr. D. J. Yerkes visited Asbury Park yesterday afternoon and called on Frank H. Gardner, cashier of the City National Bank, who has been very ill at the Park for some time past. Dr. Yerkes found Mr. Gardner too ill to see anyone, even his most intimate friends, so he returned disappointed.

The death of the Rev. Marcus Ward Smalley was a particularly distressing blow to his young wife. She was Miss Jennie D. Runyon, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. S. Runyon of Lafayette place. The wedding took place only last fall, September 15. The funeral yesterday was attended by a large number of friends and relatives, and the services were tender and impressive.

Charles Benton VanWinkle, late with Walter L. Hetfield, Monday took charge of the New Jersey law business of Green & Codding, the well-known New York lawyers, who have just opened elegant offices in the Cook Bros' bank building, Westfield. Mr. VanWinkle is a painstaking and thoroughly informed attorney, and will do himself credit in his new and responsible field. Green & Codding will find him just the man to handle their New Jersey work, and Westfield people in need of legal advice or documents won't have to go from home now to secure them.

Royal Baking Powder

Absolutely Pure

A cream of tartar baking powder. Highest of all in leavening strength.—Latest U. S. Government Food Report.

ROYAL BAKING POWDER CO., 106 Wall St., N. Y.

PLAINFIELD'S UNFORTUNATES.

A QUARTETTE OF BAD ACCIDENTS IN TWO DAYS.

Painter Hiram Voorhees is Dying of His Fall—William Crawford and William Wilson Crushed by Jersey Central Trains, But Likely to Recover—Robt. Rushton Much Better.

(From The Press of July 31.)

Hiram Voorhees, the painter who fell from the second story to the cellar of W. D. Murray's new house on Ninth street, Saturday, and received severe internal injuries, besides breaking his collar-bone, is dying in Muhlenberg Hospital.

Two men are at the hospital undergoing treatment who were hurt by trains Saturday and Sunday.

William Crawford was found beside the track near Plainfield avenue at 8:45 Saturday night. His leg was badly crushed, and it was found necessary to amputate the limb, but thanks to the tender care of matron and surgeons the patient is doing well. It is not known by what train he was injured.

William Wilson, while intoxicated at the North avenue station, Sunday morning, about 10, attempted to board a passing coal train. He slipped, and his foot was crushed. He was removed to his home near the street-car house and afterward to the Muhlenberg Hospital, where the physicians are awaiting developments to know whether or not it will be necessary to amputate the limb. Wilson lost his other leg by the cars some time ago.

The recovery of both men is expected.

Robert Rushton, the man who was hurt Saturday morning in the Board of Trade building by falling from a trestle while hanging paper for Woolston & Buckle, the North avenue decorators, is about again to-day attending to his work. His injuries amounted to only a few bruises and slight cuts.

At 3 this afternoon Voorhees was reported still alive and Crawford doing well. Wilson's foot is worse, and will probably have to be amputated.

WONDERFUL MRS. BAKER.

Though Nearing 104, She Spends Every Birthday Anniversary with Relatives in Plainfield.

A. D. Hope writes to the Elizabeth Journal that James Clark of this city gave him, about a year ago, an account of a woman living within a short distance of Westfield, Mr. Clark's birthplace, who was in her 103d year, and said if he called on his sister, Miss Mary Clark, she would go with him to see the remarkable woman and introduce him. "Yesterday afternoon, therefore,"—writes Mr. Hope—"I called on Miss Clark, and we visited Mrs. Nancy Baker at her home, about halfway from Westfield to Springfield. She was born March 10, 1790, at Springfield, and has lived 68 years upon her farm, her present home. Her first husband was Stewart Mills, by whom she had six children, of whom four are still living. Her second husband, William Baker, died some twelve years ago. Mrs. Baker has always enjoyed good health; her faculties are still unimpaired, with the exception of a slight failure in seeing and hearing. She is very bright and cheery; her face fair and without wrinkles. She still takes an interest in her farm, but complains that they do not keep up the fences now as formerly. It was a great pleasure to see and talk with her. She said she was waiting patiently for her Saviour to call her home. Westfield has a remarkable list of aged persons who have lived there, but none, however, attained the age of Mrs. Nancy Baker."

Mrs. Baker is a great-great-grandmother in the George A. Moore family, and visits them once a year.

AHEAD IN EVERYTHING.

Even English Cricket Finds Champion Players in Plainfield.

At cricket, Saturday, the Plainfield team won another notable victory, defeating the crack Brooklyn players by the following overwhelming score:

PLAINFIELD.
N. Hendry, caught by	9
R. Shenk, run out	0
F. Wharton, stumped Thomas	10
H. Turner, bowled Dalchy	16
J. Arden, bowled Dalchy	19
R. Ryers, not out	5
S. Higham, bowled Dalchy	0
J. Stansfield, stumped Thomas	0
W. Clifton, bowled Dalchy	5
C. Burns, caught Thomas	1
R. Gow, bowled Ogden	1
T. Hendry, caught Bowne	8
Byes	15
Leg byes	8
Wides	1
Total	98
BROOKLYN.
J. Wood, caught Burns	2
T. Mellon, caught Arden	1
A. Moore, bowled Hendry	0
J. Jolly, bowled Arden	3
R. Dalchy, stumped Turner	2
J. Bowne, bowled Hendry	3
H. Walker, stumped Turner	0
J. Fairbrother, bowled Hendry	0
D. Thomas, not out	1
J. Ogden, caught Ryers	0
C. Ogden, caught Clifton	0
W. Gutridge, stumped Turner	1
Byes	2
Total	24

That's the Kind of an Officer He Is!

Street Commissioner Robert A. Meeker has of his own accord brought about another public benefit. The Press merely asked him to clear away the branches that obstructed the flow of water past the Orthodox Friends' meeting-house on East Front street. He has not only done this, but has persuaded the good Friends to let him remove the little bridge that was responsible for this choking up of the gutter. There'll be no more cause for complaint from that quarter.

Home Again from a Jolly Camp.

Bert Honeyman, Frank Blatz, Alvah Carey and George Taylor are home again from a week tenting at Budd's Lake. Two of the party drove from here with nearly a ton of equipment, and made the distance in ten hours, stopping over at a wayside inn during the heat of the day.

Scalded Her Foot.

Mrs. Geo. Voehl, of West Front street, upset a kettle of boiling water upon her right foot, Saturday evening, badly burning the instep and toes. The kettle caught in her apron while she was passing from one room to another.

Music for the Masses.

A movement is on foot to have a series of open-air concerts, the same as last season. Proprietor John E. [illegible] of the City Hotel lost money by the project in '92, but he is always willing to help in a good cause, and has proffered his front veranda to his band under the same conditions as last year.

GOOD RIDDANCE, THE HOODOO.

May the Board of Trade have No Worse Than the Crescent League's!

Members of the House Committee of the Board of Trade state that the house will not be ready for occupancy until later in the week, in spite of the statement made by another paper that it would be opened Monday. Woolston & Buckle are doing the decorating in their usual excellent manner, and the job will be one to be proud of when finished. The stone which bore the name of the Crescent League on the front wall has been removed, and a new one put in place informing the passers-by that the building is the home of the Board of Trade. The trim tablet is the gift of William C. Smith to the Board. The change of the stone will remind readers of The Press of the fact that was exclusively told in these columns at the time, that the old Crescent League tablet was made from an old gravestone and the name was cut on the back. To that fact many of the members of the League attributed the constant misfortune attending that organization. The Press sincerely hopes that with the removal of the alleged Hoodoo all traces of its accompanying bad luck will disappear.

HILLSIDE DEFEATED.

Bergen Point Carries Off the Ribbon Banner that Walz and Simmonds Strove for.

The last hope of the Hillside Tennis Club, that of winning both matches Saturday at Jersey City and tieing all the teams, proved a vain one. Although the team did good work in the second match, the first was played loosely and lost easily. In spite of the heavy rains in the morning, the courts between Highland and Glenwood avenues, Jersey City Heights, were in excellent condition; and a small crowd of people turned out to see the play.

Lemonade, cake and iced tea were served under a huge Japanese umbrella, and the spectators hugged the little spots of shade on the courts trying to keep out of the sun. The results of the play were as follows, Simmonds and Walz winning their match against Jersey City by accurate lobbing and good net play:

FIRST COURTS.

Howard and Smith, Bergen Point, beat Walz and Simmonds, Plainfield, 6—4, 4—6, 6—1.

Howard and Smith, Bergen Point, beat Post and Strong, Jersey City, 6—3, 6—2.

Walz and Simmonds, Plainfield, beat Post and Strong, Jersey City, 7—5, 10—8.

The score in matches:

Bergen Point won 4, lost 2; Jersey City won 2, lost 2; Plainfield won 2, lost 4.

After the play, the teams dined with Mr. Post at Jersey City and passed a most enjoyable evening.

THIS TRICK GETTING COMMON.

It Was Worked Successfully on Uncle Dan Roberts Only a Few Days Before.

Two young men, one described as slim and the other rather stout with dark mustache, went to the Railroad House, Somerville, Thursday, pretending to be drummers for a wholesale house in New York. Saturday they hired a rig from G. R. Frall, the liveryman, and drove to this city. They put up at Boice's Hotel in North Plainfield, and had the horse fed, stating that they were going to call on some customers who would not be home until dusk. Mr. Boice had the horse cared for, and kept it until late at night, when a man came down from Somerville in response to a telegram received by the owner from the alleged drummers, dated New York. Mr. Frall was glad to get his rig, but the expenses go to the loss side of the ledger.

Doing Like Other Good Banks.

The Plainfield Dime Savings Institution has deemed it advisable and to the best interests of itself and its depositors to follow the example of the New York and Brooklyn banks and take advantage of its legal right to require its depositors to give a notice of 30 or 60 days, according to the amount, before withdrawing any deposits. The Savings Institution has always held the interest of its depositors first in its consideration, and is entitled to every confidence.

Plainfield at the Park.

[From The Bradleyville Journal.]

Plainfield forever! Again she sent fourteen coaches loaded with pleasure seekers to Asbury Park. They knew the ropes and had something cut out for every minute of their stay. They were early birds, and departed for the "Colorado of the East" at 5:30.

One Plainfield boy had a high old time to relate when he got back. He went sailing on the Emma B., got seasick, lost his hat, had an involuntary bath, and arrived at the station half an hour after his train had gone. His hat was chalked through by a regular.

Why the Girls Flock to the Shore.

A handsome figure on the famous boardwalk at Asbury Park, recent evenings, has been William Thiers, son of the Somerset street dental surgeon. The doctor and his beautiful young wife are justly proud of the son, for he has developed into a remarkably fine young man, and in his cadet uniform he makes so stalwart and dashing an appearance that the gay Summer belles of the Park flock in numbers about him, delighted to promenade under his escort or to sit beside him on the sand in the moonlight and listen to the romance of the sea waves' song.

An Attractive House is The Arlington.

Henry Windham, a popular young man in this city, who was recently a partner in the Central Hotel management, has gone in business for himself. He has purchased the Arlington Hotel on Somerset street at the corner of Greenbrook road, and has the place fitted up in first-class style. Besides all the modern conveniences for summer boarders, he is in shape to accommodate transients. He has a bar and bowling alley attached, together with a pool room.

No Muzzel, No Straps, No Nothing.

The following communication comes to The Press with a request for unabridged insertion. It is therefore printed as written, and if the dogs complained of are any worse than the letter of the complainant it must be a very sad state of affairs:

NO NUISANCE.

I do not think the law is very stringent on Dogs, for every day they unlock the houses up Cor Central Av from second to fourth streets if you geese are not fasten right in your yard, if your kitchen door open right in. if your cellar door open, in there is pan milk, or dish meat, big ones and little ones, no muzzel no straps no nothing.

Entertaining and Diligent.

Editor Steel, whose newspaper, the Newark Evening News, leads the State in excellence and circulation, has a kind word to say of the change in The Press management. He says in his journal:

Walter Irving Clarke has been called to the editorship of the Daily Press of Plainfield. Mr. Clarke succeeds J. A. Demarest, who has accepted the United States Consulship at Brockville, Canada. Mr. Clarke is a young man who has had an excellent newspaper training. He is an entertaining writer and a diligent worker.

The Usual August Trade Dullness.

The cutting department of the Schepflin & Co. clothing manufactory closed Saturday, and most of the hands were laid off. This is said to be not on account of the financial condition of the company, but because of the falling off in orders.

WELCOME HOME, MR. MAYOR.

THE BOROUGH'S CHIEF RULER BACK FROM EUROPE.

He Tells The Press About His Trip, and Talks Interestingly of the Great Work He Went to Superintend—His Machinery Succeeds Where the Great Old Romans Failed—Ready Now for North Plainfield's Business Again—What He Thinks of the North Avenue Sewer Matter.

Mayor William L. Saunders returned home Saturday on the steamship Campania, after an extended visit to Europe. A representative of The Press called on Mr. Saunders soon after he reached home, and found him suffering with a sty on his eyelid, and endeavoring to keep cool with the mercury out of sight. In spite of his discomfort, he talked freely on subjects of general and local interest, and told The Press about the colossal engineering work, in the interest of which he went abroad, that is going on at the "Iron Gates" of the Danube, where the river forces its way through the Carpathian mountains in Hungary near Servia.

"I spent two weeks in London and one in Paris,"—said Mr. Saunders—"but most of my time was in the East, investigating the work going on in the Danube. The present work has been in progress since 1884, and much has already been accomplished. The money for the undertaking has been supplied in a great measure by Hungary and Servia, which for a long time past have imposed a toll on all vessels passing their borders.

"The river flowing down through Austria from its source near that of the Rhine, swelled in volume and breadth by the numerous tributaries, is, at the point where it passes through the Carpathian mountains near the town of Orsova, confined between two huge cliffs not 200 feet apart at the surface of the river and towering up on either side to the immense height of 400 metres (over 1,200 feet). The peculiar formation of the limestone rocks which lie in strata at every possible angle and jut out in great masses, has caused the name of The Castle to be given to this pass. The river, being suddenly confined in this small space, rushes through with great speed and force, so that it makes navigation up stream nearly impossible. This difficulty is being overcome by blasting out the whole side of the cliff and widening the river so that it will flow peacefully where it had rushed for centuries. Just below The Castle the river widens and suddenly changes into a rapid shallow stream. This forms the so-called Iron Gates that render this part of the river impassable except to very small craft that are able to run the rapids. One side of this open space in the river has been dammed, the water pumped out, and a channel cut out of the rock 260 feet wide and nearly a mile long and lined throughout with masonry. This work is nearly completed, and nine months more will suffice to finish it. When it is completed, the water will be let in, and the Danube will be passable to all craft from its mouth to a point beyond Vienna."

The special machinery used in drilling and dredging the hard rock under water is the part of the work most interesting to Mr. Saunders, as he was the first to introduce its use in this country as well as abroad, and it is through his efforts that the work has gone on so satisfactorily. A number of boats are fitted with this machinery, and employed in dredging out a channel in various parts of the river near the works.

Mr. Saunders told much more that was of interest, but lack of space forbids its insertion. One interesting thing about the work is that the Romans endeavored to accomplish the same thing by building a canal around the rapids, and the remains of the attempt may still be seen. The Emperor Trajan in the First Century built a road of timbers along the cliff where the river goes through the mountains, and the holes in the rock that held the supports may still be seen. Having no explosives, the engineers of the Emperor were obliged to chisel holes into the surface of the rock in which the supporting timbers were placed, braced underneath by more timbers set at an angle, and on those projecting beams the road was built.

From his work on the river in the Far East, the subject of conversation turned into a much smaller stream but one which may just at present have a greater interest for Plainfielders.

When Mayor Saunders was told of the condition of Green brook because of the sewage, and of the opposition to a public sanitary sewage system of some of the wealthy men who use the brook to empty their drains into, he expressed his astonishment that anyone who had the welfare of Plainfield in the least at heart should do anything that would, for a moment hinder in any way the building of a system of sewers that would not only improve the sanitary condition of the town but would also give it a much better reputation as a place of residence.

"It is not for North Plainfield to inaugurate a sewerage system"—said the Mayor.—"Plainfield is larger and richer, and we have signified our desire to co-operate with her in building a system that will be effective for both sides of the brook. To my mind there is no doubt whatever, First, that such a system is needed; and Second, that the investigations which were made revealed the system best adapted to the needs of both city and borough; and it seems to me little short of a crime for anyone to stand wilfully in the way of its earliest possible completion. We do not want to force an issue,"—continued Mr. Saunders—"but we would be allowed by law, if no action is taken in the matter, to make it very unpleasant for all those connected with the North avenue sewer. It might make the sanitary condition worse, however, instead of better, until sewers are put in, for if the connections with the sewer were cut off there would be no place at all to deposit the waste matter, as there is absolutely no place in the neighborhood for cesspools."

When asked if he intended to send any advice or instructions to the Borough Council before the next meeting, which takes place this week Friday, he laughed and said that he felt quite strange here, and should have to ask questions himself.

Christ Church Election.

At the recent annual business meeting of the First Church of Christ, pastor Hand presiding, the following officers were elected:

Elders—A. J. Stewart, B. W. Hand, J. Shultz.

Deacons—J. J. Ackerman, D. Bush, J. R. Dayton, H. A. Moore.

Deaconesses—Mrs. J. H. Staats, Mrs. D. Bush, Mrs. J. R. Dayton, Mrs. H. A. Moore.

Organist—D. Rockafellow.

Assistant Organist—Mrs. B. W. Hand.

Chorister—B. W. Hand.

Assistant Chorister—H. VanMiddlesworth.

Treasurer—J. Shultz.

Secretary—H. VanMiddlesworth.

Attorney DeMeza for the City.

On account of the absence of Corporation Counsel Craig A. Marsh, Attorney George W. DeMeza will represent the city August 17 in the case of the city against Annie Fisher for disturbing the peace and calling Lulu Henderson names. Ex-Judge W. R. Codington will defend Lulu. The girls are both colored.

One Good Egg Deserved Another.

Frank Richter, a Somerset street barber, has a curiosity in an egg, which his wife bought a day or two ago, and which contained another egg inside, with a hard shell on.

THE WHEELMEN'S EXPRESS.

Bicycles Being Developed into Baggage Wagons and Furniture Vans.

Shortly before 2 Monday afternoon a flying wheelman appeared for a few seconds on Fifth street near Madison avenue, turned up Central avenue towards Sixth street, and in three vibrations of a butterfly's wing was lost to sight. Not, however, before the camera of at least one pair of eyes had obtained a snap shot of him and his burden. Of this latter, more anon. The result of the shot hangs now, a picture on memory's wall forever.

Distinguished from his fellows, yet unheralded, he came and went like a meteor —this maker of history, this marker of an epoch in the evolution and revolution of the wheel.

Talk not to the fin de siecle of the banner of the strange device, nor yet that scaler of virgin heights who bore it. He was very well indeed, for our forefathers, and in the old time before them ere yet our pioneer was in embryo, but where oh, where is that ornate standard-bearer now?

In the expressive, if familiar parlance of the day "He is out of sight".

No high-sounding scroll carried the record-breaker whom we celebrate, but mounted on a slender framework in front of him were two goodly specimens of the modern traveler's trunk, zinc-covered, iron-bound, brass-studded, and of fair proportions.

Old men and infants, young men and maidens, lunch-baskets, books, parcels, shawls, coats, ribbons, flowers, handkerchiefs, lemons, sponges, rocking chairs, etc., have flown by your reporter's coign of vantage; but never, never, never before, have these eyes taken a mental photograph of two trunks, with but a single head, on wheels! What next?

SNAP SHOT.

14 Debarred from Fellowship.

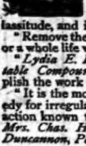
The First Church of Christ people denounce as the invention of an enemy the slanderous story published in sensational Sunday papers about them. They say they were forced regretfully to disunite 14 ungodly ones from church membership, but deny that there was any row whatever among them.

A Mother's Duty.

"Watch your daughter's physical development.

"Nature has provided a time for purification, and if the channels are obstructed, the entire system is poisoned, and misery comes.

"Irregularities from any cause, at any age, are sure indications of organic trouble.



"With irregularities come disturbances of the stomach and kidneys, violent headaches, shooting pains, extreme lassitude, and irritability.

"Remove the trouble at once, or a whole life will be sacrificed.

"Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound will accomplish the work speedily.

"It is the most effective remedy for irregular or suspended action known to the world."—Mrs. Chas. Hines, Box 212, Duncannon, Pa.

All druggists sell it. Address in confidence, Lydia E. Pinkham Med. Co., Lynn, Mass. Mrs. Pinkham's Liver Pills, 25 cents.

FRANCIS TO CATCH HERE.

Fritz the Fat Boy Going Away—The Team Getting Better Patronage Abroad Than at Home.

As predicted in these columns, Fritz has asked for and secured his release from the Crescent base-ball team, and Manager Keller has secured for his place Francis, as The Press recommended. Francis is a favorite here, and his accession will in no way weaken the team.

The Fishkill local paper is in an ecstasy of admiration over the Crescents' great work in drubbing the team of that town. It says:

For the second time this season only, the Hiltons were beaten yesterday, and nothing else could be expected, as the Crescents won the New Jersey championship last season, and are considered a team way up in their business. They are all big men and genuine sluggers in every sense of the word, as was evidenced by the way they slugged Leith at any and all times they desired. Baeden pitched for the visitors, and throws a straight, fast ball, which the Hiltons had no trouble in finding, but their hits were not bunched, and a little hard luck in knocking out long fly fouls, which ordinarily would have been fair, succeeded in losing the game for them, after they led in the second inning by a score of 6 to 2. From this time out the game was a case of kicking throughout. Umpire Toomey's decisions, although fair, not seeming to suit either club or the audience. The features of the game were a long fly over the right field fence by Murphy, and a home run by McCloskey, with three men on bases. The catcher for the Crescents, (who is a fat boy) kept the audience in laughter throughout the game. The Crescents defeated the Poughkeepsie's two games this week, and as the latter club come here to-morrow the Hiltons should have a fair chance of winning. The score was 20 to 10.

Manager Keller in the New York Sun to-day advertises for some good team to give him a guarantee game away from Plainfield, Saturday, August 12. That he will get an excellent guarantee is certain, for the Crescents are appreciated everywhere outside of their own town and have a reputation that makes them a desirable team to play against. Let it be advertised in any place but Plainfield that the champion Crescents will play, and gratifying gate receipts result. But how is it in their own town? The attendances are not large enough to pay expenses, and only by out-of-town games can the deficiency be met. It is humiliating to a lover of the great national game to confess that Plainfield has not sufficient public spirit to support decently and as it ought the best base-ball team it has ever had, but it is the truth. A fine base-ball team such as the Crescents is a good advertisement for the town, and the town ought to support it.

The grand-stands of the Crescent baseball field get the full sweep of the summer breezes. The games afford the best of sport. The wire-netted stand is free for the gentler sex. Then no one should stay away from next Saturday's game. The great Brown boys are coming, with the full Woodbridge team to back 'em.

The Sun speaks of the Crescents as "one of the strongest teams of this vicinity.

The Passaic Bridge Trouble.

Contractor J. O. Cooper denies much that has been said about the Passaic bridge trouble. He never stated that he would not change the work, and that he has been paid only $800, not $365. He further says that Colthar, the builder, has not done his work as it should be: that no matter what his past record is, he has made a mistake this time. Colthar was reported as having been paid only $50; Mr. Cooper says the amount is $145.

THAT RAILROAD COMING SURE.

Encouraging Reports by the Engineering Corps—Four Million Capital Back of It.

The great electric railway scheme which, as announced in these columns Saturday, is to connect Plainfield with a number of other New Jersey towns, and which is purposed to open up the First mountain as a magnificent site for homes, is well backed financially. The undertaking, it is believed, will be an assured success. The Newark Evening News says that there is at least $4,000,000 back of it, and the men who are to handle the big undertaking have been in the business of railroad construction before, and all are well posted. A. D. Thompson of this city is one of the most active and enthusiastic of the projectors.

The engineer, who is at present going over the proposed route, is expected to render a report within a fortnight, and the company will then be able to give out more definite information as to what course the road will take to make proper connections with various railroads.

"Everything in connection with the enterprise will be as complete as money can make it"—said one of the interested capitalists. "The work of the engineer so far has been very encouraging to the company."

SMUGGLED RUM INTO JAIL.

A Prisoner Who Had Sobered Up Was Made Drunk Again.

Marshal Pangborn of North Plainfield had occasion to arrest John Burke, Sunday night, for being fighting drunk. Burke was shut up in the North Plainfield lock-up, and was left to get sober.

Monday, the weather being extremely hot, the marshal left the outer door of the jail open, and, being called away for a moment, he did not consider it necessary to shut it. Shortly after he returned, Burke began showing strong symptoms of intoxication, and soon grew wild and noisy. The acute Marshal saw at once that some one had smuggled liquor into the jail during his absence, and he set to work to find out the culprit. After some skillful detective work, he managed to locate the evil-doer, and confronted him with his misdeeds. The man confessed all, and said he would n't do so any more. He was fined $5, and released with a warning.

CAN'T STAND HIS TRADE.

The Smell of Paint Makes Painter Fulton Deathly Ill.

LeGrande Fulton, of Clinton avenue, was stricken with painter's colic, yesterday afternoon, and his condition was so bad that it required the combined efforts of three strong men to hold him.

Fulton was formerly employed by the Jersey Central Railroad, as a car painter in the Elizabethport shops, and last New Year's Day he was taken ill with the painter's colic. He rallied under medical treatment, and finally gave up the trade. Yesterday he went to the shops again, and was taken sick. He reached home about 4, and in the yard the cramps again set him wild. Mrs. Fulton called in three men, who were at work in the fields, and they remained with the sick man over night. Dr. Brakeley, of Dunellen, was summoned, but it was a long time before medical aid could relieve him.

—The frolicsome youths who started for Feltville on a bathing expedition, Monday night, nearly lost one of the party. He got out in water "over his head", and being unable to swim called for help. He was rescued by some of the expert swimmers.

An Open Letter From Clothing Builders to Clothing Buyers.

We make Clothing, you buy it. You buy Clothing ready made because it is cheaper.

There are different kinds of ready made. Have you ever investigated how different?

We show you the best that's made, the tailor made, the kind the tailor would make you to order.

In many instances you'll not be able to notice the difference in make between ours and theirs, but the difference in price will open your eyes.

The tailor's prices are about double ours and he furnishes you no better style, fit, finish, trim of fabric.

Why his big price?

He makes for the few; we for thousands. The wise and knowing are wearing OUR SUPERIOR CLOTHING and saving money.

See our grand line of SPRING SUITS between $10 and $20.

MCGREGOR & CO.,

850 and 852 Broad Street,

NEWARK, N. J.

CANNON'S

MARKET MULBERRY MECHANIC STS

NEWARK.

Furniture, Carpets, Upholstery, Bedding, Stoves, Refrigerators, Baby Carriages, &c.

YOU CAN COMPLETELY FURNISH YOUR HOUSE, WITHOUT LEAVING OUR STORES.

PLAIN FIGURES, CASH OR CREDIT.

LARGEST HOUSE OUTFITTERS IN NEW JERSEY

$35.00 TO CHICAGO AND RETURN,

Including Hotel accommodations for five days at

FRANK'S

REDUCED RATES

Railroad and Steam-ship Ticket Agency,

345 and 347 BROADWAY, Cor. Leonard St., N. Y.

Lowest Rates to all parts of the World. Tickets purchased and exchanged

Sleeping Berths reserved. Baggage transferred.

MEMBER AMERICAN TICKET BROKERS' ASSOCIATION.

6 13 6mos

As We Were Saying

The purchase of a musical instrument is an important step. You don't buy a Piano for to-morrow, or day after, but for a long term of years. Saving on the price at the expense of the quality is about as foolish a thing as can well be thought of. We have sifted through the world of Pianos; those we have kept we know to be the best; Steinway, Gabler, Vose, Sterling and Brau-Muller. We are so sure of our judgment that we give a written guarantee with every instrument we sell.

S. D. LAUTER COMPANY,

657 and 659 Broad Street, Newark, N. J.

p 1 26 6m-d 1 26 6m

—ELY'S CREAM BALM—Cleanses the Nasal Passages, Allays Pain and Inflammation, Heals the Sores, Restores Taste and Smell, and Cures

CATARRH

Gives Relief at once for Cold in Head. Apply into the Nostrils.——It is Quickly Absorbed. 50c. Druggists or by mail. ELY BROS., 56 Warren St., N. Y.

THAT "ROT" FROM PLAINFIELD.

FOUNDER BRADLEY HAS BEEN GROSSLY MISREPRESENTED.

No Negroes Have Been Ordered from the Asbury Park Board Walk, and Plainfield's Irate Colored Man Would Better Draw in His Horns.

The Asbury Park Daily Journal is very emphatic on the Negro question at that resort, and has had its ire aroused by the sensation which a Plainfield Negro and a Plainfield space-writer for New York morning papers have striven to build up for their own vainglory and profit. The Journal stamps as crackbrained the authors of the Plainfield attempt at sensation, heedless of the fact that the space-writer whom it includes in this scathing category is the chap who in his Plainfield paper is continually criticising the work of New York correspondents and must therefore himself be guiltless of all error and all fake-work. The Journal says:

A fine specimen of the rot being scattered over the country by crack-brained people, pretending to be acting in the interests of the colored population at Asbury Park, is the subjoined telegram from Plainfield, which appeared in yesterday's Sun. It is exceedingly ludicrous. The State League of Colored Republicans will burn their fingers in trying to make political capital over the matter:

> There is every indication that the action of Mr. Bradley in expelling colored people from the boardwalk at Asbury Park is likely to play an important part in politics this fall.
>
> William A. Kline, Secretary of the State League of Colored Republicans, who lives at Plainfield, told your correspondent that the League have taken the matter up, and that at a meeting to be held Friday, August 4, a series of resolutions, which have been already prepared, will be adopted in which a demand will be made for equal rights for the colored people.
>
> If Mr. Bradley refuses to reconsider his action, then some plan will be formulated to bring to bear the pressure of those high in authority in the Republican party to have the obnoxious order rescinded. Colored people all over the State, he says, feel very bitterly about the matter, and he is inclined to predict serious political trouble unless the matter is straightened out.

For the information of Mr. Kline and his League it may be stated that Mr. Bradley has expelled no colored people from the boardwalk, neither has he any intention of doing so unless they are disorderly and disturb the peace. Colored people still have the unrestricted freedom of the boardwalk, and the only rule they must obey is the following, which is posted up in three or four places:

> COLORED PEOPLE ARE REQUESTED
> NOT TO OCCUPY
> THE SEATS IN THIS PAVILION
> JAMES A. BRADLEY, Prop.

That is all; and Mr. Bradley has explained that it was only after long and serious consideration that he made up his mind to do this. Complaints from summer cottagers and hotel guests became so numerous about the colored people crowding into the best seats in the pavilions that something had to be done.

The League should adopt the course pursued by Lawyer Cowan, of New York, who came here last Sunday expecting to see the colored people confined in pens, like Andersonville and Libby. Mr. Cowan had read the reports about the oppression and ostracism of his race. He had seen them in the papers, and of course supposed they were true; but he had the good sense to make personal inquiries, and after viewing the situation thoroughly he went home believing that he and others had been stuffed with a woolly canard.

Secretary Kline and the League should not shoot wildly in the air. Let them do as Lawyer Cowan did. Colored people, despite numerous protests to the contrary, are in clover when they reach Asbury Park.

MR. WATSON SERMONIZES.

While Not Defending Johnny Tayler, He Does Censure Mr. Parmele.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE PRESS:—Lemuel W. Serrell puts the question: "Are we savages, or are we civilized?" Does the gentleman mistake his own identity? Is he passionless? Is he not aware that there is no wild beast of the jungle so savage, so bloodthirsty, so cruel, and so devoid of pity, as human beings driven to desperation by the beastly acts of their kind? Would he remain passive as an inanimate piece of stone and see his children abused? If so, he is a different being from any who inhabit this world.

It is all very well to preach "Abide by the law" of the land. It sounds well. And it would be right, if that law was impartial: but is it so? Ask the universe, and it will answer "No!" The rich are protected, and the poor must pay compound interest to balance the scales of justice.

And here we have an outburst of eloquence in behalf of a big, strong man who binds a little boy to a stairway while he goes for a policeman, for the sake of a few sour apples, to try to scare a thirteen-year-old boy with the "majesty of the law". Where does the civilization come in there? Would it not have been better and more in accord with the teachings of the God he professes to worship, to have quietly advised that boy, to point out the error of his way, to appeal to his sense of right and wrong? To use such harsh measures with an infant may have been the result of civilization, but it was not the kind that our Lord died on the cross to perpetuate.

In the eyes of the law the mob was wrong; but let that law be just, and the people will have confidence in it to avenge their wrongs, and they will never seek to take it into their own hands.

I will illustrate by an incident that occurred in a town where I lived to prove that the law does not do its duty.

In a large paper mill it was the custom at certain hours of the night for some of the men to rest for an hour or so. One night a young man about 22 years old lay down on a heap of broken paper to have a rest till his turn on duty came. He went to sleep, and directly over his head a line of shafting was running at a high rate of speed, quite close to the wall. Two middle-aged men were passing through, and, seeing the boy asleep, thought they would be funny. One of them tied a rope around his feet, and then threw the other end of it around the revolving-shaft. The idea was to catch the end of the rope in their hands, and pull his feet up, and so scare him; but to their horror the rope lapped around the shaft, and wound the boy up. In less than a moment he was a mishapen mass of flesh and bones, smashed to a pulp. And nothing was done to those men; they were not even discharged from the mill. What kind of law is that to to abide by? It is right to have law, but let it be dealt out to its fullest extent, to rich and poor alike; let the people once have confidence in that law, and no such scenes will be enacted in the streets of Plainfield, or any other town, to drag its name to the dust.

J. H. WATSON.

The Only Bass He Knows Is Ale.

A Somerset street pool-room keeper yesterday purchased an eight-pound German carp under the illusion that it was a black bass, and paid fifty cents for it. By this time he doubtless thinks bass a flat, tasteless fish.

Mounted Police for the Boulevard.

George W. Moore, of East Front street, says there will be a resurrection in the City Council, next year, and that the Fourth ward will have either a mounted police squad, or bicycles for the officers now on duty there.

TO DEVELOP THE MOUNTAINS.

PLAINFIELD'S DREAM TO BE REALIZED AT LAST.

Such Energetic Men as A. D. Thompson, Who Makes a Success of Everything He Touches, Are in This New Railway Scheme.

A syndicate of New York, Philadelphia and New Jersey capitalists is reported by the Newark Evening News to be preparing to build an electric railway between Paterson and New Brunswick, passing through or near Montclair, Orange, South Orange, Bloomfield, Plainfield and Metuchen, skirting the Orange Mountains for thirty miles, and connecting the Pennsylvania Railroad with the New Jersey Central, Delaware, Lackawanna and Western, Morris and Essex, New York and Greenwood Lake, and New York, Lake Erie and Western, and with the street car systems and railroads to Newark.

The line will be about forty miles in length. It will open a large area of fine suburban residence property.

The most improved electric system will be employed, and if the storage battery is sufficiently developed to be practicable it will be utilized, it is said.

The road, according to report, will be practically a north and south line and will connect with the present electric systems in Paterson, Orange, Newark and Plainfield.

The company will be capitalized at a high figure. The New Jersey Improvement Company has been organized under the laws of New Jersey to build the road and handle land along the line.

The men mentioned as officers and directors of the concern are as follows:

President and General Manager, Jacob L. Stadelman, of Bala, Pa.; Secretary, John N. Bethel, of Philadelphia, Pa.; Treasurer, Charles E. W. Smith, Morristown, N. J.; Directors, Lewis C. Mann, of Philadelphia, Pa., Rowland F. Hill, New York, William N. Mills, Boston, Mass., and A. D. Thompson, Plainfield, N. J.

The proposed line is being surveyed for the purpose of location by Major John Rank, of Philadelphia, chief engineer of the company. The new company will work in harmony with existing lines, and it is the expressed intention to benefit rather than interfere with their traffic.

One purpose of the company is to make the elegant mountain sites back of Plainfield accessible to home-seekers. The railway will skirt the mountains at the base.

BETTER COME BACK TO BULL-FROG.

Kennedy Falls Into the Hands of the Philistines Away from Home.

Joseph Natale, a saloon-keeper of 166 Eighth avenue, Newark, was arrested on Friday charged with atrocious assault and battery. Natale was formerly a special police officer, but of late has devoted himself to the saloon business.

Yesterday morning Edward Kennedy, who is known in Plainfield as "first Mayor of Bull-Frog City", and whose son is a hackman here, went into the saloon and ordered a drink. Trouble arose between him and Natale and the latter, it is charged, struck him over the head with some blunt weapon, felling him to the floor.

Kennedy lay there in a half conscious condition, and the saloon-keeper, evidently fearing he had injured the man seriously, became alarmed and was anxious to get him out of the place. He was unable to carry him, so he caught hold of his feet and dragged him out of the door down three stone steps to the sidewalk and then pushed him down the basement steps, where he left him.

People in the neighborhood who witnessed Natale's brutal conduct informed Officer Cochran of what had taken place. The officer found Kennedy just as the saloon-keeper had left him. He was only partially conscious, and it was with difficulty that his name and address could be learned. He was bleeding profusely from the nose and mouth, and also had a gash on the head where he said Natale had hit him.

Cochran then placed the Italian under arrest and sent for the patrol wagon, in which Kennedy was taken to St. Michael's Hospital.

Natale when taken to the station-house denied having struck Kennedy and insisted that the man had fallen down the steps. At the hospital it was impossible to learn the extent of Kennedy's injuries, although it is not believed that his skull was fractured as was at first feared.

Natale will be held until the nature of Kennedy's wounds is clearly determined.

A PAINTER'S TERRIBLE FALL.

He Landed on a Pile of Stones, Clear from the Second Story.

Hiram Voorhees, of Duer st., an employe of Marsh, Ayers & Co., has been working on a new house being erected by William D. Murray, on Ninth street, between Madison and Arlington avenues.

Saturday as he was getting ready to stop work he remembered he had to see a carpenter on the second floor, about some work.

He went up to the second floor, and was obliged to walk across some narrow boards. In doing so, he caught hold of a beam which was not securely fastened, and it gave way, throwing him backwards, through a hatchway, to the cellar.

He came down on a pile of stone, with considerable force, fracturing his collar-bone and cutting an artery in his head, besides inflicting other injuries.

He was taken to the Muhlenberg Hospital, where he is being well cared for by the doctors and matron, who hope to bring him around all right.

Billy Lee's Good Work.

The Washington, Warren county, base-ball team was defeated recently by Somerville, yet The Star, Washington's newspaper, has only praise to say of the umpire:

> Mr. Lee, formerly third baseman for the Crescents, of Plainfield, umpired at Somerville Saturday, and his work was very satisfactory to both teams. He thoroughly understood the game, and in every instance rendered honest and final decisions. These two good qualities which he possessed, formed what is now getting to be almost unknown—a capable umpire.

Why? Why is Strictly Pure White Lead the best paint? Because it will outlast all other paints, give a handsomer finish, better protection to the wood, and the first cost will be less.

If Barytes and other adulterants of white lead are "just as good" as Strictly Pure White Lead, why are all the adulterated white leads always branded Pure, or

"Strictly Pure White Lead?"

This Barytes is a heavy white powder (ground stone), having the appearance of white lead, worthless as a paint, costing only about a cent a pound, and is only used to cheapen the mixture. What shoddy is to cloth, Barytes is to paint. Be careful to use only old and standard brands of white lead.

"Atlantic" "Bradley" "Brooklyn" "Jewett" "Ulster"

are strictly pure, "Old Dutch" process brands, established by a lifetime of use.

For colors use National Lead Co.'s Pure White Lead Tinting Colors with Strictly Pure White Lead.

For sale by the most reliable dealers in paints everywhere.

If you are going to paint, it will pay you to send to us for a book containing information that may save you many a dollar; it will only cost you a postal card to do so.

NATIONAL LEAD CO.,
1 Broadway, New York.

To Succeed Mr. Kyte of Fanwood.

(From The Elizabeth Journal.)

Mr. Codding, of Westfield, is named as a possible candidate for Assembly in the Third district. An honorable and capable gentleman and a strong candidate. Westfield has sent such excellent legislative timber to Trenton in former years that her claims are well worthy of proper consideration. But Rahway has also an excellent candidate to present in the person of Editor Rollinson of the Advocate. An able man, a thorough Republican, and a man well posted as to the needs of Union county. Rahway, too, has heretofore sent excellent men to the Legislature, and is entitled to consideration. The Third district is rich in men who would honor the State and the party in the halls of legislation.

Colored Cyclists to Race Again.

The colored bicycle race of Thursday is to be repeated, over the 25-mile course, September 15. James Babbitt, Wm. Kline and Bert Harvey are arranging the race, and three more medals will be put up for competition.

—George L. Henry is suffering from injury to his left eye, caused by its being struck by a chip of steel on which he was working.

—The building at the corner of Park avenue and Second street, owned by Martin Bros., is being beautified by the painter's brush.

—The First Baptists broke two records on their recent excursion. They took the largest number of persons ever conveyed on a Plainfield excursion, and made the quickest time, returning from the Park in an hour and 25 minutes, without a mishap.

—The new model restaurant in Hotel Grenada is already accorded liberal patronage. Miller Bros. have established a restaurant tastefully furnished and fully equipped for the finest service. Choice table d'hote dinner is served at 25 cents, and in the Grenada restaurant your meals will be served in comfort and style.

HISTORY OF A CRIME.

Interesting Data About the Mountain Meadows Outrage.

Why the People of Arkansas Have No Patience with Mormon Missionaries—Brigham Young and His Angels of Darkness.

[Special Salt Lake (Utah) Letter.]

Occasionally, a short account of the mobbing of a Mormon missionary in Arkansas or in Mississippi is read. The act is attributed to the natural repulsiveness of all decent people to polygamists. But, underneath, is a deep and undying hatred by the people of those states against Mormons. It dates back to the memorable and infamous "Mountain Meadows massacre," of more than a third of a century, and that is why the people of those two states, especially, make no secret of expelling or killing all Mormon missionaries that may come within their boundaries.

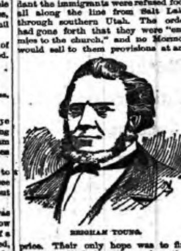
At an annual conference one "Apostle," Parley S. Pratt, was sent to Arkansas as a missionary early in 1856. Near Little Rock, he abused the hospitality of a man named McLean by eloping with his wife, although Pratt had several wives at Salt Lake. McLean overtook Pratt and killed him.

When the news reached Salt Lake, Brigham Young, president of the church, and who was also governor of the territory, appointed by the president of the United States, issued an order that no gentiles should pass through the territory of Utah. This was proven at the trial of John D. Lee, one of the leaders of the massacre at Mountain Meadows.

Shortly afterward a caravan of immigrants, numbering 123 people, entered Utah. They were from Arkansas and Mississippi. At Salt Lake City it was the custom for immigrants to camp a few days, purchase provisions, replenish their stock, etc. But the governor of Utah, Brigham Young, ordered them to move on, and as commander of the Utah militia he summoned them to enforce his order. The militia was really the "Nauvoo Legion," which was under the immediate command of "Apostle" George A. Smith, John D. Lee, "Bishop" Dame, and reinforced by "Bill" Hickman, chief of the "Danites," who commanded a special force of Danites, or "Destroying Angels."

A "church council" was called, and an order was issued for the assassination of the immigrants. This was also proved at the trial.

Although the crops had been abundant the immigrants were refused food all along the line from Salt Lake through southern Utah. The order had gone forth that they were "enemies to the church," and no Mormon would sell to them provisions at any price. Their only hope was to find some friendly Indians from whom they could get sufficient food to last them until they should reach southern California.



BRIGHAM YOUNG.

At Parowar, about forty miles from Mountain Meadows, they were met beyond the fortified walls of the town by Bill Hickman and his Danites and told that they must pass to the west of the town. The Mormon militia were then encamped within the walls of Parowar, and awaiting the arrival of the immigrants.

The immigrants were directed to Mountain Meadows, some of the Danites accompanying them. They were told that they could here rest and get provisions.

Mountain Meadows is a beautiful hillock, or mesa, about one mile in length by perhaps half that width. It has an elevation of about two hundred feet, with a gradual slope to a cool spring amid a grove of alder and cottonwood trees. Here was abundant grazing, luxuriant verdure and the most beautiful surroundings—a scene that would seem to shut out all idea of the possibility of the terrible crime that was to follow.

On the morning after their encampment the immigrants were fired upon by what they supposed to be Indians. They made a hollow square of their wagons, in which were placed the women and children, and for three days they resisted the siege. Several were killed and others wounded. One of the enemy who had been killed was found to be a white man, painted as an Indian. On the memorable 8th of September, 1857, a body of white men, bearing a flag of truce, was seen to approach. The flag was borne by John D. Lee. The immigrants naturally thought that aid had arrived. They were told that the "hostile Indians" were not favorable to any white men excepting Mormons and that they had better return to Salt Lake; but it would be policy to appease the Indians by giving to them their guns. Some of the immigrants were distrustful, and all were loath to surrender their only means of defense. But, being promised protection by the Mormons, they yielded.

The immigrants were formed in line, the men in front, women next, and the children in the rear. An armed Mormon marched by the side of each as they filed out of the hollow square. At a short distance from the edge of the meadow, a squad of armed Mormons were concealed. Here the line of immigrants was stopped, and at a signal each Mormon shot the immigrant by his side, whether man, woman or child. With his clubbed musket, he beat the brains out of his dying victim, or, with his bowie knife cut the throat of a crying child whose mother he had shot to death. Simultaneously, the concealed assassins came upon the scene and joined in the slaughter. This feast of demons lasted about an hour, during which outrages more horrible than death were committed upon women and young girls, after which they were murdered by the fiends.

Of the 123 only three were spared—babes, whether by accident or from the surfeit of blood is not known, but it was providential. They were identified in after years by southern relatives, and this identification strengthened the circumstantial evidence which convicted Lee and Bishop Dame.

The bodies of the immigrants were stripped of their clothing and left upon the meadows, to rot amid the blood-stained verdure, and to be preyed upon by vultures, wolves and hyenas, no less inhuman than the Mormon murderers. The blood-stained clothing, books and other personal effects of the butchered immigrants were gathered up and taken to the church tithing office, where they were sold at auction. I have been shown people on the streets of Salt Lake who wore some of this clothing. Books, containing the names of murdered immigrants, were also found, and were produced at the trial, and among some of these personal effects of the murdered Mississippians were masonic emblems. The wagons and stock were taken to Salt Lake City and placed in the church tithing office to the credit of the church. This was also proved.

WILLIAM A. HICKMAN, LEADER OF THE DANITES.

The remains of the butchered immigrants were subsequently gathered together by Maj. Carleton, United States commissioner, and a detachment of soldiers. He described the scene as most horrible to look upon. "Women's hair in detached locks and in masses, clotted with blood, hung to the bushes and was strewn upon the ground. Parts of little children's dresses lay scattered about, and for a mile east and west, there gleamed, bleached white by the elements, the skulls and other bones of the murdered immigrants."

He buried the remains in one common grave, and over them erected a pyramid of stones, surmounted with a cross of red cedar, on which he inscribed: "Vengeance is mine; I will repay, saith the Lord." At the foot of the pyramid a stone monument was erected, on which was engraved:

"Here 120 men, women and children were massacred in cold blood early in September, 1857. They were from Arkansas."

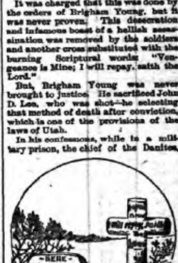
This report was also made to the United States government by Lieut. Carleton. But Brigham Young, as governor of the territory of Utah, made no report to the United States government of this massacre.

Shortly after its erection the cross was torn down, the words obliterated, and in their place was substituted: "Vengeance is mine, and I have had it, saith Brigham Young."

It was charged that this was done by the orders of Brigham Young, but it was never proven. This desecration and infamous boast of a hellish assassination was removed by the soldiers and another cross substituted with the burning Scriptural words: "Vengeance is Mine; I will repay, saith the Lord."

But, Brigham Young was never brought to justice. He sacrificed John D. Lee, who was shot—he selecting that method of death after conviction, which is one of the provisions of the laws of Utah.

In his confessions, while in a military prison, the chief of the Danites,



SCENE OF MOUNTAIN MEADOWS MASSACRE.

"Bill" Hickman, has written, which is on record, that Brigham Young gave a written order to "use up" the immigrants, and states that he saw the order, and that at the "military council" there were also present "Apostles" George A. Smith, Daniel H. Wells, "Bishop" Dame and John D. Lee.

SPOILING A ROMANCE.

How a Mischievous Chicago Goat Prevented an Elopement.

A certain young lady who lives in the annexed district, says the Chicago Inter Ocean, has had her romance spoiled by the uncalled-for and gratuitous interference of a gluttonously-inclined goat. This young lady had a beau who had proposed to her. Her parents objected to the match and forbade the young man to call on his heart's idol. The young lady was desperate, as eligible beaux are not easy to find in the suburbs. They resolved to elope.

The young lady was to be under his lady love's window at daybreak and signal by means of a cord. It is almost needless to state that the other end of that cord was attached to one of the large members of the maiden's pedal extremities. The goat did not rest easy that night and was wandering around the yard at an unreasonably early hour in the morning. After masticating all the sardine boxes and empty tomato cans, he discovered the pendulous cord and resolved to take it in as a dessert.

THE GOAT PULLED THE CORD.

When the cord was drawn taut the goat reared up on his hind legs in an effort to follow it up the side of the house. He found that his efforts were unavailing, and he gave a desperate jerk. Then the trouble began. The maid awoke. The goat gave another violent pull that was almost as effective as that exercised by a ward alderman. The maid arose very suddenly from her couch, and hurriedly contributed a cry of pain. She stooped to detach the cord, and at the same instant the goat gave another jerk. The maid lost all equilibrium and thought she had also lost her toe, but the latter proved to be an erroneous supposition. She crawled on all fours to the window, and cried hoarsely to her supposed lover: "Don't pull so, Augustus, I'll come down."

Then followed another attempt to unfasten the cord. The goat was persistent, however, and did not notice the appeal save by several vicious nods of his head that were each accompanied by a feminine cry of pain from the upper regions.

Crazed by the pain she again called down into the darkness:

"If you don't stop pulling like that, Augustus, I won't come down at all."

Another savage jerk and a wail of bitter anguish burst uncontrolled from her ruby lips. The cry was heard by her mother, who hastened into the room, accompanied by an oil lamp and a look of fright. The maid fainted, the elopement was killed in the bud, the maiden's toe was sore for a month, but the goat escaped and there will be no cards sent out, as the youth and maid will never speak now as they pass by.

From the German.

Baroness—To tell the truth, Lieut. Muller, you are the first officer I have ever danced with who did not belong to the nobility.

Lieut. Muller—I can't imagine why my brother officers who belong to the nobility should shun you that way and refuse to dance with you, but perhaps they are too proud and don't care to dance with everybody. It does not make any difference to me whom I dance with.

The Man and the Place.

Superintendent—You want a job driving one of our street sprinklers, eh? Ever have any experience?

Applicant—No, but—

"But what?"

"Everybody tells me I'm so blind that I can't see a street crossing ten feet away and—"

"That'll do. Come 'round in the morning and take out the biggest sprinkler we own."—Buffalo Courier.

The Old Recipe.

"When I go shooting for birds," said Wallie, "I'm not going to use shot to kill 'em with. I'm going to catch 'em alive."

"How are you going to do it, Wallie?" asked his uncle.

THE DUKE OF ARGYLL.

His Grace Has a Good Opinion of His Own Accomplishments.

His grace of Argyll is a wit among dukes in the old-fashioned sense of a degraded word. He is the only duke who can write, and except the duke of Devonshire the only duke who can speak. He never forgets that he is a duke, nor, indeed, do any of his natural or acquired advantages ever for a moment escape from the range of his conscious admiration, says a British critic. It was his ancestor that Burns described as "My lord, their god, his grace." It was to him that Lord Rosebery applied the phrase, "the portentous political pedagogue." Highly blessed and endowed as he is, the duke lacks one thing. He has not the most elementary sense of humor, and that is perhaps the only characteristic which he has succeeded in bequeathing to the marquis of Lorne. As an aristocrat the duke of Argyll despises statesmen and men of science, such as Mr. Darwin and Mr. Gladstone. As a man of science and letters he despises the illiterate aristocracy. His self-adoration is undisturbed by the shadow of a doubt in his own absolute infallibility. He has lately told the world that he always hated the whigs, although he condescended to accept office from Lord Palmerston. His political idol is the younger Pitt. Pitt entered public life as a whig, and never disclaimed the title of a party whose principles he claimed to represent better than Fox. But the duke of Argyll thinks little more favorably of the free traders than of the whigs. He regards himself as almost the only consistent free trader who ever lived, while Cobden and Bright and Charles Villiers were only plausible impostors. Ricardo knew no more about political economy than Darwin knew about natural history, and Mr. Gladstone's conceptions of politics are fundamentally erroneous.

THE DUKE OF ARGYLL.

QUEEN MARGHERITA.

No Longer Young, But a Handsome Woman Nevertheless.

Here is the latest portrait of Queen Margherita, of Italy, one which is a little more faithful to its original as she is to-day than the other portraits published within the past month of her silver wedding. It may be as well to acknowledge that the good queen is no longer a young beauty; but she remains a handsome woman, with an expression of intelligence and kindliness which more than makes up for the loss of youthful bloom.

No sovereign in Europe is more beloved by her subjects. When she drives along the Corso, her carriage drawn by richly caparisoned horses and accompanied by picturesque outriders, the geniality of her presence is communicated to the crowd; you will find a cordial expression on the face of every one, from the flower girl to the lounger before the Cafe Nazionale, as they join in a respectful salutation. It is a matter of regret that the popular affection is not so universally extended to the king. The majority is with him, and could not well be otherwise with the ever-growing antagonism to the idea of a papacy with temporal power. In the cafes the allusions to him made by singers are enthusiastically greeted, and he is welcomed when he, too, appears on the streets in his carriage. But it must be added that he rarely rides with his wife. Political animosities smoulder, but are not easily quenched, and a recent visitor to Rome was informed that the cause of the queen's habit of riding without the king was the latter's fear that some fanatic's attempt upon his life might include her in its possibly disastrous results.

QUEEN MARGHERITA, OF ITALY.

The Greatest Gold Nuggets.

Australia has yielded much larger masses of gold than any other country. A commissioner of the Denver Mining exposition of 1882 states that the largest piece of gold ever obtained was Byer & Holtmann's nugget, which was taken from a depth of 250 feet at Hill End, New South Wales, on May 10, 1872. It weighed 640 pounds, was 4½ feet in height and was valued at $148,800. Welcome Stranger nugget was found on Mount Moliagul, February 9, 1869, weighed 190 pounds and was worth $45,000. Welcome nugget, found at Bakery Hill June 9, 1858, weighed 184 pounds and was worth $41,882, and Caine & Dalton nugget, taken from Donnelly gold field in 1880, weighed 189 pounds and sold for $36,000. A considerable number of other [illegible]

TELEPHONE COMPANY!

SPEAKING CONNECTION WITH OVER 13,000 SUBSCRIBERS—PROTECTION FROM FIRE AND BURGLARS. PLAINFIELD, N. J.

General Office—49 North Avenue.

Subscriber's Name	Address.
Albion Hotel, The	Park av and 5th st
Ames, C. J.	19 Crescent ave.
Alert Hose Co. No 1	Madison ave.
Atherton, Mrs. J. H.	26 Westervelt street
Adams, Dr D G	45 Grove st
Berkeley, F W	Dunellen
Brokaw, Isaac F	Bound Brook
Babcock, Geo H	5th and Union sts.
Barkelew & Dunn	16 North ave.
Boone, W. C., M. D.	Cor. Front & Central Av.
Boswell, John	Central ave. and 5th st.
[illegible], J B	Park av and 2d st
Berg, Jos F, M D	10 E 6th st
Board of Education—5th st.	6th and Union sts
Booth, E H	66 Madison ave
	9th & Liberty, 6th & Monroe
Clark, E B	2 Waynewood place
Children's Home	Jackson ave.
Clawson, James T	Richmond and Front sts.
CONSTITUTIONALIST Office	2 North ave.
Cook, A D & Bro	Park ave and RR.
Cooley, Dr J H	Watchung and Westervelt aves.
Cor. Rowland	Seventh st
Chapman, Mrs. F. A.	3 Third Place
Cruikshank, S. A.	125 Carlton avenue
Carman, J H, M D	43 Somerset st
Chase, E F M	Somerset st
Central Pharmacy, G E Leggett, Mgr	Park ave and Front st
DAILY PRESS	2 North ave.
Depew, Mrs. E. E.	16 Crescent ave.
Day, Frank	48 W. Fourth st.
Davis, Dr T S	Cor 5th st & Park av
Day, E M	Rockview ave
Demarest, F M	37 Park av
Dumont, John B	[illegible] E 7th st
Decker, T—pay station	Westfield, N J
DeGraff, James	22 E 6th st
Doane, F O—Chief P F D	41 W 5th st
Dolliver, S L	133 Madison av
Davis & Stevens, coal and wood	Office W Front
Endicott, Dr Geo W	Park av and 4th st.
Evening News, T. W. Morrison, Editor	7 Som't st.
Engine No 1	West 3d st.
Engine No 2	Front st.
Engine No 3	Somerset st.
Evans, Geo C	37 Washington ave
Fisk, Chas. J	36 West Seventh St
Fanwood, pay station	Fanwood station
Freight House	C. RR. Depot.
French, F M & Sons	Somerset st.
Fritts, Dr J T	72 Park ave.
Fleming, Howard	20 Park avenue
Fisk, Pliny	6 W 7th st
French, C Frank	67 Somerset st
Grant, Geo W, Chief of Police	20 W 6th st
Goddard, C M	17 Third Place.
Griffen, A M	13 E Front st.
Gaston, M. D., W F	5th and New sts
Gilbert, A	Cor Central av & 5th st
Holsell & Hardy	North Avenue
Heyniger, L	21 & 23 Somerset street.
Hageman, E. A.	107 Sycamore avenue.
Hedges, Dr. Ellis W	46 East Front st.
Hyde, Chas	141 Front street.
Hedden, Albert	4th st. near Park ave.
Higgins, M. A.	73 East 4th st—26 North ave
Hatfield, John H	224 South 2d st—21 Park av
Harden, Francis C	123 Madison av
Herrmann, O	Netherwood
Hoagland's City Express	39 North av
Jenkins, Dr. O. L.	48 W. Front st.
Jones, Evan	19 Kensington av
Kirkner, J	5th and Division sts.
Kaufmann, W T	48 W 7th st
Lowry, Rev Robert	Madison ave and 9th st.
Lovell, L. N.	Clement ave
Lord, Wm A	Belvidere av
Loizeaux & Bro	49 Broadway
Laire, J F & Co	3 W Front st
Linke, Frank	42 W Front st
Lounsberry, F C	[illegible]
Myers, J K	[illegible] 7th st
McGee, Henry A	Willow ave
McGee, James	Willow ave.
Miller, J G	18 E. Front st.
Moore, Geo. A	20 North ave
Muhlenberg Hospital	South ave.
Murray, Dr. Wm. H	107 Broadway
Matthews, Chas	45 Grove st
Pond Mach Tool Co	Boulevard below Grant av
[illegible] Hardware Co	43 W Front st
Reed, Chas A	27 Myrtle ave
Milliken, B F	120 Central
Morrison, T W	11 Somerset st
MacDonald, J F	46 E Front st
[illegible], Lawrence	E Front st
Netherwood Hotel	Netherwood.
Newhall, Henry B.	16 E 7th st.
N J Postal Tel Co	4 Park ave
Reynolds, H P	Park and North ave.
Reynolds, H. F	Washington avenue
Roberts, D B	17 North avenue.
Rockfellow, Geo W	Park and North ave.
Runyon, A M & Son	Park ave.
Runyon, A M & Son	48 Madison ave
Rushmore, Dr Edward	Park ave. near Fifth st
[illegible], Mrs J	Cor. Mercer & Sycamore aves.
Runkle, H. G.	6th st
Runyon, Chas W	Park ave
Rice, R. W. & Co	7th cor. Madison and Duer sts
Randolph, L W	Front st
Rogers, D W	[illegible]
Rogers, E P jr	34 Westervelt ave
Sawyer, H W	20 east 8th st
Serrell, Lemuel W	Front st. and Plainfield ave
Seguine, G J	60 Front street.
Shaw, E J	Front st. opp. Park ave.
Streuli, A S	Prospect ave.
Smith, W F	Belvidere av., Netherwood
Shephard, A D	Fanwood
Smith, Jas A	13 W Front st
Scott, Walter & Co	South ave
Smith, Chas A	Spring st., Westfield, N J
[illegible], Irving G	[illegible]
Terrill & Opie	16 E Front st
Thompson, A. D.	[illegible]
Talmadge, Henry P (Res)	Netherwood.
Thickstun, Jno A	Madison av
Tilsworth, Jos M	38 W. 7th st.
Tomlinson, Dr T H	La Grande and N B'dwy
Tobin & [illegible]	21 North av
Tracy, J Evarts	5th and Division st
Thorn, Alex	27 Somerset st
Tweedy, O. B.	21 Crescent avenue
Townsend, Samuel	20 Rockview av
Thompson, A D	Prospect ave
Telegraph Office	Plainfield station
Thorn, E	16 W Front st
United States Express Co	8 North ave
Union Co Country Club	Cor 7th st & Arlington
Van Sickle W. J	10 North ave
Wharton, Clifton	17 Central av
[illegible], C	West Seventh street
Wadsworth, W B	5th and Liberty sts
Western Union Telegraph Company	at Depot
[illegible], J F	W 5th st., near Grand ave
Waters, E, Ass't Chief	3d st near Washington
Westfield, pay station	Westfield, N J
[illegible] G G	148 E Front st

TELEPHONE TOLL RATES.

FOR FIVE MINUTES CONVERSATION.

PLANFIEILD, NEW JERSEY

Asbury Park, N J	[illegible]	Hempstead N Y	[illegible]
Astoria, N Y	[illegible]	Hoboken N J	[illegible]
Babylon, N Y	[illegible]	Hunter's Point N Y	[illegible]
Bath, N Y	[illegible]	Irvington N J	[illegible]
Bayonne N J	[illegible]	Islip N Y	[illegible]
Bergen Point N J	[illegible]	Jamaica N Y	[illegible]
Bayside N Y	[illegible]	Jersey City N J	[illegible]
Bay Shore N Y	[illegible]	Keyport N J	[illegible]
Bayville N Y	[illegible]	Kingston N J	[illegible]
Belleville N J	[illegible]	Laurel Hill N Y	[illegible]
[illegible]	[illegible]	Leonia N J	[illegible]
Bloomfield N J	[illegible]	Little Neck N Y	[illegible]
Bloomingdale N J	[illegible]	Little Silver N J	[illegible]
Boonton N J	[illegible]	Long Branch N J	[illegible]
Brooklyn N Y	[illegible]	Madison N J	[illegible]
Caldwell N J	[illegible]	Matawan N J	[illegible]
Carlstadt N J	[illegible]	Millburn N J	[illegible]
Centreville N J	[illegible]	Montclair N J	[illegible]
Chatham N J	[illegible]	Morristown N J	[illegible]
Chester N J	[illegible]	Newark N J	[illegible]
Colt's Neck N J	[illegible]	New Brunswick N J	[illegible]
Coney Island N Y	[illegible]	Newtown N Y	[illegible]
Cresskill N J	[illegible]	New York N Y	[illegible]
Dover N J	[illegible]	Orange N J	[illegible]
East Norwich N Y	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]
Eatontown N J	[illegible]	Passaic N J	[illegible]
Elizabeth N J	[illegible]	Perth Amboy N J	[illegible]
Englewood N J	[illegible]	Rahway N J	[illegible]
Fairview N J	[illegible]	Red Bank N J	[illegible]
Fanwood N J	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]
Far Rockaway N Y	[illegible]	Short Hills N J	[illegible]
Flatbush N Y	[illegible]	South Amboy N J	[illegible]
Flushing N Y	[illegible]	South River N J	[illegible]
Fort Lee N J	[illegible]	Staten Island N Y	[illegible]
Franklin Park N J	[illegible]	Westfield N J	[illegible]
Freehold N J	[illegible]	Woodbridge N J	[illegible]
[illegible]	[illegible]	Yonkers N Y	[illegible]
Glen Cove N Y	[illegible]	Trenton N J	[illegible]
Gravesend N Y	[illegible]	Tarrytown N Y	[illegible]
Hackensack N J	[illegible]

TWENTY

Years experience in the business.

SECOND STREET, 2 doors above Peace street.

Mr. JOHN H. STEVENS, Horse-shoer, gives particular attention to Shoeing, Forging, Stumbling and Interfering Horses. Speedy Cutters stopped in an incredibly short space of time. Horses with diseased feet treated in a particular manner by experienced workmen.

ALBERT HEDDEN,
Livery and Boarding Stables
4 FOURTH STREET,
Between Peace street and Park avenue.
First-Class Livery.
Horses Boarded by Week or Month.
Telephone call No. 134.

ADMINISTRATOR'S SETTLEMENT.—Notice is hereby given that the account of the subscriber, Administrator, with the will annexed, of Thomas [illegible], deceased, will be audited and stated by the Surrogate, and reported for settlement to the Orphans' Court of the County of Union, on Wednesday, the nineteenth day of July next.

ALVAH A. CLARK.

Dated May 3, 1893. 6 11 30

ADMINISTRATOR'S SETTLEMENT.—Notice is hereby given that the account of the subscriber, Administratrix of William [illegible], deceased, will be audited and stated by the Surrogate, and reported for settlement to the Orphans' Court of the County of Union, on Wednesday, the nineteenth day of July next. [illegible]

Dated May 3, 1893. 6 11 30

DAHOMEY'S CONQUEROR.

His Arrival in France Causes a Decided Sensation.

If He Will Do, Gen. Dodds May Become a Second Boulanger—A Mulatto of French, English and African Blood.

The advent of a victorious soldier, a "man on horseback," is a matter of serious concern to the conservative republican government of France. The meteoric career of Gen. Boulanger demonstrated that the French people are just as ready as they were in the time of Napoleon Bonaparte to apotheosize the military hero of the day, and the opportunity of such a demonstration, says Leslie's Weekly, is eagerly seized by all the political elements opposed to the existing order of things.

Gen. Dodds has come back to France from the conquest of Dahomey. He has not come exactly on horseback, but he bears the prestige of a substantial military triumph. It chanced that he came by way of the Mediterranean, so that his first greeting in France was a characteristically demonstrative one at the hands of the people of Marseilles, celebrated for their mercurial disposition and patriotic zeal. The Tibet, the vessel in which Gen. Dodds made the seventeen days' voyage from Dahomey, arrived in the port of Marseilles on the morning of the 11th ult. Quite a fleet of yachts and pleasure-craft, all gayly decorated, went out to meet her; and the first person to welcome the general was M. Hanes, representing the government and the ministry of marine. Amidst loud acclamations M. Hanes presented the Dahomey medal, struck in special commemoration of that victorious campaign. Upon disembarking Gen. Dodds was met by various notabilities, and there was a procession, through decorated streets crowded with an enthusiastic populace, to the prefecture, where eulogistic and patriotic speeches were made; and in the evening a grand ball and a military reception in which twelve hundred army officers, including sixteen generals, took part. The soldiers who arrived from Africa on the Tibet also came in for a share of the honors and festivities, and received numerous gifts from the people. All this was in marked contrast to the reception of Gen. Dodds in Paris, a few days later. President Carnot simply invited him to the Elysee mansion en civile. The conference was private, with no assemblage of distinguished people, no display of uniforms, no public demonstration.

GEN. DODDS.

Gen. Alfred Amedee Dodds (of whom we present a new portrait, from the photograph recently taken at Marseilles), was born at St. Louis, in Senegal, fifty-two years ago. He is, in fact, a mulatto, of mixed French, English and African blood. He received his military education in France, but returned to Africa in 1871, after serving during the Franco-German war, and was military commander at St. Louis in 1890, with the rank of colonel, when the first campaign against Behanzin, of Dahomey, was undertaken. His experience in African warfare and his knowledge of the character of the native troops were of the greatest service to him in preparing the plan of campaign which later he executed with such brilliant success. A French critic says concerning his military capacity: "If he has not the prompt, comprehensive glance of Gen. de Negrier, or the combative activity of Col. Archinard, Gen. Dodds is endowed, through atavism no doubt, with the imperturbable sang froid of the Anglo-Saxon."

Went to Meet Her Dead Lover.

Dr. Nevins tells a very touching story in his "Disorders of the Brain." A patient of his, a young lady engaged to be married, was often visited by her intended husband by the stage coach which passed within a mile or two of her house. One day she went to meet him, and found instead an old friend who brought the news of his sudden death. She uttered a frightful scream: "He is dead!" and then all consciousness of her misfortune ceased. "Day by day for fifty years did this poor creature, in all seasons, journey to the spot where she had expected to see her lover alight from the coach, and day by day she uttered, in a plaintive tone: 'He is not come yet. I will return to-morrow.'" Could anything be sadder than this romance from a doctor's notebook?

William Penn's Will.

Frank T. Sabin, of Philadelphia, is the proud owner of a relic which "the ransom of a prince would not buy"—the last will and testament of the founder of Pennsylvania. The document is in an excellent state of preservation, being on sheets neatly stitched together with silk thread and sealed with wax bearing the arms of the famous Penn. It is attested by Thomas Lloyd, Thomas Holmes, James Harrison and William Clarke. It was executed and drawn at Philadelphia on June 6, 1684, and after a lapse of 209 years is in perfect condition with the exception of a slight mutilation on one of the margins.

Bicyclienne in Paris.

In Paris the latest fad is to ride a bicycle in the Bois in the morning, and many of the titled French women do it and, of course, do it well. Comte and Comtesse de Tallayrand Perigord and Mlle. Clemenceau are among those who follow this fashion.

KNURR AND SPELL.

An Athletic Game Which Is Popular in Northern England.

A game that requires a rare amount of skill as well as strength, and is also very interesting to the spectator, is played in the northern counties of England, and is called "Knurr and Spell."

Outside of the player, three things enter into the game. First, the knurr, a ball of box-wood, or similar material; second, the spell, a sort of spring trap, with a cup for the placing of the knurr; and third, the stick, which is a slender piece of ash, or like pliable wood, about four feet long, rounded and tapering, from the handle end, from one inch to about half an inch in diameter, the lower, or smaller, end being inserted in a "pommel," which is about six inches long by two and a half across, half round and flat on one face.

The knurr, though a staple article of trade, is generally made by the players themselves when a contest is anticipated. The conditions of such may stipulate the kind of knurr to be used, whether pot, box-wood or otherwise; but, as said, box-wood is the favorite one. A piece of green wood is taken and made solely by hand and the jackknife, and it is remarkable how symmetrically round the knurr-and-spell players can make them. The knurrs, however, contain small dints all over the surface, as a "grip" to the "pommel" when they are hit by the player. They are thoroughly "seasoned," or dried, before using, and trial is made of them before a contest takes place.

KNURR STICK AND POMMEL.

The "spell" is a rectangular piece of hard wood, about eighteen inches by six in size, fitted on spikes, one at each corner, for inserting and holding it in the ground, and on its upper side is the "spring," fastened at one end permanently, when in position to throw the knurr in the air. It is held by a catch at the other end. The cuts herewith show the spell in both positions.

The "stick" is also thoroughly seasoned, and it is used to "tip" the catch of the spring, which, when set free, throws the knurr into a curve in front of the spell, and the player then, swinging the stick, gives the knurr a "belt" with the pommel, and sends it flying through the air horizontally, almost to a distance proportionate to his strength and skill.

A weak man with skill can drive a knurr farther than a strong man without skill can, and a great proficiency can be obtained by continuous practice. For instance, the player, before driving out the knurr, "tries the rise" of the spring. He gently tips the catch with the pommel, holding the stick in one hand. The knurr makes a slight curve in front of the spell, and the player catches it with the other hand. A good player can tell to a point when the rise is all right. A screw regulates it.

Again, some skillful players, instead of catching the knurr by reaching out the left hand, as soon as they release the catch put out the stick, and let the knurr drop on the pommel once, then, drawing in the stick a trifle, let the knurr drop on the pommel a second time, and finally let it drop into the left hand. This requires uncommon skill, and few can attain it. All the same, it gives the true rise of the knurr.

HOW THE SPELL IS WORKED.

The distance to which the knurr can be driven varies, of course, but 280 to 300 yards is considered championship form, though as far as 400 or more yards have been tallied on occasions. The distance is marked out in spaces of twenty yards, and are called "scores," small pieces of wood, or pickets, being driven into the ground in curves from the spell cup as a center.

A "clear rise" covers the distance in the air, from the cup to the spot where the knurr alights on the ground; but if it "rolls" farther, as in every case it does roll, the distance is counted.

A match consists of alternate playing between the two contestants, and, according to agreement, out of the same spell, or separate ones, and also for twenty or more "rises" each. He whose total scores amount to the most is the winner.

It is a game of strength and skill, as remarked; the exercise on the muscles is not confined to any one point, but spread over the whole body; so it is also a healthy game and a purely athletic one.

A Natural Idea.

Ethel's mamma had made her annual fight on the moths, and had found several garments more or less moth eaten. Ethel had been deeply interested. A day or two later the little girl looked at her father's head carefully and observed: "Mamma, the moths have got into papa's hair too."—Judge.

The Doctor's Advice.

Mother—Now, Violet, can you give me any reason why I shouldn't punish you?

Violet—Es, I tan; se doctor said 'oo mustn't take any vi'lent ex'cise.—Puck.

LITTLE TOMMY'S TREE.

It Bears All Kinds of Queer and Delicious Fruit.

Tommy had seen men planting trees in the avenue in front of grandpapa's house, so he thought he would like to plant one, too. He thought a good place to plant his tree would be behind the yard gate where the other boys wouldn't see it. So he dug a hole there with his little spade. When it was all ready he began to look around for a tree to put in it. He tried to pull up a young elm in the garden, but it wouldn't come. It was too big. But all the trees were very hard to pull up. At last, just when Tommy was beginning to feel badly, he wandered into the woodshed. There, over in a dark corner, his quick eyes spied the very thing—a dear, dear little tree that he could lift with one hand. To be sure, it was only a baby Christmas tree that had lain here since the winter, and the brown prickly leaves all fell off when Tommy touched them, but he thought that didn't matter, because new green ones would be sure to come out directly. So he chuckled with delight as he lifted the little tree and carried it out to [illegible] in the hole in the ground behind the yard gate. "It was "just a jolly fit," he said to himself as he shoveled back the earth into the hole and stamped it down with his feet to make it firm.

Then he ran into the house to tell grandpapa and grandmama and his aunties about his tree. They all came out to look at it, and said it was lovely; and Tommy felt so pleased that he promised, if apples grew on his tree, to give them one apiece all round.

The next day Tommy went to look at his tree to see if leaves had come out. Not a single one! Grandpapa said he thought it must be because the place was too shady, so Tommy pulled the tree up again and set it in a sunny spot under the kitchen window.

"I think that's better, gran'pa," he said, as he rested from his labor.

Now it happened that for several days after that, the weather being wet, Tommy did not go to his grandfather's. But at last one morning the sun shone out fine and bright, and the little fellow thought he would run around to look at his tree. Without saying a word to anyone he let himself in by the yard gate, and ran straight to the sunny spot under the kitchen window.

"Hurrah! Gran'pa, gran'pa. Come quick, come and see the lovely flowers that's growed on my tree," shouted Tommy, his eyes sparkling as he clapped his hands and fairly danced with joy.

Grandpapa came out smiling, and sure enough he saw that the dry and dusty little Christmas tree was fairly covered with—what do you think?—the most beautiful morning-glories, white and blue and pink, standing out from among their lovely green leaves as if they were saying "Good-morning to you!" It was wonderful! Tommy was as proud and happy as could be. As he was a very polite and thoughtful little boy he plucked one of the prettiest blossoms for grandmama, and carried it carefully into the house.

Tommy's grandmamma and grandpapa, who were very fond of their little boy, were pleased to see him so happy about his tree, and promised, when he was not there, to let no one hurt or interfere with it. But one day, when no one was looking, Pretty, the white kitten, got to playing with the branches, and alas! when she was found out she had destroyed all the sweet flowers and leaves of the morning glories. This was too bad. Tommy felt it very much; but then, do you know, the strangest thing happened. One day, shortly after, grandpapa told him to go and look at his tree, and there on the top branch hung a big ripe yellow banana. This was even better than morning glories.

Tommy plucked the fruit and found it delicious. And, ever since, from time to time, when Tommy visits his tree, he finds the most delicious surprises. Sometimes it is an orange, sometimes an apple, or a bunch of grapes that grows on it in a single night, and though there are never any leaves on the bare dry branches, Tommy doesn't mind, because, being not quite five years old, he still thinks things to eat are nicer than things to to look at. Now wouldn't all the little tots like to have a tree like Tommy's? Perhaps if they do as he did they will meet with the same success.—Once a Week.

A Strange Operation.

A little boy whose father never uses a razor was much amazed and interested on the morning after his arrival at his uncle's house to see that gentleman shaving.

"Why, Uncle Fred!" he exclaimed, after watching the operation for a few moments, "I don't see what makes you wash your face with that little broom, and wipe it off with a knife. Papa doesn't!"

Men Are Too Blind.

Mrs. Slimpurse—It's all nonsense to talk about managing a husband by silent appeals to his good nature. It can't be done. If you want anything you've got to say so right out. You know that horrid old summer hat I've worn for two seasons?

Miss Makeshift—Yes; and I suggested that you quietly put it on and let him see you wearing it.

Mrs. Slimpurse—That's just what I did—exactly what I did; and when I proposed to walk down town with him he said: "I'm afraid all this finery will make my old clothes look shabby."—

MISCELLANEOUS | MISCELLANEOUS.

E. P. THORN,
No. 17 Park Avenue,
PLAINFIELD, N. J.
Pure Wines and Liquors,
For Family and Medicinal Use,
A SPECIALTY.
3-26-y

CASTORIA
for Infants and Children.

THIRTY years' observation of Castoria with the patronage of millions of persons, permit us to speak of it without guessing. It is unquestionably the best remedy for Infants and Children the world has ever known. It is harmless. Children like it. It gives them health. It will save their lives. In it Mothers have something which is absolutely safe and practically perfect as a child's medicine.

Castoria destroys Worms.
Castoria allays Feverishness.
Castoria prevents vomiting Sour Curd.
Castoria cures Diarrhœa and Wind Colic.
Castoria relieves Teething Troubles.
Castoria cures Constipation and Flatulency.

Castoria neutralizes the effects of carbonic acid gas or poisonous air.
Castoria does not contain morphine, opium, or other narcotic property.
Castoria assimilates the food, regulates the stomach and bowels, giving healthy and natural sleep.
Castoria is put up in one-size bottles only. It is not sold in bulk.
Don't allow any one to sell you anything else on the plea or promise that it is "just as good" and "will answer every purpose."
See that you get C-A-S-T-O-R-I-A.

The fac-simile signature of Chas. H. Fletcher is on every wrapper.

Children Cry for Pitcher's Castoria.

THE CONSTITUTIONALIST.

VOL. XXVI. PLAINFIELD, N. J., THURSDAY, AUGUST 10, 1893. No 32.

"Support the Constitution, which is the cement of the Union, as well in its limitations as in its authorities."—Madison.

The Constitutionalist,
A DEMOCRATIC WEEKLY.
E. L. FORCE & A. L. FORCE, Editors and Proprietors.
AT PLAINFIELD, NEW JERSEY.
TERMS—TWO DOLLARS A YEAR.

Rates of Advertising

[illegible]

All Electro's must be solid metal.

Double cols. 50 per ct. advance of above rates.

PROFESSIONAL CARDS.

JACKSON & CODINGTON,
Counsellors-at-Law,
Commissioners of Deeds, Masters-in-Chancery, Notaries Public. Offices corner of Park avenue and Second street.—jan6f

GEORGE W. DAY,
General Auctioneer.
Sales of Personal Property solicited. P. O. Box 122, Dunellen, N. J., or address in care of CONSTITUTIONALIST. Terms reasonable.

DR. CHARLES H. THEIRS,
Dentist,
43 West Front street. A new local anaesthetic application for extracting teeth without pain. Gold filling a specialty.—jan6f

BUSINESS CARDS.

P. P. VanArsdale,
PIANO TUNER.
Instruments put in thorough order. Terms reasonable. Pianos and Organs for sale and to let. Orders by postal, P. O. box 160, or left at Willett's shoe store, No. 6 Park avenue, will receive prompt attention. Residence 91 E. Front street, corner Elm street.

John Chandler,
CARPENTER AND BUILDER,
Plainfield, N. J.
Residence and shop No. 36 East Third street.
Jobbing promptly attended to.

E. B. MAYNARD,
PRACTICAL BARBER
AND
Artistic Hair Dresser,
No. 26 PARK AVENUE.
Ladies' and Children's Hair Cutting done at their residences. Shaving, Shampooing, etc. satisfactorily performed.

CARNEY BROTHERS, Agents,
7 West Front St.
TINNERS,
PLUMBERS,
GAS FITTERS.
PARLOR STOVES.
COOK STOVES,
HEATERS.

Grates and Bricks for all kinds of Stoves can be found here at Jobbers' prices. Bring your Tinware mending to us. The best Tinners, the best Plumbers, and the best Gas-fitters in this section. We use none but the very best of materials, and our work always gives satisfaction.

Keys of All Kinds are Made Here.
Tinware Made to Order.
Ranges, Brick and
Portable Furnaces
SANITARY PLUMBING.

Parlor Stoves,
Furnaces, Ranges,
Water Piping. Plumbing.
Heater Work. Tinning,
Hardware.
A. M. GRIFFEN,
13 East Front Street.
TELEPHONE CALL, 6. 11 11-tf

Beautiful Assortment!
Furniture!
Largest Assortment!
Best Goods!
Lowest Prices!
Ever Offered in Plainfield!
23, 25 and 27 PARK AVE.
Garret Q. Packer.

LEWIS B. CODDINGTON,
[Successor to T. J. Carey.]
Furniture and Freight Express!
OFFICE—24 W. FRONT ST.
Large Covered Vans or Trucks. Goods delivered to any part of the U. S. Satisfaction guaranteed. Charges reasonable. P. O. Box 75. Piano moving a specialty.

SANITARY PLUMBING,
Brick and Portable Furnaces,
GAS FITTING,
TIN ROOFING,
Etc., Etc.
I am prepared to do any of the above branches in a strictly first-class, sanitary and workmanlike manner.
Having associated myself with the Master Plumbers' Association of New York City, I employ none but first-class mechanics and non-union men. I believe in every man running his own business at all times and in all cases.
D. W. LITTELL,
No. 9 North Ave., Plainfield, N. J.

MISCELLANEOUS.

FOR MALARIA,
GENERAL DEBILITY
AND
ALL STOMACH TROUBLES
COLES'
PERUVIAN BARK
AND
WILD CHERRY BITTERS
ARE THE BEST.
A Vegetable Substitute for Quinine.
SOLD BY ALL DRUGGISTS.
Price, 50 cents and $1.00 per Bottle.
PREPARED ONLY BY THE
D. P. COLES DRUG AND MFG. CO
RAHWAY, N. J.

Jas. M. Dunn,
Dealer in
GROCERIES, PROVISIONS
Vegetables, Fruits, etc.
No. 36 Park Ave.
OPPOSITE NORTH AVENUE.
THORBURN & CO'S GARDEN SEEDS
BEST IN THE WORLD.
ALL GOODS DELIVERED FREE OF CHARGE

ESTABLISHED 1846.
C. E. & J. W. BROWN,
[Successors to G. F. & C. E. Brown & Co.]
Importers, Wholesale and Retail Dealers in
WALL PAPER.
321 Canal Street,
NEW YORK.
English Tiles, Anaglypta, Hand, Leather Raised Flock Papers, &c. Burlaps for Walls.
Manufacturers of Window Shades.

LIVERY.

REMOVAL.
A. M. SEGUINE,

Has removed his office to
No. 8 West Second Street,
(Salvation Army building)
Where all orders left for carriages will receive prompt attention.
TELEPHONE CALL, NO. 98.
Your patronage is respectfully solicited.
A. M. SEGUINE.

RICKERT'S
ACCOMMODATION EXPRESS.
OFFICE—Vanderbeek's Music Store, Park avenue. The "Accommodation Express" will attend to the general carrying business of the city, delivering goods or baggage to and from the depot, or from place to place.
Moving of Furniture, Pianos, etc., with care and safety.

INSURANCE.

WILLIAM A. WOODRUFF,
FIRE AND LIFE
INSURANCE AGENT,
Office cor. Front St. and Park Ave.,
PLAINFIELD, N. J.
Real Estate for Sale & Exchange.
MONEY TO LOAN
On Approved Security.

Fresh Garden Seeds
AND FERTILIZERS,
Farm and Garden Implements,
Lawn Mowers, Refrigerators,
Ice Cream Freezers
Gasolene Stoves,
Hardware, Tools, etc.
J. J. HEIDELOFF,
No. 13 SOMERSET ST.

CANOPIES
For Weddings, Parties, Etc.,
TO HIRE. CHARGES REASONABLE
Hugo Weigman,
20 EAST FRONT STREET, PLAINFIELD, N. J.

THE PLAINFIELD
PACKING HOUSE
26 West Front Street,
Would respectfully inform its patrons that in addition to its usual stock of Fresh, Salt and Smoked Goods,
it has added a full line of
Fresh Beef, Lamb,
Veal, Mutton & Poultry,
which it is prepared to sell at
Reasonable Prices!
All goods delivered free of charge.
Telephone 141.
C. M. ULRICH.

TOBACCO, SEGARS, &c.

F. EGGERDING,
No. 17 Park Avenue,
PLAINFIELD, N. J.
Manufacturer of the Celebrated
C. O. D. CIGAR.
[illegible]
CLEAR HAVANA CIGARS A SPECIALTY.
[illegible]
Smokers' Articles in Great Variety.

A. WOLFF,
Manufacturer of
CIGARS,
[illegible]

PAINTERS & PAINTERS' SUPPLIES.

Paints, Varnishes, Glass.
WINDOW SHADES AND FIXTURES.
WALL PAPERS!
PAPER HANGING A SPECIALTY.
A. SWALM,
No. 6 North Avenue, Plainfield.

L. B. WOOLSTON, J. F. BUCKLE
Woolston & Buckle,
PAINTERS,
Wall Papers,
PAINTERS' SUPPLIES. 80 NORTH AVENUE

WHATEVER form of printed matter you require we can be of service to you; whether it be
Letter Headings,
Circulars,
Programmes, Menus
Addresses,
Memorials,
By-Laws of Societies,
Prospectuses and Reports of
Financial Associations, or any other matter for Public or Private Circulation.
Everything
WEEKLY CONSTITUTIONALIST
DAILY PRESS
(Chautauqua Building),
PLAINFIELD N. J

G. Dickinson
Optician
13 Park Ave
Plainfield N. J.

MYSTERIOUS MAGIC.

NETHERWOOD'S GUESTS PERPLEXED BY A MIND-READER.

Herr Neumann of Berlin Finds Hidden Watches, Pins and Words, to the Astonishment of All.

Magic ran riot in the parlors of Hotel Netherwood last night. Pins were hidden and found, a watch that had been carefully placed in the coat pocket of someone not its owner was restored to its rightful place. And all by a man who was out of the room when the things were hidden or chosen, and never as much as dreamed of asking a question when he came back. In short, "Professor" Neumann, of Berlin, was giving one of his exhibitions of mind reading.

The "Professor" is a little man, that is, in stature, very little, in fact, but in will power, so his assistant told the audience last night, he is a giant. The height of the assistant makes up for any want of inches on the part of the "Professor", as he is fully six feet four.

After the prospective audience had wandered around the corridors of the hotel and had made up their minds to go in and see the wonders, and after the parlor had filled up, the awful ordeal was gone through of getting together a committee of unfortunates who were willing to sit around a table in the middle of the room and assure the skeptics that everything was open and above board. This was at last effected. Two or three arose with a bold front and, taking their places at the table, shamed their friends into joining their number by gibes and jeers as to their fear of being magnetised. All this had taken some time, and there was a general movement and rustle of relief in the audience when the assistant arose and announced that the performance was about to begin.

A number of small articles was placed on the table and the "Professor" was led from the room by one of the committee. One of the articles was chosen and the mind-reader was brought back. He picked out one of the men on the committee and told him to hold his wrist tightly and think of the article chosen. The "Professor" then started around the table, his mental guide following, still holding on to his wrist. Over each of the articles he hovered for a moment, his hand outstretched much as a man would appear if intent on catching a fly. Darting from one side of the table to another, sometimes clapping his hand to his forehead as if in deep thought, he at last pounced upon a silver chain and held it up triumphantly.

"This is it", he said.

But the gentlemen of the committee shook their heads. It was not it.

"Ach, you do not on the article think hard enough", the little man said, "we will try once more sinmal".

So saying he darted off again, pulling the committeeman after him. This time he hit on a handkerchief. But again it was wrong. His assistant looked uneasy. The members of the audience, who had been as quiet as mice, began to talk.

"I can do nolings with this one", cried Herr Neumann, "will this gentleman try?"

The unsuccessful guide sat down muttering, and another from those around the table arose. This time, success awaited the mind-reader's efforts as was shown by the burst of applause that greeted his holding on high a small piece of folded paper. The man who had sat down was heard to say something about anybody being able to tell after he had picked up all the things, but his remarks were drowned out by the clapping.

After Herr Neumann had acknowledged the applause he was again led from the room. This time a pin was hidden behind one of the window curtains and the "Professor" was brought back. He chose a man who knew the locality of the pin to hold his wrist and thereby transmit the "electric fluid" which conveyed the thought.

Securing a firm grasp on his guide, he started around the room at a lively pace, pulling the unfortunate after him and keeping one hand out in front to warn him of furniture or people in the way. Around the room he went, stopping near staid dowagers who gazed at him through their lorgnettes, past old maids who shrank back into their chairs as if appalled at the presence of a mind reader, until he really went up to the curtain where the pin was sticking and after running his hand up and down its edge brought out the pin amidst vociferous applause.

The most startling test that the mind reader did was to have some one choose a word on a certain page in a bulky book, hide the book and also hide a pin and then have him find both book and pin and stick the pin through the word on the particular page chosen, all while blindfolded. For his guide in this experiment he chose a stern man who advanced with portly mien and took him by the wrist. Herr Neumann started off at a fearful pace, the stern man trotting behind with lamb-like docility. First the book was found, then the pin, and the word was transfixed by the pin to the accompaniment of loud applause from the audience who were aroused to a pitch of enthusiasm.

Then the hat was passed around and received sundry quarters and nickels. Just before this many people seemed to feel the heat of the room and took advantage of the open windows to go out on the piazzas.

All this and much more was done by the mind reader, and it caused much wonderment and speculation, but you can find it all in any elementary experimental psychology.

A TRIO OF TRIBUTES.

Beautiful Floral Emblems Bestowed on the Casket of Hiram Voorhees.

Miss Lincoln, the Park avenue florist, made three beautiful set pieces for the funeral of Hiram Voorhees, the painter whose death was the result of a fall from the top of an unfinished house. There was a pillow from Engine Co. No. 2, a cross from his employers, Marsh, Ayers & Co., and a crescent from his fellow-workmen.

The pillow is of white asters, with a border of white and tea roses, and white sweet-pea blossoms. The words "Plainfield No. 2" are displayed across the face of the pillow in purple immortelles.

The cross from his employers has a base of purple asters, the body being of the same flowers in white, and trimmed with white roses and sweet-pea blossoms. Across the bar of the cross is inscribed "At Rest".

The most beautiful of the pieces is the crescent from the dead man's fellow-workmen. Its base is of pink roses and slips of hydrangeas, while the crescent itself has a foundation of smilax with white roses and white sweet-pea blossoms. The trio of pieces is one for any maker to be proud of, and formed a beautiful tribute to the dead.

HE BUILT CHRIST CHURCH.

LIKE HIS DIVINE MASTER, HE WAS CARPENTER AND PREACHER.

Good Jack Stewart Is Dead, and Will Be Buried from the Meeting-House He Erected.

Sad is the tidings for the friends left behind that Andrew Jackson Stewart has gone his long journey. He died at his home on West Fifth street at an early hour last night, surrounded by his sorrowing family. His illness had been of considerable duration, but last week he was considered to be greatly improved, and served Communion in Christ church Sunday. But the change was only temporary; his span of life had been run, and he passed gently away leaving a clear record behind him.

The departed was a plain citizen, an honest man. Everyone knew and esteemed him. To all he was sturdy Jack Stewart, and he was always active and busy in spite of his 66 years. By trade he was a carpenter and stair-builder, and a mighty good one. A thing that was built by Jack Stewart was sure to be substantial and right. His last notable work was the new First Church of Christ building, on Grove street by the bridge. He was a faithful officer of the church, and was its architect and builder; designed the structure, and was its chief workman in fashioning it with hands.

Mr. Stewart leaves a wife, a son, William, and a daughter, Lizzie, who is Mrs. Frederick Canfield. He was born in Washington Valley, where his father, William Stewart, kept the Washington Valley Hotel, now Demler's. William was better known as Judge, having presided over the Somerset County Court. George, Abel and Warren Stewart are brothers of the deceased; and Mrs. E. Wilson, of Washington Valley, and Mrs. S. Hedden, of North Plainfield, are sisters.

GOSSIP IN THE BOROUGH.

Breezy Bits of Gossip Picked up by the Stroller in His Rambles.

Alex. Thompson's linemen are still hanging wires for the Somerset street railway.

Sam Taynor lost one of his seven horses day before yesterday. Sam said he died like a citizen, with his shoes on.

Michael Powers has the contract from the street railway company to replace and put in good condition all the crosswalks on Somerset street.

The Sweet Singers of Somerset Street last night visited Fedelfous's hotel in Washington Valley and made the mountains ring with their vivacious melody. They spent the evening in a truly enjoyable manner.

Lew Smalley, the "dinkie" electric-light pole carrier, has about completed the replacing of the poles for the Edison Electric Light Company along their Somerset street circuit. The taller poles were necessary on account of the street railway wires interfering with the street lighting circuit.

THE LOSS OF THEIR PASTOR.

A Western Church Bereaved in a Plainfield Young Man's Death.

Not only in Plainfield and vicinity is there heartfelt bereavement because of the death of the Rev. Marcus Ward Smalley, but in the far Southwest also a community is mourning his untimely end.

In its issue of July 30, the Daily Post of Houston, Texas, says:

GONE TO REST.

DEATH IN NEW JERSEY OF A WELL KNOWN MINISTER.

The many members and friends of the various Baptist churches in the city, especially those of the Third church on Washington avenue, will regret to hear of the death of the Rev. Marcus W. Smalley, which took place yesterday morning at the home of his parents in Plainfield, N. J.

This worthy young man was ordained to the pastorate of the Third church soon after its organization as such. He was its first pastor and this was his first charge. He soon became very much attached to the people, and to say that the church loved their pastor would very inadequately express the close relationship that existed between the two.

The reverend gentleman was married at Plainfield, N. J., last September and brought back with him as energetic, accomplished and consecrated a young wife as ever entered the door of any church in Houston. Together they did a work that will not soon be forgotten, and sowed good seed that will grow and expand and the good effects be felt many generations to come. The sympathy of the whole Baptist fraternity is extended his bereaved wife.

THAT'S THE KIND OF STATESMAN

Congressman Dunn of Plainfield's District on Deck Early and Hustling for the Public Welfare.

Representative Dunn, of Elizabeth, was the first of the New Jersey Congressional members in Washington. Mr. Dunn was one of the early callers on Speaker Crisp, and then went on a hunt for some place to stay during the session of Congress. He wants a place in the suburbs, as he says the weather is too warm to stay in the city. In his conference with Speaker Crisp, Mr. Dunn presented the claims of one of the Republican members of the New Jersey delegation for a place on one of the committees, which this member particularly desires. Mr. Dunn would not give away either the name of the member or the committee, because, he said, he might not succeed in his undertaking, and he did not want the matter to have undue publicity.

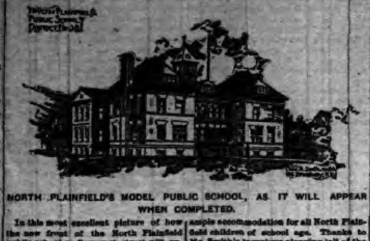
When asked as to his own preference for committee assignments, Mr. Dunn said he would be satisfied to serve wherever the Speaker placed him. Like everybody else, Mr. Dunn is for the repeal of the Sherman law, and is prepared to urge measures for immediate financial relief.

Conductor Rose Makes Himself Solid With the Excursionists.

The people of Fanwood and Westfield will talk for weeks of yesterday's big excursion. It was a great event, and was managed with that perfection which is characteristic of the Jersey Central Company. Joseph Rose, conductor of the second section, on which were most of the children, deserves special commendation for his careful watch over every detail. He made so excellent an impression that when, on the return trip, Westfield was reached, the Locust Grove girls refused to leave the train until they could be assisted by and say good-bye to that "kind little nobleman, dear Mr. Joe".

Must Wait Till Next Year.

The Street Committee of the Borough Council has decided that it is not in funds to macadamize Duer street from Emily to Linden avenue.



NORTH PLAINFIELD'S MODEL PUBLIC SCHOOL, AS IT WILL APPEAR WHEN COMPLETED.

In this most excellent picture of how the new front of the North Plainfield public school on Somerset street will appear, borough residents will notice a wonderful and thoroughly pleasing transformation from the appearance of the old structure. The familiar bell tower alone remains to recall what the building was like so long.

Besides being a thing of beauty and a credit to Architect Smith's workmanship, the enlarging of the school will be a great public improvement, as by the addition of the new class rooms there will be ample accommodation for all North Plainfield children of school age. Thanks to Mr. Smith's ingenious planning, all of the rooms will be sunny, cheerful and healthful, and little ones crowded out from above will no longer have to be cooped up in the damp unhealthful cellar.

The work of construction is being delayed considerably because of the non-arrival of shipments of terra cotta used in construction, and the new building will probably not be ready for occupancy till a few weeks past the opening of the fall term.

MR. CONNOLLY STEPS OUT.

NO TIME LEFT FOR COUNCILMANIC DUTIES.

Great Regret Expressed Over His Resignation—Republicans Accused of Trying to Steal a March in Electing a Successor.

The session of the Borough Council Friday had two notable features—the presence of Mayor Saunders, back from his trip to Europe, and the resignation of Councilman Connolly. The Mayor was heartily welcomed, and the resignation of Mr. Connolly was accepted with profound regret expressed by unanimous vote. Mr. Connolly is a hard-working man, and does not feel that he has spare time to fulfil the duties of the office with satisfaction to himself and his constituents. As Mr. Saunders said, he is the best judge of that, and could not be dissuaded from the step. In his resignation Mr. Connolly expressed his gratitude for all the courtesies shown to him.

The matter of electing a councilman in Mr. Connolly's place was laid over for one week, at the suggestion of Mayor Saunders. The Republicans had a majority present, and it is asserted that local politicians had a scheme almost hatched to get them to rush a Republican into the Democratic vacancy. It was to the credit of the councilmen that no attempt was made to carry through such an unjust plan. By all precedent of politics and honor, the vacancy should be filled by a citizen of the same party affiliation. Mr. Saunders urged that time be taken in filling the office, as the post of chairman of the Lights Committee is a most important one. Until the election, Mr. Hummer will serve as chairman of that committee.

TELEPHONE AND SHOWER BATH

Two Improvements Voted in, at the Hillside Tennis Club-House.

The Hillside Lawn-Tennis Club held a business meeting last evening at their club-house on Watchung avenue. The attendance of members was large.

The meeting was called to order by the President, G. P. Mellick. Secretary D. C. Ivins called the roll, and the minutes of the previous session were read and adopted.

The principal subjects for discussion were, whether it was advisable to put a telephone in the house, also whether a shower bath was needed. Considerable time was taken up in the discussion, during which the report of the club's finances was read, showing them to be in excellent condition.

President Mellick, as Chairman of the Executive Committee, read a report of the committee in which it was stated that they did not favor the telephone project. He admitted, however, that Mrs. Fox, the owner of the property, had been very kind to them, and they were under obligations to her, and ought to pay her something for the use of the property. What she asks is that a telephone be put in.

A statement was made of the purpose of the club, its standing, etc., by Mr. Ivins, and a good many thought they ought to have the improvements. Mr. Poole also gave an able argument on the subject in discussion.

It was finally decided to put in both a telephone and a shower bath.

After other routine business, the meeting adjourned.

Half Rates and Fast Trains to Chicago Fair via Pennsylvania Railroad.

The popular excursions to Chicago which are being run by the Pennsylvania Railroad seem to furnish exactly what the people want. The first two trains were well patronized, and as the vacation season is now well advanced the remaining excursions will undoubtedly attract a much larger number of passengers.

A decided improvement in the train schedule, which accelerates it so as to deliver the passengers in Chicago at an early hour the following afternoon, places the special train almost on an equality in the matter of speed with the best express trains.

The special trains are composed of the standard coaches for which the Pennsylvania Railroad is famous. Only one night is passed on the road, and the arrival in Chicago is so timed as to give abundant opportunity for engaging quarters before nightfall.

The dates of the next excursions are August 12 and 16. The special train will leave New York at 9 a. m., Jersey City 9:12, Philadelphia 11:20, Frazer 12:09 p. m., Downingtown 12:22, Parkesburg 12:41, Lancaster 1:26, Conewago 1:57, Harrisburg 2 p. m., arriving in Chicago early the next afternoon. The excursion rate, good only on the special train and valid for return within ten days, is $20 from New York, $19.25 from Philadelphia, and proportionately low from other stations.

No one should fail to visit the Fair with such facilities at hand.

Always Improving.

(From The New Brunswick Home News.)

The Plainfield Press already looks brighter and newsier under its new editor, Mr. Clarke. He is a Brunswicker and a Home News graduate, which may explain his success.

BOROUGH FIGHT POSTPONED.

LAWYERS NOT YET READY FOR THE FRAY.

So Next Monday Morning the Argument on the Injunction Will Be Postponed to Cooler Weather—What Counselor Reed Says.

Counsel Charles A. Reed got home late last night from his fishing and yachting cruise at Forked River, and the reporter who had been haunting his office to find out what he had to say on the electric-light pole fight gleefully welcomed him.

At the meeting of the Borough Council last night Mr. Reed was by a unanimous vote instructed to be on hand Monday morning, at the time set, to answer the writ. But just the same Mr. Reed will make no answer. Instead, the argument will be put off till September.

In the first place, Mr. Reed says that he knows nothing of the merits of the case, not having had time to look into it. He explains that the Council took its belligerent attitude against the Plainfield Gas and Electric Light Company without consulting him, and that he is not yet familiar with the borough's rights in the matter.

In the second place, Counselor Frank A. Bergen, who represents the company, has gone away, leaving R. V. Lindabury to look after it. Mr. Lindabury is as unfamiliar with the details as is Mr. Reed, and by mutual consent the postponement will be made.

So the borough and the company won't be in the thick of the fun for weeks to come. Meanwhile the poles and wires stay up.

OH, THAT THIS IS TRUE!

All Will Rejoice in the Prospects of Cheaper Coal.

There is a very fair prospect—says the Washington, Warren county, Star—of our having cheap coal this winter. In the month of June the production was more than 4,100,000 tons or equal to the amount which is sent to market in the busiest autumn month. Such an output in summer means that the carrying companies do not intend to restrict production. A coal war will ensue before the end of the year unless there is a change. The New York companies have the notion that the Reading's stock of coal will be thrown on the market, and are shipping and selling all the coal they can previous to that event. Up to this time the Reading has withheld her large supply of coal from the market unless purchased at full rates, but it cannot continue. The road must have money and this is the most direct way of obtaining it. It is reported that outside brokers are putting rates fifty cents per ton and it is believed that the regular coal agents will be forced to reduce prices. It looks as if coal would be very cheap from September on. The closing down of manufacturing establishments and the depression of the iron trade do not seem to be taken into account by the prophets who are predicting that 45,000,000 tons of coal will be shipped this year, which is 3,000,000 more than in 1892.

Gone to His Reward.

(From The Dunellen Call.)

The Rev. Marcus Ward Smalley was well known in this community, having been for several years associated in Sabbath-school work with the members of the Presbyterian church. Some few years ago he left Dunellen to attend the school at Chicago under the direction of Evangelist Dwight L. Moody, from which in time he graduated with the title of Reverend prefixed to his name. He immediately went south and took charge of an important church of the Baptist denomination in one of the large cities of Texas, where he labored with great success. During his ministry there he returned north for a vacation, and when he returned he took with him as companion for life Miss Jennie Runyon, daughter of Augustus Runyon, to whom he was married from her father's home in the presence of a large concourse of friends and relatives. This spring Mr. Smalley came north to secure some rest and recuperate after a winter's work, but the rest he was to obtain was not such as friends living might desire. He had fought the fight, he had run the race, and his reward was not to be of earth but of heaven. Attended by loving hands he passed away, and his weeping companion and parents could say:

"Sleep on, beloved; sleep and take thy rest;
We loved thee well but Jesus loved thee best."

EXCITEMENT OVER A FIT.

George Giles of Fanwood Can't Stand the City Air.

George Giles, who lives on the Westfield road beyond Fanwood, was taken with a fit in the vestibule of Charles Smith's saloon this morning about 10:35. He fell backward, and struck his head on one of the swing doors, bruising himself considerably. He was removed to a side room, and cared for by some of the men in the saloon. The man did not seem intoxicated, and had had only two drinks while in Smith's saloon, but seemed to be suffering from some mental disorder, as when he was propped up on a pillow he cried loudly for some one to help him. When he had sufficiently recovered he was taken home in a cab.

MR. HUBBARD CALLS A HALT.

PLAINFIELD'S VOICE OPPOSED TO COUNTY EXTRAVAGANCE.

Cranford's Freeholder Retorts that Plainfield Is Ignorant of the Facts, or She Wouldn't Talk So Foolishly—Taxpayers to Bear the Burden of Improving a Syndicate's Speculation on a Side-Track Road.

The adoption as a new section of the county road system of the Springfield road from Union avenue in Cranford to Mountain avenue in Springfield was a matter that caused considerable debate at Thursday's session of the Union County Board of Chosen Freeholders.

The Committee of the Whole recommended its adoption, and Mr. Scudder offered the resolution to adopt the road.

Mr. Hubbard of Plainfield was the first to speak in opposition. He said he did not wish to be regarded as an obstructionist, but it seemed to him that it was time to call a halt in adopting roads when there was no money with which to improve the roads already adopted. There should be a halt in the adoption of roads of this character. He did not believe the people of the county would approve of its adoption, as it was not, in his opinion, a road which was of the character contemplated by the act for county roads. Its improvement was not a matter of public necessity, as it was for local interest, and advancement of immediate property.

Mr. Hunt of Cranford took issue with Mr. Hubbard, and said this road improved would become a benefit not only to Cranford, but Westfield and Springfield and other sections of the county. If the Plainfield people were not ignorant of the location of the road they would understand the desirability of improving it.

Mr. Hunt said a syndicate of capitalists had bought a large tract of land in the vicinity of the road, and if it is adopted by the county will grade and pave other connecting roads, so that great public benefit will accrue.

Mr. Roll said the people of Springfield were not desirous of having this road adopted. They would prefer the Benedict road, which is more direct. He did not think they were very desirous of either road, and he differed with Mr. Hunt as to the great benefit which would come to Springfield.

Mr. Moore opposed the adoption of the road because there was no money for the $50,000 worth of roads already adopted and not built. He knew some Cranford people who were not in favor of the adoption of the road.

Mr. Howard stated that a delegation of Cranford people had waited on him in opposition to the road.

Mr. Hunt said in every community people will be found who oppose everything. The men who oppose this road are about a dozen who live at Benedict's corner. At the town meeting there were only 7 opposition votes.

Mr. Donohue favored the adoption of the road and said that he believed money spent on county roads is always well spent.

The resolution was adopted by a vote of 11 to 4, Messrs. Hubbard, Hunt, Kyte and Moore voting in the negative.

Mr. Hunt thanked the majority, and said he believed that he would live to see the day when the road was a greater benefit than they were aware it would be.

But just the same Plainfield taxpayers will growl at their increased county assessment when the bill comes in.

Insisting for the Former Orator.

(From The Elizabeth Journal.)

The Rahway Union Democrat doesn't take kindly to the news, first published in the Journal, that Senator Marsh and James E. Martine of Plainfield are likely to be candidates for Senator and Sheriff respectively, next fall. It says:

The Elizabeth Journal is very "profuse" in making nominations for both parties. It names for the Democracy as a strong ticket, Senator Marsh for renomination, and James E. Martine for Sheriff. The public generally agree with the Journal as to the strength of such a ticket, but each of the gentlemen named being strong in another direction—that is, strongly inclined not to accept such nominations, it is not probable that the voters of the county will have the pleasure of voting for them this year.

Possibly the Union Democrat is right, but the Journal's information came from Democratic sources that are not generally far from the right. It looks very much as if the information was strictly correct.

Where Lake and Ocean Breezes Blow.

In selecting a seashore home, the location of the house is a first consideration. At Asbury Park, in the popular North Asbury section, is a house that has every essential point in its favor. This is the Al Paso, situated at 304 Sixth avenue, very near the boardwalk and with a broad open beach before it, across which the refreshing sea-breeze has full sway. The Al Paso is also convenient to the Fifth Avenue station of the Jersey Central, and the electric cars stop at the corner close by. Sunset Lake is one side, and Deal Lake on the other. The proprietor, Mrs. J. R. Chapman, whose husband was until his death some years ago a lawyer in Plainfield, is very faithful in looking after the wants of her patrons. Rooms may be engaged for the remainder of the season on excellent terms.

Repairing the Steeple.

The work of repairing the steeple of the Crescent Avenue Presbyterian church is proceeding finely under the direction of Master Carpenter T. O. Doane. The stonework of the tower ends at a height of 70 feet, and above that all is wood. The steeple had not been repaired since built, and some of the timbers were in bad condition. One of the finials was several inches out of plumb. Mr. Doane rigged a scaffold, and the church Board of Trustees climbed up to examine. They gave him unlimited authority to do the right thing, and he is renewing some of the woodwork which had decayed and is having the boards sheathed with tin.

Well Equipped for His Duties.

(From The Newark Advertiser.)

Walter Irving Clarke, a clever young newspaper man, who began his career as an editor on an amateur paper, has succeeded to the managing editorship of the Plainfield Daily Press, left vacant by the departure of James A. Demarest for Brockville, Ont., where he has been appointed consul. Mr. Demarest's association with The Press has covered a period of useful work during fifteen years. Mr. Clarke is well equipped for his new duties on our bright and lively contemporary.

—James Brand wishes the statement of another paper denied, as he did not hurt himself as was published, but only had a slight cut on the hand.

THE STROLLER'S NOTE-BOOK.

CRISP GLEANINGS FROM THE BOROUGH NEWS FIELD.

Personal and Impersonal Gossip About North Plainfield Matters Presented in Chatty Form.

Somerset street has not yet been widened.

Amos Vail of Greenbrook says the apple crop will be light.

Master Eddie Becker is errand boy at Mundy's meat market.

Abram King of Brook avenue has gone into the insurance business.

One of Bill Fridie's sons is learning the baker's trade with Henry Voehl.

Freeholder Bullman is at the county seat to-day attending to public business.

Street Commissioner Gavin is having the top dressing placed on Brook avenue to-day.

John Adleman, the new Street Railway Superintendent, has many friends in the borough.

Assessor Cooley has about completed his yearly assessments. Did you hide your dorg?

Mrs. James McKee, of Goshen, N. Y., who is a sister of Mrs. Daniel Cory, is visiting friends here.

It required over thirty tons of crushed stone to dress the strip from the bridge to Front street on Somerset.

The parlors of Warren Engine Company are being nicely furnished by the committee appointed for that purpose.

You can hear the question asked "Who is going to be Senator?" nearly every day. The Stroller can suggest a name.

An entertainment will be given in Turn Verein Hall, August 10, by local talent, in aid of St. Joseph's Roman Catholic church.

Mr. and Mrs. William M. Wright left Plainfield yesterday for the mountains. Mr. Wright intends going in business in New York city in the fall.

The hose tower now being built by Daniel Hulick in the rear of Warren engine-house looks like an Erie railway grain elevator. It is a veritable sky-scraper.

There is a congregation anxious to use Justice Crosley's court-room Sundays to hold services in. The Council will probably allow them the privilege at its meeting to-night.

John Harkins, of New Brunswick, was in town yesterday representing the New Jersey Cigar Company. John has many warm friends here, and he's a jolly, jovial, good person to meet.

John Becker, Jr., of Somerset street, receives every week all the Denver papers. The Colorado editorials would amuse almost any Eastern man these times. They're full of silver.

The wooden bridge across the brook at the end of Westervelt avenue was sold to W. C. Smith of Washington Valley for $15. The new iron bridge to take its place will soon be in position.

Newton Smalley now owns a five-year-old son of the celebrated Whips, which horse was a son of Electioneer. He is California-bred, and comes from the late Senator Stanford's Palo Alto farm at Menlo Park.

W. F. Williams, who is connected with Peter C. Kellogg, the great horseman and auctioneer, is the best posted man in this country on trotting stock. He is an encyclopedia on sire, son and dam of all the great trotters that have ever been bred.

Fred Hui was out with a party in a yacht off Far Rockaway, fishing for bluefish, Monday. They caught over 300 pounds; and Fred says a 15 pound bluefish is all he wanted to tote home for his share. The balance was sold at 7 cents a pound.

FORESTERS TO CELEBRATE.

100 Plainfield Followers of Robin Hood to Have a Big Demonstration.

The Court of the Ancient Order of Foresters in this city is making preparations to participate in the great demonstration to be held in Newark, August 15.

It is estimated that about 7,000 men will be in line. The figures that the committee announces are as follows: Jersey City, 5,000; Hoboken, 3,500; Elizabeth, 2,500; Paterson, 1,000; Passaic, 1,000; Rutherford, Boiling Springs and Arlington, 1,400; Perth Amboy, 1,500; Rahway, 100; New Brunswick, 200; Trenton, 1,500; Plainfield, 100; Dover, 80; Asbury Park, 75; Camden, 125; Hackensack, 2,000; Newark, 4,000.

To the above numbers may also be added the uniformed rank of the order, known as Conclaves: Empire, New York city, 200; Washington, Brooklyn, 125; Lexington, Brooklyn, 80; Enterprise, Jersey City, 75; Kings Bridge, New York, 60; Bayonne, Bayonne, 40; Cataract, Paterson, 65; Newark, Newark, 40. A grand total of 7,763 men uniformed and otherwise.

The parade will move promptly at 1. General orders governing the parade will be issued in a few days, when all the courts are heard from. The meeting places of the various Courts of Forestry in Newark will be open from early morning for the reception of visiting Foresters, and Chairman Fallon and his assistants are arranging to make their guests as much at home as possible.

Kept His Wits and Saved His Party.

A company of young people, including George Craig and the Misses Ace, were boating on New Market lake, Tuesday. The boat capsized, and the entire party were thrown into the water. The Dunellen Call says that Mr. Craig had all he could do, although the water was not very deep, to keep his party from drowning, but fortunately he managed to get the boat righted and one by one his little party were put back into their places.

Wheelmen, Keep Off the Walks!

A young man while riding his wheel on the New Market sidewalk the other night ran into and knocked down Mrs. Frank Gaskill. She was somewhat injured and suffered considerably from pain in the head. The riding of bicycles on the sidewalk, especially after dark without a lantern, even in the rural districts, is to be condemned, and the offending cyclist could be held for injuries sustained whether the right to use sidewalks in country places is prohibited by ordinance or not.

But Peter Was Innocent.

J. S. Powlison of Somerset street was putting in a new hitching-post when a waggish friend had it stolen and hidden in the engine-house. Then the wag sent Mr. Powlison a note, saying: "Peter Sonder stole your post to use for fire-wood". So Mr. Powlison is mad at Peter; and, though he got the post again, threatens direst vengeance.

The Constitutionalist.

W. L. FORCE, | A. L. FORCE
Editors and Proprietors.

THE QUESTION.

Manufacturing establishments of various kinds throughout the country are curtailing operations or shutting down entirely.

Consequently, thousands of workmen are thrown out of employment.

Stringency in money affairs is universally assigned as the cause of such industrial and business demoralization.

What produced the stringency?

That is a question of value.

How can it be permanently remedied?

Is another query of equal import.

The time for action has arrived.

A PRESSING DUTY.

The Administration of President Cleveland came into power encumbered with more inherited difficulties than any of its predecessors.

The disastrous effects of unwise legislation, excessive public expenditures, and reckless speculation, are to be met and, if possible, corrected.

To preserve a sound and stable currency, of sufficient volume and quality to serve the business purposes of the country, both foreign and domestic, and at the same time to avoid dangerous inflation, is one of the imposed tasks, caused mainly by such objectionable measures as the Silver Purchasing act.

To restore financial confidence, now sadly out of shape, is an important and pressing duty.

Nothing ought to stand in the way of its prompt discharge.

PANICS.

It is foolish to be panic stricken, one cool-headed man is worth a score of frenzied mortals.

Suppose trouble does rear its frowning form.

Face it bravely, and do not flee like frightened sheep.

Heroism will overcome a mountain of difficulties.

People hoarding money instead of keeping it in circulation for their own and the benefit of others have caused an actual scarcity of currency.

How senseless.

The country is rich beyond estimate in resources.

There is as much money in it as ever.

The public credit stands solid.

Financial institutions are sound and well managed. Even most of those at the West that have been compelled by panic to close their doors are perfectly solvent under ordinary circumstances.

Keep calm.

Resolutely put shoulders to the wheel instead of piling obstructions on the track.

Aid in restoring financial and business confidence and the crooked will soon become straight.

SCHOOL BOARD EXTRAVAGANCE.

When the Plainfield Board of Education purchased the Wadsworth property at Central avenue and Sixth street, ostensibly for a new High school site, even such conservative citizens as Mayor Gilbert were provoked at the extravagance, and sought to have abridged that power of the School Board which they felt had been abused.

The Press from the first contended that the expenditure was needless and extravagant. Such opinion is confirmed by developments.

The School Board has confessed, since the hue and cry it aroused, that it has no intention of building a new school-house now, and therein acknowledged the needlessness of its purchase. But it boasted of the great investment it had made. A great investment, truly! The house which it has acquired is to-day without a tenant. It brings no revenue. It is in need of repairs, and repairs cannot be made unless the Board makes a pretense of occupying the building as a school. So perforce it must fall into decay, or else the expense of opening unnecessary class rooms there must be borne.

If the School Board was anxious to invest in speculative projects, why did it not select property to purchase that was sure of bringing revenue to the people these hard times? The $32,000 or more of public funds tied up in the Wadsworth property would to-day find ready loan on the best security at excellent interest. Better a business investment than a real-estate speculation, when the result of the real-estate purchase is so uncertain and the money used is the people's.

Truly, the School Board's folly has put

A BLACK SHEEP.

No one can be more safely trusted with a confidential disclosure than a newspaper man. He who is true to the high principles of the honored profession of journalism is entitled to the fullest trust, for he will never betray. In the breasts of Washington correspondents are often locked many Government secrets. Statesmen, clergymen, police, anyone who has ever had to do with newspaper men, will vouch for their truthfulness and high sense of honor as a class. Therefore whenever a case is noted of betrayal of trust by a newspaper it stands out in flagrant prominence.

President Cleveland supplied, as is customary, a copy of his message to the United Press, a giant brotherhood of newspapers. He stipulated that it should not be published, nor its purport disclosed to the world, till it was actually delivered to Congress. In the pledge of F. V. DeGraw, General Southern Manager of the United Press, he had implicit confidence.

All newspapers that were members of the United Press received a copy of the message to have in readiness when the "release" was wired. That was to be when the message actually reached the Capitol. They promised to abide by Mr. DeGraw's statement, which was: "This message is furnished to you in advance under my pledge that no part of it will be published until you shall have received a release from me, which will be sent to you the moment the message reaches the Capitol."

As ever, the newspapers kept their word—all but one! That single exception was The Commercial Advertiser, whose editor, violating his specific pledge and all sense of honor and decency, published the message in his columns long before the time of its delivery in Congress, in order to secure a "beat" on his contemporaries.

With shame and humiliation all self-respecting members of the newspaper craft learned of this contemptible betrayal. The Manager of the United Press was astounded and disgusted. Acting within the rules of the Association, he meted out punishment with commendable swiftness, and The Press is glad to record that in consequence of its breach of faith the United Press service of The Commercial Advertiser has been discontinued for 30 days and the paper has been fined $1,000.

The Commercial Advertiser has earned the contempt of its upright fellows, and the right to be called a Judas among newspapers.

INGRATITUDE FROM THE MOTHER.

Justice Tempered With Mercy Results in the Abuse of the Court.

Monday afternoon Patrick Lynch was deputized by Judge Moore of Fanwood to arrest Lawrence Wallace on a charge of disorderly conduct. On being apprehended, Wallace pleaded guilty to the charge, and immediately swore to complaints, charging William Mesler and Charles G. Frentz with being disorderly persons. Sergeant Lynch arrested the two latter offenders, and brought them to court. Both pleaded not guilty, and demanded immediate examinations.

Frentz testified in his own behalf that he struck Wallace on the public highway. He was fined $5 and costs. Mesler testified on his own account that he refused to strike Wallace but he jumped out to the middle of the road and said: "I won't fight you; you ain't my match, but if you have another man as good as you come out and I'll lick you both". The sentence in this case was $5 and costs.

Wallace was then sentenced to pay a fine of $20 and costs or stand committed for 30 days. The Sergeant brought Wallace to the Plainfield lock-up, but subsequently released him on an order from Judge Moore. The order was based on the fact that Mrs. Murray, Wallace's mother, paid the fine and costs in his case with the exception of 50 cents, which the Court loaned her to make up the amount, which she agreed to repay this morning.

Mrs. Murray followed the Judge this morning along South avenue, overtook him, and greeted him with a volley of abuse, saying that she would lay for him and watch his every movement as closely as he had watched her son. She also threatened him and his with injury. The Judge warned her to be very careful as to what she said, and not to make herself liable to arrest. He lost his 50 cents.

Officer Lynch was thanked by the Court, and commended by all, the prisoners included, for his promptness and courtesy.

On complaint of Charles K. Moore, Judge Wadsworth, of this city, this afternoon issued a warrant for the arrest of Julia Murray as a disorderly person.

PLAINFIELD'S THREE CRACK SHOTS.

Apgar, Smith and Keller to Partake of Big Tournament Honors.

What promises to be one of the best attended and most interesting tournaments held in the South this season will be held at Charlotte, N. C., Aug. 15, 17, and 18, under the joint management of the Interstate Manufacturers and Dealers Association and the Charlotte Gun Club. There will be a match for teams of six men, one third of the match to be shot each day. Teams have entered from several States. Those who have already decided to go from New Jersey are Noel G. Money of Oakland, Edwin Collins of West Hoboken, Ferdinand VanDyke of Newark, Enoch D. Miller of Springfield,

WHO SHALL BE COUNCILMAN?

THAT'S A VEXED QUESTION IN THE BOROUGH.

The Democracy Is Entitled to the Vacancy, But Republicans Are Said to Be Scheming to Perpetuate the Majority that Has Been Thrust on Them.

The matter of electing a Councilman to take the place of Michael Connolly, resigned, is likely to cause some excitement in North Plainfield, for instead of permitting the vacancy to be filled by a Democrat, in accordance with all political custom and precedent, the Republicans are said to be scheming to capture it for themselves.

An inkling of this was given in these columns last Saturday evening. Since then the plot has grown, and there is likelihood of its being consummated.

The Councilmen have stood 3 to 3, in politics, and Mayor Saunders's vote was necessary to decide a tie. With Mr. Connolly out, the Republicans are in the ascendancy, and can if they wish elect one of their party to succeed the member who has resigned. The Republican Councilmen have been approached by leading Democrats and by reporters for their views, and decline to commit themselves.

If the Republicans insist on attempting to take from the Democrats that which is the Democracy's due right, the only way the Democrats can foil them is to withdraw in a body and leave the Council without a quorum, and they are too devoted to the public interests to do that. Will the Republicans be as honorable?

ALL ABOARD.

Plainfield to Have a Special Excursion for the Pennsylvania Mountains.

Supreme enjoyment is possible for every Plainfielder Saturday, August 12, when the Jersey Central Railroad will run a special excursion to Mauch Chunk, Glen Onoko and the famous Switchback. The train will leave Plainfield at 9:27 a. m., and there will be abundant time for keen relish of the pleasures of that glorious region. The round-trip fare is only $1.75, putting the excursion within the reach of all. The trip is worth the time if only to enjoy the Jersey Central's incomparable train service, and when one considers the happiness in store at the end of the short journey into the mountains, who can resist joining in the holiday frolic?

THE CAPTAIN'S CHILD.

Charming Christening Ceremony Graced by a Dainty Maiden.

Sunday afternoon the infant child of Capt. J. G. Rose was baptized at its parents' residence by the Rev. Dr. True, pastor of All Saints church, Fanwood.

The Episcopal baptismal service was impressively read in the presence of a few intimate friends of the family, the child being christened Harold Cleland.

Little Dorothy Ellis graced the gathering, and after the ceremony charmed all present by her motherly attention to the little fellow.

SUNDAY-SELLING.

The New Ordinance Killed, Then Reconsidered and Tabled.

The new ordinance against Sunday-selling was brought up Monday night for final adoption. The vote was 5 to 3 against it, Councilmen Bird, France, Marsh, Miller and Weber voting no. Then on Mr. Marsh's motion, who said he did n't know there was so much opposition against it, and who held that Mr. Fisk who introduced the ordinance ought to have a chance to talk on it, the vote was reconsidered and the ordinance was tabled.

SUNDAY FIGHT ON FRONT STREET.

Bumble-Bee and Locust Participated, and Men Cheered the Victor.

A crowd of Plainfielders enjoyed a lesson in natural history in front of the home of Dr. O. L. Jenkins on East Front street yesterday. A fight was on between a big locust and a giant bumble-bee, and for some time it was waged most interestingly. The bee finally conquered and killed the locust, and then with much labor dragged the body from the middle of the road to the sidewalk, where he deposited it for future use.

THE COUNCIL TAKES A HAND.

It Will Not Accept Any More Payments for North Avenue Sewer Connections.

The Common Council Monday adopted on second reading and ordered engrossed and advertised preparatory to final passage an ordinance repealing Sec. 4 of the Sewer Connection ordinance. This section provided that on payments of $10 any citizen could connect with the sewer. The Council in the new ordinance abrogates that privilege.

These Medals Out of Sight.

The two medals to be given as prizes in the Lyceum Cyclers race August 19, have been received by William J. Kiely. They are both very handsome, and the winners of them will certainly feel proud. One is first prize for first man in, the other time prize. They are of gold with

GEORGE SMOCK'S SUDDEN DEATH.

HEART FAILURE OVERTOOK HIM ON HIS WAY UP STAIRS.

He Was a Familiar Figure on Plainfield Streets, And Owned Much Valuable Property—His Wife and Daughter the Sole Survivors of the Family.

George Smock, one of the oldest and best-known residents of Plainfield, died very suddenly at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Charles H. Penfield, 606 Park avenue, Sunday morning at 7:30. The physicians attribute his death to heart failure. Mr. Smock had been very well for some time, and his death was unexpected.

Saturday night he was apparently as well as usual, and sat on the piazza and talked until a late hour with some friends who chanced to come in.

Sunday morning Mr. Smock arose early, as was his custom, and sat on the piazza before breakfast. He said he did not feel very well, and declined to eat any breakfast. Shortly afterwards he was seized with violent nausea, and when the attack had passed off he said he would go up stairs as he felt a little weak. Mrs. Penfield heard her father go up stairs, and listened so as to know that he was all right. Soon afterwards she was startled by hearing a heavy fall, and on running up stairs found Mr. Smock lying on the floor and growing rapidly black in the face. Mrs. Penfield sent immediately for a physician, but there was some delay in obtaining, one and when at last the doctor came Mr. Smock had breathed his last.

His physician told Mrs. Penfield nearly a year ago, when Mr. Smock was so ill with the grip, that he might drop off suddenly at any time, but the possibility was so remote that the warning did little to lessen the shock.

Mrs. Smock and Mrs. Penfield returned from Long Branch Friday. They had intended staying over Sunday, but some business of the household fortunately called them back in time to be present at Mr. Smock's death.

Mr. Smock was born in Bound Brook in 1825, and had lived in this vicinity ever since. He has always been a farmer, and a very successful one. His widow and daughter, Mrs. Penfield, are the only surviving members of the family.

Some time ago Mr. Smock lost four of his children in rapid succession, and he had never entirely recovered from the shock. He leaves a snug fortune, chiefly in real estate and mortgages.

HO FOR THE NOTCH!

Rapid Transit on Somerset Street to Begin Next Saturday.

Those who have occasion to go up Somerset street will be glad to know that the extension of the street railway on that thoroughfare will be in operation Saturday. The new cars that have been ordered for the extension have not yet been shipped from the makers, but Car No. 1 of the old line will be put on temporarily, and its new and shining surface will be gazed on with delight by the up-country residents out towards the mountain.

Board of Chosen Freeholders of the County of Union.

OFFICIAL.

ELIZABETH, N. J., Aug. 4, 1893.

The Board of Chosen Freeholders of Union County, met on Thursday, August 3, at the Court House.

Present—Director Bauer and Freeholders Badgely, Donahue, Ehrlich, Hubbard, Howard, Halliday, Hunt, Kyte, Moore, Reil, Swain, Scudder, Trabon and Woodruff.

Absent—Freeholders Vanderbeek and Winans.

The minutes of the last meeting were read and on motion approved.

COMMUNICATIONS.

From the Butchers' and Grocers' Association, inviting the Board to attend their excursion on Wednesday, Aug. 16, was read, and on motion of Freeholder Moore received, filed and invitation accepted with thanks.

COMMITTEE REPORTS.

From the County Road Committee:

To the Board of Chosen Freeholders of the County of Union:

Gentlemen—Your Committee on County Roads most respectfully report to your honorable body that they have inspected our whole system of county roads as far as their ability would permit, and find the same, in their judgment, in fair condition.

Excepting some parts of North avenue, in Union, Cranford and Westfield townships; St. George's avenue, in Linden township; Morris avenue in Summit, and part of Mountain avenue, near Springfield.

The road on Morris avenue, in Union township, which was washed out last winter, has been repaired to the entire satisfaction of the committee, at a cost of [illegible].

The repairs on North avenue, in Cranford, from the bridge to the depot, have been finished and approved by the committee at a cost of [illegible].

The county road inspector at the present time is at work on North avenue, in Westfield township, which your committee found in very bad condition, and had to have about [illegible] feet of the old pavement taken up and an entire new pavement laid, as the past winter frosts had disturbed the same so much that it was necessary to lay it entirely new.

[illegible]

RESOLUTION.

[illegible]

HILL'S

REMEMBER [illegible]

Double Chloride of Gold Tablets

[illegible] TOBACCO [illegible]

DRUNKENNESS and MORPHINE HABIT [illegible]

HILL'S TABLETS are for sale by all FIRST-CLASS [illegible] $1.00 [illegible]

DO NOT BE DECEIVED [illegible]

Manufactured only by

—THE—

OHIO CHEMICAL CO.,

51, 53 & 55 Opera Block,

LIMA, OHIO.

PARTICULARS FREE.

TOBACCO HABIT EASILY CURED.

A FEW Testimonials from persons who have been cured by the use of Hill's Tablets.

THE OHIO CHEMICAL CO.: DEAR SIR:—I have been using your cure for tobacco habit, and found it would do what you claim for it. I used ten cents worth of the strongest chewing tobacco a day, and from one to five cigars; or I would smoke from ten to forty pipes of tobacco. Have chewed and smoked for twenty-five years, and two packages of your Tablets cured me so I have no desire for it.
B. M. JAYLORD, Leslie, Mich.

DOBBS FERRY, N. Y.
THE OHIO CHEMICAL CO.:—GENTLEMEN:—Some time ago I sent for $1.00 worth of your Tablets for Tobacco Habit. I received them all right and, although I was both a heavy smoker and chewer, they did the work in less than three days. I am cured.
Truly yours, MATHEW JOHNSON, P. O. Box 45.

PITTSBURGH, PA.
THE OHIO CHEMICAL CO.:—GENTLEMEN:—It gives me pleasure to speak a word of praise for your Tablets. My son was strongly addicted to the use of liquor, and through a friend, I was led to try your Tablets. He was a heavy and constant drinker, but after using your Tablets but three days he quit drinking, and will not touch liquor of any kind. I have waited four month before writing you, in order to know the cure was permanent. Yours truly,
MRS. HELEN MORRISON.

CINCINNATI, OHIO.
THE OHIO CHEMICAL CO.:—GENTLEMEN:—Your Tablets have performed a miracle in my case. I have used morphine, hypodermically, for seven years, and have been cured by the use of two packages of your Tablets, and without any effort on my part.
W. L. LOTEGAY.

Address all Orders to

RESPONSIBLE AGENTS WANTED

THE OHIO CHEMICAL CO.,
51, 53 and 55 Opera Block. LIMA, OHIO.

(In writing please mention this paper.)

WANTED TOO MUCH FROM THE CITY.

UNREASONABLE DEMANDS OF MADISON AVENUE PROPERTY OWNERS.

$1,000 Asked for a Thimbleful of Land—Mr. Dreier Says Take All Or None—Councilman Was Wroth and Decline to Treat with the Greedy—Commissioners Appointed.

All is not serene in the Madison avenue ranks. The proposition to widen the thoroughfare from Front street to the railroad is meeting with considerable opposition from those who want the city to pay them handsomely before they will consent to the seizure of their property.

Opportunity was given to objectors to be heard, at Monday's Common Council meeting, and they were not bashful in making their wants known.

Lawyer W. R. Codington appeared for two property-owners, J. W. Jackson and Judge Austin. Mr. Jackson owns the corner property next to the M. E. church, and Mr. Austin a 25x25 lot. Mr. Jackson is not opposed to the widening of the avenue, but feels that the narrowing of his lot will make it less valuable and that he ought to be reimbursed for the land taken and the damage done. Mr. Austin holds that to take off 8½ feet will almost destroy the usefulness of his lot.

Henry Piker has a lot 18x25, and both he and Mr. Austin demand $1,000.

Samuel Dreier argued against widening Madison avenue. He said he knew of many streets in New York that were narrower that did more business. He had paid $7,000 seventeen years ago for his land at the corner, 25x75, and had put up a building that cost much more than that. If the street were widened as proposed, the entire building would have to come down, and he wanted every cent he had paid out. The lot adjoining, 20 feet front, where the Chinese laundry is, was held at $6,000, and he thought his figure was not unreasonable.

The heirs of T. J. Gillies presented a written protest against any of their property being taken for the widening.

Councilman See moved that all of the offers of the Madison avenue property-owners to sell their land be rejected.

Councilman Marsh seconded this, as he held the proportions to be beyond all reason. Both Mr. See and Mr. Marsh said it was plain to be seen that the Council could not treat with the objectors. The motion to reject their offers was unanimously adopted.

A resolution was introduced to appoint J. Fred MacDonald, Jeremiah Manning and William C. Ayres commissioners to assess damages and benefits of the proposed widening. It was suggested, however, that both Mr. Manning and Mr. Ayres owned property near the avenue, and that they would therefore be objectionable. The assessors appointed were J. Fred MacDonald, E. C. Mulford and Wm. M. Sandford.

They will meet in the Council chamber August 21 at 8 p. m. to prepare a schedule of benefits and damages and then meet the property-owners interested [illegible] say.

Alive and Dead.

A lady had almost decided to buy the coat she was trying on. The weary saleswoman breathed a sigh of relief. The customer had been hard to suit. [illegible]

DEADLY APPENDICITIS.

A Disease Which Is Not Only Painful But Dangerous.

Its Seat a Rudimentary and Useless Sac Opening Into a Large Intestine—The Appendix Vermiformis, Is a Complete Mystery.

Appendicitis, which is numbered among the most insidious and dangerous affections known to medical science, has again been brought prominently to public attention by the sudden death of Clarence C. Bayne, the promising young athlete of the university, says the Philadelphia Record. The disease is due to the inflammation of the vermiform appendix, a useless wormlike tube attached to the large intestine. So suddenly and rapidly does the trouble develop that the resisting powers of the strongest constitution are unable to combat its fatal tendencies.

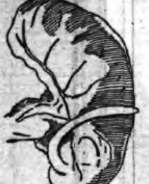

FIG. 1.—SHOWING APPENDIX FROM THE REAR.

The seat of the inflammation in appendicitis is in the lower right-hand side of the abdominal cavity. Here the small intestine joins the large intestine and a large, blind pouch is formed at this point, to which the older anatomists gave the name of "the cæcum." This is the commencement of the large intestine, and is the most dilated part of the tube, measuring about two and one-half inches, both in its vertical and transverse diameters. It is covered by the peritoneum, and is retained in place by a fold of that most delicate membrane. Attached to the lower and back part of the cæcum is the veriform appendix, a long, narrow, worm-shaped tube. In all the lower forms of animal life which suckle their young, except the orang-outang and the wombat, this appendix is of considerable length, and performs an important duty in the digestion and assimilation of the food. In man it is rudimentary in character, and has apparently no other function in the human economy than to be the temporary resting place of small seeds and other particles of undigested food, which set up inflammation of the most [illegible]

ANTERIOR VIEW, SHOWING INTERIOR OF LARGE INTESTINE.

The appendix varies from three to six inches in length, its average diameter being about equal to that of a goose quill. As pictured in the illustration, Fig. 1, showing the posterior portion of the lower part of the large intestine, the appendix is directed up-

FOUL WORK OF FIREBUGS.

PROPERTY IN THE BUSINESS HEART OF THE TOWN IMPERILLED.

Combustibles Piled Up in the Wooden Out-Buildings Back of Smith's, Berkaw's and Lederer's—Clerk Richards Found Them Burning and Prevented a a Serious Blaze.

An atrocious attempt was made at 9:30 Saturday night to set fire to some out-buildings that are connected with the stores of J. V. Berkaw, J. A. Smith and I. Lederer, and situated in the rear of the main structures.

A smell of burning was noticed, and a search was made for its origin, by W. F. Richards who clerks for Mr. Berkaw.

Going to the rear of the store, he found the odor becoming stronger, until finally he opened a door of one of the out-houses.

Instantly a dense and stifling smoke gushed out, and it was with some difficulty that the fire was extinguished. It required several pails of water to quench the flames.

Then it was found that some miscreant had prepared for a big fire, by piling a quantity of woolen cloth, paper, small boxes and other rubbish together, and touching a match to the inflammable stuff.

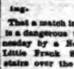
Had it not been discovered in time, a serious fire must have resulted, as the row of frame out buildings was very dry, the flames would have spread rapidly, and many valuable business buildings would have been imperilled.

A SMALL BOY STARTS A BLAZE.

Little Frankie Shepherd Causes Excitement in the Old Express Building.

That a match in the hands of a small boy is a dangerous thing was proved Wednesday by a North avenue happening. Little Frank Shepherd, who lives up stairs over the old Express office, got hold of one of the little brimstone-tipped sticks at 9:45 and proceeded to have some fun in the cellar. He found a pile of paper, oil-cloth and rubbish to which he applied the lighted match. A merry blaze resulted, which was communicating with the woodwork when discovered. Mrs. Staats, Mrs. Runyon and Mrs. Shepherd fought the fire with pails of water and saved the building from the destruction that threatened it.

COOPER'S FLORAL DENTINE.



So popular with the Ladies for rendering their teeth pearly white. With the cleansing in cleansing their teeth and perfuming the breath. It removes all traces of tobacco smoke. Is perfectly harmless and delicious to the taste. Sent by mail for 25c. At all dealers. Send 2c. stamp for sample to

F. COOPER & [illegible],
[illegible], N. Y.

SHERIFF'S SALE—In Chancery of New Jersey.—Between the Central New Jersey Land [illegible]

One-Half Off!

CARPETS

And FURNITURE.

On account of the Financial Depression and Dull Season,

AMOS H. VAN HORN,

LIMITED,

Will take off just one-half of regular selling prices.

BEDROOM SUITS.

25	Antique Oak Bedroom Suits, regular price $30	Reduced to $15

PARLOR SUITS.

25	Parlor Suits, mahogany finished frame, in plush cov'ng, reg price $50	Reduced to $25

CARPETS.

25 pieces	All-Wool Ingrain Carpet, reg. price per yard $1.	Reduced to 50c
do	3 Ply Carpet, reg. price per yard $1.25	Reduced to 63c
do	Tapestry Brussels Carpet, reg. price per yd. 90c.	Reduced to 45c
do	Body Brussels Carpet, reg. price per yard $1.30.	Reduced to 65c
do	Velvet Carpet, reg. price per yard $1.30	Reduced to 65c
do	Moquette Carpet, reg. price per yard $1.40	Reduced to 70c

MATTING.

To close out the balance of our Spring stock will sell Good Fancy Matting Per yard only 15c.

PORTLAND RANGES.

We shall commence from this date to push the Portland Range as it has no equal. More sold than any other range. Warranted in every way or money refunded.

Note the Name AMOS over the Door Before Entering the Store. Easy terms.

Telephone 580! Elevater to Every Floor!

Goods Delivered FREE OF CHARGE to All Parts of the State!

AMOS H. VAN HORN,

LIMITED.

73 Market Street,

Near Plane St., Newark, N. J.

TOWNSEND'S

Marble & Granite Works,

30 SOMERSET STREET,

PLAINFIELD, N. J.

If you have not engaged your work, I should be pleased to do it for you. [illegible]

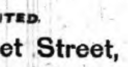
J. E. TOWNSEND,
Manager.

Branch Yard Westfield, N. J.

NEWARK

BEEHIVE

Things Sold There That Make the Great Store it is.



STOCK LIST NO. 18.

Cut Out and Save for Reference.

FANCY WORK

CITY DEPARTMENT.

OFFICIAL PAPER OF THE STATE, THE COUNTY AND THE CITY, AND HAS THE LARGEST CIRCULATION OF ANY PAPER PUBLISHED IN THE COUNTY OF UNION.

Walter Irving Clarke, City Editor.

—Westfield is to have a Woman's Exchange.

—Ten more men were laid off at Potter's, Friday.

—Borough Magistrate Crosley took in $44 in fines May and June.

—Morris Higgins, Jr., is new motorman on the electric railway.

—Manager Keller is trying to get a strong team to play here August 26.

—Twenty-two men were laid off by the Scott Printing Machine Works Saturday.

—The new fire department headquarters will be ready for occupancy about Oct. 1.

—Car No. 1 of the street service looks gorgeous in its fresh dress of paint and varnish.

—The county championship bicycle road race, Saturday, was won by the Elizabeth Athletic Club.

—The number of street railway passengers last Sunday was 2,500. Camp-meeting caused much of the travel.

—The ordinance to macadamize North avenue from Richmond street to Berckman was adopted on final passage.

—Harry Fritz, late of the Crescents, accepted 11 chances at Trenton Saturday, scored [illegible] runs, and hit safely 4 times.

—The walls and ceilings of the second story of the new fire department headquarters are to be covered with wainscoting instead of plaster.

—The Crescents played perfect ball again Saturday, and the Woodbridge team were outclassed. Plainfield won 17 to 0. The attendance was large.

—Heckman will hereafter play centre field for the Crescents. McIndoe will not be able to accompany the team on its trip, and McLaughlin will play left field.

—Sunday base-ball thrives in the outskirts. Last Sabbath 200 people watched the East Ends defeat the Neversweats 16 to 8, in the Scotch Plains Notch near the swimming-hole.

—John Goff caught the prize fish of the season, at Highland Beach, yesterday. He was one of the Catholic Young Men's Lyceum excursionists, all of whom had a great and joyous day.

—Manager Keller has done a good thing in getting Murphy off his base-ball team. Murphy made three errors for Paterson yesterday, helping lose the game to the Cuban Giants.

—The last regular meeting of the American Sabbath Tract Society, before the coming sessions of the Seventh-Day Baptists' General Conference, will take place in this city, August 13, at 2 p. m.

—Boroughites were amused last night to see on one of the unlighted thoroughfares a man running along the street with a lantern, showing the road to a bicycle beginner who was being boosted along by another man.

—Policeman Giese, assisted by policemen Daggall and Scribner, neatly captured Tom Doud Saturday. Doud has been hiding from the police ever since he escaped from arrest for fighting. Mayor Gilbert gave him 5 days.

—As exclusively predicted in these columns Saturday, the case of the Plainfield Gas and Electric Light Company vs. the Borough of North Plainfield was Monday adjourned in chancery for two weeks, when Counselor Bergen will be back from Europe.

—In these days when finance is so uncertain, it is a comfort to feel that your property is well insured against loss by fire. J. C. Pope & Co., the old reliable fire insurance agents, are still in the Savings Institution, East Front street, writing policies in only such companies as are sure to pay all just claims in full.

PRAISED BY THE JUDGE.

Young Traynor Credited With Assisting Him in the Big Tramp Capture.

To THE EDITOR OF THE PRESS:—In your report of the capture of tramps at this place in your edition of Saturday last, although correct, no mention was made of the brave young man, John Traynor, who under my direction closed the door of the freight car whereby the vagabonds were secured. Many a man of mature age would have hesitated to perform the duty which this lad did. He is an honor to this community, and though a laborer by the day is respected by all with whom he is brought in contact.

Through your courtesy I desire in the name of the law-abiding residents of Fanwood to thank him publicly.

CHARLES K. MOORE,
Justice of the Peace.

Fanwood, August 7.

IS PLAINFIELD WICKED?

This Pious Editor Thinks It a Most Unrighteous City.

(From The Madison Eagle.)

Plainfield is a very wicked place, although our newspaper friends there are not among the class who see no difference between Sunday and a week day. Last Sunday we visited that city and besides witnessing a host of bicycle riders, both male and female, the electric cars in full blast and the arrival and departure of steam cars, places of business were opened and unusual activity prevailed in all the thoroughfares. Even a colored man was pushing a mail cart through Main street, filled with pouches. Handsome churches were numerous on every hand, but the tolling bells had no effect whatever on the crowds of pedestrians who were bent on the demands of business.

SIMMONDS DOWNED BERGEN POINT

Interesting Games Enliven the Saturday Tea of the Hillside Club.

The Hillside Tennis Club gave one of its bi-weekly teas Saturday afternoon. The attendance was fair, notwithstanding the number of people that were out of town. Mrs. James L. Anthony and Mrs. Fox received, and Miss Alice Simpson officiated at the tea table. An interesting feature of the afternoon was the tennis between Sydney Smith, of Bergen Point, and Albert Simmonds, of Plainfield. The games were spirited and close, and were watched by a large number of interested spectators. Simmonds succeeded in winning more games than his adversary, though they were very evenly matched.

To Confer on Consolidation.

At the meeting of Winfield Scott Post, No. 73, G. A. R., Tuesday, a communication was received from Major Anderson Post, in regard to the proposition to consolidate the two Posts. The matter was discussed at some length, and a committee was appointed to confer with the committee already appointed by Major Anderson Post. A report will be made at an early date.

The remainder of the evening was occupied with routine business. The meeting was harmonious throughout, as is characteristic of the Post.

E. B. Schermerhorn, of Doylestown, Bucks county, Pa., is spending a few days with his brother Charles Schermerhorn, on North avenue. He is a prominent man at home, being Clerk of the Court of Sessions and Oyer and Terminer. He will visit several places during this month.

PERSONALIA.

Alfred Oblitz left for Texas Monday.

Miss Florence Randolph has returned from Connecticut.

Miss Emma Sutphen has returned from a week at Flemington.

Miss Minnie Charles has left town for a few weeks pleasure trip.

Percy Brown is home from a month at the Delaware Water Gap.

Bert Mundy is visiting friends in Chester, Morris county, for a few weeks.

A. S. Patterson, of 142 East Seventh street, is home from Water Mill, L. I.

Harry Yaeger, one of Edsall's excellent clerks, is enjoying a week in Brooklyn.

D. H. Wright and wife, of Park avenue, started last week for a trip to Connecticut.

Dr. F. C. Ard, of Watchung avenue and Fifth street, has removed to Westfield, N. Y.

Miss Phoebe Mills, of the borough, is visiting relatives at Basking Ridge and vicinity.

Joseph Angerbauer, Jr., has returned to his New York duties after three weeks vacation.

Mr. and Mrs. Howard Tracy have moved into one of the cozy residences of Grace Court.

Mrs. J. B. Probasco and family are home from Mt. Desert, where they had a very enjoyable time.

Mrs. O. P. Vosseller and son are stopping at Hultz cottage, Ocean Grove, for the month of August.

Mr. and Mrs. I. B. Hill, of Fall River, Mass., have taken up their residence at 35 Westervelt avenue.

Miss Maggie Purcell, of Easton, is visiting Mr. and Mrs. Matthew Kenney, of West Front street.

Mayor H. E. Cramer and family, of Elizabeth, Pa., returned home to-day from their Plainfield visit.

The family of B. O. Bowers have gone to Asbury Park, where they will remain for awhile at the Minot House.

Miss Nell McKee, of Brooklyn, is a welcome visitor at the home of his sister, Mrs. A. J. Leader, 63 Duer street.

Mrs. George H. Rockafellow and daughter Cecil Helen, of West Fifth street, are spending a few days in the country.

Miss Emma Gillem, of Duer street, is enjoying farm life with friends up at Bedminster, among the Somerset hills.

Counselor and Mrs. John Ridley, of Second place, are enjoying the summer days at Pine Bush, Orange county, N. Y.

The sea breezes sweeping over Branchport refresh and invigorate the family of John M. Crane, sojourners at the Norwood Hotel.

George Rockafellow, Jr., of Brooks Bros., New York clothiers, has been spending part of his vacation at Lake Hopatcong.

Charles Beggs, of Brooklyn, and Miss Emma Dennis, of Washington street, have gone to Trenton to spend a few days with friends.

George Wotherspoon, of East Front street, will manage the tour of the actress Kathrine Clemmens, and company, the coming season.

Mrs. Dudley S. Miller and son started yesterday for South Branch, where they will visit Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Vanderbeek until Saturday.

Mrs. R. G. Randolph and Miss B. A. Randolph, of 52 Westervelt avenue, are visiting in Sandusky, Ohio, on their way to the World's Fair and the far West.

Patients of Dr. F. C. Ard who are anxious to resume treatment under his charge will be glad to learn that he will return August 15 from his vacation at Westfield, N. Y.

Miss M. M. Godown, of 141 East Fifth street, left last evening on the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad for Chicago. She will be gone three weeks, and will visit her sister, Mrs. H. A. Leland.

The Rev. F. Fletcher, of the New Market First-Day Baptist church, will occupy the Dunellen Presbyterian pulpit Sunday morning, the Rev. A. I. Martine having exchanged with him for that occasion.

Mrs. F. A. Pope, wife of the First Assistant Postmaster, and Mrs. James A. Demarest, wife of the American Consul at Brockville, Ont., are at Alexandria Bay, in the heart of the Thousand Islands, for a few weeks.

Walter Irving Clarke returned to-day from the seashore, where he has been settling his family for the remainder of the summer, the change being necessitated by the serious illness of his son, Bruce Addison Clarke.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward A. Leland, of Grandview avenue, have the sincerest sympathy of The Press and a host of friends in the death of their bright and promising little daughter, Sadie M., age eight months.

Washington society will be graced by two charming Plainfield young women the ensuing two weeks. Miss Estelle and Miss Lizzie Bittenbender, of 52 Watchung avenue, left to-day for the Capitol City to visit a cousin at 1238 G street, N. E.

Friends of Mrs. Walter Walker will rejoice to know that there is prospect of her complete recovery from the delicate operation she was forced to undergo. Mr. Walker is very proud of his fine son, who weighs 8 pounds and is as pretty as his mother.

Peter C. Staats, Dunellen's new postmaster, is a most excellent and worthy man, and his appointment gives satisfaction to a wide circle of friends. Mr. Staats was formerly in the employ of Christian Schepflin, and later was engaged on the new Babcock building.

Harry Granatt, of West Fourth street, who five years ago was so ill that he could not walk to the cars on his way to Colorado, came back to Plainfield Tuesday, and is visiting his father and mother. His health is greatly improved. He will return to the West in a few days.

Councilman Marsh, ex-City Clerk Leonard and family, and Miss Minnie Marsh, returned yesterday from the World's Fair, greatly pleased with all they saw, but finding it hard to get all around even in two weeks. Miss Anna Marsh, who was also of the party, will go further West to visit relatives before returning.

E. F. R. Huntsman, of 44 Westervelt avenue, was summoned home by telegraph Friday from a business trip to Providence, because of the serious illness of his two-year-old daughter Leontine. Mr. and Mrs. Huntsman took the little one to Belmar Friday, to give her the benefit of the salt sea air. They will probably stay till the end of August.

Mr. and Mrs. David W. Pond, who are making a tour of the West, have reached Hot Springs, in the Black Hills of South Dakota. While in Wyoming they experienced weather ranging from 96 to 102 degrees in the shade; but as the air was perfectly dry they felt less uncomfortable during a ten-mile horseback ride across the treeless prairies than they had on very humid days of only 90 degrees heat on Plainfield's shaded streets.

Bret Harte, whose family are well known Plainfielders, cannot work except in seclusion, and when he is busy on a story he will hide himself away in some suburban retreat known only to his closest friends. Here he will rise just after dawn, be at his desk several hours before breakfast, and remain there, with an interval of an hour for a walk, the whole day. When he finishes his book, whatever it may be, he hands it to his publisher, and considers his work at an end, for he dislikes the reading of proofs as much as Byron disliked punctuating his [illegible]

Mrs. Brickner, daughter and son are at Watch Hill, R. I.

Miss Barbara Weber is enjoying a week among friends at Weston.

Harvey Werner, of Denver, is visiting friends on East Front street.

Ira F. Miller is about to engage in the business of funeral director.

Wm. H. Addis has gone to Sullivan county, N. Y., for a few weeks.

A. S. Roe and family, of First place, are at Ocean Grove for two weeks.

Miss Nellie McGinnis, of Somerset street, is enjoying a week in the country.

E. H. Ladd, jr., and family, of Franklin place, are at Avon Inn, Avon by the Sea.

Dr. and Mrs. W. E. Steele, of Park avenue, are enjoying their usual August vacation.

Mr. and Mrs. Alexander G. Fish are leading the social swim in Twilight Park, Catskills.

Charles S. Day and O. E. Kelly, of New Market, will start for the World's Fair this week.

Mrs. A. C. Vail is among the summer throng at Indian Harbor Hotel, Greenwich, Conn.

A. C. Baldwin and family, of Park avenue, are reveling in the mountain air at Ghent, N. Y.

Miss Nettie Hulsart of Berkley Heights is visiting Miss Maude C. Dunn of West Third street.

Miss Florence M. Morgan, of Lebanon, Pa., is visiting Miss Lillie Miller, of West Third street.

C. J. Noel, of Netherwood, has been confined to his home by slight illness for several days.

Miss Katherine Savers, of Sixth and New streets, has returned from a month in Amherst, Mass.

Mrs. John Darling and Miss Mabel, and Dr. and Mrs. Robert Lowry, are home from Asbury Park.

The family of ex-Mayor Justus H. Cooley of the borough are spending the month in the Catskills.

Misses Edith and Maude McArthur, of Passaic Ridge, are visiting the Misses Barrett, Rockview farm.

Mr. and Mrs. James Clark, of West Seventh street, are among the delighted throng at Lake Hopatcong.

Mr. and Mrs. Alexander Ross, of Grant avenue, spent Sunday with Mrs. Ross's parents at Lake Hopatcong.

Janitor Hope of the Bryant school took his wife to the hills of Warren and Somerset, for her health, to-day.

T. J. Carey and son Alvah returned Saturday night from Clinton, where they have been visiting for a few days.

Miss Emily Faulkner, one of Brooklyn's charming young ladies, is visiting Miss Jennie Clark, at Red Top Villa.

Mrs. S. Fitz Gerald, of Somerset place, and her granddaughter, Mamie Carney, are spending a few weeks at Dobbs Ferry.

Mr. and Mrs. George W. Knight, of Philadelphia, are the guests of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Warner, of West Front street.

Miss Annie Fruler, of Martinsville, is spending the month of August with her sister, Mrs. George Stewart, of Duer street.

Mrs. Florence McD. Allen, from Lansingburgh, N. Y., is visiting her aunt, Mrs. Charles H. Schermerhorn, 130 North avenue.

Misses Sarah Carney, Margaret Sheehan and Margaret Page, clerks in Lederer's dry goods store, are taking a two weeks vacation.

Mrs. H. Weigmann and family and Mrs. Joseph Steiglitz, of Front street, have gone to Ocean Grove for the remainder of the summer.

Miss Mamie Waters, of East Second street, is home from a month at Asbury Park. She will spend the balance of the season in the Catskills.

Miss Theresa B. Haidt, of West Second street, left Plainfield Friday morning for Kenoza Lake, N. Y., where she will remain for an indefinite period.

W. W. Walters, formerly in the draughting department at Pond's, but now of Pittsfield, Mass., is the guest of Robert R. Jackson of Essex street.

Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Runyon, of Madison avenue, are at home from a two weeks sojourn among the heights of Easton and the salt breezes of Asbury Park.

An eight-pound baby daughter came to brighten the home of Mr. and Mrs. Chas. P. Moore, of North avenue, Thursday evening. Both mother and child are doing well.

Percy Brown, of The Albion, who recently returned from the Water Gap, has joined his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Brown, at Asbury Park, for the balance of the summer.

Augustus Bloodgood, formerly of Plainfield, a veteran of the War, and now missionary in the Jersey City slums and saloons, has been visiting Salvation Army friends in town.

Mr. and Mrs. L. E. Barkalew, of Emily street, returned Saturday evening from Seigletown, Warren county, Pennsylvania, where they have been since July 25, visiting relatives of Mrs. Barkalew.

The borough is brightened by the presence of two charming Brooklyn belles, Miss Eleanor McBride and Miss Florrie Dames, who are visiting Mrs. Harry Brokaw at her home on Duer street.

The wife and family of Charles Smith of Front and Somerset streets are spending a few weeks with Mr. Smith's uncle's folks in east New York. They visit Coney Island and Rockaway Beach every other day.

Mrs. L. Cole, of 78 Duer street, went Monday to the DeWitt House, Asbury Park, for a much-needed rest. She will be joined by Mrs. Wm. H. N. Cadmus, of Brooklyn, and they will remain probably four weeks.

Mr. and Mrs. Geo. L. Van Emburgh, of East Second street, were delighted Sunday by a visit from their friend and former pastor, the Rev. Isaac P. Brokaw, D. D., of Freehold, Monmouth county, accompanied by his wife and daughter, Miss Helen.

Clarence Eick, who gave much satisfaction while organist in the First Presbyterian church of this city, is now organist of the Bound Brook Congregational church. The Chronicle remarks that under his direction the musical services are improving rapidly.

Assessor and Mrs. J. A. Hubbard, of West Fifth street, are at Nile, Alleghany county, N. Y., where they were called on account of the dangerous illness of Mrs. Hubbard's sister, Mrs. Gardner. Mrs. W. H. Rogers, of Central avenue, who is her daughter, is also there. It is stated that there is no hope for the patient's recovery.

It was gratifying to the many friends of Andrew McCardell to see him seated comfortably on his front porch Sunday. For the first time since he was prostrated by illness he was able to enjoy the outdoor air. He hopes to be strong enough in two weeks to go away for a month. The Press trusts that when the brown October days are here he will be fully restored to health and strength, and able to resume with renewed vigor his duties as foreman in the Pond Machine Tool Works.

Children Cry for Pitcher's Castoria.

When Baby was sick, we gave her Castoria.
When she was a Child, she cried for Castoria.
When she became Miss, she clung to Castoria.
When she had Children, she gave them Castoria.

Royal Baking Powder
Absolutely Pure

A cream of tartar baking powder. Highest of all in leavening strength.—Latest U. S. Government Food Report.

ROYAL BAKING POWDER CO., 106 Wall St., N. Y.

Mrs. L. J. Deaton and son are visiting friends in Brooklyn.

Edward Cooley is enjoying a rest from business for a short time.

Dr. F. C. Herbert has a beautiful pony that is the admiration of all.

John Mantz has gone on a two weeks trip through the eastern States.

Miss Lizzie O'Keefe, of West Sixth street, is visiting friends in Elizabeth.

Miss S. Cole, of White House, is visiting Mrs. J. Blimm, of Somerset street.

Her host of friends rejoice that Mrs. Blatz is up again after her serious illness.

Mr. and Mrs. Augustus D. Shepard are staying at the Oriental Hotel, Coney Island.

Miss Josephine Murphy, of West Sixth street, is the guest of relatives in New York.

Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Richards, of Third street, are visiting friends in Newark and New York.

Mrs. J. H. Morgan of East Ninth street is at The Anchorage, Morris Cove, New Haven, Conn.

Miss Keely and Miss Gardner, two of Edward White's efficient clerks, are on their vacation.

Miss Ella Morse, an Elizabeth belle, is visiting Mr. and Mrs. J. V. Berkaw, of East Second street.

Miss Kittie Daly, an efficient saleslady of White's, is spending her vacation at Atlantic Highlands.

Friends will regret to learn that a young son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry VanMiddlesworth, of Elmwood place, is quite ill.

Miss Lillie Garretson, one of the faithful and obliging hellogirls of the telephone office, has been at home ill for the past few days.

J. F. Brokaw, of 251 East Third street, was able to be about town Monday. He had been confined to the house for a long time by illness.

Miss May Taylor, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Morgan Taylor, is now able to take an occasional carriage ride after her severe illness.

The fish in the waters about Portland, Maine, are rejoicing at the departure of Freeholder Vanderbeek. He arrived in Plainfield Saturday evening.

A party of German friends gave Gustav Satterlein a picnic party in Hyde's grove, Sunday, in celebration of his fiftieth birthday anniversary.

Fred Oblitz, of Somerset street, will spend a few more months at Graham, Texas. He will be the guest of the Craig brothers on their ranch near Graham.

Mr. and Mrs. Hodge and their son Raymond will enjoy the beauties of Somerset county for the next two weeks. They will also visit other points of interest.

Mr. and Mrs. Garret Q. Packer and daughter and Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Powelson left Monday by Lehigh Valley Railroad to spend three weeks at the World's Fair.

Plainfield's prosperous merchant, Seely Edsall, returned with his wife from Stroudsburg, Pa., Friday, and their son Linn came home Saturday noon from Chicago.

The Rev. Dr. C. E. Barnes preached an eloquent sermon at the funeral of F. A. Miller, Monday, in Trinity Reformed church. The interment was made in Westfield.

Mr. and Mrs. James C. Manning rejoice over the advent of a 10-lb. son, born early Sunday morning. Mother and son are doing well in the excellent care of Dr. Endicott and Mrs. Hartwell.

The rare delights of the Adirondack wilds are in a measure now owned by F. C. Harder of this city, he having purchased some valuable land in Sullivan county, N. Y., for his vacation pleasures.

The Asbury Park Journal says: "Mr. and Mrs. Wm. C. Burt, of Plainfield, N. J., are at the ElDorado. Mrs. Burt is a daughter of Hon. Chauncey Shaffer, one of the best known lawyers in New York city."

Miss Annie F. O'Neill and cousin, relatives of James Ellis, arrived in Plainfield, Friday, and have taken one of Hugh McDonnell's new houses on Arlington avenue. They came from Cathalyus, County Cork.

Mrs. Cornelius Schenck and children left town Monday accompanied by Miss Helen Bogert, for Haines Falls, Greene county, N. Y., to spend the remainder of this month with her husband, the Rev. Cornelius Schenck.

Mrs. George A. Moore, of East Front street, left on the 1:15 Royal Blue line train Tuesday for Decatur, Ill., to pay a month's visit to her uncle, Joseph Mills, of that place. She will also spend two weeks at the World's Fair.

The mother of Bryant R. Cain of the firm of Brokaw & Cain died at 12 Sunday night, of paralysis, after an illness of one week. She leaves 7 sons and two daughters. She was 79 years old. Deceased lived on a farm one mile from Somerville.

The Rev. Isaac P. Brokaw, D. D., of Freehold, Monmouth county, who preached in the Trinity Reformed church yesterday morning and evening, is an able divine, and the many who were so fortunate as to listen to him yesterday hope to hear him again when opportunity offers.

W. J. Roberts, clerk for Horsley Barker, has been granted a diploma by the New Jersey State Board of Pharmacy at Trenton, and is now a full-fledged pharmacist. Mr. Barker is fully equipped in his handsome store at Front and Grove streets to fill every want in the line of drugs, toilet articles, soda-water, and the public will find it to their advantage to patronize him.

The office of The Press was radiant with sunshine Saturday afternoon when the Rev. Dr. Charles B. Mitchell came on from the West and favored the staff with a call. He got in trim for a Sunday sermon by taking a delightful spin over the old familiar macadamized streets, and preached to the enjoyment and profit of a large congregation in the Centenary M. E. church, Newark, yesterday. He will spend a few days among his Plainfield friends.

Elder E. W. Hand, who preached the effective funeral sermon over the remains of Andrew J. Stewart, Sunday, was a nephew of the deceased. Mr. Stewart was baptized 52 years ago by the Rev. John Duer, then pastor of the Second Baptist church, after whom Duer street was named. In this church Mr. Stewart held membership till after it became the Park Avenue Baptist. He originated the cottage meetings which have been held nearly every evening for more than 30 years. Among the notable buildings which he helped to construct were the old Seventh-Day and Baptist churches. Besides his son and daughter he leaves three grandchildren, by his deceased daughter Anna, who was Mrs. Henry [illegible] of [illegible].

THE SCHOOL BOARD'S WHITE ELEPHANT.

TIMES TOO HARD TO TAKE CARE OF IT.

The Wadsworth Property in Need of Repairs, But Nothing is to be Done With the Taxpayers' Ship Caught In—An Attempt to Get Around the Law So as to Patch Up the Vacant Structure—Repairs Wanted to Keep Them.

The members of the Plainfield Board of Education, having wandered from their various homes, gathered Monday in the High School building for a regular meeting. The President of the Board seemed to have forgotten about the session, and an accommodating coal man who was among those awaiting the transaction of business connected to go on his wheel and remind the President that his presence was required. When at last the members had assembled, the Clerk read the minutes of the previous meeting, which were approved. All the bills that had been received were read, examined, and ordered paid. The various committees reported various improvements made since the previous meeting of the Board. The trees had been removed that were considered injurious to one of the pieces of school property. The flagging had been relaid around the Bryant, Irving and Washington schools. The fuel for the coming winter had been entirely put in, and was most satisfactory as to quality so far as can be judged from appearances. The city water had been put in the Franklin and Irving schools, as the gas pumps used in those buildings had become entirely worn out.

E. L. Finch made some remarks as to the advisability of having some classes established in the Wadsworth house this coming winter, as according to law the Board could not spend money for repairs of any property not actually being used for school purposes. By having a class meet in the building, the Board would be carrying out the letter of the law at least, and such an action would make it possible to spend money lawfully in making such repairs as might be necessary.

Mr. Babcock said that times were pretty hard, and 'twould be better to wait until things were more prosperous. Among the repairs needed were some to the boiler, which was in a leaky condition. Mr. Babcock said the water could be turned off and the boiler could wait. After discussion, it was decided not to go to the expense and trouble of establishing classes in the Wadsworth dwelling yet awhile, so the matter was tabled.

Mr. Finch said for the benefit of the reporters that he did not think it would be advisable to make any note in the papers of his suggestion concerning the property.

The next question that came up was as to whether the flag-pole, which has to be removed from the roof of the Irving school on account of its being decayed, should be replaced by a new one in its former position or whether it would be advisable to put a large one in the yard, as it is said that the rocking of the pole in the wind loosens the roof and causes leaks. After considerable discussion, the question was laid on the table, and the meeting adjourned.

WHAT HO, THE ETNAS!

Colored Wheelmen Organize a Cycling Club.

The Plainfield Etna Bicycle Club was organized last night by 21 colored men. The officers elected were:

President—Fred Mitchell.
Secretary—Wm. Kline.
Treasurer—George Randolph.

The Finest in All Somerset.

The finest house of worship in Somerset county will be the new Second Reformed church of Somerville, the cornerstone of which was Tuesday in the presence of 1,000 spectators. The site is on Main street, and the building alone is to cost $45,000. It is to be of stone, and 15 months will be required to complete it. The corner-stone laying was by the pastor, the Rev. Edward G. Read, and addresses were made by the Revs. T. W. Chambers and John F. Mesick, former pastors.

Dr. Rodman Gets Proper Credit.

A perfect picture of Grace P. E. church, Plainfield, adorns the August issue of the Architects and Builders Edition of The Scientific American, with the architect's plans and description. The American gives Rector Rodman credit for securing the erection of the church through his endeavors and perseverance. The cost of the building is given as $32,000, and of furnishings and equipments $6,000.

Bad Boys at Scotch Plains.

Some of the young hoodlums of Scotch Plains are playing havoc with hen roosts and stock pastures there. Edward Willis's hennery was robbed a few nights ago, and the following night two of John Brick's cows were caught in the field and milked dry. The lads are known, and will be made to answer for their mischief.

Talk and Lemonade.

James C. Adams, who has addressed audiences of men in the First Baptist church on two different occasions, has been secured to speak at the Y. M. C. A. rooms next Sunday afternoon at 4:15. Ice-cold lemonade will be served.

Frightfully Mangled While Blasting.

Michael Dugan, while engaged with a number of other men blasting near Basking Ridge, had the sight of one eye destroyed and both hands blown off. He was taken to his home in an unconscious condition.

J. Hervey Doane anticipates taking a trip on his wheel through Vermont.

Miss Murray, one of Washington's society belles, is visiting her sister, Mrs. Bamburgh, of Jackson avenue.

J. B. Maxwell and wife, of South Orange, are visiting Mr. and Mrs. Caleb Dickinson, 141 East Fifth street.

Lewis G. Morris and Miss Morris, of Morris Heights, N. Y., are visiting Mrs. D. T. VanBuren of Central avenue.

Robert Tingley, of New street, will spend the coming two weeks at Asbury Park and other points along the coast.

The Rev. Dr. D. J. Yerkes, pastor of the First Baptist church, will start on his vacation this week, going to Saratoga.

Mr. and Mrs John Adams, of Newark, spent Saturday and Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. John Kitchen, of Somerset street.

W. F. Fulper and family have moved from the City Hotel into one of the Miller flats at Park avenue and Fourth street.

Mrs. Eden L. Boice has returned from a visit of one week among the Randolph families in Bound Brook and Millstone.

The Rev. H. G. Cooper of Newburgh will preach in the Park Avenue Baptist church next Sunday and the Sunday following.

T. S. Armstrong, manager of Reynolds's Pharmacy, spent Sunday at Brown's Mills in the Pines, where he located his family at the Forest Springs Hotel.

E. H. Spooner, North Plainfield's efficient Collector, contemplates a trip to Illinois, where he will spend some time with his relatives and friends near [illegible], after a short visit to the Fair in Chicago. He will return to open the [illegible] for the [illegible]

IS IT A SEVENTH-DAY CRISIS?

THAT SUNDAY-SELLING ORDINANCE IN THE BALANCE.

Development of the Feeling that There Should Be No Discrimination—Will the Old Ordinance Stand, or the State Law Be Attacked?

Those who are accustomed to view with complacency the matter of keeping open on Sunday stores that are owned by professors of Seventh-Day religion, were surprised to find so many opposed to the proposed new ordinance regulating the matter.

Five out of eight Councilmen developed an antipathy to the proposed new ordinance, and it was tabled for future action.

What that action will be, remains undetermined. Some of the Councilmen are understood to be opposed to having any stores in Plainfield open at all on Sunday. In this view they are endorsed by many people. It is notorious that some of the Sunday-selling shops are lounging places for young men and boys who spend the popular Sabbath in idling, profanity and boisterous conduct. Strangers get a bad impression of the town at seeing so many shops doing business. The "soft drinks" establishments have an especially pernicious influence, and the "hard cider" they sell causes much mischief.

There are many who believe that the State and City have no right to discriminate and to say that some shall close on Sunday and others may sell. This is a country, they argue, where the majority rule, and they hold that all should observe the universal Sunday as the Sabbath, so far as refraining from doing business is concerned. If they want to keep another Sabbath also, that is their affair. Some look on the opposition to the proposed new ordinance as a Seventh-Day crisis. One Councilman said: "Is a man to be permitted to sell goods Sundays just because he goes to a certain church, while others are forced to close up? It is unjust and unconstitutional."

If the proposed ordinance be killed, the one now on the books will be still in force, and everyone in Plainfield knows how hard it is to convict anyone of Sunday selling under that, for he has but to say "My conscience makes me" and he is safe.

There are those who urge the adoption of an ordinance forbidding Sunday selling without exception. These would have the good Seventh-Days prosecuted. The Seventh-Days would fall back on the privileges accorded by the State law (on which Plainfield's present ordinance is founded), and the question of the constitutionality of that law would then be decided. It would be an interesting fight. Whether such an outcome is precipitated depends on the action of Plainfield's Councilmen.

LONG LIST OF PRIZES.

That Lyceum Cyclers' Race to Be a Big Affair.

The arrangements for the bicycle race of the Lyceum Cyclers, August 19, are about perfected, and as the time draws near interest increases. Wm. J. Kiely has received about all the prizes to be offered, and they will be on exhibition this afternoon in J. Hervey Doane's show window on Park avenue. There are still a few prizes to be given. The list so far completed is as follows:

First prize—Handsome gold medal.
Time prize— " " "
From Charles Lister—Bicycle lamp.
" W. R. Conover—Box of cigars.
" Nathan Guttman—Meerschaum cigar-holder.
From W. H. Rogers—Cyclometer.
" T. J. Carey—Silver clock.
" J. H. Doane—Bicycle charm.
" C. Dickinson—Gold pin.
" J. J. Kennedy—Bicycle shoes.
" U. B. Crane—Bicycle hat.
" M. C. Cashion—Order for best pair of trousers at Wm. Schering's.
From L. W. Randolph—Shaving set.
" H. M. Sherwin—Pair of patent-leather shoes.
From Magee & Co.—Luggage-carrier.

It is expected that there will be about fifty entries, among whom is Chas. Coffin of Newark.

Those having the matter in charge do not expect to make any money out of the race, and any surplus will be used in making the affair a complete success.

DEADLY KEROSENE.

Mrs. Appgar Attempted to Re-Fill a Lighted Stove With Ill Effects.

What might have been a serious accident was averted Tuesday evening, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Appgar, Elmwood place.

Mrs. Appgar was using an oil stove. The oil became low in the tank, and while the stove was still burning she attempted to fill it up. The oil caught fire and spread rapidly about the stove. She became frightened, and called to her neighbors for help. Several men in the neighborhood ran to give assistance, and with much difficulty the fire was extinguished.

It was discovered that Mrs. Appgar's hair was burned a little, but otherwise no personal damage resulted.

THIS CHAP A PEDESTRIAN.

Eight-Year-Old Charles Minsenbaugh Wandered Miles from His Home.

The German Reformed church excursionists were dismayed on counting noses Tuesday preparatory to coming home, to find that little Charlie Minsenbaugh, whose parents live on Somerset street over Mattison's drug store, was missing.

All were alarmed for fear he had been drowned, but after much worry, excitement and delay Charlie was found safe and sound in New Brunswick. He had followed the river up, on foot, on an exploration trip.

When Charlie goes on another picnic he'll have a clothesline attached to his girdle and his mother will keep hold of the other end.

The One Road that the People Always Support.

While other lines of travel are suffering severely from various causes, the Central Railroad of New Jersey, because of its catering so faithfully to every wish of its patrons and because of the incomparable perfection of its local traffic, is doing as well as in any summer season. President J. R. Maxwell says that on his road the reduction of expenses thus far has been little more than normal. Additions to track, structure, and stock have been stopped, as well as summer work. But his road and railways general are in the best condition they have ever known. Mr. Maxwell added:

"We have not reduced train service yet, except a little in the coal branch. And in reducing forces the principle to be followed is the shortening of time and not the discharge of men. This is not always possible, but in all machine shops it is practicable, and will be followed."

Enduring the Lack of Rain.

[Special Crop Bulletin.]

SOUTH PLAINFIELD—A small shower on the [illegible] of some benefit but soon dried out. Potatoes, corn and lima beans are suffering from drought. Another light rain on the 5th [illegible] to lay the dust. Rain is much needed. F. C. JOHNSON.

PLAINFIELD—Farmers report [illegible] Potatoes are being injured by drought. Average temperature, [illegible] rainfall, [illegible] inch. JOHN HARRIS.

—The [illegible] have changed [illegible] to Popular Labor Day.

OUR COUSINS IN THE COUNTRY.

WESTFIELD WARBLINGS.

Live News of the Town—The Correspondent Grows Poetic.

WESTFIELD, August 8.

The Young People's Society of the Congregational church have discontinued their Sunday evening prayer meetings for the summer, and assumed charge of the Wednesday evening church prayer meetings instead.

Col. Geo. Starr and daughter Miss Jessie, of North Broad street, are in California. On their arrival in Chicago they will be joined by Mrs. Starr and the Misses Lucy and Emma Starr, who are now at Point Pleasant.

The yellow tufts of the Golden Rod are now to be seen scattered over the fields. It is rather early for the appearance of the flower. A spray plucked this morning lies on my desk. It speaks of frosty nights, of falling leaves, and of vacation days ended.

The Rev. Cornelius Patton has in contemplation the organization of a Boys' Club at Garwood. The project is in rather a nebulous state at present, the night for talking the matter over having been a stormy one. It is generally known, however, that a meeting room, with regular religious services conducted by Westfielders, is a part of the plan.

There has been considerable talk in Westfield at various times on the water question. The last township election hinged on the question, and resulted in the election to the Town Committee of Martin Welles, who stood opposed to unconditional adoption of town water. He favored an investigation of the matter, and then a decision by the people, based on the results of investigation. The results of investigation, if there are any, have not yet been made public by the Committee; and in the meanwhile the water company goes on laying its pipes in the village streets. To criticise public officers is never a difficult thing; indeed, there are times when it would be quite easy, and when the temptation to do so is strong.

The management of the Westfield base-ball team have fulfilled their promises to the people made at the beginning of the season. They have done even better than their promises. It was announced that the team would be "amateur, enforced by a professional battery". This was, indeed, the makeup of the team for the first few games; but the weak players were soon weeded out and stronger players were engaged, till the team became a purely professional one. It seems, however, that the enterprise of the managers was hardly justified by the amount of interest shown in the game. To say that Westfield cares nothing for base-ball this summer is to come not far from the truth. Even the prospect of a game with Somerville, with the mighty Harkins in the box, does not draw a fair-sized crowd to the Drake Park diamond. RAMBLER.

FROM UP IN THE MOUNTAIN.

Washingtonville Sends a Budget of News for Town Folks to Read.

Mrs. Wm. Demier and son, who have been visiting, are home again.

The Misses Palmer, of Brooklyn, are visiting their cousin Miss Nettie Beeching.

Miss Louise Taylor, of New York, is sojourning with her many friends in this place.

Mrs. George Bullmad, who has been on a pleasant visit to friends in Newburgh, has returned home.

Dr. Raby and wife, of Brooklyn, are the guests of Mr. and Mrs. H. G. Smith at Wolf Hill Farm Cottage.

John Hess is at home with a broken leg. An accident at the stone quarry near Scotch Plains was the cause of the injury.

Misses Annie and Tillie Cook of Newark are visiting their charming cousins, the Misses Burgmiller, at Fair View Farm Cottage.

Sol Sayles is erecting a handsome residence at Berkley Heights. It will cost $40,000. Cammeyer, the shoe man, his next neighbor, expects to build one still finer.

Brosie Smith was frightfully stung by a nest of hornets so that his eyes were closed and face swollen, causing much suffering. He kicked the nest without being aware of it in time to get away.

The Rev. Mr. Scudder again preached to a large congregation in the Mary B. Wilson Memorial chapel Sunday evening. He is an easy and interesting speaker, holding the attention of his audience to the close of his remarks, which is hard to do in general this hot weather.

Thomas Rogers and Wm. Simmonds, who have been on a vacation trip up the Hudson, have returned to the delight of the young ladies of Berkley Heights. They were interested spectators at the game between the Bostons and Brooklyns last Saturday. Simmonds, who is an umpire of some note, says the Crescents can outplay the Brooklyns, and William is good authority.

A bevy of bright young women made up a dove party, and then persuaded an unsophisticated young man to give them a ride over the mountain, where they spent the day picking berries, scratching their hands, tearing their dresses, and getting sunburned. They had provisions enough to feed the starving miners of Denver. They were chaperoned by Miss Jessie Coddington, which is sufficient to guarantee a delightful day's outing.

PLOUGHSHARE.

Popular Excursions to the World's Fair via Pennsylvania Railroad.

ADDITIONAL DATES IN THE NEAR FUTURE.

So great is the popularity of the half-rate excursions to the World's Fair that the Pennsylvania Railroad Company has decided to increase the number of trips. In pursuance of this plan popular excursions will be run August 12, 16, 22, 26, September 9 and 13. These excursions will be run under the same conditions as those which have preceded them, and will afford everyone an opportunity of attending the World's Greatest Fair at an inconsiderable cost.

A decided improvement in the train schedule, which accelerates it so as to deliver the passengers in Chicago at an early hour the following afternoon, places the special train on an equality in the matter of speed with the best express trains.

The special trains are composed of the standard coaches for which the Pennsylvania Railroad is famous. Only one night is passed on the road, and the arrival in Chicago is so timed as to give abundant opportunity for engaging quarters before nightfall.

The special train will leave New York 8 a. m., Jersey City 8:13, Newark 8:28, Elizabeth 8:38, New Brunswick 9:23, Trenton 10:23, Philadelphia 11:20, Frazer 12:00 p. m., Downingtown 12:22, Parkesburg 12:41, Coatesville 1:03, Lancaster 1:25, Conewago 1:57, Harrisburg 2 p. m., arriving in Chicago early the next afternoon. The excursion rate, good only on the special train and valid for return within ten days, is $20 from New York, [illegible] from Philadelphia, and proportionately low from other stations.

Many expressions of satisfaction have come from those who took advantage of the earlier excursions of this series.

Miss Buchanan of 222 Orange street is visiting in Peekskill, N. Y.

Rubinstein's Command!

Of the Piano keyboard is a marvel even to the oldest and more observing students of music. Few people can hope to attain Rubinstein's dexterity, but everyone can have the advantage of using a Piano that is perfect in tone and action. The way to get one is to call on us. Our stock is the largest and best, and our prices the lowest.

Cash, Installments or Rented.

S. D. LAUTER COMPANY,
657 and 659 Broad Street, Newark, N. J.

$35.00 TO CHICAGO AND RETURN,
Including Hotel accommodations for five days at
FRANK'S
REDUCED RATES
Railroad and Steamship Ticket Agency,
345 and 347 BROADWAY, Cor. Leonard St., N. Y.
Lowest Rates to all parts of the World. Tickets purchased and exchanged
Sleeping Berths reserved. Baggage transferred.
MEMBER AMERICAN TICKET BROKERS' ASSOCIATION.

ELY'S CREAM BALM—Cleanses the Nasal Passages, Allays Pain and Inflammation, Heals the Sores, Restores Taste and Smell, and Cures
CATARRH
Gives Relief at once for Cold in Head.
Apply into the Nostrils.—It is Quickly Absorbed. 50c. Druggists or by mail. ELY BROS., 56 Warren St., N. Y.

CANNON'S
MARKET
MULBERRY STS
MECHANIC
NEWARK.

We Can't Kick

at our business, even during these times, because good square dealing, and modern business methods pay. We mark EVERYTHING in plain figures, at lowest prices, and invite inspection,

And it Pays!

You can walk through row after row of

FURNITURE

(it isn't crowded, and the PRICE is always there) and examine it at your leisure.

Our latest addition, (ground floor) gives us nearly two acres of floor space, more than any other concern in Jersey has for Housefurnishing.

CARPETS,
UPHOLSTERY,
and every other Household need.
CREDIT GIVEN,
ONLY ONE PRICE,
and that marked in
PLAIN FIGURES.
LARGEST HOUSE OUTFITTERS IN NEW JERSEY

An Open Letter From Clothing Builders to Clothing Buyers.

We make Clothing, you buy it. You buy Clothing ready made because it is cheaper.

There are different kinds of ready made. Have you ever investigated how different?

We show you the best that's made, the tailor made, the kind the tailor would make you to order.

In many instances you'll not be able to notice the difference in make between ours and theirs, but the difference in price will open your eyes.

The tailor's prices are about double ours and he furnishes you no better style, fit, finish, trim of fabric.

Why his big price?

He makes for the few; we for thousands. The wise and knowing are wearing OUR SUPERIOR CLOTHING and saving money.

See our grand line of SPRING SUITS between $10 and $20.

MCGREGOR & CO.,
850 and 852 Broad Street,
NEWARK, N. J.

NEW JERSEY
State Normal & Model Schools
TRENTON, N. J.

Fall term will commence Tuesday, September 12, at 9 a. m. Buildings open to receive students on Monday, September 11.

The Normal School gives a thorough professional training for teaching; the Model prepares for business, the general pursuits of life or college. Total cost, including board, washing books, etc., at the Normal $154 to $160 per year; at the Model $200 per year.

Buildings lighted by gas and heated by steam. Dormitories comfortably furnished, provided with baths, etc. The facilities, both of the school building and boarding halls have been greatly increased during the present year, the former by a properly equipped gymnasium, laboratories, etc., the latter by increased capacity. For further particulars address

J. M. GREEN, Principal, Trenton, N. J.

SHERIFF'S SALE.

NEW JERSEY SUPREME COURT, UNION COUNTY—Charles A. Reed, vs. John C. Moore, alias. Fi. fa. de. bo. et. ter. In debt. Charles A. Reed, Att'y.
Patrick Lynch, Trustee, vs John C. Moore, alias. Fi. fa. de. bo. et. ter. In debt. Wm. R. Codington, Att'y.
Daniel H. Terry, vs. John C. Moore, alias. Fi. fa. de. bo. et. ter. In debt. [illegible] Att'y.
UNION COUNTY CIRCUIT COURT—[illegible] vs. John C. Moore, alias. Fi. fa. de. bo. et. ter. On Contract. Wm. A. Coddington, Att'y.
UNION COUNTY COMMON PLEAS COURT—Thomas Callahan vs. John C. Moore, alias. Fi. fa. de. bo. et. ter. On docketed judgment. Jackson & Codington, Att'ys.
[illegible] vs. John C. Moore, alias. Fi. fa. de. bo. et. ter. On docketed judgment. Wm. R. Codington, Att'y.
Harry Werner, vs. John C. Moore, alias. Fi. fa. de. bo. et. ter. On docketed judgment. Jackson & Codington, Att'ys.

By virtue of the above stated writs I shall expose for sale by public vendue at the court house, in the city of Elizabeth, N. J., on

WEDNESDAY, THE SIXTEENTH DAY OF AUGUST, A. D., 1893

at two o'clock in the afternoon of said day, all the right, title and interest of the defendant, John C. Moore, of, in and to all that tract or parcel of land and premises, situated in the city of Plainfield, county of Union and state of New Jersey.

[illegible]

W. H. [illegible], Sheriff.

EXECUTOR'S SETTLEMENT.

[illegible]

IN CHANCERY OF NEW JERSEY.

To George F. Marlow and William Allen.

By virtue of an order of the Court of Chancery of New Jersey, made on the day of the date hereof, in a cause wherein Caroline F. Harrison is complainant and you and others are defendants, you are required to appear, plead, answer or demur to the bill of said complainant on or before the ninth day of September next, or the said bill will be taken as confessed against you.

The said bill is filed to foreclose a mortgage given by John K. Vaughan to the said Caroline F. Harrison, dated October eighth, eighteen hundred and ninety, on lands in the city of Plainfield, Union County, New Jersey, and also on lands in the township of North Plainfield, Somerset county, New Jersey and you George F. Marlow are made a defendant because you own said lands or some part thereof, and you, William Allen, are made a defendant because you hold by assignment from said complainant a mortgage on said lands.

OSCAR KEEN,
Solicitor of Complainant, No. [illegible] Broad street, Newark, New Jersey.
Dated July 8, 1893.

Notice of Dissolution.

Notice is hereby given, that the partnership lately subsisting between John H. Jackson and William A. Codington, under the firm name of Jackson & Codington, was dissolved on the first day of August, A. D. 1893, by mutual consent. All debts owing to the said partnership are to be received by said William A. Codington and all demands on the said partnership are to be presented to him for payment.

Dated this first day of August, A. D. 1893.
JOHN H. JACKSON.
WILLIAM A. CODINGTON.

Ex-Judge W. A. Codington, the junior member of the firm, will continue the business at the same offices, corner Park avenue and Second street, Plainfield, N. J.

THE RED MEN'S COUNCIL FIRE.

MIANTONOMAH'S WIGWAM A SCENE OF FROLIC.

From Sachem to Youngest Brave They Spake, Sang, Danced, Rejoiced, Till the Morning Stars Winked Sleepily—Gorgeous Decorations and a Glorious Time.

The wigwam of Miantonomah Tribe, No. 118, Improved Order of Red Men, was gay Friday night with bright flowers and decorations from the woods and fields. The occasion was a visit from their friends and brothers of Omeme Tribe of Red Men, from Elizabeth.

The large chandelier that hangs from the centre of the wigwam was decorated with a huge umbrella of cat-tails, with a handle of ferns hanging down to within a few feet of the council fire, which itself was arched over with cedars. The Sachem's stump, occupied by Sachem John H. Carney, was attractively decorated with ferns and leaves, while near it was a pedestal covered with bouquets presented to the Sachem by the sisters of Iona Council.

On the wall behind the Sachem's stump was a large inscription with the words "Welcome, Omeme, Iona, Chiefs!" in sheet metal, and surrounded with ferns, leaves and cat-tails. The chairs of the officers were canopied over with ferns and cat-tails.

After the braves had gathered around the council fire, Charles Benton Van Winkle was initiated into the mysteries of the Red Men's Order in the presence of the visiting brethren. When the secret ceremonies were over, the council fire was quenched, and the sisters of Iona Council were invited to enter. They were introduced to the tribe by Chief of Records William Newcorn; and Sachem John H. Carney made some fitting remarks of welcome.

Speeches, songs and music were then indulged in. The first speech was made by Great Sannap Russell of Washington, who made a decided impression on the tribes assembled. Other speeches were made by Great Representative Norman C. Mague, District Deputy Great Sachem Andrew J. Stiglitz, of Plainfield, and Deputy Mrs. William Newcorn.

Past Sachem Bauerman, of Omeme, presented to Sachem John H. Carney a beautiful peace-pipe. Mr. Carney replied in a neat and humorous speech of thanks. The pipe will be on exhibition at Randolph's drug store. Pocohontas Sister Mrs. George Richter was called on for some remarks, and made a decided hit, calling forth rounds of applause. Eli M. Odam entertained the tribes with a comic song, and Wenonah Sister Mrs. Charles Holstein made a few remarks, which were followed by a short speech by Sachem Bishop of Leola Tribe. Chief Holland of Opeche Tribe delighted the members of the reservation with his comic songs; and Chief of Records, Brother Faint, of Leola Tribe, proved himself an orator in a short speech which brought forth much applause.

Sister Radin, of Iona Council, made a few remarks, and Past Sachem Orster of Omeme favored the tribes with a song.

Then to the music furnished by Messrs. Frazer and Creighter, on violin and piano, the tribes went into the banquet hall, where long tables were spread with everything that heart could desire or would stimulate the gustatory nerves.

The banquet was in charge of Sisters Mrs. George Vocni, Mrs. William Leighthauser and Mrs. Denckion. After everyone had enjoyed the pleasures of the table to his fill, the company trailed the wigwam, led by Sachem J. H. Carney and Pocohontas Sister Mrs. George Richter, back to the hall, where dancing was indulged in till morning, when the visitors were compelled to take the train for their own hunting-grounds, vowing that they had never before had so enjoyable a time.

Great credit is due Brothers Vroom, Ranger, Houseman, Westphal, Wyckoff, Odam, Allabam, Newcorn and Stiglitz for their energy and taste in preparing the elaborate decorations that graced the wigwam.

FUNERAL OF H. K. VOORHEES.

Odd Fellow Brethren and Fellow-workmen Prominent at the Obsequies.

The funeral of Hiram K. Voorhees, who died from injuries received in a fall in a partially completed house a few days ago, was held this afternoon, and a large number of friends of the deceased attended the ceremonies.

The Odd Fellows, of which organization Mr. Voorhees was a member, held their particular services at his late residence, 40 Duer street, North Plainfield, at 1:15, whence they accompanied the body to the First Methodist Episcopal church, where the Rev. Dr. C. R. Barnes conducted the ceremonies. Dr. Barnes spoke at length of the character of the dead man and emphasized the beauty of the belief in the hereafter with many examples to give force to the discourse.

The flowers were very handsome, and included a pillow of asters and roses from Engine Company No. 2, a cross from the employers of the deceased, and a crescent from his fellow-workmen, employes of Marsh, Ayres & Co., who turned out nearly 30 strong, at the church. The body was followed to the North avenue station by the Odd Fellows, marshaled by W. D. Ford, the members of Plainfield Engine Company No. 2, and the employ of Marsh, Ayres & Co. The pall-bearers were:

Watson Tunison, G. W. VanNest,
Fred W. Bird, Robert Barnes,
E. W. Pepper, E. H. Wolverton.

The interment was in Somerville.

HE NEVER CAME BACK.

Grocer's Clerk John Davis Is Mourned $900 Worth, in Ripleyville.

John W. Davis couldn't resist the World's Fair fever, and stole to go. John was a grocery clerk, and for two years drove a wagon for W. W. Gilby of Westfield. Last Saturday he went away, promising to return Monday. He failed to come back at the time stated, but no special importance was attached to the matter until yesterday, when Mrs. Corkright, who had given Davis $25 to hand to Landlord Whitaker to pay her rent, asked why she had not received a receipt. Mr. Whitaker said that the money had not been given to him. Inquiry revealed the fact that Davis had made preparations to leave Westfield for good. He procured clothing from the tailors and gave them worthless checks, and also bought shoes in the same way. Wherever he could get a friend to cash a check for him he did so. Altogether, including Mrs. Corkright's rent money, he secured nearly $900 before leaving town. He had been greatly excited over the World's Fair, and it is believed that he went direct to Chicago.

To Be Kept on its High Plane.

[From The Westfield Leader.]

Walter Irving Clarke has succeeded J. A. Demarest (appointed Consul at Brockville, Can.,) as Managing Editor of the Plainfield Press. Mr. Clarke has been three years associate editor, in which position he has done excellent work. A native of the same Massachusetts city (Pittsfield) as the editor of the Leader, he has had a journalistic experience of nine successive years, and will keep the Press on its present high plane.

TRAPPED IN A BOX CAR.

FIVE FANWOOD TRAMPS ADROITLY HANDLED.

Knights of the Road Have Been Terrorizing the Township, But They Met Their Match in the Stalwart Judge and Colonel, Charles H. Moore.

Friday evening about 9 a tramp with one arm apparently in a sling called at the residence of L. J. Briggs, Fanwood, and demanded money. The fellow on looking through the front door could see a party of ladies in the library, but could not see a party of gentlemen in the dining room. Judge Moore happened to be one of the latter party, and hearing the demand for money immediately interviewed the tramp and ordered him to leave town at once. Disclaiming the title of tramp, the fellow started towards Westfield. A few minutes later a messenger arrived from Dr. F. W. Westcott asking the Judge to come to the station. On meeting the Doctor, and also Mr. Davis, he learned from them that they had both been interfered with on the public highway by two tramps, and they thought the men had left in the direction of Plainfield. Judge Moore at once advised the Plainfield police by wire, and, accompanied by Station Agent Fisher, made a tour of investigation. No tramps were found, but Mr. Warren, who was on the lookout at his residence, reported that one of the gentry called on him; and on his demands being refused turned away, not neglecting, however, to appropriate an umbrella from the piazza. Mr. Warren followed him, and in his efforts to escape the thief dropped the umbrella. Had Mr. Warren overtaken him, something else would have dropped, but not Warren.

Saturday morning at 6 the Judge was awakened by a messenger from the station. On arriving there, he was informed by the agent that there were a number of suspicious characters in a box car opposite.

The Judge found the statement to be true, and, finding one of the doors fastened, quickly closed and fastened the other, and the rats were caught.

"Let us out, or we will cut our way out"—they yelled.

"All right:"—said the Judge—"you can only come one at a time, and the first will receive a bullet."

Quiet ensued for a moment, when the spokesman of the party promised that if they were released they would immediately leave the town.

At length the Judge relented, though he says he at first decided to wait for the local freight, attach the car and bring it to Plainfield. On the door being opened, out jumped five intelligent-looking tramps. One of them told the Judge they did not want to be jailed in this weather, and mistaking him for a constable remarked that he supposed that official and the Judge would make something out of the case.

"I am the Judge"—remarked Mr. Moore.

"Great Scott, boys, let's skip!"—said one, and after promising to notify all men of the same profession they might meet on the road to steer clear of Fanwood, they were permitted to depart; not, however, without one quietly remarking: "If Union county wants to pay our board for awhile, we will return when the snow begins to fly".

Rahway Clamors for Kyte's Successor.

The Westfield Standard is respectfully informed by the Rahway Advocate "that Rahway is entitled both by precedent and party usage to the Republican nomination for Assembly this year. Plainfield, in the person of the Hon. John Ulrich, was honored for three years, 1887-89, next the townships, 1890-92, by the Hon. Geo. Kyte, and this year the nomination will be, without doubt, cheerfully accorded to Rahway by the Third District Republicans."

More Than Ordinary Ability.

[From The Bound Brook Chronicle.]

With the departure of J. A. Demarest to Canada, where President Cleveland gave him an important mission, Walter Irving Clarke is advanced to the editorial chair of the Plainfield Daily Press. Mr. Clarke is a writer of more than ordinary ability, the article on Mimon Peak printed in this paper last week being from his pen. In him the Press will have the right man in the right place.

A Summer Show Right Here at Home.

Plainfield amusement-lovers will have a chance next Wednesday night to enjoy light summer entertainment without going to the metropolitan roof-gardens. Burlesque and vaudeville will be richly interpreted at the Music Hall opening by Helen Russell's incomparable company of feminine artists. The costuming will be new and gorgeous, and the array of talent and beauty superb.

A Fine Day at Paplac.

By the kindness of Alfred Norbury, Superintendent of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Society, his staff of assistants and their families enjoyed Friday very much at Paplac. They were carefully and quickly conveyed by Capt. Hand's stage.

A Hustler.

(From The Somerville Democrat)

Walter Irving Clarke succeeds Brother Demarest as Managing Editor of the Plainfield Daily Press. Mr. Clarke is a hustler, and is sure to make the paper more bright and spicy than ever.

A Great Public Improvement.

The expense of putting Rock avenue in shape so that it will not be impassable this winter as heretofore, was $336.92, to be equally divided between township and borough.

Now We'll All Go.

Ice-cold lemonade will be provided for those in attendance at the Y. M. C. A. meeting at 4:15 p. m. to-morrow. There will be quartette and solo singing.

In Paint the best is the cheapest. Strictly Pure White Lead is best; properly applied it will not scale, chip, chalk, or rub off; it firmly adheres to the wood and forms a permanent base for repainting. Paints which peel or scale have to be removed by scraping or burning before satisfactory repainting can be done. When buying it is important to obtain properly made. Time has proven that white lead made by the "Old Dutch" process of slow corrosion possesses qualities that cannot be obtained by any other method of manufacture. This process consumes four to six months time, and produces the brands that have given White Lead its character as the standard paint.

Strictly Pure White Lead

"Atlantic" "Bradley" "Brooklyn" "Jewett" "Ulster"

are standard brands of strictly pure Lead made by the "Old Dutch" process. You get the best in buying them. You can produce any desired color by tinting these brands of white lead with National Lead Co.'s Pure White Lead Tinting Colors.

For sale by the most reliable dealers in Paints everywhere.

If you are going to paint, it will pay you to send to us for a book containing information that may save you many a dollar; it will only cost you a postal card to do so.

NATIONAL LEAD CO.,
1 Broadway, New York.

SENATOR SMITH STOPS A TRAIN

AND TALKS INTERESTINGLY ABOUT THE EXTRA SESSION.

He Declares There Will Be No Restriction of Debate in the Senate, But That the Plan Is to Repeal the Sherman Law and Then Adjourn Without Considering Substitutes—He and Dr. English Start for the Capital.

The Pennsylvania Railroad Congressional Limited goes through Newark towards Washington at 2:45 p. m. The spectator sees a long, dark line whiz by and hears a report as the crack in the atmosphere closes.

The only things that can stop the train, except head-on collisions, are United States Senators; and one of the latter, James Smith, Jr., the popular and accomplished New Jersey statesman, accomplished the feat Thursday. He had a red flag jammed into the platform, and when the locomotive stopped with a snort all the trainmen and passengers looked out to see the collision or the Senator, whichever it might be. When the train was at a standstill, Senator Smith and Congressman English hopped aboard and began their journey to Washington.

Before leaving for Washington, Senator Smith made an important statement to a Daily Advertiser reporter about the extra session. The big fight over silver will of course be made in the Senate.

"There will be no curtailing speech;"—he said—"but the present plan is to repeal the Sherman act at once and adjourn until December without offering a substitute.

"This would leave the Secretary of the Treasury free to purchase silver at his discretion. In reality, however, it would mean the immediate stoppage of such purchase, because we have more bullion on hand now than is needed.

"By the time December comes, we can see how the business of the country is, and then act accordingly."

Senator Smith's views will be read with much interest, for Senator Smith is always right.

That always bright and clever journal, the Bound Brook Chronicle, has hit on a happy heading for its South Bound Brook paragraphs, and speaks of happenings on the other side of the Raritan as "Transpontine Affairs".

With the retirement of the veteran Noah Brooks, the editorship of the Newark Daily Advertiser devolves upon Frederick Evans, Jr., a newspaper man who has already made a high mark in the journalistic world. Mr. Evans is a comparatively recent accession to The Advertiser, and since his connection as manager the journal has progressed steadily. From its old plane of conservatism he has brought it forward and made it a modern and model newspaper, and now that he is to have supreme control of its columns and the direction of its policy it is bound to lead the State.

A MANLY RECORD.

Ever since his election, by a gratifying majority, March 8, 1892, to the office of Councilman, Michael F. Connolly has served the borough of North Plainfield with commendable devotion. Mr. Connolly is an earnest man, one who devotes his fullest energies to whatever work he has in hand, and the reason for his resignation is that he felt he could not in his limited time faithfully serve his constituents. His conscientiousness does him credit. Mr. Connolly goes out of office as he went into it, with the sincere respect and esteem of every good citizen, irrespective of partisanship.

POPULARIZE THE PARK.

Tennis enthusiasts of Dunellen have petitioned the Borough Commissioners for the privilege of establishing a court in the public park property. The permission will doubtless be granted, and it is respectfully suggested to Plainfield's Fathers that this city might very properly follow suit. Plainfield's modest city park needs development, and a portion of its present ugly waste might very judiciously be laid out in a well-kept tennis court where devotees of the great sport might cut and drive to their heart's content. With a tennis court by day and a band-stand for free evening concerts, and a few other improvements, the city park would become a scene of much activity and enjoyment.

THE EVOLUTION OF RED PAT.

Thrifty Dunellenites have long poked fun at a local character known as Red Pat. They have cuffed him about and sneered at him and sent him to jail. Returning from his latest visit to the iron-barred cell, Patrick surprised everyone by appearing in a new suit, and giving pledge of reform. The Call newspaper says that he looks absolutely like a gentleman. Well then, make him one, good citizens of Dunellen! Patrick has taken sufficient interest in himself to earn clean garments and to long for clean heart and habits. He promises to be sober and industrious, if given the chance. Give him that chance. The manhood in him has been awakened, he sees the wretchedness of his past, and longs to be different. Whether he is to be a respected citizen or the town laughing-stock depends largely on how his professions are treated. They deserve credence and support. Give him plenty to do and plenty to eat, and above all don't twit him of his past. Twitting has sent many a man on the back road. The Press will watch with interest the courageous attempt of Red Pat to break away from himself. Give the man a chance!

RULE OF THE TONGUE.

Recent events have demonstrated that he who can control a mob is not always capable of self-government. When a disorderly gang swarmed about the house of Charles L. Parmele, bent on violence, one of the most stalwart defenders of the peace was Sergeant Patrick Lynch. Mr. Lynch has done years of creditable police service, and is appreciated accordingly. But in one flash of temper he fell from grace. His superior, Captain Grant, gave him instructions which he improperly resented; a hasty and insolent word, and he and his good Captain were separated by a painful breach of discipline. The Sergeant is as good-hearted as he is big, and soon calmed down and reflected. To-day he is humbly penitent, and ready to ask for pardon and return to duty. The Press would advise his reinstatement. The Sergeant manfully and contritely acknowledges his wrong; he has suffered and is suffering considerable mental disquietude and mortification. The offense, while it should be condemned severely, is not so bad that it cannot be forgiven. The people will be glad to see the big Sergeant don his brass and blue again, and happy to experience once more the sense of protection that his brave and manly qualities inspire when he is on patrol. The Sergeant has learned the lesson that he who controls his tongue is greater than the ruler of a city, and he will be a better officer than before as a result of this little episode.

'Twill Be a Society Show.

All Dunellen is planning for the grand lawn bazar of the M. E. Epworth League, August 22, 23 and 24. Among the features will be a [illegible]

RISKED HIS LIFE FOR THE BET.

Bartender Coombs Won the Whisky Barrel Wager.

If ever man earned $10, Louis Coombs did yesterday. He wagered Expressman Rickert $5 that unassisted he could get a 320-lb. barrel of whiskey out of the Hotel Granada cellar. For fully two hours he wrestled with that barrel, and by 4:30 had got it half way up. He used two planks to roll it up the steps, and blocked it every time he pushed it ahead an inch. In spite of the rain, a crowd gathered on the sidewalk and watched and joked and cheered. One skeptic rashly wagered $5 more against the prospects of Coombs getting the barrel out, and Coombs snapped him up. The time limit was 5, and several minutes before the hour Coombs mustered all his energy, force and boosted the barrel out upon the flagging amid the plaudits of the bystanders. Coombs was covered with dust, and soaked with sweat. But he got his $10, and after a bath and a rubbing down he was as fresh and smiling as a new-blown rose.

One of the interested spectators was James Connolly, who was enthusiastic over the pluck and endurance shown by Coombs.

"He did it manfully"—said Mr. Connolly—"At the last he rose up like a Hercules, and there she was on the sidewalk as solid as a rock."

The great event was duly celebrated after dinner, with much flow of jubilation and spirit, at the Granada bar.

WILL STAND NO NONSENSE.

Mayor Saunders Says the Borough Street-Lighting Muss Is Inexcusable.

The Borough Mayor Friday night urged Councilman Hummer of the Lights Committee to take firm hold of the muddle in which the North Plainfield street-lighting system has been. Mr. Saunders said it was inexcusable for the streets to be in darkness because of the simple matter of elevating the wires out of reach of the trolley system. The Mayor is one of the leading practical engineers in the country, and he urged that there was absolutely no reason for such a bungling job. Not a single lamp should have been out one night. It was all very simple to effect such a change without any such prolonged inconvenient experience as the borough had been obliged to undergo. The lighting company's attempt to put the blame on the street railway company was no excuse. The lighting company was responsible to the borough, and should have seen to it that the thing was properly managed.

ANOTHER SAD AFFLICTION.

Death of F. A. Miller, the Well-known West End Druggist.

Frederick A. Miller, who kept a drug store at 202 Muhlenberg place, died this morning in his forty-fourth year. He was comparatively a new-comer in Plainfield, having been in business here but five years, but he had won many friends and patrons, and by his untiring industry had built up a prosperous establishment. He was one of the kindest of men, and besides his devotion to his family he had the quality of true charity—helping the needy in secret, out of the goodness of his heart. Many a poor person will cherish his memory for the deeds of kindness he bestowed.

Mr. Miller came to Plainfield from Paterson. A widow and two lovely daughters mourn the untimely end of the husband and father cut down in the prime of life.

PLAINFIELD TAKE WARNING.

That New Law Against Contaminating Streams Is Dangerous to Trifle With.

The Westfield Board of Health, through its Secretary, John M. C. Marsh, caused the arrest of Charles Hickel for throwing the carcass of a horse into Branch Mills Brook. The arrest was made under the sanitary code. Judge Collins fined Hickel $20 and costs. Under a law passed at the last session of the Legislature the pollution of a stream in this manner is punishable by a fine of not more than $1,000 or imprisonment for not more than two years. The Board will probably prefer charges against Hickel before the next Grand Jury under this law.

In Township and Borough.

The North Plainfield Registry Boards as officially announced from Somerville are:

NORTH PLAINFIELD TOWNSHIP.

First district—John T. Case and D. J. Carney, Democrats; Lewis A. Barkalow and Albert Vail, Republicans.

Second district—John Bodine and George W. Squire, Democrats; Randolph G. Stivers and J. Worth Coddington, Republicans.

NORTH PLAINFIELD BOROUGH.

First district—John L. Blackford and George B. Stewart, Democrats; Lewis Kline and Chas. Tallman, Republicans.

Second district—Edward C. Moree and David E. Smalley, Democrats; Newton B. Smalley and John A. Goodwin, Republicans.

Pyquotte's Cow in Soukup's Corn.

Mrs. Vydelle Pyquotte was assaulted by J. Soukup, in Dunellen, while driving her cow home from pasture. It seems that the cow had got into Soukup's corn, and when he found it out he attempted to take the animal away from its owner and drive it to the pound. Mrs. Pyquotte held her own, and was a little too much for Soukup, who, finding he was foiled in his attempt to get the cow to the pound, began to abuse the woman with vile language. She had him arrested and taken before Justice Stormes, who made him give bonds to appear before the Grand Jury at New Brunswick at the September term of court.

Wishes of Success.

Editor Lowrie of the Dunellen Call reprints from these columns the recent announcement of change of management, and says:

It is with pleasure that we print the following, taken from the Plainfield Press, Saturday edition. The words in commendation of the retiring editor we feel are richly deserved, and the words of praise in reference to the one who has been appointed to take his place are not too strongly drawn. May success attend Mr. Clarke in his enlarged field is the wish of the Call.

St. Nick the Prince of All.

The St. Nicholas magazine, always the cream of juvenile publications, has absorbed its only worthy competitor, Wide Awake. The consolidation will make St. Nicholas absolutely unapproachable in merit by any possible rival. The beauty of St. Nicholas will continue to be that not only very young people but children of a larger growth with gray hair and specs delight to revel in its pages.

Giving Westfield Gas a Chance to Grow.

The Sargent Gas Machine Company has been incorporated at Westfield, with a capital of $50,000. The machines will be manufactured at the Irving mill, on Central avenue, which has been run for a year past as an experimenting shop. Mr. Sargent considers that he now has the machine past the experimental stage and can guarantee its working.

She Doesn't Want More.

Mrs. Stone has rendered a bill against the James Todd estate, Dunellen, for $7,300. Among the items are 62 weeks board at $5 per week and 62 months rent of a tenement house.

—The Warren hose house is [illegible] as far as the brickwork and [illegible], and the [illegible] $150 was [illegible].

[illegible] putting their allowance. A sailing length computed on the present water line of the Valkyrie would, in view of the double penalty, seriously interfere with her chances of winning, provided the defender was of the specified length on waterline and the race a close one. It is announced that the Valkyrie's spars have been reduced and other alterations made in her which will bring her just within the limit.

By the time the Valkyrie reaches these shores she is likely to have again increased her load-waterline length, as she is a composite yacht and such boats always increase in length and displacement a little after two or three months' immersion. By the use of the adze and by the stripping of inside fittings she can undoubtedly be brought back to the limit, however. It is by no means certain that the cup defenders will not be found to have the same trouble as the Valkyrie and alterations may have to be made in them to bring them to the 85-foot waterline.

A Superfluous [illegible].

Little Fannie's big sister Esmeralda was entertaining Freddy Bondelipper, one of the wealthy young men of Harlem, and thinking she could get along without Fannie's assistance, she patted the little one on the head and said:

"Come, little pet, it's time your eyes were shut in sleep."

"Guess not," said Fannie; "mother told me to keep my eyes open when you and Mr. Bondelipper were together."—Texas Siftings.

Half a Loaf for Each.

Dick Gordon met a lady friend from the country, and after the theater they went to an up-town restaurant. Each glanced at a bill of fare, and Dick said to the waiter:

"Gimme a half-dozen fried oysters."

"You may give me half a dozen broiled lobsters," said the young lady.

Mr. Gordon fainted and the waiter fell in a trance.—Albany Journal.

A Noble Ambition.

Cholly—I'm tired of letting paw support me, and I've made up me mind to become independent of him, don't you know.

Miss Bullion—I think that's a very noble ambition.

Cholly—Yaas. I've determined to settle down and marry some nice rich girl like you, don't you know.—N. Y. Weekly.

Railroads.

The Pennsylvania Railroad.
The Standard Railway of America
Protected throughout by the Interlocking switch and Block Signal System.

On and after July 1, 1893, trains will leave Rahway as follows:

8.48 a. m.—Columbian Express daily, Pullman vestibule sleeping cars to Chicago and Cincinnati, dining, smoking and vestibule passenger coaches from New York to Chicago. Arrive Chicago 10 a. m., Cincinnati 8.25 a. m., Indianapolis 7.45 a. m. next day.

[illegible]

S. M. PREVOST, General Manager.
J. R. WOOD, Gen. Pass. Agent.

Central Railroad of New Jersey.
(Anthracite coal used exclusively insuring cleanliness and comfort.)
Station in New York foot of Liberty Street. Time Table in Effect JUNE 24, 1893.

PLAINFIELD AND NEW YORK.

[illegible]

WESTWARD CONNECTIONS.

[illegible]

TELEPHONE COMPANY!

[illegible]

Central Office—[illegible] North Avenue.

Subscriber's Name.	Address.
[illegible]	[illegible]
Children's Home	Sandford ave.
[illegible]	[illegible]
Daily Press	1 North ave.
[illegible]	[illegible]
Freight House	C. RR. Depot.
[illegible]	[illegible]
Muhlenberg Hospital	South ave.
[illegible]	[illegible]
Telegraph Office	Plainfield station
[illegible]	[illegible]
United States Express Co.	5 North ave.
Union Co Country Club	Cor 7th St & Arlington
[illegible]	[illegible]
Western Union Telegraph Company	at Depot
[illegible]	[illegible]
Westfield, pay station	Westfield, N J
[illegible]	[illegible]

TELEPHONE TOLL RATES.
FOR FIVE MINUTES CONVERSATION.
PLAINFIELD, NEW JERSEY

[illegible]

TWENTY
Years experience in the business.
SECOND STREET, 2 doors above [illegible]

[illegible]

ALBERT HEDDEN,
Livery and Boarding Stables
FOURTH STREET,

[illegible]

WOMAN OF FASHION.

The Hat Worn by the Dainty Summer Maiden.

Lightness Must Be the First Consideration—Bonnets With Which We Trim—Shape of the Sailor—The Chiffon Poke and the Spotless Veil.

[COPYRIGHT, 1893.]

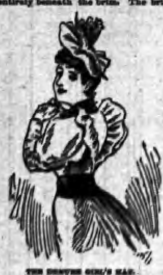
In the hottest of all hot days the summer girl wonders what could have possessed the first human being that demanded a covering for the head. Paul, no doubt, had a great deal to do with it, when he so strictly enjoined upon a woman the necessity of covering her head, not only with hair but with some adornment. But, holy man that he was, he must have approved of all our pretty little fixings and fussings, for he expressly states, after telling us that the woman was made for man, that "for this cause ought the woman to have power on her head."

Now, Paul was right, and although in the sultry days we would fain discard every speck of headgear, we recognize that it can indeed be made a wondrous power. That is why the summer girl is willing to be burdened with the weight of her beautiful, bewitching, lovely summer bonnets. They feel dreadfully uncomfortable, particularly when the heavy coil of hair also lies close to her head, but she knows that the daring little curve on one side, and the turn-back brim on the other, where nestle flowers, feathers or knot, brightens her face wonderfully, and by its peculiar shape brings into more prominence a rather insignificant feature. For, thanks to the freedom with which one may twist and turn the straw of to-day, a hat may bring out charms of which you never dreamed and soften irregularities or an undue prominence of points that have caused you worry and anxious thought.

There is latitude—more latitude than ever before—in the choice of your bonnets. Never have more styles been shown in the shops, as "the latest." The latitude has spread to colors; although, of course, we are usually careful to match our gown or the trimming of it. And when we have done this, no more thought seems to be expended for the coloring, except, possibly, to ascertain how many seemingly incongruous colors and shades may be blended into a harmonious whole.

We have read a great deal, of late, about the revivals of the old styles in bonnets, and, for curiosity, I ran through an old book to see if it was so. The glance was very reassuring. Such lofty pinnacles as those old hats attained it has never been our lot to know. The structures were most complex. Indeed, I marvel that they held together for a season—if, indeed, they actually did. Not only were they tall, but wide and massive and closely knit together. These structures, however, all bore the stamp of the directoire, and not of the good Princess Eugenie.

If you wish to be coquettish trim your hat altogether in front and almost entirely beneath the brim. The brim must be broad, must be turned back somewhat, must be curved or plaited and then trimmed with long looped bows, tiny birds, chiffon puff or other adornment. We grow cruel again. The perfect bird or the wings of it are seen once more upon the summer hat. It is usually the wing only, however. When the brim has been duly covered it is permissible to add one or two velvet or chiffon rosettes, a loop or two or a small flower cluster just back of it. This completes your hat, which slopes off your head in a downward, backward slant, very charming in view of the broad, upturned brim.



THE [illegible] GIRL'S HAT.

But for summer the chief object to be kept in view is lightness and airiness in effect, except, possibly, in the case of the yachting and outing hats, which are trimmed in more sober, solid fashion.

Choose the lightest and thinnest of straws, but, by no means, when the big fire flares are positively unbecoming, the smallest. For the big hat is the favorite, although it is often so bent and twisted that it loses half of its dignity in the process. Fold after fold of it, puff after puff, rosette after rosette, caught with great gold-headed pins, make a beautiful and not expensive trimming. If both hat and trimming are true straw-color, nothing can be prettier.

The leghorn, just at this season so popular and so seasonable, is graceful and soft and drooping. The white hat is a thing of beauty, if preserved spotless. I saw such a pretty one—quaint and old-fashioned; all looped and encircled with white net and lavender chiffon. There were some delicate white flower sprays added, and a bit of white velvet beneath. Lavender is cool looking and accordingly most desirable.

In flowers, blues hold their own. In fact, the complaint one hears everywhere is that all the pretty blues are gone, and that no more can be had at the shops. Flowers are somewhat overshadowed this summer by gauzy clouds of chiffon and billows of lace. They peep out, it is true, but more modestly and shyly than of old, save where one meets a great imperious stalk, that rears itself proudly above the wonderful structure built by the deft hands of the milliner.

As with the big hats, so with the sailor—all shapes and sizes. We fluctuate between the English sailor, the French sailor and the sailor whose name is not on record. The English, I think, can claim the victory, for every one was wearing the high crowned, broad brimmed straw, as I watched them to-day. They cost from fifty cents to three dollars. The latter price secures a beautiful, fine straw, of either blue or red or white. The white were mostly in demand. The sailor of two colors—red and blue—were also popular. On the Fourth of July the patriotic maiden added a white ribbon to the red and blue straw and was proud of her colors.

The French sailor, of leather, took our fancy for awhile, but we turned quickly. This sailor is trimmed with flower bunches at the sides and its brim is quite narrow. The white felt sailor, also for yachting, has a high crown and exceedingly narrow brim.

The low-crowned sailor is worn to considerable extent. The crown is about an inch high and the hat is invariably trimmed with ribbon, wings or straw. One of these has two rows of the shining, braided straw encircling the crown and another row at the edge of the brim. A couple of wings and a few ribbon loops are added at the sides.

The chiffon poke is the latest for truly rural districts. An organdie, a chiffon hat, pointed in front and drooping over each pink ear, leaves nothing to be desired either in coolness or appearance. It is just as soft and pretty as can be, and rests as lightly on one's tresses that it is possible to be cool when wearing it.

And the veil—have we discarded it? Ah, no; strange as it may seem, the veil glory never grows less. In winter it is such a protection from the cold; in the summer it is a shield to our wayward locks of hair, that are ever [illegible] redness or the freckles that will come.

MISCELLANEOUS MISCELLANEOUS.

E. P. THORN,
No. 17 Park Avenue,
PLAINFIELD, N. J.

Pure Wines and Liquors,
For Family and Medicinal Use,
A SPECIALTY.

3-25-y

CASTORIA
for Infants and Children.

THIRTY years' observation of Castoria with the patronage of millions of persons, permit us to speak of it without guessing. It is unquestionably the best remedy for Infants and Children the world has ever known. It is harmless. Children like it. It gives them health. It will save their lives. In it Mothers have something which is absolutely safe and practically perfect as a child's medicine.

Castoria destroys Worms.
Castoria allays Feverishness.
Castoria prevents vomiting Sour Curd.
Castoria cures Diarrhoea and Wind Colic.
Castoria relieves Teething Troubles.
Castoria cures Constipation and Flatulency.

Castoria neutralizes the effects of carbonic acid gas or poisonous air.
Castoria does not contain morphine, opium, or other narcotic property.
Castoria assimilates the food, regulates the stomach and bowels, giving healthy and natural sleep.
Castoria is put up in one-size bottles only. It is not sold in bulk.
Don't allow any one to sell you anything else on the plea or promise that it is "just as good" and "will answer every purpose."
See that you get C-A-S-T-O-R-I-A.

The fac-simile signature of Chas. H. Fletcher is on every wrapper.

Children Cry for Pitcher's Castoria.

So we cling to the veil. It has, however, with the coming of summer, consented to drop its warm and royal color, and has taken to itself spotless white. So that the purple veil is already a thing of the past, and the brilliant green shade, that attempted to supplant it, is utterly forgotten.

White net sprinkled with big velvet dots, is much worn; a finer net, with lace border and rather large lace design scattered over, is chosen by some; a small mesh, closely covered with minute black dots, many women pick up lovingly in their fingers. The veil is still large, drops under the chin as much as it will, hangs loosely all around the face, and even down around the back of the head if you will. The pretty summer flush, which always accompanies the summer girl, shows softly between the meshes.

EVA A. SCHUBERT.

A Good Name for a Camel.

"I guess that's Humpty Dumpty," said Mollie, as she gazed at the camel and noted the curious humps on his back.—Harper's Young People.

A Month or Two Hence.

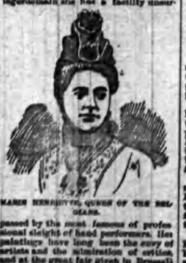
"Who is that man the crowds are following about the streets?"

"He is the only stranger in Chicago that hasn't a title."—Chicago Tribune.

MARIE HENRIETTE.

The Most Versatile of Any Crowned Woman of Europe.

The golden rose of virtue conferred by the pope will this year go to Marie Henriette, queen of the Belgians. The fact that the lady has had to wait so many years for this consecrated token should not be regarded as in any way a reflection upon her worthiness to wear it. It is only that there are so many ladies of rank in Europe to whom the golden rose of virtue belongs by right, that the queen of the Belgians has been forced to wait. The queen of the Belgians is, perhaps, the most versatile in her talents of any crowned woman of Europe. She is an adept at the piano, violin, harp and a number of minor musical instruments; is a horsewoman of the greatest skill and daring, and, strangely enough, in legerdemain she has a facility unsurpassed by the most famous of professional sleight of hand performers. Her paintings have long been the envy of artists and the admiration of critics, and at the great fair given in Brussels last year an album containing water color sketches by the countess of Flanders and her daughter was bought by Sir Edmund Monson, the British minister to Belgium, who at the same time expressed deep regret that he had not been able to secure the specimen of the queen's handiwork—a group of violets—which had fallen to the bid of M. Leo Lambert de Rothschild. Early next day the funds of the good cause for which the bazar was given received a noteworthy and unexpected addition by her majesty having contributed another very pretty picture, especially sent from the palace to meet the wishes of the British minister.



MARIE HENRIETTE, QUEEN OF THE BELGIANS.

He's a Jumper.

The kangaroo readily leaps from sixty to seventy feet. The highest recorded leap of a horse is thirty-seven feet.

DR. O'KEARNEY'S SHOT.

It Saved the Life of an Indian at the Last Moment.

Exciting Sport by a Retired Officer in the Jungles Near Bombay—The Capture of Three Tiger Cubs—Other Adventures.

Dr. Brian O'Kearney, a retired surgeon of the British army in India, has been a guest of the Palace for several days. He has the outward appearance of an old veteran, and the vast fund of anecdote which old travelers are apt to have. To a representative of the San Francisco Examiner he related an experience in the jungle as follows:

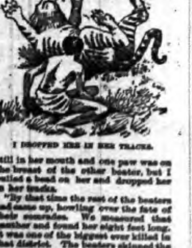
"We followed on half [illegible], you know, [illegible] the news that a big panther and [illegible] cover, we lost no time in getting up a party of beaters and starting out.

"The beast turned out to be a panther. She had hidden her cubs somewhere and had taken possession of a nulla or ravine only about a mile from the house. The beaters did not care to go up the ravine after they had located the panther, so I took a dog boy and a man to carry my second gun and we started ahead.

"There was not a sound to be heard save our own movements. We had gone about ten rods up the nulla when there was a half growl, half spit, like that of an angry cat, and the big beast jumped out of the bushes within a yard of my face.

"One of the men was on his knees half under me pulling away the brush; the other was at my left hand with the extra gun. The panther ignored him, but she pulled the dog boy out from between my legs as a cat would a mouse. She took this poor fellow in her mouth, seized the other with her paw and then made for the thick brush again.

"I confess I was too frightened to stir, but as she passed me she gave me a blow with her great long tail, as much as to say: 'My mouth is full and my paws are busy, but I'll give you one whack just for luck.' That blow sent me spinning down the hill, and that fact sealed the big beast's death warrant. I kept hold of my gun, and when I got to my feet she turned her broadside toward me. The dog boy was still in her mouth and one paw was on the breast of the other beater, but I pulled a bead on her and dropped her in her tracks.



I DROPPED HER IN HER TRACKS.

"By that time the rest of the beaters had come up, howling over the fate of their comrades. We measured that panther and found her eight feet long. It was one of the biggest ever killed in that district. The beaters skinned the beast, and I've got the pelt at my home in India now."

Dr. O'Kearney also related an experience with tigers on the Bombay side. He told how the beaters in that district tracked a tiger by the pugprints, or footmarks, and then lined up to get the big game at bay.

"In this case, however," said the huntsman, "the tiger got between the beaters in the line without anybody getting a shot at her, but we captured three tiger cubs about six weeks old. I held one of these up in my hands and made it whine, thinking perhaps the mother would come back, but we never saw or heard of her again.

"One of these cubs was tamed by Col. Hansen of the army, another was sent to the Zoological garden in London, and I do not remember what became of the third. They weighed about twenty pounds each at the time we got them. They were tiger-striped as pretty as you please, and if they could have forgotten their savage nature they would have made the cunningest kind of playthings."

Dr. O'Kearney, before his retirement from active service, was in the Afghanistan war, in 1879-80. He was with the Sixty-sixth regiment at the battle of Mayand, when that body of troops known as the Kandahar column was hopelessly routed by the overwhelming forces of Ayub Khan. The old veteran says that more than half the regiment were killed, and if the Afghans had followed up their advantage not one of the British soldiers would have escaped.

Far Better Not to [illegible].

Miss Birdie (at the restaurant)—I do so love Roquefort cheese! By the way, Cousin Harry, what makes those pretty green streaks all through it?

Cousin Harry (who has traveled)—They are painted, I dare say, by some mold master. Have another cup of coffee?—Chicago Tribune.

History Review.

Teacher—What can you remember about Ponce de Leon?

Bright Boy—He was searching for the—the soda fountain of youth, and he discovered the Mississippi and—and was saved by Pocahontas and—and I forget the rest, 'cept he died [illegible].—Good News.

THE CONSTITUTIONALIST.

VOL. XXVI. PLAINFIELD, N. J., THURSDAY, AUGUST 17, 1893. No 33.

"Support the Constitution, which is the cement of the Union, as well in its limitations as in its authorities."—MADISON.

Rates of Advertising

Space	Weeks 1	2	3	Months 1	2	3	6	12
1 in.	$1.00	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]
2 in.	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]
3 in.	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]
4 in.	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]
5 in.	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]
¼ col.	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]
½ col.	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]
1 col.	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]

All Electro's must be solid metal.

Double cols. 30 per ct. advance of above rates.

PROFESSIONAL CARDS.

JACKSON & CODINGTON,
Counsellors-at-Law,
Commissioners of Deeds, Masters-in-Chancery, Notaries Public. Offices corner of Park avenue and Second street.—jadf

GEORGE W. DAY,
General Auctioneer.
Sales of Personal Property solicited. P. O. Box 135, Dunellen, N. J., or address in care of CONSTITUTIONALIST. Terms reasonable.

DR. CHARLES E. THEIRS,
Dentist,
West Front street. A new local anaesthetic application for extracting teeth without pain. Gold filling a specialty.—jadf

BUSINESS CARDS.

P. P. VanArsdale,
PIANO TUNER.
Instruments put in thorough order. Terms reasonable. Pianos and Organs for sale and to let. Orders by postal, P. O. box 160, or left at Willett's shoe store, No. 6 Park avenue, will receive prompt attention. Residence 61 E. Front street, corner Elm street. jly19tf

John Chandler,
CARPENTER AND BUILDER,
Plainfield, N. J.
Residence and shop No. 36 East Third street.
Jobbing promptly attended to. apiy

E. B. MAYNARD,
PRACTICAL BARBER
AND
Artistic Hair Dresser,
No. 26 PARK AVENUE.
Ladies' and Children's Hair Cutting done at their residences. Shaving, Shampooing, etc. satisfactorily performed. 11lyl

CARNEY BROTHERS, Agents,
7 West Front St.
TINNERS,
PLUMBERS,
GAS FITTERS.
PARLOR STOVES,
COOK STOVES,
HEATERS.

Grates and Bricks for all kinds of Stoves can be found here at Jobbers' prices. Bring your Tinware mending to us. The best Tinners, the best Plumbers, and the best Gas-fitters in this section. We use none but the very best of materials, and our work always gives satisfaction.

Keys of All Kinds are Made Here.
Tinware Made to Order.
Ranges, Brick and Portable Furnaces
SANITARY PLUMBING.

Parlor Stoves,
Furnaces, Ranges,
Water Piping, Plumbing.
Heater Work, Tinning,
Hardware.
A. M. GRIFFEN,
13 East Front Street.
TELEPHONE CALL, 6. 11 11-tf

Beautiful Assortment!
Furniture!
Largest Assortment!
Best Goods!
Lowest Prices?
Ever Offered in Plainfield!
23, 25 and 27 PARK AVE.
Garret Q. Packer.

LEWIS B. CODDINGTON,
(Successor to T. J. Carey,)
Furniture and Freight Express!
OFFICE—34 W. FRONT ST.
Large Covered Vans or Trucks. Goods delivered to any part of the U. S. Satisfaction guaranteed. Charges reasonable. P. O. Box 1. [illegible] ving a specialty.

SANITARY PLUMBING,
Brick and Portable Furnaces,
GAS FITTING,
TIN ROOFING,
Etc. Etc.

I am prepared to do any of the above branches in strictly first-class sanitary and workmanship manner.
Having associated myself with the Master Plumbers Association of New York City, I employ none but first-class mechanics and non-union men. Believer in every man running his own business to all times and in all cases.
D. W. LITTELL,
No. 8 North Ave., Plainfield, N. J.

MISCELLANEOUS

FOR MALARIA,
GENERAL DEBILITY
AND
ALL STOMACH TROUBLES
COLES'
PERUVIAN BARK
AND
WILD CHERRY BITTERS
ARE THE BEST.
A Vegetable Substitute for Quinine.
SOLD BY ALL DRUGGISTS.
Price, 50 cents and $1.00 per Bottle.
PREPARED ONLY BY THE
D. F. COLES DRUG AND MFG. CO.
RAHWAY, N. J.
8-27-y

Jas. M. Dunn,
Dealer in
GROCERIES, PROVISIONS
Vegetables, Fruits, etc.
No. 36 Park Ave
OPPOSITE NORTH AVENUE.
THORBURN & CO'S GARDEN SEEDS
BEST IN THE WORLD.
ALL GOODS DELIVERED FREE OF CHARGE
ab61f

ESTABLISHED 1856.

C. E. & J. W. BROWN,
(Successors to G. F. & C. R. Brown & Co.,)
Importers, Wholesale and Retail Dealers in
WALL PAPER.
321 Canal Street,
NEW YORK.
English Tiles, Anaglypta, Hand, Leather Raised Flock Papers, &c. Burlaps for Walls.
Manufacturers of Window Shades.
8-13-tf

LIVERY.

REMOVAL.
A. M. SEGUINE,
Has removed his office to
No. 8 West Second Street,
(Salvation Army building)
Where all orders left for carriages will receive prompt attention.
TELEPHONE CALL, NO. 98.
Your patronage is respectfully solicited.
A. M. SEGUINE.

RICKERT'S
ACCOMMODATION EXPRESS.
OFFICE—Vanderbeek's Music Store, Park avenue. The "Accommodation Express" will attend to the general carrying business of the city, delivering goods or baggage to and from the depot, or from place to place.
Moving of Furniture, Pianos, etc., with care and safety.

INSURANCE.

WILLIAM A. WOODRUFF,
FIRE AND LIFE
INSURANCE AGENT,
Office cor. Front St. and Park Ave.,
PLAINFIELD, N. J.
Real Estate for Sale & Exchange.
MONEY TO LOAN
On Approved Security.

Fresh Garden Seeds
AND FERTILIZERS,
Farm and Garden Implements,
Lawn Mowers Refrigerators,
Ice Cream Freezers
Gasoline Stoves,
Hardware, Tools, etc.
J. J. HEIDELOFF,
No. 13 SOMERSET ST. 3-16-tf

CANOPIES
For Weddings, Parties, Etc.,
TO HIRE. CHARGES REASONABLE
Hugo Weigman,
20 EAST FRONT STREET, PLAINFIELD, N. J.

THE PLAINFIELD
PACKING HOUSE
25 West Front Street,
Would respectfully inform its patrons that in addition to its usual stock of
Fresh, Salt and Smoked Goods,
It has added a full line of
Fresh Beef, Lamb,
Veal, Mutton & Poultry,
Which it is prepared to sell at
Reasonable Prices!
All goods delivered free of charge.
Telephone 141.
C. M. ULRICH.

TOBACCO, SEGARS, &c.

B. EGGERDING,
No. 17 Park Avenue,
PLAINFIELD, N. J.
Manufacturer of the Celebrated
U. O. D. CIGAR,
[illegible]
CLEAR HAVANA SEGARS A SPECIALTY.
[illegible]
Smokers Articles in Great Variety.

A. WOLFF,
Manufacturer of
CIGARS,
And dealer in all kinds of Smoking and Chewing Tobacco, and smokers' articles [illegible]

PAINTERS & PAINTERS SUPPLIES.

Paints, Varnishes, Glass.
WINDOW SHADES AND FIXTURES.
WALL PAPERS!
PAPER HANGING A SPECIALTY.
A. SWALM,
No. 6 North Avenue, Plainfield.

L. A. WOOLSTON. J. P. BUCKLE.
Woolston & Buckle,
PAINTERS,
Wall Papers,
ARTISTS' SUPPLIES. 38 NORTH AVENUE

C. Dickinson
Optician
13 Park Ave
Plainfield N.J.

WHATEVER form of printed matter you require we can be of service to you; whether it be

Letter Headings,
Circulars,
Programmes, Menus,
Addresses,
Memorials,
By-Laws of Societies,
Prospectuses and Reports of Financial Associations,
or any other matter for Public or Private Circulation.
Everything

WEEKLY CONSTITUTIONALIST
DAILY PRESS
(Chautauqua Building),
PLAINFIELD N. J

SOMERSET'S ROAD IS RUNNING.

A NIGHT OF WILD DELIGHT OVER THE INAUGURATION.

North Plainfield Borough Goes Crazy with Joy Over the Advent of Rapid Transit—Successful Trial Trip, Followed by Toasts to the Road's Success, and Speeches.

(From The Press, Friday, Aug. 11.)

If there has been any misgiving in the mind of anyone as to the popularity of such an electric street railway service as Plainfield's, all doubt must have been dispelled last night, when Car No. 1 made its initial trip over the Somerset street extension.

As early as 7, people gathered at the corner of Front and Somerset streets, and by the time all was ready for the trip hundreds were eagerly waiting the start.

As soon as car No. 1 reached the corner it was quickly crowded to suffocation with such of the throng as could squeeze into it. Some of these were especially invited, and prominent among them were: North Plainfield's most excellent and honored Mayor, William L. Saunders; Chandler W. Riker and Samuel Schoch, of Newark, and James Jackson and J. T. Fritts of Plainfield, Directors of the Street Railway Company; ex-Councilmen Charles P. Sebring and B. A. Hegeman, Jr.; Borough Councilmen George H. Neal and H. R. Needham; Collector H. Newton Spencer, Chief Marshal William N. Pangborn, Borough Clerk John Vetterlein, Alexander Thompson, electrical engineer; and Plainfield Councilman F. E. Marsh.

With the perversity of human nature, those who have been the most notorious kickers against the construction of the Somerset street line were among the first to board the car. Among these was the genial giant John Goodwin and a chap named Morrison, who apparently were in great delight, as the trip was free.

Superintendent Adleman had charge of the car, and made everyone as comfortable as possible. But he couldn't do much in the line of affording personal ease, in the midst of such a crowd. So large a gathering has seldom been seen at any demonstration in the city. Loud and frequent cheers were given in honor of the completion and opening of the road, and there were decorations and illuminations all along the route.

It was exactly 7:55 when Conductor McCarty rang the bell, which was the signal for Motorman Wallace to put the car in motion. Slowly at first, but gaining speed, she moved along Somerset street, as smoothly and gracefully as was to be expected of such perfect mechanism.

Both sides of Somerset street were lined with people, mothers holding their babes, young men with their sweethearts, old men and maidens, while the people in the houses along the route craned their necks out of the windows, all eager to witness the eventful scene.

When the car reached the Crescent Hotel, a fine display of fireworks was given, while on the opposite side of the street stood the venerable Peter Wooden, who was elated beyond measure, at having lived to see Somerset street grow from country fields to thrifty rapid-transit thoroughfare.

On and onward bowled the car, and cheer after cheer rose up in praise of the successful trip. Red fire was liberally burned, and the illumination was punctuated with the electrical display of the car itself, caused by dirt being on the rails, and causing the current to flash forth in gorgeous lightning.

At the house of Warren Engine Company flags, bunting and lanterns formed a very pretty decoration. The house was thrown open from top to bottom, and the ringing of the engine bell increased the enthusiastic racket.

At the Arlington Hotel a warm reception greeted the car and its inmates. Around the entire building were strung Chinese lanterns, while the interior was brightly illuminated. Here also was a large crowd of people.

The trip to the mountain was made without a break, and the terminus was reached at exactly 8:07. The trolley was then reversed, and at 8:09 the car was started on the return trip. This was as successful as the other. At the Arlington Hotel the car stopped, and several got off and on invitation accepted the hospitality of the popular host, Henry Windham.

In the hotel parlors, toasts were drunk, and speeches were made by Mayor Saunders, Secretary Riker and others, in which they spoke glowingly of the initial trip and its glorious success.

From the hotel down, the car ran smoothly, and when it reached Front and Somerset streets it was found that the same number of minutes had been taken for the trip each way, making the round trip 24 minutes. This will be the regular schedule time from terminus to terminus, while only one car is running. When the two new cars are on, a car will leave each end every 12 minutes.

After the trial trip was over, the company coined money by running on schedule time at the regular fare. To-day the branch is operating smoothly.

The only regret in connection with last night's boisterous festivities was the absence of merry Tom Nevins, president of the company, who was in Boston with his family.

A feature of the demonstration was the host of small boys who chased after the car from one end of the road to the other, adding by their enthusiasm to the picturesqueness of the occasion.

A singular coincidence in connection with the opening of the Somerset street branch is that just one year ago last night, August 10, 1892, the main line was opened and the Plainfield Mayor and Councilmen enjoyed the initial trip down West Front street and back.

The extension of the street railway into the Netherwood district, which has required such long and careful planning, at last gives promise of becoming a working reality.

Chandler W. Riker, of the company, was in town to-day and assured a Press reporter that such extension was at last definitely in sight. The company's representative has secured sufficient consents for right of way from the present terminus out Watchung avenue to Fifth street, and very nearly enough to build track and trolley line on Fifth street to Richmond. From that corner on, it is probable that consents will easily be secured. The matter is being pushed as rapidly as possible, and by next spring everything will probably be ready for the actual extension.

A Bright and Spicy Pen.

(From the Somerset Messenger.)

Editor J. A. Demarest of The Plainfield Press has gone to Brookville, Con., as Consul to that town from this country. He is succeeded as Managing Editor by Walter Irving Clarke, whose bright and spicy pen has heretofore contributed much towards the success of our sprightly contemporary.

DENNIS GAVIN IN GREAT LUCK.

HE DRAWS THE WORLD'S FAIR COUPON OFFERED BY ST. JOSEPH'S.

This Only One of Many Interesting Features of a Glorious Entertainment—The Talented Artists of the Midsummer Night Dance Delight a Large House.

The Midsummer Night Dance given for the benefit of St. Joseph's church, in Saengerbund Hall, Thursday night, was a complete success in every respect.

While the audience was assembling, O'Reilly's orchestra rendered the sweet strains of "After the Ball", which had a good effect.

At the appointed time, the ever-smiling John H. Carney came forth and with beaming countenance made the announcement that the entertainment would begin with a selection by the male quartette, Joe Martin, Harry Spencer, Calvin Selton and Harry Roberts. They rendered "The Shamrock" and "Good-Night" in fine style, for which they were heartily applauded. Then came Miss Cora Sheppard, who gave a pleasing recitation that was appreciated.

When Eli Odam appeared, he put the audience in excellent humor and delighted all by his funny songs. This was followed with a double jig and reel, by the Misses Clara Lanning and Elydia M. Boyce, who captivated the people with their graceful dancing. Miss Morris then sang a solo, which all enjoyed.

William Westphal made quite a hit with his comical sayings. One had only to look at him to be seized with convulsions of laughter.

One of the best features on the programme was the group of selections by the Dresden Trio, Alfred Norbury, Fred A. Lewis and Fred J. Pope. Their singing was delightful, as their pleasing voices blended in sweet harmony, in the rendition of comic songs which set the audience in roars of laughter, and in sentimental ditties.

J. T. Veigard in reciting "Shamus O'Brien", brought forth his best efforts, and skillfully flitted from sublime to ridiculous and back again.

Miss Elydia M. Boice appeared again and danced the Sailors' Hornpipe. In this she showed great skill, and the dance was very neatly done.

The very name of Miss Etta Raybert is enough to cause enthusiasm among her admirers, and last evening she was at her best, when she rendered "I Want It So Bad". The talented young woman received an ovation, and the hearty applause which was given was well deserved.

The Spanish dancing by Miss Clara Laning was a unique affair and given in good style.

Mr. Veigard then announced that "Plainfield's only John H. Carney" would appear. It is not necessary to say that he was received in royal fashion, for Carney is the star of the town. He kept the audience laughing till their sides ached, and then they wept with merriment until they didn't know how to stop. John gave his German dialect in unusually good fashion, and the people did not quiet down until some time after he had left the stage.

The last number on the programme was "Fifteen Minutes in Japan", represented by twelve young women who were dressed in oriental costumes which were exceedingly pretty. The dancing and figures were most fascinating, and the young women went through the movements with marked precision. Each one carried a Japanese parasol and fan, which they manipulated in correct Japanese style, and the effect was most pleasing. Mrs. Richard Boyce had charge of this dance, and the arrangement of the entire part, and she deserved to feel very proud of the pupils and the result. Those taking part were the Misses Fanny Moore, Lena Weber, Katy Carty, Katy Flanagan, Lizzie Flanagan, Lizzie Casey, Loretto Quinn, Alice Kelly, Nora Flynn, May Day, Nellie Lawler and Katy Leahy. Miss Alice Quinn was the accomplished accompanist.

At the close, the Rev. Father Miller, of St. Joseph's church, said the drawing for the World's Fair ticket would take place. Each admission ticket had a coupon which entitled the bearer to a chance. The numbers were all shaken up in a box, and Father Miller drew a coupon, which was No. 210, and was held by Dennis Gavin, who will go to Chicago free.

After this, the floor was cleared, and the young people danced till early morning.

THE HORSE STOPPED STILL.

A Little Plainfield Story Illustrating How Not To Disturb a Tired Equine.

It was down on Park avenue, early the other evening, that the old horse thought he had gone far enough. Whether it was a case of complete collapse, or simply a momentary tired feeling, did not appear, and is not material. The horse stopped right in the middle of the street, and traffic was suspended for the time being. The vehicle to which the weary equine was attached contained an elderly trio, one old man and two ladies aging rapidly. The old man rose up, leaned over the dashboard, and belabored the horse heroically for full five minutes without cessation or success. Then he made a remark which shocked the ladies quite as deeply as some persons are disturbed by a soubrette's portrait, and they clung to one another and implored the assistance of the gods. A little crowd gathered on the sidewalk, applauding the efforts of the old man, and making sarcastic comments on the years and beauty of the horse. The poor equine took it all in good part, and looked as resigned as a pretty girl in an Asbury Park bathing suit. He did not mind being licked a little bit; what he wanted was a moment's rest. At last, the old man was played out, and sank down upon the seat breathless and red in the face.

"Let us out, Nathan, let us out"—besought one of the women, with her foot on the step of the carriage.—"Don't let him start!"

"Start!" cried the old man.—Start! No! I won't let him start. Jumping Jupiter! what have I been doing for the last ten minutes!"—and his cheeks puffed out with suppressed agony.

And just then the old horse walked peacefully away and left the crowd laughing at the people in the carriage. That horse knew when the joke was on his side.

New Station at White House.

A new station is being erected at White House by the Rockaway Valley Railroad Company. This is a great improvement to White House. It has been long needed, instead of the old shell that stood on the Jersey Central ever since the road was built.

GUS FRAZEE'S LOST DOCUMENT.

ON ITS POSSESSION HINGES THE TITLE TO HIS ESTATE.

He Deeded the Property to His Wife as the Result of a Railroad Accident, and It Was to Revert Back to Him on Her Death—But the Agreement to That Effect Has Disappeared.

For lack of a scrap of paper, Augustus M Frazee is likely to lose all title to the property which his earnings bought, at 128 Watchung avenue, corner of Second street.

Gus, as the veteran express messenger is known to everyone in Plainfield, has been a commuter on the Jersey Central Railroad continuously since the road was built. In all seasons and in all kinds of weather he has attended to the New York wants of Plainfield merchants. He has been in the harness so long and his service has been so faithful that he is entitled to retirement and rest. But the good fortune he deserves seems to elude him.

Frazee was thrifty, and by years of economy and saving he acquired the old Peace street Webster home. He and his good wife lived happily there, and love and prosperity reigned. The property was in Gus's own name, but one day something happened that caused him to transfer it to his wife.

In those days Gus was in the habit of catching the last boat for his train, on the return trip from the city, and occupying the corner seat in the last car, with his bundles piled around him. It chanced one afternoon that he caught an earlier boat, and had time to walk up to the baggage car, where he installed himself for the homeward journey. Suddenly, while the train was bowling along at full speed, there was a crash and grinding roar. Two cars at the rear had jumped the track, were overturned, caught fire, and were destroyed.

A young man who occupied the seat where Gus had been accustomed to sit was killed.

In his own escape from a violent death Gus saw the mercy of Divine Providence. The event made a profound impression on him, and he decided that he would prepare for future possibilities by transferring his property to his wife so that in case of his death she would be provided for without any chance of will contest. Mrs. Frazee protested against her husband's generosity, but Gus said "Nancy, you deserve it. You have been the best of wives to me, and have helped me save the money for the home. You must be provided for, and I do this to make my mind easy."

It was finally decided—says Gus—to make the transfer, with the proviso that in case of the wife's death previous to his, the estate should revert back to him. "She and I both signed a paper to that effect"—he added.

Since Mrs. Frazee's death a few weeks ago the question has come up what to do with the property. The children, knowing it to be in the mother's name, considered that it would fall to them, and there began to be unpleasant talk about town that they were trying to make a division in which the old man was to be counted out.

Gus was asked about this, by a Press reporter, and said that the property was morally his, by right of the provision made in the agreement already referred to, but he was sorry to say that the document in question was missing. It having been a matter solely between husband and wife who were devoted to one another, he had never had the paper recorded, though the deed itself was.

"I worked hard for that little home"—said Gus.—"Many a winter's day I have tramped through sleet and slush and been wet and half frozen to the knees. It's a wonder I have any legs left. But Nancy always took good care of me when I went home nights, and would take away the numbness and put dry clothing on me. She refused to accept my deed of the property to her unless I'd accept an agreement to have it revert back to me in case of her death, and it's hard luck that the paper embodying her wish is gone.

"It's pretty tough to reach my time in life and have nothing to enjoy as the fruit of hard toil. The property that is mine by right I am not permitted to possess, and there is no pleasure left but the beautiful visions that come to me of my lost ones.

"The only time when I forget this trouble and realize that all is vanity, is when I rest in my couch at night and dream of the good wife whose passing away was so peaceful and whose last hour was so full of beautiful visions and sayings; or when at the break of day I visit the churchyard and hold reverie in the sweetest thoughts that ever came to man, over the memory of the woman and the child whose lives were so inwrapt in mine."

Human nature is the same, no matter what the man's station in life; and in the story of Gus Frazee the rugged expressman there is a tenderness and a pathos which speak as full a volume of love for his dear ones gone, and of disappointment in his own ambitions, as though he were one's very self, whose griefs always seem of vaster magnitude, and sensibilities keener, than those of any other man.

A BOY'S TERRIBLE FALL.

16-Year-Old George Killoran Badly Injured by Dropping from a Tree.

George Killoran, age 16, of Duer street and Linden avenue, is in bed at home suffering terribly from internal injuries.

He was in a giant pear tree in Boice's orchard Thursday afternoon when the limb broke and he fell 30 feet to the ground. He landed on his back and was unconscious for an hour.

His companions carried him into the shade and bathed him with water. When he came to they took him home in a wagon.

Dr. Tomlinson is attending the unfortunate lad, whose injuries are very serious.

A New Piscataway Road.

The Middlesex County Common Pleas Court has received a petition from R. H. Swayzee and others for a new road in Piscataway township from the Harris Lane school house over the Sayre property to Greenbrook. The petition was granted, and the following commissioners were appointed to survey the road: Samuel S. Giles and A. L. Boice, of Piscataway; Albert Mundy and J. M. Boylan, of Raritan, and Bernard Dunnigan and Donald McVicar, of Woodbridge.

Plainfield Paddles Not a Success.

The Dunellen Call says that "the latest thing on the lake is a boat owned by Plainfield parties and which has paddle-wheels worked on the bicycle principle. It cannot be called a success, however."

SHE SLAPPED THE CHIEF'S FACE.

DUSKY MRS. WYETT DEVELOPS INTO AN AMAZON.

Her Husband and Chief Grant Prevented Her Elopement with Negro Sydney, and She Fought Viciously Before a Crowd at the Railway Station.

Charles H. Wyett is an industrious porter. He is a quiet and orderly Negro, but Friday morning trouble came to him through his wife, and the end is not yet.

Mr. and Mrs. Wyett have always lived happily, but a colored man who is a stranger here met the woman, infatuated her, and alienated her affections so that their flight was arranged for this morning.

At 9 they went to the North Avenue station to depart for their future home. The husband, however, heard of the scandal, and informed George W. Grant, chief of police. Wyett and Chief Grant went to the station to head off the elopers. They found the twain, and the chief went up to arrest them, when the woman slapped him in the face. Her husband tried to assist him, and he too was struck.

The woman fought viciously, escaped from the officer, and went to the home of her mother, Mrs. Peterson, East Sixth street, where she was arrested later by Chief Grant and Sergeant Kiely and taken to the station house.

In the meantime the other man, who goes by the name of Sydney, made his escape by train for Baltimore.

A Press representative in conversation with Mr. Wyett learned that he was heartbroken over the affair. He said he was trying to make his home, in Cottage place, a model one, and he did not know why the woman should become so wayward, but if she was going on in this way he would not live with her.

LOOK FOR THE OPEN DOOR.

Plainfield Commuters Sure to Find Some Short Cut to the Ferry Boat.

By a strange freak of perverted fancy the railroad company keeps the doors to its Jersey City waiting room closed and ostensibly bolted when the morning trains are coming in, thereby obliging commuters and others to walk away around the station to the boat when a short cut might be made through the waiting room but for this absurd habit of locking it up. Every day some poor man undertakes to open the first door he sees, and, getting left, sheepishly follows his fellow-travelers in their weary walk around the big depot.

It will interest commuters to know, however, that, while all the doors are closed, the second one counting from left to right as you approach from the cars is generally unlocked. Of course, this is no rule, and is subject to variation, but it is pretty safe to count on, keeping in mind the fact that one of the doors is sure to be open for the convenience of the employes, who may be relied on to take care of themselves no matter how hard they make the passengers work.

HER OWN SKILL SAVED HER.

Medical Student Miss Woodhouse Retains Presence of Mind in Her Hour of Peril.

Miss Woodhouse, the charming young woman who is a student of Dr. Keeney, had a narrow escape from injury in an accident which befell her Thursday last. She was mounted on a spirited bay, and riding at a swift gallop, when the saddle turned, and the animal came down Watchung avenue on a run, with the young lady lying across its back clinging to the girths. After riding some distance in this manner she became possessed of her curb reins, and by repeated jerks brought her horse to a trot, and slipped to the ground, surrounded by the people who had come to her assistance, until her saddle was re-adjusted, when she remounted. Miss Woodhouse is an expert equestrienne, a pupil of Mrs. Percy Ohl, and fortunately rides without a stirrup, or fatal results might have followed her experience.

THE NEW LUTHERAN CHURCH.

Liberality of Various Citizens with Money and Goods.

The Rev. Edward Klonka, pastor of the German Lutheran church of North Plainfield, publishes an excellent religious journal in his Lutherischer Gemeindefreund. From the latest issue is translated the following:

John Koch, our Treasurer, has made us a present of $1,000, and has promised to give $1,000 more, if we collect another $4,000, but we have several years time to do it in. For the present he will lend us this $1,000 without interest. Miss Anna Pieschinska, President of our Ladies' Society, has also lent us $1,000 for one year without interest.

F. M. Hulett, the well-known music dealer on Front street will make us a present of a very nice organ for the church. A. M. Griffen, the plumber, has offered to do all plumbing work for nothing. We are very much obliged to these liberal gentlemen for their help in building our church.

FIRE IN THE BAGGAGE CAR.

Flames Originated Between the Floors, and It's All a Mystery.

A peculiar fire broke out Wednesday afternoon between the floors of the baggage car on train No. 41 that leaves New York at 4:20 for Plainfield. When the train pulled up at the North avenue station, smoke was seen issuing from crevices in the floor of the car. The hose that is kept at the station for such emergencies was brought out, and the flames were speedily extinguished. The origin of the fire is unknown.

Let All the Fish Escape Again.

Information has reached The Press that the millpond at New Market has been partially drained off by the mill owner without the screen made for preventing the fish from escaping being put in. Fish Commissioner Foote, of Morristown, has been notified. The drawing off of the water made the lake very shallow, and pleasure seekers from Plainfield who went Wednesday afternoon to row and fish were greatly disappointed.

Hedden Kills a Three-Foot Adder.

William Hedden, of Kensington avenue, while painting around his house, Tuesday, was surprised to see a flat-headed adder approaching him. The reptile had been coiled up, and showed fight when molested. It was killed, and measured over three feet in length.

Plainfield Clothes for the [illegible]

An express package of clothing was consigned to Missionary Robert Anderson at Honolulu, from Plainfield, Wednesday.

TROLLEY CURRENT SHOCKED THEM.

BUT HAD THEY BEEN ON TERRA FIRMA 'TWOULDN'T HAVE HURT.

Being in Midair, When They Jumped from the Contact They Were in Danger of Breaking Their Necks—Neither Hurt Seriously.

James Kaiser, who was working on the new trolley wire system of the Somerset street branch of the street railway, fell last Thursday from a ladder at the corner of Somerset and Front streets and jarred himself severely. Kaiser was shocked by the current, and jumped involuntarily. He landed on his feet but the force of the fall threw him on his back. A United States Express wagon took him to the Arlington Hotel, where he boards, and Dr. Carman was summoned. He found that Kaiser's ankle and back were severely strained. Kaiser says that he received the shock from the guy wire that supported the trolley wire, and that made him lose his balance. He will recover in time to go to work Monday.

Howard Riley, another lineman, was shocked by contact with the wire, while at the top of a pole. He jumped, but was grabbed by William Kiely, a fellow-workman, who saved him from falling.

HUDSON RIVER BY DAYLIGHT.

The Most Charming Inland Trip on the American Continent.

The "Albany" and the "New York", the steamers of the Day Line, are two of the most elegant steamers in the world. They are large and commodious; there is an abundance of comfortable seats, and a good restaurant is located on the main deck, where you can enjoy a good dinner, and at the same time look out upon the beautiful scenery of the river. When the boat leaves the dock you leave the bustle and hum behind you, and enter, as it were, upon a new existence. Now you can stop hurrying, for a time, at least, and at your leisure can take in the marvelous beauties of the river as they unfold before your eyes. To float upon the bosom of the majestic Hudson, to gaze upon the mighty hills that fringe its banks, to view those quaint but familiar collections of river craft being towed along, scarcely seeming to move: all these, and a myriad of other experiences, are familiar to those who have had the good sense or the good fortune to make the trip between New York and Albany by the day boat. From the time the boat pushes majestically out into the river till it touches the dock at the end of the route, a succession of magnificent panoramas is spread before the tourist. Too much cannot be said regarding the arrangements which have been made for the comfort and pleasure of those who adopt this method of travel. A correspondent of the Boston Courier writes: "The journey up the famous Hudson is undoubtedly the most interesting and picturesque inland voyage in the United States. It has been described and re-described, however, until the task of investing an account of its varied and beautiful scenery with any flavor of novelty has become utterly hopeless. But its attractions, though stale in narrative, are perennially charming to actual sense, and the point of view afforded by the palatial steamers 'New York' and 'Albany', of the Day Line, is an ideal one. These magnificent boats are unique in one feature, which will be appreciated by tourists; being designed for day service and tourist purposes only, they carry no freight whatever, save personal baggage of passengers. Thus the lower forward decks and other desirable points of view, customarily monopolized by unappreciative packages of merchandise, are open to passengers, and the fittings and accommodations of the craft throughout are enabled to be of a more light and elegant order, and are upon a more uniformly sumptuous plan than is usually possible. Veritable pleasure boats, every suggestion of toil is banished from their decks, and the holiday atmosphere engendered by external circumstances and a happy purpose is thus subtly maintained."

MOUNTAINEER GOSSIP.

Newsy Notes from Washingtonville, with Personal Mention of a Spry Nonagenarian.

Misses Susie and Lulu Layat are sniffing salt air at Oceanic.

Miss Jessie Coddington is spending a short time with her grandparents of the Valley.

The Misses Patterson, of Brooklyn, are enjoying a short visit to the country as the guests of Miss Nettie Beeching.

Mrs. Robert Clark, accompanied by Master Bert, will spend a few weeks enjoying the beauties of Lake Hopatcong.

Miss Fanny Boast and Miss Eva Greenslade, of Bayonne, are enjoying the mountain breezes as the guests of Miss Minnie Sicknell.

Alfred Drew and bride, who was Miss Annie Baldwin, are spending the summer with Mrs. Stephen Sicknell. Mrs. Drew is the daughter of the late Peter Baldwin.

Robert M. Clark is studying law in Newark with one of the prominent firms, preparatory to entering a law school. The one thing this place lacks is a lawyer, and Robert will make a good one.

Mrs. Thos. Stead is renewing her youth among her friends, the Stines of Greenbrook. She is going to visit some old friends at Green Village, Morris county. Mrs. Stead, although ninety-four, is hale and hearty, plies her needle and thread, and in her spare moments reads The Press, taking great interest in the current affairs of the day.

Patrick Donnelly, in the employ of H. J. Smith, met with what might have been a serious accident. While riding along the road on a load of hay he was thrown off by the sudden starting of the horses, the driver starting them off rapidly without notice. He struck the hard road bed, and lay stunned for a few minutes. It was feared he was hurt internally, but he is about his duties to-day, although very sore. Pains in his back remind him where he struck the road.

PLOUGHSHARE.

TRAINS BLOCKED BY A WRECK.

Collision of Freight and Coaler on the Reading at Weston.

A wreck occurred at Weston, a station on the Philadelphia and Reading railroad above Bound Brook, early Thursday a. m., blocking both tracks and interrupting traffic for some hours. The trouble was caused by the collision of a freight train with a coaler. Passengers who got through were transferred around the wreck to trains made up on each side.

The Constitutionalist,
A DEMOCRATIC WEEKLY.
H. L. FORCE & A. L. FORCE, Editors and Proprietors.
AT PLAINFIELD, NEW JERSEY.
TERMS—TWO DOLLARS A YEAR.

GENIAL JOE AT THEIR HEAD.

CRESCENT WHEELMEN JOIN THE MONTCLAIR JUBILATION.

Captain Haynes was Given a Post of Honor on the Staff, and Wore a Gaudy Sash in Token—The Parade Was One that Should Be Duplicated Here.

The Crescent Wheelmen turned out in great style yesterday afternoon to go to Montclair, where they had been invited to take part in the bicycle parade. At 5, twenty-three members of the club were waiting in front of their rooms on North avenue, and when Captain J. A. Haynes gave the word the long line of men started with a ringing of bells and a tooting of horns. They went directly to Newark, where they had supper, and from there took the easy run of 6 miles to Montclair. Here they received a royal welcome. Each rider was given a rod with a Chinese lantern at each end, to tie across his handle-bar. Captain Haynes was accorded a place on the staff which led the procession, and was decorated with a beautiful sash as a badge of office. Clarence E. Teel acted as captain of the Crescents while Mr. Haynes was on duty on the staff. The Plainfield men had the honor of being placed on the first part of the first division in the procession, which numbered fully 800 riders. When they started, all the lanterns were lighted, and the long sinuous lines of light going over the rolling roads made a very pretty spectacle. The procession ended about 10, and the tired but happy Plainfielders were glad to make for Newark, where they took the train for home. Before they left, however, they indulged in the refreshments that had been lavishly provided by their hosts, and stayed long enough to see the dancing begin on the open-air dancing floor. In spite of their weary bones, they all agreed that they had had a most delightful time.

HEZEKIAH HAND ELECTED.

Fanwood's Town Committee Puts Him in Constable Clark's Place.

Friday evening the Town Committee of Fanwood met and transacted routine business. George Miller was in the chair. The only absentee was Mr. Terry.

Mr. Kyte as Chairman of the Committee on Lights and Water reported that the Plainfield Water Supply Company could not at present afford to extend its main from North avenue to Front street, and therefore recommended that the appropriation voted at the last election to pay for hydrant rental be left out of the assessment for taxes. The recommendation was unanimously approved by resolution.

Mr. Miller suggested that when bills for services to the committee were presented, they specify the dates of the services rendered, be sworn to and approved by the proper official ordering such service. This was agreed to unanimously.

Numerous bills were ordered paid. A communication from Justice of the Peace Chas. K. Moore, advising the Committee under what laws they could accept the resignation of Constable Geo. A. Clark and appoint another to fill the vacancy for the unexpired term, was received and placed on file.

The Committee then accepted the resignation of Mr. Clark, and acting on the suggestion of Justice Moore appointed Hezekiah Hand as constable to fill the unexpired term. Mr. Hand accepted the appointment and said he would qualify at once.

FOUR BOLD FISHERMEN.

They Made a Big Haul, and Were Robbed on the Homeward Trip.

Down to the deep blue sea went four of Plainfield's "choicest", Friday. Under the tutorship of the veteran Dr. F. C. Herbert, Charles Bock, Geo. Voehl and Herman Weber went to Manasquan on a fishing expedition. The result of the catch was about 160 pounds of fish, comprising flukes, Spanish mackerel, weaks and a hammer-headed shark.

The several drawbacks to the excursion included the nervousness and sea illness of Messrs. Bock and Voehl, the former claiming that the boat was overcrowded. Then again, after the train on which they traveled home passed Fanwood, a deficiency was discovered in the quantity of fish caught.

Seventy pounds of fish, including the hammer-headed shark, were missing when the party alighted here, and it is said that a prominent county official, resident of Fanwood, can give the particulars.

The county official acknowledged the corn, and said he had been having five meals a day, entirely on fish, since the great catch.

Sentence has been suspended.

That Unsafe Bridge.

At the last meeting of the Somerset County Board of Freeholders a communication was received from E. A. Quayle, counsel for the Morris county Board, stating that the engineer of that Board had examined the bridge over the Passaic, near Stirling, and declared (as The Press has reported) that it had not been built in accordance with the plans, and was unsafe for public travel. In consequence, the Board refused to accept the bridge. The communication was referred to the Building Committee, of which Messrs. Adams, Bullman and J. E. Ballantine are the Somerset members, with instructions to notify the contractor that unless he proceeds to complete the bridge within ten days, then the committee will get some one else to do the work, and deduct the amount from the contract.

Will Prosecute Plainfield's Claims.

The Knights of Pythias of this district held a meeting at Elizabeth last Tuesday evening, when the matter of a home for Pythians came up for consideration. It was decided to appoint a committee that will meet in September and take active measures towards securing such a building. Plainfield Pythians through Past Chancellor John Ulrich will do their best to have the home built here.

Mary Is a Bad, Bad Girl.

Mary Robinson, the gay young colored woman who was sent to jail from Plainfield for disporting around the Crescent Avenue church neighborhood in male attire, got a situation in Elizabeth after her release, and is now under arrest for stealing her employer's clothing and the children's savings bank.

—The man who takes the ad. out of the newspaper takes the add out of his cash box.

The Constitutionalist.

A. L. Force, Publisher & Proprietor.

PUBLISHER'S ANNOUNCEMENT.

As stated in the legal notice printed elsewhere, the partnership of W. L. Force & Bro., publishers and proprietors of this paper, has been dissolved by agreement of Albert L. Force, surviving member of the firm, and Mary L. Force, executrix of William L. Force deceased.

The successor to the firm is Albert L. Force, who in becoming sole publisher and proprietor begs to express to the public his warmest appreciation of the generous patronage which the people have bestowed, and to hope that his continued efforts to serve their best interests may be favored with undiminished confidence, good wishes and support.

STATESMANSHIP.

A genuine statesman is a true patriot. His first and earnest consideration is the honor of country and the permanent welfare of the people, and to secure those most desirable ends he casts aside petty political plottings and impartially scans circumstances as they really exist, not as selfish interests would miscolor and misplace them.

Such a statesman is Grover Cleveland, President of the United States.

His recent message to the special session of Congress fully entitles him to honorable mention, and elicited merited eulogy from both partisan friends and foes.

Rising far above the scheming tactics of the mere politician, with clearness and dignity he laid before the National Legislature what he honestly deemed to be the cause of financial and business derangement, and, backing his views with substantial data, urged as a patriotic duty that prompt and efficient Congressional action be taken to remedy present evils and prevent their future occurrence.

That was statesmanship of the highest grade.

The President thereby faithfully performed his part towards restoring and perpetuating a sound system of finance.

The House of Representatives, coming fresh from the people, will no doubt by a decided majority sustain the President, and if the Senate possesses sufficient patriotism to follow suit, public confidence will return and threatening clouds flee away.

WHAT WE WANT.

It is perfectly natural, according to the modern rule of selfishness, that silver mining sections like Colorado and Nevada, the latter with a total population less than a single Congressional District and having two United States Senators, should contend for an artificial value or government bounty on their white metal.

And it quite as natural for the farmers of Kansas and Nebraska to advocate the advancement of government money on their grain products lodged in storehouses at high valuations.

They are kittens of the same cat.

But selfishness is the antipode of public prosperity.

The country wants none of it.

We need intelligent business sense and equity.

No monopolies or trust combines to plunder honest industry and fetter legitimate enterprise.

No privileged classes to blossom into millionaires at the public expense.

No fictitious finance.

We want a dollar, whether paper, silver or gold, worth under all circumstances one hundred cents.

A stable and sufficient volume of currency exchangeable at sight on a par with gold, the financial standard of other commercial nations.

Freedom from impracticable and unjust enactments of every kind.

That is what we want.

DOWN WENT M'GINTY.

Other Climax Shooters Did Nobly, But His Assumed Name Handicapped Him.

The members of the Climax Gun Club turned out in excellent numbers Tuesday to participate in their regular monthly shoot. The day, in its weather, was perfect, and some remarkably good shooting was done.

In addition to the regular club event, several sweepstakes men shot with varied results. The individual scores were as follows:

Event No. 1.—10 single blue-rocks, 3 traps, all unknown angles—Brantingham, 8, Craft, 9, Smith, 8, Trust, 8, Apgar, 7, Keller, 7, Manning, 7, Scott Terry, 6, Voehl, 6, D. Terry, 5.

Event No. 2.—Same conditions—Smith, 10, D. Terry, 9, Craft, 8, S. Terry, 8, Apgar, 7, Keller, 6, Voehl, 6, D. Darby, 5, Trust, 5, "McGinty", 2.

Event No. 3.—15 targets—Apgar and Trust, 15, Keller, Smith and D. Terry, 14 each, Brantingham, 13, W. Terry, 12, Manning, Craft and Trust, 11, Voehl, 9, Goodman, 6.

Event No. 4.—10 targets—Trust and D. Terry, 9, Keller, Craft, S. Terry, Smith and J. Darby, 8 each, W. Terry, 7, Apgar, 5, Voehl and "McGinty", 4 each.

The regular club event at 25 targets brought 14 members to the score, the extra birds given the weaker shots as a handicap making the event of interest to all. George Voehl captured the first place with a score of 29 out of a possible 33, having an 8-bird handicap. W. Terry was second with 26 out of 32. A. Trust shot 25 out of a possible 30, J. Goodman 22 out of 35, R. Manning 21 out of 29 shot at, "McGinty" 21 out of a possible 32. D. Darby scored 20 of his 30 shot at, S. Terry 18 out of 32 and J. Darby 16 out of a possible 35. Of the scratch men T. Brantingham was high man with 24. N. Apgar and C. Smith, shot 21, T. Keller 20, and D. Terry 18.

The club is growing rapidly, and has among its members some of the crack marksmen of the State.

Soldiers Going to the World's Fair.

All the members of the Grand Army, who can go, and their friends, have been invited by Gen. Wadsworth Post, No. 75, of Somerville, to accompany it on a special excursion to the Encampment at Indianapolis, leaving September 4, and going thence to the World's Fair for six days, and home by Niagara Falls. Everything, including board and lodging, can be had for $50, with cheaper rates to the National Encampment alone.

Particulars can be had of Commanders of Posts, or by writing to A. V. D. Honeyman, Manager of G. A. R. Excursion, Box 765, Plainfield, N. J.

FANWOOD'S NEWSY BUDGET.

HERE'S A COLUMN OF LIVE SUBURBAN GOSSIP.

Electric Light Extension Stopped by a Wealthy Resident—Tidings of the Tennis Champions—Charming Women Who Come and Go—Another Washington Headquarters.

FANWOOD, August 15.

Many are asking Why does Fanwood still have a Republican postmaster?

Judge Moore is doing good work in his official capacity in ridding the town of tramps.

Mrs. William E. Gibbs and her charming daughter Margaret are spending a few weeks at Uxbridge, Mass.

The trained kitten owned by F. W. Queroan's son is causing much interest, and now the rage will be kitten-training.

Messrs. Baylor and Spring have taken up the practice of "medicine ball", and their friends think they are training for the coming bowling season.

Mrs. Frank Dale Warren is much missed at the Watchung Club Saturday afternoons. She is making a short visit in the mountains of Pennsylvania.

Frank Dale Warren has developed into a born detective, having traced and captured his stolen umbrella without shedding any blood or arresting his victim.

Mrs. Marcus Schlesinger, mother of Mrs. George C. Miller, is spending a week at Fanwood. While New Rochelle misses one of its brightest lights, Fanwood is a gainer.

L. J. Briggs, Jr., is going to give a peach party soon. The first basket of this fruit arrived last Saturday, and was escorted by a carriage and three gentlemen to Mr. Briggs's residence.

The Scotch Plains fire alarm, Sunday afternoon, got the full fire department out in great shape. Foreman Stevens as usual was at the fire within five minutes after it broke out. He's a hustler.

William E. Gibbs, Fanwood's electrical engineer, who has written many valued books on astronomical and mining engineering topics, is now engaged in writing short stories of fiction. His friends will look forward with interest to their publication.

Governor Urner is to be congratulated on his magnificent residence, the improvements of which are about completed. It is one of the historical old residences of the county, and boasts of once having had as its guest George Washington. The original house was built in 1774.

At the fortnightly reception of the Watchung Club, last Thursday evening, many new faces were noticed. Among the most attractive were Miss Donaldson, a bewitching brunette from New York, the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Lightowler, and Miss Keeler of Brooklyn, a charming niece of Walter S. Force.

Will C. Cameron, who was recently mentioned as "the well-known band singer", is stopping at The Homestead. It is too bad the compositor's error should poke fun at so nice a chap as Brooklyn's celebrated basso soloist. His name alone is a herald to the world of celebrated musical talents.

Next Saturday, August 19, there is to be a very interesting tennis game at the Homestead courts. Messrs. Cameron and Miller will be pitted against Miss TenBroeck and Mr. Stevens. This game is looked forward to with much interest by the Homestead people, as it will settle the standing of the doubles.

As has previously been recorded in these columns, at the meeting of the Township Committee last Friday evening it was decided not to assess for water appropriation on account of the Water Company's refusing to carry out their agreement. To many Fanwooders it seems as though this water monopoly is carrying on matters in a high-handed manner.

John P. Stevens, the champion tennis player of Fanwood, who has been spending his early morning hours practicing on the Homestead courts, was unsuccessful in his play at the Crescent Athletic Club last Friday evening. While Mr. Stevens is a very strong player, and under ordinary circumstances should have won, it was observed that he has overtrained himself. A little rest will put him in the field again for tennis honors.

The extension of electric lights from Fanwood to Scotch Plains is again stopped, by the interference of an influential property-owner, who does n't want to see any improvements made. He has caused (through his agent) the poles in front of his property to be taken down. Where is there any justice in the law which permits one man to retard the progressive spirit of every other inhabitant, just because he is the largest property-owner in the district?

QUALITY BILL.

FROM THE STREET-CAR TERMINUS

Personal Mention of the Mountaineers, Wafted Over the Trolley Wire.

WASHINGTONVILLE, Aug. 15.

Daniel Acker is confined to his home by severe indisposition.

John R. Taylor, of New York, is on a visit to friends at Highland Farm.

Miss Louisa Simmonds is spending two weeks at Valley Cottage, on the Hudson.

Miss Rosie Bartell has returned home after a pleasant visit to her brother at Reading, Pa.

Mrs. Upson and Miss Elwood, of Brooklyn, are the guests of Mrs. Geo. Winans, of Somerset street.

Because of the dry weather remaining so long unbroken, vegetation is at a standstill. Corn and late vegetables especially suffer. Over in Passaic Valley the corn is all curled up, and only a half-crop is expected.

The seating capacity of the Mary E. Wilson Memorial chapel was again taxed to accommodate the congregation that came to hear J. C. Adams, Sunday night. Many came up on the cars, it being only a short and an agreeable walk from the terminus to the chapel.

About seventy-five members of the Saengerbund of Newark, with their wives and friends, came up to Union Village Saturday afternoon, and pitched camp along the Passaic river. They were accompanied by a band of music and a four-horse load of provisions, some of which were put up in kegs.

PLOUGHSHARE.

THE WATER MONOPOLY.

Won't Grant Sprinkling Unless the Full House Service Is Taken.

At a recent meeting of the Plainfield Water Supply Company it was decided not to permit anyone to use water for street or lawn sprinkling unless they put in the whole system for house service. This news will cause a good deal of dissatisfaction.

Lost on the Streets of Plainfield.

An interesting story, and a true one, is told of a German stone-cutter who has been employed at Martinsville recently. He came to Plainfield a few days ago, and secured a boarding place, but where is not known. Saturday evening the family where he was boarding went out of town to spend Sunday, leaving the stranger alone in the house. The stranger went out for a walk and got lost. He forgot the name of the landlord, also the street and location. Officer Cooney tried to set the man right but was unsuccessful.

DROPPED DEAD IN HIS DOORYARD.

AARON BERKAW STRICKEN BY HEART DISEASE.

He Was Walking About in Seemingly Perfect Health, and Sank Suddenly to the Ground—Though Picked Up Instantly, Life Was Extinct.

With one swift blow the hand of death smote lifeless a vigorous Plainfield citizen, Wednesday morning.

Aaron Berkaw was walking about the yard of the home of his son John, 142 East Second street, at 9:40.

He was in vigorous manhood, and in spite of his three score and ten of years seemed as hale and hearty as the most robust stripling.

Suddenly he was seen to drop to his knees as if shot, and then to fall prostrate upon the ground.

His son, who was near at hand, sprang to assist him, and called for help. Chief Engineer T. O. Doane and Contractor D. W. Littell were at work on the new Fire Department Headquarters adjoining the Berkaw residence, and they hastened to aid in carrying the old man into the house.

Every sign of life had departed from the body.

Dr. J. H. Carman came quickly in answer to summons, and pronounced the old man dead from valvular heart trouble.

Deceased was a carpenter by trade. John V. Berkaw, the afflicted son, is a prominent shoe dealer at 119 West Front street. There is a daughter, the wife of Grocer J. A. Smith.

Assessor Hubbard's man Frisbie found only 640 dogs in town to tax. Some veracious citizens would testify that so small a canine census is inadequate to produce the midnight bedlam heard on a single block in some sleepless portions of the town. But then maybe that 's a case like little Johnny's story of a thousand dogs simmered down: "Well, there was our dog and another one, anyhow".

Boroughites of both parties are asking What's the matter with making Charles P. Sebring the new North Plainfield councilman? He has been a councilman before, on the Republican ticket, but is known to be independent of partisanship, and as a compromise between the warring elements he would doubtless be a success. He's an honest-minded man.

The Star, the estimable newspaper of Washington, Warren county, is a more than ever welcome comer in its handsome new style. Charles L. Stryker, its progressive editor and proprietor, keeps abreast of the times by making it an eight-page paper, with all the improvements which such a change conveys. The Star is just such a newsy and enterprising journal as should be expected from the live man at its head. May its light and magnitude never wane!

When a man feels too poor to go to the circus, times must be pretty hard. Usually he will forego any necessity rather than that pleasure. The fact that the greatest Barnum show lost $1,800 in one day last week, in Paterson, which is noted as the best circus town in the United States, is conclusive evidence of the extent and seriousness of the financial depression. Hitherto when Barnum has visited Paterson the day has been made a general holiday, all the mills and factories closing in celebration. But this year most of the mills were closed from another cause, and the lack of patronage in the tents appalled the managers.

In the Flying Post, a newspaper to be issued for the first time early in September, New Jersey is promised a representative State paper. No journal to-day fully covers that field, which is a difficult one, owing to the lack of direct centralization of all sections. But the Flying Post is building for a permanency, and its abundant capital and ingenuity will doubtless achieve signal triumph. The publishers will be a stock corporation, and the editor the accomplished and experienced A. B. Houghton. The paper will be run on metropolitan lines, set entirely by Linotype machines, with no "patent plate" matter, and will have reliable correspondents everywhere in the State. Aggressiveness will characterize the enterprise, and the Flying Post will make itself a power in and for New Jersey. Its office of publication will be Paterson, but the paper trains will convey it broadcast before daylight, ready for breakfast-table perusal everywhere. The Daily Press extends heartiest welcome to its venturesome contemporary.

The Press staff were discussing Arthur Grissom's remarks about telepathy in last week's Journalist wherein he maintained that on frequent occasions thoughts which he had conceived and intended to put on paper were written down and printed by someone else before he had even spoken of them to anybody. It was telepathy, mental telegraphy, thought transmission, whichever you please.

"This so-called telepathy,"—said George Taggart who happened to be in the office—"while it is undeniably queer, is nine times in ten nothing more than simple coincidence. I do not feel that my mind is heavy enough to weigh upon that of any one else, and yet let me tell you a true story. More than a year ago I wrote for use by the Four-Leaf Clover in one of their farces seven or eight verses parodying the venerable utterances of Mother Goose. For some reason not relevant to the story they were not used in the play, neither printed nor circulated, and were laid away in my writing-desk, where they are today. Imagine my surprise on attending the first New York performance of '1492', last May, when Ed Rice's clever girls came out as the 'Six Daily Hints From Paris' and sang two of my unused verses almost word for word. It seemed hard to believe, but it was so, and there was a sort of funereal satisfaction in the applause that greeted the words. Of course, neither Rice nor his librettist had ever seen my copy any more than I had theirs; and there you are. Was it telepathy? No: it was just a simple, everyday coincidence, but it was queer, nevertheless."

THEY'LL CALL AT EVERY HOUSE.

And You Have to Answer Their Questions or Incur the State's Displeasure.

Plainfield is already preparing for the next election. At Tuesday's meeting of the City Council a Board of Registry to tabulate the names and residences of voters was appointed as follows:

	DEMOCRATIC.	REPUBLICAN.
	First Ward.
1.	John J. Kenney, Michael DeCourcy.	George W. Moore, Richard E. Cortell.
2.	Sylvester Sharkey, Emil Dreyer.	G. Thorn, Adolph Kahrman.
	Second Ward.
1.	Louis M. Brown, Lewis G. Timpson,	John M. Deane, Wm. [illegible]
2.	James H. Guttridge, Alfred Cooke.	David Hand, Edward Willis, Jr.
	Third Ward.
1.	F. M. Brown, Wm. H. Wright.	R. Frank Cortell, M. M. Dunham.
	Fourth Ward.
1.	M. R. Flynn, James H. Sinclair,	Ross W. Titsworth, Amos P. Gray,
2.	Jacob Kenney, T. A. McCarthy.	James R. Higgins, John W. Dyson.

OLD ENGINE-HOUSE, GOOD-BYE!

THEY'RE GOING TO CAST YOU OFF FROM FIRE DUTY.

That Elegant New Headquarters Has Thrown You in the Shade, and You're to Be Knocked Down to the Highest Bidder—But Improved Suburban Service Will Be a Consolation.

Fire-department extension into the suburbs is to be secured at the sacrifice of the old Gazelle engine-house on West Second street. At Tuesday night's meeting of the City Fathers, Councilman Erickson of the Committee on Fire and Buildings reported that this old relic of the early and eventful days of Plainfield's hardy volunteers would not be needed after the completion of the new headquarters building. Most of the present apparatus is to be housed in the new structure, and provision must be made for the use of the rest in the suburbs.

Mr. Erickson moved, and it was so ordered, that the Committee on Fire and Buildings be authorized to advertise for bids for the disposal of the West Second street property, and the proceeds of the sale will be applied in extending fire protection into the outskirts.

NORTH PLAINFIELD SOLONS.

Tedious Routine Enlivened by 'Lias Allen's Funny Stories.

The regular meeting of the North Plainfield Township Committee was held Tuesday night in Spencer's Hall. Those present were A. P. Voorhees, chairman; Horace J. Martin, clerk; William C. Smith and Elias Allen.

Mr. Voorhees called the meeting to order, and Mr. Martin read the minutes of the last meeting, which were approved.

The clerk stated that he had interviewed Warren Ackerman, of Glenside Park, in regard to a larger assessment, and had received little satisfaction, Mr. Ackerman merely stating that he would consider the matter.

The report from School Districts Nos. 26 and 96 were read and ordered filed.

Various bills were presented and warrants ordered drawn in payment.

At this point good-natured Elias Allen happened to think of a funny story which he told to enliven the proceedings. He had been saying that there was a man who sold crushed stone that was full of dirt, and the stone when put on the road would settle, while the mud came to the top; and it was this that reminded him of the yarn. But the tale was told so low that it could not be heard by the reporters. The committeemen, however, laughed heartily, and Mr. Allen the heartiest of all.

Mr. Allen also stated that on Monday night some one, unintentionally, he thought, had taken some chickens from his poultry yard, and he thought the Committee might help him find them. Though it was powerless in that respect, the Committee poured balm on his troubled soul and granted him 100 tons of fine stone dressing to be used in his district.

It was found that there was about $700 left of the appropriation for road use.

Assessor J. R. Cooley was present, and the Committee examined his book of assessments and approved it all. The amount to be raised by taxes for the ensuing year is $9,000.

WHO STOLE THE PAPER?

That's What the Park Club Is Wondering, and The Press Would Like to Know, Too.

They pretend to keep that most excellent newspaper magazine, The Illustrated American, on file over at the Park Club, and the young men and maidens who frequent the cosy little club-house take just pleasure in perusing the successive issues of the picture paper, and learning of strange lands and wonderful people from its fascinating pages. A while ago Clement Scott of London began writing for The American a series of articles which he called "Unjapanned Japan", and one of these, two or three weeks back, was exceedingly frank and ingenuous in the treatment of certain matters generally left largely to the imagination. Now, it is whispered, the members of the club want to know what has become of that particular number! It is no longer in the file, and, of course, there are but two explanations of its flight: it has been either suppressed or stolen—and there comes the rub. If suppressed, who has the authority, and why was it exercised? If stolen, by whom and what for? One of the club members openly avows that he will demand at the next meeting that he (or she) who stole that paper return it at once under penalty of forfeiture of dividends.

It seems odd to hear so much talk about this business from the Park Club when any members who yearn to preserve Mr. Scott's treatise may obtain a new copy for the nominal outlay of ten cents. But maybe it is the principle that interests them.

CAN LOOK, BUT NOT RACE.

Hard Luck for John J. Lynch of the Lyceum Wheelmen.

A serious accident happened last night to John J. Lynch, a member of the Lyceum Wheelmen. He was riding over the course of the bicycle race to be held next Saturday by his club, and in which he had entered, in order to become familiar with the track. When he arrived at a point near Scotch Plains the post of his saddle broke suddenly, and he was thrown off. He and the wheel went in a heap, and when he pulled himself together he found that his right leg was badly cut just above the knee and his right arm had a similar wound above the elbow. Dr. Simpson dressed his wounds, and says that while they are not dangerous it is likely that they will keep him in the house for some time. Mr. Lynch has the poor satisfaction of knowing that if things go well with him he may be fortunate enough to watch the race, in which he intended to ride, from the soft seat of a carriage.

All Verdure Burning.

(Official Crop Bulletin.)

PLAINFIELD—The deficiency of rainfall is hurting all crops. There is a deficiency from the corresponding week of last year of 1.32 inch, and for the month so far 1.53 inch. All crops are burning from the intense heat. Some farmers have not yet set out their late cabbage. Average temperature for the week, 73 deg.; rainfall, including the 12th, 0.03 inch.

JOHN NEAGLE.

Will He Be Eligible After That?

Wm. M. Sandford has notified the Common Council that he will be out of town until October, and unable to attend the organization meeting of the Madison Avenue Commissioners. Corporation Counsel Marsh will be asked to decide if that makes him eligible to serve on the Board after his return.

Every Lot Will Be Sold.

In real-estate boosting J. Fred MacDonald is in his element. He's bound to let people know about the grand Netherwood auction sale of next Saturday, and as if newspaper advertising wasn't sufficient got a man with a cornet and a banner-laden wagon to parade the streets last night.

[illegible]

THAT OBNOXIOUS WATER RULE.

The Company Says It's an Old One, and a Citizen Protests That It's New.

Some talk and no little dissatisfaction among the consumers of the city water have been the result of the recent enforcement of a rule of the Water Company in regard to the use of a lawn sprinkler in cases where the service is not used throughout the house of the consumer. Theodore F. French, at the Water Company's office, said this morning that it has always been the rule of the company not to permit persons to use a lawn sprinkler alone but if they put in the entire service they were allowed a sprinkler—for the usual consideration.

In spite of this statement, a citizen who desired to use the sprinkling service for his lawn put in his application to have the connection made and says he was told that the rule had been passed only two weeks ago that connection for sprinkling alone would not be allowed.

This seems a great pity, as Plainfield lawns where sprinklers have been used have never looked as well as they have this year, notwithstanding the lack of rain, and many would like the sprinkling privilege alone, without using the full house service. The company surely cannot expect to force consumers to use the city water in their houses where they have in many cases wells driven to great depth, from which they obtain water of exceptional purity for household uses.

Drape Their Charter for 30 Days.

At a regular meeting of Queen City Lodge, No. 236, I. O. O. F., held August 14, 1893, the following resolutions were adopted by the Lodge:

WHEREAS, It has pleased our Heavenly Father to remove from us by death our esteemed and respected brother, Hiram K. Voorhees, therefore be it

Resolved, That in the death of our late brother we do sincerely mourn for one who was in every way worthy of our esteem and respect.

Resolved, That we extend to the family of our deceased brother our sympathy in this the hour of their bereavement, and that these resolutions be recorded in the book of minutes and a copy be presented to the family of our deceased brother and published in the Plainfield daily papers. And be it further

Resolved, That as a token of respect to our late brother we drape our charter for a period of thirty days.

LEWIS R. BLACKFORD,
CHAS. H. RANDOLPH,
THADDEUS C. SMITH,
Committee.

Alice Goes to Jail.

Alice Robinson, a colored servant girl, was before Justice Nash Wednesday charged with stealing dry goods from her mistress. Other complaints were lodged against her also. She was sent to Elizabeth in charge of Constable Amos Moffett to await the action of the Grand Jury.

Board of Chosen Freeholders of the County of Union.

OFFICIAL.

ELIZABETH, N. J., Aug. 8, 1893.

By Freeholder Scudder:

Resolved, That all that portion of the road known as Union avenue and Springfield avenue, from North avenue, in the township of Cranford, and through a part of Westfield township, to the county road known as Mountain avenue, be adopted and made a county road, under the provisions of an act entitled "An act to enable Boards of Chosen Freeholders to acquire, improve and maintain public roads," approved March 19, 1889, and the supplements thereto.

On motion of Freeholder Trabon adopted by the following vote:

Ayes—Director Sauer and Freeholders [illegible]

Nays—Freeholders Hubbard, Howard, Kyte and Moore—4.

By Freeholder Hubbard:

Resolved, That one hundred dollars be advanced to [illegible] on account of masonry on Westervelt avenue bridge, Plainfield.

On motion of Freeholder Trabon adopted unanimously.

[illegible]

The following bills, audited and approved, were read and on motion ordered paid: [illegible]

The director declared the board adjourned to Tuesday, Aug. 22, 1893, at 2:00 p. m.

[illegible], Clerk.

[illegible]

HILL'S

REMEMBER WE GUARANTEE A CURE [illegible]

Double Chloride of Gold Tablets

DRUNKENNESS or MORPHINE HABIT [illegible]

TOBACCO HABIT EASILY CURED.

A FEW Testimonials from persons who have been cured by the use of Hill's Tablets.

[illegible]

MRS. HELEN MORRISON.
CINCINNATI, OHIO.

THE OHIO CHEMICAL CO:—GENTLEMEN:—Your Tablets have performed a miracle in my case. I have used morphine, hypodermically, for seven years, and have been cured by the use of two packages of your Tablets, and without any effort on my part. W. L. LOTEGAY.

THE OHIO CHEMICAL CO., 51, 53 and 55 Opera Block, LIMA, OHIO.

PARTICULARS FREE.

Address all Orders to

THE OHIO CHEMICAL CO.,
51, 53 and 55 Opera Block. LIMA, OHIO.

RESPONSIBLE AGENTS WANTED

(In writing please mention this paper.)

Auctioneer Taylor's Half Holiday Sales.

THE NEXT

GRAND AUCTION SALE OF LOTS AT NETHERWOOD!

SATURDAY AUG. 19, '93,

At 2:30 P. M.

Property fronting on North, Leland and Columbia avenues.

All High Ground, being on an average of Eight feet above the street.

All lots sold without reserve to the highest bidder, and they are better and safer than Banks, Bonds or Stock. No Auctioneer Fees. No Interest. No Taxes. Terms—$5 down on each lot on day of sale and $5 per month. For information address,

J. F. MACDONALD, Plainfield, N. J.

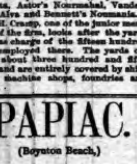
CRADLE OF WARSHIPS.

Head of the Firm Which Builds Our Fastest Cruisers.

Since the United States has begun to make pretensions as a naval power the American people have acquired a lively interest in naval architecture and can give you off-hand an elucidation of all the points of difference between a cruiser and a line battleship and an accurate comparison of the naval strength of the great nations of the earth. To these nautical amateurs a most interesting institution is the great shipbuilding yards of William Cramp & Sons at Philadelphia, where many of our latest, largest and fastest cruisers were built.

William Cramp, the founder of the firm, commenced business in a modest way in 1830, building wooden and steam sailing vessels. Two sons, Charles H. and William M. Cramp, were admitted into partnership in 1857, and in 1868 three younger Cramps became members of the firm. Charles H. Cramp stands at the head of the firm as at present organized. He looks after the social interests of the firm—a very important department when it is considered that the concern has constantly a number of important contracts with the government involving many millions of dollars. Mr. Cramp has traveled extensively in foreign lands and has a large circle of friends, with whom he is very popular. He dresses in conventional business style and usually wears a high hat.

Since the downfall of John Roach's firm at Chester, Pa., the Cramps are known as the largest shipbuilders in the country. The firm has been eminently successful in its enterprises, and not only built the fastest cruiser in our navy, but has turned out many private yachts celebrated for their elegance and speed, including Jay Gould's Atlanta, Astor's Nourmahal, Vanderbilt's Alva and Bennett's Noumania.



CHARLES H. CRAMP.

W. H. Cramp, one of the junior members of the firm, looks after the yards and has charge of the fifteen hundred men employed there. The yards occupy about three hundred and fifty acres and are entirely covered by shipways, machine shops, foundries and sheds.

SHERIFF'S SALE—In Chancery of New Jersey—Between the Central New Jersey Land Improvement Company, complainant, and the Fanwood Club, et al., defendants. Fi fa. for sale of mortgaged premises.

By virtue of the above stated writ of fieri facias to me directed, I shall expose for sale by public vendue, at the Court House in the City of Elizabeth, N. J., on

WEDNESDAY, THE THIRTEENTH DAY OF SEPTEMBER, A. D. 1893,

at two o'clock in the afternoon of said day, all that certain plot piece or parcel of ground with the buildings thereon erected, situate, lying and being in the township of Fanwood, County of Union and State of New Jersey, and bounded and described as follows:

Beginning at a stake in the southeasterly side of South avenue, distant eight hundred and sixty and one tenth (860 1-10) feet southwesterly along said side of South avenue from an iron monument planted at the intersection of said side of South avenue with the centre line of Martine avenue; thence northeasterly along said side of South avenue one hundred (100) feet to the southwesterly side of a proposed new street; thence southeasterly along said side of said proposed new street four hundred and ninety-two (492) feet, more or less, to the northwesterly side of LaGrande avenue; thence southwesterly along said side of LaGrande avenue four hundred and fifty (450) feet to a stake; thence magnetically north twenty-three (23) degrees and ten (10) minutes west one hundred and ninety-five and two-tenths (195 2-10) feet to a stake; thence magnetically north forty-eight (48) degrees and fifteen (15) minutes east two hundred and eighty-four (284) feet; thence magnetically north thirty-three degrees and thirty-six minutes west two hundred and forty-six feet to the place of beginning.

W. H. HICKS Sheriff.

GEORGE HOLMES, Sol'r.
DLAC. [illegible]

ADMINISTRATRIX'S SALE—Union County Orphans' Court—In the matter of the sale of the lands of Marcellus M. Park, deceased, for the payment of his debts. By virtue of an order entered in the above stated matter on the ninth day of August in the year eighteen hundred and ninety-three, I shall sell at public vendue to the highest bidder on Thursday, the twenty-first day of September next, at two o'clock in the afternoon, on the premises, all the following described land and premises with the appurtenances, being the same described in said order that is to say: All that tract or parcel of land and premises hereinafter particularly described, situate, lying and being in the formerly township, now city, of Plainfield, in the County of Union and State of New Jersey and bounded and described as follows: beginning at a stake by the side of the road leading from Scotch Plains to Rahway, and known as the Terrill Road; thence south forty-six degrees west one chain to a stake in the corner of land owned by Joseph Corbett; thence along said Corbett's line south fifty degrees east four chains to a stake; thence north forty-six degrees east one chain to a stake in said road; thence along the said road north fifty degrees west four chains to the place of beginning. Being lot number four, described in the deed from Stephen Butler and wife to Mary E. Keeler, dated October 21, 1881 and recorded in Book of Deeds 15, pages [illegible], &c., in the Clerk's office of the County of Union, being all the lands in Union County, aforesaid, of which the said Marcellus M. Park died seized.

CHARLOTTE PARK,
Administratrix, etc. of Marcellus M. Park, deceased.

Dated August 9, 1893.
JACKSON & [illegible], Attorneys.
Fees $7.70. [illegible]

DISSOLUTION OF PARTNERSHIP.

Notice is given, that the partnership lately subsisting between William L. Force (deceased) and Albert L. Force of the City of Plainfield County of Union and State of New Jersey, under the firm of W. L. Force and Brother, was dissolved on this fourteenth day of August, eighteen hundred and ninety-three, pursuant to the article. All debts owing to the said partnership are to be received by the said Albert L. Force, who is now the sole owner of the said business, and all demands on the said partnership are to be presented to him for payment.

Dated this 14th day of August, 1893

ALBERT L. FORCE,
MARY L. FORCE, Executrix.

PAPIAC.

(Boynton Beach,)

NOW OPEN

—FOR—

EXCURSIONS & PICNICS

6 15-tf-p c

MASTER'S SALE.

By virtue of a decree made by the Court of Chancery of the State of New Jersey bearing date the twenty-fourth day of June, A. D. eighteen hundred and ninety-three, in a certain cause pending in the Court of Chancery of New Jersey wherein [illegible] is complainant and Mary J. Bartle et als. are defendants I, John D. [illegible], one of the Special Masters of the Court of Chancery of New Jersey, duly appointed and commissioned to make said sale and all necessary things pertaining thereto, will sell at public auction to the highest bidder on the premises at Stony Hill, in Union county, New Jersey, on [illegible] the twenty-fifth day of September next, between the hours of twelve and five o'clock, to wit, at two o'clock in the afternoon of said day, all those two certain parcels of land and premises hereinafter particularly described, situate, lying and being in the township of New Providence, in the county of Union and State of New Jersey:

The First Tract—Lying south of the Stony Hill road. [illegible]

The Second Tract—Lying north of the Stony Hill road. [illegible]

[illegible]

AT BEDTIME
I TAKE A PLEASANT
HERB
DRINK

THE NEXT MORNING I FEEL BRIGHT AND NEW AND MY COMPLEXION IS BETTER.

My doctor says it acts gently on the stomach, liver and kidneys, and is a pleasant laxative. [illegible] It is called

LANE'S MEDICINE

All druggists sell it at 50c. and $1 a package. [illegible] Address, ORATOR F. WOODWARD, Le Roy, N. Y.

To Close Out,

A reduction of 25 per cent. on Tennis Goods.

A. W. RAND,

Old No. 24. 140 West Front st.

E. C. Morris Safe Co

Incorporated. Capital $250,000,
Successors to E. C. Morris & Co.

64 Sudbury St., Boston, Mass.

FIRE AND BURGLAR-PROOF SAFES.

[illegible]

The Best Safe in the World. 150,000 in use.
Always preserve their contents.

[illegible]

One-Half Off!

CARPETS

And FURNITURE.

On account of the Financial Depression and Dull Season,

AMOS H. VAN HORN,

LIMITED,

Will take off just one-half of regular selling prices.

BEDROOM SUITS.

25 Antique Oak Bedroom Suits, regular price $30 . Reduced to $15

PARLOR SUITS.

25 Parlor Suits, mahogany finished frame, in plush cov'ng, reg price $50 Reduced to $25

CARPETS.

25 pieces	All-Wool Ingrain Carpet, reg. price per yard $1.	Reduced to 50c
do	3-Ply Carpet, reg. price per yard $1.25	Reduced to 63c
do	Tapestry Brussels Carpet, reg. price per yd. 90c.	Reduced to 45c
do	Body Brussels Carpet, reg. price per yard $1.30.	Reduced to 65c
do	Velvet Carpet, reg. price per yard $1.30	Reduced to 65c
do	Moquette Carpet, reg. price per yard $1.40	Reduced to 70c

MATTING.

To close out the balance of our Spring stock will sell Good Fancy Matting Per yard only 15c.

PORTLAND RANGES.

We shall commence from this date to push the Portland Range as it has no equal. More sold than any other range. Warranted in every way or money refunded.

Note the Name AMOS over the Door Before Entering the Store. Easy terms.

Telephone 580! Elevator to Every Floor!

Goods Delivered FREE OF CHARGE to All Parts of the State!

AMOS H. VAN HORN,

LIMITED.

73 Market Street,

Near Plane St., Newark, N. J.

TOWNSEND'S

Marble & Granite Works,

30 SOMERSET STREET,

PLAINFIELD, N. J.

If you have not engaged your work, I should be pleased to do it for you. I buy only first-class Marble and Granite and do not sell unless at prices that will enable me to put up work with credit to myself and justice to the parties purchasing. [illegible]

Hoping to be favored with your patronage, I am yours respectfully,

J. E. TOWNSEND,
Manager. 5 11 tf

Branch Yard Westfield, N. J.

FURS

And all kinds of wearing apparel

STORED

And insured against all damage by fire or moth.

Repairing and re-dyeing of Furs should be done during the summer months.

GEO. C. TREADWELL CO.

SUCCESSORS TO

W. H. AND S. BURNETT,

17 Academy st., Newark. 5 11 4

Scientific American Agency for

PATENTS
CAVEATS,
TRADE MARKS,
DESIGN PATENTS,
COPYRIGHTS, etc.

[illegible]

Scientific American

[illegible]

Dime Savings Institution

OF PLAINFIELD, N. J.

Is now receiving deposits payable on demand, with interest at the rate of three (3) per cent. per annum [illegible]

JOHN W. MURRAY, President,
[illegible]

Newark BEE HIVE.

Things Sold There That Make the Great Store It Is.

L. S. Plaut & Co.
THE BEEHIVE

Stock List No. 19.

Cut Out and Save For Reference.

FANCY WORK AND ART MATERIALS.

Stamped Linen and Hemstitched Splashers, Tray Covers, Carving Cloths, Doilies, Mats, Tidies, Table and Buffet Scarfs.

Wash Stand Covers, Bibs, Corn Biscuit and Potato Napkins, Comb and Brush Towels, Night Dress Cases.

Bound Linen Stamped, Umbrella Covers, Shoe, Slipper Button, Comb, Brush, Laundry, Collar, Cuff, Duster, School, Travelling and Shopping Bags, Pin and Needle Cases, Ladies' and Gentlemen's Companions, News, Letter and Whisk Broom Holders, Tinted Stamped Satins and Jean Cushion and Table Covers, Canvas Slipper Patterns, Stamped Turkish Rugs and Rug Hooks, Embroidery Needles, Maltese Hair Pins for Crocheting, Knitting Pins, Crochet Hooks, Plain and Figured China Silks and Scrims.

Bolting cloth for Painting, Canvas, Linen Crash and Momie Cloth, Muslin and Satin Covered Pin Cushions, Plain and Satin Finish Toilet Bottles, Glass Bells, Fish and Electric Light Globes, Porcelain Plaques and Easels, Silk and Chenille Tassels, Ornaments and Cords.

Silk Tassel and Linen Fringes, Silk and Chenille Applique Flowers, Spiders, Crochet Rings, Sheet Celluloid, Fancy Globe and Hair Pin Baskets, Wood Novelties for Painting.

Hand Painted Glove, Handkerchief, Jewel, and Manicure Cases.

Embroidered Japanese Silk Scarfs, Table Covers and Mantel Lambrequins, Hand Painted Blotters, Shaving Tablets, Calendars, Photo Holders, Toilet Sets, etc.

Hand Painted Silk and Satin Scarfs, Jewel Baskets, Trays, and Catch-Alls. Irish Point Linens in Tables and Bureau Scarfs, Tray Covers, Doilies, Pillow Shams and Squares. Lace Mats and Squares. Head Rests, Down Pillows and Persian Art Squares.

NO BRANCH STORES.

L. S. PLAUT & CO.

707 to 721 Broad St.

NEWARK, N. J.

NOTICE. June 1, 1893.

Estate of Harriet N. Cone, Deceased.

Pursuant to the order of George T. Parrot, Surrogate of the county of Union, this day made on the application of the undersigned, [illegible]

[illegible]

CITY DEPARTMENT.

OFFICIAL PAPER OF THE STATE, THE COUNTY AND THE CITY, AND HAS THE LARGEST CIRCULATION OF ANY PAPER PUBLISHED IN THE COUNTY OF UNION.

Walter Irving Clarke, City Editor.

—A two-foot adder was killed in the yard of Jule Stephany, 166 Summit avenue, Sunday.

—The Saengerbund members will give their children an ice-cream picnic, Sunday, on the mountain.

—The Lyceum bicycle race, Saturday, begins at 2 p. m., sharp. There are about twenty-five entries.

—The Elizabeth Wheelmen will take a moonlight run to Acker's farm in Washington Valley, Saturday, August 26, and enjoy their annual watermelon feast.

—The rumor is false that on account of the number of machinists being out of work the Mutual Beneficial Association has decided to abandon its excursion of August 26.

—Charles E. Train has just received from E. C. Mulford, broker for the Fidelity and Casualty Company, check for $60, indemnity caused by accident in the Pond Tool Works.

—East Third street needs a lamp midway between Church and Washington streets. Property-owners so petitioned the Council, and the matter was referred to the Committee on Lights.

—Farmer Clark of New Providence wrecked a wheel on the West Front street car track. Two men helped him get the wagon to a Somerset street wheelwright's shop, where the wheel was replaced.

—The councilmanic Committee on Fire and Buildings has been given power to grant A. D. Mallinson's petition for permission to erect a corrugated-iron structure in the rear of his home, 206 Watchung avenue.

—The third annual gathering of the Tingley family will take place at the farm of David Blackford, New Market, Wednesday, August 30. The Friendship Council Band will be in attendance. The friends of the family are invited without further notice by J. T. Tingley, manager.

WHAT WHEELMEN ARE DOING.

Westfield Planning to Patronize and Encourage Home Racers—Other News.

The seventh race meet of the Union County Roadsters will take place September 4, over the Rahway course.

Carl VonLengerke has resigned the office of chairman of the Racing Board of the Associated Cycling Clubs of New Jersey.

A project is on foot to have Westfield bicycle flyers ride under the auspices of a home club. Mr. Willis, who is undoubtedly the fastest rider in Westfield, rides for the Elizabeth Wheelmen; and Barnett, who is second to him, rides under Rahway colors. There are two strong clubs in Westfield, and it would seem as though the best riders of the town should be in one or the other of them.

The Associated Cycling Clubs of New Jersey held their annual election of officers, at Newark, Saturday night, when the following officers were elected: President, J. S. Holmes, Atalanta Wheelmen; Vice-President, Theodore Merseles, Hudson County Wheelmen; Secretary, L. B. Bennett, Elizabeth Wheelmen; Treasurer, L. H. Clark, Union County Roadsters. The road race of the Association will be held over the Elizabeth-Cranford course September 9. President Holmes will give the Association a watermelon party at his residence in East Orange August 26.

A PLAINFIELD MISS WRITES HOME.

Eager that Other Children May Know of Her Vacation Delights.

Dear Editor:

I am boarding in Sheffield, Mass., which is a beautiful country place. It has one very wide street with two rows of elms on each side. I am boarding on this street. Sheffield contains a very large elm which is the largest in Massachusetts; it takes a minute to walk around it. We take a great many long walks and drives which are delightful. Yesterday we all drove over to the Twin Lakes and it was a lovely drive, the cool breeze fanning us as the sun poured down its hot rays. When we arrived there it was nearly time for dinner, and you can imagine how hungry I was. The Lakes were beautiful to look at, and to see the little waves come in made you feel as if you wanted to go in bathing. The Twin Lakes are so-called because there are two lakes nearly the same shape connected by a narrow neck of water. After dinner a few of us went in the water, which was very warm and nice. We returned at 4:30, having enjoyed a pleasant day. About two weeks ago we all went over to Lake Buel; we had a splendid time there, too; went out boat rowing several times; the water was very pretty, being very clear; and the pavilions are very pretty also, being decorated with lovely flowers, and chairs being arranged to accommodate the many visitors. Several parties went fishing in the afternoon, but came back much disappointed, as they had caught but a few small ones, none worth taking home.

When I first came here there was a lady and gentleman here, that wasn't going to stay long, and as they wanted to see everything of interest they went to some place every day, and one day they took me to White's Hill, which is quite a way from here, but when you reach the top and look down, oh, such a lovely view of everything! We could see with the naked eye into four different States, Vermont, Massachusetts, Connecticut and New York. We could see the Green Mountains in Vermont, the Catskills in New York, and even the Mountain House in the Catskills, and the Hudson river. When we came down we went to call on a gentleman; he showed us a stone shaped with a hole in the top, not very deep, and an iron rod in it; he said that was what the Indians used to crush their corn with. I hope all Plainfield children are having a pleasant vacation, as well as myself. Written by

A LITTLE PLAINFIELD SCHOOL GIRL.

BASE-BALL BABBLE.

How to See To-Morrow's Game Without Leaving Home Till Afternoon.

Bergen Point is anxious to arrange a Jersey Central series, with two games each against Elizabeth, Plainfield and Somerville. Mr. Keller, manager of the Crescents, wrote to the Bergen Point manager asking for his open time for the week beginning August 20. In a telephone message to The Press today the manager of the Bergen Points states that he can play only Saturday games. It is hoped that arrangements can be made to have the crack New Jersey amateurs come here, as pitted against the Crescents they would make a lively contest, and the victory would be involved in exciting uncertainty.

GOT 'EM ON THE LIST.

These Taxpayers Owe Plainfield City Something Like $16,000, Overdue.

Taxes for the year 1891 are pretty well collected. Only $2,527 remains outstanding. Of taxes for '92 the amount unpaid is a trifle over $13,000. The special committee appointed by the Common Council to make out a list of the delinquents has prepared a schedule of city debtors to August 1, and last night presented it to the Council for that body's distinguished consideration.

PERSONALIA.

Mrs. M. J. Coyne is expected home from her outing, Saturday.

John Rafferty, Sr., is enjoying the sea breezes at Highland Beach.

J. W. Yates and family, of East Seventh street, have returned home.

The family of A. W. Day of Madison avenue have joined the throng at Asbury Park.

Masters Jack and Tom DeMeza have gone for a visit of one week to friends in Paterson.

The Misses Annie and Mollie Perkins are visiting Miss Fanny Rafferty, of Park avenue.

Miss Edith Spencer, of Bloomfield, is visiting Mr. and Mrs. J. V. Berkaw, of East Second street.

The Rev. Dr. A. H. Lewis preached at Bound Brook Sunday, and large congregations greeted him.

Miss Lena Hart, of Watchung avenue, has left Portsmouth, N. H., and is now at Black Rock, Conn.

John B. Brown has closed up his house, and is stopping at the Lafayette, Fourth avenue, Asbury Park.

Miss Lottie Messerschmidt, of Washington street, is visiting Miss Mabel Force, at Bound Brook.

The attractions of Belmar have been forsaken by Col. John Districh and family, and they are home again.

Geo. P. Dupee and family have left Watch Hill and will spend the rest of the season in the Adirondacks.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Brooks have left Annisquam, Mass., and are now at the Blynman, Magnolia, Mass.

A. M. Vanderbeek and wife, formerly of this city, have removed from South Branch to Cherryville, Hunterdon county.

Fred. J. Harr, of 47 Westervelt avenue, has been confined to his bed for over a week, suffering with nervous prostration.

Announcement is made of the engagement of Miss Emma Naylor, of East Ninth street, to Mr. Smalley, of Dunellen.

Mrs. Thomas S. Randolph, of 414 Central avenue, returned home yesterday with her three children from Watch Hill, R. I.

Joseph Saunders, brother of Policeman Saunders, was married Thursday at the policeman's home to Miss Emma Jackson of East Sixth street.

In the sad affliction of the loss of their baby daughter Ethel, Mr. and Mrs. Herbert W. Stover have the sincere sympathy of every Plainfield parent.

Brooklyn relatives parted with regret from Miss Katie Rogers, of 774 East Second street, she having returned home from a visit of one week.

Miss Kitty Daly, the popular and competent head milliner of White's establishment, returned home Monday from her vacation at Highland Beach.

Mrs. William H. Hillman and baby Evelyn are enjoying the refreshing salt breezes of Rockaway Beach. They are domiciled at the Redwood Cottage.

The Press composing room is once more graced by the efficient foreman, William M. Buckman, who has been doing some tall fishing up in the Pennsylvania mountains.

The honor and happiness of being a grandfather is now the lot of James Lot Marshall. His daughter, Mrs. William Ahlgren, presented her husband with a daughter Saturday morning.

Frank Sheppard, of Orchard place, will spend a few days of his vacation at the World's Fair, stopping at Hotel Windermere. He will continue to Denver for a time, hoping to improve his health.

Among the World's Fair visitors are Miss S. O'Keeffe, Miss M. Cotter, Miss M. Sheehan and Miss M. Whalen, all of Plainfield. When they are through with the Exposition they will visit friends in Massachusetts.

Mrs. Edward Buchanan, of Brooklyn, who is spending the summer in North Plainfield, gave a small luncheon to-day. The guests were Mrs. Landborne, Mrs. Jacob VanDeventer, Mrs. Constantine P. Ralli, Mrs. James L. Anthony and Miss Anthony.

Among the latest to delight in the beauties of Plainfield are Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Moore, who now occupy one of Chas. Sebring's new flats on North avenue. Mr. and Mrs. Moore formerly lived in Somerville, where Mr. Moore is a faithful employe of the Jersey Central Railroad Company.

The electrical equipment of the Somerset street extension was accomplished under the able direction of Alexander Thompson, a most expert electrical engineer, of the U. S. Electric Railways Company, 10 Wall street, New York. L. W. Serrell of this city is general manager of the company.

The keyboard of the Postal Telegraph office on North avenue, opposite the Jersey Central station, will hereafter be graced by the accomplished operator and graceful young woman, Miss R. C. Young, of Three Bridges, who will send messages quick as a wink and reward you for your patronage with the sweetest of smiles.

In John Adleman the Plainfield Street Railway Company has a most competent and devoted superintendent. He not only takes full care of his office duties but is continually hustling about looking after every interest of the concern. He is an earnest and indefatigable worker, and has sufficient executive ability to direct affairs so that all works smoothly and well.

John Morton has proved himself the right man in the right place, as superintendent of the Plainfield Ice and Cold Storage Company. He is an energetic, faithful worker, and under his direction the wants of all patrons are promptly and courteously attended to. He has systematized the routes of the numerous wagons so that the delivery of ice is accomplished in a manner most perfect, and it's the best ice in the world.

A dance was given on Thursday evening at Rockview Farm, the home of Mr. and Mrs. T. T. Barrett. Among those present were: Mr. and Mrs. Copelan, of Brooklyn; Mr. and Mrs. Wright, the Misses Edith and Emma Wright, of New York; the Misses Maud and Edith McArthur, Passaic Bridge; the Misses Sadie and Mattie Barrett, Miss May Doane, Mr. and Mrs. J. Hervey Doane, Charles Doane, Charles Angleman, Charles Langdon, of this city.

The Plainfield agents of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company, with their wives, gave Agent Ira F. Riker a birthday surprise Saturday, and presented him, through Superintendent Norbury, with a fine gold fountain pen and patent diler. Mr. Norbury made a neat presentation speech. Mr. Riker was greatly surprised. He had thought it strange that his wife kept him fretting so much ice-cream Saturday afternoon, but supposed she was expecting people to Sunday dinner. The surprise callers ate the cream and other good things, and greatly enjoyed them.

Town Topics comments as follows on a Plainfield social note: "Brooklynites were surprised to hear from Lake Hopatcong of the engagement of Miss Mabel Hill, a prominent Heights belle, and C. A. Watson, of Plainfield, N. J. The announcement was entirely unexpected, and is looked on as the outcome of the romantic influences of the little camp on Crescent Point, which George Watson, father of the prospective groom, has established since going to Lake Hopatcong to spend the summer. Miss Hill has been a guest of the Watsons, and I understand that other young men at the lake did not consider young Mr. Watson even a rival until Miss Hill was prevailed on by some of the young ladies at the resort to [illegible] announcement [illegible]."

Miss Belle Quailey is at Ocean Grove for two weeks.

Martin Naylor, of North avenue, is home from a Trenton visit.

A. W. Dunbury of East Ninth street is home from Plymouth, Mass.

Miss Irene Hope of East Second street is visiting friends at Cranford.

Mrs. R. W. Angleman of Madison avenue is home from Flemington.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Dooley will start for Bar Harbor early next week.

Miss Pitt of Brooklyn is the guest of Mrs. Richard Beyea of Somerset street.

J. H. Parker and family have returned from their vacation in New York State.

Mrs. R. J. Tolles, of Westervelt avenue, has returned home from Bridgeport.

F. G. Langhorne and family, of Putnam avenue, have returned from Ocean Grove.

Dr. F. G. Ard, of Watchung avenue and Fifth street, is home from his vacation.

Mrs. John J. Kenney is enjoying the hospitality of friends in Elizabeth for ten days.

Miss Bella Booth, of Newburgh, is spending a few days with friends in this city.

Miss Lizzie Smalley, of Craig place, has returned from a week at Asbury Park.

Mrs. Thomas L. Walsh, of Somerset street, is visiting at Junction, Hunterdon county.

Mrs. H. R. Palmer, of East Third street, is spending three weeks at Stroudsburg, Pa.

Frederick Foster, of Somerset street, has left Goldstein's to work in a bakery at Bayonne.

Orville G. Waring and John P. Munn have gone to Newport to see the great yachting races.

Mrs. Geo. H. Rockafellow and daughter Cecil Helen have gone to Brooklyn for three weeks.

Thomas Kane of Raritan spent yesterday with his sister, Mrs. Howard Cooper of Arlington avenue.

Harry Roberts and family will start soon for the World's Fair, where they will spend three weeks.

Miss Swackhammer, of White House, is enjoying the hospitality of Miss Susie Bose, of West Front street.

Mrs. H. F. Skiff, of North avenue, has returned home from Philadelphia, where she has been spending a month.

Mrs. Alexander Gee, formerly of this city and latterly of Bayonne, is visiting Mrs. Kulp of West Front street.

During the temporary absence of D. E. Davis, Andrew G. Carpenter will preside as organist in the M. E. church.

Miss Lillie M. Haberle, of Chatham street, is visiting relatives at Orange, where she will remain two weeks.

Miss Evora Johnson, of Arlington avenue, lately employed in the Creston Carpet Works, will remove to Raritan.

It is announced that Miss Estelle Van-Middlesworth of this city is to be married next month to Willie Woolley of Westfield.

Joseph A. Haynes and Clarence Teel will spend a few days enticing piscatorial beauties from the waters of Warwick, N. Y.

Mr. and Mrs. Kissam, of New York, parents of Mrs. Ely, are the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Henry B. Ely, of Westervelt avenue.

Mr and Mrs. George VanNess are visiting relatives at South Plainfield, and will spend some time in Plainfield before going to Jersey City.

Miss Blanche Fellows and mother left Friday for Spring Lake. They will join Miss Fellows's brother Townsend and wife, at that charming seaside resort.

Michael Heffner, an employe of D. S. Roberts, is about to enter the service of H. B. Claflin & Co., New York. He will be missed by his many Plainfield friends.

The board walk and social gatherings of Asbury Park will soon be graced by Miss Emma Kitchen, of the staff of saleswomen at White's, who is about to enjoy a vacation.

The engagement has been announced of William J. Eder, of Brooklyn, and Miss Emma Weenas, of North Plainfield. All will join in best wishes for their future welfare.

The next afternoon tea of the Hillside Tennis Club will be held Sept. 2. The tea scheduled for this week Saturday will not take place, as many friends of the club are out of town.

Judge Coddington and party are home again from Budd's Lake. The Judge is looking fine and feeling much improved in health, and the others had just as good a time as he did.

H. R. Mayett, of Brooklyn, is the guest of E. W. Mills, manager of the United States Express Company, for two weeks, at their home, 301 East Fifth street. He is a brother of Mrs. Mayett.

Edward C. Searing, a valued compositor of The Daily Press, is the recipient of many happy greetings. His cozy home is brighter than ever since Tuesday night. Mrs. Searing and daughter are making gratifying progress.

Churchgoers will be glad to know that next Sunday they are to have an opportunity of hearing an old favorite preach, the Rev. Dr. K. P. Ketcham. He will occupy the pulpit of Trinity Reformed church, morning and evening.

Miss Benner, of Orchard place, chaperoned an outing of young people Thursday afternoon, near Cadmus's old mill in the borough. About fifteen young misses and lads spent a very enjoyable afternoon, all feeling truly grateful to Miss Benner.

James W. Jackson, of Crescent avenue, who, with his family, including his son-in-law, Clifford Wharton, jr., is at his summer cottage in the Thousand Islands, last Friday bought the fast and elegant steam yacht "Ella", so well-known in the waters of the St. Lawrence.

A delightful birthday celebration was that given Tuesday night to Benjamin F. Allen, of Richmond street. The Independent Fife and Drum Corps gave good music and were largely responsible for the great success. Many handsome gifts were bestowed on the host, and the candles in his cake numbered 47. Dancing and refreshments helped to make the hours pass joyously. The guests included Mr. and Mrs. J. Newman, Miss Gussie Newman, Miss Belle Newman, Miss Tillie Terry, Samuel Terry, Sr., Miss Jennie Brokaw, Miss Mills of Somerset county, Mr. Fowler and Mrs. Everington of Lakewood, George H. Beebe of New York, Adam Lease of White House; Mr. and Mrs. Watson, Miss Lillie Watson, Miss Ray Watson, of New York; Joseph Angerbauer, Wm. Hewett. Officer S. R. Hope was right in it when the refreshments and cigars were passed.

Already Won the Highest Esteem.

The Sabbath Recorder says of the new pastor of the New Market church:

> The New Market Seventh-Day Baptist parsonage is once more occupied. Pastor Peterson and family are fairly established. Miss Palmborger, sister of Miss Rosa Palmborger, who is preparing herself for the China Medical Mission, is with them. Mr. Peterson has come into the field with plenty of courage and enthusiasm and he and his good wife have already won the highest esteem of the people.

[illegible] G. A. Gary, [illegible] N. Y.

I have been a sufferer [illegible] Ely's Cream Balm [illegible]

Royal Baking Powder Absolutely Pure

A cream of tartar baking powder. Highest of all in leavening strength.—Latest U. S. Government Food Report.

ROYAL BAKING POWDER CO., 106 Wall St., N. Y.

TAX RATE REMAINS THE SAME.

$2.20 ASSESSED ON EACH $100 OF TAXABLE VALUATION.

Assessor Hubbard Found More Than Seven Millions of Property in Plainfield City—That's a Quarter Million More Than Last Year, Which Shows How the Town is Growing.

The old adage that nothing is certain in this world but death and taxes was brought to mind by Tuesday's session of the Plainfield Common Council. Tax Assessor J. A. Hubbard was on hand with his big stack of big books, in which are recorded the valuations of all the property in town, and it was all figured out just what proportion each citizen would have to pay.

That Mr. Hubbard has done his arduous and important work with his usual careful thoroughness was testified by Councilman Fisk, who reported having spent considerable time in going over the books. He had found the assessments accurately and satisfactorily made throughout the city.

The Council studied the books in Committee of the Whole, for fifteen minutes, at the end of which time the assessments were unanimously approved on motion of Councilman Marsh.

The many bulky pages of assessment record as concentrated in the total show an increase of about $250,000 over last year, in the property valuation. The aggregate is as follows:

Real estate	$6,947,[illegible]
Personal property	1,142,[illegible]
	$7,[illegible]
Deduction for firemen, soldiers, notes, etc.	[illegible]
Total amount taxable	$6,[illegible]

The calculation of the tax rate, made on this basis, shows that the same rate as last year, $2.20 on each $100 of assessed valuation, will produce the full appropriations estimated by the Council for the various municipal purposes. The rate is made up as follow:

County	.56
State school	[illegible]
Fire department	[illegible]
Free library	[illegible]
City	[illegible]
Poor	[illegible]
School bonds	[illegible]
	2.20

The number of voters reported for poll tax is 2,578. The dogs registered as victims of the special tax of $3 number 640.

FREIGHT WRECK ON THE CENTRAL.

All Traffic Blocked Eight Hours—A Train Parted and Its Two Sections Crashed Together—Nitric Acid Set the Wreck Afire—A Tramp Injured.

SOMERVILLE, August 16.—A bad freight wreck occurred on the C. R. R. of N. J. near North Branch early this morning, by which the tracks were blocked for eight hours. About 12:30, engine 358, in charge of Peter Garey, was coming down the steep grade west of North Branch, when the train broke into two sections, which crashed together a moment later, derailed one car, and piled five others on top of it. The train was a heavy one. The wrecked cars were loaded with iron ore, coal, empty powder drums, and one of the cars contained nitric acid. A carboy of this was shattered, and running over the wrecked cars set fire to them at once.

The wreck occurred in a deep cut, and the fire burned fiercely for six hours. A tramp who was stealing a ride on a coal train coming in the opposite direction leaped off and started to cross the tracks at the wreck. He was warned of the acid, but answered by a curse. He walked directly into a pool of the fluid, and when he found his shoes burned off and his feet beginning to smart he yelled for help. He was assisted to North Branch. Dr. Conover said he was frightfully burned about the feet and legs.

Two workmen also were slightly burned.

It was fully 6 this morning before the trackmen could get to work. The tracks then for nearly a quarter of a mile were covered with a foot or two of red hot ore and coal. The work at first was slow, but as the debris cooled the men hastened, and by 9 one track was clear for trains. All of the early passengers were transferred around the wreck. The tracks for a mile on each side were filled with stalled coal trains.

No blame is attached to any one. All of the C. R. R. officers were present, and fully five hundred persons gathered before 8. Both tracks are clear now.

Now All May Revel in Deerhurst's Delights.

Dr. Coles of Scotch Plains has presented to the Plainfield Free Public Library a copy of the volume entitled "Abraham Coles: Biographical Sketch, Memorial Tributes, Selection from His Works, (some hitherto unpublished). Edited by his son, Jonathan Ackerman Coles, A. M., M. D."

Of the subject of this volume, The Critic says:

> "There was no more scholarly man in New Jersey than Dr. Abraham Coles, who was best known by his translations of "Dies Irae", * * The name of his place, "Deerhurst", was given to it because of its deer park, in which the owner kept a fine herd of these beautiful animals. Dr. Coles's library or study at Deerhurst was an ideal room, not only on account of the scholar's library it contained, but because of its architectural attractions, the plentiful light coming from the top, its inviting fireplace, and its easy chairs.

The volume contains, besides many other views, both interior and exterior, of his beautiful home at Deerhurst, a fine view of the scholar's library. The frontispiece is an excellent steel engraving of Dr. Coles himself, whose face is doubtless a familiar one to many in this locality.

Children Cry for Pitcher's Castoria.

When Baby was sick, we gave her Castoria.
When she was a Child, she cried for Castoria.
When she became Miss, she clung to Castoria.
When she had Children, she gave them Castoria.

THEY'LL ELECT A COUNCILMAN.

BUT 'TWILL BE A COMPROMISE ON BOTH SIDES.

The Seventh Man Will Be a Mugwump, and He'll Be Chosen Friday Night—No One to Be Turned Out of Office.

Promise is now made that the North Plainfield agony will be ended Friday night. The councilman to be chosen will not be a Democrat, neither will he be a Republican. The man decided on is a Mugwump, whom both parties feel they can trust with the balance of power.

The Republicans have made the concession that they will not try to elect Mr. Fountain, nor any other rabid Republican, provided the Democrats will agree not to block the wheels of public business and will consent to the compromise man whom they have named.

The Republicans also concede that they will make no effort to oust from office the present borough officers whose appointment is vested in the Borough Council. Councilman Edwards for one refused pointblank to consent to such a scheme, and said he would not vote to turn any one out simply because his appointment had been Democratic.

So unless the present agreement falls through before Friday night the differences of the councilmen are to be harmoniously settled at this week's meeting.

The report that has been current that under the law no business could be transacted by the Council until the vacancy was filled, is idle talk. If that were true, election would have been compulsory immediately after acceptance of Councilman Connolly's resignation.

THE ARLINGTON OPENED.

North Plainfield Borough Has Another Great Night, at Landlord Windham's Expense.

Henry Windham has been showered with congratulations on the successful opening of Arlington Hotel, Monday evening. The hotel was freely thrown open, and it is estimated that fully a thousand people partook of the genial host's hospitality. The house and grounds were brilliantly illuminated with colored lights, and supper was served at tables on the lawn. Mayor Saunders and several of the Councilmen occupied one table, and another was provided for reporters. The main table, seating 300, was filled three times. Good things to eat and drink were liberally provided. Excellent music was furnished by the City Band, and by the City Quartette, composed of Messrs. Martin, Roberts, Sutton and Spencer. Mr. Roberts also favored the gathering with piano solos.

Mr. Windham won many new friends by his bounteous hospitality, and cemented more firmly the good-will of a host of old friends.

TWO RAILROAD ACCIDENTS.

Octogenarian Johnstone Walked from a Flying Train, and It's a Mercy He Wasn't Killed.

John Johnstone, aged 86, walked from a last train platform as it was passing through Plainfield Monday night. He got confused while trying to pass from one car to another. He was picked up and found to be comparatively uninjured. His back was very lame, and his scalp was torn; but Dr. Fritts, who attended him, says he will recover. He is doing as well as can be expected at Muhlenberg Hospital.

Johnstone's son William was accompanying him from central Wisconsin to their old home in England. William is boarding at Mrs. Neighbour's pending the old man's recovery from his injuries.

THE SERVANT SKIPPED.

And Watch, Jewelry and Other Valuables Are Missing.

The Misses Kline, who live at the corner of Fifth and Liberty streets, went to church last Sunday morning, leaving the house in charge of a servant, a colored woman. When they returned they found things in general disorder, some jewelry, a watch, and other things gone, and the servant also missing.

Chief Grant was sent for, but has been unable to do anything towards finding the guilty one.

Every Word of It Deserved.

The Press News of New York speaks thus kindly of a prominent Plainfielder: "Charles Potter, Jr., it is stated, has retired from active service in the Printing Press Company bearing his name. If such is the case, no man deserves a well earned rest more than this honorable gentleman. Mr. Potter originated the plan of going direct to the printer with his machinery instead of waiting for the printer's visit to the market. He began his printing press career about 1857, and, to his credit be it spoken, he always did his work in a dignified, clean and thorough manner. It is rarely that a press salesman can go through the different States without incurring animosities or calling out vituperation or enmities from competitors. Mr. Potter was a rara avis in this respect; his manners seemed to awe into silence the tongue of scandal, and his bearing always commanded respect. May he enjoy his rest!"

Westfield, Too, Wants Sewers.

A correspondent of The Evening News of Newark says that the time is rapidly approaching when the question of sewerage for Westfield will have to be disposed of. The town officials are watching the workings of the Summit system. To convey sewage matter to tidewater from Westfield is practically out of the question, as in Plainfield's case, on account of the expense.

Still One Deacon Short.

There is still a vacancy of one deacon in the New Market Seventh-Day Baptist church. Prof. A. A. Titsworth, of New Brunswick, was elected at the same time as Charles E. Rogers. Prof. Titsworth, however, declined to accept the office on account of living so far away from the church that he could not perform its duties. No other deacon has yet been chosen in his place.

Success to Him!

Will Buckley, formerly a clerk in Howell's grocery on North avenue, has joined a partner and opened a grocery store in Scotch Plains, under the name of Buckley & Whitenack.

After Many Days.

Andrew Heffron was in a fight on Somerset street last March, and ever since then Marshal Pangborn has been carrying a warrant for his arrest. Last night Heffron ventured over the brook to attend the Arlington Hotel opening, and the marshal promptly nabbed him. Magistrate Crosley imposed a fine of $5.

The Best in the World.

Senator Henry C. Nelson, of New York, writes:

"On the 27th of February, 1888, I was taken with a violent pain in the region of the kidneys; I suffered such agony that I could hardly stand up; as soon as possible I applied two Allcock's Porous Plasters, one over each kidney, and laid down; in an hour, to my surprise and delight, the pain had vanished and I was well. I wore the plasters for a day or two as a precaution, and then removed them. I have been using Allcock's Porous Plasters in my family for the last 10 years, and have always found them the quickest and best remedy for colds, strains and rheumatic ailments. [illegible]"

PASTOR PETERSON INSTALLED.

HE WILL BE A SHEPHERD FOR THE SEVENTH-DAY FLOCK.

The Old Mother Church at New Market the Scene of a Notable Gathering—Plainfield Baptists Joined in the Doings and Made a Great Day of It.

Since the time when the Rev. L. E. Livermore resigned as pastor of the Seventh-Day Baptist church at New Market, the congregation have been eagerly watching their opportunity to secure a man who would fill the place acceptably. This was finally accomplished, when they extended a call to the Rev. Mr. Peterson, a recent graduate from the Seminary.

Last Saturday was the time set for the examination, and, if that should prove satisfactory, the ordination. There was also to be ordained under the same conditions, a deacon, I. E. Rogers.

The bright green fields and verdant foliage never looked prettier around the old church, which has stood for nearly fifty years, than on this occasion.

For miles around people flocked to the centre of attraction, all anxious to come up to the house of the Lord and welcome their new pastor that was to be, and all thankful that they were to have a shepherd to guide them. The people came early, and spent the day enjoying the services and the hospitality provided. Under the large shady trees that stand like living monuments of past events, long tables had been placed, on which were loaded good things to eat, which were partaken of at the noon hour.

The morning session began at 10:30, with a praise service conducted by the choir, whose members were Mrs. Isaac Giles, Miss Carrie Davis, Miss Jennie Gleeson, Mr. and Mrs. D. Titsworth, Miss Lizzie Boice, Harry Boice, W. H. Satterlee, A. H. Burdick, with Mr. Deland as organist.

After this the Church Council organized by electing George J. Crandall, of Ashaway, R. I., as Moderator. The following composed the Council:

Albert S. Babcock, State Senator, of Rockville, R. I.; the Rev. Dr. A. H. Lewis, Plainfield; Mr. Deland, Westerly, R. I.; Gideon F. Randolph, Berlin, N. Y., late missionary to China; the Rev. J. G. Burdick, New York; the Rev. L. E. Livermore, Alfred Centre, N. Y.; O. U. Whitford, General Agent Missionary Society, Westerly, R. I.; the Rev. Mr. Luckey, New York, missionary to Austria; G. H. Spicer, Hopkinton, R. I.; A. Clark, Hopkinton, R. I.; E. G. Carpenter, Ashaway, R. I.; C. C. Chipman, New York; H. H. Baker, J. D. Spicer, Dr. T. H. Tomlinson, Nathan H. Randall, of Plainfield, I. D. Titsworth, H. B. Dunham, Lewis C. Dunn, Horace Satterlee, L. T. Titsworth, clerk, of New Market; also the Rev. Frank Fletcher, of the New Market Baptist church.

This Council examined the two candidates. The Rev. Mr. Peterson came out and for about one hour stood before the people while they asked him questions relative to his knowledge in the doctrine he professed. Mr. Peterson showed remarkable knowledge, and never did he lose a point in satisfying the people that he was thoroughly conversant and well founded in the fundamental truths and doctrine which this body so firmly believe in.

After this part was over, C. E. Rogers was called on to make a statement of his call one experience, which he did, and told in a simple and plain way of his conversion and of the high importance that he held the office of deacon to be.

The Council then adjourned to another room. When they returned, the Moderator announced that they had unanimously decided to recommend that both candidates be ordained. It was so ordered, and 2:30 was announced as the hour to begin the afternoon service. The Rev. Mr. Livermore, Dr. T. H. Tomlinson, and the Rev. J. G. Burdick were appointed a committee to arrange the service. After singing the Doxology, the benediction was pronounced, and an adjournment was made till the hour set.

Everyone was then invited to partake of the dinner, which had been prepared on the lawn adjoining the church. Every want was looked after, and all were well entertained.

The afternoon service commenced at 2:30, with an anthem by the choir, after which the Rev. Mr. Martine, pastor of the Dunellen Presbyterian church, read the scriptures. Another anthem was rendered, and the Rev. Frank Fletcher, pastor of the New Market Baptist church, led in prayer. The sermon was then preached by the Rev. L. E. Livermore, of Alfred Centre, N. Y., who took for his text II Timothy, II: 15—"Study to show thyself approved unto God, a workman that needeth not to be ashamed, rightly dividing the word of truth." From this Mr. Livermore delivered a powerful discourse, analyzing the verse and setting its truths and teachings forth in such a plain way that all were deeply impressed, and for one hour he held the undivided attention of his hearers.

After the sermon the two candidates came to the platform and knelt with bowed heads. Around them were the Rev. Dr. Lewis, the Rev. Mr. Livermore, Moderator D. J. Crandall, Mr. Deland and the Rev. J. G. Burdick. The Consecration Prayers were made by D. J. Crandall and Mr. Deland. These were earnest petitions for Divine blessings and guidance.

O. U. Whitford then made the charge to the candidates. It was forcible and pointed, and the speaker gave excellent advice as to the duties of each.

The Rev. Dr. A. H. Lewis delivered the charge to the people. It was a stirring talk, and was profoundly interesting and instructive. Among other things the Doctor said: "This man you have chosen as your pastor is deserving of your earnest support. He comes to you in the full vigor of manhood, ready for the battle; give him your prayers and sympathy. To-day this man has cut loose from all that is worldly, and has consecrated himself to the Lord and His service. He has forsaken the business world, and can never return. There is nothing for him to depend on now but God and His people."

Again, "When you are inclined to find fault with your pastor, go to him and tell him his faults; don't gossip and tell people outside about it, and if ever you are not satisfied with his preaching, if ever you think he is no longer wanted, tell him so, and do it in the right spirit."

G. F. Randolph then gave Mr. Peterson the right hand of fellowship. The Rev. Mr. Martine made a few remarks, and gave the hand of fellowship on behalf of the Presbyterian church.

It was voted that the minutes of the meeting be printed in The Sabbath Recorder.

A hymn was sung, the benediction pronounced, and the serices were closed.

A little bit of history of the New Market church will be interesting. The first congregation was organized in 1707, and the membership grew steadily year after year, till 1830, when the present church was erected. It is the mother church of the Seventh-Day Baptist church of this city.

The hope of the Seventh-Day church is in its young people and their earnestness in the work. There is a large number of them in the church.

The Rev. Mr. Peterson, the new pastor, is a graduate of Milton College, Wisconsin, also of the Union Theological Seminary, Chicago, and took a course of one year in the Chicago University, from which he recently came.

The Eastern District, of which this church is a member, includes the States of Rhode Island, Connecticut, New York, New Jersey and Florida. Seven delegates from the District were sent to the ordination services and two letters of congratulation [illegible] were received.

Members from various distant churches of the denomination were present.

WHAT WESTFIELD TALKS ABOUT.

Chatty Correspondence from the Thrifty Town of Highlandville.

WESTFIELD, August 14.

The new Methodist parsonage on Union street is nearing completion. The Rev. Mr. Ruth and family will return from their vacation as soon as they can get possession of their new home. The ministers of the place are all nicely housed now. The Baptists and the Presbyterians have recently built new parsonages. The Rev. Cornelius Patton, pastor of the Congregational church, has a pretty home of his own on Berkeley Terrace.

At the last township election an appropriation was voted for electric street lights for the village. The amount, if I mistake not, was $1,000. The Suburban Electric Company, of Elizabeth, now have the poles and wires in position; and before many days the incandescent lamps will be in operation.

Some fine shade trees along the streets have, unfortunately, been destroyed to make room for the electric light poles. A particularly fine maple at the corner of Broad and Prospect streets is now lying low. The man with the axe, in answer to my reproach for his deadly work, said that the tree was not a healthy one and besides it would have been in the way of a coming pole. The latter part of his remark was true. It seems to me that it is hardly the most advantageous thing that we can do to trade shade trees for bare poles.

A Women's Exchange is to be opened by the trustees of the Public Library in their rooms on Broad street. The Exchange will be open Saturday afternoons. A consignor's yearly dues are two dollars; and a commission of ten per cent. is charged on sales made. The managers have an object in view in establishing the Exchange, which they have announced with commendable clearness. The Library has lately occupied new quarters on Broad street, which are neatly furnished and very inviting in appearance. Now the trustees wish to raise money to pay for their new quarters; hence the Women's Exchange. In this village, as elsewhere, are industrious women who are troubled to find a home for their goods. While nothing has yet been said about the interests of this class, it is reasonable to suppose that the Exchange will be made helpful to them. I believe that it will. The managers are most intelligent women.

The Public Library itself is a tangible proof, if one is needed, that its trustees are intelligent, go-ahead women. A few years ago the village had no Public Library. To-day it has one of considerable size, nicely housed and self-sustaining. As may be supposed it took some striving and planning to accomplish this. Libraries do not grow up over night, like mushrooms. There was hard work to be done. The women did it. They are doing it still.

While in the Pocono mountains of Pennsylvania this summer, I heard a snake story that will bear repetition. Its truth is vouched for by the heroine, now grown to a beautiful young lady, and by all the members of her family as well. When a little girl she at one time fell into the habit of disappearing after breakfast every morning with a bowl of bread and milk begged from the cook. The curiosity of the family was aroused; and the child was watched. The little girl on receiving the bowl of bread and milk ran at once down behind the spring house, and crouching in the grass held her bowl quite still and close to the ground. Presently a large blacksnake crawled lazily up and ate the contents. This scene had been repeated several days, the snake evidently being in wait for the child when she arrived with its breakfast. The reptile was killed, and its little charmer warned against forming acquaintances of so dangerous a character.

The English sparrow is a clever fellow, even though he is a foreigner and eats grain instead of caterpillars. Nothing delights him these hot days so much as a thorough wetting. Yesterday I saw one alight on a lawn and stand composedly in the stream that fell from the gardener's hose. After receiving a thorough wetting he flew off. Presently he returned with three feathered companions; and all four took a shower bath, getting drenched and seeming thoroughly to enjoy it.

RHEMA.

POPULARITY UNPRECEDENTED.

Somerset Street Branch Proves as Big a Success as the Main Line.

The Somerset street electric railway did a big business on Sunday. About 1,100 people were carried, and it was found necessary to put on an extra car. A large number of the people would ride out to the end of the line and then take a walk out through the mountain, and along Johnston's Drive, while some would find a shady place and commune at peace with Nature.

Car No. 1 made a record by carrying 60 at one time, and 120 on a round trip.

Saved Miller's Farm Buildings.

Alarm of fire was rung out at Scotch Plains Thursday afternoon at 5:15. The Fanwood bell was also rung, and the entire department promptly turned out. The Fanwood company was notified that it would not be needed, but the Scotch Plains companies worked for two hours, and succeeded in extinguishing a fire which was in the woods back of Ed Miller's and near Mr. Ackerman's. A dwelling owned by Mr. Clark and occupied by Charles Perrine was destroyed. The farm buildings of Mr. Miller were saved through the efforts of the firemen, but it was a close call.

Not Mr. Hummer.

The interview with Mayor Saunders, published exclusively in these columns Saturday, in reference to the Borough political fight, referred to Councilman Needham's alleged faithlessness. In the head-lines the matter was referred to as Councilman Hummer's broken pledge. The use of Mr. Hummer's name in this connection was unintentional, and an error. Councilman Needham was meant, as the body of the article showed.

Injustice of Plainfield's Social System.

The New York World grows sarcastic over a Plainfield police court case:

> There is a cruel and heartless woman in Plainfield. She is Mrs. John Ammerman, and continuously refuses to share her wages with her husband. John lives down in Hunterdon County, at White House, and is said to be laboriously engaged each day in seeking opportunities for what is popularly known as "trading the other". Mrs. Ammerman heartlessly deserted him some time ago, and secured employment in Mrs. Apgar's store, in Plainfield. John has lately been in the habit of visiting Plainfield and demanding a share of the wages which his wife earns. Mrs. Ammerman couldn't see the logic of his demands, and refused to contribute to his support. Feeling hurt and indignant, John proceeded to drown his emotions in drink. Then Mrs. Ammerman had him arrested, and he is now engaged in contemplating the injustice of a social system which does not force the wife to support the husband.

A Warning to Others.

The New York World says:

> John Collins, of Berwick, Me., on August 12 went to his barn to milk. On entering the barn, he hung his vest, containing $1,700 in currency and five bank books, up in a closet. While at work, a tramp slipped in and stole the vest, money and all. Mr. Collins had drawn the money, fearing the bank would fail.
>
> Now the safest thing to do is not to risk carrying your money around, but invest it in some of those fine lots that are to be sold at auction Saturday, August 26, at [illegible].

Why, Oh, Why—

My sisters, do you suffer so?

You have suffered so long you think there is no relief, yet relief is close at hand if you will only accept it with the faith that has saved thousands.

You may have displacement of the womb, or some form of ovarian trouble; small tumors may be forming in the uterus, or you may be approaching "the change of life."

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound goes straight to the seat of trouble, dissolves and expels tumors from the uterus, removes backache, and invigorates the entire system.

"Under its influence I gained 53 pounds. I know its value, and proclaim it best in the world. It will cure you, for it cured me, and a number of my friends also."—Ida B. Butcher, Clearfield St., Phila.

All druggists sell it. [illegible] Lydia E. Pinkham Med. Co., Lynn, Mass. Liver Pills, 25 cents.

CANNON'S
MARKET
MULBERRY STS
MECHANIC
NEWARK.

We Can't Kick

at our business, even during these times, because good square dealing, and modern business methods pay. We mark EVERYTHING in plain figures, at lowest prices, and invite inspection,

And it Pays!

You can walk through row after row of

FURNITURE

(it isn't crowded, and the PRICE is always there) and examine it at your leisure.

Our latest addition, (ground floor) gives us nearly two acres of floor space, more than any other concern in Jersey has for Housefurnishing.

CARPETS,
UPHOLSTERY,
and every other Household need.

CREDIT GIVEN,
ONLY ONE PRICE,
and that marked in
PLAIN FIGURES.

LARGEST HOUSE OUTFITTERS IN NEW JERSEY

NEW JERSEY
State Normal & Model Schools
TRENTON, N. J.

Fall term will commence Tuesday, September 12 at 9:45 a. m. Buildings open to receive students on Monday, September 11.

The Normal School gives a thorough professional training for teaching; the Model prepares for business, the general pursuits of life or college. Total cost, including board, washing, books, etc., at the Normal $154 to $160 per year; at the Model $[illegible] per year.

Buildings lighted by gas and heated by steam. Dormitories completely furnished, provided with baths, etc. The facilities, both of the school building and boarding halls have been greatly increased during the present year, the former by a properly equipped gymnasium, laboratories, etc.—the latter by increased capacity. For further particulars address

J. M. GREEN, Principal, Trenton, N. J.

EXECUTOR'S SETTLEMENT.

Notice is hereby given, that the account of the subscriber, executor and trustee under the will of Frederick P. Chase, deceased, will be audited and stated by the Surrogate, and reported for settlement to the Orphans' Court of the county of Union, on Wednesday, the thirteenth day of September next. CHAS A. MARSH.
Dated July 1, 1893.

A Child Knows the Comfort, Luxury and Healthfulness of a FERRIS' GOOD SENSE CORSET WAIST.

[illegible] PERFECTED in this WAIST. [illegible]

Sold by all Leading Retailers. [illegible] FERRIS BROS. Manufacturers and Patentees, 341 Broadway, New York.

MISS VANDEVENTER'S NEW STORE, 132 Central Ave.

CHILDREN'S OUTFITS Made to order. A full line of GOOD-SENSE-WAISTS.

An Open Letter From Clothing Builders to Clothing Buyers.

We make Clothing, you buy it. You buy Clothing ready made because it is cheaper.

There are different kinds of ready made. Have you ever investigated how different?

We show you the best that's made, the tailor made, the kind the tailor would make you to order.

In many instances you'll not be able to notice the difference in make between ours and theirs, but the difference in price will open your eyes.

The tailor's prices are about double ours and he furnishes you no better style, fit, finish, trim of fabric.

Why his big price?

He makes for the few; we for thousands. The wise and knowing are wearing OUR SUPERIOR CLOTHING and saving money.

See our grand line of SPRING SUITS between $10 and $20.

MC GREGOR & CO.,
850 and 852 Broad Street,
NEWARK, N. J.

—ELY'S CREAM BALM—Cleanses the Nasal Passages, Allays Pain and Inflammation, Heals the Sores, Restores Taste and Smell, and Cures

CATARRH

Gives Relief at once for Cold in Head. Apply into the Nostrils. It is Quickly Absorbed. 50c. Druggists or by mail. ELY BROS., 56 Warren St., N. Y.

INTELLIGENT COMPARISON

Always brings the business to us. We don't care whether you come here first or last, all we want you to do is to

COMPARE, PRICE, EXAMINE.

When you come here we will tell you enough about Piano construction to make you intelligent on the subject. We want you to see the inside of the new style

17 VOSE PIANO.

A fine watch isn't prettier. You can see the action that makes the wonderful mellow, resonant tones of this truly great instrument.

Cash, Installments or Rented.

S. D. LAUTER COMPANY,
657 and 659 Broad Street, Newark, N. J.

$35.00 TO CHICAGO AND RETURN,

Including Hotel accommodations for five days at

FRANK'S
REDUCED RATES!
Railroad and Steamship Ticket Agency,
345 and 347 BROADWAY, Cor. Leonard St., N. Y.

Lowest Rates to all parts of the World. Tickets purchased and exchanged. Sleeping Berths reserved. Baggage transferred.

MEMBER AMERICAN TICKET BROKERS' ASSOCIATION.

MERRY WAR IN THE BOROUGH.

REPUBLICAN SCHEMERS FOILED IN THEIR FIRST ATTEMPT.

They Had Everything Primed to Elect Robert Fountain, Whom the Popular Vote Had Repudiated, as Councilman in Place of Mr. Connolly, But Were Frustrated by Mayor Saunders Adjourning the Meeting and Leaving Them Without a Quorum—Thrilling Tale of Plot and Counterplot.

(From The Press, Saturday, Aug. 12.)

PROLOGUE.

That Republican Borough Councilman, successor to Michael Connolly, has yet to be elected. The politicians of his party had their scheme ready to spring at last night's meeting, but were foiled by the superior sharpness of their opponents.

A review of the situation as already stated exclusively in these columns is necessary for the completeness of the story.

With Michael F. Connolly a member, the Borough Council stood 3 Democratic and 3 Republican. At the regular August meeting Mr. Connolly resigned, and as his fellow-Democrats could not prevail on him to reconsider his determination his resignation was accepted. This left the Republican Councilmen with a majority of 1, which Mayor Saunders, whose deciding vote in case of a tie had hitherto given the Democrats a majority, was powerless to break.

The right to fill a councilmanic vacancy is vested in the Borough Council itself. The 3 Republican members saw their chance to perpetuate the majority that had been thrust on them, and planned to elect a Republican in Mr. Connolly's place. In spite of the argument advanced by the Democrats, that according to all honorable political custom the vacancy should be filled by a man of the same politics as Mr. Connolly, the schemers went right ahead with their plotting, and how to foil them was the problem of the hour among the Democracy.

To add to the indignity which so aggrieved the Democrats, it became known that the successor of Mr. Connolly decided on by the Republicans was the very man who was recently defeated at the polls, Robert M. Fountain. This the Democrats felt to be the crowning, the supreme injustice.

CHAPTER I.

Spencer's Hall was ablaze with lights. The Cracker Barrel Club had adjourned, and its members were grouped in front of the grocery store, discussing in subdued murmurs the momentous situation. The atmosphere could be felt to quiver with suppressed excitement.

Was it because the Borough Bank had busted and forlorn poverty stared the inhabitants in the face? Were these people assembled to enjoy the spectacle of the electric car whizzing up and down the thoroughfare to convey tired mortals to the fresh-air fount of the mountain?

Nay, Nay, Pauline! This was a time of strife. In the fertile field of politics seed was being sown by one hand, and tares were being strewn by another, and the citizens were speculating and predicting on what would the harvest be.

CHAPTER II.

The clock in the tower of Warren Engine-house clanged 8. The chimes of St. Joseph's rang out on the summer air in sweetest notes, but they brought no comfort or peace to the bosom of the pale-browed man who paced uneasily along the pavement in front of Spencer's Hall. He twitched his whiskers nervously, and muttered in vexation "Will that man never come! Woe upon you, Captain Edwards, if you fail your party in this crisis which only your absence can keep from being an hour of triumph!"

The minutes passed, and the nervous man with the beard could stand the delay no longer. With a piping imprecation he jammed his hat more firmly upon his head, and with an agility and fleetness betokening his anxiety darted off for the house of the delinquent.

Within Spencer's Hall the excitement had not yet penetrated. Before the desks of the Mayor and Councilmen the chairs were vacant. The only sound to disturb the quietude was the romping of the Tax Collector's dog upon the carpet or his sinister frantic efforts to dislodge a flea. Outside the railing were seated two knights of the pencil, waiting for something to drop.

Smiling, serene, and sociable, Captain George F. Edwards ascended the stairs and entered the hall. Having come from his house by another route, he had been missed by the vexed man with the agitated whiskers. That worthy burst upon the scene a moment later, great beads of sweat decorating his forehead. The reaction at seeing the Captain on deck at last, threatened him with collapse, but he bore up well under the shock.

CHAPTER III.

With the arrival of William L. Saunders, Mayor of the borough, and the sundry councilmen, the opposing forces began to concentrate themselves, and confabs and disputations resulted.

Councilmen Needham, Hummer and Edwards held a caucus in one corner, and the Mayor and Councilman Neal consulted elsewhere. The other Democratic member, Mr. Howell, was absent.

Presently Mr. Needham, who had climed down from his chase after the tardy member, said something in a low tone to the Mayor. A brief conversation followed, conducted in an undertone, and the Mayor terminated it by saying aloud and with much sarcasm: "That's your kindly spirit! It shows what kind of a man you are."

CHAPTER IV.

Having called the meeting to order, Mayor Saunders announced that the minutes of the previous meeting would be dispensed with, and stated that as Tax Assessor Cooley had promised to have his books ready for inspection next Friday night, when the Council adjourned it would be well to adjourn to that date to make up the tax budget.

Councilman Hummer made a short report to the effect that he had investigated the delinquencies of the Edison Electric Lighting Company and that some deduction ought to be made from the bill for the nights the streets were not lighted. Mayor Saunders said he would leave it with his own good judgment to audit the bill for the proper amount.

Mr. Saunders stated that Mr. Howell was out of town, and would not be back until Tuesday. He suggested that the Council adjourn for one week.

"If there is no objection,"—he said—"Council will adjourn till then."

There was a momentary pause. The councilmen all sat still and looked at one another.

"There being no objection,"—continued the Mayor—"Council stands adjourned". He tapped the table decisively, and vacated the chair.

When Mr. Needham saw that the Mayor and Councilman Neal were about to leave, he arose to protest.

"I object"—he said.—"I have resolutions here, and business to transact."

"It's too late now"—responded the Mayor.—"Council is adjourned. You should have objected before."

"You didn't give us a chance"—chorused Messrs. Needham and Edwards, and Mr. Needham said "I order the Clerk to call the roll".

Mayor Saunders and Councilman Neal departed, and there was some angry chattering for a moment.

Clerk Vetterlein busied himself with some papers at his desk, until Mr. Needham sharply queried "Does the Clerk refuse to call the roll?"

"Not if you want it called"—said that official, smiling grimly at the uselessness of such a proceeding. He tallied the answers to the names as he spoke them, and reported no quorum, as only Councilmen Needham, Hummer and Edwards were present.

"There being no quorum,"—said the Republican spokesman—"as the result of the usual Democratic procedure, without a vote being permitted, I move that we do adjourn to Friday night."

Then they all filed solemnly out.

CHAPTER V.

In front of Spencer's grocery store the genial giant John Goodwin was in his element, for at last he had something to kick about. Not since the days of fighting the trolley road had he had such a glorious opportunity. He and his fellow-politicians were loud in their denunciation of the Mayor's action, and the Democratic defenders of the Mayor were straightway involved in violent argument. One vituperative chap poured hot shot after the Mayor himself, as that worthy wended his way homeward. Rome never could have howled more discordantly than did the gang of incipient statesmen there assembled.

Even the Tax Collector's dog became imbued with the spirit of belligerency, and got up a fight with two other dogs bigger than himself. When these combatants were separated, and the only things to say were what had already been repeated, the wranglers began to disperse.

As the last member of the Cracker Barrel Club turned regretfully away from the scene of excitement, and followed in the footsteps of chagrined Republicans and exulting Democrats, a calm as of midnight succeeded the angry quivering with which the air had been pulsating. But from the trolley wire where the uncanny witches ride there flashed forth sparks of fire from their black cats' eyes, and along the wire vibrated the mysterious hum of prophecy, and it told of exciting events that were yet to come.

The continuation of this thrilling story may be found in The Daily Press of Saturday, August 19. Price, 2 cents a copy. For sale by all newsdealers.

THE BOROUGH SENSATION.

The idlers of the famous Cracker Barrel Club of North Plainfield owe Mayor Saunders a debt of gratitude for stirring up the dull times and affording them an exciting topic of conversation. Even the most rabid among them cannot but feel admiration for the Mayor for having the courage of his convictions and braving their wrath by his open and daring stand.

Mr. Saunders feels that he is fighting a grievous wrong, and that since there is only one way to defeat the scheme that has been concocted that way must be pursued no matter how distasteful it may be to fight unfair plotters with their own weapons. Though in this case the path of duty be an unpleasant one for a man of his tastes and breeding, he is too honorable to avoid its claims or to shrink from the abuse which his determined attitude has precipitated.

Whatever may be said of the parliamentary propriety of the Mayor's action, the fact remains that the councilmanic chair vacated by Mr. Connolly belongs to the Democracy. Mr. Needham himself admitted that, in his conversation with Mayor Saunders as reported in another column.

The Republican members of the Council who are seeking to secure that which belongs to their opponents have only themselves to blame for the method of warfare now being waged. The Democrats have been driven to adopt the tactics that the Republicans inaugurated. There was no other course for the Democrats to pursue. Either they must use the only power left to them, or yield to what they consider a gross outrage.

Even the partisan New York Tribune can express only commendation for the President's message. In a leading article entitled "Honor to the President" it says:

> The President deserves high honor for this message, so free from every suggestion of trimming and compromise at a time when the air is full of bartering schemes, and so earnest and strong in its appeal to the good sense of men of all parties to stop the dread of vicious action on the money question.

Fully as warm praise is given by the Republican Philadelphia Press:

> The message of President Cleveland can be cordially commended. It is well conceived and well executed. It is direct, straightforward, moderate and judicious. The President addresses himself to Congress with earnest appeal, but in temperate and convincing terms. His reasoning is lucid, and his measured words, while less aggressive than some expected, are calculated to persuade and not to offend. The scope and spirit of the message are admirably framed and pitched, and its tone is unexceptionable.

Released Just in Time.

W. E. Kiely, a lineman for the United States Electric Company, while attempting to get through the network of wires on top of the pole at Madison avenue and Front street, came in contact with the trolley wire, which caused him to cry out from the shock. He was released by another lineman who was on top of the pole at the time. Kiely was assisted to the top of the pole, when he soon recovered from the shock.

Drill Engine 200 Settles Down.

Locomotive 200 proved too heavy for the trestle in Rhoname's coal yard Saturday, and the trestle sank about foot under it. The wrecker was summoned, and the wrecking crew hauled the locomotive off. The big iron horse was uninjured.

Picturesque Route to the Fair.

No other line offers the variety of scenic interest between New York and Chicago that is enjoyed by World's Fair tourists via the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad. Passing through Philadelphia, Baltimore, Washington, the capital of the nation, and by way of Harper's Ferry and the historic Potomac Valley to the Allegheny mountains, which are crossed at an elevation of 3,000 feet above the sea, the traveler sees the arena of the activity of the nation as well as the principal historical features and scenic wonders of the East. Low rates. 26-w & s-5w

In Paint the best is the cheapest. Strictly Pure White Lead is best; properly applied it will not scale, chip, chalk, or rub off; it firmly adheres to the wood and forms a permanent base for repainting. Paints which peel or scale have to be removed by scraping or burning before satisfactory repainting can be done. When buying it is important to obtain properly made. Time has proven that white lead made by the "Old Dutch" process of slow corrosion possesses qualities that cannot be obtained by any other method of manufacture. This process consumes four to six months time, and produces the brands that have given White Lead its character as the standard paint.

Strictly Pure White Lead

"Atlantic" "Bradley" "Brooklyn" "Jewett" "Ulster"

are standard brands of strictly pure Lead made by the "Old Dutch" process. You get the best in buying them. You can produce any desired color by tinting these brands of white lead with National Lead Co.'s Pure White Lead Tinting Colors.

For sale by the most reliable dealers in Paints everywhere.

If you are going to paint, it will pay you to send to us for a book containing information that may save you many a dollar; it will only cost you a postal card to do so.

NATIONAL LEAD CO.

1 Broadway, New York.

MAYOR SAUNDERS DEFENDS HIMSELF.

FIGHTING FOR WHAT HE BELIEVES IS HONEST.

Disappointed in the Pledges of Councilman Hummer—Clear Definition of the Democracy's Position—What is Proposed as the Action for Next Friday.

(From The Press, Saturday, Aug. 12.)

Mayor William L. Saunders stated his position in the North Plainfield imbroglio very clearly to a Daily Press representative.

"It is just this:"—said the Mayor—"we resent and are fighting an outrage. Councilman Connolly's chair was not the chair of Mr. Connolly; it was the chair of a Democrat. The people had so decided it at the polls. And it is flying in the face of the suffrages of the voters to attempt to change the political complexion of the Council, which they have fixed, now in the midst of a term which they have entrusted to the Democracy.

"When I was about to depart for Europe, it was my intention to resign the office of Mayor. I stated that fact to Councilman Needham, and asked him his position in the matter, saying that I did not want to cause a deadlock in the Council and did want a Democrat elected in my place. He told me that while he would not promise to vote for any Democrat who might be proposed he did feel that the place should be filled by a Democrat.

"I was persuaded not to resign, but when informed that Councilman Connolly insisted on resigning I had Mr. Needham's assurance in mind and supposed that as an honorable man he would of course vote to elect a Democratic successor in Mr. Connolly's place, the same as he would in mine, the two cases being parallel. He has since said that had I asked him for the pledge, he would have given it, but since he did not specifically give it he does not feel in honor bound.

"As regards my right to adjourn a meeting,"—continued the Mayor—"I have this to say: The word of a presiding officer is law, unless objected to. I gave sufficient interim between my sentences for anyone to say 'I object', regarding the adjournment.

"There is much behind this scheme of the Republicans. The people have by their ballots dictated that this shall be a Democratic Council. By authority of the office invested in us, we have put men in responsible positions. We have elected a clerk, a marshal, a street commissioner, and others. I understand a part of the Republican scheme to be the appointment of Republicans to succeed these, a complete overturning of the local government from the hands of the party with whom it has been entrusted by the people.

"Should we not, as loyal officers, oppose such an imposition? Is it not something worth fighting for, something we ought to fight? We are obliged to use the only tactics in our power, and shall determinedly resist the unscrupulous effort to take advantage of a position in which one of our members has placed us. We relied on their honor, and in the hour of our betrayal we must use the only weapons at hand."

WHAT OF THE FUTURE?

Sober-minded people will inquire What has been gained by the Democrats except delay? Will they not have to yield in the end?

These questions are fully answered in the policy outlined by both Mayor Saunders and Councilman Neal in conversation with a Daily Press representative.

The plan purposed by them is to attend the session Friday night and assist in the transaction of business. But just as soon as it is proposed to elect a Republican in Mr. Connolly's place they will state their position, insisting that the office rightfully belongs to a Democrat, and declining to be a party to or participant in any legislation which will result in the election of a Republican. As their presence with the Republicans would constitute a quorum, and as they would not consent to aid in any way in the scheme to defraud the Democracy and the people of their right, they will withdraw from the room and leave the session unfinished and the Republicans unable to elect their man for lack of a quorum, which is 4.

This action will be persisted in so long as the Republicans stubbornly refuse to sanction a Democrat's election.

The Democrats will be ready at all times to push public business; and effort to consummate the Republican scheme will alone drive them away and bring matters to a standstill.

VICTORIOUS CRESCENTS.

Nothing Along the Hudson River Can Beat Them.

Once more the Plainfield base-ball team walloped their opponents, Friday. The Fishkill team made a valiant defense, but the Crescents were in such fine trim that they might have given the New York Leaguers a mighty sharp tussle. Freddy Jones, who has been practising at twirling the sphere, showed what he could do, and did so well and was supported so nobly that Fishkill was whipped 12 to 2.

The score by innings:

Crescents	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	—12
Fishkill	0	0	0	[illegible]	0	0	0	0	0	—2

The detailed score of the last game at Poughkeepsie was as follows:

CRESCENTS.

	AB	R	BH	PO	A	E
Smith, ss	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]
Martin, 2b	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]
Turner, lf	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]
Sneden, rf	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]
Rafferty, c	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]
Heckman, cf	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]
Keenan, 3b	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]
McLaughlin, p	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]
Jones, 1b	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]
	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]

POUGHKEEPSIE.

	AB	R	BH	PO	A	E
Grogan, lf	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]
McCluskey, 1b	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	11	[illegible]	[illegible]
Allen, 2b	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]
Daley, ss	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]
Walsh, cf	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]
Weeks, c	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]
Howan, 3b	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]
Lee, p	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]
Smith, rf	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]
	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	26*	11	[illegible]

*Keenan out, running out line of base.

BY INNINGS.

Crescents	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	—17
Base hits	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]
Poughkeepsie	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	—9
Base hits	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]

Earned runs—Crescents, 4; Poughkeepsie, 1. First base on errors—Crescents, 4; Poughkeepsie, 2. Left on bases—Poughkeepsie, 3; Crescents, 5. Base on balls—Off McLaughlin, 7; off Lee, 1; off Allen, 2. Struck out—By McLaughlin, 7; by Lee, 2; by Allen, 1. Passed balls—Weeks, 2. Sacrifice hits—Allen, Daley, Weeks. Stolen bases—Smith, Turner, Rafferty, Heckman (2), Allen (2), Daley, Weeks. Home runs—Weeks. Three-base hits—Sneden, McLaughlin. Two-base hits—Turner, Sneden (2), Keenan, Jones, McCluskey, Smith. Double plays—Keenan, Smith and Jones. Time of game—2:15. Umpire—Thomas Keller.

This Fisherman Appreciated.

The Elizabeth Herald says of a Plainfield Isaak Walton:

SMITH'S GREAT CATCH.

HE MADE A RECORD TO BE PROUD OF AT BENDER'S.

Weakfishing at Bender's is said to be excellent and the general run of fish caught phenomenal in size and weight.

Among the many fishermen who visited the famous fishing ground yesterday was Charles Smith of Plainfield. When [illegible] last evening he carried with him twenty-three fish, the smallest of which weighed one pound and a half and the largest over three pounds.

POINTS ABOUT YACHTS.

The Prince of Wales' Britannia Not a Success.

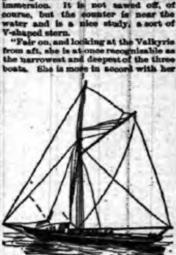
Although Built at Great Expense and with Remarkable Care the Valkyrie Beat Her Easily—The Yachts Compared.

It rather looks as if the prince of Wales' yacht will not do. Dunraven's Valkyrie is certainly her superior, and the Valkyrie is not allowed by the critics to have any too good an America's cup chance.

The Britannia's appearance under canvas was rather imposing; her bold fore body suggesting considerable power, while her long after end gave quite a graceful appearance to the hull. She floats to submerge about four feet of her counter, which fact accounts for the supposition that she was the shorter load water-line boat. Both her main boom and her load line are eighteen inches to two feet in excess of the Valkyrie, and the Fairlie designed boat will come in between them, but on account of her smaller sail plan will rate lower down a bit and have an allowance.

A Scottish critic says of the new yachts: "The Valkyrie without doubt is the most out and out thoroughbred racing craft of the new Scotch creations. I cannot say that I fancy it for appearance as much as I do the Calluna, but, taking it all in all, it is the vessel of the three which strikes one of that combination of power, speed and rakishness which suggests the successful racing cutter. It has a finely-drawn-out forebody, terminating in an overhang which looks like a cross between the Calluna and the Britannia. It has a lower side than the latter, and especially abaft the mast its freeboard gets beautifully less and terminates in a counter where there will be no more weight carried than is necessary for getting an after overhaul sufficient for immersion. It is not sawed off, of course, but the counter is near the water and is a nice study, a sort of V-shaped stern.

"Fair on, and looking at the Valkyrie from aft, she is at once recognizable as the narrowest and deepest of the three boats. She is more in accord with her own type of boat than the other two, and in consequence, to the eye, seems more in touch with what we have hitherto recognized as the proper sort of thing. Popular public opinion, however, still favors the Fairlie boat.



PRINCE OF WALES' CUTTER BRITANNIA.

"I must, however, state that in the Valkyrie America has a good boat, a clever skipper and a strong combination to meet. It was thought on this side that the Valkyrie would hold back in the initial races, but both Capt. Cranfield and those in authority have assured me that their desire is to try hard edge tight off with the other boats on the Thames, and this accounts for his towing all the way to the south.

"Like the Britannia, the Valkyrie has her head sails set in the ordinary Scotch fashion, without any Americanism in the way of standing sharp so far as the jib is concerned. The forestay of both vessels leads down to about the bitts, and a good deal of boat protrudes it. Unlike the Britannia, the Valkyrie, on account of her smaller beam, has channels, which supply the necessary spread for the shrouds, and these latter are of the skeleton order. The main shrouds are the same in both boats."

The Thirteen Superstition.

It is said this strange superstition extends away back to the time of King Arthur. When the good British king founded the famous Round Table he requested Merlin, the enchanter, to arrange the seats. Merlin arranged one set of seats to represent the apostles; twelve were for the faithful adherents of Jesus Christ and the thirteenth for the traitor Judas. The first were never occupied save by the knights distinguished for their achievements, and when a death occurred among them the seat remained vacant until a knight surpassing him in heroic and warlike attainments should be considered worthy to fill the place. If an unworthy knight sought the vacant chair he was repelled by some magic power. The thirteenth seat was never occupied but once. The story goes that a haughty and insolent Saracen knight sat down upon it and was immediately swallowed up by the earth. Ever after it was known as the "perilous seat," and, brave as the celebrated knights of the Round Table are said to have been, not one ever had the courage to sit on the thirteenth chair, and the superstition against it still survives.

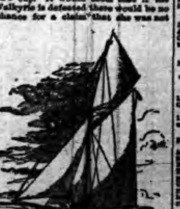
A Kentucky Girl's Ideal.

Here is a Kentucky girl's picture of the ideal man who would make a good husband: "If I wished to marry—which of course I do not—I would desire a man too noble to commit a mean act, but generous enough to forgive one. A man as gentle as a woman, as manly as a man; one who does not talk scandal nor tell disagreeable truths; a man whose name I would be proud to bear, to whom I would carry my doubts and perplexities, and with whom I would find sympathy and joy."

THE YACHT VALKYRIE.

When the Crack Cup Seeker from England Looks Like.

The best picture of the Valkyrie which has reached this side of the water is the one herewith given. The performances of Lord Dunraven's yacht in her races on the other side have proved that in sending her over to race for the America's cup England sends her fastest yacht. The English regard the Genesta and the Thistle as the only really representative sloops which have come over here to race for the America's cup. It would seem that if the Valkyrie is defeated there would be no chance for a claim that she was not thoroughly a representative of the best yachting genius of Great Britain. The new measurements of the Valkyrie recently made were startling in that they showed a waterline of 85.88 feet, instead of 85 feet, the length she was supposed to have on the waterline and the length specified in the challenge and the agreement for the international race. According to the compact regarding the races for the cup entered into between the New York yacht club and the Royal yacht squadron, both challenger and defender are limited absolutely to [illegible] puting time allowance. A sailing length computed on the present water line of the Valkyrie would, in view of the double penalty, seriously interfere with her chance of winning, provided the defender was of the specified length on waterline and the race a close one. It is announced that the Valkyrie's spars have been reduced and other alterations made in her which will bring her just within the limit.



THE VALKYRIE.

By the time the Valkyrie reaches these shores she is likely to have again increased her load-waterline length, as she is a composite yacht and such boats always increase in length and displacement a little after two or three months' immersion. By the use of the adze and by the stripping of inside fittings she can undoubtedly be brought back to the limit, however. It is by no means certain that the cup defenders will not be found to have the same trouble as the Valkyrie and alterations may have to be made in them to bring them to the 85-foot waterline.

A Sagacious Infant.

Little Fannie's big sister Esmeralda was entertaining Freddy Bondclipper, one of the wealthy young men of Harlem, and thinking she could get along without Fannie's assistance, she patted the little one on the head and said:

"Come, little pet, it's time your eyes were shut in sleep."

"Guess not," said Fannie, "mother told me to keep my eyes open when you and Mr. Bondclipper were together."—Texas Siftings.

Half a Dozen for Each.

Dick Gordon met a lady friend from the country, and after the theater they went to an up-town restaurant. Each glanced at a bill of fare, and Dick said to the waiter:

"Gimme a half-dozen fried oysters."

"You may give me half a dozen broiled lobsters," said the young lady.

Mr. Gordon fainted and the waiter fell in a trance.—Albany Journal.

A Noble Ambition.

Cholly—I'm tired of letting paw support me, and I've made up me mind to become independent of him, don't you know.

Miss Bullion—I think that's a very noble ambition.

Cholly—Yaas. I've determined to settle down and marry some nice rich girl like you, don't you know.—N. Y. Weekly.

Railroads.

The Pennsylvania Railroad.

The Standard Railway of America

Perfected throughout by the Interlocking switch and Block Signal System.

On and after July 1, 1893, trains will leave Elizabeth as follows:

9.32 a. m.—COLUMBIAN EXPRESS daily, Pullman vestibule sleeping cars to Chicago and Cincinnati, dining, smoking and vestibule passenger coaches from New York to Chicago. Arrive Chicago 10 a. m., Cincinnati 4.30 a. m., Indianapolis 7.35 a. m. next day.

9.32 a. m. FAST LINE, with Pullman Vestibule parlor and sleeping cars, daily for Pittsburg, Columbus, Cleveland, Indianapolis, Chicago and St. Louis, daily, except Saturday for Toledo.

1.02 P. M. WESTERN EXPRESS, with Pullman Vestibule sleeping cars, dining car daily for Pittsburg, Chicago, Cleveland, daily except Saturday, for Toledo. Williamsport, Rochester, Buffalo and Niagara Falls.

6.36 p. m.—SOUTHWESTERN EXPRESS with Pullman vestibule sleeping car, daily, to Columbus, Cincinnati, Indianapolis, St. Louis and Memphis. Dining car [illegible].

[illegible]

Central Railroad of New Jersey.

[illegible]

TELEPHONE COMPANY!

[illegible]

TELEPHONE TOLL RATES.

FOR FIVE MINUTES CONVERSATION.

PLAINFIELD, NEW JERSEY

[illegible]

TWENTY Years experience in the business.

[illegible]

ALBERT HEDDEN,

Livery and Boarding Stables

FOURTH STREET.

[illegible]

THE MOB OF KINGS.

(COPYRIGHT, 1893.)

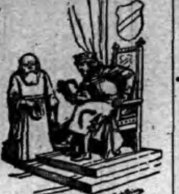
"Your majesty sent for me?"

Xoro XCII. raised his head from the psychological work he was poring over. The prime minister stood before him.

"Yes, Gogo," he said, in the clear, metallic voice which even more than his handsome young face caused him to be the most admired of lunar monarchs, "I wish to ask you about the mob of kings."

"I trust, sire," remarked Gogo, as his monarch hesitated momentarily, "that the idea pleases you."

"Frankly, it does not. As a psychological experience, however, I feel tempted to ask that you put it into execution."



XORO XCII. AND HIS PREMIER.

Gogo's ugly old face became corrugated in a grin.

"When I made prisoners of the fifty brides a month ago, sire, and had them roasted alive in the royal gardens, you will remember that your objections were strenuous. But as a psychological experience for yourself was not the spectacle worth all the agony of mind it caused you?"

In his earnestness the prime minister had dropped the formal "sire" and "majesty."

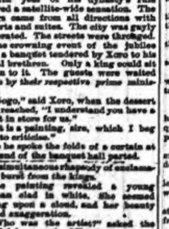
"I hardly know," replied the king. "There are times when I lie awake at night and see the forms of those girls writhing before me. I hear their shrieks and behold their young husbands making frenzied efforts to rescue them and falling beneath the weapons of my troops. At such times I ask if even a psychological experience may not be bought too dearly."

"It depends upon what you mean by a psychological experience," said Gogo, with suppressed impatience. "Your ambition being to pass through every mental state of which the mind is susceptible, you should comfort yourself with the reflection that you have at least the courage of your convictions. The love and respect of your subjects are dear to you. You sacrifice them in the interest of science. That is as disinterested, sire, and as praiseworthy as the conduct of the lad who goes without food that he may spend more money upon books."

The king well knew that Gogo gratified his own revengeful instincts very often in the name of a psychological experience for his royal master. But Xoro never had the courage to say so openly.

"Concerning the mob of kings," he said, "do you think that the sight of a hundred rulers raging through the streets of my capital like so many unruly revolutionists will diminish respect for royalty? Moreover, how can you get the kings to make a mob of themselves?"

"Men die, sire," replied Gogo, "science lives. This moon of ours revolving around the fiery earth, from which it receives light and heat, will one day be a planetary corpse with no form of life upon it. The earth, in its turn, may teem with breathing millions, only to grow cold and dead at last. Will it make any difference then that royalty fell into disrespect ages ago? But truth is as eternal as the universe. You have but a lifetime in which to investigate mental phenomena. A mob of kings is as good to experiment with as anything else."



"BEHOLD THE MOB OF KINGS."

"Better, Gogo. Carry out your idea. I sanction all your acts."

II.

The news that King Xoro had invited all the monarchs of the moon to his capital in commemoration of the thousandth year of his dynasty's rule proved a satellite-wide sensation. The kings came from all directions with escorts and suites. The city was gayly decorated. The streets were thronged.

The crowning event of the jubilee was a banquet tendered by Xoro to his royal brethren. Only a king could sit down to it. The guests were waited upon by their respective prime ministers.

"Gogo," said Xoro, when the dessert was reached, "I understand you have a treat in store for us."

"It is a painting, sire, which I beg you to criticise."

As he spoke the folds of a curtain at one end of the banquet hall parted.

A simultaneous rhapsody of exclamation burst from the kings.

The painting revealed a young woman clad in white. She seemed riding upon a cloud, and her beauty defied exaggeration.

"Who was the artist?" asked the youthful monarch of Horticulus.

"A young man from the country," said Gogo. "He is self-taught and very shy."

A general wish to see the painter resulted in his being brought in. A youth of handsome appearance and modest bearing he proved to be.

"Who was your model?" inquired Xoro.

"I had none, sire. The work is an ideal one entirely."

A moment later the artist had departed.

"Not one of the kings believes that," whispered Gogo in Xoro's ear. "I have confidentially assured each that the original of the picture is kept a prisoner by your orders."

III.

The visiting kings are assembled before a frowning tower in the outskirts of Xoro's capital. The ruler of Horticulus was haranguing them.

"Can we allow such loveliness to languish in a dungeon?"

"No!" shouted the stout old king of Mendax. "Rescue her, and I will give her asylum at my court."

"Or at mine!" exclaimed all the rest at once.

"I have a prior claim," declared the Horticulan monarch.

"Perhaps we might rescue the girl before fighting for her," observed the king of Kaladis.

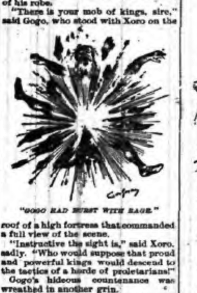
Saying this he leaped upon a step in the wall. The Horticulan hurled him furiously to the ground.

Instantly there was a hubbub. The allies of Kaladis sprang to his side. The king of Horticulus was also surrounded by his friends. A general combat ensued. In the melee crowns, scepters, robes and jewels were hurled about like paving stones and street missiles.

"King Balbor has climbed up to the captive's window!" shouted one king suddenly. "He will carry off the girl!"

The line of battle changed at once. All down across the [illegible] on their fellows' shoulders and stretching forth their arms to seize the hem of his robe.

"There is your mob of kings, sire," said Gogo, who stood with Xoro on the roof of a high fortress that commanded a full view of the scene.



"GOGO HAD BURST WITH RAGE."

"Instructive the sight is," said Xoro, sadly. "Who would suppose that proud and powerful kings would descend to the tactics of a horde of proletarians!"

Gogo's hideous countenance was wreathed in another grin.

The kings had by this time reached the window of the tower, still quarreling among themselves, and were entering the structure.

Suddenly Horticulus appeared at a casement bearing the form of a white-robed girl in his arms. The youthful artist was behind him.

"Horrors, Gogo!" exclaimed Xoro. "You said the girl was an ideal—that she did not exist!"

"So I supposed, sire," replied Gogo, in dismay. "I—"

But the king had left him and was soon speeding toward the towers.

"Hold!" he exclaimed, scaling the walls like the wind.

In another moment he was surrounded by his furious brethren, all eager to seize the girl. But Xoro had her in his arms. With drawn sword he faced them.

"Now I am in the mob of kings," he thought, bitterly. "I am no better than the rest."

The artist meanwhile had rushed to the street and raised an alarm.

Xoro's subjects ran up and he was soon master of the situation.

"Where am I?" murmured the girl, who all this time had seemed in a trance.

"You are safe," said Xoro.

The sound of her voice had resolved him to make this fair unknown his queen. He saw that she knew what passed in his mind and was content.

"Sire," she said, "your psychological experiments leave no one safe in your dominions."

They were alone now, for the turbulent monarchs had noisily retreated, with the people after them.

"My only wish," said Xoro, "is to study the mental condition that results from a given set of circumstances."

"Then, sire, why not rejoice in the mental condition that results from pleasing your subjects in all things?"

Xoro understood and assented with an inclination of his head.

"But whom have we here?" he asked, as the young artist appeared, leading a fair girl by the hand.

"My wife," replied the painter.

"My sister," said the maid in Xoro's arms.

The newcomer knelt before the king.

"Arise," said Xoro, "you shall be my prime minister—"

A loud explosion interrupted him.

Gogo had burst with rage.

ALEXANDER HARVEY.

Good Advice.

"Never strike a man when he is down, my son," said Lord Chesterfield. "He may get up again."—Truth.

Quite a Difference.

Rollo—Tell me, pa, is there any difference between common salt and chloride of sodium?

Mr. Holliday—Yes, Rollo, a great difference. Salt is two cents a pound at the grocer's, while chloride of sodium is 50 cents a teaspoonful at the druggist's.—Boston Transcript.

Too Precipitate.

He (bitterly)—If I were rich you'd marry me fast enough!

She—Don't, George, don't! Such devotion breaks my heart!

He—What do you mean?

She—Often have you praised my beauty, but never before my common sense!—Truth.

To Be Pitied.

"Please, ma'am, give some money to a orphan."

"Here's a quarter. Is your father dead, little boy?"

"No, ma'am, the money's for me fodder; he's a orphan."—Chicago Record.

The Delights of Cynicism.

Clara—Did you have a nice time on your visit to the Twitchsnoozes?

Maud—They wouldn't have [illegible]

MISCELLANEOUS

MISCELLANEOUS.

E. P. THORN,

No. 17 Park Avenue,

PLAINFIELD, N. J.

Pure Wines and Liquors,

For Family and Medicinal Use,

A SPECIALTY.

3-30-1

CASTORIA

for Infants and Children.

THIRTY years' observation of Castoria with the patronage of millions of persons, permit us to speak of it without guessing. It is unquestionably the best remedy for Infants and Children the world has ever known. It is harmless. Children like it. It gives them health. It will save their lives. In it Mothers have something which is absolutely safe and practically perfect as a child's medicine.

Castoria destroys Worms.

Castoria allays Feverishness.

Castoria prevents vomiting Sour Curd.

Castoria cures Diarrhœa and Wind Colic.

Castoria relieves Teething Troubles.

Castoria cures Constipation and Flatulency.

Castoria neutralizes the effects of carbonic acid gas or poisonous air.

Castoria does not contain morphine, opium, or other narcotic property.

Castoria assimilates the food, regulates the stomach and bowels, giving healthy and natural sleep.

Castoria is put up in one-size bottles only. It is not sold in bulk.

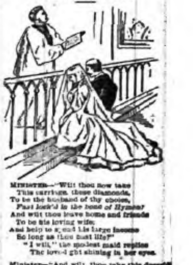
Don't allow any one to sell you anything else on the plea or promise that it is "just as good" and "will answer every purpose."

See that you get C-A-S-T-O-R-I-A.

The fac-simile signature of Chas. H. Fletcher is on every wrapper.

Children Cry for Pitcher's Castoria.

A MODERN VERSION.



[illegible]

And wilt thou leave home and friends
To be his loving wife;
And help to spend his large income
So long as thou dost live?"
"I will," the modest maid replies
The loved light shining in her eyes.

Minister—"And wilt thou take this dressed up doll,
This ostentatious pride,
With all these unpaid milliners' bills,
To be thy chosen bride?
And wilt thou love and cherish her
While thou hast life and health,
But die as soon as possible,
And leave her all thy wealth?"
"I will," the fearless man replies,
And eager waits the nuptial ties.

—Once a Week.

He Knew Chickens.

Mr. Suburb—What on earth are you trying to do, neighbor?

Mr. Nexdoor—Merely taking down a little of this fence, so that I can move my chickencoop over into your yard.

"Eh? My yard?"

"Yes, I like to be neighborly and considerate to other people's feelings, you know."

"But—er—"

"Yes, you sha'n't have any more cause to complain about my chickens scratching up your yard."

"But you are moving your whole coop over on to my property!"

"That's the idea. Quick as the chickens find their coop in your yard, they'll conclude that you own them, and will spend the rest of their natural lives scratching in my yard, you know."—N. Y. Weekly.

In a Circle.

"It is interesting," he said to the dyspeptic young man, "to observe the different names we have for the same thing."

"Is it?"

"Of course it is," he went on with the persistence of the man of research. "Take 'lamb,' for instance. When it gets old it is called 'sheep.'"

"Anybody knows that."

"And the sheep, after it is killed, is called 'mutton.'"

"You're getting right around to where you started from."

"How?"

"When your mutton is cooked and served in our boarding-house it becomes 'lamb' again."—Washington Star.

Of No Interest to Him.

Cubbage (fiercely)—It is very discouraging to a man to have to carry a shrieking baby around the room all night and then to reflect that of such is the kingdom of Heaven.

Mrs. Cubbage (meekly)—How can that be possibly affect you, dear?—Puck.

Consulting the Proprieties.

"I've changed the name of my story," said the young writer.

"What do you call it now?"

"'The Engagement Ring.'"

"Why?"

"Because every time I offer it, it is returned with thanks."—Washington Star.

Terribly Effective.

Justice—Aren't you ashamed of yourself? After this good woman fed you you turned around and struck her over the head. What weapon did he use, officer?

Policeman—Th' pie she gav him, yer honor.—Judge.

Johnny's Diagnosis.

Little Johnny—Sammy Slowgo is sick, and the doctors say he can't live.

Mother—Mercy me! What's the matter with him?

Little Johnny—I don't know, 'cept he has always been a very good boy.—Good News.

Nicely Put.

She—Won't you have a cigar? I always feel when I am talking to a man that a cigar shares with me the responsibility of entertaining him.

He—You do not need any assistance.

She—But it is such a relief.—Harper's Bazar.

Just When He Didn't Want It.

Mrs. Brown-Smith—Did your husband catch the last train home last night?

Mrs. Brown-Jones—[illegible]

THE CONSTITUTIONALIST.

VOL. XXVI. PLAINFIELD, N. J., THURSDAY, AUGUST 24, 1893. No 34.

"Support the Constitution, which is the cement of the Union, as well in its limitations as in its authorities."—MADISON.

The Constitutionalist,
A DEMOCRATIC WEEKLY.
W. L. FORCE & A. L. C. FORCE, Editors and Proprietors.
AT PLAINFIELD, NEW JERSEY.
TERMS—TWO DOLLARS A YEAR.

Rates of Advertising

[illegible]

All Electro's must be solid metal.
Double cols. 50 per ct. advance of above rates.

PROFESSIONAL CARDS.

JACKSON & CODDINGTON,
Counsellors-at-Law,
Commissioners of Deeds, Masters-in-Chancery, Notaries Public. Offices corner of Park avenue and Second street.—jaaff

GEORGE W. DAY,
General Auctioneer.
Sales of Personal Property solicited. P. O. Box 133, Dunellen, N. J., or address in care of Constitutionalist. Terms reasonable.

DR. CHARLES R. THIERS,
Dentist,
9 West Front street. A new local anesthetic application for extracting teeth without pain. Gold filling a specialty.—joall

BUSINESS CARDS.

P. P. VanArsdale,
PIANO TUNER.
Instruments put in thorough order. Terms reasonable. Pianos and Organs for sale and to let. Orders by postal, P. O. box 160, or left at Willett's shoe store, No. 6 Park avenue, will receive prompt attention. Residence 21 E. Front street, corner Elm street. jly1tf

John Chandler,
CARPENTER AND BUILDER.
Plainfield, N. J.
Residence and shop No. 36 East Third street.
Jobbing promptly attended to. ap1y

E. B. MAYNARD,
PRACTICAL BARBER
AND
Artistic Hair Dresser,
No. 26 PARK AVENUE.
Ladies' and Children's Hair Cutting done at their residences. Shaving, shampooing, etc. satisfactorily performed. d1yl

CARNEY BROTHERS, Agents,
7 West Front St.
TINNERS,
PLUMBERS,
GAS FITTERS.
PARLOR STOVES,
COOK STOVES,
HEATERS.

Grates and Bricks for all kinds of Stoves can be found here at Jobbers' prices. Bring your Tinware mending to us. The best Tinners, the best Plumbers, and the best Gas-fitters in this section. We use none but the very best of materials, and our work always gives satisfaction.

Keys of All Kinds are Made Here.
Tinware Made to Order.
Ranges, Brick and Portable Furnaces
SANITARY PLUMBING.

Parlor Stoves,
Furnaces, Ranges,
Water Piping, Plumbing.
Heater Work. Tinning,
Hardware.
A. M. GRIFFEN,
13 East Front Street.
TELEPHONE CALL, 6. 11 11-tf

Beautiful Assortment!
Furniture!
Largest Assortment!
Best Goods!
Lowest Prices!
Ever Offered in Plainfield!
23, 25 and 27 PARK AVE.
Garret Q. Packer.

LEWIS B. CODDINGTON,
[Successor to T. J. Carey.]
Furniture and Freight Express!
OFFICE—24 W. FRONT ST.
Large Covered Vans or Trucks. Goods delivered to any part of the U. S. Satisfaction guaranteed. Charges reasonable. P. O. Box 3 [illegible]. Piano moving a specialty.

SANITARY PLUMBING,
Brick and Portable Furnaces,
GAS FITTING,
TIN ROOFING,
Etc. Etc.

I am prepared to do any of the above branches in strictly first-class, sanitary and workmanlike manner.
Having associated myself with the Master Plumbers Association of New York City, I employ none but first-class mechanics [illegible] all above.
D. W. LITTELL.
[illegible]

MISCELLANEOUS.

FOR MALARIA,
GENERAL DEBILITY
AND
ALL STOMACH TROUBLES
COLES'
PERUVIAN BARK
AND
WILD CHERRY BITTERS
ARE THE BEST.
A Vegetable Substitute for Quinine.
SOLD BY ALL DRUGGISTS.
Price, 50 cents and $1.00 per Bottle.
PREPARED ONLY BY THE
D. F. COLES DRUG AND MFG. CO.
RAHWAY, N. J.
5-27-y

Jas. M. Dunn,
Dealer in
GROCERIES, PROVISIONS
Vegetables, Fruits, etc.
No. 36 Park Ave.
OPPOSITE NORTH AVENUE.
THORBURN & CO'S GARDEN SEEDS
BEST IN THE WORLD.
ALL GOODS DELIVERED FREE OF CHARGE
ahalf

ESTABLISHED 1846.
C. E. & J. W. BROWN,
[Successors to G. F. & C. E. Brown & Co.,]
Importers, Wholesale and Retail Dealers in
WALL PAPER.
321 Canal Street,
NEW YORK.
English Tiles, Anaglypta, Hand, Leather Raised Flock Papers, &c. Burlaps for Walls.
Manufacturers of Window Shades.
8-10-tf

LIVERY.

REMOVAL.
A. M. SEGUINE,
Has removed his office to
No. 8 West Second Street,
(Salvation Army building)
Where all orders left for carriages will receive prompt attention.
TELEPHONE CALL, NO. 26.
Your patronage is respectfully solicited.
A. M. SEGUINE.

RICKERT'S
ACCOMMODATION EXPRESS.
OFFICE—Vanderbeck's Music Store, Park avenue. The "Accommodation Express" will attend to the general carrying business of the city, delivering goods or baggage to and from the depot, or from place to place.
Moving of Furniture, Pianos, etc., with care and safety.

INSURANCE.

WILLIAM A. WOODRUFF,
FIRE AND LIFE
INSURANCE AGENT,
Office cor. Front St. and Park Ave.,
PLAINFIELD, N. J.
Real Estate for Sale & Exchange.
MONEY TO LOAN
On Approved Security.
My20tf

Fresh Garden Seeds
AND FERTILIZERS,
Farm and Garden Implements,
Lawn Mowers Refrigerators,
Ice Cream Freezers
Gasolene Stoves, Hardware, Tools, etc.
J. J. HEIDELOFF,
No. 15 SOMERSET ST. 8-15-tf

CANOPIES
For Weddings, Parties, Etc.,
TO HIRE. CHARGES REASONABLE
Hugo Weigman,
20 EAST FRONT STREET, PLAINFIELD, N. J. mc29tf

THE PLAINFIELD
PACKING HOUSE
25 West Front Street,
Would respectfully inform its patrons that in addition to its usual stock of
Fresh, Salt and Smoked Goods,
It has added a full line of
Fresh Beef, Lamb,
Veal, Mutton & Poultry,
Which it is prepared to sell at
Reasonable Prices!
All goods delivered free of charge.
Telephone 141.
[illegible]

TOBACCO, SEGARS, &c.

F. EGGERDING,
No. 17 Park Avenue,
PLAINFIELD, N. J.
Manufacturer of the Celebrated
C. O. D. CIGAR.
The best 5 cent cigar in the State, and made on the premises from the finest Havana.
CLEAR HAVANA SEGARS A SPECIALTY.
A large assortment of the Choicest Brands of Foreign and Domestic Cigars, Cigarettes and Tobacco, always on hand.
Smokers' Articles in Great Variety.
1aoly

A. WOLFF,
Manufacturer of
CIGARS.
And dealer in all kinds of Smoking and Chewing Tobacco, and smokers' articles, has removed from 30½ W. Front street, to 62 West Front, one door east of Madison avenue, and solicits the patronage of his friends, and the public generally.
4 9 m

PAINTERS & PAINTERS' SUPPLIES.

Paints, Varnishes, Glass.
WINDOW SHADES AND FIXTURES.
WALL PAPERS!
PAPER HANGING A SPECIALTY.
A. SWALM,
No. 6 North Avenue, Plainfield.
5023

L. A. WOOLSTON. J. P. BUCKLE.
Woolston & Buckle,
PAINTERS,
Wall Papers,
PAINTERS' SUPPLIES. 18 NORTH AVENUE
ap29tf

To Dickinson
Optician
13 Park Ave
Plainfield N.J.

WHATEVER form of printed matter you require we can be of service to you; whether it be

Letter Headings,
Circulars,
Programmes, Menus
Addresses,
Memorials,
By-Laws of Societies,
Prospectuses and Reports of
Financial Associations, or any other matter for Public or Private Circulation.
Everything

WEEKLY CONSTITUTIONALIST
DAILY PRESS
(Chautauqua Building),
PLAINFIELD, N. J.

COUNCILMAN NEEDHAM RULES THE ROOST.

North Plainfield Borough Council Turned Over to the Partisan Republicans.

Councilman Neal Withdraws in Indignation, But Mayor Saunders Stays and Gives the Republicans the Severest Kind of a Drubbing—He Exacts a Pledge that They Will Not Oust Any Salaried Officers—Robert Fountain, Whom the People Rejected at the Polls, Put Into Michael Connolly's Democratic Chair—What Are You After? Demands the Mayor—He Scores Them on Their Electric Light Monopoly Muddle, and Gives Them a Lashing on Public Matters in General—Pointing with Pride to Democracy's Local Record. He Yields the Fight to His Opponents So as to Save the Tax Assessor's Books.

Liveliest session in North Plainfield's history was that of the Borough Council Friday night.

Mayor Saunders called it to order at 8. The only absentee of the councilmen was Mr. Howell, but Clerk Vetterlein also failed to appear, and his friend Mr. Bodine sat in his chair as a substitute.

Councilman Needham opened the ball by moving that Newton B. Smalley be made clerk pro tem.

Mr. Neal asked what was the matter with Mr. Bodine. Mr. Needham said he urged Mr. Smalley's election not for personal but for political reasons.

By a strict party vote Mr. Smalley was elected.

Then Mr. Needham moved that the Council proceed to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of Councilman M. Connolly.

Mr. Neal sprang to his feet.

"I see"—said Mr. Neal—"that there is a determination to force this issue. As for me, I am perfectly prepared to meet it. I shall go into no lengthy argument, for I am sure that my position will receive the endorsement of every fair-minded man. My claim is that the Democratic party alone has the right to fill the vacancy left by Mr. Connolly. I venture to say that were the members of this Council left to obey the dictates of their own conscience, to follow their own sense of right, they would not do this thing. The majority seems bent on assuming the rights of a helpless minority, and I decline to be a party even by presence to any such usurpation of power."

When Mr. Neal had paused, the Mayor asked if there were any further remarks.

"That motion, Mr. Mayor,"—said Mr. Neal, emphatically—"can mean but one thing. If the Mayor will decide not to entertain it, I shall be glad to remain to assist in the transaction of public business. If the motion is entertained, I shall be forced to withdraw, and in such course I am sure the people will justify me."

As Mayor Saunders put the motion, Mr. Neal took his hat and hastened away.

Only three councilmen were left to vote, and they were the three Republicans, Messrs. Edwards, Hummer and Needham, who of course voted for the motion, and the Mayor declared it carried.

Immediately Mr. Needham was on his feet with a resolution that Robert M. Fountain be elected to fill the councilmanic vacancy.

This being seconded, Mr. Needham stated that it was with great reluctance that Mr. Fountain had consented to permit his name to be used for the office.

"I am satisfied"—added Mr. Needham—"that Mr. Fountain's election is the desire not only of the Republican party but of the majority of the citizens of the election district. The Republican members of the Council unanimously urge it, and at the last election he received more votes than any other nominee on the ticket. At the sacrifice of his own inclination and time he has consented to face the slurs that have been made against him in connection with the possibility of his filling the office."

Referring to the objections made to filling a Democratic vacancy with a Republican, Mr. Needham said he wondered if when Grover Cleveland, "our respected President", had occasion to appoint a Chief Justice he asked if the predecessor had been a Democrat or a Republican, or if a Republican Senate was called on to fill a vacancy it asked the politics of the former incumbent.

"The vacancy caused by Mr. Connolly's resignation"—continued the Republican leader—"I regret. The Council has worked harmoniously together, and I have no criticism to make of the way the retiring member filled his place."

But he held that he would not be fulfilling his duty unless he voted to put in a man in whom he had the utmost confidence, and in voting for Mr. Fountain the Republican members would be simply enforcing a right, perhaps, which their Democratic friends could not take exception to.

At the request of Mayor Saunders, Councilman Hummer took the chair; and the Mayor took the floor to make a speech.

"Permit me to ask,"—he said—"as courteously as I can, if the gentlemen of the new majority have any intention of changing any of the salaried officers."

As the Mayor paused for a reply, Mr. Needham said he had seen it stated that the Mayor had understood that it was the intention of the Republicans to oust the clerk, marshal and other appointees. He challenged the Mayor, courteously and respectfully, for his authority for any such assumption. He himself would decidedly be opposed to any such dishonorable act. Until an officer gave real cause for dissatisfaction in the performance of his duties, he would be the last man in the world to vote to remove him.

Mayor Saunders said that he should regard such an expression of feeling as a promise that no officer should be removed without cause, and asked what the other Republican members had to say.

The sentiments of Mr. Edwards coincided with those of Mr. Needham. He said he would rather cut off his right hand than do any act which he should feel to be dishonorable. He would not be a party to anything underhanded or small. To remove any salaried officer except for cause he felt would be radically wrong.

Mr. Hummer's views were the same as that of his two colleagues, and he brought his knuckles with emphatic sharpness upon the table in saying so.

"By the suffrage of the people"—said Mr. Saunders, resuming his speech—"a Democratic majority was put in power. The Council was made Democratic by the election last March. Having been placed in power, the Democratic party put officers in, because the people at the polls had decided what the political complexion of the local government should be, and so that the officers might be in harmony with the members of the Council. These appointees have faithfully served the people, and it is my duty to defend them.

"Having received this expression of opinion, that these officers are not to suffer, I am constrained to ask What is the cause of it all? What have the Democrats done to deserve this treatment in this little borough? They have neglected their pleasures and interests for the prosecution of public business. And they can't see why advantage should be taken when one member of the party in power steps out to make room for a man who is not so hampered by private duties as he from attending to the important duties of his office.

"I took the entire responsibility of permitting Mr. Connolly to resign. It would have been easy for me or some other member to withhold the resignation or hold it over for some future meeting till some arrangement had been agreed on. But we let it go through, and for a reason.

"When I found it necessary to take a trip abroad, I decided to resign the office of Mayor. I so stated to Councilman Needham, to have him give expression to his opinion on the matter of choosing my successor. I suggested to him the name of Mr. Blank, and as I remember he stated that he would not promise to vote for that particular individual, but did feel that a Democrat should be elected.

"If I am wrong,"—said Mr. Saunders—"I trust Mr. Needham will correct me."

"That"—commented Mr. Needham—"was about the position I took."

"Knowing" — resumed the Mayor—"that one vote would settle the matter, I thought it not worth while to ask further among the Councilmen. Mr. Needham's acknowledgment of Democratic rights, I had confidence in, and I failed to see any difference in principle between my proposed resignation and that of Mr. Connolly. Therefore I permitted the resignation of Mr. Connolly to go through, trusting to the good faith and fairness of the members of the Council of the opposite party."

In telling how he had gone to Mr. Needham just before the meeting of the previous Friday night, to ask him to consent to a postponement of the election of a successor to Mr. Connolly, Mr. Saunders spoke of Mr. Needham as the leader of the Republicans. Mr. Needham disclaimed such leadership.

"You are such to my mind,"—retorted Mr. Saunders—"and recognizing you as the leader of the minority I asked if you would agree to adjournment for one week until Mr. Howell who was absent could be consulted as to his views, and, as was his due, have a chance to express his opinions. You consulted with the other members, and just as I was about to call the meeting you declined to sanction postponement. You said that of course I and the other Democrat present could go away and leave you without a quorum, which suggestion I resented, as I felt competent to manage my own affairs and didn't care to receive instructions from you.

"The arbitrary course you adopted led me to determine to adjourn the meeting, which I did; and that same action I would repeat under the same circumstances. In that act I take the entire responsibility for doing what everyone experienced in parliamentary law knows can be done. You could have obstructed it by giving objection when I paused between saying 'If there is no objection we will adjourn for one week' and 'There being none, the meeting stands adjourned', but you seemed taken by surprise, and failed to object. I went through the same formula I had always used, and Cushing's or Matthias's Manual will tell you that the president of a body may presume the consent of a council and not hearing objection declare a motion carried or a meeting adjourned. I venture to say that not one Congress in 25 is adjourned by regular vote on a motion, and it is the same with all legislative bodies.

"My object in asking the gentlemen to consent to adjourn was simply because I wanted to look into the situation and ascertain what it all meant and what was proper to do. What were you after? Was it the offices? This seemed to me to be the only tangible, moneyed thing capable of producing such a disturbance where all had been in harmony.

"I accepted Mr. Needham's conversation Friday night as representing the other Republicans of the Council. But I have reason to say that had I consulted Mr. Hummer, whom I regard as a fair and honest man, I believe that instead of the sentiments of Mr. Needham he would have expressed a willingness to consent to postponement of the election of Mr. Connolly's successor.

"To-night you have stated here that it is not your intention to change the salaried officers. What then do you want? Is it to take the load off the Democratic shoulders? If so, take it. But if I thought for one moment that in electing a councilman you intended to deprive of office those men who are depending on the income for support I should put on my hat and walk out. That I should do if I could bring myself to a realization of the fact that you were striving for anything but mere political advantage, which I don't care anything about. No man shall say that I was afraid to stand up before a body of opponents and battle against any attack which I felt was being made against the interests of the people.

"The gentleman has asked, Does Grover Cleveland or does the Senate ask for the politics of the predecessor when an office is being filled? No: the gentleman is perfectly right. But it is a wrong comparison. In this country we have a system of government which thank God is better than any other on the face of the globe—government by the people. What the President says or what the Senate does has nothing to do with the voice of the people. Right now, when the country is suffering, the Senate is obstructing popular will. The Senate is like the House of Lords in England. It is Congress which would be fit comparison with this Council.

"I repeat, What object have you in all this scheme? And I am reminded of the advantage taken during my absence of passing a resolution to create what I consider a monopoly. No one would be quicker to support home industry than I; no one has a greater regard for the men in the Edison Electric Light Company than have I. They are personal friends and good public citizens. But we should legislate on the basis of what we are here for. Our duty is to encourage competition. The Edison company's street lighting contract with the borough is soon to come up for renewal. That company has not been giving first-class service. For one week there was scarcely a light burning. I believe that the company has been passing through an experience that will be valuable. I believe it is earnestly trying to perfect a system and in the future give good service. But it is principle that we should work on. We should not put a stone wall up at the brook! I don't believe in that brook being made either a stone wall or a sewer. The Plainfield company should be held up as a bugbear to the North Plainfield company. Its presence should be felt so that we could say 'Edison company, look out; if you don't give good service we shall put in your competitor'. The possibility of such opposition would make the North Plainfield company more zealous and more earnest to give the best possible service. I mention that line of thought because I am looking for some explanation of the anxiety you have for filling the vacancy with a Republican.

"For the mere political advantage, I don't care. You have now a majority. You have started in tonight by appointing in partisanship a temporary clerk who, though a man I esteem highly, is of your own party. You have set aside the regular order so that you may elect a successor to Mr. Connolly before proceeding with the urgent public business in hand. You have shown very clearly that you will either throw on the Democratic party the odium of not passing the Assessor's books in the time prescribed, or gain your partisan point. The Assessor's books must be passed tonight, under the law, or the tax bills will not be legal. A man who was taxed might then take exception to his bill and oppose its payment, causing the borough a great deal of trouble, litigation and uncertainty.

"The people of this borough have twice honored me with the election of the office of Mayor. I place the people's interests ahead of everything political. I would stay here all night rather than adjourn before the Assessor's books are passed.

"But you have taken it upon yourself to prevent the introduction and passage of a resolution for the approval of the books until you have a chance to elect your man. You have shown that you are disposed to take the political management of the borough's affairs for the remaining seven months of the term—to take it away from the party which has been chosen by the people.

"It is a pretty good time for the Democrats to throw the load on your shoulders. I am glad that I cannot lay my hand on any ulterior motive which might prompt you. I am glad to let you take the reins just now, and I assume to speak for the Democratic party. For the Democratic party, representing the people who placed it in power, can point to many good deeds done for the borough. Just now the trolley road is running through the street, and the only other time I ever took the floor to speak was to argue against the opposition that was being made to the introduction of that railway by the councilmen of the opposition. Across the way is a new hose tower erected through the assistance of Mr. Connolly; it overlooks a beautiful room for the fire department, fitted up through the act of this Council and so through the act of the Democratic party. We have paved a great many streets, put in hydrants, and expended a great deal of money very carefully on work connected with fire and lamps. We are therefore naturally satisfied to leave our record as it is, and present ourselves to the people for their approval or disapproval at the next election.

"In thus pointing out certain things that we have done, the Democratic party shows that it has always fulfilled its duty. And so I propose to let you go ahead and manage affairs, and place the matter before the people at the polls.

"You have said that my previous action has been arbitrary. I only fought for a principle. The retiring member was elected for a certain term, not because he was Mr. Connolly, but because he was a respectable Democrat. He was elected on a substantial majority on a ticket that went through. And in his place you assume to put a certain man of your party in spite of the fact that that man was defeated at the polls. You take partisan advantage of the position in which Mr. Connolly has voluntarily placed his chair, and you can go ahead. We shall rest content, submitting it to the people to decide."

Having concluded his speech, the Mayor resumed his seat.

Councilman Needham spoke briefly in reply to the Mayor. He said that it would be a violent assumption to think that any Democrat would vote to put a Republican in a vacancy. He grew vividly sensational on the subject of "Democratic gerrymanders up in York State", and predicted that the rifle and the musket would yet have to be shouldered to fight against voting in that State being made a mockery.

"We, too,"—he said—"will go before the people on the electric light question"—and he scorned the suggestions that the Republicans were being actuated by some sinister motive. He said that while the Mayor was in Europe the Republicans made not the faintest effort to pass anything from mere partisanship.

When Mr. Needham sat down, the Mayor put the question, and the resolution to elect Mr. Fountain was adopted by the unanimous trio of Republican votes.

The main object of the Republicans having been accomplished, Mr. Needham moved that the rules of former Councils be adopted as the rules of this. They had not been re-adopted at the opening of the year. Mr. Needham's motion was carried.

A crosswalk was ordered laid on Grandview avenue at Westervelt.

The hose tower was reported completed, and the balance of $900 on the $800 cost was ordered paid.

The assessment book of Tax Assessor Cooley was carefully examined, and some assessments were increased by the Councilmen. The book was then approved as corrected.

The appropriations for the year's tax budget were fixed at $2,500 for fire department and hydrants and $5,000 for lights.

The Assessor was authorized to put sidewalk charges in the tax bills of those whose walks had been repaired at the expense of the borough.

The electric light bill for July was cut down from $287 to $202, as a penalty for bad service, and ordered paid as amended.

Councilmen Hummer and Edwards were appointed a special committee to report at the next meeting the securing of a place to impound dogs.

Adjournment was then made. It was nearly 11 o'clock.

HIT BY A FALLING BRICK.

But Hard-Headed Peter Nolan Doesn't Mind Such Trifles.

Peter Nolan, a mason's helper who was working on the North Plainfield public school extension, was climbing a ladder on Saturday when a brick from an upper story fell, striking him on the head and inflicting several severe cuts.

He was immediately taken to Dr. Mattison's drug store across the street, where he had the wounds sewed up. He will be able to return to work in a short time.

—The peach business is going to be very heavy on the Central Railroad this season; the company is turning about 200 large box cars into peach cars, with the usual shelving. A car will hold about [illegible] baskets.

Lantern Slides at the Farm.

J. Hervey Doane, of Park avenue, gave a lantern-slide exhibition of 100 views at the home of Mr. and Mrs. T. T. Barrett, Rockview Farm, Friday night. The exhibition was a fine one. A feature of the evening was the entertainment provided by Mr. Copeland, of Brooklyn, who was dressed as a waitress and gave an exact production of the skirt dance, which all enjoyed immensely. The rest of the evening was given up to dancing, and refreshments were liberally served.

Dunellen's [illegible] Couple.

The engagement of Monroe Reed, of West Dunellen, to Miss Lillian Ash, of New York city, is announced by the Dunellen Call, which says that Miss Ash is a cultured and prepossessing young lady and at present is the guest of her aunt, Mrs. [illegible], who is [illegible]

And He Lives in Plainfield.

[From the New York Commercial Advertiser.]

The champion orator on 'Change is L. V. DeForest (not Forest), and he can discourse on politics, stocks, religion, the tariff, bimetallism, hypnotism and fatalism with the eloquence and erudition of an Evarts, Choate or Depew. All the members concede his oratorical ability and on all occasions he is the man expected to say something. While many fluent talkers are visionary and soar in verbal ecstasy beyond the empyrean, though in practical matters they can do nothing, he combines the practical with the imaginative. He originated various methods of trading now in operation on the Exchange. He is a red-hot Republican and resides in Plainfield, N. J.

—That old dead elm will encumber the ground no more in front of the First Presbyterian church.

For the Hillside Tennis Cup.

The second annual championship tournament of the Hillside Tennis Club, for the club cup, will be held Monday, Sept. 4, Labor Day, beginning at 9 a. m. Entries may be made to any member of the Committee, and will positively close Friday, Sept. 1. The entrance fee will be 50 cents. James P. Murray, E. D. Ryder, H. D. West and F. W. Walz are the committee.

To Wash Soiled Hands.

(From The Westfield Leader.)

The Plainfield Press thinks that the location of the Cooper drinking fountain in front of our office will be a handy thing for the thirsty compositors. Well, yes; but we propose to use it to wash our hands in when we lay hold of the dead [illegible]

MAYOR SAUNDERS DISAPPROVES.

THAT ELECTRIC-LIGHT ROW NOT A BIT TO HIS LIKING.

He Holds that the Borough Council's Business is to Encourage Competition, Not Foster Monopoly—The Contract and Resolution on Which the Belligerent Councilmen Pinned Their Faith Are Missing.

Mayor W. L. Saunders of North Plainfield protests quite vigorously against the action of the Republican majority in his absence, in involving the borough in a row with the Plainfield Gas and Electric Light Company. He holds that the duty of the people's chosen representatives is to encourage competition, not seek to establish monopolies. He never would have consented to ordering the Plainfield company to clear out, had he been here.

In this connection, it is interesting to know that the borough officers are having a hard time seeking to find the resolution of years ago in which they thought they reserved the right to eject the Plainfield company. The contract that was believed to exist cannot be found, and the minutes of the Council give no clue to relieve them from their embarrassment. So far nothing official has come to light to show that the Council of years ago reserved the right of ejection which the present Council believed it reserved.

PEERLESS ROUTE TO BOSTON.

Delightful Journey of a Plainfield Party by the Palatial Sound Steamer Connecticut.

It was the pleasant privilege of a party of Plainfielders a short time ago to journey from New York to Boston and back again, by the matchless line of the Providence and Stonington Steamship Company. The steamers Massachusetts and Connecticut in commission on this route are the peers of any steamers in the world for the beauty and convenience of their appointments, the excellence of their service, and their arrangements for the safety and comfort of passengers.

They are steered by steam, lighted by electricity, with electric bells from every stateroom, and have all the most modern appliances that science and art can suggest to render them absolutely safe, comfortable and luxurious.

It was by the elegant steamer Connecticut that the Plainfielders journeyed. This vessel is captained by the sterling veteran George Williams of Brooklyn. Like its counterpart, the Massachusetts, it is a mammoth, magnificent steamboat. The staterooms are the perfection of coolness and cleanliness. The soft spring mattresses are restful, and the subdued throb of the giant engines lulls the traveler to sleep. There is very little jar from the machinery, and all the party had a good night's rest and a delightful trip throughout. A superior orchestra gives concerts every evening in the grand saloon. The music is carefully selected, and the concerts will compete in artistic excellence with any similar class of entertainment on shore. The cuisine is the best. Meals are served a la carte, and you order what you want and pay only for what you get. The main deck dining room of the Massachusetts, and the cafe dining room of the Connecticut on the main deck, are features of the Providence Line.

The steamers leave New York from Pier 29, North River, foot of Warren street, at 5:30 p. m., daily except Sunday, arriving at Providence about 6 a. m., connecting with express train leaving steamer's wharf at 6 a. m.; arriving at Boston at 7:15 a. m.; also connecting at Providence with express train leaving steamer's wharf at 6:10 a. m., arriving at Worcester at 8 a. m. Connections are made at Boston and Worcester with all railroads and steamship lines to all points in New England, the White Mountains and the Maritime Provinces.

Stepping from the boat to the cars, right at the dock at Providence, you have a charming ride of an hour and a quarter (42 miles) over the Old Colony Railroad to Boston. The train lands you in the heart of the city, at the Park Square station, the most elegant, commodious and convenient passenger station in New England. It is a magnificent structure.

The trip in both directions was to the delighted Plainfielders an event never to be forgotten, and they came home firmly impressed that no pleasanter route of travel is open to the American public than by the Sound steamers of the Providence and Stonington Line.

TWO NEW PATIENTS.

One of them a Railroad Victim Who Was Badly Crushed.

Stephen Van Deski, of Belle Mead, was severely injured Thursday on the Philadelphia and Reading Railroad near Harlingen. He was brought to Plainfield and taken to the Muhlenberg Hospital, where his injuries were examined and his wounds dressed. His shoulder was found to be crushed, and one arm broken. He sustained severe internal injuries also. To-day he is reported as doing as well as can be expected, although his recovery is uncertain.

Bertha Bordahon was taken to the hospital yesterday afternoon suffering from an ulcer on her foot. An operation was performed to remove the growth, and she is doing well.

Veterans' Reunion.

The third annual reunion of the Thirtieth Regiment, Veteran Volunteer Association, will be held in Flemington, Wednesday, Sept. 6. The members of the association are requested to meet at the station of the South Branch Railroad in Flemington at 10:45 a. m. The committee of arrangements take great pleasure in stating to the members that they were very generously received by a deputation of the G. A. R. Post, who have taken on themselves the order of exercises, and a most enjoyable time may be expected. All living on the line of the Jersey Central Railroad should take the C. R. R. train arriving in Somerville at 10 a. m., connecting with the South Branch train leaving Somerville at 10:20 a. m.

The Fraser Estate.

Whitfield Fraser wants The Press to deny that the children of Gus Fraser are quarreling over his property. Whit says the old man can have it all and welcome. Another son states that Gus is welcome to his home there, but that he needs someone to look after the place for him. It is said that the original transfer of the property to Gus's wife was made through Gus's father and was done to protect it from being involved in a [illegible]

THREE FUNERALS IN ONE AFTERNOON.

AFFLICTED MOURNERS GATHER IN DWELLING-HOUSE AND CHURCH.

Death Claimed Its Own in Youth, Middle-Aged and Ripe of Years—Last Sad Obsequies Over the Remains.

Aaron Berkaw.

The funeral of Aaron Berkaw, who passed away so suddenly last Wednesday, took place from the residence of his son-in-law, J. A. Smith, 315 Central avenue, yesterday afternoon at 12:30. Mr. Berkaw had a very large circle of friends, who had known him for many years past, and was universally esteemed for his sterling qualities and Christian character.

He was born in Readington, N. J., 1824, and came to Plainfield about 27 years ago. He learned the carpenter trade when a young man, and worked at it until about 10 years ago. Since then he lived somewhat in retirement, and took life easy, doing little odd jobs occasionally around the house for his son John.

The Rev. C. E. Herring had charge of the service yesterday, and spoke very highly of the deceased, telling of his life, and how, though not identified with any church, he lived a life that was full of good works, and his influence would be felt for years.

Very quiet in his manner, he always made friends wherever he went, and his even disposition was the admiration of all.

Last Tuesday he took his last ramble with Alexander Shotwell, of whom he was a great friend. They went to Wetumpka Falls, as was often their custom, and greatly enjoyed their communion with Nature.

The death of Mr. Berkaw leaves a place hard to fill. There are three children left: Mrs. J. A. Smith, Miss Mary Berkaw and J. V. Berkaw. The pall-bearers at the funeral were John Chandler, Theodore Pruden, Ramsey Blair and Abram L. Cadmus. Interment was made at Flemington, where the body was laid to rest beside that of the beloved wife who had gone before.

Mrs. William A. Schorb.

The funeral of Lizzie A., wife of William A. Schorb, took place yesterday afternoon at 2, from Warren chapel, North Plainfield.

The Rev. G. Kennedy Newell officiated, and gave a strong and impressive talk to the large number of relatives and friends present. The pastor remarked that in this busy world everyone seemed to be grasping for things that appeared real. There was doubt in the minds of some people that the "things seen were only temporal while those unseen were eternal", but nevertheless it was true. He hoped that all would live for something higher than the temporal things to be found here, and would labor more for those things essential to a happy life hereafter in Eternity.

Mr. Newell, continuing, drew a few very effective pictures from the life of a child, in the way in which it would run after flowers, and sunshine; and applied it by saying that we who were older were apt to follow ideas and fancies in life that were just as fleeting.

Members of the Foresters, of which the husband of the deceased is a member, attended, and the pall-bearers also were members of Court Pride, namely Peter Blimm, Rudolph Speigel, Lewis Fiering and Adam Seals.

Henry M. Goodwin.

The ceremonies over the remains of the late Henry M. Goodwin were held yesterday afternoon in the Scotch Plains Methodist church, of which the deceased was a member. The Rev. William H. Maroney, the pastor, conducted the services.

Members of Goodwill Lodge, K. of P. attended in a body. There was also a large gathering of relatives and friends.

Mr. Maroney read the fourteenth chapter of the Gospel of St. John, which he said was the favorite chapter of Mr. Goodwin. He afterwards took his text from the fourteenth chapter of Revelation, part of the thirteenth verse: "And I heard a voice from Heaven saying unto me, Write, Blessed are the dead which die in the Lord from henceforth; Yea, saith the Spirit; that they may rest from their labors."

Continuing, the pastor said: "There are two things which make it easy for me to stand here to-day and speak. First, because the one who has passed away was a God-fearing man. He lived as a Christian, and those around him were able to tell by his life that he was sincere and earnest in his belief. Second, because the family and relatives left all put their trust in God, and do not look to me for comfort, for they know that it comes from a Higher Power." Mr. Goodwin, he said, had been a great sufferer, yet through it all his faith and trust were firm and it should prove a great example to all present to live right, for they could not tell how soon they might be called.

After the service, interment was made in the cemetery near the church.

FOUNTAINS ON THE SIDEWALKS.

This Feature of the Lawn Sprinkler Business a Nuisance.

Since the almost universal introduction of the city water into private houses in Plainfield, consumers have naturally taken advantage of the plentiful supply to keep their lawns in fine condition by constant watering. Never have the grass plots looked as well as this year, and besides the sprinklers look very attractive in themselves and impart an air of prosperity and coolness to the scene. All these advantages are appreciated, but at the same time users should be a little careful where they place their sprinklers. Thursday afternoon within a space of three blocks on one of the best streets in the city no less than three sprinklers played directly across the sidewalk, making it impossible to pass without going quite into the road to avoid a wetting. This sort of thing is done constantly, and a miniature rain storm every few blocks is the lot of every pedestrian. Cannot those who use the sprinklers be a little more careful and water the edges of their lawns with a hose if necessary and abate the nuisance?

Fell Twenty-Five Feet to the Ground.

Thomas Welch, of West Third street, is confined to the house as the result of injuries received in a fall from a new building in Newark, where he was working. Welch was engaged in putting up a gas pipe in the front of the building when he slipped and fell 25 feet to the ground. He is covered with bruises, and very lame, but hopes to be about his work again before long.

The Constitutionalist.

A. L. Force, Publisher & Proprietor.

THE MAIN CAUSE.

Many men of many minds are discoursing the present stringency in money affairs.

Some gentlemen are disposed to mix political pepper in the bubbling pot, when conservative salt is the needed condiment.

Ardent supporters of McKinleyism gravely assert that fears of radical tariff changes by the Democrats is the fundamental cause of popular unrest.

Tariff Reformers to that reply that excessive taxation imposed on the people by the McKinley bill, its onerous exactions levied upon legitimate business, and its encouragement of stock watered combines, is at the bottom of the difficulty.

Economists contend that to the lavish expenditures by Government, and the general extravagance of the people, coupled with a spirit of reckless speculation, must be charged the evil.

From the various views entertained and expressed from different standpoints, some grains of plausibility may no doubt be extracted, but the solid overarching fact, accepted by practical financiers and business men, regardless of partisanship, remains unclouded.

It is this—

The uncertainty, consequent upon the arbitrary purchase of silver bullion, of maintaining a currency on a par with gold, and that a standard of the baser metal may therefore eventually overthrow the more valuable and create financial chaos.

Therein abides the main cause of trouble.

To remedy evil effects remove their cause.

ROTTEN BOROUGHS.

Rotten Borough constituencies and representatives once discredited the Parliament of England.

Unfortunately, we have something of the same kind in this country.

Nevada, a silver mining camp and sage brush desert, with a total population numbering less than the legal ratio of a single Congressional District, has a vote in the United States Senate equal to New York's six million inhabitants.

And six other hastily admitted States—Colorado, Montana, Idaho, Wyoming, North Dakota and South Dakota, possessing altogether a population of little over one million, equal in the Senate the aggregate vote of Pennsylvania, Massachusetts, Ohio, Illinois, Michigan and New Jersey, with their eighteen million people.

It is not for us to here criticise the political ends sought to be attained by the admission of such a batch of flimsy commonwealths, but to denounce the national legislation that gave most of them birth, as untimely and unsound, is merely uttering the truth.

And now, when the effort to establish and preserve currency stability for the good of the whole country is predominant, the Senators from those States pose as determined obstructionists, mercenary personal interests evidently influencing some far more than patriotic statesmanship.

Verily, the chickens have come home both to roost and scratch.

Delightful Comedy in a Handsome Theatre.

The preliminary season of the Empire Theatre, New York city, opens tonight, with R. C. Carton's domestic comedy, "Liberty Hall". This is the second production at the Empire Theatre, and from present indications it will prove as successful as "The Girl I Left Behind Me", the first play produced at this handsome house. Henry Miller and Viola Allen, who head the Empire Theatre stock company, the coming season, play the lovers in "Liberty Hall"; and Cyril Scott, W. H. Crompton, Agnes Miller and May Robson, who will also be in the Empire stock, are in the cast of the comedy. The play ran for over a year at the St. James Theatre, London. "Liberty Hall" is as exquisite as one of Thomas Bailey Aldrich's poems. It is full of delicate touches and pretty daintinesses, and the author has chosen this charming method of dealing with the soul dreams of two lovely women and a modern knight whose chivalry is as perfect as anything in Edmund Spenser's "Faerie Queene". The story of the comedy will at the same time reveal its method of treatment. A nobleman dies and leaves his daughters penniless. One is haughty and highminded, the other's fancies turn to poetry and romance. Blanche is the beautiful, dignified creature, and in her hands the girls' destinies are when the play opens. The former refuses to remain in Chilworth Castle which has been her home, even though a friend of the young lord who has fallen heir to the property bears a letter authorizing them to occupy the castle as long as they like. She kindly thanks this friend, a Mr. Owens, and leaves the castle, accepting the hospitality of a worthy old fellow, George Todman, who has a second-hand bookshop in Bloomsbury. Curiously Mr. Owens goes there too, hiring out with Mr. Todman to look after the old books. Owens has fallen in love with Blanche, and presses his suit quietly but determinedly. He makes his way with the girl favorably, and at the moment when a Mr. Brinsinshaw, a draper, who has been refused by Blanche, is about to sell out poor old Todman's shop for a debt, Mr. Owens goes forward and pays the obligation. In doing so he writes his check, and a short while afterwards his identity is revealed. Mr. Mr. Owens, the accepted lover of Blanche, is no other than the young lord who owns Chilworth Castle. He has won his bride like the Lord of Burleigh, without fortune or title. The other sister, Amy, whose vicissitudes are not made so prominent as Blanche's, marries the Harringay, and before the comedy ends tears have been dried forever and joy wreathes the hearts of the lovers whose romances have been unfolded in the dingy back parlor of the Bloomsbury bookshop.

He Followed the Car.

Some farmer from Union Village, up in the quiet precincts of Washington Valley, started for town with a load of peaches, yesterday morning. His team got frightened at a street car. The farmer then said he would "follow the car down", so the horses would get used to it. After the first crossing the farmer was out of sight, and the car arrived at the [illegible] [illegible]

LEFT HOME TO KILL HIMSELF.

DISTRESSING CASE OF AN OLD PLAINFIELD RESIDENT.

Clark Hammeal Couldn't Stand Business Reverses and Family Troubles, and Took His Own Life to End It All—Leaned Against a Tree in a Chicago Park and Fired a Bullet Into His Mouth.

Clarkson Hammeal, who during his long career as a market man has served meat to every man, woman and child in Plainfield, is dead by his own hand. He committed suicide in Lincoln Park, Chicago, Monday morning at 8, by shooting himself through the head. People in the park near Menominee street saw him stand under a tree and shove the barrel of a revolver in his mouth. Before anybody could interfere he had fired and fallen dead. The body was taken to the Morgue at 192 West Chicago avenue.

A paper found in his pocket contained this notice to the police:

Please notify my relatives,
Clark M. Hammeal, Plainfield, Union county, N. J.

An express receipt showed that he had sent all his personal effects home before taking his life.

Among the letters in his pockets was one from Hammeal's daughter Carrie urging him to come home. Another, bearing the signature of Attorney Walter L. Hetfield, of this city, contained the following:

> There has been nothing in the papers about your going away, and any one asking questions is told that you are attending the World's Fair. Now don't be foolish and stay away, but come home and brace up and take a position.

The letter also spoke of Hammeal's children, and stated that his son Garret was looking after his business in his absence. Other papers in his pockets indicated that he was a member of the Odd Fellows. He wore a button of the order in his coat, and from the general tone of the letters and papers in his possession the Chicago police were led to believe that he had some trouble with the organization which led to his leaving Plainfield.

The police telegraphed to Garret Hammeal and to the Plainfield lodge of Odd Fellows to which Clark belonged.

By some mistake Garret judged from the despatch that the suicide had been committed in New York, and he spent considerable time in the metropolis trying to trace the matter up. Later the error was discovered, and word was sent to Chicago to have the body forwarded to Plainfield for burial.

When Clarkson left home August 10, it was without saying anything to his family or friends about it. A few days later it was reported that he was in Chicago, and considerable idle gossip was afloat as to his cause for leaving home. It was currently reported that he had had trouble with his partner, Henry Ruppert.

He and Ruppert started in business about three months ago, at 114 North avenue. There did not seem to be enough in the business for the two men, and unpaid bills of customers accumulated so that very soon all their capital was on the books. Hammeal had to recourse to his friends, from whom he borrowed various sums, and the aggregate of his debts staggered him. He worried so much both over this and because of domestic troubles that his mind seemed to be affected, and he talked vehemently and as if insane, against some of his best friends.

A letter sent from Chicago August 14 was the first news direct from him after his disappearance. In it he said that the worry and disgrace he had been suffering had driven him from home and that he was tired of life. It was to cheer him up from his despondency and brace him up for a fresh start that Lawyer Hetfield wrote his excellent advice about coming home and going to work.

Hammeal reached Chicago Aug. 13 and went immediately to the Dearborn Station Hotel, 438 Dearborn street. The appearance of the man there attracted considerable attention. He had traveled so far that the hotel employes were surprised at his having no baggage. He did not have even a collar at the hotel when Coroner McHale sent a man after his effects.

The last communication Mr. Hammeal wrote seems to have been to his son Garrett. In it he said that by the time Garrett got the letter he himself would be in another world. He recounted his afflictions and said he was determined to end it all. "Kiss the children good-bye for me"—he wrote.

Hammeal was a veteran butcher. He learned the trade with James A. Gilman, familiarly known as Gus Gilman, at Perth Amboy. He worked for years at the wholesale and retail stock yard of the Gardners, on East Front street. This was a large establishment, sending big wagon loads of meat to marketmen and consumers throughout the surrounding country. When the Gardners went out of business, Hammeal ran a wagon of his own for awhile. He saved some money, and rested from his labor. Then he began to work for other dealers, and was for some time with Wallace Corlell. His last place of employment was at Chas. M. Ulrich's. It was after leaving there that he made arrangements to go in partnership with Ruppert.

Hammeal was a skillful butcher, and faithful to his friends and employers. His distressing end is a shock to a large portion of the townspeople, among whom he was a familiar figure.

Mr. Hammeal was a member of Plainfield Lodge, No. 44, of the Odd Fellows, the officers of which desire The Press to deny emphatically all rumors that Hammeal was in trouble with the order. He had no control whatever of any of the funds, and his only difficulty was that he had lapsed in his payments so that he was not any longer a beneficiary under the rules. But that was his misfortune, not his wrong-doing.

Clark Hammeal had a warm heart and a generous hand, and his wide circle of acquaintances and friends deeply regret the lamentable affair.

U. B. CRANE KNOCKED SENSELESS.

He Was Speeding on His Bicycle in the Dark, and Collided With Another Wheelman.

While S. Clint Crane is in luck, in winning the Lyceum Wheelmen race, his father, U. B. Crane, is in pretty tough luck, in getting done up a bicycle collision.

Mr. Crane rode his wheel to Somerville Monday afternoon. He took no lantern, as he expected to be home before dark. But he punctured his tire and was laid up at Somerville for repairs, so that he was delayed till after sunset.

Speeding along the highway to catch a train at Bound Brook, he noticed another wheelman approaching, and kept on the right side of the roadway to pass him. Suddenly a third wheel and rider loomed up in the blackness directly before him, likewise riding at a high rate of speed. The wheel was lanternless.

The two cyclists came together with terrific force, and both were knocked insensible. The wheels were twisted out of shape, Mr. Crane struck on his nose and bled profusely. He was still bleeding vigorously when he gathered himself together, shouldered his wrecked wheel, and trudged painfully but pluckily to the railroad station. The other unfortunate, who proved to be Mr. Reed of the Bound Brook Chronicle, [illegible] [illegible] with [illegible]. His hands [illegible] [illegible] [illegible].

BRIGHT FAIRYLAND IN A TENT.

DUNELLEN BOROUGH HAS A CHURCH BEAUTY SHOW.

Epworth Leaguers Conduct a Midsummer Festival—Glowing Account of the Opening Night—What a Press Reporter Found There to Delight Him.

All the good people of Dunellen turned out Tuesday night to attend the entertainment provided by the Epworth League on the lawn adjoining the M. E. church.

For weeks past this society, through its pastor, the Rev. W. C. Kinsle, has been planning and arranging the affair.

The church is being cleaned, and the young people are desirous of furnishing it anew; hence this special effort.

Early in the evening a free magic lantern exhibition was given on the lawn. This was witnessed by a large crowd, and hugely enjoyed.

After the pictures were shown, the people were all invited to go into a large tent, where everything was provided for their comfort and entertainment.

It was a beautiful sight. The decorations were of a highly artistic order. There were large streamers running from the centre of the tent to the sides, while the various flags of the nations were arranged to form a very pretty picture.

Around the sides of the tent were booths arranged in the most attractive style, and presided over by charming young ladies of the church, who were very attentive to every expressed need or wish.

There was a Japanese booth where one could be served with a delicious cup of tea or coffee, and if one wished he could purchase the cup and saucer as a souvenir. From there one passed to a booth where fancy articles of every description were to be had.

Continuing on the circuit of the tent, one found happy Charles Apgar in charge of a telescope. A peep here, and fair Luna's smiles rewarded one, or the planets beamed down with their wonders, and Mr. Apgar would explain all about them in his own pleasing way.

As if this was enough to drive one to drink, pretty young ladies were close by to serve the thirsty with lemonade.

Chris Huff proved a great attraction in one corner of the tent, where he was making fresh candies every few minutes. He found ready buyers for his sweets.

To the right of this, tables were placed, where one could be seated and order anything he wanted, from a plate of cream to a regular meal, all served in irresistible style.

During the fore part of the evening the Junior League gave a pleasing drill. This was in charge of the Rev. W. C. Kinsle, who had trained them. A fascinating scene was presented as these young boys and girls went through the graceful evolutions. It was a brilliant and showy success.

The New Market Cornet Band and the Dunellen Drum Corps were there, and each took pleasure in giving the audience their best selections at intervals.

As was before mentioned Mr. Kinsle had charge of the affair, and was assisted by the following:

Mrs. Harry Vail,	Miss Jennie Stevens,
Mrs. W. C. Kinsle,	Miss Grace Vail,
Mrs. John Kinney,	Miss Millie Vail,
Mrs. Todd,	Miss Elma Giles,
Mrs. Richardson,	Miss Emma Apgar,
Mrs. Gise,	Miss May Gise,
Mrs. Kennedy.	Miss Minnie VanMiddlesworth.

NOTES OF THE LYCEUM RACE.

Time-Prize Tie to Be Decided by Another Race Between Coffin and Willis.

As was to be expected, this paper was the only one to give any satisfactory news, Saturday, of the great 25-mile road race of the Catholic Young Men's Lyceum Wheelmen. Of the two other papers in town, one gave not a line of the result, and the second only stated that Crane won the time prize, which was of course an egregious error.

These columns alone gave the order of the racers at the finish, and their official time, and told how Clint Crane had won first prize for being first to cross the winning line, and how Coffin and Willis were tied for best-time medal.

Willis and Coffin met at the Lyceum club-house after the race, and agreed to decide the tie by riding the 25 miles over again, under the auspices of the same club. The race will take place just as soon as Mr. Coffin recovers from his soreness and bruises, which he received at the finish, Saturday, by running into a little girl. Dr. H. H. Lowrie dressed his wounds, and said he would be all right in a few days. Mr. Coffin will then notify the club officials in this city, who will immediately arrange the race. It will be for blood.

S. Clinton Crane, the winner of the first prize, rode a remarkable race. Very few had thought of him as first-place man, but he surprised them all. Previously he had no remarkable record, and eight minutes handicap advantage was given him. Next time the handicapper will probably not be as generous.

Crane is the same speedy lad who won the beautiful gold medal offered by The Daily Press last year as the schoolboy prize in a 20-mile race. He also won first prize in the bicycle race at Dunellen. Young Crane is a graduate of the Plainfield High School, and will enter Columbia College in October.

The following will be of interest, as showing how the leading three men rode the laps. It will be noticed that in each lap the actual time varied but little, showing a steadiness that is very essential to a cyclist who rides to win:

	1st Lap.	2d Lap.	3d Lap.	4th Lap.
Crane	37 min.	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]
Coffin	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]
Willis	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]

After the fourth lap each rider rode to the Fanwood bridge and back over South avenue, to complete the 25 miles.

W. J. Mooney, No. 16, came in eighth instead of G. M. B. Shurle as stated Saturday; and W. E. Bink and Otto Neher finished tenth and eleventh, each receiving a prize.

William Kiely made an excellent starter.

The timers, Caleb Dickinson, Benjamin LaVere and Charles Vail, were the acme of accuracy.

Dick Stevens was an interested spectator, and hugely enjoyed the race. Whenever good local sport is on hand, there you'll see Dick.

One of the racers made life miserable for a dog by running over him.

Israel Jones broke one of his pedals and dropped out after the first lap.

Ed. Martin said he got tired before he reached the Netherwood hill, and stopped there.

The prizes were distributed at the clubhouse after the race, and everyone was well satisfied.

The race between Coffin and Willis will be an exciting one.

A great many people would have liked to see John Lynch in the race. He might have been a winner.

Great credit is due A. S. Pribble, R. W. French and W. J. Kiely, who did the satisfactory handicapping for the race.

[illegible]

MARY VAN RIPER'S DIAMOND RING.

NOVEL FEATURES OF THE LAWSUIT IT PRECIPITATES.

Joe Fike Borrowed It to Wear, and Hocked It in a Pawnshop—Joe's Father Noah Sent Mary the Ticket, But Didn't Reimburse Her—So, at Least, Says Mary.

Suit was begun in Justice Nash's Court Wednesday by Mary VanRiper to recover the value of a diamond ring from Noah W. Fike.

Mary complains that Noah's son Joseph borrowed her diamond ring, as young men sometimes do of foolish maidens, to wear it.

By and by Mary asked repeatedly to have the ring returned, and then complained to the father. Instead of the ring, she says she received a letter from Noah stating that Joe had pawned it. Noah sent her the ticket and it is alleged promised to reimburse her.

Because that promise has not been kept, she sues.

The papers are returnable Sept. 6.

The true self of the North Plainfield Republican councilmen was apparent at Friday night's meeting. When Mayor Saunders asked them if they intended to turn any of the salaried officers out for partisan reasons, they pledged themselves against so dishonorable a proceeding. That was because the pointblank question was a surprise to them, and their party bosses were not at their backs to prod them into saying, against their own better judgment, Don't you promise! The councilmen would have carried the day without binding themselves by such a pledge, for Mayor Saunders assured them that he should not imperil the Tax Assessor's books by withdrawal merely to gain the point of leaving them without a quorum. The councilmen are naturally men of conscience and honor, and The Press believes, that had they been left by their political leaders to the dictates of their own better nature they would never have committed the wrong of usurpation in the case of Councilman Connelly.

HONEST REPUBLICAN COMPLIMENT.

As a follower of fair methods and an expounder of honest views, the Elizabeth Journal is a shining example to other partisan Republican organs, and it speaks straight from the heart when it praises a great New Jersey Democratic leader in the following terms:

> Senator McPherson has done the people of New Jersey a good turn, by contradicting the story that he was "weary of life in the Senate and would not be a candidate again, his intention being to spend a few years in foreign travel". The Senator has not directly and in so many words said that this was not true; but he has permitted papers, which usually speak his authorized sentiments, to announce that he is a candidate for re-election. This is really doing New Jersey a good turn. Not but there are men in New Jersey who would quite as well represent the State in the Senate; but there are so many men anxious and ambitious to get in his shoes, who are inferior to Senator McPherson in character, in ability, in principle and in practice, that it is a relief to know that Senator McPherson prefers to succeed himself rather than let any of these succeed him. He has been an able and rather safe representative.

And The Journal is again sincere in its admiration of the home representative in Congress:

> Hon. John T. Dunn has not received a very liberal recognition from Speaker Crisp in the appointment of standing committees; but it was hardly to be expected that very important places would be allotted to him. He is a new member from an entirely new district, and his statesman's spurs, to use a mixed metaphor, have not yet been won in the Congressional lists. However, Mr. Dunn is on the Labor Committee, where he can do good work, and also on the Committee on Expenses for Public Buildings, where his services may be valuable, but of no particular interest to his constituents. He will, no doubt, attend zealously to his duties on these committees, exactly as he told Speaker Crisp he would, wherever placed.

A QUESTIONABLE POLICY.

To all Plainfield business men The Press recommends the thoughtful reading of the following hard sense and excellent advice, from the columns of The National Advertiser:

> The money panic of the past two months has prompted quite a number of the leading advertisers of the country to a course which, in our opinion, they will regret in the end. We allude to the discontinuance of advertising contracts on account of threatened hard times. The experience of the past furnishes plenty of examples to show that such a policy is invariably costly in its results, and although the temptation to seek relief from responsibility for advertising bills is great, yet in the end the sum total of the effect of such a course is a shrinkage in business and the loss of ground which had already been gained in the competition for public favor.
>
> The successful advertisers are those who have kept at it. The human memory is short. The law of competition admits of no armistice. There can be no permanent vacancy in the grand army which is moving forward to the summit of public favor. As soon as one steps out of the ranks for any cause whatever, another quickly takes his place.
>
> Human wants are substantially invariable, and the quantity of things purchased for the needs of existence cannot be permanently lessened. No matter how hard the times, just so many pills will be taken in a year, so many pair of shoes worn, and so many bottles of tonic will be drunk. There may be a temporary falling off in the demand for such things, but it can only be temporary. The question is mainly as to who shall supply the demand. If one manufacturer fails to do it another will supplant him. Patronage is easier held than gained.
>
> The advertising world is familiar with many trade-marks that in times past have been household words with the masses, but which today are little more than reminiscences. This has not been the result of a change in the category of human wants, much less a diminution of consumption of articles of this kind. The decline has almost invariably been the result of mistaken judgment or loss of confidence on the part of the proprietor whose goods had been advertised into popular favor. Some of the most successful advertisers have in the past been impressed with the idea that their place was certain, that their trade was established, and that the battle with competitors might be suspended without loss to themselves. The result has never been different. It has always culminated in disaster if persisted in long enough.
>
> We call attention to this truism because just at this time, as stated in the heading, there are a number of the best known advertisers who seem to be flinching from the strain imposed upon active business, and to soothe their better judgment with the idea that they can afford for the time at least to withdraw from the columns of the public prints. We do not believe they can do it. No matter how long they have been before the public as advertisers, no matter how much they have spent in the past to keep their goods on the market, the day they withdraw their advertising marks the beginning of lost ground, which must be reconquered if they ever hope again to occupy the field enjoyed before.
>
> We believe that in times like these sacrifices if necessary should be made, and expedients resorted to until every effort shall have been exhausted, leaving only as a last resort the withdrawal of their advertising business.
>
> There is little question but that we have passed the crisis of our troubles. Everything points to a resumption of confidence in the near future, and with confidence will come better times. Present conditions have been brought about by the financial epidemic of fancy rather than of fact. The most astute financiers of the country are unable to point to any adequate cause for the late disaster. Our people have not been [illegible] by an [illegible] [illegible], famine has not devastated our fields or cities, no great conflagration has swept up millions, but on the other hand we have just passed a year of bountiful crops, [illegible] [illegible], [illegible] weather and [illegible] [illegible]. Every trade has [illegible] busy, every [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible]. The whole thing is a financial nightmare, and the [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] in [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible].
>
> It is [illegible] a time for [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible]

HILL'S Double Chloride of Gold Tablets

REMEMBER WE GUARANTEE A CURE [illegible]

[illegible] TOBACCO [illegible]

[illegible] and MORPHINE HABIT can be cured at home, [illegible] SPECIAL FORMULA GOLD CURE TABLETS.

[illegible]

HILL'S TABLETS are for sale by all FIRST-CLASS druggists at $1.00 per package.

If your druggist does not keep them, enclose us $1.00 and we will send you, by return mail, a package of our Tablets.

Write your name and address plainly, and state whether Tablets are for Tobacco, Morphine or Liquor Habit.

DO NOT BE DECEIVED into purchasing any of the various nostrums that are being offered for sale. Ask for HILL'S TABLETS and take no other.

Manufactured only by

—THE—

OHIO CHEMICAL CO.,

51, 53 & 55 Opera Block,

LIMA, OHIO.

PARTICULARS FREE.

TOBACCO HABIT EASILY CURED.

A FEW Testimonials from persons who have been cured by the use of Hill's Tablets.

THE OHIO CHEMICAL CO.: DEAR SIR:—I have been using your cure for tobacco habit, and found it would do what you claim for it. I used ten cents worth of the strongest chewing tobacco a day, and from one to five cigars; or I would smoke from ten to forty pipes of tobacco. Have chewed and smoked for twenty-five years, and two packages of your Tablets cured me so I have no desire for it. B. M. JAYLORD, Leslie, Mich.

DOBBS FERRY, N. Y.
THE OHIO CHEMICAL CO.:—GENTLEMEN:—Some time ago I sent for $1.00 worth of your Tablets for Tobacco Habit. I received them all right and, although I was both a heavy smoker and chewer, they did the work in less than three days. I am cured. Truly yours, MATHEW JOHNSON, P. O. Box 45.

PITTSBURGH, PA.
THE OHIO CHEMICAL CO.:—GENTLEMEN:—It gives me pleasure to speak a word of praise for your Tablets. My son was strongly addicted to the use of liquor, and through a friend, I was led to try your Tablets. He was a heavy and constant drinker, but after using your Tablets but three days he quit drinking, and will not touch liquor of any kind. I have waited four month before writing you, in order to know the cure was permanent. Yours truly, MRS. HELEN MORRISON.

CINCINNATI, OHIO.
THE OHIO CHEMICAL CO.:—GENTLEMEN:—Your Tablets have performed a miracle in my case. I have used morphine, hypodermically, for seven years, and have been cured by the use of two packages of your Tablets, and without any effort on my part. W. L. LOTEGAY.

RESPONSIBLE AGENTS WANTED

Address all Orders to

THE OHIO CHEMICAL CO.,

51, 53 and 55 Opera Block. LIMA, OHIO.

(In writing please mention this paper.)

BACK FROM THE JAWS OF DEATH.

TIMELY RESCUE OF A LINEMAN FROM AN ELECTRIC WIRE.

Blue Flames Shot from Eder's Hands—His Limbs Were Rigid, and His Tongue Was Palsied By the Destroying Current—He Describes the Sensations Attending Electrocution—Fainted Twice After the Rescue.

Joseph M. Eder, who during his recent residence in this city fractured an arm by falling from a Postal Telegraph pole at Front and Somerset streets, lives to describe the sensations of electrocution. He was rescued Wednesday by fellow-workmen before a current from an electric light wire, which had begun its work upon him, could cause death.

Eder is now foreman of the linemen employed by the Postal Telegraph Company in Newark, and he was repairing one of the company's district messenger circuits when his life was imperilled. He had climbed nearly to the top of a thirty-foot pole on Mulberry street, just north of Elm, and was splicing two pieces of wire when he carelessly threw his right arm over an electric light wire which was fastened to the pole. The wire passed under his armpit. The insulation was rotten, and the current was discharged into his body. The shock was a terrible one, and made Eder's arms and legs rigid.

Eder was standing on the lowest of three cross pieces, and when he received the shock his body lurched forward, but his feet remained on the wood. As he fell one hand grasped a telegraph wire and the other the same electric light wire which had given him the shock. Eder was supported by these wires in a stooping position.

By grasping both wires a complete circuit was formed. The insulation on the wire was old and worn out, and the electricity flashed through Eder. When his hands grasped the wires the small blue flames began to shoot out, and Eder says he thought it was all up with him. He could not utter a sound, and was powerless to move his hands. The electricity affected even his eyesight, and, he says, it seemed as if he was looking through a bright piece of blue paper. The sensation which was caused by the knowledge that he had to stand there and be killed gradually without being able to move, he said, was an awful one.

There were several electric light linemen working on the ground at the pole, but it was several minutes before they noticed Eder's plight.

"You'll be burned up if you stand that way"—one man shouted, not noticing that the flames were already eating the poor fellow's hands. A second look, however, showed that Eder was in the grip of the current, and two of the men at once climbed the pole. They carried a rope with them, and with it they lashed Eder to the pole. Then they removed his hands from the wires and made preparations for lowering him to the street.

A crowd had collected and words of encouragement were shouted to the willing workers. A rope was passed under Eder's arms and he was slowly lowered to the ground. Up to that time he had succeeded in keeping his senses, but the reaction at being saved from his perilous position was too much for him and he fell in a faint. When he was brought to Eder got on his feet, but he fainted again, and restoratives had to be administered. He was carried into a neighboring drug store, where it was found that the electricity had burned great gashes in his fingers and thumbs. Salve was applied to the wounds and the wounded man was taken to his home, 62 South Orange avenue.

Electricians say the accident could not have happened if the wire had been properly insulated. The wires which are strung through the streets and have been up for some time exposed to the weather have had most of the insulating material washed away, only a small coating of tar remaining. This will not keep the electricity from passing out.

One of the bright young men of the New York Sun grows very facetious in writing of the storm of Saturday, and says:

> Man is prone to lie about the size of fish and the size of hailstones. Ordinarily man calls hail the size of a pea "almost as big as walnuts". A man with a perverted mind might say that the hailstones that landed in Somerville were as big as chickens, and he wouldn't be lying any harder than the walnut liar. The Sun reporter didn't take any chances. He brought a pail of the stones to New York as evidence. Some of them actually were as large as walnuts. He was scoffed at and asked where he'd found the ice house, until conclusive evidence came in the shape of a citizen of Brooklyn, who had spent the day in Somerville. He brought with him a four-pound hunk of hail taken from the same pile that the reporter got his from. The sample stones brought to New York had been gathered an hour after they fell. Naturally they had half melted. When they fell some of them must have been larger than walnuts. A Somerville man made an affidavit that one he picked up could not be put into a tumbler. Every northward corner in town had its pile of hailstones. The biggest pile was at the schoolhouse. At 6 o'clock it was three feet high.

As a sample of the humors of journalism, this is a brilliant and well written invention.

Not Good Enough Yet.

At a regular meeting of Winfield Scott Post, No. 73, G. A. R., last evening, one member was reinstated upon payment of $2 back dues. Some talk was indulged in about procuring G. A. R. uniforms, but the matter was laid over indefinitely.

Good and Hollow.

The good [illegible] of [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible]

M'VEY'S CHANGES HANDS.

E. S. Brewster of York State to Take Charge Sept. 1.

E. S. Brewster has bought out the entire restaurant business of John H. McVey, 123 North avenue, and will take possession September 1. Mr. Brewster is a gentleman whom Plainfielders will be glad to welcome as a fellow-townsman and associate. He and his brother were for years among the best commercial travelers on the road, and in their travels found so many bad hotels that in the goodness and public-spiritedness of their hearts they determined to devote their remaining years to furnishing really first-class hospitality to the American public. As proof of how well they succeed in what they undertake, the St. James Hotel at Oxford, Shenango county, N. Y., is a towering monument. E. S. has sold his share in that flourishing business to his brother, and decided to make New Jersey his home because of his conclusion that that's the best State to live in.

Mr. Brewster is charmed with Plainfield, and Plainfield will be proud of its new citizen. He and his wife, whom he married at Hopewell, just beyond Bound Brook, are expert cyclists, and will astonish the natives with their skill at hill climbing. They have had abundant practice on the York State mountains.

Mr. Brewster will retain the name McVey Restaurant for his institution; and under his management the immense business Mr. McVey has built up will doubtless prosper more than ever.

Mr. McVey, who has almost as many warm friends and appreciative patrons as the town has inhabitants, will take a well earned rest.

"I'm going to sleep for three months"—he says.

Among the improvements proposed by Mr. Brewster is a cashier's desk by the front entrance, and the metropolitan system of checks. He will strive to improve the service in every possible way.

McVey's has the reputation at home and abroad of giving a larger variety of better food at less money than any other dining room in the country. Its reputation among the wheeling fraternity is great, and visiting cyclists almost invariably stop there.

SIMMONDS OF PLAINFIELD.

He's Playing in Great Form in the Newport Tournament.

Albert P. Simmonds, who is in Newport playing in the All-Comers tennis tournament, won his first match Tuesday afternoon. His opponent was Sydney L. Smith, of Bergen Point, with whom he has played many times, both at Bergen Point and on the Hillside courts. The score was 11-9, 7-5, 6-4. Tennis enthusiasts in Plainfield will watch Simmonds's progress with interest to see how he acquits himself if he is so fortunate as to work his way to a game with one of the crack players in the later rounds of the tournament.

—William Baldwin, of West Fourth street, lost a valuable bay horse Saturday. The animal was sick less than a day.

—Street Commissioner Meeker's men are grading Hillside avenue, and most of the soil is being used to enlarge the Hillside Temple courts.

The American Catarrh Cure

Is the result of twenty-six years' study and treatment of the disease. One bottle convinces *the most skeptical. It is al*ways ready for use, needing neither douche nor atomizer. It restores the hearing, cures the hawking cough and expectorating, removes the headache and nose bleeding, increases the appetite, produces sound sleep, invigorates the whole system and increases the vitality. Prepared only by W. B. Jones, M. D., No. 1226 South Eighth street, Philadelphia. For sale by T. W. Randolph, 21 West Front street. Price $1.

German Valley Quarries.

Building Mason { STONE } Bridge Dressed

CUT TO ORDER FOR

Lintles, Sills, Water Tables, Etc.

SPECIAL ATTENTION GIVEN

TO HEAVY BRIDGE STONE.

LYMAN KICE, Prop.,

German Valley, N. J.

E. C. Morris Safe Co

Incorporated. Capital [illegible]

Successors to E. C. Morris & Co.

64 Sudbury St., Boston, Mass.

FIRE AND BURGLAR-PROOF SAFES.

[illegible]

SHERIFF'S SALE.—In Chancery of New Jersey—Between the Central New Jersey Land Improvement Company, complainant, and the Fanwood Club, et. al., defendants. Fi. fa. for sale of mortgaged premises.

By virtue of the above stated writ of fieri facias to me directed, I shall expose for sale by public vendue, at the Court House in the City of Elizabeth, N. J., on

WEDNESDAY, THE THIRTEENTH DAY OF SEPTEMBER, A. D. 1893, at two o'clock in the afternoon of said day, all that certain plot piece or parcel of ground [illegible]

W. E. HICKS, Sheriff.

ADMINISTRATOR'S SALE.—[illegible]

MASTER'S SALE.

By virtue of a decree made by the Court of Chancery of [illegible]

WANTED.

Salesmen to solicit for a choice line of Nursery Stock; complete outfit free and good pay from the start; previous experience not necessary; write at once and secure territory.

THE HAWKS NURSERY CO.,

Rochester, N. Y.

AT BEDTIME I TAKE A PLEASANT DRINK
LANE'S MEDICINE

PAPIAC.

(Boynton Beach.)

NOW OPEN

—FOR—

EXCURSIONS & PICNICS.

One-Half Off!

CARPETS And FURNITURE.

On account of the Financial Depression and Dull Season,

AMOS H. VAN HORN, LIMITED,

Will take off just one-half of regular selling prices.

BEDROOM SUITS.

25 Antique Oak Bedroom Suits, regular price $30 Reduced to $15

PARLOR SUITS.

25 Parlor Suits, mahogany finished frame, in plush cov'ng, reg price $50 Reduced to $25

CARPETS.

25 pieces	All-Wool Ingrain Carpet, reg. price per yard $1.	Reduced to 50c
do	3-Ply Carpet, reg. price per yard $1.25	Reduced to 63c
do	Tapestry Brussels Carpet, reg. price per yd. 90c.	Reduced to 45c
do	Body Brussels Carpet, reg. price per yard $1.30.	Reduced to 65c
do	Velvet Carpet, reg. price per yard $1.30	Reduced to 65c
do	Moquette Carpet, reg. price per yard $1.40	Reduced to 70c

MATTING.

To close out the balance of our Spring stock will sell Good Fancy Matting Per yard only 15c.

PORTLAND RANGES.

We shall commence from this date to push the Portland Range as it has no equal. More sold than any other range. Warranted in every way or money refunded.

Note the Name AMOS over the Door Before Entering the Store. Easy terms.

Telephone 580! Elevator to Every Floor!

Goods Delivered FREE OF CHARGE to All Parts of the State!

AMOS H. VAN HORN, LIMITED.

73 Market Street,

Near Plane St., Newark, N. J.

TOWNSEND'S

Marble & Granite Works,

30 SOMERSET STREET.

PLAINFIELD, N. J.

If you have not engaged your work, I should be pleased to do it for you.

I buy only first-class Marble and Granite and do not sell unless at prices that will enable me to put up the work with credit to myself and justice to the parties purchasing.

I employ no agents and therefore am enabled to make a reduction in the price of my work to the consumer, of the commission generally paid to agents.

I am under a very small expense in running my shop, myself and my son doing the larger portion of the work, and we personally attend to the setting of all work, and look upon business in this light, that Good Work and Good Material, at Fair Prices, is a standing advertisement for my business, which will tend to build up trade, and I feel safe to warrant that no dealer can sell you the same work and same stock any cheaper than I can.

Hoping to be favored with your patronage, I am yours respectfully,

J. E. TOWNSEND, Manager.

Branch Yard Westfield, N. J.

FURS

And all kinds of wearing apparel

STORED

And insured against all damage by fire or moth.

Repairing and re-dyeing of Furs should be done during the summer months.

GEO. C. TREADWELL CO.

SUCCESSORS TO

W. H. AND R. BURNETT,

17 Academy st., Newark.

Scientific American Agency for PATENTS

CAVEATS, TRADE MARKS, DESIGN PATENTS, COPYRIGHTS, etc.

For information and free Handbook write to MUNN & CO., 361 BROADWAY, NEW YORK. [illegible]

Scientific American

[illegible]

Dime Savings Institution

OF PLAINFIELD, N. J.

[illegible]

THE BEE HIVE

LARGEST DRY & FANCY GOODS HOUSE IN N.J.

NEWARK.

Things Sold There That Make the Great Store It Is.

Cut Out and Save For Reference.

STOCK LIST NO. 20.

MERINO UNDERWEAR.

MEN'S Gauze Shirts and Drawers.
MEN'S Balbriggan Shirts and Drawers.
MEN'S White and Grey Merino and Wool Shirts and Drawers.
MEN'S Ribbed Shirts and Drawers.
MEN'S Summer Jean Drawers.
MEN'S heavy Merino Wool and Fleece Lined Shirts and Drawers.
MEN'S Canton Flannel Drawers.
LADIES' Gauze, merino and wool, Vest and Pants.
LADIES' Low and High Neck ribbed Undergarments, in cotton, lisle, silk, silk and lisle, silk and wool and all wool.
LADIES' cotton, silk and cotton, wool and cotton, and all wool, union suits.
LADIES' ribbed corset covers.
LADIES' lisle, silk and lisle and wool Tights.
LADIES' Heavy Knit merino, wool and cotton Vests and Pants.
LADIES' ribbed, cotton, merino, wool, and silk and wool Vests.
CHILDREN'S gauze and summer merino Vests, Pants and Drawers in white and gray.
CHILDREN'S balbriggan vests, Pants and Drawers.
BOYS' Jean Drawers.
CHILDREN'S Rib Waists.
CHILDREN'S gauze and summer merino Wrappers.
MISSES' cotton ribbed Vests.
MISSES' merino, cotton and wool Vests.
INFANTS' merino ribbed Wrappers.
INFANTS' lisle thread Vests.
INFANTS' cashmere and silk and wool Wrappers.
INFANTS' silk Vests.
LADIES' and GENTLEMEN'S Chamois Vests.
LADIES' and GENTLEMEN'S Abdominal Bands.
LADIES' and GENTLEMEN'S Chest Protectors.

NO BRANCH STORES.

Mail Orders Carefully Attended To.

L. S. Plaut & Co.

707 TO 721 BROAD ST.,

NEWARK, N. J.

NOTICE. June 3, 1893.

Estate of Harvey R. Case, Deceased.

Pursuant to the order of George T. Parrot, surrogate of the county of Union, this day made, on the application of the undersigned, administrator of said deceased notice is hereby given to the creditors of said deceased to exhibit to the subscriber under oath or affirmation their claims and demands against the estate of said deceased within nine months from this date, or they will be forever barred [illegible]

CITY DEPARTMENT.

OFFICIAL PAPER OF THE STATE, THE COUNTY AND THE CITY, AND HAS THE LARGEST CIRCULATION OF ANY PAPER PUBLISHED IN THE COUNTY OF UNION.

Walter Irving Clarke, City Editor.

THE ALBION CHANGES HANDS.

ALBERT H. KING TO ASSUME CONTROL WEDNESDAY.

He Is a Brooklyn Man, of Experience in Commissary Matters—Various Improvements Contemplated in the Hotel Property—Mr. Miller Stays at Netherwood.

Negotiations have been on foot for some time between The Albion Hotel Company and Albert H. King, of Brooklyn, in regard to the latter renting the hotel for a term of years and relieving the company from all further responsibility as to its management. As many of the readers of The Press know, the hotel real estate belongs to the Stelle and VanDeventer estates, and The Albion Hotel Company holds the lease of the property. The company owns all the furniture and other fittings. Mr. King has decided to take the hotel on a sub-lease from the company, and has signed the lease, which gives him the property until February 15, 1896. Frank E. Miller who has managed The Albion so satisfactorily for the past two years, will hereafter spend his time in making The Netherwood more popular than ever. Mr. King has had considerable experience in business which would fit him in one way to manage a hotel, namely, handling the supplies for the commissary department for numbers of men engaged in railroad construction. He also managed the Victoria Hotel, Nassau, for a short time. The new management comes in power Wednesday, and some of the numerous improvements which it promises will be looked forward to with interest.

While welcoming Mr. King, who, by the way, has many personal friends in Plainfield already, The Press wishes to extend its good wishes to Mr. Miller, and is glad to know that he goes no further from Plainfield that the great hotel on the hill.

—A post-office has been established at Garwood.

—"Hose and Hose" is booked to appear in Music Hall Aug. 31.

—A. V. D. Honeyman will conduct his next tours to Chicago September 18 and October 9.

—A young man from Plainfield was ordered off the beach at Asbury Park, Monday, because of his indecent bathing suit.

—The most catching signboard in town is the big fist on Park avenue that points to the piano warerooms of Vanderbeek & Sattels.

—Turner, late of the Crescents, is doing great work for the Philadelphia Leaguers. Yesterday he made two hits and two runs, one of them a homer.

—The Elizabeth Wheelmen will have their annual watermelon run to Plainfield Saturday. They will feast at Acker's Farm in Washington Valley.

—The Plainfield agents of the Prudential Insurance Company, captained by Superintendent E. W. Pepper, will play the New Brunswick agents at Papiac, Saturday.

—Kip, the Somerset street baker, has bought out Floyd Fuller's Vienna bread and roll route, and will hereafter supply the people of Plainfield with those delicious foods.

—Charles Arnold, whose market at 203 Liberty street has a reputation second to none, is selling meats at prices astonishingly low, for cash. He says no one shall undersell him.

—Somerville got spiteful and refused to play the game against Westfield on the Crescent grounds, last Saturday. The gate receipts would have been large had the game been played here.

—William Kelly, of Oak Tree, has transferred to Mrs. William Sutton the house and lot on Elm place, occupied by the Suttons. The house was recently moved from North Front street.

—Every housekeeper will delight in the prospect of getting milk and cream from registered Jerseys. Such a supply may be obtained of F. D. Fuller's celebrated Del Marvia Farms Dairy, 327 Watchung avenue.

—Charles T. Nightingale will have an important establishment in his new bottle-stopper manufactory at Fourth and Washington streets. It will be 30x80 feet, and three stories high. B. Fosgate is the architect.

—Mr. and Mrs. Robert Clark of Washingtonville were stormbound with a pleasure party and band of musicians in the Papiac pavilion, Saturday night, and kept there by the pelting rain and flooded roads till daylight Sunday.

—At the last regular meeting of the A. O. F. ten dollars was affectionately subscribed as a testimonial towards paying for the flowers at the funeral of the late Mrs. William Schorb. This was in addition to the regular death benefit of $40.

—Superintendent Norbury, of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company, has paid the $200 death claim on Patrick Hageny, who was killed on the Lehigh Valley Railroad at Bound Brook. This was a profit of $153.75 over Hageny's payments.

—At last Plainfield has a restaurant where one may eat in comfort and be served in style. Miller Bros.' Grenada Cafe grows daily in popularity. It is quiet, cool, free from flies and disorder, and just the place for fastidious man or woman to get a well cooked and generous breakfast, dinner or supper, either table d' hote or a la carte.

—The full and accurate proceedings of the Borough Council meeting as published exclusively in The Press Saturday, together with the exclusive report of the bicycle race, caused the ordinary supply to be exhausted, and at 7 p. m. the forms were put to press again and an extra edition was run off to meet the demands of an appreciative public.

—The live real-estate men of the town just now are VanBuren & Timpson, who are hustling in spite of summer dulness for a big fall trade. If you want your property rented sure by good tenants, go to them. They have constituted themselves Commissioners of Select Immigration and are going to bring lots of New York and Brooklyn people to town.

—The North Plainfield route of the Plainfield railway company is becoming more popular every day, thanks to the excellent management. James Hatfield, who collected the first nickel taken in by the company for Somerset street car fare, is growing in favor on the run, and neither he nor his motorman have had any serious accident since the road opened.

Waste Bags with Padlocks on Their Jaws.

Editor Pearsall of the Westfield Standard gives a graphic picture of the condition of canine affairs:

"Six dogs in full cry, chasing vehicles as they left the station Tuesday evening, was the interesting circumstance that testified to new comers and visitors that Westfield was a truly desirable place in which to reside. In these dog days, [illegible]

PERSONALIA.

E. L. Wals has returned from his vacation trip.

The family of J. Evarts Tracy have returned home.

Mrs. Jos. Neal, of East Second street, sailed today for Ireland.

Colonel John F. Wilson returned Saturday from his stay in Cresson, Pa.

Miss F. Bliss, of Short Hills, is the guest of Mrs. Baldwin of Grant avenue.

Mrs. Josiah Brown, of Webster place, left Monday for a weeks visit to Asbury Park.

Matthew Cashin, of Wm. Sebring's clothing store, has returned from his vacation.

William A. Schorb has the sympathy of his many friends in the death of his young wife Lizzie.

The family of G. H. Goddard, of East Ninth street, are home again from New York State.

Mrs. Phillip Hageny, of East Third street, is spending a week with friends at East Orange.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Combs of Trenton are the guests of W. H. Combs of Linden avenue.

Miss Helen Wagner, of Watchung avenue, is having a very enjoyable visit with friends in Philadelphia.

The Misses Sarah and Katie Carney, of West Third street, have returned from their vacation in Brooklyn.

Miss Lottie Rillet and Mrs. Charlotte Smith, of West Fifth street, have gone to Asbury Park for two weeks.

A message from Asbury Park states that Cashier Gardner of the City National Bank is resting somewhat easier.

F. F. Westphal, of West Fourth and Liberty streets, has gone to Poughkeepsie, where he will spend his vacation.

Philip Swain has been sadly afflicted in the loss of his father, James Swain, who died in Brooklyn August 15, aged 76.

Borough Magistrate T. R. Crosley and family left today to enjoy the religious influences and quiet rest of Mt. Tabor.

Mrs. E. R. Harris and son, of Cranford, are visiting at the home of Mrs. Harris's father, S. E. Hope, Richmond street.

Mrs. Dayton and daughter, of New Haven, are visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Potter, of Mount Pleasant.

Frank Raymond of Madison avenue, who had a relapse of his long illness with typhoid, is slowly improving again.

Postmaster E. R. Pope has gone to Chicago, where he will spend two weeks inspecting the wonders of the World's Fair.

Will Holmes, the popular singer, is at home on Washington avenue, after a delightful two weeks spent near Greenwood Lake.

Mrs. Jack Force and Miss Mabel Force, of Bound Brook, are visiting the Misses Carrie and Addie Dunn, of West Philadelphia.

F. LaTourette has begun the erection of a very pretty cottage on the lot at South Plainfield recently purchased of W. R. Smith.

Cyrus Moore, of New street, has gone to Red Bank, having been drawn thither by the charms of a young lady by the name of Smith.

Mrs. Charles S. Greer, of Grandview avenue, is expected to start the first of the week for Asbury Park, where she will spend two weeks.

Arthur B. Matthews, of West Third street, has returned from Asbury Park, where he has been enjoying a vacation for the past ten days.

Mrs. John Savage and family returned to their home in Brooklyn after a pleasant visit to her friend, Miss Carrie Spencer, Washingtonville.

Adelbert Vail, one of the oldest bookkeepers in the First National Bank, is taking a much-needed rest at Portchester, N. Y., for two weeks.

Miss Henrietta Cuming, of Watchung avenue, returned last week from Fitchburg, Mass., where she had been enjoying life the past six weeks.

Clarence Hillman of this city has enlisted in the marine band on board the U. S. cruiser Baltimore, which is ordered to Japan by way of Suez.

Mr. and Mrs. James H. Potter have been sadly bereaved in the loss of their son James H., Jr., who died at Fair Haven, Monmouth county, Aug. 11.

Mrs. Martin, of 28 Linden avenue, is visiting relatives at Bonhamtown and Metuchen. Her daughter, Miss Ida, has gone to Cayuga Lake for two weeks.

Mrs. S. A. Ellis and family, of Coddington, Delaware county, Pennsylvania, are visiting their old friends Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Norbury, of North avenue.

Letter Carrier Edward T. Van Winkle is on a vacation, which he will spend, with his family, and his sister Miss Susan VanWinkle, at Rector, Lewis county, N Y.

Miss Mabel Woodruff, of East Second street, is at Paskel, one of Philadelphia's pretty suburban summer resorts, where she is visiting Miss Evie Taylor, of Philadelphia.

The Rev. Dr. E. P. Ketcham returned today from a delightful three days cruise on the yacht of the Rev. William Moore, father of Mrs. Cruikshank of Netherwood Heights.

Charles E. Major, Assistant Superintendent of the Prudential Life Insurance Company, with his family is visiting his father-in-law, David D. Smalley, North Plainfield.

Westfield lost a good and honored citizen in Henry F. Alpern, who died at Dansville, N. Y., August 15, aged 42 years. The funeral was held this afternoon at 4:30 from his late residence in Westfield.

Overseer-of-the-poor John Mackey of North Plainfield will move to Brooklyn September 1, as foreman of the large stables of the chemical company in which Albert Winters formerly of this city is interested.

J. W. Price and Miss Lizzie, of Evona, have returned from a very enjoyable trip to the White City. Among the German exhibitors were acquaintances of Miss Price whom she had met during her stay in Germany, where she has been studying.

Henry M. Goodwin, a popular resident of Westfield township, died yesterday in his thirty-ninth year. The funeral will be from the Scotch Plains Methodist church, to-morrow afternoon at 3, and Goodwill Lodge, K. of P., will attend in a body.

L. R. Barkalow is always trying to make some one happy. This time the beneficiaries are the residents of Duer street. Mr. Barkalow is about to begin the erection of another cosy house on the long vacant lot at 78 Duer street, and all the neighbors are delighted.

John Rafferty is about to improve the vacant land facing on Second street, in the rear of his Park avenue place, which has so long served as storage ground for G. Q. Packer and other merchants. He will transform it into a lawn and turn it over to his children as a playground.

Charles DeGraw, a handsome and efficient salesman at Edsall's, and a popular member of Gazelle Engine company, went today in company with William T. Newman of West Second street, the accomplished foreman of Gazelle, to spend a week at the Brady House, Atlantic City, and Philadelphia.

Plainfielders may expect to hear some great fish stories when Israel G. [illegible] comes home. The Manitoulin Expositor, a queer little newspaper published at the queer little town of Little Current, Ont., says that Mr. [illegible] is enjoying the [illegible] to be had among the islands there, and [illegible]

Miss Bessie Cornwell is home from Asbury Park.

The mother of Charles F. Noel, of Netherwood, is seriously ill.

Mrs. C. A. Haynes has returned from her visit in New York State.

Miss Ellie Geary, of South Plainfield, is visiting friends in Jersey City.

Josiah Browne, of 312 Webster place, is at Asbury Park for a few weeks.

Mrs. Philip Foster, of Somerset street, will leave Monday for Asbury Park.

E. L. Finch and family are 'mid the fashionable throng at Spring Lake.

Police Captain and Mrs. Grant have been enjoying a few days at Toms River.

The Rev. Dr. J. P. Taylor and family are stopping at The Lenox, Asbury Park.

Mrs. [illegible] Vail and family, of West Eighth street, are home from Greenwich, Conn.

Henry Smith and family, of Westervelt avenue, are home from a season at Glen Cove, L. I.

Street Commissioner Robert A. Meeker is drinking in the wonders of the Great White City.

The Rev. and Mrs. S. P. Simpson have returned after spending two weeks at Spring Lake.

Milkman George Mellick has a new customer, a little chap who doesn't have to pay a cent.

Mrs. Robert L. Burnett, of Hillside avenue, has returned from a month at Patchogue, L. I.

Father Murphy, assistant to Father Smyth at St. Mary's church, is enjoying a week at Asbury Park.

Harry Moore, of Easton, is being entertained at the home of Miss Susie Boss, of West Front street.

The Misses Cora and Mabel King of Newark are visiting their grandparents on West Second street.

Edward Combes, the genial clerk at Hotel Arlington, will join a camping party on a trip to Lake Hopatcong and Budd's Lake.

Miss Lena Hart, of Watchung avenue, has returned from a six weeks visit to Portsmouth, N. H., and Black Rock, Conn.

Miss H. Virginia Swackhammer, of White House, and Charles Kelvey, of New York, have returned home after a pleasant visit with Miss Susie Boss, of West Front street.

Mrs. H. S. Thatcher, of this city, will start Thursday evening at 6, for Chicago, where she will visit her sister, Mrs. Feemler, for the next ten weeks. She will travel on the popular and picturesque B. and O.

James Q. Miles, a native and well-known former resident of this city, is in town for a few days. Since leaving here many years ago Mr. Miles has traveled extensively through this country and South America.

The Cruikshanks' elegant residence on Belvidere avenue, Netherwood Heights, at the crown of the Broadway hill, is known as The Sacmoore. This name is derived from Mrs. Cruikshank's maiden name, Moore, and her husband's initials, S. A. C.

Mr. and Mrs. Monroe Brewster are about to remove from this city to Oregon. Mr. Brewster is a member of the G. A. R., and Mrs. Brewster an active worker in the W. R. C. Friday night, Post 73 will tender them a farewell reception in the post room.

James F. Martin of 410 East Fourth street has entered to race in the one-mile handicap of the Riverside Athletic Club at Waverly next Saturday, and Harry Bettels of Fanwood has entered for the one-mile novice and the half-mile handicap races.

Charles P. Rice, the water-works contractor, sails for Birmingham, England, Sept. 2, probably on the steamship Alaska, to attend settlement of the estate of his father's uncle, from which as heir he will receive from $80,000 to $120,000. He will return in April or May, and make Plainfield his home.

Garret Q. Packer and Frank Jones and their families are home from the World's Fair. Mr. Packer is enthusiastic over the great Exposition, and unhesitatingly recommends it as a glorious entertainment and an invaluable education. He talks very interestingly of the trip, in spite of his discomfort in suffering from a sleeping-car cold.

"BE YE ALSO READY."

This Admonition Taught by the Death of John Manchester.

The lesson taught by the suddenness of his death was the theme of the sermon at the funeral of John C. Manchester, at his late home, 313 Arlington avenue, Tuesday afternoon at 3.

Besides the relatives, a large number of friends attended the services; also brethren of the Ancient Order of United Workmen, of which the deceased was a member.

The Rev. Dr. C. R. Barnes was the officiating clergyman. In an impressive talk he said:

"Once more we are called to the house of mourning. During the past few days we have stood by the side of the young, the middle aged, and those older in life, who have passed away from earth forever. Today we stand at the coffin of one who was called away suddenly, without a moment's warning. What does this man's death teach us? There is a lesson in it, and as we come from the store, the shop, and the factory, it would be well for us to stop and consider the importance of it. We often ask the question was a certain man fit to die? If a man is not fit to die, he is not fit to live. But no matter how fit he is to live, the time draws near when he must go up yonder. The time will come, we cannot tell how soon, when we too will be laid in the coffin, when our faces will be pale and our hands helpless. The lesson of this day is, Be ready for it."

The Rev. G. Kennedy Newell gave words of comfort to the bereaved ones, and also dwelt on the lesson of the death. "There is a thought"—he said—"that comes to me at this time, and that is that God's ways are mysterious; his messengers are swift, and it behooves each one to be prepared for the great last call. It should impress itself on each one that we may be summoned in a moment. If we have any idea of giving our heart to the Saviour, an event like this should convince us to do so. I had heard of Mr. Manchester, but did not know him personally. I don't know that I ever shook his hand. But we all mourn the loss because he was a good citizen. He lived an upright life, and was always doing good for those about him.

"By his death, this home is made desolate; his sudden removal is hard to bear, and we long to give comfort to those who are left behind. It is the Lord who has taken him away, but He will grant His Spirit as consolation, and let us ask Him for it today."

The service was concluded with prayer by Dr. Barnes, and all proceeded to Hillside Cemetery, where the body was laid in its final resting-place by Pall-bearers Thomas Randolph, Charles Randolph, T. J. Carey, David N. Force, David A. Ryno and Thomas B. Gray, all of whom are members of the A. O. U. W.

The ritual of the United Workmen order was read impressively at the grave. The society gave a floral tribute of a pillow, and Mrs. Anna Johns Cox sent beautiful cut flowers.

Can't Lose the Plainfield [illegible]

At the meeting of [illegible] at New London, Conn., the [illegible]

Royal Baking Powder

Absolutely Pure

A cream of tartar baking powder. Highest of all in leavening strength.—Latest U. S. Government Food Report.

ROYAL BAKING POWDER CO., 106 WALL ST., N. Y.

LOST HIS LIFE IN THE STORM.

EDWARD N. HARNED OF PLAINFIELD CRUSHED TO DEATH.

He Had Taken Refuge in a Bathing Pavilion, Which Collapsed Before the Wind—His Academy on Park Avenue to Continue in the Fall.

From The Press of August 21.

Through the storm of yesterday, Plainfield is unfortunate in having lost one of its most esteemed citizens, and the loving family and warm friends of Edward N. Harned are plunged in the deepest gloom.

Last night Mrs. Harned received a telegram from Atlantic Highlands stating that a body taken from the wreck of Beatty & Leslie's bathing pavilion had been identified as that of her husband.

Mr. Harned was the proprietor of Harned's Academy on Park avenue.

He left Plainfield Saturday morning to go to Keyport, and intended meeting his lawyer there to attend to the transfer of some real estate in which he was interested. It is supposed that Mr. Harned transacted his business at Keyport, as he had said before leaving home that he would probably go up the coast before coming home, and would take the boat for New York. He went to Keyport via the Lehigh Valley Railroad from South Plainfield, and it was by a return ticket to that station that his residence was discovered.

Saturday night, Mr. Harned arrived at Atlantic Highlands, and on Sunday while he was reading his paper on the pier, the sudden storm came up and he sought protection under the bathing pavilion, where he was killed. The pavilion collapsed when the tremendous wind began to blow, and when the debris was removed Mr. Harned's body was found among the fallen timbers.

Undertaker Runyon sent for the body this morning, and it will probably arrive tonight.

Mr. Harned leaves a widow and four children. His school, which he started here about four years ago, has recently been enlarged and he had just completed his arrangements for the coming year. He had intended to retire from the actual school work of teaching, and had intrusted the management to Prof. Harris, whom he had appointed head master. The school will continue as usual, in every respect the same as if Mr. Harned had been alive.

Edward N. Harned was born in Plainfield, February 2, 1856. His early education was received at home, where he studied for some time with a private tutor. In 1879 he entered Buchtel College, Ohio, where he took his baccalaureate degree.

He married shortly after leaving college, and accepted a position as instructor of mathematics in Chappaqua Institute, where he remained for two years. From there he went to Newtown Square Boarding School, where he officiated as principal. He resigned from there in order to start his school in Plainfield, which has been extremely successful. He first rented the property on Park avenue, then bought it, and finally, this year, enlarged it to over twice its original capacity, and had made all arrangements for the coming year, intending to attend to the business end of the institute himself. His sudden and grievous death will not alter the plans of the school, which will continue as before.

FRIEND HARNED AT REST.

Simple and Impressive Services at the Watchung Avenue Meeting-house.

Funeral ceremonies over the remains of the late Edward N. Harned were held Wednesday at 11, at the Friends' meeting-house on Watchung avenue.

Aaron M. Powell spoke as follows:

"We are assembled here today to pay a last token of respect to our friend, who has so suddenly been taken away. Those that knew him all learned to love him. He was a man who impressed all by his uprightness and sterling qualities. He was a teacher, and that means a good deal. One who has the training of young minds has an important position to fill. Our numbers are small, and we shall miss our friend. This place was his spiritual home, and it was his custom each First-day to bring his students to this house of worship, thus teaching them to regard and revere things spiritual. I believe that when the summons came to our friend he was ready and fully prepared to go.

"It has been said that he who makes two blades of grass grow where formerly there was one, is a benefactor. Such is the case of our friend and teacher. He was prepared to meet that greater harmony with God, which he enjoyed to a large extent here upon earth, and we can all have that same harmony if we are living as we should.

"Today we are here, but we cannot tell of the morrow."

At the conclusion of Mr. Powell's impressive talk, Friend Elizabeth Thistlethwaite, a beloved member of the society who has passed her ninetieth year of a noble life, made a homily, which was exceedingly appropriate and full of excellent truth, giving special emphasis to the good of submitting ourselves to God and letting Him direct our paths and shape our destinies.

An opportunity was given for those present to view the remains, and burial was made in the cemetery back of the meeting-house.

PREMATURE PUTNAM'S FRIGID ZONE.

Trees of That Avenue Are Shedding Their Foliage, as Though Winter Were Close at Hand.

Anyone walking down Putnam avenue would think from the appearance of the lawns and sidewalks that it was late fall instead of August, especially with the temperature so abnormally cool as now. The trees that add so much to the beauty of this thoroughfare are losing their foliage prematurely and covering everything with a pall of brown and withered leaves. The other streets in the immediate vicinity, singular to say, are not affected in like manner at all, and still have a summer-like appearance, while but a block away from them everything makes one feel that summer has really gone.

[illegible]

The time limit for the race to take place between [illegible] is to be 1:27, [illegible]

FROZE OUT THE DEPOSITORS.

HOW AN OLD-TIME PLAINFIELD BANK CHECKED A RUN.

One of the [illegible] Big Amount Was Kept Counting Small Change [illegible] All Day—But the Bank Finally Burst.

Many Plainfield people reading the New York Herald Sunday smiled incredulously over the fanciful tale of an old-time run on a Plainfield bank. The story was sandwiched in among several others of a similar nature, and was as follows:

"Coming down to a more modern instance of a similar nature," he added, "there is a well authenticated case of a bank in Plainfield, N. J., which played with great success a very neat game on its depositors at the time of a run.

"It was a bitter cold day in winter. The bank building was peculiarly constructed. A hallway led from front to rear. On one side was the counting room, with the pigeon holes of the cashier, tellers and bookkeepers; on the other a blank wall. A partition visible to the ceiling, formed of sliding sashes and glass panes, formed the counting room side of the passageway.

"The bank officials got wind of the prospective run early in the day and made preparations for it of a unique character. They closed the morning session and then threw both doors wide open. Near the rear door they fastened a fierce bulldog attached to a chain four feet long.

"The thermometer without registered below zero, and the temperature of the passageway soon fell to the same point. Inside the counting room a cheerful fire burned in the open fire-place. The anxious depositors crowded in the cold passageway could see the blaze, but felt no warmth.

A GAME OF FREEZE OUT.

"They attempted to close the doors, but so great was the crowd that this was impossible in the front of the building, and the bulldog near the rear door tugged and strained at its chain and growled ominously at anyone who dared to approach him.

"Meanwhile the tellers worked slowly. The bank had laid in a vast supply of subsidiary coins—half cents and cents and silver three and five cent pieces. Each depositor was made to take a proportion of these, which were counted slowly and deliberately, while the poor victims shivered without.

"To further tantalize the depositors, the bank officers, directors and clerks had a fine dinner spread at the noon hour in full sight of the cold and famished ones. The men inside laughed and chatted merrily over their meal. The freezing, chattering, frightened depositors standing in the bitter cold stamped their feet and swore fearful oaths, but without avail.

"At last many of them chose rather to risk their money than their lives. They gave up the waiting in the passage and returned to their homes to thaw. This, to my mind, is the most satisfactory way of stopping a run on a bank of which I have ever heard—it was, in fact, a regular freeze out."

William C. Ayres, whose memory is as clear as the summer sunshine on all matters of local history for nearly his entire life of more than 80 years, was asked about the story by a representative of The Daily Press.

"Yes!"—he said—"that's pretty nearly so. The bank was a private one, virtually owned by Moses Y. Beach, founder of the New York Sun, though it had a Plainfield Board of Directors, who have since passed away. The incident was way back in '47 or '48.

"The building was on Front street, at the corner of the lane which was named Bank place because the bank stood there. The site is the old Latimer property, and a portion of the old bank building still stands in the rear of W. C. Butler's residence.

"One of the heaviest depositors in the bank was a stout and wealthy German from Philadelphia. The bank learned that he was about to withdraw his funds, and prepared for him by stocking up with small coins as started. But the German fortified himself by putting on a warm suit of buckskin underneath his clothing, and in spite of the icy blast that blew he stayed right at the window and counted the bits of coin steadily. It took him nearly the whole day, but he stood it out.

"The bank didn't last long, though, for, by an act of the Legislature Joel Dunn was appointed receiver, and wound up its affairs."

THE CRESCENTS LOSE TURNER.

Another of Keller's Graduates Gets on a League Team.

"Tuck" Turner, a popular member of the Crescent base-ball team, has accepted a very excellent offer made by the Philadelphia League Club, and played there yesterday. He will be liked in the League, for he is a quiet unassuming fellow, and a fast enough player to keep up with the League procession. He has the stuff in him for a most capable player, and the veteran Harry Wright, manager of the Phillies, is just the chap to develop his talent, for he gives young blood a good showing.

Turner might have gone in another League team next year, but showed his good sense in going where he would get the best of training.

Of his first game yesterday the Philadelphia papers say:

Times—Turner, who was signed yesterday by Manager Wright, made his first appearance on the team, and, while he did not have a chance in the field or make any hits, he created a favorable impression. He is left-handed.

Record—Harry Wright's latest acquisition, Turner, formerly of the Staten Island Club, played centre field, and, while he had nothing to do in fielding, and made no hits, he displayed considerable capability and was well received.

The Book of the Fair.

Of all the literature that has been published concerning the stupendous Chicago Fair, none is more exquisite or complete than "The Book of the Fair" issued by the Bancroft Company, Auditorium Building, Chicago. This is a sumptuous work portraying not only the beauties of the Columbian Exposition but comparing it by picture and letter text with all other of the world's great shows. The story is charmingly told by that ever-graceful writer, Hubert Howe Bancroft, and the best of artistic work has been expended on the magnificent illustrations. The book is in reality an historical and descriptive presentation of the world's science, art and industry, as viewed through the Columbian Exposition, and sets forth the display made by the great congress of nations, of human achievement in material form, so as the more effectually to illustrate the progress of mankind in all the departments of civilized life. It is a bewildering array of delights, and a wonderful education. Everyone desiring a faithful story of the Fair, with every detail accurately pictured, is recommended to write to the publishers about subscribing. "The Book of the Fair" is published in the highest style of art.

This Is the Most Unkindest Cut of All.

The Jersey Central Railroad Company has laid the freight-house improvement on the shelf for the rest of the year at least, on account of the hard times.

Best Place to Buy Stone.

Anyone who has any use whatever for building stone, should consult in person or by mail Lyman Kise of Sherman Valley. At his superior quarries he dresses stone to order for [illegible], water tables, etc., and gives special attention to heavy bridge stone. For anything you want in the stone line, go to Him.

Children Cry for Pitcher's Castoria.

When Baby was sick, we gave her Castoria.
When she was a Child, she cried for Castoria.
When she became Miss, she clung to Castoria.
When she had Children, she gave them Castoria.

A JOLLY SET AT FANWOOD.

WHAT PLAINFIELD'S SWELL RURAL NEIGHBORS ARE DOING.

Tennis Tourney Affords Much Sport—George C. Miller, a Pooh-Bah—A. D. Becken and His Pruning Knife—The Peach Party Declared Off—F. D. Warren the Rain-Maker—Sociability by Telegraph.

(From The Press, Monday, Aug. 21.)

Thursday evening, August 24, will be the Fortnightly evening at the Watchung Club.

The Fortnightlies of the Fanwood Club are looked forward to with much interest by the dancing set.

Edward A. Urner, treasurer of the Watchung Club, has gone to Buzzard's Bay for a week or two.

Mr. Force's ponies are in splendid trim this season, and attract much notice on the neighboring roads.

The Fanwood Whist Club will lose one of its strongest players in the removal of George Bates to Brooklyn.

Paul and Louis Tuzo are preparing for their annual cruise with the New York Naval Reserve, Saturday, August 26.

W. N. Lawrence met with a painful accident recently, his hand being badly cut with glass by the explosion of a bottle.

The swell thing among Fanwood residents is to make up parties to go to the Crescent Athletic Club to dinner and in the evening visit Manhattan Beach.

Harry F. Robinson and family will return to Fanwood permanently, in a few days. Their old friends will welcome them back with much heartfelt feeling.

The family of Harry Robinson have been spending several months in the Catskills. When they return they will occupy their new house, which is nearly finished.

The Misses Boucher are having an overflowing house at The Homestead, this summer, and everyone who is fortunate enough to secure rooms is made one of the happy family.

You see that man with a gun? He isn't on the warpath against tramps or trespassers. Instead he hunts the puny mole. This troublesome creature is playing sad havoc with the lawns.

The Saturday afternoons at the Watchung Club have been poorly attended lately on account of the threatening weather and the absence from Fanwood society of some of its leaders.

The Homestead people are overjoyous at the prospect of another tennis tournament next Saturday, and it is in the air that should Cameron and Miller win, as is expected, they will be royally entertained at a later day.

Will C. Cameron is still delighting his friends with wonderful music. His latest triumph, "He Shot an Arrow Through the Air", has been made so enchanting that it is hummed by all his friends whenever they see him coming.

The peach party which Mr. Briggs was to have given, has fallen through, on account of the mysterious disappearance of the three baskets, before the invitations were issued. Besides L. Briggs thinks it more pleasure to play whist.

Judge Moore's good work in keeping tramps away in the evenings, should now be extended so as to cover the daytime. He has made a splendid record, and the residents look forward to the complete annihilation of the tramps before long.

A. D. Becken has made a study of tree and shrub pruning, and his pruning knife is in constant use on his own and his neighbors' bushes. Everything he does is with a will, and a determination to conquer or give it up. So far his place is considered to have the handsomest kept grounds in Fanwood.

Mr. Baylor is away for two weeks on his yearly visit to his family in Hunterdon county. His inseparable friend, Geo. W. Spring, is consoling himself during his absence by writing an account of their summer experiences behind Mr. Baylor's pony, which work will be elaborately illustrated by the pen of a local artist.

The first of the much talked of tennis doubles was played last Saturday on the Homestead courts, in the presence of an appreciative audience. Miss TenBroeck and Mr. Stevens were the victors, defeating Messrs. Cameron and Miller. The second game will be played this week Saturday, by which time the weak points of the defeated team will no doubt be greatly strengthened.

Mrs. Frank D. Warren has returned to Fanwood from her visit up in Pennsylvania. Mr. Warren was seen last Saturday during all that thunder storm standing in his yard, garden hose in hand, playing on the dried up vegetables. He was heard to murmur "This storm won't last long!" and at last accounts he was still there, afraid the rain would stop and he not be on hand.

During the thunder storm, Saturday night, the telegraph instruments in the various private residences played lively music to the lightning. Most all the houses on Martine avenue have private telegraph lines, which are operated by their occupants, so that on rainy evenings they can converse without going out. This is a novelty of sociability which Fanwood claims as distinctively her own.

George C. Miller was recently elected secretary of the Fanwood Fire Company. Some people think he should not expect to hold all the good offices of the small village. He is already chairman of the Township Committee, chairman of the Board of Health, secretary of the Watchung Club, and now secretary of the Fire Company. What will he be looking for next? Has he his eye on the vacancy to occur of Freeholder or Assembly?

SUBURBAN SAUNTERER.

TOOK TEN INNINGS FOR THIS.

Great Excitement Between North Plainfield and Richmond Street Rivals.

An exciting game of ball was played on the Crescent grounds on Monday between the North Plainfields and the Richmonds. It resulted in the Richmonds defeating the North Plainfields by the score of 6 to 5. The battery for the North Plainfield club consisted of L. Townley and C. Sutphen; for the Richmonds, Wine and Moran. The score was 3 to 3 till the tenth inning, when the North Plainfields spurted and made two more runs. Then the Richmonds made three by noble effort, and won the game amid loud cheering. Wren Townley, the Westfield player, made three errors for the North Plainfields, and did not knock the ball outside the diamond. The Richmonds declare themselves ready to play any club in the town whose members are under 21 years of age. All challenges sent to the Richmonds will be received by Patrick Melvin, 435 Cottage place.

Things Worth Remembering.

When you feel a kind of goneness about the stomach it is a sign that your food does not sit well and that you are about to have a fit of indigestion.

When you begin to feel nervous and are unable to sit still comfortably; when your clothes suddenly seem to lose their fit and become too tight in places the fit of indigestion is surely upon you.

When this fit of indigestion is [illegible] from day to day it finally resolves itself into dyspepsia.

Remember that [illegible]

ANOTHER GOOD MAN DROPS DEAD.

JOHN MANCHESTER FALLS LIFELESS JUST AFTER REACHING HOME.

The Devoted Husband Had Just Concluded His Saturday Night Marketing for His Family, When He Was Stricken With Apoplexy.

Grim and sudden death has without warning claimed another of Plainfield's citizens. Last Saturday evening, about 9:15, John C. Manchester passed away without a moment's premonition, apoplexy being the cause.

In the afternoon he attended an auction sale at Netherwood, returning home about 5. He then felt as well as usual, and asked his wife if supper was about ready.

After supper he said he would take a walk down town, going first to the store of Councilman Herman Weber, where he sat down and had a talk with Mr. Weber.

Leaving there, he went to Henry Liefke's bakery, purchased some eatables for Sunday, and proceeded to the barber shop of P. J. Kreitling, and was shaved.

This was the last place he stopped at before reaching home.

Mrs. Manchester, his wife, had retired early, and was asleep. Her son Frank had also retired. Frank's wife was getting ready to go up stairs.

Unseen, Mr. Manchester came in, and, going to the kitchen, put his purchases on the table. When he came into the dining room, his wife heard a strange noise, which startled her. She immediately went to this room, and found her husband lying at full length on the floor. She called her son Frank, who went for Dr. Sarah Keeney, who lives close by. The doctor came with all speed, but life was extinct, and all hope gone.

John Manchester was born in Rhode Island 52 years ago, but lived in Massachusetts for 25 years, when he removed to New Jersey. He had lived in Plainfield about 22 years, 16 of which had been spent in the house where he died.

He learned the carpenter trade when a young man, and had worked at it ever since. He was known as an excellent workman, and people had perfect confidence in him. He taught his son Frank the trade, and took the contract alone to build a house in this city, that his son might know how the work was done.

Mr. Manchester leaves a wife, Patience Manchester, and one son, Frank.

During the 34 years of her married life Mrs. Manchester has been away from home but once to stay all night, showing how faithful she has been to her beloved husband and home. Mr. Manchester was a stanch Republican. He always worked zealously for the success of his party's candidates.

The funeral will take place to-morrow afternoon at 3, from his late residence, 313 Arlington avenue. The Rev. Dr. C. R. Barnes, of the Methodist church, and the Rev. G. Kennedy Newell, of Hope chapel, will officiate. Central Lodge, A. O. U. W., of which he was a member, will attend.

PLAINFIELD'S END OF THE STORM.

Wind and Lightning Play a Few Freaks, and the Water Makes an Awful Mess.

Plainfield was deluged by rain both Saturday night and Sunday forenoon. The streets under the railroad bridges were for a time impassable, and a number of small washouts of roadway occurred, notably at New and Second streets, New and Fifth, and Charlotte road. It rained so hard during Sunday morning service that some of the preachers had to strain their voices to be heard above the hammering of the elements without.

The most serious result of the storm was the temporary grounding of the fire-alarm system and the breaking of the Somerset street railway main trolley wire. The wire was joined together as quickly as possible, so as not to interfere with traffic over Sunday, and was firmly repaired this morning.

The rainfall in Plainfield was 3½ inches.

Lightning struck a tree in Councilman George F. Edwards's yard on Duer street, ran along a clothes line from the tree, shattering the top and intervening post, and ripped the bark of a tree at the other end of the line. The freak was witnessed by Mrs. Carmen Parse and Dr. Adams's family.

The telephone company suffered from the lightning Saturday and Sunday, but Manager Runyon speedily had everything all right again.

Death of George Shepherd.

George R. Shepherd, a well-known resident of North Plainfield, died at 1:35 Wednesday, after three months illness, from consumption. He was in the forty-fourth year of his age, and leaves a widow and five children. Deceased was a butcher by occupation, and worked in several of the stores in town. The funeral will probably be on Saturday.

LYDIA E. PINKHAM'S VEGETABLE COMPOUND

Is a positive cure for all those painful Ailments of Women. It will entirely cure the worst forms of Female Complaints, [illegible]

Backache. [illegible]

Bearing-down Feeling [illegible]

Irregularity, [illegible]

Dizziness, Faintness, [illegible]

Womb Troubles. [illegible]

Kidney Complaints [illegible]

Providence and Stonington
STEAMSHIP COMPANY
—BETWEEN—
NEW YORK
—AND ALL—
Eastern Points.

PROVIDENCE LINE.
(MAY TO NOVEMBER.)

The Summer Route to all eastern points. The steamers Connecticut and Massachusetts are among the finest vessels of their class in the world. Among the advantages of this line are the long water route and the short rail ride between Providence and Boston. The sail through Narragansett Bay and the Providence River in the early morning or evening is a delightful feature. A first-class orchestra on each steamer. During the season through parlor cars run between steamers' wharf, Providence, and the White Mountains Without Change.

STONINGTON LINE,
(THROUGHOUT THE YEAR.)

This is the Inside Route, and especially safe and comfortable in winter. Connects at Stonington with express trains for Boston, Providence, Worcester and all points north and east. The new steamers Maine and New Hampshire are in commission on the Stonington Line. These boats are built of steel, with seven water-tight compartments, insuring safety, and are completely fitted up with the most modern appliances. Very popular with the traveling public. The Stonington Line is the only direct Sound route in summer to Narragansett Pier and Watch Hill.

All information will be cheerfully given on application by letter or otherwise to General Passenger Agent, Providence and Stonington Steamship Company, new pier 36, North River, New York, or Providence, R. I. Illustrated bulletin furnished free, containing musical programmes, official time tables and other information.

EXECUTOR'S SETTLEMENT.

Notice is hereby given, that the account of the subscriber, executor and trustee under the will of Frederick F. Chase, deceased, will be audited and stated by the Surrogate, and reported for settlement to the Orphans' Court of the county of Union, on Wednesday, the thirteenth day of September next. CRAIG A. MARSH.
Dated July 1, 1893. 1 6 10

CANNON'S
MARKET MULBERRY MECHANIC STS
NEWARK.

We Can't Kick

at our business, even during these times, because good square dealing, and modern business methods pay. We mark EVERYTHING in plain figures, at lowest prices, and invite inspection,

And it Pays!

You can walk through row after row of

FURNITURE

(it isn't crowded, and the PRICE is always there) and examine it at your leisure.

Our latest addition, (ground floor) gives us nearly two acres of floor space, more than any other concern in Jersey has for Housefurnishing.

CARPETS,
UPHOLSTERY,
and every other Household need.
CREDIT GIVEN,
ONLY ONE PRICE,
and that marked in
PLAIN FIGURES.
LARGEST HOUSE OUTFITTERS IN NEW JERSEY

NEW JERSEY
State Normal & Model Schools
TRENTON, N. J.

Fall term will commence Tuesday, September 12 at 9:30 a. m. Buildings open to receive students on Monday, September 11. The Normal School gives a thorough professional training for teaching; the Model prepares for business, the general pursuits of life or college. Total cost, including board, washing books, etc., at the Normal Side is $160 per year; at the Model $200 per year. Buildings lighted by gas and heated by steam. Dormitories comfortably furnished, provided with Baths, etc. The facilities, both of the school building and boarding halls have been greatly increased during the present year, the former by a properly equipped gymnasium, laboratories, etc., the latter by increased capacity, etc. For further particulars address J. M. GREEN, Principal, Trenton, N. J.
834

DISSOLUTION OF PARTNERSHIP.

Notice is given, that the partnership lately subsisting between William L. Force (deceased) and Albert L. Force of the City of Plainfield, County of Union and State of New Jersey, under the firm of W. L. Force and Brother, was dissolved on this fourteenth day of August, eighteen hundred and ninety-three, pursuant to the article. All debts owing to the said partnership are to be received by the said Albert L. Force, who is now the sole owner of the said business, and all demands on the said partnership are to be presented to him for payment.

Dated this 16th day of August, 1893.
ALBERT L. FORCE.
MARY L. FORCE, Executrix.

An Open Letter From Clothing Builders to Clothing Buyers.

We make Clothing, you buy it. You buy Clothing ready made because it is cheaper.

There are different kinds of ready made. Have you ever investigated how different?

We show you the best that's made, the tailor made, the kind the tailor would make you to order.

In many instances you'll not be able to notice the difference in make between ours and theirs, but the difference in price will open your eyes.

The tailor's prices are about double ours and he furnishes you no better style, fit, finish, trim of fabric.

Why his big price?

He makes for the few; we for thousands. The wise and knowing are wearing OUR SUPERIOR CLOTHING and saving money.

See our grand line of SPRING SUITS between $10 and $20.

MCGREGOR & CO.,
850 and 852 Broad Street,
NEWARK, N. J.

INTELLIGENT COMPARISON

Always brings the business to us. We don't care whether you come here first or last, all we want you to do is to

COMPARE, PRICE, EXAMINE.

When you come here we will tell you enough about Piano construction to make you intelligent on the subject. We want you to see the inside of the new style

17 VOSE PIANO.

A fine watch isn't prettier. You can see the action that makes the wonderful mellow, resonant tones of this truly great instrument.

Cash, Installments or Rented.

S. D. LAUTER COMPANY,
657 and 659 Broad Street, Newark, N. J.

ELY'S CREAM BALM—Cleanses the Nasal Passages, Allays Pain and Inflammation, Heals the Sores, Restores Taste and Smell, and Cures

CATARRH

Gives Relief at once for Cold in Head. Apply into the Nostrils.—It is Quickly Absorbed. 50c. Druggists or by mail. ELY BROS., 56 Warren St., N. Y.

$35.00 TO CHICAGO AND RETURN,

Including Hotel accommodations for five days at

FRANK'S
REDUCED RATES
Railroad and Steamship Ticket Agency,
345 and 347 BROADWAY, Cor. Lonard St., N. Y.

Lowest Rates to all parts of the World. Tickets purchased and exchanged. Sleeping Berths reserved. Baggage transferred.

[illegible] AMERICAN TICKET BROKERS' ASSOCIATION.

Self-respecting wheelmen are warned against visiting Rahway, if the Elizabeth Journal's story is true. That always truthful paper says that cyclists are stopped in lonely places by men showing firemen's badges and pretending to be policemen, who demand tribute. The wheelmen get off by paying a dollar to the bogus officers.

The Town Committee of Westfield, realizing the value of local franchise for lighting monopoly, is inclined to squeeze tribute from capital's pocket into the people's treasury. Rival gas concerns want the exclusive right to operate in the town, and with customary corporation greed they are opposed to paying anything for the franchise. But Westfield has a sense of what is right, and the companies declining to pay anything for the privilege of constructing and operating a gas plant find their applications for a free franchise very speedily returned with unanimous refusal of the petitions.

Westfield's sound business sense is further shown in its recent good-roads legislation. This was the passage of one ordinance granting a tax rebate of fifty cents a wheel for all wagons with a tire over four inches wide, and of another to regulate the opening of the streets for connection with water, gas or sewer mains, prescribing a penalty for making an opening without a permit from the town clerk, and requiring a guarantee of $5 to be put into his hands to insure placing the street in good condition again. The town counsel gave as his opinion that the committee could not stop the Union Water Company laying their mains in the streets, but that they could compel them by ordinance to lay them in a proper manner and preserve the excellence of the highways.

Roselle believes in doing things up in style. She recently established a public drinking fountain for man and beast, at the intersection of Westfield and Chestnut avenues, opposite the railroad station. Now, not content with supplying pure water simply, she is planning to have the fountain brilliantly illuminated by electric light at night and having the water kept at a delightful temperature in the torrid season by means of a refrigerating tank. The natives say that one beauty of the fountain is that the supply is from the uncontaminated source at Netherwood, and therefore he who stops to drink need not have his enjoyment marred by speculation as to whether he is the regulation distance from Farmer Jones's cowyard. When will Plainfield follow her small but thrifty sister's good example?

Nowhere is industrial life insurance more prolific than in Plainfield, and in a town where nearly everyone has a policy it will be interesting to know that all New Jersey is shown by the figures to be a paradise for the life-insurance agent. New Jersey is one of the leading life-insurance States of the Union, both as to the amount of business in force and the amount written annually. This is true of industrial insurance as well as of ordinary life. At the beginning of the year 1892 there were 703,042 life-insurance policies in force in this State. During the year 301,212 new policies were issued, and 180,431 terminated, leaving the number of policies in force December 31, 1892, at 823,823.

The majority of these policies were written by industrial companies, and the report shows that out of the total number of policies in force 784,098, representing $87,056,872 of insurance, were written by the industrial companies, and 39,730 policies, representing $98,463,111, were written by the regular life companies.

TRIPLE AFFLICTION.

Sad Bereavement of Lawrence Collins, Whose Sister Grieved to Death Over the Loss of Nephew and Niece.

Heavier blow could not be borne by man than the affliction which weighs down the heart of Lawrence Collins of Scotch Plains.

Within the year Mr. Collins lost two children, a boy and a girl, and now he has lost his sister, Miss Joanna Theresia Collins.

Miss Collins was an estimable woman of 43 years. She had been in excellent health, but the loss of her niece and nephew was a heavy blow, and the grief developed heart disease from which she died.

Mr. Collins is a highly esteemed citizen. He has for 35 years been a resident of Scotch Plains, and for eight years has been the faithful engineer at Scott's Printing Machine Works. Everyone will sympathize deeply with the man of misfortune.

JOHNSTON'S DRIVE IN BAD SHAPE.

This Roadway Needs Immediate Attention.

Much complaint is made of the wretched condition into which Johnston's Drive is being permitted to lapse. The storms have washed great stones loose, and the roadway is rough and dangerous. Dr. O. L. Jenkins, of East Front street, had a $350 horse injured by stumbling and falling in a bad spot a few days ago. The residents of the mountain, notably Chasiee Willis, Louis Walz and John Willis, have spent considerable labor and money on the road out of their own pocket, and they feel that the township should attend to it and put it in shape. All who go driving there in its present condition risk not only their horses' necks but their own.

Just Such as Needed Everywhere.

In its report of the installation of Pastor Peterson at New Market, the Dunellen Call refers to the Plainfield pastor participating as follows:

> The charge to the people as given by the Rev. Dr. A. H. Lewis, of Plainfield, was just such a charge as is needed everywhere, urging upon them the acceptance of their new pastor as a leader as well as a teacher, as one who comes to them as the servant of God. He charged them to avoid fault finding. If they had anything to complain of concerning their minister go at once to him and tell him. He urged them to hold up the pastor's hands with words of encouragement and prayer. The address was listened to attentively by the entire congregation.

Improvements at the Boys' Club.

The Boys' Club rooms at North and Park avenues are now situated on the second floor of the Taylor building, having been removed from the third floor. Superintendent Bond has his office on the North avenue side, and adjoining this are rooms for games, the library, and a room for manual training. Directly back is another room, which can be used as a reading room. It is to be the "quiet" room. Two rooms can be thrown into one, giving large space when necessary. The arrangement of the rooms is much better than before. The club will re-open about September 1.

Shower Bath and Telephone.

The two improvements that were voted in at the last meeting of the Hillside Tennis Club are now completed, and the club is in possession of a fine shower-bath in the dressing room on the second floor and a long-distance telephone which will prove a great convenience to the members.

'Twasn't in the Papers, So Many Got Left.

A considerable number of people got left yesterday, by the Jr. O. U. A. M. excursion, which left at the unusually early hour of 7:45. In their pennywise policy, the committee saw no need of advertising. They made a great mistake in not making any announcement of the hour of starting, in the local newspapers.

THE TIN BANKS IN DANGER.

The Merry-Go-Round, Having Exhausted North Plainfield, Finds Westfield Fruitful.

WESTFIELD, August 18.

Westfield has a merry-go-round. Some folks express it differently, and say the merry-go-round has possession of Westfield. It is an itinerant concern, and consists of a worn and weather-stained tent, twenty-four fierce-looking wooden horses upon a revolving platform, a steam organ that plays "After the Ball is Over" and another tune, and a stationary engine. The fact that the merry-go-round was coming had been heralded among the youngsters far and wide, and they watched for it as only a healthy youngster can watch for a circus or a merry-go-round.

On Monday morning some mysterious-looking baggage was set down in the vacant lot on Prospect and Broad streets, back of the Union County Standard building. The youngsters soon discovered the horses in among the baggage; word was passed around that the merry-go-round was in town; and soon all the boys, big and little, were on the scene. They are there still, and intend to stay as long as does the merry-go-round. On Tuesday the concern was ready for business, and has been running merrily ever since to the tune of falling nickels.

Even the children of a large growth have caught the fever. They go to look and laugh; but they stay to laugh and ride. Authorities on financial matters here are of the opinion that most of the tin savings banks of the village will be forced to suspend if the pressure on them is not lessened. RENSH.

WESTFIELD WARBLINGS.

Little Paragraphs of Current Happenings Among Hiptoyvillians.

Miss Edith Hildebran, a teacher in the Lincoln school, is in Adrian, Mich.

Professor Clarence L. Hewitt, of the Lincoln school, has resigned his position, which the school trustees had again tendered him for the coming year.

Henry F. Alpers died Tuesday of typhoid fever in the Danville Sanatorium, where he had stopped to visit his sick wife on his return trip from Chicago.

The newly elected President of the Presbyterian Christian Endeavor Society is Miss Grace M. Gilby. The society is supporting a Japanese student in Moody's Northfield school, besides giving money frequently for church improvements.

This is the first summer for many years that the Westfield Town Committee has failed to pass a dog ordinance. As a consequence the village is literally going to the bow-wows. Dogs big and little, hungry and well-fed, yaller and spotted, are here, there and everywhere. Editor Pearsall, of The Standard, is righteously indignant at this, and frees his mind on the subject in spirited language which The Press has already quoted.

Rev. N. W. Cadwell left Wednesday for Northern New York State where he will spend three weeks on the paternal farm. "The Dominie" is a great hunter and fisher, with a genuine love in his heart for fields and brooks and blue sky. He is also a great friend of the Rev. Dr. Lewis, of Plainfield; hence it is more than probable that the Doctor will preach here within the next three weeks. Dr. Lewis's sermons are a delight to Westfielders.

WOULDN'T MIND THE DOCTOR.

Plucky Congressman Dunn Refused to Shirk His Country's Call.

Congressman Dunn, who was taken suddenly ill at the outing of the George B. Fielder Association of Jersey City Wednesday, had so far recovered from his indisposition yesterday as to leave Taylor's Hotel, whither he had been removed. He took a train for Washington, where he was booked to speak on the silver question. Mr. Dunn's wife and family were at Lake Hopatcong. His son Frank hastened to Jersey City to attend his sick father only to find that the Congressman, despite the advice of his physicians, had pluckily insisted on going to Washington and had already departed.

Plainfield, Send Yours Along!

To the Bicycle Clubs of Union county:

According to the conditions under which the cup, known as the Saltonstall Cup, for the two-mile track championship of Union county is held, and because a club other than the present holder has expressed a desire to compete for the cup this year, it becomes necessary to take some steps for having a race.

I therefore hereby ask each and every bicycle club in Union county, whether privately notified or not, to send one representative to a meeting to be held for this purpose, Monday evening, Aug. 21, at 8:30, at the club-house of the Elizabeth Athletic Club.

(Signed) HENRY L. SALTONSTALL.
Aug. 17, 1893.

Excellent Diversity.

Worthington's Illustrated Magazine for September shows great diversity of material and an excellent list of contributors. The interest and value of its leading articles, and the fine literary quality of its stories, poems and department matter, are admirably supplemented by fine press work and specially prepared illustrations which make this number as attractive as it is readable. Worthington's Magazine for September, is, like its predecessors, especially adapted to the varied tastes and needs of the American family, and as such may safely be recommended to all who desire bright, wholesome and instructive reading.

Anarchism in the Suburbs.

[From The Dunellen Call.]

On Monday evening as the editor was leaving the editorial office, someone hurled a stone about the size of a good-sized bean over against the door. Aiming a little high, the stone struck the glass in the door, causing it to sound much like the noise of a small pistol. The editor is a brave man, but having heard of assaults, etc., on editors, was startled, the blood fled from his face, and with a frightened face he turned toward his associate who sat protected by his desk and exclaimed in sepulchral tones, "Jo Whittaker, what's that?" and then disappeared in the darkness, leaving those in the office to look out for themselves.

Plainfield Boilers Help Run the Fair.

The Sabbath Recorder in its description of the great Machinery Hall at the World's Fair gives some space to a Plainfield enterprise:

> In the boiler-house plant of this Hall are ten large patent water-tube steam boilers, furnished by the Babcock & Wilcox Company, 30 Cortlandt street, New York city. The president of this company is George H. Babcock, Plainfield, N. J. These boilers are placed here with forty-two others to drive the machinery in this Hall, and to perform work elsewhere in the buildings and on the grounds. They have the capacity of 3,000 horse power, are fed by crude oil from wells in Indiana, and have been in use for nearly a year without any repairs, as cannot be said of nearly all the other boilers. In the Russian exhibit of this Hall is a model of this boiler, and various parts of the large boiler constructed of wrought iron in St. Petersburg. These boilers of Babcock & Wilcox are used in the driving house of the Intramural Railway of the Fair, propelled by electricity generated here. This house is located in the southeastern quarter of the grounds.

This Chicken Was Born Blind.

Frank Weston, one of the Daily Press newsboys, is the owner of a chicken hatched a few days ago without any eyes. The chicken is fed regularly every day by Frank himself, who has to take it in his hand and place food in its bill.

PAULSEN'S HAZARDOUS TRIP.

He Starts on His Risky Voyage Across the Atlantic in a Skiff.

"Chris" Paulsen, the contractor and builder of Rahway, who has built a sixteen-foot Norwegian skiff, in which he intends to cross the Atlantic, completed his arrangements to sail Thursday.

The boat is a novel one in many respects. It is sixteen feet in length; beam, five feet; depth, three feet six inches; length of keel, ten feet. It has a free-board rudder and is sharp at both ends. She will spread 252 feet of canvas. There are two water-tight compartments—one in either end. Large rubber tubes are stretched along the gunwales to add buoyancy. Two tanks holding 100 gallons of water will be taken along. Hardtack will be his only solid food. Enough for two weeks only will be taken, as he will depend on falling in with transatlantic steamships to add to his larder.

Captain Paulsen will take the northern course. His objective point is Stockholm, Sweden, where his parents reside. He expects to make the Shetland Islands in twenty-eight days. His only companion will be his faithful Newfoundland dog Wreck, who has made several sea voyages with him.

Their Ball Team a Fake.

A disgusted lot of people saw a travesty on base-ball in Asbury Park Thursday. The local manager had assured Manager Keller of the Crescents a great team, but shoved a lot of scrub players on him and had to borrow Crescent players to make out a nine. Mr. Keller insisted on having the people's money refunded, and gave the local manager a great dressing down for his deception. That worthy said he might have had a better team but he was learning to be a dentist and had n't time to look for players. He said he didn't pay any salaries. The crowd of Plainfielders who went to the Park purposely to see a good contest were sadly disappoint. If the Asbury Park manager does n't yank teeth any better than he runs a ball team, he 'll make a sorry success.

The shabby appearance of the letter boxes about town is a subject of general disapproval, and some one has truly said that if the good-hearted old man who used to have the Washington Rock annually kalsomined were only here now he would feel like buying a pot of vermillion and sending an artist around to make the boxes presentable. The tint of most of our letter receptacles is now something of a cross between decomposed salmon and over-cooked lobster, and is calculated to breed a nausea in one chronically color-blind.

If the borough Republicans really wanted a good example to follow, they had but to look to Plainfield. Five years ago, Wilton F. Randolph, a Democratic Councilman, resigned from that body. Though the Council was Republican by a large majority, good politics and good custom were followed, and E. D. Bowers was unanimously chosen to succeed him, though Mr. Bowers was a prominent member and active worker in the Cleveland Democratic Club. How's that for a precedent, ye fair-minded, non-partisan Republicans of the Borough Council!

Now that the partisans are in power in North Plainfield who involved the borough in the electric light muddle, it will be in order for all strictly Republican corporations desiring exclusive territory to apply to the monopoly-makers for franchise. For instance, why may not our good friend Mr. Smalley say to the councilmen, Here, I've got a stone crusher, and I want all other owners of stone crushers to take their section of the mountain over to the Plainfield side of that Chinese wall along Green brook! They shan't sell stone on my side of the brook.

Mr. Smalley is a good Republican; in fact, a leader of the Republicans of the borough; and as partisan Republicans whose necks are under the yoke of their dominant leaders the councilmen could not very well refuse a request so in harmony with what was asked of them and what they granted in the case of the electric light monopoly.

On with the merry war! It's a lively pace those Republican thoroughbreds have taken, now that the reins are free.

The electric light question, by the way, is likely to bob up most serenely in another form, ere long, and some people are very suspicious that it is largely responsible for the Republican determination to secure control.

For the Edison company of the borough has been giving miserable service, and Mayor Saunders and the other Democrats of the Council have been hot on its trail. The present contract for street lighting expires in December, and there was danger of the opposition Plainfield company winning the franchise on a lower bid. That would never do, for the North Plainfield company is a financial investment of the good borough Republicans. Hence, at the first opportunity, the Republicans, being left with a majority by the absence of two Democrats, ordered the Plainfield company to take up its poles and walk. That the poles have not been taken up is because the Plainfield company has as its counsel one of the shrewdest corporation lawyers in the country, namely Frank Bergen, and because that counsel is confident he can through the courts maintain his company's right to remain a competitor of the Edison company in the borough. But the Republicans have made not only their first but their second move towards establishing a monopoly for the Edison company. They have succeeded in wresting the majority from the Democrats, and unless all signs fail they will not hesitate to use that majority if necessary in perpetuating the foothold that the Edison company has secured.

—The local postal service has been improved by the closing of the New York afternoon mails at 2 and 5:15, instead of 12:30 and 5:30. The Somerville early afternoon mail now arrives at 2:30 instead of 1:30.

Your Painter

has often wasted time and material in trying to obtain a shade of color, and has even resorted to the use of ready mixed paints, the ingredients of which he knew nothing, because of the difficulty in making a shade of color with white lead. This waste can be avoided by the use of National Lead Company's

Pure White Lead Tinting Colors

These tints are a combination of perfectly pure colors, put up in small cans, and prepared so that one pound will tint 25 pounds of Strictly Pure White Lead to the shade shown on the can. By this means you will have the best paint in the world, because made of the best materials—

Strictly Pure White Lead

and pure colors. Insist on having one of the brands of white lead that are standard, manufactured by the "Old Dutch" process, and known to be strictly pure:

"Atlantic" "Bradley"
"Brooklyn" "Jewett"
"Ulster"

These brands of Strictly Pure White Lead and National Lead Co.'s Pure White Lead Tinting Colors are for sale by the most reliable dealers in paints everywhere. If you are going to paint, it will pay you to send to us for a book containing information that may save you many a dollar; it will only cost you a postal card.

NATIONAL LEAD CO.,
1 Broadway, New York.

THE ITALIAN EXHIBIT.

Wonderful Things to Be Seen in Manufactures Building.

Unfortunately the Government at Rome Applied Too Late for Space, Else Italy's Display Would Be a Great One Indeed.

[Special World's Fair Letter.]

There is just one thing that Italy lacks at the world's fair to call its exhibit a truly great one, and that one thing is space. As a matter of fact, the priceless objects which she has sent over here would require at least double the space that could be accorded them, in order to make the showing and produce the effect which they otherwise would. Instead of barely 100,000 square feet, Italy ought to have 200,000. As it is, her wonderful artistic products are crowded into so insignificant a space, are so entirely devoid of that outward setting, have such a poor background, and are wedged in so tightly that the effect is more than half lost. In Manufactures building, where, of course, the main exhibit is made, the Italian sections is almost wholly in the dark. Light filters through so sparingly that in places one can barely distinguish the colors and outlines of the objects on view. This regrettable state of things is, however, easily explained. Italy came too late. For a long time it looked as if she would make no display at all at our exposition, especially since her government had given it out that no appropriation would be made. Meanwhile France, Germany and England had been here, had chosen the best sites, and picked out all the space they needed, and Italy had to be contented with the leavings when she finally had made up her mind to join in.

The exposition management has done as well by Italy as circumstances permitted, and they have increased the originally allotted space several times since. But the additionally granted space is not the best imaginable, and it is cut off from the main Italian section in Manufactures building, so that many visitors do not even know of the various Italian annexes. The Milanese silk exhibit, a magnificent one, is located in one of these annexes. So is the splendid exhibit made by Gargiulo, of Sorrento, in wood mosaics, the piano exhibit, etc. Up in the galleries in the liberal arts department, some 5,000 square feet are given up to a display of books, artistic furniture and other industries.

The main features of the Italian exhibit are furniture, especially inlaid and sculptured; jewelry, especially filigree and coral; marble and wooden statuary; hammered iron work; damasks and other heavy silk goods; hats, felt and straw; musical instruments; chemicals, drugs and medicines; books, photographs, engravings and wines. There is not enough space at my disposal to speak fully of all the treasures for mind and eye shown by Italy. To speak generally it may be said that Italy's glory has not departed—that is very evident. Her art is still alive and vigorous, and seeks constantly new domains in which to shine. Her wood sculpturing, for instance, is quite novel and original. Toso, of Venice (a great artist, by the way, who died suddenly from asphyxiation one night, while sleeping in a hotel near the world's fair grounds) shows some remarkable samples of his skill—as the double statuette of Marguerite and Mephisto, the rear part being a carved representation of the latter, while the front portion shows the pretty maiden of Goethe's poem. This statuette has been sold, at the price of $1,200, to Potter Palmer.

Neill, of Florence, has fine bronzes, and Andreoni both marble and bronze statuettes. An unusually fine exhibit is a heavy ebony table, made by Mariani, of Milan, elaborately inlaid with ivory, the picture thus formed being that of a battle scene, full of life and motion. The Venice laces are stored in a large pavilion erected by a big firm that employs 5,000 lacemakers. There you will see laces of every kind, from two cents the yard up to a single piece—a dress front—that costs $1,000. Polychrome laces, in different shades, are a specialty of this firm and were invented, a few years ago, by one of its members. A fine plate of silver, about three feet in diameter and valued at $20,000, is an exhibit by a Milan firm. The chasing is most elaborate and intricate, and the tales told by it, chosen from the mythological lore of the ancients, number by the score. The man who made this remarkably fine piece, Franzosi, was engaged upon it for ten years. An enameled silver coffee set, valued at $12,000, is also a curious creation of the artisan's fancy, for on its pieces is portrayed the history of the world, i. e., of the leading events since the earliest period. In books, too, Italy is very strong, especially in editions de luxe.

In Horticultural building is a fine and extensive exhibit of Italian wines—such as Marsala, Chianti, Ruffino, Barolo, Aetna wines, Lachrymae Christi, sparkling Muscats—120 exhibitors in all. But as the Italian commissioner in charge of this department, the Cavaliere T. Silcombra, resignedly remarked: "California beats Italy in wines." He had just sent a report to his government that it was no use for Italy to try and compete with us in wines—they were both cheaper and better here. In Agricultural building there are olive oil and hemp, preserves and dried fruit, seeds and grains, liquors and cordials, caramels and honey, soap, etc., but no very large nor good display.

The Columbian caravels (made in reduced size after the original) sent as a loan exhibit by the city of Genoa, are to be seen in Transportation building, and so are models of merchant marine vessels, both steamers and sailing craft. In Electricity building a Milan firm shows electric lighting apparatus, and as globes, insulators, dynamos, etc. In Mining building there is marble of every kind, rough and hewn, also sulphur and quite an assortment of cement, such as used in Milan and Treviso for colored mosaic work. At the Woman's building there are art treasures due to the deft fingers of the Italian ladies—miniature paintings and embroideries, tapestries and dainty wood carving, laces and sculpturing. But what attracts by far the greatest attention is the priceless collection of laces sent as a loan by Queen Margherita, embracing perfect specimens from the first beginnings to the latest. Our government gave bond in the sum of $600,000 for the safe return of these precious laces, which in their aggregate are unique.

Lastly must be mentioned the Italian section in the Fine Arts palace, where eight rooms are occupied by a fairly representative collection of the works of Italian artists of the present day. There are some 300 statues and busts, fashioned out of marble and clay, terra cotta and alabaster, bronze and silver and copper and brass. Apolloni, of Rome, has a $10,000 statue of Carrara marble on view, and Ferrari has also some fine sculptures there. In paintings I may cite a fine portrait of Margini by Bianchi, of Milan; some good marine pictures by Ciardi, of Venice; the genre paintings (of all themes from everyday life in the city of lagoons) of Novo; some fine canvases by Prof. Corrodi, of Rome; a large number of landscapes by Carcano, of Milan, and some conscientious work by Lancerotto, Milesi and Fragiacomo. On the whole, though, the Italian fine arts section is not of as fine grade as the German or French, barely on a par with the British. Italian art, in fact, is strongest in Manufactures building, where it is applied, and most skillfully, too.

WOLF VON SCHIERBRAND.

The Family from Kansas.

Kansas will exhibit at the world's fair a family of five persons, the aggregate weight of the father, two sons and a daughter being 1,100 pounds. The father and mother, John Clarry and wife, were in Topeka the other day arranging for the trip to Chicago. Mr. Clarry weighs 300 pounds, and the remainder of the family are proportionately large. He is a farmer, residing near Pleasant Run, Pottawatomie county. He says the exhibit of his family ought to establish the fact that Kansas prairies can grow big people as well as big crops.

VERY fashionable for dressy occasions are cream-white silk gloves stitched very delicately in black.

THE newest belts are those of several rows of beads held together by bands of finely chased imitation gold.

A NEW variation of the standard navy-blue costume is one trimmed with black satin and white lace insertion.

PALE blue is a favorite shade with Princess May, which accounts for its being just now one of the most popular colors.

FASHIONABLE blazers and reefers are of duck, pique and linen sacking and have all the fit and finish of a tailor-made garment.

NEVER was lace more popular than it is at the present time. From thirty to forty yards are used on a single silk-muslin costume.

IT is neck and neck this season between lightweight, delicately colored wools and silks. Indeed, at the present moment the former are considered not only more youthful but more chic than the latter.

AN easy way to freshen up an old waist is to add a flounce of lace, falling from the neckband in straight folds nearly to the waist line in front, forming epaulets on the shoulders and a collar in the back, but kept all in one piece.

AMONG the very handsome thin dresses are those of gauze brocaded in flowers. The skirts of these dresses are trimmed with valenciennes lace ruches, and the waist is formed of lengthwise puffs of the gauze separated by valenciennes insertion.

AMONG the pretty midsummer dresses are those of pale ecru batiste in princess form, fastened at the back. They are made over slips of pale-yellow and are shaped to the figure by narrow lengthwise tucks and trimmed with drooping bretelles of guipure lace.

Railroads.

The Pennsylvania Railroad.

The Standard Railway of America

[illegible]

Central Railroad of New Jersey.

(Anthracite coal used exclusively, insuring cleanliness and comfort.)

[illegible]

WESTWARD CONNECTIONS.

[illegible]

TELEPHONE COMPANY !

SPEAKING CONNECTION WITH OVER 11,000 SUBSCRIBERS—PROTECTION FROM FIRE AND BURGLARS, PLAINFIELD, N. J.

Central Office—19 North Avenue.

Subscriber's Name	Address.
Albion Hotel, The	Park av and 5th st
Ames, C. I.	15 Crescent ave.
Alert Hose Co., No 1	Madison ave.
Ackerman, Mrs. J. E.	22 West 7th street
Adams, Dr D G	40 Grove st
Brakeley, F W	[illegible]
Brokaw, Isaac F	Bound Brook
Babcock, Geo H	8th and Union sts.
Barkalow & Dunn	18 North ave.
Barnes, W. C., M. D.	Cor. Front & Central Av.
Bartholf, John	Central ave. and 8th st.
Beardsley, J B	Park av and 3d st
Berg, Jos F, M D	10 E 5th st
Board of Education—5th st, 8th and Union sts
Booth, E E	62 Madison ave
	8th & Liberty, 8th & Monroe
Clark, E B	2 Warawood place
Children's Home	Jackson ave.
Coward, James T	Richmond and Front sts.
Constitutionalist Office	5 North ave.
Cook, A D & Bro	Park ave and RR.
Cooley, Dr J E	Manning and Westervelt aves.
Cox, Rowland	[illegible]
Chapman, Mrs. F. A.	9 Third Place
Cruikshank, S. A.	126 Carlton avenue
Carman, J H, M D	40 Somerset st
Chase, B F M	Somerset st
Central Pharmacy, (J H Leggett, Mgr)	Park ave and Front st
Daily Press	3 North ave.
Depew, Mrs. E. M.	12 Crescent ave.
Day, Frank	29 W. Fourth st.
Davis, Dr T S	Cor 6th st & Park av
Day, E M	Rockview ave
Demarest, P M	27 Park av
Demarest, John H	54 E 7th st
Decker, T—pay station	Westfield, N J
DeGraff, James	20 E 9th st
Doane, T O—Chief P F D	40 W 5th st
Dollner, S L	151 Madison av
Davis & Stevens, coal and wood	Office W Front
Endicott, Dr Geo W	Park ave. and 4th st.
Evening News, T. W. Morrison, Editor	1 Som't st.
Engine No 1	West 3d st.
Engine No 2	Front st.
Engine No 3	Somerset st.
Evans, Geo C	37 Washington ave
Fisk, Chas. J.	29 West Seventh St
Fanwood, pay station	Fanwood station
Freight House	C. RR. Depot.
French, F M & Sons	Somerset st.
Fritts, Dr J T	73 Park ave.
Fleming, Howard	28 Park avenue
Fisk, Pliny	6 W 7th st
French, C Frank	60 Somerset st
Grant, Geo W, Chief of Police	26 W 6th st
Goddard, C M	17 Third Place.
Griffen, A M	13 E Front st.
Gonzales, M. D., W F	5th and New sts
Gilbert, A.	Cor Central av & 8th st
Howell & Hardy	North Avenue
Heyniger, L.	21 & 23 Somerset street.
Hageman, B. A.	107 Sycamore avenue.
Hodges, Dr. Ellis W	48 East Front st.
Hyde, Chas.	141 Front street.
[illegible]	[illegible]

TELEPHONE TOLL RATES.

FOR FIVE MINUTES CONVERSATION.

PLAINFIELD, NEW JERSEY

[illegible]

TWENTY Years experience in the business.

SECOND STREET, 3 doors above Post-office

[illegible]

ALBERT HEDDEN,
Livery and Boarding Stables
FOURTH STREET,

[illegible]

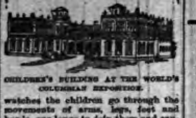
CHILDREN'S BUILDING.

A World's Fair Structure of Extraordinary Interest.

Description of Its Most Attractive and Utilitarian Features — Where the Babies Are Cared For—A Collection of Pledges.

No one who is interested in children can fail to find much interest in the Children's building at the fair, and we doubt not that some who do not include themselves in that category will give more than a passing glance. The building is prettily decorated on the outside and is built with an open court in the center, extending to the second story.

In this court are various appliances for gymnastic exercises, which boys and girls enjoy alike. Here at certain hours of the day, a class in physical exercise is led by a teacher. As one watches the children go through the movements of arms, legs, feet and heads, one longs to join them and cannot but feel that their muscles will be developed and more graceful actions will be the result of such work.



CHILDREN'S BUILDING AT THE WORLD'S COLUMBIAN EXPOSITION.

On the second floor are several rooms, devoted to sloyd, a model kindergarten, kitchen garden, the teaching of deaf and dumb children to speak, etc. In each of these, practical demonstrations are given at different hours of the day.

Where many of the visitors linger the longest is the roof of the building, which is the children's playground. Here, protected from the sun by an awning and from all danger of falling to the ground by wire netting six feet high around the edge, a group of merry boys and girls were playing. Some were sliding down a parlor toboggan, laughing heartily as one and another slipped, coming together in a heap. Others were sitting in little chairs amusing themselves in other ways or talking with the visitors, for whom benches were provided. Each child child wore attached to its clothing a brass tag with a number. This serves to identify the child by its mother, who is enjoying the fair in comfort, feeling that her child is being cared for in comfort, with no fears that its health will be endangered by heat or fatigue.

On the lower floor are the rooms where the babies are cared for. Dainty cradles and rugs for those who are old enough to sit alone, with rattles and other suitable playthings, are provided in abundance, to be viewed, however, through glass doors. Very wisely, visitors are not allowed in these rooms except by special permission. Many cases arranged around the walls are filled with toys and children's books. In the upper halls are also specimens of children's work, drawings, etc. One very creditable painting is marked the work of a little girl thirteen years old.

In one room the red, blue and green temperance pledge cards which have been signed by children throughout the country are festooned in graceful loops. Altogether, we think many will find this a spot of great interest.

The Rock That Moses "Smote."

The famous "Rock in Horeb," anciently called the "Rock of Massah," and at present known throughout the orient as the "Stone of the Miraculous Fountain," being the identical rock which Moses struck with his rod in order to give water to the children of Israel, is religiously preserved and guarded even down to this late date. Dr. Shaw in his book, "Shaw's Travels," page 352, says: "It is a block of granite about six yards square, lying tottering and loose in the middle of the valley of Rephidim, and seems to have originally been a part of Mount Sinai." The action of the waters of that miraculous fountain, as related in the 17th chapter of Exodus, hollowed a channel about 2 inches deep and more than twice that broad across the face of the rock, this not upon unsupported testimony, but upon the word of such men as Rev. Dr. Shaw, Dr. Pocock, Lieut. Clogher and other eminent scholars and travelers. M. Beaumgorton, a German nobleman who visited the "Rock of Horeb" in the year 1507, declares his belief in the generally accepted story of it being the rock of Moses' famous fountain. See "Churchill's Collection of Voyages," volume 1, page 397.

A Snake Laboratory Founded.

An enlightened Bengali, Babu Govind Chandra Laha, has contributed 15,000 rupees toward the expenses of a snake laboratory at Calcutta. Two main lines of research will be followed in the laboratory. So-called cures for snake bites will be tested under strictly scientific conditions, and the properties of the snake poison as such will be investigated. The laboratory will be the only institution of its kind in the world, and the committee of the Calcutta Zoological gardens which has taken the matter in hand expects that it will be largely resorted to by the scientific inquirers who visit India during cold weather. In accordance with the practice of scientific laboratories in Europe a charge will be made for the use of tables and instruments at a rate sufficient to cover working expenses. Work done on behalf of the government will also be charged for according to a regular scale.

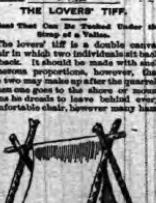
Then and Now.

In the monster newspaper printing presses of to-day the roll of paper is from four to six miles long, and the daily papers using such presses are legion in number. When Benjamin Franklin proposed to start a newspaper his mother tried to dissuade him from the undertaking, urging that there were already two papers in America and there was no room for another.

THE LOVERS' TIFF.

A Seat That Can Be Tucked Under the Strap of a Valise.

The lovers' tiff is a double canvas chair in which two individuals sit back to back. It should be made with such generous proportions, however, that the two may make up after the quarrel. When one goes to the shore or mountains he dreads to leave behind every comfortable chair, however many hammocks are packed, while it is equally impossible to carry them. But the lovers' tiff anybody can enjoy because it goes everywhere merely tucked under the strap of a satchel. In fact, only the bare canvas is carried. When the camp ground is reached four poles are quickly cut and set up and three short pieces bound to them Indian style by heavy cords. Then the middle of the canvas is secured to the top cross bar, and either end to the bottom pieces. The poles should be a trifle heavier than bean poles, and eight feet long; the cross sticks four feet. Plunged into the sod an inch, the legs of this chair never spread. It may be used on the veranda with comfort, if a light straddle be made to connect the two lower cross bars.—American Agriculturist.



A PORTABLE TIFF.

HOUSEHOLD HINTS.

BORAX will take out water marks from silk.

A LITTLE paraffine rubbed on screws will make them enter wood more easily. [illegible]

MISCELLANEOUS MISCELLANEOUS.

E. P. THORN,
No. 17 Park Avenue,
PLAINFIELD, N. J.

Pure Wines and Liquors,
For Family and Medicinal Use,
A SPECIALTY.

3-25-y

CASTORIA
for Infants and Children.

THIRTY years' observation of Castoria with the patronage of millions of persons, permit us to speak of it without guessing. It is unquestionably the best remedy for Infants and Children the world has ever known. It is harmless. Children like it. It gives them health. It will save their lives. In it Mothers have something which is absolutely safe and practically perfect as a child's medicine.

Castoria destroys Worms.
Castoria allays Feverishness.
Castoria prevents vomiting Sour Curd.
Castoria cures Diarrhoea and Wind Colic.
Castoria relieves Teething Troubles.
Castoria cures Constipation and Flatulency.

Castoria neutralizes the effects of carbonic acid gas or poisonous air.
Castoria does not contain morphine, opium, or other narcotic property.
Castoria assimilates the food, regulates the stomach and bowels, giving healthy and natural sleep.
Castoria is put up in one-size bottles only. It is not sold in bulk.
Don't allow any one to sell you anything else on the plea or promise that it is "just as good" and "will answer every purpose."
See that you get C-A-S-T-O-R-I-A.

The fac-simile signature of Chas H. Fletcher is on every wrapper.

Children Cry for Pitcher's Castoria.

ies and are much sought after by reason of their artistic coloring.

NERVOUS headache may be greatly relieved by the application of hot water to the temples and the back of the neck, particularly if a hot foot bath is used at the same time.

BRASS should be cleaned at least once a week. Alcohol, spirits of turpentine, benzine or kerosene will generally remove all ordinary spots on this metal. The final cleansing and polishing should be done with powdered rotten-stone, oil and chamois skin.

THERE is only one right way to clean wall paper, and that is with a week-old loaf of bread cut in halves. Begin at the top of the wall and wipe downward with the crumb side of the loaf, making the stroke a half yard or so in length. Never rub crosswise or upwards, but always downward. Generally after this operation the paper will look as good as new.

A BIT of delicately tinted cheese cloth in Nile green crumpled up carelessly as a table center, under a glass bowl of cool water lilies, is as pretty a thing as eyes can rest on. If you get an artistic crumple you can "catch" it with a stitch here and there to an underlying square of white cotton crinoline, so that it will be always ready while its freshness lasts.

HOW TO BREATHE.

A Knowledge Possessed by Scarcely One Person in a Hundred.

Comparatively few people pay much if any attention to their breathing. They generally regard this as one of the automatic movements of the body, like the beating of the heart and circulation of the blood, which in a healthy body regulate themselves without taking thought about them. If men and women were each day employed at work in the open air that will exercise the muscles of arms, shoulders and the upper portion of their bodies, this carelessness about breathing may do little harm. The work will compel the person doing it to take full breaths of fresh air, and this of itself is sufficient to give the lungs the natural expansion that they need. But there are millions who do not work in the open air, and a large part of these scarcely exercise the upper parts of their bodies. For all such, attention to correct breathing is the very first condition of health, for upon deep, full breathing must depend the healthful beating of the heart that is required to keep up active circulation of the blood.—Good Housekeeping.

Pennsylvania Apple Butter.

A good supply of apple butter is a great comfort in winter time. Boil down new cider to half. Pare, cut and core equal quantities of sweet and sour apples. Put the sweet apples in a kettle to soften a little first, as they are the hardest. Add enough boiled cider to cook them. After boiling half an hour, stirring often, put in the sour apples and add more boiled cider, with molasses to sweeten moderately. Boil until tender, stirring to prevent burning. Pack in firkins or stone jars for winter use.

Bedspreads in a New Role.

Country cousins who receive visits from city relations this summer are warned to put their blue and white homespun bedspreads under lock and key. Since these once-despised articles became the fashion for portieres—and very effective they are, too, and respected by artistic taste—country houses are being stripped of them as they were of blue Canton ware and mahogany furniture.

How the Japanese Arrange Flowers.

The Japanese secure the fine poise their flowers have when arranged by putting them in sand instead of water. The beauty of the stems is, however, lost by this arrangement, and the flowers fade sooner.

Cause for Suspicion.

Jester—I don't like to distrust a man before I really know anything of him; but, to be candid, I would be inclined to put very little faith in that chap you just introduced me to.

Quester—And why, pray?

Jester—Because he's such a stutterer.

Quester—Pshaw! How can a misfortune of that kind be interpreted as impugning a man's honor?

Jester—Readily enough. It seems to be the most natural thing in the world for him to break his word.—Boston Courier.

The Spring Chicken Again.

Heavy Tragedian (at railway hotel)—Prithee, landlord, dwells there within the precincts of this hamlet a machinist?

Landlord—A machinist? Yes, sir.

Tragedian—Then take to him this bird of many springs. Bid him wrench asunder those iron limbs, and then, for our ingalement, to chisel slices from its unyielding bosom, for we would dine. [illegible]

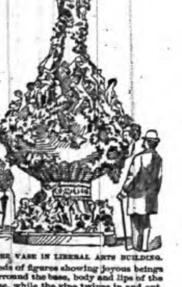
DORE'S BRONZE VASE.

The Wonder and Admiration of All Visitors to the Fair.

When one speaks of a vase the inference is that a table ornament is meant. This vase, however, is 13 feet high, 7 feet in diameter and weighs nearly three tons, while its cash value in France is $20,000. If sold to remain in this country this will be increased by the amount of the duty.

Large as is the vase, its lines are of such grace that its size is never clearly apparent at a distance. The vase is to be seen in the French section in the Liberal Arts building. It has been given fine position, the location being just south of the display of Gobelin tapestries and Sevres wares, in the central court of the exhibit.

The vase has been named "The Poem of the Vine," its decorations being symbolical of its title. On a broad base rests the body of the vase, which is globular, receding, with a gentle curve to the narrow neck. Hundreds of figures showing joyous beings surround the base, body and lips of the vase, while the vine twines in and out, its persistency being marked while not obtrusive. The illustration shows what is generally considered the front view. On either side the vine is wreathed to form a chaplet. At the left Bacchus, with each arm around a Cupid, holds aloft a cup. To the right Venus is teaching a Cupid the use of the bow and arrow. Elsewhere are to be seen satyrs and bacchantes.



DORE VASE IN LIBERAL ARTS BUILDING.

But Cupids are everywhere. Baby faces peer from the vine leaves and frolic in the depths of the vase. A lizard causes consternation among some frolicsome youngsters. Others are playing with beetles, flies, bees and butterflies. A snake has attractions for some of the infants, while others content themselves with watching the efforts of their companions.

With all this wealth of detail the work is not overcrowded. At a distance the effect is of simplicity. It is only when close inspection is made that the wonderful imaginative powers of the artist are made apparent.

As with all others of his greater creations, Dore's style is indelibly stamped on this work. No other artist of his time could have achieved it.

It Takes Material.

"Let see," said the lady, "how many yards are there here?"

"Fourteen yards, madam," answered the salesman.

"Enough for a dress?"

"Quite enough."

"Then give me fourteen yards more."

"For another dress?"

"No, for sleeves."—N. Y. Press.

It Didn't Cure.

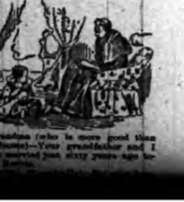
Biffers—You are not looking well, old man.

Tiffers—I am not well, not at all well. I have been to the doctor a dozen times, but it hasn't done a particle of good.

"Did you follow his advice?"

"N-o, but I paid his bill."—N. Y. Weekly.

EXTREMELY DISRESPECTFUL.



Grandma (who is more good than handsome)—Your grandfather and I were married just sixty years ago to-day, Bessie. [illegible]

THE CONSTITUTIONALIST.

VOL. XXVI. PLAINFIELD, N. J., THURSDAY, AUGUST 31, 1893. No 35.

"Support the Constitution, which is the cement of the Union, as well in its limitations as in its authorities."—MADISON.

Rates of Advertising

Space	1 (weeks)	2	3	1 (months)	2	3	6	12
[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]

All Electro's must be solid metal.

Double cols. 50 per ct. advance of above rates.

PROFESSIONAL CARDS.

JACKSON & CODINGTON, Counsellors-at-Law, Commissioners of Deeds, Masters-in-Chancery, Notaries Public. Offices corner of Park avenue and Second street.—jedf

GEORGE W. DAY, General Auctioneer. Sales of Personal Property solicited. P. O. Box 133, Dunellen, N. J., or address in case of CONSTITUTIONALIST. Terms reasonable.

DR. CHARLES H. THEIMS, Dentist, 9 West Front street. A new local anesthetic application for extracting teeth without pain. Gold filling a specialty.—jedf

BUSINESS CARDS.

P. P. VanArsdale, PIANO TUNER. Instruments put in thorough order. Terms reasonable. Pianos and Organs for sale and to let. Orders by postal, P. O. box 160, or left at Willett's shoe store, No. 8 Park avenue, will receive prompt attention. Residence 25 E. Front street, corner Elm street.

John Chandler, CARPENTER AND BUILDER, Plainfield, N. J. Residence and shop No. 36 East Third street. Jobbing promptly attended to. apiy

E. B. MAYNARD, PRACTICAL BARBER AND Artistic Hair Dresser, No. 26 PARK AVENUE. Ladies' and Children's Hair Cutting done at their residences. Shaving, Shampooing, etc., satisfactorily performed.

GARNEY BROTHERS, Agents, 7 West Front St. TINNERS, PLUMBERS, GAS FITTERS. PARLOR STOVES, COOK STOVES, HEATERS.

Grates and Bricks for all kinds of Stoves can be found here at Jobbers' prices. Bring your Tinware mending to us. The best Tinners, the best Plumbers, and the best Gas-fitters in this section. We use none but the very best of materials, and our work always gives satisfaction.

Keys of All Kinds are Made Here. Tinware Made to Order. Ranges, Brick and Portable Furnaces SANITARY PLUMBING.

Parlor Stoves, Furnaces, Ranges, Water Piping, Plumbing, Heater Work, Tinning, Hardware. A. M. GRIFFEN, 13 East Front Street. TELEPHONE CALL, 6. 11 11-tf

Beautiful Assortment! Furniture! Largest Assortment! Best Goods! Lowest Prices! Ever Offered in Plainfield! 23, 25 and 27 PARK AVE. Garret Q. Packer.

LEWIS B. CODDINGTON, (Successor to T. J. Carey.) Furniture and Freight Express! OFFICE—26 W. FRONT ST. Large Covered Vans or Trucks. Goods delivered to any part of the U. S. Satisfaction guaranteed. Charges reasonable. P. O. Box 88. Piano moving a specialty.

SANITARY PLUMBING, Brick and Portable Furnaces, GAS FITTING, TIN ROOFING, Etc. Etc.

I am prepared to do any of the above branches in a strictly first-class sanitary and workmanship manner. Having associated myself with the Master Plumbers Association of New York City, I employ none but first-class mechanics and personal use. [illegible]

D. W. LITTELL, No. 6 North Ave., Plainfield, N. J.

MISCELLANEOUS.

FOR MALARIA, GENERAL DEBILITY AND ALL STOMACH TROUBLES COLES' PERUVIAN BARK AND WILD CHERRY BITTERS ARE THE BEST. A Vegetable Substitute for Quinine. SOLD BY ALL DRUGGISTS. Price, 50 cents and $1.00 per Bottle. PREPARED ONLY BY THE D. F. COLES DRUG AND MFG. CO. RAHWAY, N. J. 1-27-y

Jas. M. Dunn, Dealer in GROCERIES, PROVISIONS Vegetables, Fruits, etc. No. 36 Park Ave. OPPOSITE NORTH AVENUE. THORBURN & CO'S GARDEN SEEDS BEST IN THE WORLD. ALL GOODS DELIVERED FREE OF CHARGE.

ESTABLISHED 1866. C. E. & J. W. BROWN, (Successors to G. F. & C. E. Brown & Co.) Importers, Wholesale and Retail Dealers in WALL PAPER. 321 Canal Street, NEW YORK. English Tiles, Anaglypta, Hand, Leather Raised Flock Papers, &c. Burlaps for Walls. Manufacturers of Window Shades. 3-23-tf

LIVERY.

REMOVAL. A. M. SEGUINE, Has removed his office to No. 8 West Second Street, (Salvation Army building) Where all orders left for carriages will receive prompt attention. TELEPHONE CALL, NO. 24. Your patronage is respectfully solicited. A. M. SEGUINE.

RICKERT'S ACCOMMODATION EXPRESS. OFFICE—Vanderbeek's Music Store, Park avenue. The "Accommodation Express" will attend to the general carrying business of the city, delivering goods or baggage to and from the depot, or from place to place. Moving of Furniture, Pianos, etc., with care and safety.

INSURANCE.

WILLIAM A. WOODRUFF, FIRE AND LIFE INSURANCE AGENT, Office cor. Front St. and Park Ave., PLAINFIELD, N. J. Real Estate for Sale & Exchange. MONEY TO LOAN On Approved Security.

Fresh Garden Seeds AND FERTILIZERS, Farm and Garden Implements, Lawn Mowers Refrigerators, Ice Cream Freezers Gasolene Stoves, Hardware, Tools, etc. J. J. HEIDELOFF, No. 13 Somerset St. 4-18-tf

CANOPIES For Weddings, Parties, Etc., TO HIRE. CHARGES REASONABLE Hugo Weigman, 30 EAST FRONT STREET, PLAINFIELD, N. J.

THE PLAINFIELD PACKING HOUSE 25 West Front Street, Would respectfully inform its patrons that in addition to its usual stock of Fresh, Salt and Smoked Goods. It has added a full line of Fresh Beef, Lamb, Veal, Mutton & Poultry, Which it is prepared to sell at Reasonable Prices! All goods delivered free of charge. Telephone 141. C. M. ULRICH.

TOBACCO, SEGARS, &c.

B. EGGERDING, No. 17 Park Avenue, PLAINFIELD, N. J. Manufacturer of the Celebrated C. O. D. CIGAR, The best 5 cent cigar in the State, and made on the premises from the finest Havana. CLEAR HAVANA SEGARS A SPECIALTY. A large assortment of the Choicest Brands of Foreign and Domestic Cigars, Cigarettes and Tobaccos always on hand. Smokers Articles in Great Variety.

A. WOLFF, Manufacturer of CIGARS, And dealer in all kinds of Smoking and Chewing Tobacco, and smokers' articles, has removed from 12 W. Front street, to 32 West Front, one door east of Madison avenue, and solicits the patronage of his friends, and the public generally.

PAINTERS & PAINTERS SUPPLIES.

Paints, Varnishes, Glass. WINDOW SHADES AND FIXTURES. WALL PAPERS! PAPER HANGING A SPECIALTY. A. SWALM, No. 6 North Avenue, Plainfield.

I. A. WOOLSTON. J. F. BUCKLE. Woolston & Buckle, PAINTERS, Wall Papers, PAINTER'S SUPPLIES. 30 NORTH AVENUE

G. Dickinson
Optician
13 Park Ave
Plainfield N.J.

WHATEVER form of printed matter you require we can be of service to you; whether it be

Letter Headings,
Circulars,
Programmes, Menus
Addresses,
Memorials,
By-Laws of Societies,
Prospectuses and Reports of Financial Associations, or any other matter for Public or Private Circulation.
Everything

WEEKLY CONSTITUTIONALIST
DAILY PRESS
(Chautauqua Building),
PLAINFIELD N. J

TOOK PLAINFIELD FOR HEAVEN.

"NO SODA ON SUNDAY" DISTRESSES CYCLING VISITORS.

Chatty Story of Their Trip Over the County Roads—How Bad They Felt Over Their Unsatisfied Thirst, Can Be Judged from the Distressing Quality of Their Verse.

(From The Outlook, Monthly Bulletin of the Jersey City Athletic Club.)

It is to be regretted that our members do not ride together more, so that our strength can be more apparent. But, as has been said so often, before, runs are unpopular, the riders who enter the sport with the idea of getting the most pleasure from it preferring to ride in parties of from two to four. Club runs of short distances grow monotonous to the rambling disposition so surely acquired by older riders, and longer trips are preferred. Good roads, of course, are preferable to poor ones, but much of the pleasure of wheeling is lost by confining ourselves too closely to them. A lover of Nature will sacrifice a little of the comfort of smooth riding to the more exhilarating experiences of discovery and novelty. The celebrated roads of Union county are familiar to most riders; but there are hundreds who are entirely unfamiliar with the beautiful country surrounding the beaten highways. By leaving the prescribed routes occasionally and taking a trip over a road which perhaps is not so smooth and more hilly, and riding at random over the sections through which they wind, a rider will often open his eyes in astonishment at some quaint or beautiful spot which until that minute was unknown to him, although probably within easy riding distance of his own home. It will be found so in almost any section. Some wheelmen tire of their steeds because they have never indulged in this exploration. Of course, there are few places within a radius of fifty or one hundred miles that are not perfectly familiar to some riders, but it is not generally so, and we advocate this practice as a means of adding still more to the never-ending enjoyment that falls to the lot of bicyclists. We recall with delight a little trip which we, a party of six, took a few weeks since. It was Sunday morning, and, having met with no definite plan as to direction or distance, fell into the ruts and were soon speeding toward Plainfield over the usual course, more familiar to us all than the streets of our own town. After dinner we started to run home, when one of the party, noted for his hatred of beaten paths, and, we are sorry to say, with a reputation of being able to find the worst roads in existence, suggested our varying the monotony of a return trip over the same course we had pursued from home, by returning by the way of the old "deserted village" of Feltville. It was not entirely new to all of us, but we readily fell in with the suggestion, and started for Scotch Plains and the country beyond. As we turned toward Feltville (that was), a very steep hill was encountered, which, of course, we could all ride easily enough, but preferred to walk. We mastered that and found ourselves at the foot of the next one, steeper and more of it. We climbed number three, and still went on. We passed over some rough road; we had to climb more hills; the day was hot, and the hills tired us, but we venture to say that there is no one in the party who would not thoroughly enjoy a repetition of the trip. The hills were more than paid for by the "coasts" afforded by the roads again leading to the level. The country through which we passed was simply grand; the "deserted village" is no more deserted, and furnishes one of the prettiest little summer resorts to be found within many hours, railroad ride, Feltville, New Providence, Summit, Millburn, Irvington, Newark and home. The way was a little longer, we worked a little harder and covered the ground more slowly; but we were amply repaid for changing our course. We mention this merely as a sample of what may be found almost anywhere. Riding over ordinary country roads, where we have to walk a short distance occasionally, where one has the time, is often more enjoyable than sticking to macadam.

We have the highest respect for the City which endeavors to look religious on Sundays. We admire the spirit which actuates the City Fathers to enforce the observance of the law prohibiting the sale of intoxicating liquors on that day. We can even stand a law which will try to close the saloons at all times. But when a community gets so awfully good that it is impossible for a tired, thirsty wheelman to get a drink of soda water in a drug store as he passes through the town on Sunday, then we say, "Oh My!" It may seem strange, but we have experienced that—where do you suppose it was? Why, in the City of Plainfield! To say that the discovery on our part, that such was the existing condition of things, and that the most persuasive eloquence could not change it, was conducive to moral improvement, would be saying what was not true. It is bad enough to refuse a drink of soda water to a man. When the dear girls are denied that innocent pleasure, it is positively cruel. The atmosphere above the heads of the men took on an azure hue. The effect on the ladies was poetry.

Here is one of the results:

HEAVEN VERSUS PLAINFIELD.

By Julia Harvey Carrington.

St Peter was in a talkative mood,
When I met him the other day,
"We thought we had things about perfect,"
He said, "but we've been making improvements up our way."

We've had to build an annex to Heaven—
An improvement on the part that is old;
For some folks were not satisfied with milk and honey,
And streets paved only with Gold.

Old Heaven was good enough until lately,
When some spirits came up and would n't stay;
They said it wasn't equal to their Home on Earth—
They'd come from "PLAINFIELD, N. J."

Punctured the Boiler.

As one of the fast east-bound passenger trains was passing through Cranford Tuesday evening, a driving rod broke, and was driven into the boiler. The fireman was badly scalded by the escaping steam, and though the brakes were put on it was impossible to stop the train until it reached Garwood.

The Drought Broken.

[illegible]

PLAINFIELD—The rain of the 28th has broken the drought. It was a blessing to farmers as this time of everything has been suffering for the want of it. The amount for the 48 hours ending 8 P. M., August 28, was 3.40 inches, making a total for the week of 3.48 inches. Average temperature for the week, [illegible]

[illegible]

COUNTY ROADS TO BE EXTENDED.

CONTRACTORS BID FOR THE PROPOSED NEW WORK.

One Bidder Asks That the County Pay in Gold Coin—The Proposals Received and the Awarding of Contracts Deferred—This is for Those Highways Designed to Develop Real Estate Speculation at the Expense of the Taxpayers.

The meeting of the Union County Board of Chosen Freeholders Tuesday afternoon was for the purpose of receiving the proposals for the construction of four new county roads, and the space outside the circle of desks was filled with contractors and their representatives, among them ex-Mayor Chamberlain of Rahway and John F. E. Lindley.

Several proposals for each of the proposed improvements were received and held by Director Saner until the resolutions of the Board called for the Clerk to open them.

The roads to be improved are as follows:

Springfield avenue, from Morris avenue in the township of Springfield to the Essex county line.

Newark avenue, from the easterly curb line of Broad street Elizabeth to the Essex county line.

Morris avenue, from the Essex county line at Hobart's Gap, through Summit township, to the Passaic River.

Edgar road, from Grove street in Elizabeth to Stiles street in Linden.

The opening of these bids was the only matter which engaged the Board's attention, excepting one or two matters of a routine character.

The committee appointed to examine the Central avenue bridge in Rahway, reported that the bridge was in a dangerous condition, and recommended that it be repaired at a cost not to exceed $600. The recommendation was adopted.

The bids were referred to the Committee of the Whole, and they were considered in executive session. When the Board reconvened no contracts were awarded, but a resolution was adopted deferring action until the next meeting.

One of the incidents of the reading of the proposals was some amusement over the statement of Messrs. Wright & Lindsay of Orange in their bids. They were evidently determined to be on the safe side in these times of financial depression. Their rates were higher than most of their competitors', and their condition for payment demanded that it be in gold coin or its equivalent.

The total amounts of the several bids, as figured by County Engineer Quinn, are as follows:

Morris avenue—Hillpott & Ayers, $15,077.29; Bendlinger & Neary, $38,317.40; Wright & Lindsay, $18,000; T. McManus, $17,000; H. Lightphipe, $21,278.50; James Carroll, $16,366.40.

Springfield avenue—Hillpott & Ayers, $15,740.25; Bendlinger & Neary, $17,389.40; Wright & Lindsey, $20,071.86; Wm. Chamberlain, $15,440.47; T. McManus, $20,250; H. Lightphipe, $19,545.25; James Carroll, $17,137.50.

Newark avenue—Hillpott & Ayers, $12,154; James Carroll, $10,440; P. Faughner, $9,560; C. W. Smith, $10,604; J. F. Shandley, $9,728.

Edgar road—Hillpott & Ayers, $28,254; T. McManus, $30,474.90; James Carroll, $24,665.50; C. W. Smith, $25,180.35; J. F. Shandley, $28,457.80.

STRUCK BY A RUNAWAY PLANK.

Singular Accident to a Workman in Rheaume's Saw Mill.

Lewis Miller, of Short Hills, an employe of L. A. Rheaumé, lumber dealer, on Watchung avenue, was working in the saw mill Friday forenoon, putting 16-foot planks in the gang saw, when one of the boards caught fast and was thrown backwards, striking Mr. Miller on the left arm and hip. The plank then shot across Fourth street, striking the curb stone on the opposite side. A woman happened to be walking along the street at that point was much frightened, and fell over on the embankment in trying to get out of the way. Mr. Miller was taken to his home in a carriage.

Many people will coincide with the following views, expressed by the New Brunswick Home News:

> Somebody asks what is the need of putting "beloved husband" or "beloved wife" on tombstones and in funeral notes, and we join in the question. The beloved part ought to be one of the things that go without saying. And, by the way, what is the need of advertising one's grief by the use of mourning?

An interesting case of disinterested charity is noted by the Trenton True American. It is that of a woman in New York, whose landlord ejected her from his premises for non-payment of rent. A passer-by inquired the cause and upon being told said that he would not see a woman turned out of her home and that he would pay the rent. He tendered the landlord a $100 bill, and he took four months rent out of it and gave the philanthropist $52 in change and a receipt to the woman. A few minutes later the landlord discovered that the bill was a counterfeit, but the good Samaritan had made good his retreat.

THE SMITH PICNIC.

All the Smiths of creation have been invited to gather at Peapack farm next week Wednesday, for the annual gorgeous Smith picnic. Isaiah, James, Abraham and Oscar, officers of the Family, give assurance of the usual happy time. The usual freedom will be accorded to guests, and those attending will be permitted to bring their own provisions or go hungry, as they choose. At 2 in the afternoon speech-making will be begun. The Rev. Frank M. Kerr of Chester will be chief orator. A brass band from the metropolis will astonish the natives and send the colts on the farm scampering across lots. The Smiths are great people, and their picnic is a wonderful institution. As Shakespeare has it:

When I was young I heard a myth
That once there was a man called Smith,
And kings and princes flocked to see
This new and startling novelty;

But straightway rival Smiths arose
And started opposition shows,
Until the world is now too small
To comfortably hold them all.

Crops Damaged by the Storm.

Freeholder George W. Ballantine states that the damage to the crops in Washington Valley from the late storm was extensive. Corn especially suffered from the tremendous wind and rain, and it is estimated that fully 25 per cent of the entire corn crop has been ruined. The damage is very apparent to any one driving through the valley, as the corn throughout whole fields has been blown flat on the hills and many stalks are completely uprooted. Much fruit also was spoiled.

—The pedestrian tramps are on their annual tour, but the police drive them out of Plainfield.

FOUND HIS LUCK IN PLAINFIELD.

THROUGH A VISIT HERE, J. S. HUFF ACQUIRES A MILLION.

At a Methodist Revival, He Met a Wealthy Invalid Whom He Nursed So Faithfully as to Inherit All of the Grateful Man's Estate—Wants to Divide with a Plainfield Friend.

The story of the luck of John S. Huff of Rahway sounds like a fairy tale, but it is apparently founded on fact. Huff is a bachelor, 43 years old, and all his life has been a good Methodist. Two years ago he attended a religious meeting in Plainfield with his friend, William Stewart.

Charles Easthoff, a young California millionaire who was traveling around the country, met him here, and took quite a fancy to him. When Easthoff became ill some time afterwards, Huff nursed him until he got well again. Easthoff developed a strong friendship for Huff and told him he would leave him all his money when he died.

The young millionaire died eighteen months ago, and the other day Huff, so the story goes, was informed that he had fallen heir to his fortune, which is variously estimated at between $600,000 and $1,000,000. Huff has been exceedingly reticent about his windfall, and at first did not even tell his sister, with whom he lives.

Recently Huff has declared his intention of dividing the windfall with his friend Stewart. Huff was formerly a doctor's clerk. The fortune left by Easthoff is said to consist of real estate in New York, Philadelphia and San Francisco, and stocks and bonds. Huff expects to go to California shortly to wind up the estate.

BIG WIND IN TOWN.

A Hurricane Knocks Over Trees and Alarms Inhabitants.

Plainfield people did n't sleep Thursday night, for everything was rocking violently in a big wind.

In fact, a regular hurricane kept blowing all night, and shade trees suffered all over town.

A huge tree on the sidewalk at the line of Charles Janson's and Samuel Wilbur's property was completely torn out by the roots.

Branches were torn off all along Putnam avenue and Broadway.

Chimneys on North avenue near Berckman street were blown over.

The Plainfield avenue billboard, 50 feet long, was wrecked, and trees were blown down thereabouts.

The big shade tree that the Seventh-Day Baptists worked so hard to save during the building improvements was ruined, and two trees below it fell before the blast.

The top of a tree in front of the City Hotel was blown off.

Alex. Mallinson mourns the loss of a grape arbor.

A tree was spoiled at Park avenue and Fifth street.

The roof of the base-ball grand-stand was blown off.

A large tree in front of the Dreier property at the corner of Front and New streets was blown over.

The fire-alarm circuit was broken by a tree blowing down and breaking the wire at Netherwood avenue midway between the railroad and Front street. It was repaired after a weary search, and later another break occurred.

French's millrace overflowed its banks, and the cellar of the tenement house back of the mill was flooded.

The storm did great damage all along the coast and through the State.

Rahway was in a most deplorable state Friday morning. The loss to crops and buildings will easily reach $15,000. In the height of the storm the old Second Methodist church was set on fire and completely gutted, causing an additional loss of $5,000.

SIMMONDS KNOCKED OUT.

He Hasn't Even a Chance Left for a Consolation Prize.

Albert Simmonds suffered defeat in the All Comers tennis tournament at Newport, Thursday, at the hands of C. R. Budlong, in the second round. Budlong won the match easily by the score of 6-2, 6-0, 6-2. While Budlong is recognized as a very good player, he is by no means one of the cracks, and the ease with which he defeated Simmonds shows the difference between what is considered a fine game among the local clubs and the game that wins at Newport. On account of his reaching the second round, Simmonds is deprived of competing for the consolation prize, and he will spend the rest of his time at Newport as an interested spectator.

Everything Best, in Lippincott's.

The complete novel in the September number of Lippincott's is "A Bachelor's Bridal", by Mrs. H. Lovett Cameron. It tells of an unconventional and ill-starred marriage and its tragic consequences.

The seventh in the series of Lippincott's Notable Stories is "The Cross-Roads Ghost", by Matt Crim. It is illustrated, as are two other brief tales, "Ishmael", by Richard Malcolm Johnston, and "The Carthusian", from the French of Amedee Pigeon.

Captain Charles King, in "Uncle Sam at the Fair", describes the Government Exhibit at Chicago, and tells how that part of it which relates to the army is thronged by visitors, while those which display the arts of peace are comparatively neglected.

"In the Plaza de Toros", by Marrion Wilcox, is an illustrated article describing an Easter bull-fight at Seville, "the cradle of the sport". The writer, like a good American, observed the spectacle closely, but with little admiration.

Mrs. Elizabeth Wormeley Latimer gives "A Girl's Recollections of Dickens" on his first visit to America in 1841.

A short study of "Forest Fires", by Felix L. Oswald, is accompanied by his portrait. Judson Daland, M. D., writes of "Hypnotism: Its Use and Abuse". Commander C. H. Rockwell, of the U. S. Navy, narrates "A Sea-Episode" on a fever-stricken ship.

Under the heading "Don't", F. M. B. offers some advice to young contributors. M. Crofton, under "Men of the Day", discusses Kossuth, James Whitcomb Riley, and the Earl of Aberdeen.

The poetry of the number is by Ebella Cooke, Margaret B. Harvey, Edgar Fawcett, and James K. Philips.

—The Westfield Leader considers it amusing to see how some of the State papers speak of Westfield giving a rebate on wide-tired vehicles. They seem to treat it as a local matter, when the fact is that it is a State law which any township may appropriate.

ALMOST A FATALITY.

QUICK-WITTED JIMMY MOORE SAVES PASSENGERS' LIVES.

Thrilling Moment at Fanwood Station—This Custom of Permitting One Train to Pass Another at Stations Where Passengers Are Alighting, Should Be Stopped.

As train No. 14 ran into the Fanwood station Thursday afternoon, the passengers for that place, as is usual, were ready to alight. Just before reaching the station, a sudden jar was felt by all on the train, and those on the platforms were nearly thrown off. The train was due to arrive at Fanwood at 5:53, but being late met the train from the east due at 5:56, at the station. Judge Moore was on the bottom step of a car, about to step off, as the train came to a sudden halt. "Look out there, papa!" came a shrill voice from the station platform.—"Hold the people back. Your engine has left you, and there comes the other train." The Judge acted promptly, recognizing the voice as that of his son, and prevented what might have been a serious if not fatal accident in pressing back those about to alight directly in front of the westbound train. On inspection, the young boy's words were found to be true. Engine No. 160 had left its train, having by some strain broken the casting connecting it with the forward car, completely off, and thus being released dashed ahead at terrific speed, not stopping until nearly up to the Fanwood curve.

Train No. 536, with P. and R. Engine 207, immediately followed, and, attaching the cars of Train 14 to its own, ran them into Jersey City. Engine 160, not being able to couple on, but otherwise all right, ran east on Track 3.

"How came you to call out so loud, Jimmy?"—asked his father.

"I saw the engine break loose"—was the reply—"and was afraid you might get hurt. Kiss me, daddy!"—and the Judge did.

OFFERED $50 DAMAGES.

But Frank Vail Insists It Will Take $200 to Recompense Him.

About two months ago Frank W. Vail, a hostler at the Metropolitan Stables on North avenue, was driving a rig home from New Brunswick. It was late in the evening, and when near the residence of the Rev. J. B. Cleaver, at Bound Brook, the horse and wagon came in contact with a live telephone wire, which was hanging across the street.

Mr. Vail claims that he received a shock, the wire striking him in the neck, and that the horse also felt the current. Mr. Vail placed the matter in the hands of Lawyer George DeMeza, who demanded damages for his client. Last Friday a letter was received from the company stating that they would settle for $50. Mr. Vail wants $200 as a recompense for damages, and has notified the company to that effect. He has heard nothing from them since.

Wm. McCready, of North Plainfield, accompanied Mr. Vail, and also claims damages.

WESTFIELD WARBLINGS.

Damage by Rain, and Cattle in the Corn.

The fire-alarm bell will arrive at Westfield this week. A tower is to be erected to hold it back of the fire department buildings on North avenue.

It took four men pumping all day with the fire engine to clear the cellar under the Schmitts Building, on Broad street, of the water that ran into it from a single rainstorm.

Considerable damage was done by the rain to the roads about Westfield that had lately repaired. Altogether about 1,000 feet of surfacing was washed off and will have to be renewed.

Suit has been begun before Judge Collins wherein John Conly, of Springfield, seeks damages of Lewis Keller, of the same place, for mischief done to corn by cattle belonging to the latter and for personal injury done to Conly by a vicious bull when he went to drive the cattle from the corn. The damage is set at $200.

COFFIN'S HURTS NOT HEALED.

He Has Not Yet Recovered from the Injuries Received at the Scotch Plains Race.

George W. Coffin, of the Orange Athletic Club, was so disabled in the twenty-five mile race of the Plainfield Lyceum Cyclers over the Scotch Plains course last Saturday, that he will be unable to ride at the Riverside meet at Waverly on Saturday next.

In the race he and Willis, of the Union County Roadsters, were a tie for fifth place and the time prize and were coming down the home stretch neck and neck, at a terrific speed, when two young women stepped out of the crowd into the track to see if any of the cyclers were coming. Willis narrowly escaped striking one of them, while Coffin rode right over the other and was thrown off his wheel and sent flying several feet into the air. He was unconscious when picked up and was badly skinned and bruised on one side of his face and body. A physician dressed his wounds and he took the next train home. The young woman who was struck was also unconscious for a time.

Coffin had a handicap of one minute and Willis a handicap of thirty seconds. They will decide who is entitled to the $50 time prize as soon as Coffin is able to ride, which will be in a week or two. Charles H. Coffin was the scratch man, but had difficulty in starting, and so did not finish.

Neither the Orange Athletic Club nor Newark Wheelmen will now be represented in the team race of the Riverside Athletic Club. Blauvelt will ride for the Elizabeth Athletic Club.

MORE PARTISANSHIP.

Another Democratic Vacancy Filled with a Republican.

The North Plainfield Township Committee held a meeting Thursday in Spencer's Hall on Somerset street, for the purpose of electing an Overseer of the Poor to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of John Mackey. Mr. Mackey is a Democrat, and resigned his position because he is about to move to Brooklyn. He was elected to his position at the last Spring election by a large majority.

The committee, composed of J. F. Voorhees, Wm. C. Smith and Elias Allen, all Republicans, appointed John W. VanHorn, another Republican, to fill Mr. Mackey's position until the next town meeting, which takes place in March, and which will give the people a chance to show whom they desire to fill the position. Until then they must put up with the committee's partisan choice.

A GREAT NEW INDUSTRY

AN ELECTRIC-LIGHT FACTORY TO BE BUILT NEAR NETHERWOOD.

Incandescent Arc Lights as Patented by L. E. Howard Will Be Manufactured Here—11 Acres of Ground Already Purchased, and $100,000 to Be Spent in Building Immediately.

A new electrical industry is about to be started with headquarters in Plainfield. The staple of the new company is an incandescent arc lamp, and is the invention of Louis E. Howard, of 237 East Ninth street. Mr. Howard's lamp is a material departure from all the forms of electric lamps now in use. Incandescent arc lamps have been the subject of experiment for many years, but apparently insurmountable difficulties have stood in the way of their practical use. Mr. Howard has been experimenting on this lamp for considerably more than a year, but not until recently have sufficient tests been made to render its practical success a certainty.

As its name implies, the new lamp is a combination of the principles of arc lamp and the incandescent lamp. It consists primarily of the carbons, which form the arc, which are enclosed in an envelope of highly refractory glass.

The company, of which Mr. Howard is President, owns patents covering all the features of the lamp in 23 different countries. It is to be known as The Royal Arc Electric Company, and has purchased eleven acres of land on the west side of the railroad track near Netherwood for the erection of Mr. Howard's laboratories. These are to be built at once, at a cost of $100,000, and houses are to be erected for the workmen. A one hundred and twenty-five horse-power engine has been decided on for the works. The contracts for the exclusive rights in many of the States have already been negotiated for, and it is expected that the company will have more than it can attend to for some time after it signifies its readiness for the transaction of business. Yesterday afternoon Mr. Howard received a telegram of congratulation from Chicago on the manner in which his invention had been received by the International Electrical Congress, and his parlors were crowded last night with friends who came in from all sides to congratulate him.

NO STARVING HERE.

Instead, Mr. McMahon Found Plainfield Fairly Prosperous.

John McMahon, of the State Board of Arbitration, visited Plainfield on Friday to investigate the report that the working people of the place were starving to death.

Mr. McMahon was agreeably surprised to find no such deplorable condition of affairs as had been reported. Of course he was sorry to find many men out of work, but distress by no means prevailed.

Mr. McMahon called on the large employers of the town, and found them willing as far as possible to take care of their own employes.

He was particularly delighted with the statement of Walter Scott, who is regarded as one of the best friends labor has, and who assured him that he should provide full employment for all his hands all the time, no matter at what a loss.

Mr. McMahon wants The Press to state that any worthy unemployed who are in need will be provided for by the Relief Fund of the Federation of Trades and Labor Unions of New Jersey, if they will communicate their wants to him, care of The Labor Standard, Newark.

Don't Miss the Ostrich Dance in "Hose & Hose".

"Hose & Hose", reconstructed and rejuvenated, will be presented at Music Hall next Thursday night by Willie Collier, the quaint comedian, and his superexcellent company. This is the fourth season for this organization, which like wine improves with age. The company this year is larger, stronger and better than ever, while the piece itself has been entirely re-written up to date. Though all the old features have been left intact, there are many new specialties, parodies, songs and dances, which combined promise to make this engagement the most enjoyable yet seen. Willie Collier as the Saugerties Judge is as quaint and inimitable as ever, and the company includes some of the best farceurs in America. The Bowery Ball, always a strong feature, is still given, with Helena Collier as the tough girl, and all the old favorites in their various characters. Louise Allen Collier will introduce a new dance, called the ostrich dance, in which she will appear in a costume made entirely of ostrich feathers, which is pronounced a dream by connoisseurs, and should prove a great attraction to the gentler sex who like to see the latest thing in fashions.

NO WONDER THE DOG GOT MAD.

He Was Tied in the Hot Sun with a Collar That Chafed Him.

An unfortunate canine tied in the sun in the rear of VanBuren & Timpson's real estate office on North avenue caused no little excitement on Thursday. The poor beast was tied with a very tight collar and a very short chain, and had fretted himself nearly into a fit when someone seeing his antics gave the cry of mad dog. This attracted to the spot the entire police force and all the reporters that were on the street at the time. One policeman, bolder than the rest, succeeded in throwing a pail of water on the dog, and when the animal resented this treatment and growled the gathered company fled precipitately, and his dogship was left to nurse his woes in a mud puddle as best he might.

Later Policeman Kiely shot the dog. A man who insulted and cursed the Sergeant for the shooting will be arrested.

Shipwreck in Green Brook.

Malcolm, ten-year-old son of B. T. Barnes, proved himself an ingenious youth by building a handsome and speedy canoe. He proceeded to launch it Wednesday, where Green brook runs swift and deep. Not having his sea legs on, however, he toppled overboard, and went down among the fishes. When he rose, the canoe was whirling down stream, but Malcolm went after it and dragged it back. He had prepared himself for a wetting by putting on old clothes, and enjoyed the fun immensely.

Bad Boys Despoil a Church.

Janitor Mundy, of Trinity Reformed church, is justly incensed at the disgraceful conduct of several boys who are in the habit of playing in Exchange Alley, adjoining the church. Last night they threw grape or raspberry juice all over the door of the pastor's study, and otherwise disfigured the steps of the study, besides breaking two panes of glass in the basement. The police have been notified.

THEIR PASTOR FOUND GUILTY.

THE REV. NAPOLEON BONAPARTE THOMPSON EXCOMMUNICATED.

This Lively Clergyman Cut a Great Dash in Plainfield and Netherwood, and Has Now Rounded Up His Career in Staid Old Plymouth County—Henceforth He Is "As a Heathen," to His Church.

During the time when the Netherwood chapel now the Church of Our Saviour was conducted by a union congregation representing different denominations, it had for a pastor the Rev. Napoleon Bonaparte Thompson.

Plainfield people will remember that are the Rev. Napoleon Bonaparte Thompson had been long in town he began to be known as an erratic kind of man, and they will not be surprised to learn that he has at last been excommunicated.

Since leaving Plainfield and his questionable record behind him, the Rev. Napoleon Bonaparte Thompson has been pastor of the South Congregational church at Campello, Mass.

That church was thronged a few evenings ago with members and others, gathered to witness the final scene of the prolonged hearing upon the charges of un-Christian and immoral conduct against the Rev. Thompson.

Warren T. Copeland of the committee of five opened the argument in behalf of the prosecution.

"I am not"—said Mr. Copeland—"a persecutor, nor is the committee I represent a persecuting committee. This church shrank like a timid girl from the ordeal of investigating the conduct of its pastor until compelled by the stern mandate of duty to do so."

Proceeding in review of the evidence on the first charge, that of overfrequent and improper visits to the rooms of Mrs. Swift by the Rev. Mr. Thompson, he cited the evidence bearing on it, and held that frequent visits to a young, attractive widow were very different in their appearance, even if made by a clergyman, than visits to the sick or aged, or in the presence of others. From the evidence and the admissions of Mrs. Swift and Mr. Thompson, he held that the charge was sustained.

The second charge, that after the dinner of Fast day the Rev. N. B. Thompson took a stateroom on the Portland boat with Mrs. L. M. Swift, and that on the night of April 7 he occupied a room with her at the Preble House, in Portland, was then considered, and extensive argument was given, connected with a review of the evidence, showing that the charge had been proved.

On the third charge, that of untruthfulness, Mr. Copeland cited conclusive evidence.

It was an impressive moment when they reached a vote upon the charges.

The ballot was taken on the question of sustaining each charge, and the members of the church passed to the front of the pulpit platform and deposited their ballots.

An exception was made in favor of Dea. Pratt, 92 years old, to whom a hat was passed for his ballot.

On sustaining the first charge of improper visits to Mrs. Swift's rooms, there were 130 "yes" votes, 62 "no", and five with both "yes" and "no", the printed ballots not having been torn apart.

On sustaining the charge of occupying a stateroom on the boat and a room at the Preble house with Mrs. Swift there were 116 "yes", and 70 "no" and six which counted nothing.

On sustaining the third charge of repeated untruthfulness there were 117 "yes", 60 "no" and five double votes.

G. E. Tabor introduced the following resolution immediately after the result of the ballot on the first charge was announced:

> Resolved, That this church hereby withdraws fellowship from Rev. N. B. Thompson and declares that he is no longer recognized as one of its members.

Upon motion it was ordered that the vote on this resolution be by yeas and nays.

Mr. Thompson arose to ask whether the church desired an execution or to promote repentance.

Horace Baker said that as the pastor had asked a question he would like to know if he desired to make a confession.

"I am not your pastor"—said Mr. Thompson.—"You have no pastor."

The venerable Deacon Pratt protested against hasty action in so important a matter.

The motion was lost by a strong majority.

Mr. Copeland deprecated hasty action in this important matter. If Mr. Thompson desired time to consider, he ought to have it. He moved to lay the resolution on the table, and the motion prevailed on a count vote, 78 to 16.

Mr. Thompson asked for five minutes' time, and it was granted. He then called for the reading of the charges, and to each he said: "I plead not guilty, excepting the statement relative to the Fast day dinner in the second charge.

"I stand before you"—he said—"for judgment. I have had three months for consideration and I ask for judgment now."

Upon motion, the pending resolution was taken from the table, and it was voted to proceed at once to ballot by yeas and nays.

There was an air of grim determination to end the whole matter, as the members of the church again filed up the aisles and deposited their ballots in the hat which Deacon Morse held for the purpose.

The tellers reported the result of the ballot on the pending resolution as follows: Yes, 116; no, 59; double ballots, 5; total, 180; and Napoleon Bonaparte Thompson, late the pastor of the South Congregational Church, was an excommunicated man, and, in the language of the church manual, had become to the church "as a heathen man".

Throughout the voting Mrs. Swift and her friends were seated in the gallery, earnest observers of the proceedings. Mrs. Swift looked quite pale, but did not once show the intense interest she had in the result of the vote.

The close of this remarkable trial was most dramatic. At the close of the voting B. L. Boomer arose and, stepping in front of the house, severely censured P. B. Keith for not bringing before the church the advisability of putting off the balloting till another evening, claiming that the church should have had a few hours in which to pray and think over the evidence, as was given after Mr. Thompson had made his defence.

Mr. Boomer claimed that this was unjust to Mr. Thompson. He then dramatically defined the word liar, and quoted from Scripture: "He who loves the Lord and hates his brother is a liar" pointing out several members of the church. Singling out certain persons, he said: "Are you a liar?"

This created much excitement and many arose, asking for recognition from the chair.

Charles Cole made a few remarks which created much laughter.

It was then voted to adjourn, and the church members separated into groups and excitedly discussed the events of the night.

After adjournment Mr. Thompson expressed no surprise at the result, as he expected the verdict rendered. He will probably make a statement in a few days, and he intimated that this would not be the end of the case, but he should at once bring suit against the church.

—Wheat is 54 cents a bushel, but rye is 51 a quart.

The Constitutionalist.

A. L. Force, Publisher & Proprietor.

A BAD POLITICAL INVESTMENT.

The effort of some extreme Republican politicians to make it appear that present business and financial disorder throughout the country is due to mistrust in coming tariff reform legislation by a Democratic Congress has failed to produce popular effect.

It is contrary to common sense, and proves anew that any endeavor to make partisan capital out of arrant misrepresentation never was and never will be a paying investment.

Intelligent manufacturers, industrial journals, and practical business men, regardless of party name, repudiate such unwarranted politics and not a few prominent Republicans sternly denounce it.

What are the facts?

The McKinley tariff act cannot be revised for months to come and then only after judicious consideration. The amount of revenue necessary to be raised through the imposition of duties on foreign imports will be amply sufficient for the protection of all legitimate interests and labor, and by equalizing taxation, and abolishing class favoritism together with the many unjust exactions thereby inflicted upon the business of the country, should inspire confidence.

The people have decreed tariff reform, not tariff destruction, and in due course of time it will be secured for the general public welfare.

* * *

Hon. John T. Dunn, Representative in Congress from this District, recently delivered an effective speech in favor of Silver Purchase repeal. Mr. Dunn has already proved himself an able and wide-awake Congressman.

* * *

When President Cleveland retired from office March 4, 1889, he left a surplus of one hundred million dollars in the National Treasury. That has all disappeared, and to fill the gap, if possible, is one of the creditable aims of the present Democratic Administration.

* * *

The bottom appears to have fallen out of President Harrison's crude Sandwich Island Annexation scheme' Sober second thoughts are mighty conservators. Davy Crockett, of historic fame, was a man of rugged sense, his favorite motto being—"Be sure you're right then go ahead," and that remains today a safe road to travel.

* * *

Prudent economy, not miserly parsimony, is the architect of both public and private gain. A Government that with reckless hand lavishes funds to the right and left, without rigidly accounting reliable sources of revenue, will surely thump on the rock of financial trouble, and that is one of the national ills bequeathed and now confronting us.

* * *

"Whew! How hot the weather is!"

"Yes, but keep cool!"

"In the name of Alaska, how can a fellow do that outside of an ice house?"

"I will tell you, my boy.

"Don't fume and fret, don't worry over the inevitable, patiently endure what you cannot cure, and feel thankful that things are not really worse. You may call that horse philosophy, but it is nevertheless condensed truth."

* * *

Suggestions Contained in the Popular Summer Guide Book of the Pennsylvania Railroad Company.

Complimented by the press and indorsed by tourists and practical travelers, the Summer Excursion book of the Pennsylvania Railroad Company of this year's issue has become, in consequence of these recommendations and its own real worth, a most highly-prized compilation. The many and diversified routes, including every road of prominence within the great summer belt of Eastern United States, offer those contemplating an early fall trip an opportunity of choosing new and interesting means of reaching their destinations. A list of hotels is appended to each resort, which it is self-evident adds materially to the value.

The month of September being probably the finest month in the year in which to travel, an increased demand for this graphic production has become noticeable, and that all may avail themselves of the manifold advantages to be derived from an inspection of its plain and concise yet elegant and complete descriptions of a thousand places within a radius of a thousand miles, the Pennsylvania Railroad Company's Passenger Department will mail the book mentioned to any address upon receipt of 20 cents in stamps. A nominal sum merely, with cost of postage added. Copies may also be obtained from Ticket Agents of the company.

* * *

Della Fox Returns Next Week.

With the advent of cooler weather, and the return of the vast army of metropolitan theatre-goers who annually migrate to the mountains, lakes and seashore during the midsummer months, the attendance at the Broadway Theatre, where "Panjandrum" still holds sway, has suddenly increased, and during some of the performances of the past two weeks, that theatre, spacious though it is, has contained but few vacant seats.

One of the secrets of "Panjandrum's" success lies in the fact that the average auditor is not satisfied in hearing the opera once, but often returns a second, third or fourth time to listen to the pretty melodies and laugh at the fun, which are considerably enhanced by many additions that are constantly given in the performance.

Monday evening, Mr. Hopper began the seventeenth week, and the last but four of his long engagement at the Broadway Theatre; and at the termination of his traveling season he will take a vacation, which he has earned, having played almost constantly during the past decade, and as his tour of the large cities will not end until May 1, 1894, he will not again appear in the metropolis for over a year.

Della Fox will be a passenger on the Paris, which arrives in New York from Southampton Saturday, September 2. She will make her re-appearance as Paquita in "Panjandrum", at the Broadway Theatre on the following Monday evening, September 4.

* * *

—Every person purchasing school books or school supplies amounting to one dollar or upwards at one time of Joseph M. Harper, 411 Park avenue, will receive a present.

To pass the silver purchase repeal act in the House of Representatives cost the nation $260,000.

* * *

The hand of death has been extremely heavy on Plainfield these August days. Affliction has entered so many households that all hearts seem united in one common grief.

* * *

The death of Warren Ackerman amounts to a calamity among Scotch Plains villagers and other people of his section. His liberality was as boundless as his wealth, and many a poor family was dependent on and grateful for his bounty. He administered his charities silently, and fulfilled the Scriptural teaching of not letting his left hand know what was bestowed by the right. He was the rare combination of a man with millions and a man with liberal heart and hand.

GOVERNMENT CONTROL OF COINAGE

The Hon. J. A. Geissenhainer in his most able speech in the House of Representatives, Aug. 26, stated that the production of silver since 1890 had averaged seven tons of pure silver every day; that the Government had paid a total of 147,676,749 for it; that it had cost only 37.3 cents an ounce to produce it; and that it had yielded a profit to the mine owners of $65,168,960.

The proper cure for the ills growing out of the production of silver, it would seem, would be to have the Government own and operate the mines. This, it is argued, would break up the worst ring in the country; benefit the miners; permit the Government to control the output in the interest of the people of this country, and against foreign dictation.

The paper mill at Coltsville, Mass., where the banknote paper is made, is run by the Government, and many would favor a control by Government of all that relates to coinage, so as to raise the silver above a commodity.

THE HOSPITAL EXPLAINS.

The Press is glad to learn from Dr. Long, of the Muhlenberg Hospital Staff, that it is not the intention of the hospital authorities to withhold legitimate news from the city papers.

The authorities at the Hospital, it appears from the doctor's words, were vexed at the unwarranted liberty taken by a certain Plainfield newspaper—not The Press—in attempting to report unauthoritatively a delicate surgical operation that was recently performed at the hospital. The report was incorrect in detail, in such a way as to throw discredit upon the hospital staff. Moreover, it ought not to have been published even if it had been correct. The doctor expresses the willingness of the authorities to supply all proper news to the papers. His courtesy to the Press representative who called on him in reference to the matter was ample evidence of his good faith in the matter.

THE STATE AND REAL ESTATE.

James A. Bradley, Asbury Park's Pathfinder, is nothing if not unique; and his latest interesting doing is the speech he made yesterday. In it he warmly defended Henry George. Mr. Bradley stated that he had purchased the riparian rights to the entire ocean front of Asbury Park from the State of New Jersey for the sum of $2,000. He owned it absolutely, and, if he so wished, he could erect a tall fence along the beach front and shut all of the people out from going down to the water.

"Now I claim"—said Mr. Bradley—"that the property should not have been sold outright to me. The State should have leased the riparian rights to me for ten years, with renewal of lease. Every time a new lease was made the rental should be increased."

He closed by saying that Mr. George's theories on the ownership of land were both sound and practical, and the time would come when the majority of the people of this great country would adopt them.

All this, from a level-headed, sensible, experienced man like Mr. Bradley, affords much food for sober thought.

PRIMITIVE PROPRIETY.

Tattler Wetmore, of the Elizabeth Journal, with his usual patness in commenting on sporting and society doings, thus handles the case of Cranford's silly cycling ordinance:

> The wise men of Cranford passed a bicycle ordinance the other evening, one section of which contains the following startling prohibition: "That it shall be unlawful for any person not wearing sufficient clothing to entirely cover his body, except the arms, to ride a bicycle in or upon any street or streets in the Township of Cranford." Apart from the laughable command in so many words to wheelmen to ride through Cranford masked and hooded; the bucolic burgesses of this back country borough have placed themselves in their primitive and pastoral propriety on a par with the old maids who put wrappers on Venuses and seek the seclusion of their closets when they wish to change their minds. The bare legs of some are seen on all our beaches, in racing shells and on every athletic grounds, and the sight of them has never yet brought a blush to the cheek of the most modest maiden nor polluted her pure heart. To prohibit an occasional racer or man in practice trim, passing through the town on a wheel in the accepted athletic rig, is a piece of exaggerated propriety that will make Cranford the laughing-stock of the State. The L. A. W. rules place sufficient restrictions on costumes to ensure a due regard to propriety and modesty in racing garments. Let our Cranford friends amend their ordinance to correspond with this and no wheelman can justly complain at the strict enforcement of this provision of the ordinance.

POLICEMEN'S PREROGATIVES.

It would seem, judging from the story of Edward Marshall, who is awaiting trial for injuring the dignity of Police Sergeant Kiely, that it is not the privilege of a citizen in ordinary clothes to hold conversation with the blue-coated and brass-buttoned gentry, when they are engaged in target practice on unfortunate canines.

If what Mr. Marshall and his friends say is true, the handsome and gallant sergeant made but a sorry exhibition of marksmanship, and had finally to recourse to a club and an axe to despatch the suffering dog.

Mr. Marshall was actuated entirely by motives of humanity. His wife and others of the neighbors were disgusted at what they considered a brutal butchery. They urged him to remonstrate with the officer. He did so in what he considered to be a proper manner, and in proper language; but the policeman's anger was aroused at being criticised; and now Mr. Marshall is to suffer a police court trial as a penalty for his anti-cruelty instincts.

Leaving unconsidered the question whether or not one of the duties of the police is to kill dogs that have fits while chained in their owners' back yards, it is pertinent to inquire if a man in uniform is any better to be spoken to in a decent manner than one who is not. The thanks of the community will be due to Mr. Marshall if he can secure a settlement of this vexed question. The dignity of the law should be upheld at all times; but even policemen are not infallible.

* * *

Stopped at the Precipice's Edge.

Clarence Thorn, son of Guillermo Thorn, while in Nyack on his vacation, met with a curious wheeling accident. While coasting a steep hill he took a header over a water break in the road, and was insensible for a number of minutes. On regaining consciousness he was startled to find himself seated on the bank of a 200 foot precipice with his feet hanging over the edge. As may be imagined, he quickly scrambled into a safer position, and is now feeling thankful for his escape, narrow though it was.

Since January 1, last, 145 national banks have suspended. Of this number one has gone into voluntary liquidation, fifty-seven have been placed in the hands of receivers, sixty-two are in the hands of National Bank Examiners, with excellent prospects of early resumption, and thirty-four have already resumed business.

* * *

LIFE-SAVERS ON THE COAST.

With a sense of gratification The Press notes that the stand it has taken in favor of making the Life-saving Service a permanent institution, fully equipped the year round, is receiving hearty support and full co-operation from influential journals elsewhere. The Evening News of Newark strongly endorses the idea, and says:

> Comparatively speaking, no branch of Government work is treated with such niggardliness as is the Life-saving Service. Its whole history teems with instances of false economy and apparent lack of interest in its welfare. Time and again Superintendent Kimball has called attention to the fact that upon Congress rests the measure of success of the service. The appropriations for its maintenance have almost always been below the estimates, one of the chief results of such "cheese-paring" being the closing of the stations during a stated period, when, it has been claimed, because of natural conditions, there is no necessity for keeping the life-saving crews in service.
>
> Prior to 1878 the stations were not opened after each summer until December 1, because of a lack of funds to begin operations at an earlier period. Terrible loss of life on the United States steamer Huron and the steamer Metropolis, on the North Carolina coast during the period when the crews were not on duty, caused the insertion in the act of 1878, formally organizing the service, of a clause providing that the stations should be opened from September to May, thus covering the earliest autumn storms and the latest spring weather disturbances. The utility of this change immediately became evident, but at this time there is a demand for a still larger extension—in fact, the keeping of the men on duty the year round.
>
> The recent disaster at Asbury Park is sufficient evidence of the necessity for this movement. Had the guard been on duty there the men lost off the shore might have been saved. The Revenue Marine renders effectual service in life-saving, but can not be compared to the branch established for this special purpose, the members of which are not only poorly paid for their arduous work, but are thrown out of employment during the period when the Congressional economists and wiseacres imagine there is no necessity for their services.
>
> These law-makers govern themselves by a storm schedule formulated many years ago, and even though it is evident that appalling marine disasters have occurred during what might be termed the "closed season", they fail to appreciate the fact that the life-savers should be on hand at all times. The cost of continuing the service during the whole of the year is estimated in round numbers at about $1,325,000, or about $300,000 more than is at present expended. Attempts to improve the service by continuing it the year round have been defeated at several Congressional sessions, but the crying need for such a change becomes more apparent every year, and should call for immediate action on the part of the present Congress.

SOCIETY FOOLS.

Among the bores one meets is the man who is continually saying that he can do certain things well, and then awaiting an opportunity to stun you by showing how well he really can do them. He knows he can do the things in question well. He is simply tempted by vanity into deceiving you so that he may later on surprise you into admiration of his skill. What he does is unmanly. It is also traitorous.

Who has not too often met this menace to good society? He is to be found in almost every company or gathering, and he carries his policy of deception into all avenues of human action.

You are at an evening party, and recognize him in the man who is playing the piano in a recklessly self-possessed look-at-me way. When asked to play earlier in the evening he did not say that while he could play reasonably well he would rather be excused. Such a reply from him would have been both modest and truthful. He chose, however, to proclaim loudly that he could not play any musical instrument, that he had almost never touched the keys of a piano, and so on. Someone who could not play quite so well as he, then went to the instrument at the request of the hostess. The young man who declared he could not play, waited till an opportunity came, then took a seat at the piano unbidden. He is now endeavoring to astonish the company by the display of his own talent, and at the same time to humiliate the player who preceded him.

You have seen this man in other places. You may have met him at the seaside hotel. When after-dinner conversation on the piazza turned to the delights of sea bathing and swimming, he declared that he could not swim a stroke. The next afternoon when the beach was crowded he went into the water, dived deeply, swam half a mile against the tide, then back again, and came out grinning, and listening with greedy ears for your praise.

If one were asked to choose between this sort of man and the one who overrates his prowess, the braggart should have decided preference. The latter gentleman is interesting in a way. He places his own personality before one in a light that for the time engages attention and interest. One is brought into the presence of a hero. He may in reality be of sawdust; but it takes time to learn this; and meanwhile the beholder is interested and refreshed. Then, to maintain his assumed character requires a certain amount of skill and nerve in the bragger. He thus displays a quality that approaches daring in the risk he runs of detection. It is daring of a poor quality, perhaps, but it commands some admiration, nevertheless. If the truth does out, it chagrins and pains the braggart, but does not injure or unfairly surprise those whom it undeceives.

On the other hand, the man who disclaims skill that he actually possesses, does so with the idea of his ultimate glorification and another's humiliation. The final truth brings with it a sense of having been outwitted by the trickster. His ultimate attitude is one of self-adulation, and we know that all his deception has not interested or refreshed us, nor brought any penalty to him. There is little to wonder at, then, if we hate him. Society is full of such fools.

* * *

Odd Fellows Grieve Their Loss.

At a regular meeting of Plainfield Lodge, No. 44 I. O. O. F., held the 28th day of August, 1893, the following resolutions were adopted by the Lodge:

WHEREAS, It has pleased Almighty God in His allwise Providence to remove from us by sudden death our brother, Clarkson M. Hammond; and

WHEREAS, We are thereby reminded of the uncertainty of life and the inevitable certainty of death, therefore be it

Resolved, That while we bow in humble submission to the will of Him who doeth all things well, we deeply deplore our loss and extend to the family of our deceased brother our sympathy in this their hour of affliction.

Resolved, That these resolutions be recorded in the book of records, and a copy be sent to the family of our late brother, and published in the Plainfield papers, and be it further

Resolved, That as a token of respect to our late brother, we drape our charter for a period of thirty days.

C. A. STURTEVANT,
N. C. PENNINGTON,
CHARLES HAYNES,
Committee.

* * *

Caution.

Imitations have been put upon the market so closely resembling ALLCOCK'S POROUS PLASTERS in general appearance as to be well calculated to deceive. It is however, in general appearance only that they compare with ALLCOCK'S, for they are worse than worthless, inasmuch as they contain deleterious ingredients which are apt to cause serious injury. Remember that ALLCOCK'S are the only genuine porous plasters—the best external remedy ever produced; [illegible] ALLCOCK'S [illegible].

WARREN ACKERMAN.

Impressive Funeral Over the Lamented Owner of Glenside Park.

(From The Press, Wednesday, Aug. 30.)

The funeral services of the late Warren Ackerman were held today at 10:15 in the First Presbyterian church. The beautiful edifice was filled with the mourners and friends of the deceased. A large number of the employes of Mr. Ackerman at Glenside Park were present with sorrowful faces. The floral decorations were very elaborate and consisted wholly of white roses. The Rev. Charles E. Herring, the pastor, and the Rev. Dr. Ketcham, the former pastor of the church, officiated. W. E. MacClymont presided at the organ.

The pall-bearers were: The Hon. Amzi Dodd, ex-Vice-Chancellor of the State; John A. Stewart, President of the United States Trust Company; Marcus L. Ward, General Plume, Augustus D. Shepard, Judge D. A. Depue.

As the funeral procession filed in, there floated out upon the air the exquisite strains of Beethoven's funeral march. The choir, consisting of Mrs. Asa Collier, soprano, Miss Jessie Baylis, alto, L. S. Bond, tenor, and R. T. Barnes, basso, then sang "Ever With Thee, Lord".

The Rev. Dr. Ketcham read selections from the Book of Psalms and from the last chapter of Revelations.

The Rev. Mr. Herring offered a brief but eloquent prayer. His remarks that followed breathed a spirit of Christian trust and hopefulness. He had always remembered with joy the words that came to John the seer of Patmos in his wonderful vision. The Master had bidden John to fear not, saying "I have the keys of death and of the grave; and because I live ye shall live also". He had also said to John "Fear not, My strength is sufficient for thee. I was dead, but through victory I am alive."

"We must all speak words of comfort to the sorrowing"—continued the speaker "but the comfort coming from the words of Christ is what we need. Paul was brave because he believed in immortality. Oh that this death might be sanctified to us and that we might take the word of God for our guide and Christ for the author and finisher of our faith."

Dr. Ketcham's remarks were based on the following passage of Scripture:

> Peace I leave with you, my peace I give unto you; not as the world giveth, give I unto you. Let not your heart be troubled, neither let it be afraid.

His remarks were in substance as follows:

"Suffering and starving humanity wants something done for it. Christ does this. He puts forth His hand to us in two ways. We are blind, and He enables us to see. It is our privilege to look Heavenward and see Christ. But seeing is not always sufficient. God then takes care of his child. Mr. Ackerman today sleeps here in the Lord. He has a message for us, as he sleeps. I wish to re-echo, if I can, his words, and to emphasize the lesson of his business life. Young men are today pondering what standards they shall adopt in business. The departed speaks to them. He always carried a copy of the Proverbs, God's word, in his pocket. He wished the word of God to be his guide always. He being dead, speaketh a great lesson.

"Pastors sometimes detect hidden springs of thought in their parishioners. When Warren Ackerman sat in that seat among you, the truth, I know, that affected him most deeply was that Christ was all and in all, in life, in sorrow and in death. Truly Warren Ackerman speaks to us today."

The closing prayer by Doctor Ketcham was sweetly touching. The choir sang for the closing selection, "Lo I am With You Always."

The floral pieces were a piece from the late Mr. Ackerman's New York office, representing a stubble field, a sheaf of wheat and an anchor, the whole surmounted by a snow-white dove; a cross from Ernest Ackerman and his sisters, nephew and nieces of the departed; a large floral pillow from Mr. and Mrs. Willis; a harp from Dr. Coles and sister, of Scotch Plains; a beautiful wreath from Charles D. Stout and his mother, Mrs. Stout, who was a sister of Dr. Coles. Three large sago palm leaves with numerous bunches of roses tied with white ribbons rested on the casket.

Many notable persons were seen in attendance at the services. The ushers were J. M. Bettman, C. E. Bond and H. A. Pope.

* * *

ALAS, POOR SANCHO!

He Was the Last Descendant of the Press Dog Fanny, and a Trolley Car Laid Him Low.

The oldest employes of The Press remember with affection a dog, Fanny by name, who lived for many years in the office, and together with an owl and a cat formed a happy family that was only broken up by an untimely accident that sent poor Fanny to the happy hunting grounds. Nobody knew how old Fanny was, for the memory of the employes went not back so far concerning her. She might have been living yet had not a section of the boiler, near which she slept, blown out and ended a happy and useful life. The owl died shortly afterwards from the effects of a similar accident, both calamities strangely justifying the prophecy of a despised pressman, but that, as Kipling says, is another story.

Fanny's mate was named Jack, and was the property of the Frasse family of Watchung avenue. Their union was blessed by many children, but their ranks were thinned by the scythe of Time until one only survived. This was a younger son, Sancho by name, who had brightened the lives of the Frasse children for 17 years. But in that time Sancho had suffered many things, and the infirmities of age had at last descended upon his head. He was stone deaf, and when he went out to take the air Saturday night and strayed across the tracks of the street railway he could not hear the hum of the trolley. The car was upon him before he knew it, and poor Sancho was no more.

Thus perished the last of a beloved family, and that is why The Press staff is sad and why the Frasse family is cast down.

* * *

Decorated by a Plainfield Artist.

All Souls church (Unitarian) will re-open next Sunday, Sept. 3. During the vacation Woolston & Buckle have been decorating the interior from designs furnished by George Wharton Edwards.

Westfield Ate Peaches and Cream.

A peach festival was given by the Presbyterian young people of Westfield Tuesday night. The newly-painted lecture room looked very inviting with its neatly-spread tables upon which was shed the soft glow of incandescent lamps. Laughing groups gathered round the tables; waitresses hurried to and fro; conversation sparkled; and good cheer reigned throughout the evening. Miss Saidie Henry rendered a piano solo with excellent touch.

Among those present were Miss Emma Stilwell, Miss Gilby and Miss Grace Gilby, Miss Shepherd, Miss Jane Morrow, Miss Sophie Condit, Miss Anna Warncke, Miss Nellie Rice, Miss Fannie Clark, Miss Annie Lambert, Miss Ida Clark, Miss Annie Miller, Misses Maud and Edith Manning, Miss Daisy Koester, and Messrs. Condit, J. Willis Pierson, Morrow, Scofield, Clotworthy, F. B. Baker, Andrus, Edwards and others.

* * *

Wholesale Damage by the Storms.

(From The Official Crop Bulletin.)

PLAINFIELD—The high wind of the 24th did great damage to fruit trees and growing crops; corn is blown down badly. The excessive rain of the same date washed the fields and damaged the tomatoes. The amount of rainfall for the month, up to date, is 7.10 inches. Rainfall for the week, 4.51 inches; average temperature, 73 degrees.

JOHN NEAGLE.

* * *

A Carpenter's Ugly Fall.

J. Quane, a carpenter, of 415 West Second street, while working for a man named Waters at Westfield, fell from a scaffold, Wednesday, a distance of about fifteen feet, and dislocated his right shoulder, besides receiving internal injuries. The scaffold was not properly built, and he and others fell to the ground. Drs. C. M. Field and Frank Searles reduced the dislocation, and the patient is on the road to recovery.

* * *

May Race Next Saturday.

James Willis, who was tied with Coffin for the time prize in the 25-mile road race of the Lyceum Wheelmen in Plainfield, Aug. 19, won the 1-mile handicap race at Waverly, Saturday. His time was 2:19 1-5.

Coffin came in second in the same race. Willis had 30 yards handicap over the scratch man. He also won the 2-mile race; time, 4:30 3-5. Willis and Coffin will probably race off their tie for the Plainfield time prize next Saturday.

* * *

Jolly Crescent Wheelmen.

About 15 members of the Crescent Wheelmen took a run to Rahway Tuesday evening, by the way of Elizabeth. On reaching their destination, they went to the Rahway House, where an elaborate spread had been prepared. Speeches were made by Charles Leggett, James Buckle, Dr. D. C. Adams and Dr. J. T. Fritts. The return was made by the way of Westfield.

* * *

That's the Kind of Man He Is.

F. S. Dunn, engineer at the electric light station, at 4 Tuesday morning, during the heavy blow, in throwing a switch to save one of the dynamos from being burned out, had his hand severely burned. Although the pain of the wound was intense, he remained bravely at his post.

* * *

$10 for Wife Beating.

Frederick Bader and his wife made the beer bottles and dishes fly Saturday night, and damaged one another considerably. The wife considered herself the aggrieved person, and had Frederick arrested. Judge Coddington this morning fined him $10.

* * *

One of my children had a very bad discharge from her nose. Two physicians prescribed, but without benefit. We tried Ely's Cream Balm, and much to our surprise, there was a marked improvement. We continued using the Balm and in a short time the discharge was cured.—O. A. Cary, Corning, N. Y.

HILL'S

REMEMBER We GUARANTEE A CURE [illegible]

Double Chloride of Gold Tablets

Will completely destroy the desire for TOBACCO in from 3 to 5 days. [illegible]

DRUNKENNESS and MORPHINE HABIT can be cured at home, and without any effort on the part of the patient, by the use of our SPECIAL FORMULA GOLD CURE TABLETS. [illegible]

HILL'S TABLETS are for sale by all FIRST-CLASS druggists at $1.00 per package.

If your druggist does not keep them, enclose us $1.00 and we will send you, by return mail, a package of our Tablets.

Write your name and address plainly, and state whether Tablets are for Tobacco, Morphine or Liquor Habit.

DO NOT BE DECEIVED into purchasing any of the various nostrums that are being offered for sale. Ask for HILL'S TABLETS and take no other.

Manufactured only by

—THE—

OHIO CHEMICAL CO.,

51, 53 & 55 Opera Block,

LIMA, OHIO.

PARTICULARS

FREE.

TOBACCO HABIT EASILY CURED.

A FEW Testimonials from persons who have been cured by the use of Hill's Tablets.

THE OHIO CHEMICAL CO.:—DEAR SIR:—I have been using your cure for tobacco habit, and found it would do what you claim for it. [illegible] E. M. JAYLORD, Leslie, Mich.

DOBBS FERRY, N. Y.

THE OHIO CHEMICAL CO.:—GENTLEMEN:—Some time ago I sent for $1.00 worth of your Tablets for Tobacco Habit. I received them all right and, although I was both a heavy smoker and chewer, they did the work in less than three days. I am cured. Truly yours, MATHEW JOHNSON, P. O. Box 45.

PITTSBURGH, PA.

THE OHIO CHEMICAL CO.:—GENTLEMEN:—It gives me pleasure to speak a word of praise for your Tablets. My son was strongly addicted to the use of liquor, and through a friend, I was led to try your Tablets. He was a heavy and constant drinker, but after using your Tablets but three days he quit drinking, and will not touch liquor of any kind. I have waited four month before writing you, in order to know the cure was permanent. Yours truly, MRS. HELEN MORRISON.

CINCINNATI, OHIO.

THE OHIO CHEMICAL CO.:—GENTLEMEN:—Your Tablets have performed a miracle in my case. I have used morphine, hypodermically, for seven years, and have been cured by the use of two packages of your Tablets, and without any effort on my part. W. L. LOTEGAY.

Address all Orders to

RESPONSIBLE AGENTS WANTED

THE OHIO CHEMICAL CO.,

51, 53 and 55 Opera Block, LIMA, OHIO.

(In writing please mention this paper.)

N. J. STATE FAIR,

Waverly Park.

Thirty-Fifth Annual Exhibition

—WILL BE HELD—

SEPTEMBER 4, 5, 6, 7 AND 8.

Trotting, Running, Pacing and Bicycle Races each day; Grand Exhibition of Road, Draft and Carriage Horses; Thoroughbred Cattle, Sheep, Swine and Poultry; Flowers in great and rare varieties; Magnificent Display of Fruits, Flowers and Vegetables; Farm Machinery and Garden Implements; Works of Art in Painting and Embroidery.

New and Novel Attractions each day: Flying Trapeze; Miss Valdie in her Thrilling Dive from an 80-foot Tower; Horizontal Bar Performers, the best in America; Marvelous Jugglers; Dog, Cat and Monkey Circus, and a Host of Special Attractions For Labor Day.

LABOR DAY ADMISSION, 25 CENTS.

Privileges of all kinds will be sold on the Fair Grounds by Ira Kilburn, after Aug 21st. All persons desiring privileges must apply in person. For premium list address P. T. QUINN, Corresponding Secretary, 744 Broad street, Newark, N. J. E. B. GADDIS, President.

IT IS NOT AN ACCIDENT

That our business has grown to its present proportions. Everything that a complete knowledge of the Piano and Organ business can do for a customer is done here. There is no mystery here—all that we know, you may know if you'll listen. Our years of experience has taught us that the Steinway, Gabler, Vose, Sterling and Braumeller Pianos are the best to be had; each has its own peculiar features stamping it distinct from the others. Which one is best for you is a question. Any time you'll come in we will help you solve it.

S. D. LAUTER COMPANY,

657 and 659 Broad Street, Newark, N. J

p 1 20 tm—c 1 20 tm

SHERIFF'S SALE.

IN CHANCERY OF NEW JERSEY.

Between Daniel H. Manning, complainant, and Mary E. Cain and Kate Noel, defendants. Fi. fa. for sale of mortgaged premises.

By virtue of the above stated writ of fieri facias to me directed, I shall expose for sale by public vendue, at the Court House, in the city of Elizabeth, N. J., on

WEDNESDAY, THE FOURTH DAY OF OCTOBER, A. D. 1893,

at two o'clock in the afternoon of said day, all that tract or parcel of land and premises hereinafter particularly described, situate, lying and being in the City of Plainfield, in the County of Union, and State of New Jersey.

Being known and designated as lots Nos. 5, 6, 8, 9 and 10 in block "B" as shown on map of property of the Washington Fire Insurance Co. made by F. A. Dunham, 1887.

[illegible]

W. H. Hicks, Sheriff.

J. E. COWARD, Sol'r.

D&LC Fees $32.40

SHERIFF'S SALE—In Chancery of New Jersey—Between the Central New Jersey Land Improvement Company, complainant, and the Fanwood Club, et al., defendants. Fi. fa. for sale of mortgaged premises.

By virtue of the above stated writ of fieri facias to me directed, I shall expose for sale by public vendue, at the Court House in the City of Elizabeth, N. J., on

WEDNESDAY, THE THIRTEENTH DAY OF SEPTEMBER, A. D. 1893,

at two o'clock in the afternoon of said day, all that certain plot piece or parcel of ground with the buildings thereon erected, situate, lying and being in the township of Fanwood, County of Union and State of New Jersey, and bounded and described as follows:

[illegible]

W. H. HICKS, Sheriff.

GIBSON HOLMES, Sol'r.

D&LC Fees $20.40 8 10 wf

MASTER'S SALE.

By virtue of a decree made by the Court of Chancery of the State of New Jersey, bearing date the twenty-fourth day of June, eighteen hundred and ninety-three, in a certain cause pending in the Court of Chancery of New Jersey [illegible]

[illegible]

J. D. BARTINE,
Special Master in Chancery of New Jersey.
GEO. V. VANDEVEER, Sol'r.
Dated June 28, 1893.
[illegible] Fees $14.40. 8 17 8

ADMINISTRATRIX'S SALE—Union County Orphans' Court—In the matter of the sale of the lands of Marcellus M. Park, deceased, for the payment of his debts. By virtue of an order entered in the above stated matter [illegible]

CHARLOTTE PARK,
Administratrix, etc. of Marcellus M. Park, deceased.
Dated August 9, 1893.
JACKSON & CODDINGTON, Attorneys.
Fees $7.70. 8 17w6

WANTED.

Salesmen to solicit for a choice line of Nursery Stock; complete outfit free and good pay from the start; previous experience not necessary; write at once and secure territory.

THE HAWKS NURSERY CO.,
8 24 4m Rochester, N. Y.

German Valley Quarries.

Building Mason {STONE} Bridge Dressed

CUT TO ORDER FOR

Lintles, Sills, Water Tables, Etc.

SPECIAL ATTENTION GIVEN

TO HEAVY BRIDGE STONE.

LYMAN KICE, Prop.,

8 24 8 German Valley, N. J.

The best builders use only the best materials—lumber, brick, lime, cement, sand—whatever goes into the construction of a building; they employ only the best workmen and pay the best wages; they get better prices for their work than their less careful competitors, and always get the best contracts; they paint their work with

Strictly Pure White Lead

manufactured by the "Old Dutch Process" of slow corrosion, and with one of the following standard brands:

"Atlantic" "Bradley" "Brooklyn" "Jewett" "Ulster"

For colors they use the National Lead Company's Pure White Lead Tinting Colors. [illegible]

NATIONAL LEAD CO.

E. C. Morris Safe Co

Incorporated. Capital $250,000.

Successors to E. C. Morris & Co.

64 Sudbury St., Boston, Mass.

FIRE AND BURGLAR-PROOF SAFES.

[illegible]

AT BEDTIME I TAKE A PLEASANT HERB DRINK

[illegible]

LANE'S MEDICINE

[illegible]

PAPIAC.

(Boynton Beach,)

NOW OPEN

—FOR—

EXCURSIONS & PICNICS

One-Half Off!

CARPETS

And FURNITURE.

On account of the Financial Depression and Dull Season,

AMOS H. VAN HORN.

LIMITED,

Will take off just one-half of regular selling prices.

BEDROOM SUITS.

15 Antique Oak Bedroom Suits, regular price $30	Reduced to $15

PARLOR SUITS.

15 Parlor Suits, mahogany finished frame, in plush cov'ng. reg price $50	Reduced to $25

CARPETS.

25 pieces All-Wool Ingrain Carpet, reg. price per yard $1.	Reduced to 50c
do 3 Ply Carpet, reg. price per yard $1.25	Reduced to 63c
do Tapestry Brussels Carpet, reg price per yd. 90c.	Reduced to 45c
do Body Brussels Carpet, reg. price per yard $1.30.	Reduced to 65c
do Velvet Carpet, reg. price per yard $1.30	Reduced to 65c
do Moquette Carpet, reg. price per yard $1.40	Reduced to 70c

MATTING.

To close out the balance of our Spring stock will sell Good Fancy Matting Per yard only 15c.

PORTLAND RANGES.

We shall commence from this date to push the Portland Range as it has no equal. More sold than any other range. Warranted in every way or money refunded.

Note the Name AMOS over the Door Before Entering the Store. Easy terms.

Telephone 580! Elevator to Every Floor!

Goods Delivered FREE OF CHARGE to All Parts of the State!

AMOS H. VAN HORN,

LIMITED.

73 Market Street,

Near Plane St., Newark, N. J.

TOWNSEND'S

Marble & Granite Works,

30 SOMERSET STREET,

PLAINFIELD, N. J.

If you have not engaged your work, I should be pleased to do it for you.

I buy only first-class Marble and Granite and do not sell unless at prices that will enable me to put up the work with credit to myself and justice to the parties purchasing.

I employ no agents and therefore am enabled to make a reduction in the price of my work to the consumer, of the commission generally paid to agents.

I am under a very small expense in running my shop, myself and my son doing the larger portion of the work, and we personally attend to the setting of all work, and look upon business in this light, that Good Work and Good Material, at Fair Prices, is a standing advertisement for my business, which will tend to build up trade, and I feel safe to warrant that no dealer can sell you the same work and same stock any cheaper than I can.

Hoping to be favored with your patronage, I am yours respectfully,

J. E. TOWNSEND,
Manager. 8 11 tf
Branch Yard Westfield, N. J.

FURS

And all kinds of wearing apparel

STORED

And insured against all damage by fire or moth.

Repairing and re-dyeing of Furs should be done during the summer months.

GEO. C. TREADWELL CO.

SUCCESSORS TO

W. H. AND S. BURNETT.

17 Academy st., Newark. 8 11 4

Scientific American Agency for

PATENTS
CAVEATS,
TRADE MARKS,
DESIGN PATENTS,
COPYRIGHTS, etc.

For information and free Handbook write to MUNN & CO., 361 BROADWAY, NEW YORK. [illegible]

Scientific American

[illegible]

Dime Savings Institution

OF PLAINFIELD, N. J.

Is now receiving deposits payable on demand, with interest at the rate of three (3) per cent. per annum payable semi-annually.

[illegible]

THE BEE HIVE

LARGEST DRY & FANCY GOODS HOUSE [illegible]

THE BEE HIVE

NEWARK, N. J.

THINGS SOLD THERE THAT MAKE THE GREAT STORE IT IS.

Cut Out and Save for Reference.

STOCK LIST NO. 21.

HOSIERY.

LADIES' Tights in silk and lisle.

LADIES' Opera and ordinary length hose in cotton, wool, lisle, pure silk and silk and lisle, in a fine line of novelties, plain colors, stripes, fast blacks and black boots.

LADIES' Balbriggans in regular and opera lengths and in outsizes.

LADIES' fleece lined, natural wool, cashmere and cotton hose.

MEN'S Socks in cotton, lisle, merino, and wool and silk in plain shades, fast black, balbriggans, stripes, embroidered and drop stitch.

MEN'S Bicycle Hose in cotton and wool.

MISSES' and BOYS' fast black and tan shades, ribbed and plain in cotton, lisle, silk, plaited, wool and cashmere.

INFANTS' ½, ¾ and full length cotton, lisle, cashmere, silk and merino hose.

No Branch Stores.

Mail Orders Filled.

L. S. PLAUT & CO.,

707 to 721 Broad St.,

NEWARK.

NOTICE. June 5, 1893.

Estate of Harriet N. Case, Deceased.

Pursuant to the order of George T. Parrot, Surrogate of the county of Union, this day made, on the application of the undersigned, administrator of said deceased, notice is hereby given to the creditors of said deceased to exhibit to the subscriber under oath or affirmation their claims and demands against the estate of said deceased within nine months from this date, or they will be forever barred [illegible]

CITY DEPARTMENT.

OFFICIAL PAPER OF THE STATE, THE COUNTY AND THE CITY, AND HAS THE LARGEST CIRCULATION OF ANY PAPER PUBLISHED IN THE COUNTY OF UNION.

Walter Irving Clarke, City Editor.

—Pears are a light crop.

—The grape crop is large.

—Oyster-times 'most here.

—Daylight is getting shorter.

—New Jersey has 28 State banks.

—The cranberry crop will be large.

—Cut the weeds along the highway.

—The 10:27 train no longer connects for Long Branch.

—After tomorrow, try oysters. And be sure they come from Rogers.

—Every boy in town can get rich. Call at Reynolds's pharmacy and find out.

—The North Plainfield public school will be re-opened Tuesday, September 12.

—Race street, North Plainfield, is in a bad condition, and should have attention.

—The Plainfield milk dealers have issued a notice to consumers that on and after September 1, the price of milk will be increased to 8 cents a quart.

—The foot race of the Crescent baseball players will take place Monday morning before the game. Plainfield shopkeepers have offered merchandise prizes.

—Superintendent Adlemán has his men putting in a switch and turnout at the Watchung avenue terminus of the street railway, to be used by both branches of the road.

—It is announced that the First Presbyterian pastor, the Rev. C. E. Herring, will give a series of sermons on the World's Fair, treating specially of the Midway Plaisance.

—The great State Fair at Waverly will receive its annual throngs next week. This year the attractions are greater and more magnificent than ever. No lover of a glorious exhibition will stay away. Read the ad and find out all about it.

—The Plainfield Branch of the International Association of Machinists, No. 167, are in the contest for the beautiful gold and ivory gavel offered to the most popular society in New York, New Jersey and Connecticut, by the New York Morning Journal.

—The young lady with whom Charles Hand became so angered last Saturday, and whom he accused of fraud and swindle, has engaged counsel for an action of damage suit. She is an educated and refined young lady, and her friends say that Charles has gone too far this time.

THAT PLAINFIELD INVENTION.

More Detail of the Howard Electric Lamp.

The new electric lamp, invented by Louis E. Howard, and told of exclusively in The Press of Saturday, has caused considerable interest not only among professional men who can understand the technical points in its favor but by the laity, who are always interested in a new invention but who are apt to get a wofully wrong idea of it unless a concise description is given them. The following short explanation of the lamp, which was crowded out of Saturday's issue, will be of interest.

The incandescent arc lamp has been an attractive subject for experiment to inventors for a long time past, but the lamps that have been tried have all been lacking in the one necessary feature of economy. As stated in Saturday's Press, Mr. Howard has been experimenting for more than a year on his lamp but not until recently have sufficient tests been made to render its practical success a certainty.

The investigations and tests as to its efficiency, life, and candle-power have been carried out at Cornell University under Mr. Howard's general direction and under the direct supervision of men who stand in the first rank of the profession of electric engineering. The tests have been most satisfactory in every way and the results as well as a general description of the lamp were embodied in a paper read last Friday before the International Electrical Congress at the World's Fair by L. B. Marks, M. E. The new light was spoken of enthusiastically by Dr. Edward L. Nichols of Cornell and Sir William Thompson, two of the foremost electrical experts of the world.

The lamp as its name implies comprises the principles of the incandescent lamp and the arc lamp. The essential parts are the carbons which form the arc and a glass envelope which surrounds the carbons. The glass used is highly refractory.

This envelope which is formed like a bulb is provided with an asbestos plug at one end and is practically closed at the other, a sufficient aperture being left in the asbestos plug to receive one of the carbons, the other being fixed in the closed end. When the current is turned on the air in the glass chamber is robbed of its oxygen, on account of the combustion of a certain part of the carbons, which oxygen unites with the carbon of the electrodes and forms the two gases, CO2 and CO (carbon dioxide and carbon monoxide). In the lamp the electrodes (carbons) are not in contact and the heat from the arc is indirectly used in maintaining all the products of disintegration of the carbon (various gases) in a state of incandescence or opalescence which produces a light of great power, steadiness and brilliancy.

The admission of air is practically stopped by the form of the lamp and any that may come in is deprived of its oxygen immediately. A small valve provides for the escape of the heated gases if they arrive at a tension too great to be borne by the sides of the glass bulb. We have then, an arc in a peculiar condition, practically kept away from the influence of oxygen which effects a considerable saving on the carbon.

The lamp may be used with either the alternating or direct current. The light is more brilliant than the incandescent and much more steady and pleasing than the arc lamp, and has the great advantage of economy over all other systems.

This may be seen from the fact revealed by the tests that it was possible under favorable circumstances to produce light of 888 candle-power for every electrical horse-power used, while the ordinary incandescent lamp produces but 226 candles per electrical horse-power.

The consumption of carbon is very much less in this lamp than in the exposed arc. In one case in the experimental work six inches of carbon only were used in a run of 100 hours. With all these advantages over previous systems of producing light it will be strange indeed if the incandescent arc does not supersede in a short time all other lamps where brilliancy, economy and steadiness are to be desired. Of course practical difficulties often come to bother the inventor, but the tests of Mr. Howard's lamp have shown such unrivalled results that the new system may have an easy path before it to success.

A Five-Mile Handicap Bicycle Race.

Saturday afternoon at 4 there will be a five-mile handicap bicycle race in North Plainfield for boys between the ages of 12 and 15. All those wishing to enter must notify Mr. Jones, janitor of the Park Club, before Thursday night. The entrance fee is 10 cents, and four good medals will be awarded, one of which is for the best time. The start will be from the corner of Washington and Willow avenues, and the course is from Washington to Mercer, to Sycamore, to Willow and to Washington.

PERSONALIA.

Mr. and Mrs. Romney Blair, of East Second street, are at Ocean Grove.

John Leggett, of Princeton, is visiting his son, J. H. Leggett, the druggist.

William Flanders, of Greenville, North Carolina, is in town visiting relatives.

Mrs. Elmore D. Moffett is home again from a delightful visit to Ocean Grove.

Dr. T. S. Davis and family are now at The New Sagamore, Long Lake, N. Y.

The public will be glad to see Police Sergeant Lynch return to duty Friday.

H. M. Ball returned Saturday night from a week's rest at Maplewood, N. H.

Frank Milligan, of West Fourth street, is visiting relatives in Lebanon for a few days.

Mr. and Mrs. Peter A. Emmons and family came home Saturday from Asbury Park.

Miss Fanny Lorton, of Philadelphia, is visiting Miss Ida Lorton, of West Fifth street.

The Rev. J. P. Taylor and family have changed their address to The Curlew, Asbury Park.

Miss Lillie Carmichael of Dunellen is spending a few days with her friend, Miss Thorn, of this city.

The Misses Peck will open the Rockview Home and Day School at 313 East Front street, Sept. 18.

Misses Cora and Nellie King, of Newark, are visiting friends and relatives in Plainfield and the borough.

Mr. and Mrs. George H. Dupee are home again after an enjoyable vacation in the Adirondack Mountains.

Misses Edith and Ursula Sycee, of New York, are visiting their sister, Mrs. C. S. Meyers, of Kensington avenue.

The Misses Ella and Kittie Mullen, of West Fifth street, have returned from a two weeks visit to Asbury Park.

Miss Mabel Hannan, of Brooklyn, is being entertained by her friend Miss Henrietta Cuming, of Watchung avenue.

Mr. and Mrs. George W. Clark, of Orchard place, have returned from Ocean Grove, where they spent ten days.

Miss Lawrence, of Hillside avenue, has returned to Plainfield after a visit of one month with friends on Long Island.

It is Milkman Dayton Mellick, of Mt. Pleasant, who has the new customer, instead of George Mellick as misreported.

Mrs. W. A. Schutt, of Duer street, with her little daughter, are at the wave-washed white sand beach of Asbury Park.

T. S. Thorn is now President of the Carpenters and Joiners Local Union, No. 155, of Plainfield; and F. J. Bogert is Secretary.

Mrs. Clara Welch and May Crosby have returned to Westfield from a visit of two weeks with the Misses Gardner of this city.

William J. Lamson, Yale '93, formerly of Plainfield, will enter the College of Physicians and Surgeons in New York this fall.

Mr. and Mrs. Grant Hegel, of Detroit, are spending a few days with relatives in town. Mr. Hegel was formerly a resident of Plainfield.

Miss Barbara Eder and Miss Emma Wennes, of North Plainfield, are enjoying the beautiful scenery at Chimney Rock and Buttermilk Falls for two weeks.

Frank T. Clawson, of East Sixth street, started yesterday on his vacation, which will be spent visiting various places of interest through the eastern States.

Miss Lizzie J. Miner, sister of Choirmaster Miner of the Church of the Holy Cross, has been appointed as one of the new teachers in the North Plainfield school.

Mrs. J. E. Danielson, wife of J. E. Danielson, M. D., of Bergen street, Brooklyn, accompanied by her daughter Miss Lillian, is visiting Mrs. A. L. Force, of Duer street.

The pulpit of the Park Avenue Baptist church will again be occupied, next Sunday, by the Rev. J. W. Richardson, the pastor. He will be given hearty welcome by his congregation.

Mr. and Mrs. William O'Connor, who have been spending their honeymoon at Worcester, Mass., have returned to Plainfield, and will take up their residence on Liberty street, near Fifth.

The Somerville papers record that Miss Phebe Mills, of Trinity Reformed church choir, Plainfield, has sung in the Basking Ridge Presbyterian church on one or two occasions with much success.

Charles H. Hall, one of H. P. Reynolds's valued staff, has returned from his two weeks vacation trip. He spent one week at his old home, Fishkill on the Hudson, and one week at the great White City.

Grace M. E. church has a jewel of a pastor in the Rev. H. F. Randolph. He is a bright, studious young divine; and seems to have, as he deserves, the united support of his flourishing congregation.

Corporation Counsel Craig A. Marsh and wife returned by steamship New York from Europe Saturday night. During the passage they had strong northwest winds and head seas, with fog nearly all the time.

James Mee, of New York city, spent Sunday with his cousins, Mrs. J. R. Newman and the Misses Nellie and Margaret Mee, of Steiner place. Mr. Mee will sail for Europe next Wednesday, for the good of his health.

A full-dress hop will be given at Hotel Netherwood Thursday evening, accompanying a promenade and testimonial concert to the hotel orchestra. Special talent from New York has been engaged to assist in the music.

Mrs. Carrie Merritt, of Newark, formerly Miss Carrie Sutton of Plainfield, was re-married in New York city, August 21, by the Rev. McKendree Shaw, and is now Mrs. Harry Wilson of New York. The bride was a sister of the late Levi Sutton of Plainfield.

Father Walsh, the much-beloved assistant pastor of the Church of Our Lady of the Good Counsel, Ninetieth street, New York, was in North Plainfield the other day calling on some of his parishioners who were stopping with Mrs. A. L. Carney of Emily street.

Trinity church is very considerate of its pastor. When the Rev. Cornelius Schenck wrote that he was about to leave Haines Falls and resume his pulpit labors, the trustees wrote back telling him not to return unless his health had been perfectly restored. His leave of absence has been extended one month.

The Misses Scoup will leave their summer home, Harriet Cottage, Belmar, for Plainfield September 1, and prepare for the opening of their school. This institution has been very popular since its foundation four years ago. The excellence of the instruction and discipline will no doubt secure for it a continuance of gratifying patronage.

The American Tract Society, in annual session in Milton, Wis., in connection with the Seventh-Day Baptist Conference, has elected the following officers: President, Charles Potter, Plainfield; Vice-President, George H. Babcock, Plainfield; Treasurer, J. F. Hubbard, Plainfield; Secretaries, F. E. Peterson, Dunellen, and A. L. Titsworth, Plainfield.

A genuine watermelon feast was given by Miss Burr last Friday at her house, 221 La Grande avenue. Among the guests were: Miss Smith and Miss Batchelle of Elizabeth; Miss Thorne, Miss Fulton, Miss Abbott, Miss Honeger, Miss Covert, Miss Bowers, Miss Green, Miss Williams; Mr. Ogilby of New Brighton; Messrs. Chandler and Coryell of Newark; Mr. Batchelle of Elizabeth; Mr. Taylor of Westfield; Mr. Kilbourn of Bound Brook, and Messrs. Fulton, Freeman, Williams, Dayton, Holmes, Smith and Brown of this city.

Mrs. E. Chapin has concluded her visit to Ocean Grove.

Manager Steele of Rockfellow's Grocery is home again and at his post.

Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Brokaw and family are home again from the seashore.

A. V. D. Honeyman is home from another of his successful Chicago excursions.

Miss Margaret Day, of East Fourth street, is spending a few weeks in Asbury Park.

The Rev. W. R. Richards has left the downeast mountains for World's Fair wonders.

Miss Libby Springer, of Grove street, is the alert and efficient cashier at the City Market Meat Company's store on North avenue.

Jeremiah Moore, who has for years been a faithful worker for F. H. Demarest, is about to enter the employ of E. W. Rice & Co.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred VanEmburgh, of Westfield, are visiting their parents, Mr. and Mrs. George L. VanEmburgh of East Second street.

John Hickey and Harry Foose, formerly of this city, but now of Poughkeepsie, N. Y., are spending two weeks vacation with friends and relatives.

Monroe Brewster and wife start for Tacoma, Washington, Friday. They go by way of Niagara Falls, and stop on the way at Bloomington, Ill., for a week.

Among the Westfield people present at the funeral of the late Warren Ackerman today were: Chauncey B. Ripley, Mr. and Mrs. John T. Lawrence, Miss Shepherd and L. V. Clark.

Mr. and Mrs. J. J. H. Pollion, famous for their generous hospitality, have been entertaining their delighted friends during the summer at their cottage, "Ozalare", Spring Lake.

The marriage of Miss Mary Estelle VanMiddlesworth to Lindsey R. Woolley, is announced for Wednesday evening of next week, at 7, at the home of the bride, 111 Elmwood place. Only the immediate relatives and friends will be present.

Louis Coombs, employed at the Hotel Grenada, and Miss Nora Conway, both of Plainfield, were married by Father Curran in Elizabeth, Sunday afternoon. Today they are enjoying the breezes of Lake Hopatcong, having gone there on the Odd Fellows excursion.

The Rev. Franklin G. Warnick, pastor of Mt. Olive Baptist church, has begun the publication of a bright little church paper, The Mystic Mirror, which is commended to to the people for their support. The pastor is assisted in his editorial duties by his faithful wife.

FRANCIS H. GARDNER AT REST.

Simple and Affecting Services at the First Baptist Church.

The funeral of Francis H. Gardner, who died at Ocean Grove Sunday, took place Tuesday afternoon in the First Baptist church. Dr. K. P. Ketcham officiated.

The church was filled with the many friends of the deceased, who had come to pay their last tribute of respect and affection to the dead. The services were extremely simple and affecting, opening with a prayer which was followed by a hymn sung by the quartette composed of Mrs. J. S. Cutter, Miss Gussie Runyon, L. S. Bond and E. T. Barnes.

Dr. Ketcham then read from the Scriptures and the quartette sang "The Christian's Good-Night" from the Christian Endeavor hymn book. This was one of Mr. Gardner's favorite hymns.

The services ended with a benediction. The pall-bearers were J. B. Coward, Mayor Gilbert, William F. Arnold, Christian Schepflin, Robert Cook and Jeremiah Manning. The Berean Class of Warren chapel attended the funeral in a body.

The floral offerings were simple but beautiful. Noticeable among them was a large cross of smilax and roses from the Y. M. C. A., a white wreath and a large bunch of white roses.

The interment took place in Hillside Cemetery. The deceased leaves a widow, a son and three daughters.

COL. MOORE WINS.

Trial Before Judge Mosher Against Contractor Rice.

The case of Charles K. Moore against Charles P. Rice, for payment of a note, was heard before Justice Mosher Tuesday morning. Mr. Hetfield appeared for the plaintiff, and Mr. Marsh for the defendant. The defense was that Mr. Rice had paid the amount represented by the note and received a receipt for it.

On being asked where the receipt was, Mr. Rice swore that he burned it up, together with three large basketfuls of old receipts just two days before the action in this case was brought. Charles P. Rice, son of the defendant, swore to the burning of a receipt, but all evidence as to the contents was excluded by the court. Mr. Doud swore to having seen a receipt in Rice's hands at Tarrytown, signed by Col. Moore in 1889. Mr. Marsh with his customary shrewdness endeavored to bring out the contents of the receipt in every imaginable way, but the court ruled it out.

An offset to the claim was presented, of $137, on some old transaction. Mr. Hetfield raised the point that an affidavit should be filed with the offset.

The Judge took the papers for a decision at 4 p. m. Wednesday.

JUDGE MOORE WINS.

Judgment was rendered in favor of the plaintiff, for $200 and costs.

Eloped from Warrenville.

It is reported that Arthur Randolph, aged 40, and Miss Kilner, aged 14, daughter of Jacob Kilner, of Warrenville, eloped between 11 p. m. and 4 a. m., Monday. Randolph's home was in South Plainfield, and until two weeks ago he worked for Kilner. He parted from his wife and two children, the oldest of which is 17 years old, two years ago. The girl was not wayward, but Randolph seemed to fascinate her.

Some Doubts About Hough's Legacy.

New York reporters are still scouring Rahway and Plainfield following up the case of John S. Hough, who is alleged to have fallen heir to millions, and they say that grave doubts are expressed as to whether the whole story is not an invention of the Hough family, as it seems incredible that a man would die in California and leave $1,000,000 to a person whom he only knew as a nurse who attended him during his illness many years ago. He may have left Hough a legacy, but if so it is more likely to be as people about Rahway and this city say, a few thousand dollars than to run up in the hundreds of thousands. Hough is at present in Plainfield, visiting his friend Stewart.

—The Union County Christian Endeavor Union will hold a county conference in Plainfield, Friday evening, September 22. Miss Alice Spangenburg, of Netherwood, is expected to speak on Junior Work.

Children Cry for Pitcher's Castoria.

When Baby was sick, we gave her Castoria.
When she was a Child, she cried for Castoria.
When she became Miss, she clung to Castoria.
When she had Children, she gave them Castoria.

Royal Baking Powder

Absolutely Pure

A cream of tartar baking powder. Highest of all in leavening strength.—Latest U. S. Government Food Report.

ROYAL BAKING POWDER CO., 106 Wall St., N. Y.

DEATH'S MIGHTY HARVEST.

FRANCIS GARDNER AND WARREN ACKERMAN JOIN THE SILENT MAJORITY.

Other Well-Known Names on the Death Roll—Long List of Obituaries and Funerals.

From The Press of August 29.

Francis H. Gardner.

The death of Francis H. Gardner, late cashier of the City National Bank, occurred at Ocean Grove yesterday noon. Mr. Gardner had been suffering several weeks with heart trouble, and had been taken to the shore in the hope that the sea air would be beneficial.

Acting Cashier William F. Arnold stopped at the house yesterday noon to enquire Mr. Gardner's condition and found him almost unconscious and rapidly sinking. He spoke to the dying man, whose lips gave no reply, but a feeble twitching of the eyebrows gave token of recognition of the voice. The end came soon afterwards. The death-bed was attended by the faithful and sorrowing wife and the grief-stricken children.

Mr. Gardner was about 49 years of age. He had been a man of robust physique, but under his distressing illness had aged rapidly.

His connection with the City Bank dates from its foundation in 1875, when he was book-keeper and teller. He succeeded J. M. Myers as cashier. He had for years been treasurer of the First Baptist church, and was largely instrumental in founding Warren chapel, of which he was a trustee from the date of its organization.

The surviving children are a son and three daughters. The bereaved wife was a Miss Disbrow of Brooklyn. Nathaniel R. Gardner, of the Westfield Town Committee, was a brother of the deceased.

George B. Shepherd.

A large number of relatives and friends gathered in Warren chapel, North Plainfield, Saturday afternoon at 2, when the funeral services over the remains of the late George B. Shepherd were held.

The Rev. G. Kennedy Newell, of Hope chapel, had charge of the services. He read selections from the Bible appropriate to the occasion, and spoke as follows—

"Another of our number has been taken away, one whom we have walked and talked with. There is often a feeling of dread that comes to our hearts when we think of death. We tremble at the very thought of it, and the question often arises in our minds, When shall that time come to us?

"In the life of David the Psalmist, we see that he longed for the time when he would be free from his burdens and troubles. In fact, he rejoiced at the thought of meeting his Lord. The Master never repulsed anyone who came to Him; therefore we should not tremble, but take courage, and be thankful for such a hope as will give us a rest from the toils of this earth.

"The lesson for us today is that in looking for our release from troubles we should look to God. Paul has said that if we have faith in this life alone we are of all men the most miserable. Our faith should be coupled with hope in eternity. May God speak words of comfort to those left behind, and may we always have an abiding presence of Him who doeth all things well!"

A choir consisting of Miss Robbie Ingram, Miss Ackerman, Miss Minnie Bolsterli, Miss Lottie Coriell, M. M. Dunham and Fred Walker sang two very pretty hymns "Go Bury Thy Sorrow" and "Gathering Home".

"Mr. Newell invoked divine blessing, and pronounced the benediction. The pall-bearers were: George Watts, Garrett Mattis, Levi Kline and John Wyman. Interment was made at Somerville.

Sarah F. Randolph.

The funeral services of Sarah F., widow of the late Phineas F. Randolph, took place last Saturday afternoon, at the home of her son-in-law, David S. Pope, 417 East Sixth street.

The house was filled with the relatives and friends of this aged lady.

The Rev. Dr. K. P. Ketcham officiated, and spoke from the following text:

> Let not your hearts be troubled. Ye believe in God, believe also in Me.

The Doctor said among other things—"Anyone who has studied the plans of our Heavenly Master must be amazed at His care of us poor creatures. The deeper our sorrows the more directly He comes to us.

"This passage I have read is very precious as representing His care in our sorrows. The attractiveness of Heaven is an old, old story. From time to time people attempted to give glimpses of it, and of our holy Saviour. If we will only stop for a moment, He will draw the picture for us, and He will guide us all through the journey of life. What a beautiful personal picture and reality this all is! The comforts of heaven are manifold for God's children. No words of mine can give an adequate idea of our Saviour and heaven. He knows all our sorrows, and, moved with compassion, puts forth His hand to help us. Today we want to enter anew into God's feelings, for He is always attending and comforting us through and through, and when we are called He is ready to receive us."

The talk was concluded with a prayer, after which those present viewed the remains. The pall-bearers were: David Rogers, David S. Pope, William Randolph, Charles Randolph, Davidson Randolph, and Thomas Randolph. Interment was made in the Seventh-day Baptist cemetery at Ninth street and Arlington avenue.

Warren Ackerman.

Warren Ackerman, of Scotch Plains, died suddenly at his residence, Lyde Park, Saturday night, of paralysis caused by acute Bright's disease. He was seriously ill only three days, having gone to New York as usual Wednesday. He was unconscious all Friday, and died late Saturday night. He was in his sixty-eighth year. Mr. Ackerman made his fortune during the war, furnishing rubber goods to the United States Government. Later he was interested in the cement business, becoming president and principal stockholder of the Lawrenceville Cement Company. A few years ago he retired from active business, and devoted his time to his estate and the beautiful Glenside Park, formerly Feltville, which he bought and improved, transforming it from a picturesque but ugly village into its present attractive form. He married a daughter of Isaac L. Platt, one of the founders of the Chemical National Bank of New York, seventeen years ago. His wealth is estimated at several millions of dollars. His wife survives him.

Mrs. Mary B. Plummer.

The funeral of Mrs. Mary B. Plummer took place this afternoon at the residence of her sister, Mrs. Cellydon Tyler, 272 Macon street, Brooklyn. The Rev. Dr. Meredith of Brooklyn officiated.

Mrs. Plummer was for years a resident of Plainfield and a member of the Congregational church in this city. Mr. Goodrich, her former pastor, is on a vacation and was not able to return in time for the funeral. Mrs. Plummer was the second wife of J. L. Plummer, father of John F. Plummer formerly of Netherwood and of Mrs. Henry Bowen of Watchung avenue. They were married in 1872. Mr. Plummer died at Hotel Netherwood several years ago. Mrs. Plummer had been suffering from slow paralysis for some time, and while her death was sudden it was not entirely unlooked for. For the past few years she had made her home with her sister, Mrs. Tyler, who was formerly a resident of Plainfield.

Robert Gottheil.

A sad death is that of Robert Gottheil, of 680 West Front street.

He had been a resident of this city for a number of years, and a draughtsman in the Pond Machine Tool Company since the Plainfield works were started.

He had been ill for some time past, and a short time ago went to a summer resort in New York State, hoping to regain good health, but he gradually grew worse, until his friends were obliged to take him to his cousin's, Dr. Gottheil, Fifty-third street, New York city, where he died yesterday morning.

Mr. Gottheil had remarkable musical talent, which his friends were fond of having him display on the piano.

Mr. Gottheil leaves a wife, who is living in England, and one son, Carl Gottheil, who is well known among young men bicyclists.

James Brand.

In the death of James Brand, Plainfield loses another of its valued citizens. He passed away last evening at 7.

For the past three weeks Mr. Brand had been very ill.

Mr. Brand was an Englishman by birth, and was born March 10, 1807. When a young man, he came to New York, and engaged in the paint business.

Later he moved to this city, making his home at Short Hills, where he had an extensive farm.

He leaves a wife. His nephew, Robert Brand, is a well-known citizen of Evona.

The funeral will be Wednesday afternoon at 5, from the house.

Mrs. Alice Sebring.

Sad circumstances attend the death of Mrs. Alice Sebring, which occurred Saturday. Only a few days ago occurred the death and burial of her mother, Almira, wife of Lewis C. J. Randolph. The funeral of Mrs. Sebring will be from the home of her father, 1212 West Front street, Evona, tomorrow afternoon at 2:45.

Elizabeth Winckler.

At the funeral of Elizabeth Winckler, last Saturday morning from St. Mary's church, six girls from the Society of the Immaculate Conception acted as pall-bearers, and several other girls from the society sang in the choir. It was a very beautiful and impressive service. The girls were all dressed in pure white.

Mrs. Cleaver.

The mother of the Rev. J. B. Cleaver, recently of this city, is dead at the age of 91. Her husband died in Plainfield some time ago at the age of 97.

He'll Be Well-Fed Now.

James Watson, a tramp, was crawling into a cellar window at Henry Windermeyer's home in the borough Sunday morning at 1 in search of something to eat. Marshal Pangborn caught him in the act, and lodged him in jail. This morning Borough Magistrate Crosley sent Watson to jail for 30 days.

CLARKSON HAMMEAL.

Pastor Herring Gives Him Tribute as a Man Who Paid His Debts.

The incidents in connection with the life and death of Clarkson Hammeal, made his funeral a particularly sad one.

It was held Sunday afternoon at 1, from his late residence, 30 Elm place, the Rev. C. E. Herring and the Rev. Mr. Bond officiating.

A very large representation of Lodge No. 44, I. O. O. F., was present. There was also a large gathering of Mr. Hammeal's other friends.

Mr. Herring read several Scripture selections, after which Mr. Bond made a prayer.

The remarks by Mr. Herring were excellent. He said:

"The summons that came to me to be present today seems peculiar. In the short time that I have been on my vacation I have been called home twice on account of the death of aged persons, and this morning in church I was told to remain near home as another person very ill was not expected to live.

"I never had the pleasure of knowing the deceased, but I was talking with an aged person recently, and he remarked that he had known Mr. Hammeal since his youth and that he had always been an honest and upright man. He always paid his debts as far as possible, and I was so glad when I heard this, for I have been told there are people in this city who do not pay their honest debts.

"We are reminded how frail life is and our trust should be firm in God, ever ready for he call." Mr. Herring closed his remarks with a prayer, after which Mr. Bond pronounced the benediction.

An opportunity was then given to those present to view the remains. Interment was made in the Presbyterian cemetery in North Plainfield.

The pall-bearers, members of the Odd Fellows, were: John Bodine, Joseph Kingston, Thomas J. Young, William Boe, Thomas H. Clarkson and I. Pangborn.

A pillow of flowers from the lodge with the letters I. O. O. F., one from the butchers with the words "A Butchers' Friend", and one with the word "Father", rested on the casket. Mr. Hammeal's Odd Fellows regalia was placed beside the flowers. The ritual of the Odd Fellows was read at the grave.

West Front Street in Bad Shape.

Front street west of Grant avenue is going to ruin for want of top dressing. Christian Schepflin and other prominent tax-payers of that section are vexed at the city's inactivity in the matter. Such good and liberal citizens as Mr. Schepflin contributed largely to the original expense of improving this thoroughfare; and their request for preservation of the street should be heeded. It would be a good idea for the street committee to inspect the road bed in company with the street commissioner, and order him to make the necessary repairs before winter sets in.

More Sunday Statistics.

The Press Monday told of the meagre attendance at Sunday evening services. Here are some figures of the morning attendance at the representative churches:

First Baptist, [illegible].
Methodist Episcopal, [illegible].
First Presbyterian, [illegible].
Crescent Avenue Presbyterian, [illegible].
Holy Cross, [illegible].
Grace Episcopal, [illegible].
Grace Methodist, [illegible].
Park Avenue Baptist, [illegible].
Trinity, closed.
Congregational, closed.

—The Plainfield public school will re-open for the fall and winter session, [illegible], September [illegible].

ST PETER'S LUTHERAN CHURCH.

CORNER-STONE LAID FOR THE NEW HOUSE OF WORSHIP.

Visiting Clergymen Give Praise to Pastor Klonke for the Work He Has Achieved—Thanks Also to American Friends.

The corner-stone of the new St. Peter's German Lutheran church, at Grove street and Mercer avenue, was laid on Sunday afternoon at 4, with interesting ceremonies.

A large crowd of people gathered to witness the event.

Singing, by the congregation, the Liturgie, by the Rev. E. Klonke, and an address in German, by the Rev. E. Moldenke, D. D., of New York, formed the first part of the programme.

At the conclusion of Dr. Moldenke's address, which was a very able one, the Rev. T. T. Heischmann, D. D., of Brooklyn, delivered a most eloquent discourse in English. The Doctor said:

"I want to congratulate you today, my German friends, that you have progressed so far with your church. I also want to thank our American friends for their generous beneficence towards raising this edifice.

"The character of a place is not determined by the quality of its factories, stores, etc., but by its churches, and the power they exert among the people. I notice that there are many churches in this city, and it speaks well for your beautiful place.

"But today I especially rejoice because we are to have a German church, where our people can go and receive the teachings of Christ.

"There is a large number of people who have the idea that the German people are infidels, and they are sending missionaries to that country with the Gospel. Why, Germany has had Christianity implanted among her noble sons and daughters, to such an extent that she ought to be giving it out instead of receiving.

"Again, I rejoice because we are to have a German Lutheran church. Our church is founded on the principles handed to us from Martin Luther, from the Great Teacher. Some people have a small idea of Luther and what he was. I believe he was the greatest instrument of God since Paul's time, and we try to inculcate his principles, which are so vital to the heart of Christianity.

"I am surprised that our people have not had a church building before. But perhaps you were a little slow. We are apt to be, sometimes, and we selected just such a man as Mr. Klonke to come among you and stir you up, and now you are to see your hopes realized. I think you lacked faith and confidence in God, or else you would have had this church sooner.

"We hope the weary and sin-ladened may here find a place to get rid of the burden; and may they seek that divine help which we all need so much."

A hymn was sung, after which the stone was laid by the Rev. E. Klonke, pastor of the church.

The following articles were placed in the receptacle:

A New Testament.
A hymn book of our congregation.
The history of our congregation.
A picture of our church, cut and presented by The Daily Press.
The map of Plainfield and North Plainfield.
The June, July and August numbers of our church paper, "Lutherischer Gemeindefreund."
One copy of Der Sugend Sonntags lust, our Sunday-school paper.
The Kropper Kirchlicher Anzeiger, with the Plattdeutsche Tegen, from Kropp in Germany.
One copy of The Lutherischer Kirchenblatt.
One copy of every paper of this city; Daily Press, Constitutionalist, Courier, Evening News.
Forty-three coins from America, Switzerland, and a few from China. Among the American coins was a 10 cent shinplaster bill, also a 3 cent silver piece.

The names of the German ministers who were present at the ceremonies were: The Rev. C. Fischer, from Elizabeth; the Rev. Mertens, Rahway; the Rev. Dewald, New Brunswick.

After the singing of another hymn, the pastor pronounced the benediction, and the services closed with the singing of the doxology.

A brass quartette under the direction of Mr. Conde assisted with the music.

On one side of the stone is the inscription "A. D. 1893"; on the other, "August 27".

The new church will consist of one story and a basement, and will be constructed entirely of wood. The audience hall will be 29x49 in size, and will seat 300 people. The Sunday-school room will be in a wing, separated from the church proper by a rolling partition. The entrance vestibule will open directly into each large room. The size of the Sunday-school room is 17½ by 28. In front of the altar platform, 7 inches below, will be a lesser platform of 7 inches rise, with a rail near the edge where communicants may kneel. Large windows will furnish ample light. A commodious toilet room adjoins the platforms. The structure is to be simple in architecture, but of pleasant appearance. It will be used not only as church and Sabbath-school, but also as a German day school. The interior will be finished in hardwood with ornamental rafters. It will be not only a credit to its congregation, but also an ornament to the borough.

WESTFIELD WARBLINGS.

A Breezy Chat By the Correspondent About Men and Buildings in the Village.

WESTFIELD, August 30.

Building in Westfield continues with no signs of abatement. In the heart of the village, corner of Broad and Prospect streets, John J. Schmitt, the baker, is erecting a handsome three-story brick structure, that will cost $10,000.

On Broad street, half a block south of the Schmitt building, is a handsome brick and stone structure, still unfinished. The owner is John Darsh. The plans for this building were drawn by Mr. Darsh's son, Charles, who, though he is but a young man, has already attained a considerable degree of fame as an architect.

The residence of Mr. Warncke, in process of erection on the Boulevard, is also built from plans drawn by Mr. Darsh. Almost directly opposite Mr. Warncke's new residence, on the same street, is a nearly-completed house, the property of H. C. Sergeant, of the Ingersoll-Sergeant Rock Drill Company. This pretty dwelling when finished will be occupied by a Mr. Phillips, a son-in-law of Mr. Sergeant.

On Park street is a pretty double dwelling owned by John L. Collins, of the Union County Standard. He and his brother, Edwin Ralph Collins, will take possession of the new home as soon as the workmen will permit them to.

Edwin Ralph Collins is probably known to the Press readers as the associate and confidant of A. Miner Griswold in the publication of the humorous paper Texas Siftings. For some time previous to his death, Mr. Griswold engaged extensively in lecture engagements; and during his absence, Ralph Collins was acting managing editor of Siftings. The paper was then in its palmiest days. RAMBO.

Now He's Making a Great Record Just the Same.

The Philadelphia Sporting Life says:

The Philadelphia Club has signed Turner, the Staten Island player. He is a fair fielder, a good [illegible] batsman, and fast on his feet. [illegible]

STILL AFTER THE TRAMPS.

Two Ugly Specimens Get Their Deserts From Judge Moore.

Three tramps availed themselves of the Sunday quiet Saturday at Fanwood by taking possession of the road leading from Fanwood depot to Scotch Plains, about sundown.

Complaint was made to Judge Moore by Daniel L. Allen and John Traynor accusing James Donohue and John Wilson as disorderly persons.

The Judge ordered the warrants delivered to Constable Hezekiah Hand, who promptly followed up the miscreants.

In the meantime while the Judge stood at the Fanwood station in conversation with Mr. and Mrs. Glover, three men rushed by and attempted to gain the track and disappear. Without apology the Judge grasped two of them, who afterward gave their names as James Donohue and John Wilson.

Mr. Hand being summoned by L. J. Briggs came to the assistance of the judge and shackled the prisoners, whereupon Wilson endeavored to assault the officer but was called down by citizen Craig at demand of the justice.

Officer Hand brought both prisoners to Plainfield under commitment for the night, and upon their appearance this morning Judge Moore, after hearing the evidence, sentenced them to 90 days each in the county jail.

After sentence was pronounced Wilson glared at the judge and said: "Ninety days is a long time, but I'll be back here after that and then look out for yourself."

"Mr. Hand remove the prisoners", and the court adjourned.

ANOTHER BIG WIND.

Much Damage to Trees and Crops in and Around Plainfield.

A violent wind storm visited this section again Tuesday, bringing much anxiety to those whose houses trembled before the shrieking blast. As in the storm of last week, a number of fine shade trees were felled in Plainfield, among them some of the noble pines at the Opdyke place on Watchung avenue, and large trees at the VanDeventer and McCutchen places in Washington Park.

The full sweep of the storm is felt in the outskirts. Farms especially suffered. It was the worst that had visited Washington Valley in a long time. Though a belt extending to Martinsville, peach trees heavy with fruit were blown down, and apple and other fruit trees were stripped bare.

The standing corn, which was just earing out, was broken and twisted so that the grain will be of no use. Many cornfields look as though a mammoth steam roller had crushed them. Haystacks were also blown to pieces and the rain ruined the hay.

Somerville again suffered considerably. The roof of Tunison & Losey's grocery store, which had just been replaced after the storm of last week, was again ripped off.

During the heavy gale this morning Charles Smith was aroused from his slumber by his friends. The occasion was that one of the handsome new signs which were lately placed on his walls was about to fall to the walk. He at once ordered temporary supports, and it will now be properly anchored to the building with iron holdfasts.

All electric wires were badly tangled by the wind. Telegraphic service was seriously crippled.

THE LYCEUM CLUB WILL ENTER.

J. J. Lynch Chosen Vice-President of the Catholic Young Men's Union.

The Catholic Young Men's Diocesan Union had an important meeting Sunday in Institute Club-house, Newark. Seventeen societies had delegates present, representing over 3,000 members. This year the Union will have a bowling league, starting about October, and the C. Y. M. L. of this city will enter a team. Thanksgiving Day, the Union will have a field day. The events will consist of running races, jumping, target shooting between teams of five from each society; also bicycle races and a foot-ball game.

The meeting being also an annual one, the following officers were elected: President, T. G. Fitzpatrick, Newark; Vice-President, J. J. Lynch, Plainfield; Recording Secretary, J. J. Bliggitt, Newark; Corresponding Secretary, D. Fitzpatrick, Newark; Treasurer, W. Evans, Jersey City. The next meeting will be in Jersey City, October 2.

UBIQUITOUS MR. HAND.

He Bobs Up with His Seabright Possessions, in a Suit Against the Jersey Central.

Suit has been brought against the New Jersey Central Railroad Company by Charles H. Hand for $3,000 damages to his property at Seabright, caused by the erection of bulkheads thereon by the company. These bulkheads were built about a year ago by the company to protect its tracks from the water, and Mr. Hand says he was never consulted in the matter. Jackson & Angleman are Mr. Hand's attorneys in the suit.

"First Houses of Bound Brook."

The above is the title of an address recently delivered by the Rev. Titus E. Davis, before the Washington Camp Ground Association, a Somerset county society organized for the preservation of local historical data connected with the Revolutionary period. Bound Brook is one of the oldest villages in New Jersey, its first house having been erected in 1683, by Thomas Coddington, once sheriff of New York county. The address has been printed in pamphlet form, with several illustrations, and contains much history of interest never heretofore published. A few copies are for sale by the Association, and until the edition is exhausted will be sent postpaid upon receipt of twenty-five cents. Address W. S. R. Mason, Bound Brook, N. J.

To Open With a Concert.

To aid in clearing off the remaining indebtedness on the new Sunday-school building and parish house of the Church of the Heavenly Rest, Evona, a concert will be given in the new building, Thursday evening, September 21.

Mrs. S. W. White

Tells of a family blessing.

Thus she writes to Mrs. Pinkham:—

"I suffered for 10 years with female complaints of the worst form, accompanied by severe spinal trouble, causing incessant backache, weakness of the stomach, and nervousness.

MRS. S. W. WHITE

"I gave up all hope of ever being well again. Just then I began to take:—

"Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I followed your directions and treatment until I am now a perfectly well woman.

"I gave it to my two daughters, aged 14 and 16 years, and they are fine, healthy girls.

"It is surely a blessing to our family."—816 Holly St., West Philadelphia, Pa.

All Druggists sell it. Address in confidence Lydia E. Pinkham Med. Co., Lynn, Mass. Liver Pills, 25 cents.

RIDING, WALKING, PLAYING, WORKING or in any occupation incidental to a woman's life, from childhood to motherhood, there is nothing so healthful, comfortable, graceful, and economical, as

FERRIS'

GOOD SENSE

CORSET WAISTS.

Worn by over a million Mothers, Misses and Children. Buttons at front instead of clasps. Clamp Buckle at hip for hose supporters. Tape-fastened buttons—won't pull off. Cord-edge button holes—won't wear out. All sizes; all shapes. Full or slim bust; long or short waist. FOR SALE BY ALL LEADING RETAILERS. Send for illustrated circular to FERRIS BROS. Manufacturers and Patentees, 341 Broadway, New York.

Miss VANDEVENTER'S NEW STORE, 132 Central Ave.

CHILDREN'S OUTFITS MADE TO ORDER. | A FULL LINE OF GOOD SENSE WAISTS

$35.00 TO CHICAGO AND RETURN,

Including Hotel accommodations for five days at

FRANK'S

REDUCED RATES

Railroad and Steamship Ticket Agency,

345 and 347 BROADWAY, Cor. Leonard St., N. Y.

Lowest Rates to all parts of the World. Tickets purchased and exchanged. Sleeping Berths reserved. Baggage transferred.

MEMBER AMERICAN TICKET BROKERS' ASSOCIATION.

4 13 6mos

ELY'S CREAM BALM—Cleanses the Nasal Passages, Allays Pain and Inflammation, Heals the Sores, Restores Taste and Smell, and Cures

CATARRH

Gives Relief at once for Cold in Head. Apply into the Nostrils.—It is Quickly Absorbed. 50c. Druggists or by mail. ELY BROS., 56 Warren St., N. Y.

Providence and Stonington STEAMSHIP COMPANY

—BETWEEN—

NEW YORK

—AND ALL—

Eastern Points.

PROVIDENCE LINE.

(MAY TO NOVEMBER.)

The Summer Route to all eastern points. The steamers Connecticut and Massachusetts are among the finest vessels of their class in the world. Among the advantages of this line are the long water route and the short rail ride between Providence and Boston. The sail through Narragansett Bay and the Providence River in the early morning or evening is a delightful feature. A first-class orchestra on each steamer. During the season through parlor cars run between steamer's wharf, Providence, and the White Mountains Without Change.

STONINGTON LINE,

(THROUGHOUT THE YEAR.)

This is the Inside Route, and especially safe and comfortable in winter. Connects at Stonington with express trains for Boston, Providence, Worcester and all points north and east. The new Steamers Maine and New Hampshire are in commission on the Stonington Line. These boats are built of steel, with seven water-tight compartments insuring safety, and are completely fitted up with the most modern appliances. Very popular with the traveling public. The Stonington Line is the only direct Sound route in summer to Narragansett Pier and Watch Hill.

All information will be cheerfully given on application by letter or otherwise to General Passenger Agent, Providence and Stonington Steamship Company, new pier 36 North River, New York, or Providence, R. I. Illustrated bulletin furnished free, containing musical programmes, official time tables and other information.

NEW JERSEY

State Normal & Model Schools

TRENTON, N. J.

Fall term will commence Tuesday, September 12, at 9:45 a. m. Buildings open to receive students on Monday, September 11.

The Normal School gives a thorough professional training for teaching; the Model prepares for business, the general pursuits of life or college. Total cost, including board, washing books, etc., at the Normal $154 to $160 per year; at the Model $200 per year.

Buildings lighted by gas and heated by steam. Dormitories comfortably furnished, provided with baths, etc. The facilities, both of the school building and boarding halls have been greatly increased during the present year, the former by a properly equipped gymnasium, laboratories, etc., the latter by increased capacity. For further particulars address

J. M. GREEN, Principal, Trenton, N. J.

824

DISSOLUTION OF PARTNERSHIP.

Notice is given, that the partnership lately subsisting between William L. Force (deceased) and Albert L. Force of the City of Plainfield, County of Union and State of New Jersey, under the firm of W. L. Force and Brother, was dissolved on this fourteenth day of August, eighteen hundred and ninety-three, pursuant to the article. All debts owing to the said partnership are to be received by the said Albert L. Force, who is now the sole owner of the said business, and all demands on the said partnership are to be presented to him for payment.

Dated this 14th day of August, 1893.

ALBERT L. FORCE.
MARY L. FORCE, Executrix.

EXECUTOR'S SETTLEMENT.

Notice is hereby given, that the account of the subscriber, executor and trustee under the will of Frederick F. Chase, deceased, will be audited and stated by the Surrogate, and reported for settlement to the Orphans' Court of the county of Union, on Wednesday, the thirteenth day of September next. CRAIG A. MARSH.

Dated July 1, 1893. 7 6 10

CANNON'S MARKET MULBERRY MECHANIC STS NEWARK.

We Can't Kick

at our business, even during these times, because good square dealing, and modern business methods pay. We mark EVERYTHING in plain figures, at lowest prices, and invite inspection.

And it Pays!

You can walk through row after row of

FURNITURE

(it isn't crowded, and the PRICE is always there) and examine it at your leisure.

Our latest addition, (ground floor) gives us nearly two acres of floor space, more than any other concern in Jersey has for Housefurnishing.

CARPETS, UPHOLSTERY, and every other Household need.

CREDIT GIVEN, ONLY ONE PRICE, and that marked in PLAIN FIGURES.

LARGEST HOUSE OUTFITTERS IN NEW JERSEY

An Open Letter From Clothing Builders to Clothing Buyers.

We make Clothing, you buy it. You buy Clothing ready made because it is cheaper.

There are different kinds of ready made. Have you ever investigated how different?

We show you the best that's made, the tailor made, the kind the tailor would make you to order.

In many instances you'll not be able to notice the difference in make between ours and theirs, but the difference in price will open your eyes.

The tailor's prices are about double ours and he furnishes you no better style, fit, finish, t im of fabric.

Why his big price?

He makes for the few; we for thousands. The wise and knowing are wearing OUR SUPERRIOR CLOTHING and saving money.

See our grand line of SPRING SUITS between $10 and $20.

MC GREGOR & CO.,

850 and 852 Broad Street,

NEWARK, N. J.

THE EVE OF A LONG FAREWELL.

MR. AND MRS. BREWSTER TURN THEIR FACES WESTWARD.

Reception Given Them at Parting by Comrades of Woman's Relief Corps and Grand Army Post—Everyone Has a Sociable Time, But Regrets the Occasion for It.

The farewell reception given by the Women's Relief Corps, No. 10, to Mr. and Mrs. Monroe E. Brewster, at the rooms of the Corps on Front street, Friday night, was a most pleasant affair. It was the eve of the departure of Mr. and Mrs. Brewster to the far northwestern State of Washington.

After the business of the evening session of the Corps was transacted, Winfield Scott Post, No. 73, G. A. R., and their friends, were invited into the room.

The president, Mrs. Edward Morse, occupied the chair, and seated in the places of honor beside her were Commander M. C. Dobbins and Past Commander W. C. Smith, of the Post.

The president instructed Guard Sarah A. Mattox to escort Mr. and Mrs. Brewster to the front, where chairs were placed for them.

Mrs. Morse then made a few remarks appropriate to the occasion. She said that while it was with sadness that they were to lose two valuable supporters of the organization, they still joined heartily in wishing them godspeed on their journey.

Commander Dobbins was called on, and spoke relative to the departure of the comrade and his wife. The theme of his talk was gratitude, and he stated that all were grateful for the assistance and support received by the fraternity from those about to go away.

Happy Bob Mattox by request gave the recitation "The Picture Turned Toward the Wall", in his usual good style.

Intermingling the speeches, a vocal duet by the Misses Maggie Page and Fanny Westphal was heartily appreciated. Miss Lucy Westphal was the accomplished accompanist.

Comrade Vincent W. Nash in a few well-chosen words expressed his sentiments of regret.

In one corner of the room, unseen by many, sat a young man, whose very name when mentioned before a Plainfield audience precipitates enthusiasm; and when the presiding officer called on John Carney for a speech, the applause was loud and long. Mr. Carney greatly delighted the audience by his quaint and comical renditions in broken German dialect. He gave several selections, for which he received hearty applause.

Comrades Hand and McDonald were called on, and spoke briefly and feelingly of their sorrow in the loss of the departing ones.

Past Commander W.C. Smith was asked to sing a song. He said, jokingly, that he had been expecting it, and for six weeks past had been practising for the occasion. Then he sang two selections that were really very pretty.

Mr. and Mrs. Brewster were invited to say a few words. They expressed their feelings of regret in leaving Plainfield and and those they loved, and said they would ever remember the manifold kindnesses extended to them by their many friends.

A recitation by Miss Florence Dodge was exceedingly well given, and thoroughly enjoyed.

Remarks by Comrades Charles Stephens, Edward Morse and Francis M. Whitely gave further evidence of the high esteem in which Mr. and Mrs. Brewster were held.

Miss Maggie Page, Miss Maggie Summers, Miss Sarah Smith, Miss Florence Dodge, Miss Fanny Westphal and Mrs. McCann sang very sweetly "After the Ball". Miss Nash accompanied them in excellent style on the piano.

Miss Try Mattox by request gave a very pretty recitation, entitled "Jesus Lover of My Soul".

This concluded the set programme, and ice-cream and cake were served in abundance to the relish of all.

An ode was sung, bringing to a close another most enjoyable event long to be remembered.

Iowa Republicans have repudiated Prohibition.

It is a gratifying and reassuring fact that not one of New Jersey's 102 National banks has failed.

The Ohio Democratic Convention displayed equal accuracy and charity in speaking of the financial trouble as the "unfortunate legacy of the Republican rule".

The "hard times" have driven thousands of the unemployed into the U. S. Army, and that body is nearer its maximum limit of 25,000 than at any other time since the war.

Among Plainfield commuters The Evening Post of New York is a favorite paper, and last Thursday that estimable journal materially increased its reputation among them by its accurate and complete report of the damage by the storm in all sections. The fullness of the facts as gathered by Post correspondents in so short a time was one of the journalistic feats to be proud of. Almost as soon as the cyclone ceased, its doings were faithfully chronicled in those columns. The Post has made for itself a reputation for covering the city and suburban fields more promptly and thoroughly than any other metropolitan journal. Its reliability is maintained by each day's record. All good citizens admire and read it.

MAKE THE LIFE GUARD PERMANENT.

The sad experience of the shipwreck at Asbury Park, at daybreak Thursday, emphasizes the need and importance of having the life-saving stations fully equipped for their noble work not only in winter but throughout the year. The life-saving stations are put in sole charge of the captain of the crew at the beginning of every spring, and no one is left to patrol the beach during the summer months. If the life savers had been on duty it is probable that every one on the illfated schooner Mary Kelly would have been saved.

Uncle Sam can well afford to keep a full crew at each station all the year round. Too many lives have been sacrificed through the existing pennywise policy. The summer-resorts of the Jersey coast are placid enough at most times, but the Atlantic is treacherous, and overwhelming when its fury is aroused, and its sudden violent storms are becoming more and more frequent. The Life-Saving Service should never sleep.

Rats, You Heathen Hypocrite!

(From The Madison Eagle.)

Will the Madison Eagle please be so kind as to forbear from coming to Westfield? It (i. e. the excellent editor,) has been to Plainfield, and says:—"Plainfield is a very wicked place". The contrast would shock Bro. Bardon if he visited here.—Westfield Leader.

Not at all, Bro. Morse. The contrast between Plainfield and Madison is great beyond description, and we are prepared for almost anything. Keep away from that town, brother, we beg of you! If you did insist upon going there the rest of your days would be clouded with sorrow because of the extreme wickedness of the people upon the Sabbath day.

—The Postal Guide is dropping the "h's" from "burghs", and the "ugh's" from "boroughs".

SATURDAY NIGHT TALES.

THE MAN ON THE CARS AGAIN HEARD FROM.

He Delivers His Ideas About Plainfield Commuters, and Makes Some Unkind Comments.

"It's a funny thing"—said The Man on the Cars, as the train whirled through Cranford at a fifty-five-second gait—"what a variety of people one encounters on the railway." Nobody was disposed to contradict, and he went on: "The oddest part of it is the difference in the classes met on the New York trains in the mornings; somehow the homecoming crowds at night are more confused; but I'll wager that, if I were set down at the foot of Liberty street any morning without knowledge of the time, I could name the various Plainfield train-loads as they arrived, simply by glancing at the crowds.

"Take the 6:37 from Plainfield, for instance. That carries chiefly laboring men of the higher class—skilled workmen, not too proud, however, for the tin-pail accompaniment, and you can pick them out without a second look. Then the 6:59 is mostly filled with the younger commutation element, the $8 and $6 a week contingent, who have to get in town and unlock the office and dust off the desks before the boss arrives. The 7:26 carries a restless, energetic, hustling lot of busy men who must get to their work early or die. The 7:58 differs again. Its cargo has a dominating air of bank-clerk about it with an admixture of general riff-raff, and it is, I suppose, the most profitable train of the day. But I always hate to ride upon it. Its people stare at you with jealousy in their eyes when you enter the cars, and make you feel at once that you are intruding and out of your class. It is the most uncomfortable lot of persons I ever saw together, and I am relieved to turn my mind to the 8:27, the load of which is made up of deluded souls who fancy that a train must be a good one because it makes no stops, and others who are particular about draughts and opened doors, for there is a tradition that because this train stoppeth not the car doors remain closed. As a matter of fact, I never saw a train upon which the brakemen did so much running through and through and in and out and kept the doors so continually slamming. The 8:31 carries a nice, quiet lot of men with easy hours, peaceable souls and restful ways, who don't much care when they get to town. But the people in the early trains are the most congenial, and the 7:26 is the pleasantest and swiftest of all, since the daily caucus of religious fanatics which used to make it unbearable by their loud talking, distributing of unintelligible tracts, and general obstreperous behavior, have deserted it for some other train. Hello, what's this? Netherwood, already! Goodness gracious, how we travel nowadays!"

And The Man on the Cars got up and climbed out on the platform in order to be the first off at Plainfield.

THE CAPTAIN AND THE COLONEL.

Yarn No. 3 Tells How Rats Saved a Ship from Foundering.

"You know, Colonel, that mosquito story of yours was a trifle on the order of economising the truth, but it reminded me of what happened on a cruise I once made from the east coast of Africa to Kamschatka. We were loaded with railroad iron in rails; and loading such a cargo in the hold of a vessel you must understand requires considerable skill; and even by the best management there will be an empty space fore and aft.

"Well, sir, in those days ships were overrun with rats, and this voyage was no exception, for we had hardly been at sea three weeks before we sprung a leak, and that right in the middle of the Indian Ocean. I sent the carpenter below, and he reported the ship making water fast, but he could not discover the leak. I went down myself into the hold, taking my speaking trumpet with me. Placing the small end to my ear, and listening intently, I quickly located the place where the water was pouring in, and on further investigation found a round hole in the bottom of the vessel, forward, made by rats having gnawed through the plank and timbers to find water."

"Did the ship sink?"—laconically asked the Colonel.

"No: and that was the curious part of the whole thing, and far beyond any experience of mine up to that time. If you will believe me, sir, those rats when they saw the water in the hold, and recognized that they were liable to be drowned, went to work on that railroad iron and gnawed and gnawed to lighten the ship as the water rose toward them. The iron gnawed off, they carried to a point just over the hole in the bottom, and dropped it through, thus saving themselves and the crew from a watery grave. Of course the cargo was made several tons lighter, and when two weeks later we arrived in port the owners were so well pleased with the safe arrival of the vessel, on learning the particulars they unloaded the cargo, plugged up the hole in the bottom, and filled the hold with cheese as ballast for a return trip."

"Good-Night, Colonel."

"Good-Night, Captain."

A NEW PRESS CENSORSHIP.

And now the Medical and Surgical Staff of Muhlenberg Hospital has set itself up as a censor of the press.

The good doctors met in monthly session yesterday, and as a result of their deliberations they dictated to the matron that henceforth no more information should be given from the Hospital to any reporters. They gave as the reason of this action the indefinite statement that some newspaper at some time had made some misreport of some Hospital case.

So in order to help the reporters get things straight they are going to have official information suppressed. This is a mistaken policy. Every one of the newspapers of Plainfield is after the facts—wants nothing else. The best place to get facts is at headquarters. To seek to choke reporters off there, is to stimulate the reporters to more earnest search in other directions; less reliable sources will have to be depended on. If under the new policy of the Hospital Staff the facts of Hospital cases are not obtainable, and if, therefore, reporters, who are human and not infallible, make mistakes: the members of the Hospital Staff have only themselves to blame.

The course they propose is to bring hardship to all papers to punish the chance error of one.

The Daily Press sincerely trusts that the sensible gentlemen of the Staff will repeal the misguided action.

In any event, the attempt at muzzling is sure to fail, for The Daily Press will continue to give the news.

SAYS THE BOYS ARE TERRORS.

They Must Stop Their Infernal Racket or Go to Jail.

P. F. Van Arsdale of 301 East Front street has made complaint against his neighbors' boys whom he says have been making life unbearable for him. One of the fathers visited him last night, apologized, and said his boys should bother him no more. Mr. Van Arsdale says the boys have been a terror; that they have made great and continual hullabaloo, and that they have done damage by trespassing and by breaking windows.

He absolutely denies having beaten or choked any of them, and says their annoyance has made his wife ill, absolutely driving her into spasms.

SHORTER ROUTE TO THE SHORE.

Florida Grove to Be Switched for the Jersey Central's New Route.

The Commissioners appointed to investigate the value of the property at Florida Grove, over which the new branch of the Jersey Central Railroad is going to run, and condemn it for the use of the road, met yesterday at Perth Amboy, investigated the grounds and took testimony. The board consists of J. Bayard Kirkpatrick, W. F. Voorhees and Col. I. S. Snedeker.

The property in question belongs to the Florida Grove Company, of which Sheriff Acken is one of the stockholders. The Central Railroad has offered the company $1,000 for the ground they need, but the company wants $20,000.

The Central tracks now form the sides of a triangle, with Elizabethport at the apex and Perth Amboy and Bound Brook at the other points. The proposed tracks will go along the base line of the triangle and will thus save the railroad about seventy-two miles of travel. It has been said that the railroad was only going to be a spur to get the brick trade along the Raritan. The railroad men deny this and say they want it in order to shorten the route from the shore to Philadelphia.

The proposed line will greatly benefit New Brunswick by giving it an opposition railroad, and give Plainfield a short route to the shore by way of Bound Brook. It will pass through Highland Park and thus tend to build up that place. It bears the appearance of being a sure thing and not a railroad on paper. The Commissioners will meet in New Brunswick again next week.

CHARLES P. RICE SUED.

On the Eve of His Departure for His Fortune in Europe, a Claim on a Note Confronts Him.

An action was brought in Justice Mosher's Court on Friday by Chas. K. Moore to recover $300 from Charles P. Rice on a promissory note of $350.

Justices not having jurisdiction in amounts over $200, the Colonel waived the extra $50 so as to have a quick decision and thus not interfere with Mr. Rice's proposed European trip.

The note is said to have been given for money loaned in 1889.

Lawyer Walter L. Hetfield is attending to the interests of the plaintiff.

Judge Mosher made the summons returnable Wednesday next at 10 a. m., and placed it in the hands of Constable Mattox, by whom it was promptly served. The litigation is the result of the old water-works business transactions.

DIED, OF HIS INJURIES.

Flagman Apgar Was Attended by Physicians Who Order the Hospital Matron to Tell Nothing About It.

Peter Apgar, a flagman on the Rockaway Valley Railroad, received fatal injuries Friday night near the White House Station on the Jersey Central. It is not known how he was hurt. He was brought to Plainfield on a freight train that arrived about 1 Saturday morning, and was removed to the hospital by a wagon procured from Roberts's stable by Freight Agent Haynes. He died in the hospital about 4 this morning, and his father from German Valley came on to take charge of the remains. One of the dead man's legs was crushed, but he died of internal injuries. His age was 19. Undertaker Casey will take the body to German Valley Monday.

Those in charge of the hospital refused to give information concerning the case, stating that they had been forbidden by the Staff to disclose anything.

WRECK NEAR POND TOOL WORKS.

Six Coal Cars Smashed on the Jersey Central Tracks.

A wreck occurred at Evona about 5:30 on Saturday. Engine No. 668 was drawing a train of empty coal cars on the westbound track. When nearing Evona, a coupling on one of the cars broke, and sent six cars off the track, piling them on top of one another. The force of the cars coming together twisted the compressed air tube of the automatic signal system considerably, but did not prevent its working. The wrecking crew cleared away the debris by 10:40. Traffic was kept up on the one track that was not blockaded. No one was hurt.

The Book of the Fair.

The only work in any wise attempting to reproduce in print the Columbian Exposition entire is The Book of the Fair, that most admirable work to which these columns have already referred. In this respect it is without a competitor. It confines itself neither to art alone on the one side, nor to dry statistic on the other, but presents in attractive and accurate form the whole realm of art, industry, science and learning, as exhibited at the Fair by the nations. The work will consist of 1,000 imperial folio pages, 12x16 inches, and is being issued in 25 parts of 40 pages each, at the rate of two parts monthly, and at the price of $1 a part. Its illustrations are the finest obtainable, and number 2,000, from official sources. Many of them are full page plates covering 192 square inches of surface. For its superior excellence and artistic beauty, with cuts of the finest, and heavy paper of highest enameled finish, The Book of the Fair was selected by the Miehle Company to be printed as an exhibit on their new improved press in the Machinery Hall of the Exposition.

United Workmen Grieve Their Loss.

At a regular meeting of Central Lodge, No. 48, A. O. U. W., held the 24th day of August, 1893, the following resolutions were adopted by the Lodge:

WHEREAS, It has pleased Almighty God in His allwise Providence to remove from us by sudden death our brother, John C. Manchester, and

WHEREAS, We are thereby reminded of the uncertainty of life and the immutable certainty of death, therefore be it

Resolved, That while we bow in humble submission to the will of Him who doeth all things well, we deeply deplore our loss and extend to the family of our deceased brother our sympathy in this their hour of affliction.

Resolved, That these resolutions be recorded in the book of records, and a copy be sent to the family of our late brother, and published in the Plainfield daily papers, and be it further

Resolved, That as a token of respect to our late brother, we drape our charter for a period of thirty days.

LEWIS E. BLACKFORD,
WILLIAM J. FORD,
HENRY LIEPER,
Committee.

Congressman Dunn's New Cane.

Congressman John T. Dunn, of the Eighth New Jersey District, is sporting a new and rather unique cane presented to him by E. W. Hadden, of Cranford. The stick is made of ordinary orange wood. The head has a history. It is made of wood taken from a pulpit of a Methodist church in Cranford said to be 130 years old. The head is a nondescript and is handsomely carved and highly polished. Just underneath the handle is a small silver plate containing the following inscription: "To Hon. John T. Dunn from E. W. Hadden, 1893." The gentleman from Elizabeth is very proud of his new walking-stick, and takes great pleasure in showing it to his Congressional friends.

Cheap Wit from the Rural District.

[From The [illegible] Eagle.]

The City National Bank of Plainfield, received a bag containing $1,000 in pennies, last Friday. Our newspaper brethren should discourage the penny ante game.

—For the next ten days U. S. Grant will sell at about half-price all summer wear, to make room for fall stock.

ONLY BOY IN THE CITY.

Fielding Follows Him Four Blocks and Renews His Own Youth.

How Some Other Boys Neglect a Golden Opportunity Which Wouldn't Have Gone Begging When the Writer Was Young—A Boy to Line.

[COPYRIGHT, 1893.]

There is a small piece of open ground in sight from my window in the midst of the city. A gaunt, despondent, crooked tree stands there trembling, sometimes at the breeze and again, I fancy, with malaria. It reminds me of an old farmer I used to know who always had a pain in his back.

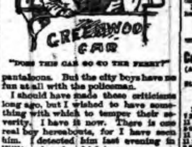
Near this unlovely oasis is a school, and the boys come out upon the open ground to play. A limb, which seems even sadder than its parent stem, projects from this tree at a height corresponding to a fracture of one leg, maybe of both. I am too old to make a trustworthy estimate. But if that tree had grown near the school where I learned to read and to take a licking without making a fuss about it, I would have solved that problem of broken bones within ten minutes after it came to my mind, unless some other boy got there first and brought the whole limb down with him.

"GOT THE WRONG THING, DIDN'T YE?"

And what surprises me about the city boy is that he doesn't seem to take any interest in the matter. I have seen some desultory efforts to shin the tree; one boy even got up where he could reach the branches, but he saw a policeman on the next block, and slid down again without even carving his initials. Meanwhile the dead limb, provided by a beneficent Providence, waits there for a boy who knows what real fun is.

This observation has given me a low idea of the city boy, and I hold him even cheaper for his games in that vacant lot. He plays ball fairly well, but without a proper spirit of rivalry; he fights quite skillfully but not so often as would be good for him; he plays marbles for keeps and is a "bad loser." There is no romance in anything that he does. I haven't seen a tomahawk or scalping knife on the lot. Perhaps the red Indian is played out, but certainly the possibilities of savagery are not exhausted. Why don't the big boys play policemen and club the heads off all the little boys? There's a game I missed when I was young, because there was no model. In my time it was considered disgraceful to fight with the constable, and to get the worst of such an encounter was a thing unheard of. It was an office for disabled soldiers in New England then.

But what the city boy seems to lack most lamentably is a sense of humor. I have not seen a good trick played in that lot. It is not for want of opportunity. There is a policeman who invariably stands in a certain spot under that tree in the hot noons. I remember a schoolmaster in the early sixties who was addicted to a similar habit. This being noted by the brethren of the Lonely Tomb, we constructed an elephant pit under Edward's favorite tree in the most approved style of the art as practised in India. We dug a hole about six feet deep one night, roofed it with slender sticks, and sodded it over. It got about two-thirds full of yellow water in the course of the night. We played a very interesting game of round ball in the early part of the following afternoon, while old Edwards went home to change his pantaloons. But the city boys have no fun at all with the policeman.



"DOES THIS CAR GO TO THE FERRY?"

I should have made those criticisms long ago, but I wished to have something with which to temper their severity. I have it now. There is one real boy hereabouts, for I have seen him. I detected him last evening in Williamsburgh, which is a very populous section of Brooklyn. Having completed the business which took me to that region I was endeavoring to find my way by a new route to another part of the city. Brooklyn is like Boston in one respect. No matter how many times you go from one place to another in it, you always feel certain that there must be an undiscovered short cut that is not more than nine times the air-line distance, but there isn't. I was waiting on Broadway (Williamsburgh) for my car. The Greenwood cemetery car had just passed. Then came cars for Elwood, Norwood, Oakwood and Beechwood cemeteries and Fresh Pond crematory. Following there was the trolley for Highwood cemetery. This line is increasing the demand for itself at the rate of about five grassy mounds per day. As none of these places was my immediate destination, I still waited. Then came the boy.

He was about thirteen, which I notice is an unlucky number for anybody who has to take care of the boy. This one was all alone. After watching him awhile I did not wonder at it. All the other boys like him have grown up, these twenty years. The boy's features were molded into an expression of studied stupidity. Apparently he didn't know anything; he couldn't see anything. I recognized him by that for the most alert of his species. He was standing at the mouth of a cellar. The double iron trap doors were open. A man was groping down cellar in the dark. Suddenly the boy kicked one of the iron doors, and it fell with a resounding bang. The man raged, mounted the steps and looked over the closed door, naturally expecting to see the boy running up the street. But the boy had calmly moved around to other side. In this favorable position he kicked the other door, and it fell on the man's head and knocked him down the stairs. When the man finally got out of the cellar, my boy was boarding a horse car from the ferry, which had stopped for him. Two other boys had approached the cellar doors and were standing open-mouthed to hear the man swear. Whereupon he cuffed them both and went into the cellar again.

My boy, having no use for the horse car, asked the conductor: "Does this car go to the ferry?"

"Naw!" yelled the conductor, angrily.

"Betcher a dollar it does," said the boy, "when it comes back."

The ingenuous youth then returned to the sidewalk whistling a merry tune. I followed him. There was an enormous crowd out shopping that evening, and no end of youths and maidens on promenade. The slightest obstruction upon the sidewalk instantly resulted in unspeakable confusion. This the boy was quick to perceive.

In front of a carpet store two great strips of carpet were suspended, extending from the second story window down to posts by the curb. My boy leaned against one of these posts. Nobody noticed him. Then he climbed up a little way, still unobserved except by me. Presently one of these strips of carpet suddenly descended. A dozen women, loaded with bundles, were tangled up in it instantly. They dropped their bundles and screamed. The sidewalk was littered with packages in [illegible] [illegible]. Then the women began to pick them up, regardless of ceremonies, and there was a gala night in Bedlam. At this juncture the proprietor of the store came out in wrath and drew up the strip of carpet into its proper place. As he did so the boy let loose the other and and then fled.

It was easy enough to avoid capture in that crowd. The boy ran only a block and then suddenly turned around and walked calmly back, passing a clerk who was pursuing him blindly and jostling women and children right and left.

HE KICKED THE OTHER DOOR.

He performed fifty tricks in the next four blocks, but the last revealed him to me in his most agreeable light. He saw a girl about his own age carrying a bundle. She looked at this bundle with aversion, mortification and rebellion. The boy read her expression at a glance.

"Got the wrong thing, didn't ye?" he said. "Carrying it back, ain't ye? You're always doing foolishness like that."

This was good, considering that unquestionably he had never seen her before. The little girl simply couldn't stand it. She had been on the verge of tears before, but she had hoped that nobody would see what a stupid little girl she was. She burst into tears.

The spectacle of her grief immediately filled the chivalrous breast of the boy with remorse. He looked about for means of reparation. "Dot leedle German band" had just drawn up on the side of the street, and was preparing to play.

"Don't you care," said the boy. "Just listen to the music."

Railroads.

The Pennsylvania Railroad.

The Standard Railway of America.

Protected throughout by the Interlocking Switch and Block Signal System.

On and after July 1, 1893, trains will leave Elizabeth as follows:

10 a. m.—COLUMBIAN EXPRESS daily, Pullman vestibule sleeping cars to Chicago and Cincinnati, dining, smoking and vestibule passenger coaches from New York to Chicago. Arrive Chicago 10 a. m., Cincinnati [illegible] a. m., Indianapolis [illegible] a. m. next day.

[illegible]

For New York only, [illegible] a. m. daily.

[illegible]

FOR ATLANTIC CITY

[illegible]

Cape May Sea Isle City and Ocean City, [illegible]

[illegible]

A full line of tickets are on sale, and sleeping car accommodations can be secured at the ticket offices in Elizabeth.

For further information, see time tables to be had at the ticket offices.

S. M. PREVOST, General Manager.
J. R. WOOD, Gen. Pass. Agent.

Central Railroad of New Jersey.

(Anthracite coal used exclusively insuring cleanliness and comfort.)

Station in New York foot of Liberty Street. Time Table in Effect JUNE 25, 1893

PLAINFIELD AND NEW YORK.

[illegible]

PLAINFIELD AND NEWARK.

[illegible]

PLAINFIELD AND SOMERVILLE.

[illegible]

PLAINFIELD AND EASTON.

[illegible]

PLAINFIELD AND LAKE HOPATCONG.

Leave Plainfield 7 30, 9 43 a. m. 12 43, 5 18 p. m. Sunday 8 28 a. m.

WESTWARD CONNECTIONS.
LEAVE PLAINFIELD.

5 16 A. M. for Flemington, Easton, Allentown, Reading, Harrisburg, Pottsville, Mauch Chunk, Williamsport, and Tamaqua.

[illegible]

Long Branch, Ocean Grove, &c.

[illegible]

ROYAL BLUE LINE.

[illegible]

TELEPHONE COMPANY!

SPEAKING CONNECTION WITH OVER 12,000 SUBSCRIBERS—PROTECTION FROM FIRE AND BURGLARS. PLAINFIELD, N. J.

Central Office—49 North Avenue.

Subscriber's Name	Address.
Alpine Hotel, The	Park av and 8th st
Acken, C. J.	18 Crescent ave.
Albrt Hose Co., No 1	Madison ave.
Ackerman, Mrs. J. M.	25 West 7th street
Adams, Dr D C	40 Grove st
[illegible], F W	Dunellen
[illegible]	Bound Brook
Babcock, Geo H	6th and Union sts.
Batcheller & Dunn	22 North ave.
[illegible], W. C., M. D.	Cor. Front & Central Av.
[illegible], John	Central ave. and 6th st.
[illegible], J E	Park av and 2d st
[illegible], Jas F, M D	10 E 6th st
Board of Education—5th st, 4th and Union sts
Booth, E H	45 Madison ave
	6th & Liberty, 6th & Monroe
Clark, E R	7 Waynewood place
Children's Home	Jackson ave.
Clawson, James T	Richmond and Front sts.
CONSTITUTIONALIST Office	2 North ave.
Cook, A D & Bro	Park ave and RR.
[illegible], Dr J H	Manning and Westervelt aves.
Coe, Rowland	[illegible]
Chapman, Mrs. F. A	9 Third Place
Cruikshank, S. A	128 Carlton avenue
[illegible], J R, M D	49 Somerset st
[illegible], B F M	Somerset st
Central Pharmacy, (F R Leggett, Mgr)	Park ave and Front st
DAILY PRESS	3 North ave.
Depew, Mrs. E. H	15 Crescent ave.
Day, Frank	32 W. Fourth st.
Davis, Dr T S	Cor 5th st & Park av
Day, E M	Rockview ave
Demarest, F M	27 Park av
Dumont, John B	30 E 7th st
[illegible], T—pay station	Westfield, N J
[illegible], James	22 E 9th st
Doane, T O—Chief P F D	40 W 6th st
[illegible], S L	102 Madison av
Davis & Stevens, coal and wood	Office W Front
Endicott, Dr Geo W	Park ave. and 4th st.
Evening News, T.W. Morrison, Editor	7 Som't st.
Engine No 1	West 3d st.
Engine No 2	Front st.
Engine No 3	Somerset st.
Evans, Geo O	27 Washington ave
Fisk, Chas. J	28 West Seventh St
Fanwood, pay station	Fanwood station
Freight House	C. RR. Depot.
French, F M & Sons	Somerset st.
Fritts, Dr J T	73 Park ave.
Fleming, Howard	24 Park avenue
Fisk, Pliny	6 W 7th st
French, C Frank	69 Somerset st
Grant, Geo W, Chief of Police	20 W 6th st
Goddard, C M	17 Third Place.
Griffen, A M	13 E Front st.
[illegible], M. D., W F	5th and New sts
Gilbert, A	Cor Central av & 5th st
Howell & Hardy	North Avenue
Heyniger, L	31 & 33 Somerset street.
Hegeman, R. A	107 Sycamore avenue.
[illegible], Dr. Ellis W	43 East Front st.
Hyde, Chas.	141 Front street.
Hedden, Albert	4th st. near Park ave.
Higgins, M. A	76 East 4th st—26 North ave
Hetfield, John H	20a South 2d st—21 Park av
[illegible], Francis C	123 Madison av
[illegible], G	Netherwood
Hoagland's City Express	29 North av
Jenkins, Dr. C. L	96 W. Front st.
Jones, Evan	15 Kensington st
Kirkner, J	4th and Division sts.
[illegible], W T	46 W 7th st
Lowry, Rev Robert	Madison ave and 9th st.
Lovell, L. N	Crescent ave
Lord, Wm A	Belvidere av
Loizeaux & Rice	[illegible] Broadway
Laing, J T & Co	5 W Front st
Linke, Frank	48 W Front st
Lounsberry, F C	13 Plainfield ave
Myers, J K	[illegible] 7th st
McGee, Henry A	Willow ave
McGee, James	Willow ave.
Miller, J G	10 E. Front st.
Moore, Geo. A	20 North ave
Muhlenberg Hospital	South ave.
Murray, Dr. Wm. H	107 Broadway
Matthews, Chas	49 Grove st
Pond Mach Tool Co	Boulevard below Grant av
Plainfield Hardware Co	41 W Front st
Reed, Chas A	27 Myrtle ave
Milliken, E F	120 Central
Morrison, T W	11 Somerset st
MacDonald, J F	44 E Front st
[illegible], Lawrence	E Front st
Netherwood Hotel	Netherwood.
Newhall, Henry B	16 E 7th st.
N J Postal Tel Co	4 Park ave
Reynolds, H P	Park and North ave.
Reynolds, H. P	Washington avenue
Roberts, D S	17 North avenue.
Rockfellow, Geo W	Park and North ave.
Runyon, A M & Son	Park ave.
Runyon, A M & Son	40 Madison ave
Rushmore, Dr Edward	Park ave. near Fifth st
[illegible], Mrs J	Cor. Mercer & Sycamore aves.
[illegible], H. G	6th st
Runyon, Chas W	Park ave
Rice, E. W. & Co	7th cor. Emily and Duer sts
Randolph, L W	Front st
Rogers, D W	[illegible]
Rogers, E P jr	24 Westervelt ave
[illegible], H W	20 east 9th st
Serrell, Lemuel W	Front st. and Plainfield ave
[illegible], C. J	40 Front street.
Shaw, E J	Front st., opp. Park ave.
Streuli, A S	Prospect ave.
Smith, W P	Belvidere av., Netherwood
Shepard, A D	Fanwood
Smith, Jas A	13 W Front st
Scott, Walter & Co	South ave
Smith, Chas A	Spring st., Westfield, N J
Stelle, Irving G	[illegible]
Terrill & Cole	18 E Front st
Thompson, A. D	[illegible]
Talmadge, Henry P (Res)	Netherwood.
Thickstun, Jno A	Madison av
Titsworth, Jos M	26 W. 7th st.
Tomlinson, Dr T H	La Grande and N B'dwy
Tobin & [illegible]	51 North av
Tracy, J Evarts	8th and Division st
Thorn, Alex	27 Somerset st
Tweedy, O. B	11 Crescent avenue
Townsend, Samuel	20 Rockview av
Thompson, A D	Prospect ave
Telegraph Office	Plainfield station
Thorn, E	76 W Front st
United States Express Co	5 North ave
Union Co Country Club	Cor 7th st & Arlington
Van Sickle W. J	10 North ave
Wharton, Clifton	17 Central av
Woltman, C	West Seventh street
Wadsworth, W B	8th and Liberty sts
Western Union Telegraph Company	at Depot
[illegible], J F	W 8th st., near Grand ave
[illegible], E, Ass't Chief	2d st near Washington
Westfield, pay station	Westfield, N J
Wotherspoon O G	148 E Front st

TELEPHONE TOLL RATES,

FOR FIVE MINUTES CONVERSATION.

PLAINFIELD,		NEW JERSEY
Asbury Park, N J	[illegible]	Hempstead N Y	[illegible]
Astoria, N Y	[illegible]	Hoboken N J	[illegible]
Babylon, N Y	[illegible]	Hunter's Point N Y	[illegible]
Bath, N Y	[illegible]	Irvington N J	[illegible]
Bayonne N J	[illegible]	Islip N Y	[illegible]
Bergen Point N J	[illegible]	Jamaica N Y	[illegible]
Bayside N Y	[illegible]	Jersey City N J	[illegible]
Bay Shore N Y	[illegible]	Keyport N J	[illegible]
Bayville N Y	[illegible]	Kingston N J	[illegible]
Belleville N J	[illegible]	Laurel Hill N Y	[illegible]
Blissville N Y	[illegible]	Leonia N J	[illegible]
Bloomfield N J	[illegible]	Little Neck N Y	[illegible]
Bloomingdale N J	[illegible]	Little Silver N J	[illegible]
Boonton N J	[illegible]	Long Branch N J	[illegible]
Brooklyn N Y	[illegible]	Madison N J	[illegible]
Caldwell N J	[illegible]	Matawan N J	[illegible]
Carlstadt N J	[illegible]	Millburn N J	[illegible]
Centreville N J	[illegible]	Montclair N J	[illegible]
Chatham N J	[illegible]	Morristown N J	[illegible]
Chester N J	[illegible]	Newark N J	[illegible]
Colt's Neck N J	[illegible]	New Brunswick N J	[illegible]
Coney Island N Y	[illegible]	Newtown N Y	[illegible]
[illegible] N J	[illegible]	New York N Y	[illegible]
Dover N J	[illegible]	Orange N J	[illegible]
East Norwich N Y	[illegible]	Pamrapo N J	[illegible]
Eatontown N J	[illegible]	Passaic N J	[illegible]
Elizabeth N J	[illegible]	Paterson N J	[illegible]
Englewood N J	[illegible]	Perth Amboy N J	[illegible]
Fairview N J	[illegible]	Rahway N J	[illegible]
Fanwood N J	[illegible]	Red Bank N J	[illegible]
Far Rockaway N Y	[illegible]	Seabright N J	[illegible]
Flatbush N Y	[illegible]	Short Hills N J	[illegible]
Flushing N Y	[illegible]	South Amboy N J	[illegible]
Fort Lee N J	[illegible]	South River N J	[illegible]
Franklin Park N J	[illegible]	Staten Island N Y	[illegible]
Freehold N J	[illegible]	Westfield N J	[illegible]
[illegible] N Y	[illegible]	Woodbridge N J	[illegible]
Glen Cove N Y	[illegible]	[illegible] N J	[illegible]
Gravesend N Y	[illegible]	Trenton N J	[illegible]
Hackensack N J	[illegible]	Fairview N Y	[illegible]

TWENTY

Years experience in the business.

SECOND STREET, 2 doors above Peacestreet

Mr. JOHN E. [illegible], Horse-shoer, gives particular attention to [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] by experienced workmen.

ALBERT HEDDEN,

Livery and Boarding Stables

FOURTH STREET,

Between Peace street and Park avenue,

First-Class Livery.

[illegible] by Week or Month.

Telephone call No. 124.

ADMINISTRATOR'S SETTLEMENT.—Notice is hereby given that the accounts of the subscriber, [illegible] [illegible]

Dated May 4, 1893.
ALVAH A. CLARK,
[illegible]

ADMINISTRATOR'S SETTLEMENT.—Notice is hereby given [illegible]

OVER LAND AND SEA.

A Magnificent Illustration of Transportation Methods.

A Building in Which a Thinking Person Can Spend Days Without Weariness—Antiquated and Modern Models of Locomotives, Ships, Etc.

[Special World's Fair Letter.]

It is very easy for the average visitor to the world's fair to overlook the Transportation department, and no doubt thousands do pass by the great red building that has for its sole redeeming architectural feature the magnificent golden arched gateway. "What is in that ugly building?" asks the visitor. "Oh, old engines, and wagons and things," is the thoughtless reply, and the department is ignored.

How many people know, or, if they have been told, stop to think, of the influence transportation has had on civilization? The builders of the world's fair did wisely when they concluded, for the first time in the history of world's fairs, to give the science of transportation in its widest meaning the attention due its importance. For the purpose of comparison every method of transportation is shown, from the primitive bull-cart of the East Indian to the most modern of wagons; from the first engine that dragged its tiny tender over the first American railway at the snail-like pace of five miles an hour to the monster flyer that rushes with the speed of a hurricane, with heavy trains attached, hour after hour. No other department of the fair surpasses that of transportation in utility or equals it as a power in the progress of civilization. Considered from the standpoint of capital invested it overshadows every other. It is estimated that one-tenth of the total wealth of civilized nations is invested in railroads alone, and if to the railroads be added transportation by water and all means of conveyance on common roads the magnitude of the interests represented in this department of the exposition may be fairly estimated.

The Transportation building is a good deal like the burr of a chestnut—its hideous and irritating exterior must not be taken as evidence of the fruit within. It is 960 feet long, 256 feet in width with an annex covering 8 acres, and cost $370,000. The design is simple, but the structural details and simplicity of design have been sacrificed to the bad taste of ornate color effects, the body of the building being of a box-car red elaborated with green, yellow and gold and silver friezes and spandrels. The contrast between these combinations of color and the ivory whiteness of other exhibition buildings is startling if not pleasant.

There are six general classes of exhibits—railways, intramural transit, marine transportation, pneumatic machines, bicycles, carriages and other vehicles for common roads. Of these the railways are naturally given the most space, over 8 acres being devoted to this interest. In this department, as in every other, there is harmony in the general details, the exhibits being so arranged that in most instances a direct comparison can be made between American and foreign methods and machines. And not alone are the machinery and appliances of the present to be seen, for the specimen vehicles, craft and trappings of semi-civilized and barbarous tribes are shown, and past history is illustrated by wonderfully interesting relics. The development of water craft from the earliest form of the modern steamship; of wheeled vehicles from the first inception of the idea of the wheel to their present perfection, and of the development of the railway are here fully illustrated by means of relics, models, drawings, plans and designs. By keeping these historical features clearly in view the wonderful achievements of more recent years bear speaking testimony to the genius of the present age.

It is a source of much pride and gratification to see that the American exhibit in the railway section outranks in perfection and finish the displays of all other nations. England, with her wonderful machines that for speed so long led the world, has at last taken a step to the rear. The English engines are clumsy-looking machines, as ungainly as their predecessors of a generation since. The compact, trim, massive American engine is not a thing of beauty at best, but compared with the rambling, clumsy-looking British flyer it is as different as a thoroughbred from a cart horse. England, too, has sent some of her palace cars, such as the queen rides in, and which are so grand that the average Englishman thinks they are too expensive to patronize. But, bless you, they are shoddy and ill-arranged compared with the splendid vestibuled trains exhibited on a companion track by an American builder. Then, too, there are the thousand and one devices that are essential to rapid and safe railway travel, from the air brake to buffers and couplers, which one is pleased to notice are American inventions. In fact the English exhibit shows its strongest attractions in the old engines—some genuine, some models—of historic machines. For instance there is one of the original Stephenson engines, the Rocket, and the Trevithick locomotive, the first that ever drew cars. Then there is the Sampson, and the Lord of the Isles, both historic locomotives, the latter the original seven-foot guage machine, built in 1851 for exhibition at the first world's fair.

There are some curious old machines in the American exhibit also, one, the Pioneer, being the first locomotive ever brought to Chicago. In all there are more than fifty locomotives shown in the American section. Two of them are monsters, and are mounted on pedestals, one from the Baldwin works weighing 195,000 pounds, and the other from the Brooks works, 180,000 pounds. The Pennsylvania company and the Vanderbilt lines present some splendid specimens of railway trains and engines, the exhibits including cars and engines that were in use before the present generation were born, and quite as odd looking and having as generally a useless appearance as some of the relics in the British section. Canada, Australia, France and Germany are also represented in this department.

But Uncle Sam's eagle droops his tail and ceases to scream when he hears marine transportation mentioned. There's where the foreigner excels, particularly England and France. Every vessel of size and note in the naval or merchant marine of Great Britain is represented by a model or designs and drawings at the world's fair. If you have a friend on board one of the great Atlantic, or Pacific or southern Pacific steamships, and wish to know the whereabouts and the latest tidings of the vessel, go to the Transportation building and examine the big chart with its hundreds of tiny models clinging to its surface. There you will find your friend's vessel, its location, and a chart giving the date and hour when last heard from. An inspection of this chart, and an hour spent in listening to the inquiries made daily by thousands concerning the movements of England's passenger fleet, will convince the most skeptical that Great Britain does indeed rule the wave.

A melancholy interest attaches to the splendid model of the ill-fated warship Victoria which went down in the Mediterranean not long ago, carrying 400 brave seamen who will never again be heard from. The flag on the model now flies at half-mast, and black bunting flies in place of the pennant. The model, like the vessel, came from the works of Sir William Armstrong, and is 20 feet long and the most complete specimen ever turned out of a model factory.

The French have splendid models of steamships, and the Red Star Line company, which comes pretty near being an American enterprise, has constructed a huge section of one of its vessels reaching from the main floor far above the balcony, showing each deck of the vessel, seamen's quarters, mess rooms, first and second cabins, state rooms, library, smoking rooms, officers' quarters, all full size, giving the observers a very good idea of the accommodations to be had on a first-class ocean steamer. There are small boats of every description, from the [illegible] bark canoe and kyak of the Indian and Esquimau to the modern silk and rubber canoes and steam launches of the present day. There are some wonderfully curious dugouts from Africa and the South Sea islands in the relic department that must be seen to be appreciated.

The display of road vehicles, from the magnificent Russian sleighs to the diminutive child's phaeton, is the most extensive and rich in finish and design ever gathered together. And as for bicycles, columns would be needed to tell of the varieties and merits of the exhibits.

Not the least interesting feature of the entire department is the photographic displays. Some of the most magnificent scenery in the world has been reproduced on sensitized paper as advertisements for the railways, and some of the marine views displayed by the steamship companies would make a splendid addition to the picture galleries of the greatest art centers.

PAUL DELL SWEENEY

MISCELLANEOUS | MISCELLANEOUS.

E. P. THORN,
No. 17 Park Avenue,
PLAINFIELD, N. J.

Pure Wines and Liquors,
For Family and Medicinal Use,
A SPECIALTY.

3-26-y

CASTORIA

for Infants and Children.

THIRTY years' observation of Castoria with the patronage of millions of persons, permit us to speak of it without guessing. It is unquestionably the best remedy for Infants and Children the world has ever known. It is harmless. Children like it. It gives them health. It will save their lives. In it Mothers have something which is absolutely safe and practically perfect as a child's medicine.

Castoria destroys Worms.
Castoria allays Feverishness.
Castoria prevents vomiting Sour Curd.
Castoria cures Diarrhœa and Wind Colic.
Castoria relieves Teething Troubles.
Castoria cures Constipation and Flatulency.

Castoria neutralizes the effects of carbonic acid gas or poisonous air.
Castoria does not contain morphine, opium, or other narcotic property.
Castoria assimilates the food, regulates the stomach and bowels, giving healthy and natural sleep.
Castoria is put up in one-size bottles only. It is not sold in bulk.
Don't allow any one to sell you anything else on the plea or promise that it is "just as good" and "will answer every purpose."
See that you get C-A-S-T-O-R-I-A.

The fac-simile signature of Chas. H. Fletcher is on every wrapper.

Children Cry for Pitcher's Castoria.

EXPOSITION FINANCES.

What the Great Fair Will Cost the People of Chicago.

In an article on the world's fair balance sheet in the Forum Mr. Franklin H. Head gives some estimates aiming to forecast the probable receipts and expenses of the exposition. The principal source of income for the fair will, of course, be gate receipts, which are estimated at $10,000,000. Outside of gate receipts the principal source of revenue will be percentages charged on the receipts of the various concessionaires. The revenue from this source is estimated at $4,000,000. Finally there is the salvage on the property, which is estimated at $1,000,000. This makes a total of $15,000,000. The items of disbursements are $4,500,000 for the payment of debenture bonds, $2,000,000 for floating indebtedness and cost of completing buildings and grounds, $500,000 for possible repairs and new constructions during the continuance of the fair, $2,500,000 for the expenses of administration for six months, and $2,500,000 to be refunded to the United States government for 4,000,000 souvenir silver half-dollars, a total of $11,500,000. On the basis of these estimates, there would, it will be seen, remain a sum of $3,500,000 after paying the liabilities outside of the amount due to stockholders and the city of Chicago. The last-mentioned liabilities amount in round numbers to $5,000,000 on capital stock and $5,000,000 on city bonds, a total of $10,000,000, so that if the figures should come out as indicated the stockholders and the city of Chicago would receive back about one-third of their contributions.

OTTOMAN PAVILION, CONTAINING THE TURKISH EXHIBIT.

From the estimates given Mr. Head concludes that it would seem to be more than probable that the stockholders of the exposition and the city of Chicago, from the simple standpoint of dollars and cents, will be losers to the amount of six or seven millions of dollars as a result of the exposition direct, to which should doubtless be added at least as much more for losses and depreciation of property in the enterprises indirectly connected with the exposition. He adds that it is likewise probable that, should the attendance at the fair be what is reasonably anticipated, an equal amount of money may be gained by the citizens, although not by the same people, as a rule, who are the subscribers to the stock. The gains will be largely by the proprietors of hotels, boarding houses, restaurants, saloons, newspapers and places of amusement, and by the various people and corporations engaged in the business of transportation.—Bradstreet's.

Watermelons for a Multitude.

Twenty thousand watermelons are to be cut in one day at the world's fair when Washington state's "tallest flagstaff on earth" and the state building are dedicated in September. The melons, with a lot of Washington peaches, prunes and other fruit, are to be sent by a special fast freight train to Chicago, and when the watermelons are cut everybody in sight will be invited to partake. It is estimated that the melons will cut up into one million [illegible] [illegible] half a pound each.

FOR THE LITTLE FOLKS.

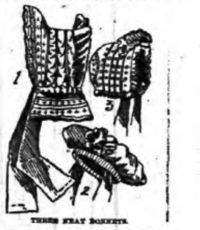
Headgear Which Is Both Pretty and Economical.

Three Patterns of More Than Ordinary Neatness—A Pretty Bonnet for a Little Girl, Cap for a Boy and Hood for Baby.

Any mother who has a little time and taste may save considerably by making bonnets for the children, and beside the saving in the first cost the homemade ones will wear longer and come out of the laundry in better shape. Cheap purchased ones are useless after one wash, and the nice ones are very expensive, considering the materials and work required.

Pretty embroidery is not costly, and odds and ends left from dresses may be used on bonnets. The old-time sunbonnets are once more in vogue and will be welcomed by many mothers who are watchful of their little tots' complexions. No. 1 shows this style suitably worn by any girl from two to six years old. Measure the child's head from under the chin where the string should come up over the top around to the other string. Make a strip of three puffs this length and wide enough to reach to the crown of the head. The frill in front is twice the width at the top that it is at the strings. The crown is cut the shape of a pear and large enough to allow for gathering the upper part as shown. Another frill around the bottom is put on with a beading, and hemstitched strings complete the bonnet.

No. 2 is a cap for a little boy from one to three years old. To make it, first measure around the child's head, and cut a strip of stiff linen this length for the cap band. The crown in the illustration is made of all-over embroidery and is cut perfectly round, the fullness laid in plaits into the band. A lace ruching is sewed into the band, and a large rosette of lace is used to tack the crown up a little on one side.



THREE NEAT BONNETS.

No. 3 is for the baby and can be made of fine embroidery or white silk and hand-embroidered with white, delicate blue or pink. The crown is a little round piece and the other part is cut the height of the head from string to string, and drawn down into the crown at the top by a few gathers, there being none at the lower part. Instead of the top ruching of lace, a large rosette of muslin bows—if the cap is of muslin, or of narrow ribbon if it is of silk—will look well.—Country Gentleman.

ABOUT NIGHT GROWTH.

Why Children and Invalids Need So Much Rest and Sleep.

It is a curious fact that night is the time which nature utilizes for growth. Plants grow much more in the night than in the daytime, as can be proved any time by measurement. Measure a vine at night, then measure it again in the morning and the next night, and it will be found that the night growth is two or three times that accomplished during the day. During the day the plant is very busy gathering nourishment from various sources; and during the night this raw material is assimilated into the plant life.

The same fact is true of the animal creation. Children grow more rapidly during the night. In the daytime, while the child is awake and active, the system is kept busy disposing of the wastes consequent on this activity; but during sleep the system is free to extend its operations beyond the mere replacing of worn-out particles; hence the rapid growth.

This is why so many invalids need so much rest and sleep. The system has been taxed for years beyond its ability to repair the tissues, and hence the organism has become worn and disabled from the accumulation of waste products, and disease has resulted. With the proper conditions restored, and a season of perfect rest, nature will [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] up the clogged and dirty [illegible], and

THE CONSTITUTIONALIST.

VOL. XXVI. PLAINFIELD, N. J., THURSDAY, SEPTEMBER 7, 1893. No 36.

"Support the Constitution, which is the cement of the Union, as well in its limitations as in its authorities."—MADISON.

Rates of Advertising

—WEEKS.— —MONTHS.— Space 1 2 3 1 2 3 6 12

[illegible]

All Electro's must be solid metal.

Double cols. 50 per ct. advance of above rates.

PROFESSIONAL CARDS.

JACKSON & CODINGTON,
Counsellors-at-Law,
Commissioners of Deeds, Masters-in-Chancery, Notaries Public. Offices corner of Park avenue and Second street.

GEORGE W. DAY,
General Auctioneer.
Sales of Personal Property solicited. P. O. Box 153, Dunellen, N. J., or address in care of CONSTITUTIONALIST. Terms reasonable.

DR. CHARLES E. THEISS,
Dentist,
8 West Front street. A new local anaesthetic application for extracting teeth without pain. Gold filling a specialty.

BUSINESS CARDS.

P. P. VanArsdale,
PIANO TUNER.
Instruments put in thorough order. Terms reasonable. Pianos and Organs for sale and to let. Orders by postal, P. O. box 236, or left at Willett's shoe store, No. 6 Park avenue, will receive prompt attention. Residence 91 E. Front street, corner Elm street.

John Chandler,
CARPENTER AND BUILDER,
Plainfield, N. J.
Residence and shop No. 28 East Third street.
Jobbing promptly attended to.

E. B. MAYNARD,
PRACTICAL BARBER
AND
Artistic Hair Dresser,
No. 26 PARK AVENUE.
Ladies' and Children's Hair Cutting done at their residences. Shaving, Shampooing, etc., satisfactorily performed.

CARNEY BROTHERS, Agents,
7 West Front St.
TINNERS,
PLUMBERS,
GAS FITTERS.
PARLOR STOVES,
COOK STOVES,
HEATERS.
Grates and Bricks for all kinds of Stoves can be found here at Jobbers' prices. Bring your Tinware mending to us. The best Tinners, the best Plumbers, and the best Gas-fitters in this section. We use none but the very best of materials, and our work always gives satisfaction.
Keys of All Kinds are Made Here.
Tinware Made to Order.
Ranges, Brick and Portable Furnaces
SANITARY PLUMBING.

Parlor Stoves,
Furnaces, Ranges,
Water Piping. Plumbing.
Heater Work. Tinning,
Hardware.
A. M. GRIFFEN,
13 East Front Street.
TELEPHONE CALL, 6.

Beautiful Assortment!
Furniture!
Largest Assortment!
Best Goods!
Lowest Prices!
Ever Offered in Plainfield!
23, 25 and 27 PARK AVE.
Garret Q. Packer.

LEWIS B. CODDINGTON,
(Successor to T. J. Carey.)
Furniture and Freight Express!
OFFICE—26 W. FRONT ST.
Large Covered Vans or Trucks. Goods delivered to any part of the U. S. Satisfaction guaranteed. Charges reasonable. P. O. Box 1. Piano moving a specialty.

SANITARY PLUMBING,
Brick and Portable Furnaces,
GAS FITTING,
TIN ROOFING,
Etc. Etc.
I am prepared to do any of the above branches in a strictly first-class, sanitary and workmanlike manner.
Having associated myself with the Master Plumbers Association of New York City, I employ none but first-class mechanics and am able to give all prices as low as any.
D. W. LITTELL,
No. 9 North Ave., Plainfield, N. J.

MISCELLANEOUS

FOR MALARIA,
GENERAL DEBILITY
AND
ALL STOMACH TROUBLES
COLES'
PERUVIAN BARK
AND
WILD CHERRY BITTERS
ARE THE BEST.
A Vegetable Substitute for Quinine.
SOLD BY ALL DRUGGISTS.
Price, 50 cents and $1.00 per Bottle.
PREPARED ONLY BY THE
D. F. COLES DRUG AND MFG. CO.
RAHWAY, N. J.

Jas. M. Dunn,
Dealer in
GROCERIES. PROVISIONS
Vegetables, Fruits, etc.
No. 36 Park Ave.
OPPOSITE NORTH AVENUE.
THORBURN & CO'S GARDEN SEEDS
BEST IN THE WORLD.
ALL GOODS DELIVERED FREE OF CHARGE

ESTABLISHED 1856.
C. E. & J. W. BROWN,
(Successors to G. F. & C. E. Brown & Co.)
Importers, Wholesale and Retail Dealers in
WALL PAPER.
321 Canal Street,
NEW YORK.
English Tiles, Anaglypta, Hand, Leather Raised Flock Papers, &c. Burlaps for Walls.
Manufacturers of Window Shades.

LIVERY.

REMOVAL.
A. M. SEGUINE,
Has removed his office to
No. 8 West Second Street,
(Salvation Army building)
Where all orders left for carriages will receive prompt attention.
TELEPHONE CALL, NO. 86.
Your patronage is respectfully solicited.
A. M. SEGUINE.

RICKERT'S
ACCOMMODATION EXPRESS.
OFFICE—Vanderbeek's Music Store, Park avenue. The "Accommodation Express" will attend to the general carrying business of the city, delivering goods or baggage to and from the depot, or from place to place.
Moving of Furniture, Pianos, etc., with care and safety.

INSURANCE.

WILLIAM A. WOODRUFF,
FIRE AND LIFE
INSURANCE AGENT,
Office cor. Front St. and Park Ave.,
PLAINFIELD, N. J.
Real Estate for Sale & Exchange.
MONEY TO LOAN
On Approved Security.

Fresh Garden Seeds
AND FERTILIZERS,
Farm and Garden Implements,
Lawn Mowers, Refrigerators,
Ice Cream Freezers
Gasolene Stoves,
Hardware, Tools, etc.
J. J. HEIDELOFF,
No. 13 SOMERSET ST.

CANOPIES
For Weddings, Parties, Etc.,
TO HIRE. CHARGES REASONABLE
Hugo Weigman,
30 EAST FRONT STREET, PLAINFIELD, N. J.

THE PLAINFIELD
PACKING HOUSE
25 West Front Street,
Would respectfully inform its patrons that in addition to its usual stock of Fresh, Salt and Smoked Meats,
it has added a full line of
Fresh Beef, Lamb,
Veal, Mutton & Poultry,
Which it is prepared to sell at
Reasonable Prices!
All goods delivered free of charge.
Telephone 141.
G. M. ULRICH.

TOBACCO, SEGARS, &c.

B. EGGERDING,
No. 17 Park Avenue,
PLAINFIELD, N. J.
Manufacturer of the Celebrated
C. O. D. CIGAR,
The best domestic cigar in the State, and made on the premises from the finest imported
CLEAR HAVANA SEGARS A SPECIALTY.
A large assortment of the Choicest Brands of Foreign and Domestic Cigars, Cigarettes and Tobacco always on hand.
Smokers' Articles in Great Variety.

A. WOLFF,
Manufacturer of
CIGARS,
And dealer in all kinds of Smoking and Chewing Tobacco, and smokers' articles.

PAINTERS & PAINTERS' SUPPLIES

Paints, Varnishes, Glass.
WINDOW SHADES AND FIXTURES.
WALL PAPERS!
PAPER HANGING A SPECIALTY.
A. SWALM,
No. 6 North Avenue, Plainfield.

L. B. WOOLSTON. J. P. BUCKLE.
Woolston & Buckle,
PAINTERS,
Wall Papers,
PAINTERS' SUPPLIES. 33 NORTH AVENUE

C. Dickinson
Optician
13 Park Ave
Plainfield N.J.

WHATEVER form of printed matter you require we can be of service to you; whether it be

Letter Headings,
Circulars,
Programmes, Menus
Addresses,
Memorials,
By-Laws of Societies,
Prospectuses and Reports of Financial Associations, or any other matter for Public or Private Circulation,
Everything.

WEEKLY CONSTITUTIONALIST
DAILY PRESS
(Chautauqua Building),
PLAINFIELD N. J.

THE FESTIVE FEMALE BOOK AGENT.

CHARLES HAND AND FAMILY TELL THEIR EXPERIENCE.

How Miss Sadie Was Induced to Part With Her Cash—Mr. Hand Hasn't Yet Found Any Tangible Evidence of the Existence of the Publishing House.

Charles Hand, who has been mixed up in an affair with a book-agent, as told exclusively in The Press, says that as all the reports of the trouble have come from the agent, only one side of the story has been told. The Press accordingly prints the statement of the affair as told by Mr. Hand and his family.

The trouble started when Sadie Hand saw the agent's advertisement in the paper and answered it. The ad ran as follows:

Wanted, ladies for a well-known publishing house. Salary $8 and $20 per week.

In response to Miss Hand's answer, a woman called at the Hand house, and, according to the Hands' story, stated that she was the manager and told Sadie that the position that she would have would be either in New York or Plainfield, as the publishing house intended opening an office in one of the two places by the first of January. She went on to say that in order to understand the work that she would be expected to do it was necessary that she should have the outfit, which she produced, and which would cost $7 50. Mrs. Hand said to the agent that it was her custom not to do any business without consulting Mr. Hand, and that she did not happen to have the $7 50 in her pocket at the time.

"Never mind;"—said the agent—"you can borrow it of your butcher or baker."

Mrs. Hand objected to this course, but the agent turned to her daughter, and said something to the effect that she knew Sadie was a hustler and would not be stumped by any little thing like having to borrow the money. She talked to Sadie in this manner for some time, and finally induced her to go and borrow the money, by saying that if everything was not satisfactory the money would be refunded. When Sadie returned and paid the money to the agent, she asked for some receipt or voucher that she could take as a guarantee that she would have the position. The agent said that no receipt was necessary.

"How do I know that I will get the position?"—asked Sadie, to which the woman replied: "How do you know you will live to fill it?"—and left the house.

Sadie had previously asked the woman for her name and address, but the agent said it was not necessary to give them.

When Mr. Hand returned home, he concluded from the story that his wife told him that the agent had decidedly got the best of the bargain, and he set to work to find out where she was staying in town so that he might go and interview her. He was fortunate enough to have her pointed out to him on the street the next morning, Friday, by someone who knew her, and he followed her to her boarding house. Having located his quarry, he brought his daughter around to the house and and sent her up to ask for her money back.

When the agent saw Sadie coming in, she exclaimed: "How did you find out my address?" When Sadie came into the room the agent locked the door after her, unlocking it after a moment to let in her brother, who is in the same business. She told Sadie that the money had been sent to the company, and that therefore she could not give it back. Mr. Hand, who had been at the foot of the stairs, came up to the room and asked Sadie if she was ready to go. The agent unlocked the door, and Sadie said that she had not recovered the money. Mr. Hand then sent his daughter out for a policeman, and demanded the money back. The agent told him that the money had been sent to the company and that he would have to write to them to find out about it. She said that if he would write to the company he would hear within a few days. Some slight passage of arms took place between Mr. Hand and the brother, an account of which is not essential to the story. Mr. Hand said frankly to the agent that he did not believe there was any publishing house at all, and he feels that his suspicions have been partially confirmed, as he wrote to the address given Saturday and has received no reply as yet. Justice Nash refused to take a case against the agent, and Policeman Kiely had no grounds for arrest, so could not act. Mr. Hand says that he has a letter in his possession written by the agent to a young girl in Plainfield saying that all the positions were taken. Mr. Hand considers this another proof that the whole thing is a fraud. He also says that he would have had a statement published before, but that he did not care to have the trouble made public unless it was necessary. He has written to W. F. Edgerton, Chief of the Post Office Department at Philadelphia, to know if he has a case against the agent for using the mails to obtain money under false pretences.

Take it altogether, it is an interesting case, as the agent is as much incensed against Mr. Hand as he is against her, and says she will have damages from him. The issue will be watched with interest.

HOME FROM THE WRECK.

Perilous Adventure of a Plainfield Party During the Storm of Monday Night.

Albert A. Wright, Mrs. Corliss and Miss Corliss returned to Plainfield Wednesday from New London, and are resting after their recent exciting and perilous experience in being rescued from Mr. Wright's schooner yacht, Priscilla, during the storm of Monday night, off Watch Hill. The yacht was being driven on the rocks, when the life-saving crew came to the aid of the party and took all on board safely to shore. The life-savers were none too quick, as the yacht was driven aground shortly after the party left her, and went all to pieces the next day.

Mr. Wright purchased the Priscilla only this spring, and had her completely refitted and done over. She had been in commission but two months. During that time she had been cruising about the Sound. The party on board of her at the time of the disaster was made up a little over a week ago, and the yacht was on her way to Newport when the storm that caused so much damage struck her. The owner and all on board are to be congratulated in getting off with their lives.

Should Be Suppressed.

Complaint has been made to Chief Grant that two colored men frequent John I. Holly's premises and fish from his pond, which he stocked himself. When ordered to leave the place, they became insulting, and said they would go when they got ready.

THE TINGLEY FAMILY PICNIC.

NOT SO BIG AS THE SMITHS', BUT JUST AS JOLLY.

Sporty Time at the Blackford Farm, New Market—Plenty to Eat, and the Originals' Pictures to Gaze at—A Handful of Direct Descendants, and Lots of Cousins—Pretty Girls Abounded.

Not since the days of "ye olden time" have the Tingley family held such a glorious re-union as that which took place Thursday at the David Blackford farm near New Market.

There were Tingleys from far and near, all come to have a good old-fashioned time, and enjoy the renewing of acquaintances, which has been their custom for a number of years.

Early in the morning they began to arrive, some on foot and some in carriages. Of vehicles, by the way, some are only used on State occasions, and the best of care is taken of them by their owners.

To enliven the celebration, the Friendship Cornet Band of New Market was secured, and gave their best selections to the delight of both young and old.

The day was perfect in every respect, and the fresh green grass and foliage added to the charms to the scene, while the cool air seemed to inspire everyone with new ambition and sociability; even the most aged present vied with the youngest in striving towards making it a successful event.

Around the old farmhouse were arranged long tables and comfortable seats, where an inviting feast of good things was placed before the hungry multitude of people.

On the lawn in front of the house some of the folks were taking things easy under the large shade trees. Everyone present was supposed to be a Tingley, or to have an interest in the family, and their generous hospitality was bestowed on all alike. One could not help but feel acquainted and at home in such a gathering.

Genial John Tingley, whom Plainfielders know so well, was manager of the affair, as usual, and looked after every need.

As a reminder of good old days, the familiar pictures of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Tingley were hung in front of the house. They were the original Tingleys of these parts, and their pictures brought moisture to the eyes of many a one, as they gazed in fondness on their kindly faces.

In the afternoon the Rev. Mr. Thompson, pastor of the South Plainfield Baptist church, called the gathering to order, and made a short speech, after which he introduced the Rev. Mr. Cox, who formerly preached in that neighborhood and was well acquainted with the early residents. Mr. Cox gave a graphic description of the early days, and brought to remembrance many instances that recalled those palmy days, and said that he had held many a pleasant pastorate since, but none gave better satisfaction than the one at that place.

The Rev. Frank Fletcher, pastor of the New Market Baptist church, was called on, and gave a most stirring and profound talk. At times, however, he became quite funny, and his occasional joke was hugely enjoyed.

The Rev. Mr. Thompson announced that the band would entertain the audience, and later on Charles Dyas, of Somerville, who played the drum, gave an imitation of a train of cars passing through a country and being cannonaded. It brought forth hearty applause. Mr. Dyas is a member of Co. H, 3d Regiment, Somerville.

Those present of the original Tingley family were:

Mrs. Phoebe Tappan, a sister, White Plains, Georgia.
Mrs. David Blackford, New Market.
David Tingley, a nephew, Florida.
Ebenezer Tingley, George Tingley, Charles Tingley, John Tingley, of New Market.

One sister living in Illinois, one in the southwestern part of Missouri, and a brother in New York, were not present.

A familiar face was that of Uncle William Randolph, of Randolphville.

There were many sweet-faced maidens and bright-faced youths. Newark, where there are Tingleys, was well represented.

The people began to leave about 6 in the afternoon, and all joined in praise of the most successful reunion ever held. All were invited to be present again next year.

THE MOORE-RICE CONTROVERSY.

A Higher Court Than Mosher's to Determine Its Merits.

Counselor Marsh was indignant at Justice Mosher's verdict against his client, Charles P. Rice, which he held to be directly contrary to the merits of the case.

On securing judgment, Charles K. Moore had a warrant issued, to attach Mr. Rice's chattels, or his body if they could not be found.

Mr. Marsh denounced such action, and said he should certiorari the whole proceedings within 24 hours.

The Moore faction then withdrew the warrant, and Mr. Marsh filed for Mr. Rice an appeal bond, taking the case to a higher court for reversal.

For Mr. Rice's language in Court to Mr. Moore, Mr. Moore had him arrested, and brought before the City Court this morning. Mr. Marsh as Corporation Counsel was not one whit embarrassed at having to prosecute his own client, for Mr. Marsh is always honest, and he frankly said, "My client is guilty; I heard him use the language, under provocation". He impressed all with his candor and fairness. Judge Coddington suspended sentence on Mr. Rice.

The sentence of Mr. Rice, uttered yesterday, "I stole tools for that man" (Col. Moore), was, it seems, qualified by his saying afterwards "That is, I borrowed and bought for him, what he never paid for, and I think that's the same as stealing". He denies having mentioned Mr. Doud in the same connection.

No one who knows Mr. Rice and Mr. Doud believes either of them capable of a dishonorable act.

Alas, for the Philharmonics!

It is much to be regretted that H. O. Newman has decided not to give Philharmonic Concerts this season. The generally prevalent financial troubles render this an unfavorable season for an undertaking involving so much enterprise and expense. It is thought, moreover, that if the concerts are omitted this year, they will by another season have gained much in popularity, from being missed.

[illegible] from the Cow.

Mr. Franse, superintendent of John I. Holly's place on Park avenue, has a large lump on his left hand, which is the result of being bunted by a cow in attempting to lead her from the pasture.

COZIER THAN EVER.

Artist Edwards Has Made Delightful Treatment of the All Souls Interior.

The interior decorations of the Unitarian church will be viewed publicly on the reopening of the church next Sunday.

They are gratifying to the observer, in that they display the perfect good taste of George Wharton Edwards, the artist, who selected the colors and the designs, and the faithful execution of Woolston & Buckle, the decorators.

Around the sides of the interior, to the height of seven feet, and within the alcoves behind and at the sides of the pulpit, the color is a rich brown. Above this, and over all, and giving the prevailing tint, is a coloring of light cream. Where the brown and the cream meet run four broad strips of gold. Three tasteful gold floral designs decorate the alcoves behind the pulpit; and the arches above them are rimmed with stripes of gold.

The decorations harmonize well with the furnishings of natural wood, and give the church interior a warm and altogether an inviting look.

DR. RIPLEY'S TRIBUTE.

What He Thought of His Friend and Neighbor, Warren Ackerman.

(From The Westfield Leader.)

Warren Ackerman, aged sixty-eight, and for more than thirty years a resident of Union county, died at his residence, Scotch Plains, on Saturday last, 26 inst., of paralysis. Mr. Ackerman was much esteemed in our community and most so by those who knew him most immediately. Retiring in his manner, a man of few words, always busy, he was known as well as the average man of affairs, considering the large interests he represented in Union county and elsewhere. He was observing in his contact with men and business. He was prudent and conservative. He was scrupulous, governed by high moral principles in all matters of business. He was to be found on the right side, as he understood the right.

Warren Ackerman was regarded as the largest land-owner in the county, possessed of about 3,000 acres at the time of his death. He was believed to be a millionaire and more. He was a useful member of society, aiding, in many ways, to promote the prosperity of this section of the country. He was early an advocate of improved public roads, and was one of those who built and maintained good roads at his own expense. He purchased many farms, often in a very poor state of cultivation and repair, and bettered their productiveness and appearance. He took in hand the Deserted Village of Feltville, and made it blossom like the rose. The loss of Mr. Ackerman will be felt more and more, as we consider what he was, and what he did.

CHAUNCEY B. RIPLEY.

He Owned Washington Rock.

James M. Franse, of Columbus, O., is visiting his brother, Samuel D. Franse, of West Second street, after an absence from Plainfield of 26 years.

Mr. Franse was the owner of Washington Rock, and built a hotel on that site. He was ahead of the times, however, and paid the penalty of his enterprise by losing a considerable fortune. Mr. Franse is now in the silver hardware business in Columbus. His wife accompanies him on his visit to Plainfield, and both are heartily welcome.

Wake Up, Neighbor, and Read The Press.

A sleepy old journal claiming to be a newspaper told last night of the mysterious disappearance of a Frenchman, Robert Pierrat, a book-agent, and hinted that he had swindled Plainfield people. These columns weeks ago told of the arrest, conviction and sentence of this same Pierrat, for his wrongdoing.

Mr. Pierrat's "disappearance" is because he is in jail, and all Plainfield long ago read of his swindle, in The Press.

The Press alone, of all papers in Plainfield, gives "all the news, first and fully".

The Depositors Get Half Their Savings.

William Y. Johnson, who was appointed receiver for the Somerset County Bank, has prepared his report to the Chancellor.

Mr. Johnson states that he is ready to declare a dividend of 50 per cent. to the depositors as soon as the Court issues an order to that effect.

Keller Will Call to Bat.

Mecca Temple of the Mystic Shrine has organized a base-ball club, and the secretary says:

If you are a base-ball sharp or fiend, can play the game, or simply desire to root, send your name, and in what position in the game your talent is most largely developed, to Noble Thomas H. Keller, East Front street, Plainfield, New Jersey. He has been selected as our team manager, and knows a thing or two about the game. All communications in connection with the team or club should be addressed to him. He will call you to bat, and if you make a hit it will redound to Mecca's credit.

Pure Milk from Inspected Cattle.

One of the neatest stores in Plainfield is the DelMarvia Farms Dairy at 327 Watchung avenue, where the purest products of the dairy are sold. The milk is produced from the famous herd of registered Jersey cattle formerly owned by J. W. Johnson. The milk is absolutely pure. No beer grains nor unwholesome food is fed. The cattle are examined monthly by a veterinarian. Every care possible is given to make the milk the purest that can be produced. An inspection of the care and feed of the cattle and mode of taking care of the milk would convince the most skeptical that that the milk from this dairy is the purest that can be produced.

One Firm That Does Not Feel the General Depression in Business.

In the great depression in the general business of the country, it is good news to hear that the old-established clothing house of George Watson & Co. are able to keep all their workmen steadily employed.

They say the garments made by them are so fully up to custom work that many are avoiding the high prices of merchant tailors and really dressing better by buying their fine grades of clothing in which they always get the latest fashion plate cut.

Just now they are increasing their help for the fall trade, and would like to make an arrangement with a good custom tailor to take orders for their garments in this vicinity, as they are pushing their sales to keep their large force of skilled cutters and tailors steadily at work, and are making low prices for all their styles.

Merchants at Westwood, Bergen county, have united in refusing to take silver dollars for more than sixty-five cents. Merchants of Plainfield are glad to get them at full face value.

ELIZABETH LOCKRIE'S FUNERAL.

Attended at the Tomb by Odd Ladies and Daughters of Pocahontas.

From the late residence, 435 West Sixth street, Thursday afternoon at 2, the funeral services of Elizabeth Lockrie were held. The Rev. Charles E. Herring officiated.

Mizpah Lodge, No. 1, United Order of Independent Odd Ladies, and Iona Council, Daughters of Pocahontas, were present. They also contributed some very pretty flowers.

The Rev. C. E. Herring said, in part:

"I have been much impressed with the words taken from Scripture 'I will be with you all the days'. 'Always' is an indefinite term, but 'All the days' is significant.

"In the midst of all our adversity Christ says 'I will be with thee in the height of thy prosperity and the depth of thy adversity'. There are times when we are joyous and there are times when we weep. The Saviour said 'I am going away, and cannot be present bodily with you. I am going away that I may send you another comforter, the Holy Spirit, and His presence you may have always'. We need what the word comfort means, strength for living, and then we shall have grace for dying. May this bereavement turn our eyes heavenward. Death is spoken of in the New Testament as one being asleep.

"I was passing an engine-house recently and noticed it was draped in mourning. I was pleased to see the words 'Our loss his gain'. It meant something more than was to be seen at first glance.

"Our sister is with Christ today. Her pastor, Dr. Ketcham, desired very much to be present, but was prevented. He sent this message, That she was a woman of strong common-sense, she has a personal Saviour. May we so live that when we die the Master will say 'Well done, thou good and faithful servant, enter thou into the joys of thy Lord'."

At the grave the members of the two lodges took charge and conducted the service according to their ritual. "Nearer My God to Thee" was sung, and Mrs. Westphal recited the Lord's Prayer. Mrs. Corwin made a prayer, after which Mrs. Morse and several others read appropriate selections. Another hymn was sung, and then the women made a circuit of the grave dropping sprigs of ver green therein. A closing sentence was read by Mrs. Corwin. The Rev. C. E. Herring pronounced the benediction.

The pall-bearers were: James Patterson, John Morton, Harry Cottrell, William Dodds, William Hutchinson and Joseph Randolph.

Interment was made in the Methodist Cemetery.

MR. VENINO'S GOOD FORTUNE.

Plainfield Loses a Valued Artist Who Takes Horace Greeley's Advice.

It is with deep regret that the many Plainfield friends of A. F. Venino learn that he has decided on September 14 to leave here and make his home permanently in Spokane Falls, Wash., where he will assume the directorship of the Spokane Conservatory of Music. He will receive a good salary and in addition will receive the entire proceeds of all recitals that he gives.

There will be five opening recitals given as follows: at Helena, Sept. 18; at Spokane Falls, Sept. 21; at Tacoma, at Seattle and at Portland.

Mr. Venino has been in Plainfield eleven years and has been identified during that time with all the city's principal musical affairs. His first appearance before Plainfield people was at a benefit given to Muhlenberg Hospital.

He subsequently appeared at the benefit given the Crescent Avenue church, and also at the first Melopoia concert. He gave numerous piano recitals and chamber music concerts and was a successful teacher, many pupils having remained under his tuition during the whole time of his residence in Plainfield.

It will, of course, now be necessary for Mr. Venino's winter course of concerts in Plainfield to be abandoned, which is a most unfortunate thing for this city.

They Lost an Honored Friend.

In the peculiarly sad death Wednesday of President J. E. Dewitt, of the Union Mutual Life Insurance Company, who was killed in the Boston and Albany Railroad accident, a keen bereavement is felt by two of Plainfield's citizens, John M. Crane and Samuel F. T. Wilbur, as these gentlemen were not only for many years connected with the company of which the late Mr. Dewitt was the head, but they also had close personal and social relations with this excellent gentleman, which they will always remember with deep pleasure. The circumstances of the case are such that it is but natural that they should be touched with genuine sorrow at his sad death. The deceased was a nephew of Peter Dewitt, of Somerville.

One Franse's Change of Base.

Augustus M. Franse, Plainfield's veteran expressman in the package express service, has changed his headquarters from the store of Druggist R. J. Shaw to Laire Bros' hardware house. Mr. Franse has had his office in the store occupied by Mr. Shaw for fully forty years, having been there when the old drug firm of Gaston & Sutphen had possession, prior to 1860, in which year Mr. Shaw took the store.

Mr. Franse deeply appreciates the uniform kindness and courtesy of Mr. Shaw, and the many favors shown him by that gentleman during their long stay under the same roof.

The Boys' Club Reopened.

The reopening of the Boys' Club took place last evening in the club's new rooms on the second floor of the building at North and Park avenues, directly over Rockfellow's store. There were 36 boys present, which, considering the inclemency of the weather, was a goodly number.

The evening was spent in preliminary matters, chiefly in re-registering the boys, getting their new addresses, etc.

The little fellows expressed much admiration of the new quarters, which was quite a natural thing, as the rooms are much superior in every respect to those formerly occupied in the same building.

The new quarters reflect much credit on the managers of the club, and the organization should now have greater success in its work than ever before.

No Lack of Funds: It's Signers They Want.

The report that has been circulated by another newspaper to the effect that the Plainfield Street Railway Company was short of funds, and, therefore, unable to extend its tracks to Dunellen, is denied by Superintendent Atkinson, who assures The Press that as soon as the company can secure the consent of the property owners along the proposed line, the work of extension will be pushed rapidly forward.

The Washington Star is fighting for the introduction of free postal delivery into that town. That is right. Washington won't amount to anything in the eyes of the outside world till it has that essential of modern civilization.

The Plainfield Press is calling attention to the meagre attendance at Sunday evening services in the churches of that city. We are sorry to hear that the citizens of Plainfield are degenerating in their religious tendencies. We think Somerville could set them an example in church attendance. Somerville is preeminently a church-going town.

So says the Somerville Unionist-Gazette. Since Somerville is so virtuous, can't she send a missionary to this atrociously wicked city and restore our fallen morals?

When the people heard that the Newman Philharmonics would not be given this winter, they were consoled by the thought that there was still left to them the Venino concerts. But it is now certain that on account of the departure from Plainfield of Mr. Venino, the Venino concerts also will have to be abandoned. There is in this cause for Plainfield's sincere regret. Of course the Choral and Melopoia societies will still remain in existence, and will continue to do excellent service to the cause of good music in Plainfield, but the variety of music Plainfield has been having was very delightful, and people hate to have so much lost to them for a time.

AFTER-VACATION OVERWORK.

With September ends the summer. *From the universal outing everybody returns acknowledging that rest is a tonic beyond the power or ken of science, a renewal of energy and strength, giving added length of days and usefulness. What is the course of average man or woman with the words of this confession scarcely ended? Do they husband and increase this God-given blessing, this new wine of life in their veins? On the contrary they at once begin a system of lavish waste, that, were it money, would be regarded unpardonable recklessness.

Making themselves martyrs to business or cares of household, they strain every nerve to accomplish necessary duties and many which are wholly optional and not important for the comfort and welfare of those dear to them.

Nature is a kind mentor giving timely warning when her laws are broken. If the seeming requirements of life cannot be accomplished without undue expenditure of nerve force (so fatal to health), what does wisdom advise? In pecuniary stress of circumstances, retrenchment is sought as means of relief. By careful self-examination, many things that fatigue will be found to have their origin in false pride and ambition and can be left undone. Is there not time tomorrow for the undertaking that lack of strength enters protest against today? In this rush and busy strife of living, to be overworked seems a cause for vainglory rather than selfreproach. Nowhere is economy needed so much as in this direction; and how extravagant, without thought of after consequence, is the world, in waste of physical and mental power!

A smiling happy wife and mother are far more welcome at the evening meal than a dinner of many courses, its presiding spirit over-weary and without inclination or time for sympathy and pleasure. Whatever is left undone, let homes be love-lighted, family burdens shared, and life not too much devoted to the things that "moth, rust and thieves" can take from us, leaving us poor indeed. In the end, what does it profit, if we gain the whole world beside and lose the joy of living and loving while our day lasts.

NEW JERSEY'S PAROLE LAW.

One of the details of the parole law has been brought to the attention of the New Jersey authorities through the stories published about alleged suicide of at first supposed to be "Count" William C. Kockegey. The "Count" emerges from obscurity in Philadelphia and says that he is not the Kockegey that committed suicide in San Francisco, but that he is living in Philadelphia with his first wife. He was sentenced to the State Prison for bigamy and released on parole. It has been generally understood that prisoners so released were not to leave the State, but to remain within its boundaries so that they could be under the inspection of the proper officers of the law, but on investigation it was shown that the law makes no provision as to future residence. While it was first thought that Kockegey by residing in Philadelphia had broken the contract he made with the State, it is discovered that he has a perfect right to reside anywhere he chooses, providing he reports every three months to the Governor, giving an account of his whereabouts and his social and industrial habits.

In framing the parole law no provision in regard to the future residence of the ticket-of-leave men was made. It is probable that the next Legislature will be asked to amend it so as to compel the prisoners to reside in the State for the period covered by their parole, or to provide that some one shall give security for their good conduct should they remove from it.

There are some of the paroled men living in other States, among them ex-Sheriff Rockwell, who killed James Wainright in Ocean county, and was released six months ago from the prison on parole. He did not return to Ocean county, but took up his residence with some relatives in Brooklyn. Several other paroled men are living in New York and four of them in Philadelphia.

It is claimed by those who are interested in the parole system that this omission almost defeats the practical application of the law. Paroled prisoners are still in the custody of the State and can be restored to the institution from which they have been given a ticket of leave at any time that their conduct warrants it. They are practically prisoners out on their good behavior, but the New Jersey law has no one watching them to see how much they refrain from idle or immoral habits. While the law provides for their rearrest for any breach of conduct should they be in the State, there is no oversight over those who leave its jurisdiction, and even should it come to the knowledge of the prison authorities or the Governor that Kockegey or Rockwell were disobeying the conditions of their parole, it would take a long and tedious process of law to secure their arrest and imprisonment.

As far as the State authorities report, the parole law has worked to their satisfaction, only two persons having been returned to the State Prison. It is reported by the Executive Department that all the prisoners report regularly, including the ballot-box stuffers, who were released last Christmas. Their time of parole will soon be over, when they will be given an absolute release, but they will still be under the ban of disfranchisement.

—Harper's, 411 Park avenue, is the place to buy your school supplies.

The New York Sun is beginning to discriminate against that very much overestimated institution, Chautauqua, and says:

There has been a good deal of chaff, froth, flummery, and folly at the Chautauqua summer schools this year.

NEW JERSEY'S CORPORATIONS.

Col. John VanCleef, Secretary of the State Board of Assessors, makes the statement that notwithstanding the continued stringency of the money market, the miscellaneous corporations who pay tax to the State of New Jersey for using its name in a business connection, are making their payments to the State with more readiness than they had shown for four years; that over seventy-five per cent of the total amount assessed on the 3,700 miscellaneous corporations has already been paid, and that this beats the record. There have been a few more appeals this year than heretofore, and the statement is made by the counsel for some of the corporations that they are making no money and find it difficult to sell stocks, yet they seem to comply with the demands of the State more readily than heretofore.

The total returns from miscellaneous corporations will be larger this year than for any year in the history of the State. The revenue for the filing of certificates, as well as the assessment of taxes, will be larger by forty per cent. than last year. The possible solution of this is that the State has been careful to follow the corporations closely and to weed out those that have suspended business or collapsed.

It is the duty of the Attorney-General to move against a corporation when it refuses to pay and to obtain a perpetual injunction enjoining it from doing any further business, and this has kept the Attorney-General's office busy for the past two or three years. It has annulled the charter of a large number of corporations that have been carried on the books ever since the Corporation act went into force.

A WAIL FROM THE DISTRACTED.

Plainfielders who are kept awake at night by discordant and unnecessary shrieking of locomotive whistles and whose Sunday rest is disturbed by the needless clanging of church bells, will be interested in the wail which comes from Philadelphia. This city, which enjoys the reputation of being quiet to the point of dulness, is barbarously noisy, according to The Press of that city, which pleads for ordinances against unnecessary din and uproar in the streets and for the enforcement of those ordinances that already exist. It seems that if musicians begin to play before a house in Philadelphia, its inmates can get rid of them only by purchasing their silence, and that although long blasts on steam whistles are prohibited, the ears of the inhabitants are split by such shrieks from the factories several times each day. The Press says that it is all very well to invoke the law against such an outrage; that, in fact, it has been done, but only at the cost of a long and tedious lawsuit. "We are behind the times"—it says.—"The roar of London has been stilled. Paris is a quiet city by the side of the Paris of thirty or forty years ago. So is New York. The Massachusetts Railroad Commission, after a long fight, has reduced the locomotive whistle to comparative silence. Here in Philadelphia we endure all the noises of the past and imagine that noise and energy go together. It is a barbarous idea. Noise is waste. The stillest engine returns the most power for its consumption of coal." This wail coming from Philadelphia of all places will strike most people as extraordinary.

NOTEWORTHY ENGINEERING.

In a few months the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad will be able to abandon the old Bollman bridge over the Potomac River, and its trains will thenceforth run over a new double-track bridge of modern construction after passing beneath Maryland Heights through a tunnel carved out of the solid rock. The work of tunneling was begun about a year ago, and as an engineering feat it is worthy of note. The drilling started at both ends at the same time. A small hole about seven feet in diameter, known as a heading, was first made. As soon as the headings were far enough advanced, work on the lower part of the rock, which had to be taken out, was begun, the headings having given room to drive the drill horizontally so that much larger masses of rock could be blasted. The headings met July 20 of this year and were only half an inch out of line, which is considered remarkable in the way of engineering. The work of tunneling has proceeded so fast since then that the only blasting now done is for the purpose of trimming the interior to make ready for the east and west portals, which will be of masonry "topped out" with brick arches. The tunnel will be 850 feet long, 28 feet wide, and 24½ feet high. Over 22,000 cubic yards of rock were taken out of the tunnel, and 26,000 cubic yards were blasted in making the approaches. The rapidity with which the work has been done is not often equaled. The bridge piers across the river, of which there are eight, have been built on four-foot foundations laid on bed-rock. In their construction 64,000 cubic yards of Gettysburg granite have been used. When completed the bridge will be forty-three feet above the river, and the railroad tracks will be laid at a point seven feet higher than the highest water ever known on the Potomac. The bridge will be 900 feet long between abutments. To make room for the new work, the railroad station had to be moved down about 100 feet, and the old Potomac House, which was almost as much of a landmark as John Brown's Fort, had to be torn down.

Councilman Fountain Sworn In.

The North Plainfield Borough Council had little to do last night. Mayor Saunders swore in Councilman Robert Fountain. It was reported that no pound had yet been found for dogs. The macadamizing of Chatham street and of the approach to the Elm place bridge was reported completed, at a cost of $641 to the borough and $250 to the subscribers. Somerset street, it was stated, had been put in shape for the winter, but the appropriation had been exceeded by $300. Blanks for resolutions for borrowing money were ordered printed. $800 was ordered borrowed for the light account, $500 for general road account, $500 for fire department. $126 was reported paid in by subscribers for Duer street improvements. Mr. Fountain was made chairman of the Fire, Water and Lamps Committee. The meeting was harmonious and quiet.

Somebody Stole the Oil.

The firm of Davis & Atkinson, of Park avenue, keep several barrels of illuminating oil stored in a small building in the rear of their store. One night this week the door of the oil house was inadvertently left unlocked, and the following morning it was discovered that about 60 gallons of oil had been stolen from one of the barrels. The firm will hereafter take special care that the door of the oil house is not again left unlocked over night.

Kesler's Good Work.

(From The [illegible] Advertiser.)

Kesler is playing a great game for the Binghamtons. He gets in a couple of hits every day, and is fielding his position splendidly.

—Robert Whitcar of this city is one of the riders in Hunting's Circus, which exhibits here Thursday, Sept. 14.

The Constitutionalist.

A. L. Force, Publisher & Proprietor.

Sound business derives nutriment from a sound currency.

Confidence is a thousand-fold more valuable than depreciated silver.

Inflation is essential to raise balloons, but healthy trade demands the solidity of terra-firma.

Every wage-earner should receive fully one hundred cents in the dollar for his or her rendered services.

Labor is the foundation of reliable wealth, and all the monopolists in the land cannot cut that anchored cable.

The employment of competent and trustworthy men at an adequate and equitable rate of compensation will ultimately prove of benefit to all employers, be they corporate or private.

Wanton legislative obstructionists, when important and needed public measures are pending, differ little in fact from the tramp who spikes impediments on a railway track.

To faithfully accomplish whatever the honor of country and the permanent prosperity of the people absolutely require is the settled policy of the Democratic party.

A genuine Democrat, in Congress or out of it, while maintaining the individual liberty of thinking and uttering what he thinks, will bow gracefully and promptly to the edict of the majority. Otherwise he is a Democrat only in name.

Republican members of the House of Representatives deserve credit for voting as numerously as they did in favor of Silver Purchasing repeal. Happily, when the crisis comes, it produces men who prize patriotism above partisanship.

The true mission of a Government founded like that of the United States is plain and practical. It is of the people, by the people and for the best interests of the people, irrespective of class, creed or condition. Not according to flimsy precept, but with unwavering fidelity to consistent action.

The present Congress has justly earned honor for responding with such marked unanimity to a mid-summer called session. The final vote in the House on Mr. Wilson's silver repeal bill showed nearly if not quite the entire membership present, counting out two removed by death. No previous record chronicles greater loyalty to legislative duty.

It is just as absurd for Colorado and Nevada to imperiously say to New York and New Jersey we demand one hundred cents of your gold coin for fifty cents worth of our silver bullion, as it would be for Iowa to compel South Carolina to purchase Iowan raised wheat at an artificial price or starve.

Gold is the financial standard of the commercial world for the adjustment of international transactions, while auxiliary silver coins and paper promises to pay, issued in volume sufficient to conveniently serve local business purposes, are the acknowledged factors of a reliable currency. To preserve the co-equal and immediate redemption value of all forms of money holds no commerce with disturbing inflation.

The American Union is composed of forty-four distinct members scattered over a vast expanse of territory. They differ in regard to climatic influences, natural productions and sectional peculiarities. To compel a portion to pay tribute to any other portion is at war with justice and freedom. In order to secure and advance the general public welfare there must be liberality and concession, a cheerful willingness to give and take, to bear and forbear.

One of the signs of the hard times is the way pocket pieces are getting into circulation. Men who have carried certain cherished coins for years find reason for spending them, and silver halves and quarters of old dates are quite often received in change. A few of the old-fashioned big copper coins have also reappeared, and small tradesmen do not hesitate to accept Canadian or Mexican coins at their face value.

Widespread and deserved attention is being bestowed on Mayor Saunders by other influential men and newspapers. The Mayor's fearless course in handling public matters has won him admiration from all honest people. For instance, the Westfield Standard thus honors him:

> The President of these United States, it is related, has presented to the Pope of Rome a bound volume of his official papers during a former administration. We beg to suggest that his honor the Mayor of North Plainfield, Hon. Wm. L. Saunders, prepare in similar form a volume of his official papers and furnish a copy to the Pope of Rome, the President of the United States, and to other potentates and powers of the world. Judging from the local press, his honor, the Mayor of North Plainfield, must already have accumulated a considerable number of valuable papers upon public topics, many of them most excellent.

The season now approaching its close has naturally been a bad one with the great summer hotels in the mountains and on the coast of New England, but the Boston Herald thinks there are other causes for this than the hard times and the World's Fair. It is of the opinion that the summer hotel business on a large scale has passed its climax in prosperity, and that in the best of times these great caravansaries will never again be as popular as they have been in the past. The main reason which it assigns is the growing disposition of people with large means, who make long sojourns and spend much money in the country during the summer, to have cottages of their own, rather than patronize even the best of the hotels. Vermont newspapers find confirmation of this theory in the rapid increase in the number of cottages along the shores of Lake Champlain during the past few years, and there is much other evidence to the same effect.

I suffered from a severe cold in my head for months and could get no relief. Was advised to use Ely's Cream Balm. It has worked like magic in its cure. I am free from my cold after using the Balm one week, and I believe it is the best remedy known.—Samuel J. Harris, Wholesale grocer, 119 Front st., New York.

A CHANGE OF TUNE AT HOLY CROSS.

SAD LACK OF HARMONY OVER THE MUSIC QUESTION.

Choirmaster Miner Accused of Faults by the Rector, and Mr. Miner Says the Cause of the Trouble Can Be Traced Back to the Time He Discharged the Rector's Son.

In The Press of last Saturday appeared the following paragraph:

> One of the prominent congregations of the town will be surprised tomorrow to find the music in charge of a new leader.

Further reference to the fact that the "resignation" of W. H. Miner as choirmaster of Holy Cross had been accepted, was withheld at the personal request of Rector Murphy, who said that he did not want facts published which would reflect on Mr. Miner.

Again Tuesday Mr. Murphy repeated his request, and Mr. Miner also asked that publication be deferred, but during the day Mr. Murphy was interviewed by the New York Herald, to whom some kind friend had sent a clue of the story, and as a result the following appeared in The Herald of this morning:

> The discordant note which has marred the harmony of the full choral service in the Church of the Holy Cross, at North Plainfield, N. J., during all the months since Easter morn is hushed.
>
> Holy Cross has a new choirmaster, and henceforth its song of praise will be full-throated.
>
> The discordant note grew out of an effort at musical progress which the vestry made two years ago. Choirmaster Charles W. Kellogg drifted away early in 1891, and was succeeded by William H. Miner, an energetic young man from New Haven, Conn.
>
> Mr. Miner was a musician of marked attainments, and under his care the choir attracted widespread attention. And the choirmaster—he was organist as well—was vastly independent and told folks how he was beset by flattering offers from more prosperous churches.
>
> LIKED HIM AND RAISED HIS SALARY.
>
> The vestry was troubled by this, but they liked his work and increased his pay from time to time. So it went until the organist reached the limit. The vestry knew it, Organist Miner did n't. At Eastertide he was assailed by another flattering offer, and spoke about it to the rector, the Rev. T. Logan Murphy.
>
> "Mr. Murphy,"—he said one day after the choir practice—"I'm goin' to leave Holy Cross."
>
> "Ah!"—the rector replied with passive interest—"are you?"
>
> "Yes"—the organist replied, not at all abashed—"Had an offer from St. George's church, in Brooklyn."
>
> The rector threw a well developed leg over his bicycle—they are all wheelmen in Plainfield except the wheelwomen—and grasped the handles of the "safety".
>
> "You've settled it, have you?"—he asked.
>
> "Yes"—Mr. Miner replied—"I am to sign a contract on Saturday."
>
> The clergyman rode away without comment. When he went to the church on Sunday morning Mr. Miner was there on hand.
>
> "Well,"—the rector ventured—"did you sign that contract?"
>
> "Oh, yes:"—The organist answered—"it's all settled."
>
> PASTOR AND VESTRYMEN WAITED.
>
> The rector and his vestrymen smiled and waited. Mr. Miner told the Rev. Mr. Murphy that he had decided to allow St. George's church to wobble along as best it could and stick by Holy Cross.
>
> "But"—the rector exclaimed—"you've signed the contract, you know?"
>
> "Oh, well,"—the organist said—"they won't hold me to it if they think I don't wish to keep it."
>
> Mr. Miner remained at Holy Cross, but thereafter the singers seemed to fall under his displeasure with marked frequency. One after another he told them to hang up their robes and lay down their metaphorical harps. They obeyed, but there was mourning. It increased in proportion to the dismissals. The music was growing ragged.
>
> The rector was in New York one day and met the Rev. Mr. Harris, of St. George's church, Brooklyn, from which Organist Miner had received his Eastertide offer.
>
> "TOOK" A VACATION.
>
> "Well,"—said the Rev. Mr. Murphy pleasantly—"you did n't get Mr. Miner."
>
> "No:"—the Rev. Mr. Harris replied—"we never thought of him. His application was one among many. We never thought of him."
>
> "Ah, indeed!"—gasped the North Plainfield rector, and then he was silent. His faith in human nature was slipping from his grasp, but the good man headed it off with an effort and returned to Plainfield.
>
> The organist was accorded a week's vacation early in July. He granted himself five weeks more a little later without consulting any one. He hired Tenor Clarke to play the organ, left him with the few singers who had not been dismissed and went away, and where, no one knew.
>
> Discipline might have saved the remnant of singers from utter rout. The organist's understanding was unequal to the task. The ranks thinned Sabbath by Sabbath. At last only a few of the boys, of whom there had been twenty originally, could be persuaded to enter the choir. They struggled weakly through another service or two and then gave it up. Holy Cross has fallen back upon congregational singing.
>
> WANTED PROMPT PAYMENT.
>
> That is how matters stood on August 18, when Rector Murphy received a letter from Organist Miner, in which the church treasurer was sharply arraigned because the organist had not been paid as promptly as he wished. Mr. Miner demanded a signed contract and said he would resign unless it were forthcoming.
>
> The contract was not forthcoming, and instead the rector called a special meeting of the vestry at which Mr. Miner's resignation was accepted. No one knew exactly where Mr. Miner was, so the letter was sent to the General Post Office about ten days ago. The organist replied that he had not resigned. The vestry fell back upon its old policy—silence.
>
> A new organist and choirmaster, Frederick H. Chesewright, of New York, was engaged, and on Sunday last he directed the choir, or rather its surviving members.
>
> AND MR. MINER WAS OUT OF IT.
>
> Mr. Miner appeared just before the service and asked the rector if he was expected to play the organ. The rector replied that Mr. Chesewright had been engaged for that purpose. Then Mr. Miner suggested to the singers that they rise up and follow him. The others sang under the direction of Mr. Chesewright. The defection was not great enough to materially weaken the choir.
>
> Organist Miner sat in the seat of the rebellious, with his little army of faithful choristers around him, and he listened and slowly the great organ filled the church with swelling harmony. The choir joined it and sang—the new organist says the selection was entirely accidental—"Am I a Soldier of the Cross?"

Mr. Murphy said this morning that the story in The Herald was substantially accurate, and further stated that the vestry had been glad of the chance to be rid of Mr. Miner, because of certain faults. Mr. Miner—he said—had misrepresented the church by telling Mr. Cotter, one of the singers, that he could n't pay his salary because the church had not paid him. Unfavorable reference was made to Mr. Miner's habits in camp. The rector said that while Mr. Miner was an excellent trainer he kept disorganizing the choir by discharging singers, in a fit of temper, just as fast as he trained them.

The Press sent a reporter to see the ex-choirmaster.

Mr. Miner stated that he wished to consult with his friends in the church before answering the article, but that he would say that the whole trouble began when he dismissed the rector's son from the choir while the rector was in Europe, which was done for the best interests of the choir. The previous choirmaster had had trouble over this same member of the choir, the rector having given the choirmaster to understand that his son was not to be treated like the rest of the boys.

Mr. Miner has many friends in town and in the church who are indignant at what they term his persecution. It is understood that the vestry will meet tonight and consider the case, and it is further asserted by members of the church that considerable trouble is likely to result.

BOLTED OUT.

Some one has put a bolt on the inside of the door which Mr. Miner has been using, so that he cannot enter.

I was a sufferer from catarrh for fifteen years with distressing pain over my eyes. I used Ely's Cream Balm with gratifying results. Am apparently cured. [illegible]

SOCIETY'S WHIRL IN FANWOOD.

GAY EVENTS OF THE EARLY AUTUMN DAYS.

Prize-Winners at Homestead Euchre—Chatty Gossip of Social Leaders—Local Hits at the Coming Concert—Prospects of Public Improvements in the Township.

FANWOOD, Sept. 6.

The Watchung Club will have another Fortnightly this evening.

Mrs. and Miss TenBroeck leave September 9 for Chicago, where they expect to spend two weeks at the Fair.

Mrs. W. E. Gibbs has returned to Fanwood from Buzzard's Bay after an absence from home of about three weeks.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank D. Warren will leave for Chicago, the middle of the coming week, to enjoy the White City by the Lake.

Fanwood is well represented on the cruise of the Naval Reserve, by the Messrs. Anderson, and by Paul and Louis Tuts.

Harry P. Robinson and family are back in Fanwood permanently, having purchased the residence formerly owned by George Bates.

Edward A. Urner, the popular treasurer of the Watchung Club, returned last week from his vacation at Buzzard's Bay, and is now in training again.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank B. Anderson will return to The Homestead October 1, for the winter. They have been spending the summer at Bensonhurst by the Sea.

It is feared that the water and hydrant improvements for Scotch Plains are killed forever, on account of the high-handed action and broken agreement of the Union Water Company.

John P. Stevens has come out this season with a handsome span of horses and a brand-new drag, and is delighting his intimate friends by generous invitations to drives and suppers.

Mr. and Mrs. A. D. Booken are entertaining this week some friends from Brooklyn, Miss Jessie Jervis and Mr. Leavens. Miss Jervis is well-known in Brooklyn musical circles.

Judge Ashley has become an expert player of "Hearts". His friends are not at all surprised at his easy conquest of the principles of this game, for his play "on Hearts" is worthy of his gallantry and magnetism.

The Spring-Baylor musical specialists are rehearsing some new songs written especially for their serio-comic artists, and all the hits are of a local nature. Fanwood society people are looking forward to their concert with much interest.

The progressive euchre party at The Homestead Saturday evening was a very successful affair. Twenty-four contested for beautiful solid silver prizes. The first prize for the gentler sex was won by Miss TenBroeck, and the first prize for men went to George C. Miller. The reputation of the Misses Boucher for hospitality was fully sustained, and the refreshments following the game were in good taste and much enjoyed. The life of Fanwood seems to centre around and in The Homestead this summer, and from the present outlook its gaiety bids fair to go far into the winter months. Among those present at the party were the following: Mr. and Mrs. R. TenBroeck, Mr. and Mrs. C. W. TenBroeck, Miss TenBroeck, J. P. Stevens, Mr. and Mrs. Nourse, Mr. and Mrs. Hicks, Mr. and Mrs. B. Urner, Mrs. T. F. Bainbridge, Mrs. W. C. Cameron, Mr. and Mrs. F. D. Warren, Miss Nicol, G. C. Miller, Judge Ashley and the Misses Boucher.

SUBURBAN SAUNTERER.

MUSIC, MIRTH AND ELOCUTION.

Excellent Entertainment for the German Reformed Church Benefit.

The entertainment given in Reform Hall on Tuesday for the benefit of the German Reformed church was most excellent, and attracted a good-sized audience. After an overture by the orchestra, the programme was opened with a farce in three acts, entitled "A Shop Girl's Victory". The parts were taken by Miss Amelia Kister, Mrs. William Chamberlin, F. G. Bach and Miss F. Sutterlin. It was very prettily acted, and was duly appreciated. An instrumental solo by Mrs. A. Reilly was very well rendered, and following this Miss Clara Armstrong recited "Nobody's Child", in excellent style and taste.

The vocal selection, "Robert LeDiable", by Miss Josephine Shaffer, accompanied by Miss Louisa Demonet, was a feature of the evening. Her singing was hugely enjoyed, and she was recalled twice, giving the selection, "Maggie, the Cows are in the Corn" and tumultuous applause was given in response.

Miss Mabel and Miss Ella Benner then gave a pleasing piano duet.

J. T. Vegiard, in giving humorous selections, won the hearty applause of the audience. He recited "Humpty Dumpty on the Velocipede" and "Speaking his first piece in School". Mr. Vegiard's facial expressions are extremely funny, and the people roared with laughter.

Another farce, "The Too-Good-Looking Young Man; or, Bridget McCarty at the Photographer's", was an exceedingly comical one and showed how ridiculously one can act at the picture-taker's. Those taking part were F. G. Bach, A. P. Bach, G. Hammer, Mrs. W. Chamberlin and Miss F. Sutterlin.

A well-played piano solo by Miss Mabel Benner was well received, after which Miss Shaffer sang "Oh Loco De Quest Anina", in the same pleasing manner as previously mentioned.

A piano duet by Miss Mabel and Miss Ella Benner was followed by a jig dance by Mr. Wilson, whose intricate movements and skill brought the house down.

Miss Mabel Benner then gave another piano solo, and the entertainment was concluded by a farce, "Corbett Out-done", in two acts, Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Chamberlin and F. G. Bach taking the parts. The acting was very well done, and loudly applauded.

Why, Oh, Why—

My sisters, do you suffer so? You have suffered so long you think there is no relief, yet relief is close at hand if you will only accept it with the faith that has saved thousands.

You may have displacement of the womb, or some form of ovarian trouble; small tumors may be forming in the uterus, or you may be approaching "the change of life."

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound goes straight to the seat of trouble, dissolves and expels tumors from the uterus, removes backache, and invigorates the entire system.

"Under its influence I gained 53 pounds. I know its value, and proclaim it best in the world. It will cure you, for it cured me, and a number of my friends also."—Ida B. Butcher, Clearfield St., Phila.

All druggists sell it. [illegible]

THE STROLLER RESUMES HIS WALK.

HIS NOTEBOOK SWELLS WITH A BUDGET OF GOSSIP.

All Sorts of Odd Gleanings from All Parts of North Plainfield Borough, with an Occasional Peep Over into the Promised Land Back of the Mountain.

SPENCER'S FRONT STOOP,
NORTH PLAINFIELD, SEPT. 6.

Wm. Giddis, of Regent street, is able to ride out after his recent illness.

Ex-Borough Clerk, H. H. Brokaw has gone on a business trip to Pennsylvania.

Harmony street (old Mud lane) has been "turnpiked" by the Street Commissioner.

"Pop" Westerfelt, of Somerset place, is one of the liveliest young old men in the borough.

A stray dog was killed in the borough yesterday. Pedigree—unknown. Breed—various.

The engagement is announced of a well-known borough official to a West Front street belle.

Borough Clerk Vetterlein will leave town in a few days on a business trip of a few weeks duration.

Bill Jackson, who sits on a flagstone so gracefully on Powers's stone-wagon, weighs 210 pounds. Who'd a-thought it?

Miss Emma Furman, of Upper Montclair, Essex county, has returned home after a pleasant visit with friends in the borough.

Uncle Peter Wooden, who recently passed his 93d birthday, was yesterday piling up cordwood, and otherwise killing time in his backyard.

The handsome residence being built by Boss Carpenter Daniel Hulick for Chas Brett, on Mercer avenue, is being rapidly pushed to completion.

Joe Humble says that if any more poles are erected in front of his property he will be compelled to go around the block to get across the street.

The feminine day-nurses at Brookside Sanitarium pass their spare moments tossing a small rubber ball to one another on the lawn facing Somerset street.

George Egel, manager for Mrs. D. L. Smalley, says that there will be a plenty of grain-fed pork in market soon, and that the price of sausage will be low.

Sam Taynor, constable and teamster, is doing very satisfactory work for the borough at the lower end of Brook avenue. Sam is an artist at anything he undertakes.

Wm. F. Spencer, of Washington Valley, he who runs the cider mill, will open up for business in a few weeks. He says the apple crop is not a success this year in this locality.

Chestnut and wild-grape gatherers are to pluck a plenty "bymeby", from the looks of these crops. There never were so many of each as there will be this year, in this section.

The Cracker Barrel Club is deserted now. Recruits from another organization monopolize their chairs and soap boxes, while the keeper of recollections and seeds is absent on a pleasure trip.

Members of the Hit and Kiss Lawn Tennis Club, which meets at McLaughlin's Somerset court, have been having numerous one-day excursions lately. They were at Washington Rock last week.

More than an abundant crop of peaches is being gathered up in Warren township this season, and the farmers are happy as they were successful with their berries also, and received good prices for each crop.

The Voehls of Somerset street returned last week from their cottages in the woods at Coontown, near Dog Watch Hollow, where the buttermilk weeds grow and the juniper berry thrives. They were absent all summer.

Only a few more ball matches (if any) can be played on the grounds just off Somerset street as the property must soon be cut up in building lots and put on the market. Where will the kranks do their screeching next year?

Abram Coriell, Greenbrook's most popular citizen, was about town the other day calling on friends and talking politics. He is a stanch Democrat, while his brother, Wm. McD. Coriell, of Evona, is just as fierce a Republican.

"Dense" Gavin, of the West End kindling-wood factory, who won the World's Fair ticket at the recent entertainment given by St. Joseph's Roman Catholic church, expects to visit the Windy City the latter part of this month.

Jake Bergen, "the little hunchback", Don Sutphin's stepson, is reunited with his wife for the third or fourth time. Jake has sold the "hoss" and is going to take in the next circus and will try to live happy in the alley while the door is open.

The woodsy Washingtonville correspondent of The Press is indeed very fortunate in harvesting the largest peach crop in or about Union Village or along the muddy Passaic. He is as truly successful an agriculturist as he is a newspaper correspondent.

Vine street is soon to lose two of its charming female residents. Miss Shuck and Miss Wesman are both to be married when the leaves begin to turn. Thus one by one (two this time), our borough girls pass away into happy homes, which, if they do not make, they at least adorn.

The school trustees have the use of Saenger and Turner Hall on Somerset street for $30 per month. They will occupy the same at least two months. Of course this does n't include the vault for the trustees. 'Tis only for the hall to be used by the school children. The trustees are not "in it".

L. Heyniger, who has been conducting the flour, feed and grain business on Somerset street, formerly managed by the late L. B. Boice, has closed up shop, and Mr. Heyniger has gone with C. Frank French a few doors below his old stand. Mr. Heyniger has many warm friends who wish him the best of good luck in his new departure.

Spencer's beanery, opposite the down-town crossing of the electric railway, is ripe, and the weight of the pods and vines is breaking the bean poles. Some of his friends are talking of having a frolic and picking the beans by light of the nearby harvest moon. Aprons, baskets and spectacles will be furnished upon application at the store.

Mr. and Mrs. John E. Morrison, of Duer street, have been enjoying life lately, driving through the country with a team and driver loaned to them by Harry Moore, of Grove street, whose wife is a relative of Mrs. Morrison. Mr. Morrison is a pedestrian, and a true lover of nature, who often has covered twenty miles on foot, between meals.

Jake Kleber, the star route man who carries the mail three times a week between this city and Warrenville, and whose daughter went away with hired man Randolph the other day, is over six feet tall, and of a decidedly dark complexion, with the blackest kind of hair and eyes. He is a good-natured individual, whose only fault is that he is poor—a complaint that many others are compelled to pass through life with.

Moses H. French, for many years in the milling business at Washington Valley, just at the head of Somerset street, and who also conducted a grocery store in one of his [illegible], died today. Mr. French was 84 years of age, and had always led an active business life until a few years ago, when he retired and moved down into the borough, where he lived on Craig place. As told in The Press, while in the barn the other day he was stricken down and had to be carried to the house by neighbors.

Some time during the next century, when rank partisanship and bigotry are not so deeply seated as now in the borough, and when citizens of both parties (particularly the Republican) will have the best interests of the town at heart, there will be some liberal-minded person who will pass the hat for the purpose of taking up a collection to purchase new desks for the Borough Council chamber. The eight old-fashioned walnut desks now in use take up too much space, and are not ornamental. They're just ugly, and should be sent back to Michigan by fast freight and worked over. And then the Council could use cracker barrels from down stairs and have room aplenty inside that awfully cumbersome-looking four-rail fence that separates the wiseacres from the nobodys.

The recent death of Francis Bernard of Harmony street, widower of the famous fortune-teller, calls up a phase of life that is worth recording. The couple were aged, and almost helpless, with only a few years of life at best before them. They owned the property on Harmony and Race streets, which was worth about $2,000, on which they resided, and thought if they disposed of it the money might not hold them out the balance of their lives. They were therefore at a loss to know what to do, when a family applied for the use of a portion of the property whereon to erect a house for themselves, promising to take care of the aged couple. They were granted the privilege, and everything went along nicely until the death of the fortune-teller, who had built a house in the rear of the lot on Race street, and resided therein. The family consisted of husband, wife and five children, three of whom were by the wife's first husband. They became estranged two years ago, and separated, the husband going west, and the wife and children remaining on the property, taking the best of care of the old man and furnishing him with all he wished. The husband last year returned from the west, and became reconciled with his wife and prevailed on her to go housekeeping with him and their two children in another part of the borough, which they did, leaving the three children by the first husband, two boys and one girl, to take care of old man Bernard. That the aged traveler who has just crossed the Great Divide appreciated the kindness of these children, or at least one of them, is evident, for in his will he has left the property to the eldest son, who is a young man about 24 years of age, straightforward, honest as the day is long, and a faithful employe of A. M. Griffen. He's a plumber, and his name is George Saffron.

THE STROLLER.

Sudden Death of Charles H. Griffen.

At Gregory, Mo., Tuesday, September 5, occurred the death of Charles H. Griffen of Plainfield, in his thirty-ninth year.

Mr. Griffen had not been feeling well some time past, and he thought a rest would be beneficial, so he went west. The news of his sudden death was a great shock. No particulars have been received.

Deceased was an active member of the Seventh-Day Baptist church, and very active in Y. M. C. A. work. He was a truly good man.

His body has been sent for, and notice of the funeral will be given when arranged for.

Board of Chosen Freeholders of the County of Union.

OFFICIAL.

ELIZABETH, N. J., Aug. 22, 1893.

Pursuant to adjournment, the Board of Chosen Freeholders of Union County, met on Tuesday, August 22, at 2:00 p. m. [illegible]

COMMITTEE REPORTS. [illegible]

RESOLUTIONS. [illegible]

Millspot & Ayres, earth excavation per cubic yard 78 cents; macadam per square yard 72 cents; Telford pavement per square yard 10 cents.

Brindlinger & Bearing, earth excavation per cubic yard 30 cents; macadam per square yard 53 cents; Telford pavement per square yard $1 25.

Wright & Lindsley earth excavation per cubic yard 30 cents; macadam per square yard 80 cents; Telford pavement per square yard $1 25.

[illegible]

James Garrell earth excavation per cubic yard 30 cents; Telford pavement per square yard $1 13.

Millspot & Ayres earth excavation per cubic yard 30 cents; Telford pavement per square yard $1 25.

C W Smith earth excavation per cubic yard 30 cents; Telford pavement per square yard $1 17.

[illegible]

John F Stanley earth excavation 35 cents per cubic yard; Telford pavement per square yard [illegible]

Freeholder Bell moved that the bids be referred to a committee of the whole, and the Board resolve itself at once in a committee of the whole. Carried.

From Committee of the Whole:
To the Board of Chosen Freeholders:
Gentlemen—Your committee of the whole would report that they have examined the bids offered for the construction of County Roads, [illegible]

On motion of Freeholder [illegible] moved to adjourn, which was carried.

The director declared the board adjourned to Thursday, Sept. 7, 1893, at 2:00 p. m.

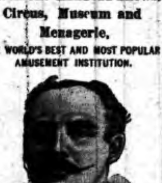
A. B. COOK, Clerk.

AT PLAINFIELD THURSDAY, SEP. 14

HUNTING'S

Enormous Railroad Shows, Circus, Museum and Menagerie,

THE WORLD'S BEST AND MOST POPULAR AMUSEMENT INSTITUTION.



150 People, 200 Horses, 50 great sensational circus acts.
Troupe Japanese athletes, champion male and female riders.
Europe and American greatest acrobats, trained horses, ponies, dogs, etc.
Comprehensive menagerie, lordly lions, terrific tigers, panthers, leopards, hyenas, pythons, elephants, camels and wild monsters of forest and jungle.
Newly refitted,
Modernly equipped,
Accurately exhibited.
Everything precisely as represented.
Truthful, moral and instructive.

Two performances daily at 2 and 8 p.m. The grand free street parade takes place at 10 o'clock a. m. Mounted knights and ladies, 3 great bands, open dens and cages, trick horses, ponies, mules and funny old clowns—a grand and glorious show without a rival.

At Plainfield Thursday, Sept. 14, rain or shine, under the newly improved water-proof tents, for Hunting never disappoints.

E. M. TOMLINSON,
STATIONERY
—AND—
CONFECTIONERY.
325 Watchung Ave., Plainfield, N. J.

ADMINISTRATRIX'S SALE—Union County Orphans' Court. [illegible]

WANTED—[illegible]

SHERIFF'S SALE—In Chancery of New Jersey—Between the Central New Jersey Land Improvement Company, complainant, and the Fanwood Club, et al., defendants. Fi. fa. for sale of mortgaged premises.

By virtue of the above stated writ of fieri facias to me directed, I shall expose for sale by public vendue, at the Court House in the City of Elizabeth, N. J., on

WEDNESDAY, THE THIRTEENTH DAY OF SEPTEMBER, A. D. 1893,

at two o'clock in the afternoon of said day, all that certain plot piece or parcel of ground with the buildings thereon erected, situate, lying and being in the township of Fanwood, County of Union and State of New Jersey, and bounded and described as follows: [illegible]

W. H. HICKS, Sheriff.

GEORGE HOLMES, Sol'r.

MASTER'S SALE.

By virtue of a decree made by the Court of Chancery of the State of New Jersey [illegible]

J. D. SANTINE, Special Master in Chancery of New Jersey.

SHERIFF'S SALE.

IN CHANCERY OF NEW JERSEY.

Between Daniel N. Manning, complainant, and Mary E. Clan and Essex [illegible], defendants. Fi. fa. for sale of mortgaged premises.

By virtue of the above stated writ of fieri facias to me directed, I shall expose for sale by public vendue, at the Court House, in the city of Elizabeth, N. J., on

WEDNESDAY, THE FOURTH DAY OF OCTOBER, A. D. 1893,

at 2 o'clock in the afternoon of said day, all that tract or parcel of land and premises, hereinafter particularly described, situate, lying and being in the City of Plainfield, in the County of Union, and State of New Jersey. [illegible]

W. H. HICKS, Sheriff.

J. R. COWARD, Sol'r.

German Valley Quarries.

Building Mason {STONE} Bridge Dressed

CUT TO ORDER FOR

Lintles, Sills, Water Tables, Etc.

SPECIAL ATTENTION GIVEN TO HEAVY BRIDGE STONE.

LYMAN KICE, Prop.,
German Valley, N. J.

PAPIAC.
(Boynton Beach.)
NOW OPEN
—FOR—
EXCURSIONS & PICNICS

One-Half Off!

CARPETS And FURNITURE.

On account of the Financial Depression and Dull Season,

AMOS H. VAN HORN, LIMITED,

Will take off just one-half of regular selling prices.

BEDROOM SUITS.

25 Antique Oak Bedroom Suits, regular price $30 . Reduced to $15

PARLOR SUITS.

25 Parlor Suits, mahogany finished frame, in plush cov'ng, reg price $50 Reduced to $25

CARPETS.

25 pieces	All-Wool Ingrain Carpet, reg. price per yard $1.	Reduced to 50c
do	3-Ply Carpet, reg. price per yard $1.25	Reduced to 63c
do	Tapestry Brussels Carpet, reg. price per yd. 90c.	Reduced to 45c
do	Body Brussels Carpet, reg. price per yard $1.30.	Reduced to 65c
do	Velvet Carpet, reg. price per yard $1.30	Reduced to 65c
do	Moquette Carpet, reg. price per yard $1.40	Reduced to 70c

MATTING.

To close out the balance of our Spring stock will sell Good Fancy Matting Per yard only 15c.

PORTLAND RANGES.

We shall commence from this date to push the Portland Range as it has no equal. More sold than any other range. Warranted in every way or money refunded.

Note the Name AMOS over the Door Before Entering the Store. Easy terms.

Telephone 580! Elevator to Every Floor!

Goods Delivered FREE OF CHARGE to All Parts of the State!

AMOS H. VAN HORN, LIMITED.
73 Market Street,
Near Plane St., Newark, N. J.

TOWNSEND'S
Marble & Granite Works,
30 SOMERSET STREET,
PLAINFIELD, N. J.

[illegible]

J. E. TOWNSEND, Manager.
Branch Yard Westfield, N. J.

FURS

And all kinds of wearing apparel

STORED

And insured against all damage by fire or moth.
Repairing and re-dyeing of Furs should be done during the summer months.

GEO. C. TREADWELL CO.
SUCCESSORS TO
W. H. AND R. BURNETT.
17 Academy st., Newark.

Scientific American Agency for

PATENTS

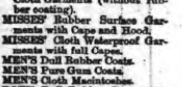
Scientific American

[illegible]

Dime Savings Institution
OF PLAINFIELD, N. J.

[illegible]

THE BEE HIVE
Newark, N. J.
Largest Dry and Fancy Goods House in N. J.



Things Sold There that Make the Great Store It Is.

Cut Out and Save for Reference.

STOCK LIST No. 22.

RUBBER GARMENTS.

LADIES' Rubber Surface Garments with Military Capes.
LADIES' Cloth Military Capes.
LADIES' Rubber Newmarkets.
LADIES' Cravenette Waterproof Cloth Garments (without rubber coating).
MISSES' Rubber Surface Garments with Cape and Hood.
MISSES' Cloth Waterproof Garments with full Capes.
MEN'S Dull Rubber Coats.
MEN'S Pure Gum Coats.
MEN'S Cloth Macintoshes.
BOYS' Dull Rubber Coats, with velvet collars.
BOYS' Fancy Lined Coats.
MEN & BOYS' Rubber Caps.
RUBBER Sheeting 4-4 and 6-4 Widths.
RUBBER Shopping Bags.

Ladies' Fancy Skirts.

STRIPE Wash Material Skirts.
BLACK and colored Satine Skirts.
GREY and Black Mohair, Albert twill, Silk Gloria and Taffeta Skirts.
HAIR CLOTH and Domet Flannel Cloth Skirts.
Melton, Cloth, Flannel and Satin Quilted Skirts.

Athletic Goods.

MEN'S blue, black, gray and white wool Sweaters.
MEN & BOYS' Rowing Shirts.
MEN & BOYS' Turning Shirts and Pants.
MEN'S Bicycle Pants and Coats.

NO BRANCH STORES.
L. S. PLAUT & CO.,
707 to 721 Broad St., Newark.
Mail Orders Filled.

HILL'S Double Chloride of Gold Tablets

REMEMBER WE GUARANTEE A CURE [illegible]

TOBACCO HABIT EASILY CURED.

[illegible] DRUNKENNESS and MORPHINE HABIT [illegible] SPECIAL FORMULA GOLD CURE TABLETS. [illegible]

HILL'S TABLETS are for sale by all FIRST-CLASS druggists at $1.00 per package. If your druggist does not keep them, enclose us $1.00 and we will send you, by return mail, a package of our Tablets.

Write your name and address plainly, and state whether Tablets are for Tobacco, Morphine or Liquor Habit.

DO NOT BE DECEIVED into purchasing any of the various nostrums that are being offered for sale. Ask for HILL'S TABLETS and take no other.

Manufactured only by
—THE—
OHIO CHEMICAL CO.,
51, 53 & 55 Opera Block,
LIMA, OHIO.

PARTICULARS FREE.

A FEW Testimonials from persons who have been cured by the use of Hill's Tablets.

THE OHIO CHEMICAL CO.: DEAR SIR:—I have been using your cure for tobacco habit, and found it would do what you claim for it. I used ten cents worth of the strongest chewing tobacco a day, and from one to five cigars; or I would smoke from ten to forty pipes of tobacco. Have chewed and smoked for twenty-five years, and two packages of your Tablets cured me so I have no desire for it. B. M. JAYLORD, Leslie, Mich.

DOBBS FERRY, N. Y. THE OHIO CHEMICAL CO.:—GENTLEMEN:—Some time ago I sent for $1.00 worth of your Tablets for Tobacco Habit. I received them all right and, although I was both a heavy smoker and chewer, they did the work in less than three days. I am cured. Truly yours, MATHEW JOHNSON, P. O. Box 45.

PITTSBURGH, PA. THE OHIO CHEMICAL CO.:—GENTLEMEN:—It gives me pleasure to speak a word of praise for your Tablets. My son was strongly addicted to the use of liquor, and through a friend, I was led to try your Tablets. He was a heavy and constant drinker, but after using your Tablets but three days he quit drinking, and will not touch liquor of any kind. I have waited four month before writing you, in order to know the cure was permanent. Yours truly, MRS. HELEN MORRISON.

CINCINNATI, OHIO. THE OHIO CHEMICAL CO.:—GENTLEMEN:—Your Tablets have performed a miracle in my case. I have used morphine, hypodermically, for seven years, and have been cured by the use of two packages of your Tablets, and without any effort on my part. W. L. LOTEGAY.

Address all Orders to

RESPONSIBLE AGENTS WANTED.

THE OHIO CHEMICAL CO., 51, 53 and 55 Opera Block. LIMA, OHIO.

(In writing please mention this paper.)

NOTICE. June 5, 1893. Estate of Harriet E. Case, Deceased. [illegible]

CITY DEPARTMENT.

OFFICIAL PAPER OF THE STATE, THE COUNTY AND THE CITY, AND HAS THE LARGEST CIRCULATION OF ANY PAPER PUBLISHED IN THE COUNTY OF UNION.

Walter Irving Clarke, City Editor.

—Madam Knight, formerly of Twenty-third street, New York, will open a millinery store on Front street, Sept. 20.

—It is a fact worthy of note that in eleven years only three members of the Plainfield Council Royal Arcanum have died.

—Appropriate to school opening, McGregor & Co., the famous Newark clothiers, announce that they are prepared to fit out the boys.

—The glorious beauties of the Hudson are never so enjoyable as at this autumnal season. Take a trip on a Day Line steamer, and you'll find that life is worth the living, after all.

—Superintendent Adleman received a letter from the Brill Car Company, Saturday, stating that they expected to ship the two new cars for Somerset street the latter part of this week.

—Grocer Randolph of Evona had 10 bushels of potatoes dug up and carried away, by thieves. His neighbor, Mr. Coriell, lost three rows of potatoes, and his melon-patch was ruined by the vandals.

—The Christian Endeavor Society of Warren chapel was presented Tuesday evening with a beautiful monogram, "C. E", carved in wood and covered with silver. The donor was Fred Walker, a member of the society.

—The Vivartian Crematory, which is represented by Seymour G. Smith of this city, has been adopted by Scranton, and approved by the Scranton Board of Health. As a successful method of disposing of garbage, Plainfield ought to have it.

—The Pacific Mail and Tea Company will start a branch store at 106 West Front street. The success of the store is assured by the fact that H. T. Williams, formerly with Rice & Co. of the borough, is to be in full control.

—There will be no danger of the new electric cars on Somerset street jumping the track, as has sometimes happened heretofore, as the flanges of the wheels have been made to fit the track most perfectly. Passengers may ride with perfect ease of mind hereafter.

—There were two reasons why the dance of the Catholic Young Men's Lyceum, Monday night, was so delightful a success: The committee managed it well, and Sam Frasse the famous fiddler furnished the music for the tripping of the light fantastic toe.

—In opening a manual training school in the Orthodox Friends' meeting-house, 309 East Front street, John Dalziel announces that he will give a thorough course in freehand and mechanical drawing, the use of manual tools, modeling in clay, working in soft metals and such studies as geometry, geology and economic botany.

—Lauter's Musical and Home Journal for September has just been issued, and excels former numbers of that popular magazine. It is published by S. D. Lauter Co., proprietors of the pianoforte warerooms at 657 and 659 Broad street, Newark, and there can be obtained free on application. This issue of the magazine is made more attractive by the increase in popular song with music, besides the usual amount of waltz and promenade music and interesting complete stories and poems.

ACCUSES HIS NEIGHBOR.

John Verrett Threatens His Erring Wife, and She Demands His Arrest.

John Verrett, proprietor of the Berkeley Heights brickyards, has accused his wife of unfaithfulness, and she in turn, alarmed at his threats, fled to Plainfield and had a warrant issued for the arrest of the angry husband, charging him with threatening to kill her. Verrett says that Gato Gambradello is the cause of all his trouble. Gambradello lives next door to Verrett and has a wife and four children.

Verrett alleges that last Wednesday he went to the brickyard after dinner. On his return he missed his wife. Gambradello was also missing. The following morning Verrett went to New York. He said he saw his wife on Houston street with Gambradello. They eluded him, however. Saturday he again visited New York in search of his wife. He discovered Gambradello and Mrs. Verrett in the Hoboken ferryhouse. Gambradello made his escape, but Mrs. Verrett accompanied her husband home.

